I obediently agreed.

"I know."

Of course it didn't seem like it would last long.

'If things go well beyond what is expected there will be people who will try to kill you at any cost.'

It's interesting gossip when a successful person goes bankrupt. The moment one pod is caught the controversy will kill the momentum.

Even if that's not the case entertainment-type buzz doesn't have a long lifespan. So the lifespan of this trend is… about three or four months at most.

'That's not even a competitor.'

In the first place everyone knows that in terms of grades it is embarrassing to even mention it in the same context.

But the problem was that it was now.

‘We shouldn’t lose the buzz in the second half of the year.’

This is because although Testa sold both music and albums well neither one was confirmed as the overwhelming top.

‘That’s VTIC and Younglin.’

Therefore in order to win the grand prize in the current evaluation system divided into music and albums the image of the ‘popular’ had to be solid.

But suddenly these guys are sucking up the popularity.

‘And these guys are officially classified as idols anyway.’

So the idol that is getting the most attention from the public right now is… T-Holic.

‘It’s dangerous.’

If the value of the ‘trending now’ item which exists separately from grades falls Testa’s presence will be damaged and the target will suffer.

I muttered as I turned off my smartphone screen.

“We have to work hard too.”

“yes?”

Big Sejin lightly affirmed.

This guy seems to have figured it out as he doesn’t go over well with comments like ‘I’m already working hard what are you talking about?’

“Good luck to the end of the year~”

And even those who even if they don’t know the details are just inspired and pledge to do their best.

“Ugh! I’ll talk more about it on entertainment shows too…!”

“Obviously idols are general artists so I feel once again that they need various entertainer talents in addition to recording activities.”

In that sense there were people in this group who could be useful even with numbers that were not displayed in the status window.

Mental.

This means that even in a situation like this where things are going so well the spirit of improvement is maintained enough to consider various variables and make a rational decision.

‘Usually in situations like this people get possessed.’

We are currently shooting a photo shoot.

“Yes I will proceed right away~”

“yep!”

It wasn’t just a typical magazine pictorial.

Through a partnership with a certain magazine we are in the process of creating a special issue that uses only Testa’s pictorials and interview advertisements from beginning to end.

I understand that this magazine which has 8 covers including individual shots of individual members and groups has already exceeded 800000 pre-orders.

“Oh my god it’s so pretty~”

“haha!”

There was no one involved who said anything unpleasant during filming. It is almost unconditionally treated as superior.

‘It’s an environment that blatantly destroys people.’

Especially for those who have just entered their 20s it is perfect for destroying social skills and manners.

There is no penalty for being mean to someone you work with but in a situation where there is no force it is difficult not to be rude and insincere during difficult times.

The difference between your physical strength and mood when you are good and when you are not is becoming extreme.

‘If you want to act like X you can act like X.’

However these guys are maintaining tension that is no different from when they first debuted.

“Just one more time~”

“yes!”

A group photo shoot for the cover. Guys wearing jeans and t-shirts gather together to take photos.

And Bae Se-jin muttered in a short period of time to change and improve the concept.

“…I remember when I debuted.”

“I know. “That’s exactly the color of your hair.”

“I like red hair!”

The concept of this pictorial is from Testa’s debut to the present.

It can be seen as a concept worthy of a group that has the best male idol song of the year.

‘How much time has passed already?’

I looked back on the years with a strange feeling.

I went through a lot of ridiculous events but when I think about it again it feels like I did “Azusa” last year.

And it seems like the filming of ‘Magical Boy’ took place just recently.

I inadvertently recalled the compliment I had intentionally given to Bae Se-jin just before filming resumed.

“You are good at taking pictures then and now.”

“You guys are doing well too.”

And unlike back then Bae Se-jin accepted the praise seriously.

‘Yes one thing has changed.’

The point is that the psychological distance has decreased. I guess trust has been built up between us as we go through all sorts of things.

“…”

“Oh~ I love Moon Dae’s expression!”

“thank you.”

Well now is not the time to indulge in sentimentality.

There are only a few steps left until we reach the target so we have to clean up the suddenly fallen rocks.

So what is the best way?

First of all straight forward benchmarking entertainment shows is stupid.

‘If we release a reality show together at this time it will actually be compared.’

There is no need to criticize the result of luck and experience that led to the formation of a regular entertainment show.

Well let’s try some more tricks…

‘hmm.’

I thought about it until the end of filming and came to a conclusion.

‘Let’s use it in reverse.’

To catch a tiger you just have to go into the tiger’s den.

* * *

T-Holic’s program went well.

What that means is that T-Holic’s topicality is now virtually subordinate to their entertainment programs.

And the topicality of the program can be used by anyone who appears.

In particular if you are a guest depending on the format you can surpass the host and become the main character of the program. What if it is more topical than the everyday episodes that T Holic has been doing?

And especially if it’s fun.

‘That’s the best.’

So after discussion within the group we analyzed T-Holic’s program format and selected the two that would have the strongest impact.

Completely customizable.

“I’m really looking forward to it!”

Yujin Cha.

“This is my first time being selected to appear on a variety show with such a small number of people so I will do my best!”

Raebin Kim.

And… these two guys are the only ones that can be controlled without being casted in advance for another entertainment show at the same time.

“okay.”

grow.

I came to the filming set of T-Holic’s ‘Show Business’ with Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin.

PDF by: traitorAIZEN

KW
데뷔 못 하면
죽는 병 걸림
백덕수 현대 판타지 장편소설

Debut or Die

– 데못죽 –

- VOLUME 6 -

-AUTHOR-
백덕수

-ILLUSTRATOR-
텡

[DAOTRANSLATE]

Chapter 301

‘T-Holic’s Show Business’ was a studio entertainment that has now largely disappeared in favor of observational variety.

It also meant that unlike observational entertainment that creates interesting situations through editing only the really funny people survive.

“Ahahaha!! “I’m going crazy.”

“Why why?”

“No… Do you know what Wonseok just said? ‘Do all idols look like that these days?’”

Even the staff burst into laughter at the convincing vocal imitation. The member named speaks shyly.

“No I’m not the only one surprised.”

“yes? “That’s right.”

“Hyung you didn’t know? If we debuted now we would be ruined. Guys. “Let’s not forget that and be humble.”

“Isn’t it true that being born with the times is also our talent?”

“Stop it! Because it makes me sad!”

Look at the outpouring of comments as soon as the camera starts rolling.

There are no other professional entertainers but perhaps thanks to his idol image that in itself becomes a character.

Whether it is prejudice or generosity.

‘So it’s bound to be difficult for a solo guest to play an active role here.’

In a structure where guests take the spotlight on their own show guests have no choice but to rely on the other party overall.

These guys are even quite senior. Most performers end up losing out in terms of seniority.

“Wow have people been born since the Millennium?”

“You guys are so cute.”

Naturally considering the atmosphere T-holic would make a gesture of laying out a plate for the junior and feeding him and this would result in a picture like this.

-Wow Tea Holic really floats well haha.

-It’s been a while since I’ve seen you speak so comfortably on a children’s broadcast. Thank you!♡

-After all appearing on T-Showbi can cure any type of entertainment shyness.

The moment the momentum is lost attention is taken away and the guest’s presence is reduced to just one component of the show.

However if there is someone who is not conscious of seniority or seniority things are a little different.

“That cute little thing! “I’m cool!”

“Huh?”

Cha Yu-jin raised her hands and shouted.

Tea Holic opens his mouth as if this is his first time experiencing such strong(?) rejection from the beginning.

‘I knew it would be like that.’

Cha Yu-jin doesn’t know much about Tea Holic.

He’s a senior and he’s just talking loudly like he always does.

And I don’t feel like I’m particularly spoiled. Because I’m a foreigner.

“Is that so?”

“yes! “It’s that tiger.”

“I see. “Our friend Cha Yu-jin is a tiger.”

“that’s right! Tiger~ Like a T!”

“T!”

“Brother don’t get into a rhythm just to look cool.”

So no matter what you do people will overlook it. Cha Yu-jin’s American sensibility was already famous.

‘And these guys will take care of the rest.’

T-holics who are accustomed to making the program fun and livening up the mood cannot give Cha Yu-jin a straight look or act awkwardly.

‘Plus there’s someone next to you who will neutralize it.’

“Cha Yujin! “If you compliment me by saying I’m cute I should be grateful!”

This is Raebin Kim.

I think he said he was whispering in his own way but since he was wearing a microphone it was of no use.

“I got it! “I didn’t refuse!”

“You scaled it down because it was small. “If you’re not careful it might sound rude!”

“I’m talking about cool things being bigger! “Thank you for your cuteness.”

“Uh oh.”

“No we understand! “I understand!”

“Thank you so much for your understanding! “I will show you my best today.”

“That much?”

The sight of T-Holic hurriedly bowing his head to Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin who were both bowing was… funny.

‘Good impact.’

And I saw that some of the T-holics who had fallen behind were smiling and making eye contact.

They probably concluded that the structure they were having trouble with in the beginning would be fun.

“Yes very cute cute and cool Testa!”

“Hehe.”

“Hey is this Generation Z? “Do you think we’re a little old?”

“Brother we are all idols in our 30s. “We have already entered the coffin in that industry.”

The plot was set in such a way that a T-holic who does not understand the new generation tries to somehow adapt to the new sensibility.

Cha Yu-jin's unstoppable momentum was used in reverse.

'The focus is still on Tea Holic.'

Testa is now a popular idol and has quietly come to stand on the other side of T-Holic.

And I was steadily carrying out my role as a quiet person with common sense.

"So Mr. Moon Dae is the main vocalist?"

"yes. "Yes."

"Oh my song! "I really enjoyed hearing you sing 'Party in me'."

"Don't lie you were in the army!"

"no! "I heard that you were on vacation!"

"Oh what an honor. thank you."

"Yeah~ Moon Dae-hyung sings really well!"

When asked to sing a line of a song I received applause.

Idols who appeared for promotional purposes did everything they could to get the minimum amount of screen time.

It'll be roughly angled.

'Ah he has ordinary emotions so I guess I just have to keep going like this and find a way out of those two.'

Since they are familiar with these types of broadcasts the price must have paid off quickly.

‘Well I don’t think these guys even bothered to check my entertainment in advance.’

At most he would have checked his recent activities and grades but the more you think he has a calm personality the better.

“Okay this is the end of the self-introduction intro!”

And they moved on as if they thought they had picked enough interesting scenes from Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin’s chat.

Actually the main corner.

It was mainly full-on humor with games.

Well there were things like playing basketball without a ball having a chair fly into a ball pit drawing a portrait with your feet and guessing who it is etc.

“It’s time to play the second track of show business: revealing our hearts!”

Since this is the main corner I have made a few predictions about this type of game and the one that seems most likely is…

“The game we will be playing with Testa this time is～ <I heard it and it’s true>!”

“Phew.”

okay. That’s it.

I cleared my throat almost horrified… I couldn’t help it because it was a sentence I had heard many times before.

‘It was a good thing I looked into it in advance.’

When I first saw that on WeTube I almost spit out the water I was drinking.

“Hyung staying hydrated is important.”

Okay thank you. I drank the water handed to me by Raebin Kim and listened to Tea Holic’s dazzling progress.

‘Anyway the corner I expected came out.’

It’s a corner that has appeared once every three episodes recently and the response was so good that I thought I’d use it when it appeared in the first team.

[I heard it and it’s true!]

Just by hearing this title it might seem like persuading others is the same trait I had. It’s similar but a little different.

The youngest member of T-Holic held a voice-modulating microphone and carried on in a serious manner.

“Each team chooses one of two captains to persuade the opponent. The game ends when one team is logically convinced. A terrible penalty awaits the losing team.”

“The side that wins the mini-game gets to choose the captain first. Well then good luck.”

Does the content sound normal? But these guys put a trap in every game.

This is usually revealed after the minigame is over and the argument is revealed.

“Ta-da!”

[Goals our team will achieve next year]

[Receiving 1 billion VS Being in distress]

“…???”

“Hahahaha!! “I must be crazy!”

“Guys welcome to show business~”

The balance is completely ruined.

And Tea Holic who won the mini game happily chose the former.

“One billion! 1 billion!”

“I will show a bitter taste to Generation Z who chose to suffer.”

If you look at this point the pictures that follow will seem boring. Because it would be a one-sided beating of the guest.

However at the next timing a second trap was revealed again.

“Everyone I told you that the game ends when you are ‘reasonably persuaded’ right?”

“…”

“Hey really?”

“Yes! The most plausible! “The team that is logically persuasive will win.”

In other words it is a sophistical debate.

The goal is to rationally accept the other party’s argument.

What this means is that you have to explain the side you are defending in as nonsensical a way as possible while being able to understand what the other side says.

In other words T-Holic can only win if he is persuaded by the side that says ‘I will suffer shipwreck instead of 1 billion won.’

On the other hand Testa just needs to accept the obvious proposition ‘I will receive 1 billion instead of being shipwrecked.’

“Isn’t it a scam??”

“no!”

‘Well thought out.’

It’s a picture that makes you win by making you laugh by slipping and floating the guest position.

‘As expected it reflects the best comments on WeTube.’

-I think it would be fun if the persuasive team wins haha.

-It’s truly a legend… Please eat it like a beef bone!

As with any new company that has just launched the production team here seemed to pay more attention to communication than necessary.

It was common to see the best comments on a video reflected in the next episode.

So I watched the videos and predicted a few variations and I got it right.

What happens next is obvious.

“uh? Well… suddenly receiving a lot of money can ruin a person. “If you want to retire now I think you should get 1 billion won!”

“That’s right!”

“I don’t want to retire! “I’m going to do this for a long time!”

“Okay then what should I do? uh? “Is there any answer left?”

“I won’t retire with 1 billion won! I won’t break down. “Our members are strong!”

“Wow it’s really bold…”

“But money is such a scary thing~ No I’m not saying you shouldn’t get 1 billion won!”

Those guys will be restless for no reason as they shamelessly make outrageous claims and prey on guests who speak common sense.

It’s a picture of a heartwarming loss after having fun picking out the guests’ reactions to their actions…

‘Then they take all the flow.’

We didn’t come here so that you could make your own plan and use it for us.

I chuckled.

‘How to best play this game?’

It’s simple. All you have to do is reinforce the other person’s logic. This is the play method that everyone in the production team expected.

If you follow the flow of common sense you will be swept away by those guys.

So… we go in the opposite direction.

I put both hands on the table and clasped them.

“Senior.”

“Yes Mr. Moon Dae please speak~”

“In order to win I tried to understand and convince the other side’s arguments as much as possible but…”

I solemnly declared.

“No matter how much you think about it the claim we received is correct.”

“…??”

“I think our team members would choose distress over 1 billion.”

“yes??”

“What do you mean?”

I answered seriously.

“This is because we can learn values more precious than money from shipwreck.”

“yes?”

“What are you learning?”

I gave a clear answer to Cha Yu-jin who asked softly.

“Realistically the places that are likely to be in distress within our current action radius are places where rescue can be done within a few days. “In the meantime you learn new experiences.”

“aha! that’s right.”

Cha Yu-jin nodded coolly.

“Then it’s okay!” “I like it!”

“…??”

T-Holic's youngest member who served as MC intervened.

"Wait a minute! If we continue like this what are your instructions??"

"Because we can't give up our beliefs because of just this one corner issue."

"Do you have faith in distress??"

"Guys what's wrong… I'm scared."

When T-Holic's youngest member was shocked by the excitement even Kim Rae-bin nodded seriously.

"I think so too."

"yes?"

"yes."

"yes. This is because we actually experienced a disaster while filming a variety show."

Raebin Kim said with sparkling eyes.

"And I learned a lot from that experience."

"for a moment."

"I created the title of my last album during that time of distress. I am concerned that choosing the former between a billion and a million dollars may be consistent with throwing away musical achievements in pursuit of money!"

"Why are you worried about that?!"

For a moment Kim Rae-bin was not conscious of the fact that it was an entertainment show and began to seriously express her opinion.

I thought it would happen if I became immersed in the topic itself.

“No… guys think about it. Does this make sense? “What kind of disaster is this??”

“How much do you need to pay to make 1 billion won like a stone?”

I raised my hand.

“Now that I think about it the settlement amount increased due to the title song created by Ravin at the time of the shipwreck so in fact some financial gain was included in that choice…”

“Oh~”

“okay!”

“Please don’t react as if you have a point huh huh huh.”

And the filming set began to descend into chaos.

It was as planned.

* * *

A few days later on a weekday night.

“and! “It’s here too~”

The graduate student smiles at the picture of the College of Arts in the thumbnail and watches the pre-released video of “T-Holic’s Show Business” which was uploaded as a popular video.

And 1 minute later.

“Phew!”

The graduate student spit out the coffee he was drinking.

Chapter 302

〈T-Holic's Show Business〉 Testa edition. It was an entertainment program that had recently gained so much recognition that everyone had seen it in clips at least once so people had expectations or expectations.

-Tea Holic guys are going to make fun of Testa a lot lol.

-Ah these kids look so cute ㅠㅠ- Have a nice time!

Funny Tea Holic. And vivid reactions from guests that we have never seen before!

This is because when inviting guests this program mainly focuses on T-holic's funny actions and the guests' reactions to them as elements of laughter.

The reason for the favorable reviews was that the guest was skillfully filling the gaps with publicity which was the purpose of the guest's appearance.

The optimal picture that both the guest's fans and T Holic's fans can be satisfied with through mutual cooperation!

However in this episode of Testa… the atmosphere was quite different.

[Generation M see the spiciness of Generation Z!]

[Cha Yu-jin: That's a tiger!]

[Ha Jin-tae: I see. Our friend Cha Yu-jin is a tiger.]

[They are unable to come to their senses due to the tiger remark born in 0X]

T-holic was mercilessly pushed aside from the beginning self-introduction but eventually began to fill the space with their own reactions.

– Hahahahahahahahahahahaha

-You're crazy Testa Generation Z madness haha.

The exquisite editing interpreted everything in terms of the generation gap and collected only the funniest conversations and reactions.

It was different from the usual entertainment but it was definitely funny.

'The Testa kids really have a lot of personality!'

The graduate student burst into laughter several times while watching the first part of the main story following the pre-release.

In the meantime I was proud that the only sanctuary for T-holics was Mundae.

[Park Moon-dae: Then just one verse…]

Park Moon-dae held the reins of the two youngest who were running wild and calmly carried out the work that needed to be done.

Promoting the tour mentioning the connection with T-Holic and singing a song…

Park Moon-dae's fans were amazed and suffered from the sight.

-What's going on with Yeon Sang-mi from Mundae?

-Actually my child is the youngest in the line so he is the leader of the youngest line.

-Moondangdaeng is all grown up.

He was truly the standard idol leader who appeared on entertainment shows! In the end the generational conflict that was rampant on screen was gradually brought to a head.

Moreover when entering the main game T-Holic took control of the atmosphere again.

After winning the mini-game of reading words by mouth shape they got an easy argument but were devastated when they realized the rule that they had to be 'persuaded'.

[Receiving 1 billion VS Being in distress]

[MC Maknae Kim: Now please make good use of the other person's argument and clearly answer 'why I was persuaded'~]

There were plenty of funny twists and turns you would expect from a variety show!

"Ahahaha!!"

It was funny when Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin failed in the mini game and it was even a good thing!

Cha Yu-jin on the screen was also giving a thumbs up to her members.

[Cha Yu-jin: We like it! Raebin Kim! Good job!]

[Kim Rae-bin: You lost because your mouth movements were too fast and inaccurate so you actually brought this advantage!]

[You're praising me right guys…?]

It became funnier when those clever reactions combined with T-Holic's despair.

And Park Moon-dae neatly summarized the situation again.

[Park Moon-dae: Well done everyone. From here on let's win and do

well.]

[Cha Yu-jin: Go TeSTAR!]

[Raebin Kim: Yep!]

-Sounds like a kindergarten teacher haha.

-If you just cut this cut you would think it was a sports game.

-Park Moon-dae looks like an adult.

Viewers on the channel app laughed and warmly praised the team atmosphere.

At the same time I was looking forward to seeing how calm Park Moon-dae would be embarrassed by T-holic's absurd words.

-Is the Tibetan fox finally coming out haha?

-He seems to be quite smart. I'm looking forward to seeing how he reacts.

-I saw that the more rational the guest was the more embarrassed he was.

And it seemed like these expectations would soon be met as T-Holic clucked and dragged the game along.

That is until Park Moon-dae reveals his true colors.

[Park Moon-dae: I think our team members would choose distress over 1 billion.]

Park Moon-dae said bullshit with a serious face.

"…??"

For a moment the graduate student wondered if he had heard wrong.

However Park Moon-dae started going crazy and saying nonsense with a shameless face.

It was a level of seriousness that was completely different from T-Holic's humorous shamelessness just moments ago.

Because they were not trying to win but were supporting the losing side!

There were even subtitles to express the true feelings.

[Park Moon-dae: I can't give up my beliefs just because of the problem of this one corner.]

[madness]

-Fuck you Park Mun-Dyeon hahahahahahahahahahahahaha

-Is the face of the Tibetan School of Literature like this?

-What kind of bullshit is this~~~~

Even the scene where the Testa members agreed one by one was almost like a comedy. This is because persuasion was completed with just one conversation.

[That… is that understandable?]

Moreover Park Moon-dae's logical structure itself was concise and easy to understand.

I heard from my experience that distress was more meaningful but what can I do?

-I get more wins because I'm persuasive.

-I understand distress is the best never distress always distress

And T-Holic got caught up in this and retorted turning the situation into the complete opposite of usual.

In fact it is true that he was correcting Testa's words and then completely reversing them but he was caught up in unexpected bullshit and came up with a reactionary rebuttal.

[Martin: Everyone! Please let's think realistically… Does it make sense that distress is good??]

[Kim Rae-bin: If you look at this claim from a realistic perspective it makes more sense. As Brother Moon Dae said earlier even if we were shipwrecked we would be in modern civilization!]

And the data screens that pass by all the time are cuts from Testa's island distress entertainment show.

[Experienced claim]

[What I got: Entertainment jackpot next album title money fame and realization]

[☆ And distress is better than 1 billion!☆]

[It's tempting…? by production team]

The moment the production team gave in viewers also acknowledged it.

-This claim is wrong.

-Did the kids really like it haha?

-Oh I see you experienced an incredible disaster on the Testa Island entertainment show hahahahahahahaha

-Isn't it Stockholm Syndrome? You're in love with distress.

Of course T-Holic who couldn't see the data screen didn't give in and tried hard to come up with a different logic.

The important issue is ‘Still it can be dangerous! ‘A person can get seriously injured!’ But Park Moon-dae just muttered this with sad eyes.

[Park Moon-dae: That… shouldn’t it be seen as a sad accident not a disaster?]

[Ha Jin-tae: Shipwreck is also an accident!!]

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Jintae’s neck has a blood clot haha.

T-holic clearly needed to be persuaded but when he came to his senses he was confused by the situation in which they were trying to lose somehow.

The production team did the same.

The production crew who edited the immersive space and galaxy backgrounds also added shaky subtitles.

[Generation Z… scary!]

-Please don’t tie me up.

-No the doorway is just another doorway.

-The popcorn chicken feet haven’t gone anywhere. My original intention is alive.

And the graduate student realized something.

‘Mundae… was a four-dimensional character.’

I had forgotten about her cool and sensible appearance recently but her idol had an extraordinary personality that danced “POP☆CON” from her first appearance…

Ultimately in this process T-Holic's final opposition developed into a serious and logical approach.

[Martin: But! That's the case with Testa! It's not our team? Probably not? We don't like distress!]

However Cha Yu-jin asked brightly.

[Cha Yu-jin: Senior are you in distress?]

[Martin: Oh no]

[Cha Yu-jin: Then I guess I really hate it! I have to try it to find out!]

Park Moon-dae spoke calmly while curtsying the opposing team whose mouths were wide open.

[Park Moon-dae: Wouldn't it be more reasonable to trust the testimony of a junior who is in the same profession and has first-hand experience?]

[Cha Yu-jin: That's right. Experience is important!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Those are truly wise words.]

-You sound like wisdom seriously haha.

As the chats intersected a huge stamped caption appeared on the face of the stupid-looking T-Holic member on the screen.

[After hearing it it seems to be true…!]

That's how T-Holic gained a superficial victory…

[MC Youngest Kim: Okay now it's time to wrap things up~ Have you prepared the reason why you were persuaded?]

In the end T-Holic declared bullshit with his own mouth.

[Ha Jin-tae: The distress is… because we are idols! Provides opportunities for growth and financial gain through new experiences…]

[Ha Jin-tae: So… distress! It's worth setting our goal for next year rather than just 1 billion! Ouch!]

[MC Youngest Kim: Okay~ Very persuasive!]

The moment those words were said applause broke out among the production crew. It was caused by laughter.

[Ha Jin-tae: Don't laugh you people!! Is this funny?? We'll be setting our sights on shipwreck next year!]

Meanwhile the three testers nodded.

[Park Moon-dae: Even though we lost I think we fought well.]

[Martin: What are you talking about? I did my best to lose!]

[LOL]

There was no skit in which the camera captured the faces of the gentle Testa members one by one.

"Oh really!!"

The graduate student burst into laughter!

It was only then that Park Moon-dae relaxed his expression and began to say things like 'I had fun.'

Only Kim Rae-bin made a bewildered expression at the sign that it was an entertainment show but after getting shocked it made me laugh once more…

The next corner has arrived.

[If you win the game you will be penalized if you lose the promotion.]

[What was the penalty given to Testa??]

Until now the punishments were mainly for reenacting funny memes or acting as a stage for comedy.

The graduate student stared at the penalty board with a big smile and excitement.

The penalty board that was spinning slowly slowed down…

[!!!!]

Shocking penalty revealed!

* * *

“Ah~ Today’s filming went well.”

“You had a hard time.”

“thank you!”

I dozed off with the two guys and bowed my head to the tea-holics.

The moment these guys turned off the camera they calmed down as if they were lying about being caught up in the atmosphere.

‘Was it for entertainment purposes?’

This means that the way they used to throw harsh words at each other like a waterfall has disappeared and they have returned to just being like long-time coworkers.

‘That might be the secret.’

At that time one of the guys who was the loudest and loudest during the filming quietly spoke up.

“You speak well. Are you interested in entertainment?”

“…?”

Is this a line recruitment? I answered clearly.

“Entertainment is good. Well due to my agency’s policy I’m going to focus more on the album.”

“Ah~”

The guy understood right away. Then he drank water and spoke slowly.

“This is advice I give as a senior… It is difficult for a group to do well for a long time while only doing music activities. “It’s a bit ironic but for a group to last long each person has to do well.”

“hmm.”

“People get bored quickly and their feelings are not the same.”

Is this an experience?

A similar conversation was happening right next to me.

This is because Kim Rae-bin was carefully holding out the T-holic album he had brought with him and getting an autograph.

“Thank you senior…!”

“Hey what are you doing with something like this? “Is there anything else you need?”

“Okay then! “I would appreciate it if you could give me some advice on what has kept the group active for so long!”

Kim Rae-bin's eyes sparkled and the T-Holic member scratched his head.

"hmm. "Let's not expect too much from each other shall we?"

"yes…?"

"We didn't ask to be friends because we liked each other but because we were on the same team it's easier if we don't forget that we're close."

It was quite serious advice.

'The guy next to you is not your friend so do you mean to do it even if it doesn't hit you?'

It seems like many thoughts came to mind while watching Kim Rae-bin bickering with Cha Yu-jin.

Still the T-Holic members themselves seemed a little embarrassed perhaps because of Kim Rae-bin's atmosphere which caused them to say things they didn't want to say.

"okay!"

However Raebin Kim interpreted these words on his own.

"That was the family similarity. "It's like not being able to choose your own family."

"…??"

"Although we did not meet for social purposes I believe that true solidarity can grow within it!"

"Uh… okay. Go for it!"

T-holic had a strange face but I didn't bother to question whether I had met all the characters so far.

‘…Funny guy.’

I chuckled and looked back at the guy in front of me who had made something similar to an entertainment networking offer.

“But I’m still trying to focus on group activities and work hard.”

The guy shrugged his shoulders.

“okay. “If that’s the case with your agency there’s nothing you can do.”

After ending the conversation in a reasonably polite manner I approached Raebin Kim who was collecting autographs and asked.

“Can you prepare within three days of the penalty?”

“No problem.”

Raebin Kim smiled brightly.

The punishment you will receive this time is… the childhood romance of the M generation.

It’s the animation theme song.

Chapter 303

In <T-Holic's Show Business> the stage or skit given as a penalty is of course for comedy purposes.

It is the latest trend or a popular meme that is a steady seller and is reinterpreted or reproduced exactly.

'T-holic has done half of the work so far.'

In fact there may be more because it often allows guests to win. And because these guys are so funny there is a strong perception that 'the original' is a tee-holic even if the guests are well directed and coached.

So what is the most important thing to pay attention to when setting up this stage?

"The following is a draft of the drum sound and reconstructed beat."

Rumble!

Cha Yu-jin's eyes lit up as the accompaniment like a well-tuned exhaust sound sounded.

"This is cool! Do this!"

"for a moment."

I stopped Cha Yu-jin.

"Listen to other things as well."

"Okay then I'll play number 3."

One thing to be careful of is that you shouldn't just be nice and warm.

'If you're just good at it they'll say it's no fun.'

What viewers expect is a funny dance performance but if it's done well without laughter there's a high chance that they'll think 'I'm leaving out even this.'

It's none of their business that they put all their effort into making it when they only had a week to spare.

'For a story like that to work it has to be survival.'

This is something that is unheard of in a regular entertainment program.

However blindly aiming only at laughter is not the best solution.

'There are more than one funny person in this punishment.'

It would be faster to find people who are not funny and solemn. The production team was very resourceful and planned it well.

Likewise if Testa follows this trend it will simply be absorbed by the program's good reputation.

-As expected Tishowbi is merciless even the testa haha.

-Oh it's so hilarious. I never thought I'd see Testa doing something like this.

-T-Show B please call our kids again promise… ^^

Isn't that roughly the reaction angle you expect from the program?

'They even gave us a list of recommendations.'

I skimmed through the candidates for 'Anime Theme Song of Memories' given by the production team.

Motorcycle racing comics Greek and Roman mythology comics mystery comics…

'What I just heard was the opening of a mystery cartoon… '

Raebin Kim transformed this into a wonderful rhythm with a well-executed hard-boiled flavor. In short it's not funny at all. It's just cool.

The next song was the same.

"I like this music!"

"I know."

Next was the Greek and Roman mythology cartoon theme song and it was arranged so that it was easy to listen to so there was no other easy-listening indie band song.

And only then did I realize my mistake.

It was the wrong idea to look at the arrangement first and then figure out the direction.

'They should have provided direction coaching from the beginning.'

In response to the order to 'arrange the animation theme song to fit the testa stage' Kim Rae-bin chose just such an arrangement.

Sophisticated and not at all ridiculous.

'No I think it would be difficult for this guy to make a low-quality funny arrangement in the first place… '

Of course since I'm a guy with good sense I can probably pull it all off if I come across a few references but it's definitely not something I specialize in.

Especially in this situation where I have chosen arrangement plans for all of the candidate songs thinking 'it might be fun'…I think there is a high probability that I will be disappointed.

“How are you? “It may sound a bit clunky as we haven’t done any detailed tuning or mixing yet but I think we’ve achieved all the important elements of delivery!”

“okay. “It’s definitely easy to listen to.”

“thank you!”

okay. This guy is totally excited.

‘I don’t have much time.’

If you say something pointless and Raebin Kim gets confused and says something like ‘Funny… music?’ it’s a pain in the ass.

First of all I was lost in thought after listening to all three songs that Raebin Kim had selected.

Purpose of the video.

‘Why did you only upload animations that went viral on WeTube as candidate songs?’

I want to stop talking about this damn generation but… Anyway this is a choice aimed at both Generation Z who watched the popular video and Generation M who watched the cartoon itself when they were young.

In the end the keywords are… consensus and topicality in the content sense.

‘hmm.’

I was rubbing my chin.

Cha Yu-jin asked without hesitation.

“Hyung Moon Dae! “Do you like this?”

“…!”

this.

“…! “Please point out any shortcomings and we will correct them!”

Kim Rae-bin was startled and looked like a private.

‘Was I too quiet?’

Well anyone with a bit of insight would have figured out that I wasn’t very satisfied. I was caught off guard because it was Kim Rae-bin.

In times like these the more comfortable the reaction the less serious the atmosphere becomes. I shrugged.

I just remembered a method.

“The arrangement is good… but I don’t think it’s a cartoon song you might know. “I wonder if you know.”

“I don’t know!”

“I have watched Detective Arthur but I have only heard of the other ones.”

Cha Yu-jin asked brightly.

“Did you know this? “Did you see it?”

…I see. Park Moon-dae is only two years older than these guys.

I came up with a common sense answer.

“…I saw it on WeTube.”

“Ouch.”

“okay. “For the stage… your preparation is thorough!”

Let’s leave this to be misunderstood.

“Anyway the songs the production staff gave us are good but they don’t really have anything to do with us…”

I threw out the bait.

“Wouldn’t it be more fun to do a song related to us?”

“Is there a song like that?”

“I like ‘Billy’s exciting animal tale’!”

An American cartoon I’ve never heard of pops out.

I said shaking my head.

“You have to choose a cartoon that was famous in Korea around the 2000s. Because that is the penalty condition.”

“Boo…”

Because it’s a ‘nostalgic animation theme song.’ In that sense Cha Yu-jin’s sensibility is dismissive.

‘I guess this is enough.’

Instead I showed them a WeTube video of a candidate I had just come up with.

Apparently this also became a meme on TicTacTok because of its creative gesture.

“So… how about this?”

“…?”

If this is the case there is no need to go with a ridiculous arrangement to discourage Kim Rae-bin.

‘But there’s no need for us to dress up in a funny way.’

It can be funny the other way around.

‘The stage isn’t funny but the situation makes it funny.’

Humor created from context.

So that the person who is arranging the music can comfortably immerse themselves in it without thinking that it is funny.

“This is… ah.”

As expected Kim Rae-bin’s expression brightened.

“okay. It can definitely be a meaningful challenge. “Please wait a moment!”

And Raebin Kim put on a headset and went to work.

‘…On the ground without any original music?’

Anyway it looks like the light has definitely come on. I nodded.

‘It’s okay.’

At that time the last unit member right next to me opened his mouth with a serious expression.

“brother.”

Ah this guy could be a problem.

I assure you this is not Cha Yujin's taste.

"why"

"Hyung and Kim Rae-bin do you really like this? Really?"

"uh."

Then Cha Yu-jin looked at the video once looked at Kim Rae-bin once and finally looked at me and then sighed.

[oh my god!]

What?

"This is a comedy stage where the purpose is to be funny. "This is good enough."

"i know! right…"

Cha Yu-jin took a few bites with a disappointed look on her face but then shrugged her shoulders.

It was a declaration of surrender.

[brother. I really do this for the team. I never thought I would do something like this in my life.]

I chuckled. I got it bastard.

"Pitch here…"

Raebin Kim worked hard to adjust the key and match the accompaniment and came up with a 1 minute and 24 second arrangement in half a day.

The hasty early morning practice was fixed like that.

* * *

The scene changes to the point where the live portion of the sophistical debate with Testa has just ended.

In reality the penalty was filmed after a week's delay but on the broadcast the penalty cut naturally continued after Testa's crazy loss.

Of course after the commercial break.

[What is the penalty stage prepared by Testa?]

[Revealed in 60 seconds]

People who were already familiar with the commercial made various predictions and noises during that time.

-Vote for the classic Dionysus stage.

T-Holic… already did it…

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

At this point I feel respect.

When it comes to nostalgic animations there are many funny songs and concepts that come to mind.

And since this program has never been funny they already had the direction and feel they expected.

-I think it will definitely create a 90s halo effect.

-Please save my face.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

It's an other-worldly sensibility that deliberately brings out the B-class rusticity.

I thought this program would do a good job of faithfully replicating these funny emotions without being messed up!

But when the commercial break ended and the screen came back.

-?

The three testers were just standing in the studio wearing neat school uniforms.

The lighting that shines on the testa turned backwards also has a state-of-the-art feel. No other filters were used.

-to

-It's a testa penalty right?

At that moment the song started with a bright and cheerful accompaniment.

Park Mun-dae of the center turns around and makes a symbolic gesture.

[Dreams of love conveyed through song

[Start now]

-????

It was the exact same gesture as the transformation theme song from the 2001 magical girl animation "Melody Angel."

A classic magical girl cartoon where you become a magical girl with a melody and purify your enemies with a magic song.

Testa who realistically recreated the school uniform without any exaggerated makeup started the live performance holding a real microphone.

-This is me.

-live?

[Magical lights up!]

This cartoon had an original song rather than an adaptation thanks to the investment of an ambitious animation broadcasting station and it was that song that was released now.

The theme song of the main character group.

That's the theme song of memories neatly arranged so that it's perfect for listening now.

A melody that almost everyone in their 20s or 30s knows was played with the original emotion.

[With love in a pure song

Magic flying heart bullet!]

Because of those lyrics and movements anti-war comedy videos that destroy children's hearts and cause people to fall down as if they were hit by a real bullet were popular for a while. Thanks to this even teenagers knew the original video.

However Testa did not use or direct the meme. It's just a faithful reproduction of the original animation.

In the chorus he even comes out wearing a cape and gloves which look good as stage props and continues the performance.

This is precisely the point where the cape appears in the full transformation scene of 〈Melody Angel〉.

[Open your heart LOVE

[I'm going to make a wish today]

Testa worked really hard and did well.

In terms of the reproduction rate and coolness of the actual cartoon it was better than any other video posted on the Internet. Even the singing and facial expressions were truly professional.

So it was even funnier.

-???????

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Hey Testa I'm serious hahahaha.

-I got too involved in the discussion and I got too involved in the punishment lol.

-Magical Boy Jjambap has not gone anywhere.

Full of respect for the original composer!

The sincerity of these people whose debut song is 'Magical Boy' covering 'Singing Magical Girl' wholeheartedly!

It was so immersive that I couldn't help but laugh.

It was a picture of one T-holic member being seen with his arms crossed in the background with his eyes looking like he was saying 'That much…?'

-ㅅㅂ Jintae pupil earthquake hahahahahahaha

– It's time to admit that you're wasting your talent.

-Testa This is also sincere. Why on earth are you sincere?

From the viewer's perspective this was the culmination of 'sincere' emotions that connected from the discussion they had just seen. People burst into helpless laughter.

[taste. jin. Draw a dream

The world is beautiful~]

The CG glitter effect was used only once but even that was more annoying because it was identical to the cartoon.

And a short interlude at the end of the stage.

Traditionally the comment that appeared in the place where the impression subtitles are included was the highest point.

[Melody Angel Pepperto thank you for the wonderful song. I respect you. by Park Moon-dae]

[I worked hard to cover it because I felt it had a consistent goal with the concept of saving people through song. Cheers! by Raebin Kim]

[I saw it for the first time and everyone likes it. by Cha Yu-jin]

-What on earth are you cheering for?

-Are you crazy hahahaha

-Park Moon-dae is also a fan of Soft and Sweet and Melody Angel is even a senior hahaha.

-I thought it was Generation Z but people of the same age gamble.

-Cha Yu-jin Why are the subtitles again a cartoon review? Oh it's so funny hahahahahaha

The stage is great and the interpretation is funny.

The three testers finished the stage with a serious attitude until the end.

-What's really going on with Testa?

-The character is unrivaled haha.

And the buzz began to increase in the direction Park Moon-Dae wanted.

Chapter 304

“Hahahaha!!”

Sejin burst into laughter in the living room. On the smart TV’s huge screen I saw three grown guys wielding capes.

[♡Magic Heart bullet!♡]

“…”

It was a WeTube edited version of the penalty stage. Playing a children’s animation cover stage in the middle of the living room is practically a public execution.

“Turn it off.”

Before Cha Yu-jin jumps out and grabs him by the collar.

“Ah why does it look so professional and so nice?”

But Big Sejin laughed heartily.

“Sejin is also very professional but it’s too bad he couldn’t participate～”

“You went to the jungle.”

While other guys are wearing capes and joking around look at how long the guy who filmed a solo commercial and appeared on a variety show has a long tongue.

Of course this guy is someone we would really regret.

“So if I only had a team for two weeks I would have somehow found time…”

I can feel Keun Se-jin secretly watching TV with a look of regret.

“The response has been really good.”

That was an undeniable truth.

[Testa’s youngest members are overly immersed haha]

[Generation M idol who is helpless by Generation Z haha]

[Park Moon-dae Pine Tree Certification Broadcast.jpg]

[Today’s Tishowbi testa is really crazy]

The character built up from the discussion exploded into punishment completely eating up the buzz.

‘It’s ours.’

This can be seen as an achievement of the goal as it will be attributed to the image of Testa which is a topic that arose not because of the program but because of the performers…

“Look at this I heard that your hobby is watching magical girls at Mundaemundae?”

“Would you like to see it?”

“Hahaha!!”

…It’s a bit weird that I did that at this age.

‘Everyone tried to dance to the popcorn.’

Fortunately as time passed people who were impressed or addicted to the stage itself began to appear one after another.

‘Because it was well made.’

If the stage had been ridiculous it would have been a bad thing but I am satisfied with the fact that it successfully solidified the image of a singer rather than an entertainer.

-Please give me the music.

-Not releasing this as an official song is playing on the memories of people born in the 90s really.

-I decided to win key thanks to Park Moon-dae. Mevo is also precious.

There was praise for Nana Cha Yu-jin’s stage performance but Kim Rae-bin received the main attention for her abilities.

An interview with a cookie was inserted at the end of the penalty video because Kim Rae-bin answered very honestly about the arrangement process.

[Brother Moon Dae (edit) recommended a meaningful and good song so I enjoyed working on it. Thank you for the great opportunity.]

[(Edit) It took a total of 5 hours!]

-A 20-year-old animation theme song arrangement can be removed in 5 hours?

– Arranged by Kim Rae-bin alone⊏⊏⊏

-In the meantime Park Moon-dae recommended it haha. You were really sincere.

-It’s just a heavenly world arranged in one day.

The reaction from people who were moderately interested in Testa and came in to watch entertainment was great but even the fans seemed a bit surprised.

-Kim Rae-bin What on earth is happening? I knew My Little Medieval Rabbit was a great genius but at this level he is not human.

I guess I tend to be like that because I'm a rabbit.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Is it okay for Ravin to just become an idol? After all shouldn't we give the country away?

I didn't know it would be like this.

Everyone was amazed at the artist's ability to single-handedly refine an old children's animation theme song that could easily become comical especially since it was a magical girl theme song.

'I feel like Kim Rae-bin's capabilities have been undervalued because most of the work has been co-producing.'

"Ravin look at this~ You're a genius!"

"Thank you very much for the undeserved praise but I will work harder!"

Raebin Kim answered in an instant like some kind of fully automatic robot.

Judging by the solemn expression on his face it seems like this guy was also overly excited perhaps because he saw the reaction on the Internet.

'Well he's always good at it.'

Actually the reaction wasn't excessive. Raebin Kim's ability distribution is at the level of a cheat in this industry.

In particular his composition-related abilities which are not expressed in stats are outstanding. It even has the characteristic 'Maestro (S)' so its speed is fast.

The track record of extracting orders as they come in.

‘Isn’t this the most preferred employee image in modern society?’

He’s a bit tactless… but he’s honest and sincere so that can be seen as an advantage.

‘Seeing this I feel lucky again.’

When I appeared in <Azusa> I didn’t evaluate the long-term value of each individual because I was in a hurry to debut and I didn’t know about the crazy future with ‘status abnormalities’ that would continue after that.

However after debuting it is almost a miracle to have such a good combination of abilities and survival skills.

‘I thought there would be one or two gangsters.’

I shrugged.

Anyway now that it is directly tied to T Holic and has not been pushed out the topicality in the second half of the year is stable.

We just have to manage it well until the end-of-year awards season.

Liu Chengwu smiles and says a good word.

“Now that I think about it this activity will end soon. “Everyone had a hard time.”

“Sure.”

The domestic schedule is in its final stages with no new advertising events scheduled.

All that’s left is the concert and preparation for the next album. It was a clear success.

“Now Ravin will do a great job arranging the music for the concert~”

“We will make a great song to meet your expectations…!”

The atmosphere was okay. It is the lingering feeling of success that can be enjoyed immediately after presenting the results and receiving high praise without any immediate problems.

I nodded and turned the TV screen.

‘It’s just the right time to relax and have fun.’

Since all the major problems had passed I thought it would be okay.

However there were some among us who did not enjoy this timing very much.

From his perspective it was probably because there were still ‘big cases’ scattered around.

* * *

A short break for a few days after the last domestic event ended.

dripping.

“Mundae. “Did Ravin see it…?”

“hmm.”

Sun Ah-hyeon came in after carefully knocking and asked just as carefully.

‘But the content is unexpected.’

What is the whereabouts of Kim Rae-bin? I looked up from the plan I was making and answered.

“no. why?”

“Oh well… I haven’t been in my room often lately.”

“…”

Even after hearing the explanation it still seems unexpected.

First of all Sun Ah-hyun was roommates with Kim Rae-bin. Since they were both the type to stay in their room it was probably inevitable that they would see each other often but the fact that they didn’t come into the room was strange.

He’s not the type of person to go out often.

“I haven’t seen you today either. Should I ask you?”

“Oh that should be it. for a moment…!”

“No wait.

Why bother when I have a smartphone in my hand?

I stopped Sun Ah-hyun from returning to her room and sent a message to my phone.

[Where is it]

But no reply came.

“…?”

He usually gets a polite reply within 5 seconds.

“hmm.”

“No reply…?”

“I see.”

I made a call.

ddu-

“…”

But this guy doesn’t even answer the phone.

‘what.’

There’s a possibility that he left his cell phone on the veranda inside the dorm… but if he wasn’t in the dorm that means he went out.

‘Has anyone seen Raebin Kim going out?’

I immediately went out to the living room and asked the others if they had seen Raebin Kim.

Cha Yu-jin and Keun Se-jin go out. The remaining ones are Ryu Cheong-woo and Bae Se-jin.

“Ravin? Now that I think about it I don’t think I’ve seen you today.”

Liu Chengwu who was in the living room seemed equally puzzled.

And Bae Se-jin.

This guy avoided his eyes.

“Today… I haven’t left my room.”

“…”

“What’s going on??”

“I can’t see Kim Rae-bin.”

I understood the situation anyway. It was as if Kim Rae-bin had disappeared without any news.

This is… strange even during a break. Maybe it's Cha Yu-jin but he leaves without saying hello and doesn't answer the phone?

"I said I wouldn't even answer the phone."

"yes. "I would like to contact the company."

I checked with Sun Ah-hyun one last time.

"Raebin Kim when was the last time you saw him?"

"I saw it last night and haven't seen it since…"

"When do you sleep?"

"I went to bed early… I don't know. Sorry. "I'm a roommate."

"It's nothing to apologize for."

"okay! "There's nothing to be sorry about!"

I left Bae Se-jin to comfort me and picked up my smartphone again to call the company.

It was then.

[Kim Rae-bin]

"…!"

I received a phone call.

"Uh uh…!"

"Is it Ravin?"

“yes.”

I got a call right away. Words poured out as if they had been waiting.

-We have contacted you to confirm your absence. Sorry for being late…!

“No it’s okay. “Where are you now?”

-yes? Ah I came to the company’s recording studio for a moment!

Liu Chengwu spoke quietly.

“Ravin. Even on holidays we keep in touch. “Everyone was worried because no one saw you today.”

-today…

For a moment the phone went quiet. what?

However a strong apology was soon heard.

-sorry! I was careless!

“It’s not like that… Anyway good work.”

-yes!

Raebin Kim hung up the phone only after expressing a few polite thanks.

Bae Se-jin sighed and muttered.

“It wasn’t a big deal.”

“Sure.”

“I guess Ravin was busy working and forgot to contact me.”

The story was summarized internally as if some kind of inspiration came and ran away.

'Is this the end?'

I shrugged my shoulders and walked over to finish the plan I had been writing.

And dinner a few hours later.

Raebin Kim wearing glasses nodded as he came in.

"I came to the studio to check my future plans. "It's been a while since I had some free time so I thought I shouldn't miss this opportunity!"

"okay."

"I'm sorry if I caused you any concern."

"Oh no. "I'm worried that something might be inconvenient… If so I'd love it if you could tell me."

"It's not uncomfortable at all. "If you have any inconveniences please let me know!"

The two men talked amicably saying considerate things.

'What happened?'

I shrugged my shoulders and tried to pass by but at that moment I saw Kim Rae-bin's face up close.

"…"

That… is it too soft?

Even so it can be seen that he is not a very good-looking guy.

‘hmm.’

He often works on music at his dorm. I’m not the kind of guy who becomes like that just by touching a song for a moment…

‘no way.”

After finishing my conversation with Sun Ah-hyun I caught the guy who was trying to leave.

“Raebin Kim.”

“yes?”

“Did you work all night?”

“…!”

“It’s not that I didn’t see Sun Ah-hyun because she went to bed early yesterday but you didn’t come into the dorm at all.”

“…that thing.”

It’s a face that tells anyone that they’ve been caught.

Raebin Kim hesitated but soon answered quietly.

“Well… I was so preoccupied that I didn’t realize how much time had passed and couldn’t report it. sorry.”

Like a guy who can’t lie he tells the truth.

Well it’s not a job that requires me to stay up all night for a day or two so I’ll take care of it but I feel uncomfortable that right now is not the season for that.

“What did you do?”

“We have prepared the concert music and next album!”

I said to try it out.

“It’s okay if you don’t have to. “Because time is not urgent.”

There is quite a bit of time until the concert. The next album is even better.

“You tend to work quickly so there’s no need to stay up all night…”

“You can’t rely on tricks like that!”

“…!”

Kim Rae-bin seemed shocked that he cut off the other person’s words and talked back.

“I’m sorry! “I might not be as fast this time so I want to be more prepared…”

As expected it wasn’t because I had inspiration and ran like crazy but because of the pressure.

“Okay I got it. But don’t overdo it.”

“yes…”

Raebin Kim shook his head and slowly walked to his room.

Sun Ah-hyun watched the whole thing without leaving her seat.

When I look at his face it says ‘I’m worried.’

“Do you care?”

“Ugh.”

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to have reached a similar conclusion.

“I feel like the burden of wealth is too much… I think I’ve been like that before.”

“Um okay.”

Since everyone on the internet is saying they are geniuses they can’t help but be more concerned about their next results.

Aren’t you the type of guy who thinks about all possible outcomes every time he’s about to release an album?

‘But he’s done well so far.’

Rain is just rain and over time you will see results and regain confidence.

‘Now even if people around me tell me not to worry I always think of a retort.’

For now I decided not to let him do whatever he wants.

But this time there were variables.

A few days later in a blind test for concert arrangements… Kim Rae-bin’s arrangement was ultimately eliminated.

Chapter 305

Even at the conference hall that day Kim Rae-bin looked nervous.

-It's okay Ravin you've done well so far.

-Of course~ Even if it doesn't work out we don't have ears to listen! But there's no way it wouldn't work?

-That's right I like Kim Raebin's song!

-… thank you.

At least my complexion got a little better after hearing encouragement from others.

But when I opened the lid…

-Then we go to numbers 2 4 and 5 like this? okay. Then our Ravin's number is…

-… It was number 3.

-…!

His arrangement ended up not even making it into the rankings.

It's literally elimination.

It's funny to explain it so carelessly but it's something no one could have guessed.

'Kim Rae-bin's arrangement was ultimately eliminated… '

This is because so far this arrangement has been put into the final draft at a level where it can be safely called ‘absolutely’.

Of course it has never been fully adopted. However at least a critical part of the draft was reflected and I also participated in the final work.

So the members also talked about their next project as a habit.

-Now Ravin will do a great job arranging the music for the concert~

However this is the first failure since debut.

‘That’s also why he hung around without sleep for several days.’

“…”

I swiped through the ‘Concert Arrangement Blind Vote Results’ data that had also arrived by email and turned off the screen.

And then he folded his arms and leaned back.

‘There may be several reasons.’

The direction was different the AR team came up with a good draft that suited our tastes or the work time was ample.

But why now?

‘It’s almost like Kim Rae-bin was pushed into a slump at the most critical moment.’

However it would be foolish to immediately overturn the results of the vote.

Because of his personality there’s no way he’ll be happy and he can’t lower the quality just to be mindful.

‘It just makes the situation worse without any benefit.’

But it was foolish to leave it like this.

“…”

I got up from my seat.

After the morning concert meeting I quietly went to my room and went to visit the guy who was sleeping.

But there was no need to go far. Raebin Kim was sitting on the sofa in the living room.

Next to them were Cha Yu-jin who was quite determined Sun Ah-hyun with a worried expression and Keun Se-jin with a perplexed look on her face.

Cha Yu-jin held out something to Kim Rae-bin.

“Raebin Kim eat this.”

Raebin Kim was wearing a coat and socks. It looks like they caught the guy who was trying to leave.

“I’m not eating. “I’m in the studio for a moment…”

“Why in the studio?”

“…!”

The people I was talking to turned to look at me. Raebin Kim swallowed his saliva and muttered in a low voice.

“If we don’t work to correct our shortcomings we won’t be able to produce results that will satisfy people even on the next attempt…”

“Kim Rae-bin do better next time! It can’t happen once. “No problem it’s okay!”

However Kim Rae-bin was neither annoyed nor agreed with Cha Yu-jin's words.

"It's not confirmed whether it will be okay or not."

I just quietly muttered.

"But since I failed this time I can see that the probability of it not being okay has increased. So to reduce the probability you need to prepare more…"

"…"

After a short silence.

"Ravin why don't you get some rest?"

"That's right. There's still a lot of time left until the concert… I need to save up my stamina…!"

Words poured out in an instant.

I guess they thought something might happen if they sent it to the studio as is.

'That's how I see it too.'

I don't know if I'd rather be angry or resentful but that seems like a symptom of obsession. Big Se-jin sat down next to him and patted his shoulder.

"Don't even monkeys fall from trees sometimes? "Let's just think about our performance and take a break~ I heard rest is important too right?"

This… I need some help.

I opened my mouth.

"I've been running without resting until now so please give my head a rest. “Muscles grow when you rest but you haven’t rested too much.”

“Rest.”

In the end Raebin Kim reluctantly nodded. I held back a sigh.

The timing was bad.

* * *

And several days passed.

Raebin Kim did not go to the studio as promised but her complexion was still not good. It seemed like the shock of the first failure had not yet subsided.

Still after a busy time filming the tour promotional video it was time to relax again due to some stages that had not yet been drafted.

‘It’s quiet.’

Maybe my body wasn’t properly adjusting to the changed schedule but I woke up early in the morning.

‘Should I at least drink some water?’

I quietly walked out of the room so as not to wake my roommate.

And I discovered something unexpected. Light leaking from outside the living room veranda.

Since it came from beyond the window the light source was too close. It looks like the light of an electronic device…

‘invasion?’

There’s no way there’s a crazy kid coming down from the rooftop on a rope… well it’s possible.

I approached it cautiously without necessarily limiting the scope of my thoughts. We have set up an emergency contact network so that we can report if anything goes wrong.

But what was outside… it was a person but not a stranger.

“Raebin Kim.”

“…!”

Kim Rae-bin who was sitting on the tile turned around in shock.

“Brother tongue.”

The appearance of someone wearing headphones and the program on the screen… clearly showed that they were working.

This guy had secretly come out to the veranda in the early morning and was squatting down to work.

“What are you doing?”

“that is…”

“I’m touching the music.”

Is this why you looked tired during the day?

It was quite possible that my complexion would not recover. This stupid guy…

I closed the balcony door strode in and stood in front of him.

“I am…”

Raebin Kim was hurriedly trying to get out of his seat and started typing randomly on the keyboard.

And the laptop window changed.

Raebin Kim… was monitoring while working.

[Blind voting results for concert arrangement]

A group email with the same subject as the email I saw a few days ago.

'This… '

Looking at Kim Rae-bin's recent behavior it may not have been a productive thought to get motivated and motivated by watching it again.

You must have been shocked enough already.

And… that email didn't just contain the voting results.

In order to come up with a reasonable combination I anonymously wrote down why I chose each number and why I did not choose them.

But if you look at the way they speak you can roughly guess it.

-#4 is the most fun

-2 Number 5 is smooth and easy to listen to~ Fighting!^^

-All were good but number 5 was the most natural. I didn't choose number 1 or 3 because I thought it might be a matter of taste.

"…"

That's why we can't even say pretentious things like "Your song was the best but we had bad luck."

The members all voted together.

…And I also left a comment there one for each number. Of course it's also under Kim Rae-bin's nominated song.

-The sound is excessive

"…"

Raebin Kim had been silently reading the peer evaluation over and over for the past few days.

And among these comments not a single person said that Kim Rae-bin's song was good.

'Fuck… really.'

Could it be that he was trying to reflect this and work this early in the morning?

"Listen."

I sat in front of him and made eye contact.

"The majority decision is not always right. In reality the public may like your arrangement more."

"…"

"There is no need to worry too much about this result. "It's just a concert arrangement."

Raebin Kim answered suddenly.

"But my brother also judged the quality of my arrangement to be poor."

"…"

"The feedback that it was excessive… wasn't it from Brother Moon Dae?"

“I’m not a composer so you don’t have to blindly believe what I say.
“Your senses are better than what other people say…”

“no!”

Raebin Kim lowered his head.

“My brother’s judgment about songs was always objective and excellent. “I never missed anything but I didn’t arrange it properly…”

“…”

I feel like I got hit in the head.

This guy was even more shocked by this.

‘I’ve noticed that my judgment about songs is particularly good.’

It was thanks to the trait ‘Grabbing Ears (A)’. It’s not like he realized something unusual like a skill but he was a guy with a good sense of music so he figured it out right away.

-Moondae’s choices are always great.

He thought that he had been criticized harshly by the evaluator whose objectivity he trusted the most.

‘under… ’

My taste buds were bitter.

I won’t lie. Actually I still don’t think Kim Rae-bin’s arrangement is very good.

‘Kim Rae Vinci was so typical.’

I thought it was just something the AR team came up with.

And since I obtained this characteristic through the status window it is definitely guaranteed…

‘Wait status window?’

At that moment several examples of my own experiences suddenly pass through my mind.

‘…’

I pulled up Kim Rae-bin’s status window all of a sudden.

I hoped not but there was a word I hadn’t seen added at the end.

!Status abnormality: wandering around

Damn it.

[Round ticket]

: Lost in place

Reaction of ‘Attribute: Maestro (S)’. Decreased sensation.

“But… when you say excessive does that mean there is too much structure in the song? So to cut it short here… Can you tell me what this sounds like? Are you better than before? Has it gotten better?”

“…”

This… this isn’t working.

It was clear that this guy had completely lost his mind.

I understand now. The reason why Kim Rae-bin seemed to be so steadfast in the face of criticism was because he was able to immediately think of and present alternatives.

But now it seemed like the system had completely collapsed. Dependent.

'Fuck… '

I took the headphones he gave me but didn't use them. Instead I asked back.

"…How does it sound to you?"

I heard Kim Rae-bin sobbing in a low voice.

"I'm not sure… I tried to reflect as much as possible what people said was good and deliver a result that people would expect… but I'm not sure if I did it right."

"Do what you want to do."

"What I want to do is not concretely implemented…"

I know what this means.

'The balance is broken.'

I know that this guy has a humble side that sincerely tries to accept other people's opinions.

But at the same time he had faith in his own abilities.

An instinctive level of confidence that if something is good it is good and if it is not good it is not good.

So even when feedback is given they either filter it out and interpret it on their own or absorb it based on their own judgment.

A style that keeps running as you understand it and as you are inspired.

'It's basic personality.'

Look at how T-holic's remarks were interpreted as family.

But this time things were a little different.

As reviews that were better than I could imagine poured in like crazy from an unspecified number of people I was overwhelmed by the direct barrage.

'Rather I lost confidence.'

The feeling of not being able to disappoint and the pressure to produce perfect results destroyed my enjoyment.

As the My Pace character was lost there the song lost its individuality.

However when you receive harsh criticism you become completely embarrassed and become overly concerned about the evaluation. It was the first 'failure of ability' in this guy's life.

'It's a vicious cycle.'

I held back swearing.

And after calming down the guy who looked like he was about to burst into tears I confiscated his laptop.

"Stop this for now. Even if it's not like this there's a lot to do and you're a capable guy. "Let it go for now."

"…"

"I'm not saying this because I don't think you can do it but if you keep going like this and you get insomnia you'll be in even bigger trouble."

"Once you complete just one…"

"no."

I confiscated my laptop. And while I was conflicted I said:

"…If you're doing it for fun it's not my place to interfere but right now it's ruining your condition. "You can't even sleep."

"…"

Raebin Kim lowered his head.

As I was tapping him on the shoulder I realized that I'm not really good at this kind of thing.

'Fuck you.'

A solution was needed.

* * *

Kim Rae-bin faithfully participated in the schedule even after dawn.

But my previous sense of humor was shattered.

And one of the guys who noticed it found the reason in my room.

"Is that Park Moon-dae's laptop?"

Big Sejin said seriously.

"I'd rather just let it happen. That's how you catch a kid."

"…"

I shook my head roughly and answered a beat late.

A solution that took several days to hammer out and refine.

"Then try recruiting a mountain lodge."

"…? what?"

It wasn’t a joke.

I was reminded of Raebin Kim’s ‘Status Abnormality’.

A reaction to the Maestro’s characteristics that increases the production speed of songs that can almost be considered industrial.

Deterioration of Kim Rae-bin’s exceptional sense.

‘In the end the obsession with performance and efficiency resulted in a reaction.’

Then it’s simple.

Let’s just do some non-productive creations that have nothing to do with test results.

So I started planning a healing course with trashy utility that I had never even considered in my life.

It is a self-development camp.

“Just… let’s just go to the mountains.”

Not the destination.

Chapter 306

It rattled.

It was quiet inside the moving car.

Each member sitting in the seats of the spacious van seemed to be listening to music or working on their smartphones.

Raebin Kim was trying to recall today's schedule and detailed study method but then quit. The thinking did not move in a productive direction at all.

And I felt guilty about that.

'Such negligence.'

This could be defined in layman terms as 'the mind is very tired' but to him it came across as laziness.

'…Everyone is working hard.'

And only then did I suddenly remember the scene where the manager and members were talking about today's schedule.

-This was filmed in an out-of-town studio right?

-yes. Yes.

-Then it might take a while~

It certainly seemed like a long time had passed since I got into the car.

Although I didn't volunteer it it may have been because I was constantly going back and forth with directionless anxiety throughout that time.

The hardest time was when I stayed still.

In the past at times like this I would quickly write down various plans and thoughts that suddenly came to mind.

Raebin Kim turned his head to avoid the memories of failure being replayed.

A flash of blue suddenly appeared in my vision.

‘Blue?’

What I saw outside the window after half an hour was a large road next to a mountain.

The van was… driving on the highway.

“…?”

You said you were going to the outskirts but if you enter the highway like this wouldn’t the destination be a completely different area?

Raebin Kim did not have a license. However because I remember attending a local event I thought of a valid question but I quickly held back.

It’s not my place to ask questions.

Kim Rae-bin determined to do as he was told and to do his best quietly froze in his seat swept away by the predictions and worries that came to his mind again.

And Park Moon-dae who was sitting next to him glanced at him and then turned his head.

‘I didn’t notice.’

And again some time later.

“Oh we’ve arrived.”

Members began to get out of the stopped car. Raebin Kim followed them out of habit but soon stopped.

The place they got off was in the middle of a mountain on one side of the road.

There was only one old quaint house and that seemed like the destination.

‘Is this a nature-friendly concept…?’

And before Kim Rae-bin could again blame him for his lack of knowledge the manager got back into the driver’s seat and nodded to the members.

“Then I will go downstairs.”

“yes! “I’ll contact you later!”

“…??”

This was also quite strange.

‘Aren’t you accompanying me during filming?’

It was the first time since Testa’s dedicated team was launched that they were left to handle the work at work on their own! Kim Rae-bin momentarily forgot his helplessness in this unfamiliar situation and looked around.

A cool breeze was blowing from the beautiful autumn mountains where the leaves were turning red.

As if a tightly tied knot had loosened a breeze blew into my heart.

‘There is a mountain like this in Seoul too.’

He reflected on his short insight and prejudice. Isn’t it a wonderful landscape like one of the Taebaek Mountain Range in Gangwon-do where I used to live?

At that time as he turned his head a road sign caught his eye.

[Seorak Mountain ↑ 32m]

“…??”

Raebin Kim was confused.

Seoraksan Mountain is located in Gangwon-do.

So this isn’t the outskirts of Seoul… it’s really Gangwon-do!

At this point even people who are full of self-reproach will naturally open their mouths.

“I’m sorry but I’d like to ask if there was an error in setting the destination!”

Raebin Kim’s scared cry made the members turn to him.

“why?”

“This place looks like the mountains of Gangwon-do not the outskirts of Seoul!”

“that’s right.”

“yes?”

Liu Chengyu answered gently.

“This is the destination Lavin.”

“…??”

Raebin Kim was confused again. Then Park Mun-dae who had sent back the car with the manager in it looked back at Kim Rae-bin.

My respected older brother was smiling.

“filming…”

“We are not here to film.”

“then…?”

“I just entered the mountain. “Let’s do some self-development training.”

Park Mun-dae answered quickly as if he didn’t want to even say it out loud but at the end he smiled slightly again.

“This is a songwriting camp.”

Raebin Kim opened his mouth wide.

As we entered the quaint brick cabin it looked like a friendly lodge except for an unnatural modern TV.

However Kim Rae-bin still couldn’t come to her senses and was standing blankly in the middle of the living room covered in floral wallpaper.

“Raebin Kim sit down!”

“Wow it really feels like I’m on MT. yes? “The budget is right there too.”

“Would you like some fruit?”

And when I came to I was sitting on a mat that was starting to get hot holding a side of the boat in my hand.

“…?”

What on earth is going on? Kim Rae-bin fell into agony as she analyzed Park Moon-dae’s words not even noticing that everyone except herself was calm.

…Songwriting Camp.

‘It seemed like he clearly didn’t like my continued attempts at composing… ’

Does this mean that you are so frustrated that you will check your performance until you get it right? I was scared for a moment but I didn’t even know if that was what I was hoping for.

‘If I continue to receive and refine my brother’s feedback I might be able to write good songs like before.’

It may have been very painful but on the contrary I became impatient.

I wanted to write a song right away and get evaluated right away get out of this helpless state and return to the previous state…

So Kim Rae-bin immediately shouted as soon as Park Moon-dae who had gone to the kitchen entered the living room.

“May I ask what this songwriting camp means?”

“Literally.”

Park Moon-dae took out the equipment from his bag. It was his familiar laptop.

Raebin Kim looked like he was going to become stiff from tension but he quickly held out his hand to receive it.

Tuk.

The heavy weight is reduced by focusing on performance rather than portability.

He spoke in a trembling voice.

“Then… from now on when I write a song other people will give me feedback…”

“You’re not the only one who does this.”

“yes?”

Moon-Dae Park didn’t stop and took out a new laptop from his bag.

“Oh is it Mundae Flex?”

“Take that red one! REDMAN~!”

And distributed them one by one to those who reached out.

“Everyone will compose their own music. And negative feedback is prohibited.”

“…!”

“You can’t get feedback from outside during camp. I didn’t install KakaoTalk on my PC. “E-mail is prohibited.”

Although there was no separate tyrant Kim Rae-bin could not even think of a phrase to refute.

Finally Park Moon-dae took out his laptop and laid it out on the table with his back to the TV.

widely.

Reflexively Raebin Kim followed suit and opened his laptop.

And then looking at his program on the screen just as it was last time he asked with a slightly trembling voice.

“Then what purpose is this song for?”

Cha Yu-jin intervened.

“There is no use!”

“…!”

“Park Moon-dae said it. “It’s called camp.”

Bae Se-jin calmly concluded his speech.

“Just making it.”

* * *

Being stuck in a mountain cabin blocked off from the outside for 3 days and 2 nights passed with more support than expected.

‘…I didn’t know the mountain cabin would be so much like a home.’

I checked the ginseng liquor left on the veranda and twitched my eyes but held it back.

Keun Se-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo found a mountain cabin that really looked like a relative’s house in the countryside.

‘Maybe I should have left it to Bae Se-jin.

At that moment Bae Se-jin opened his mouth.

“…the atmosphere here is cozy.”

“That’s right.”

I will cancel. I should have done it.

But since it was my job to make a plan there was nothing I could do. It's been a while since I tried to do something this unproductive well so there was some trial and error.

I looked at Raebin Kim.

The guy was looking around at his laptop and the people with a helpless expression on his face.

okay. It was worth it. If you have to figure out everything and compose something on your own that's right.

So I have decided on the candidates for composition topics.

"We each picked a theme… and thought about what would be fun to do."

I turned my head and turned on the TV. The only modern smart TV in the house was connected to WeTube.

There were several conditions in selecting the composition topic.

first.

-It's not Testa's job.

Now if the song has elements that could lead to Testa's career Raevin Kim is ready to pay attention by creating an imaginary response no matter how much feedback there is.

'It has to be a pure hobby.'

Second in the same sense.

-It won't be Testa's job in the future either.

In short there is no possibility of officially becoming involved with us so there will be no room for useless thoughts.

Of course even if it is made public it should be a topic that you won't be worried about because you won't get caught.

'Then the scope narrows dramatically.'

And last.

This is the most important point.

-Something that might be of interest.

〈Azusa〉 From the second team match that guy's taste was clear.

'inspiration.'

You want to make it into a song. So the topic I chose as number one is this.

I operated WeTube with the remote control.

Then after logging in I clicked on the playlist.

Electronic sounds 8-bit sounds and letters appearing on a black screen.

[Welcome to SECTION 127]

[!wARinG! ※L21%]

"This is the boss theme BGM from the sequel to Section 127."

"Oh~"

It is the sequel to the well-made game 〈127 Section〉 that we collaborated with at the beginning of our debut.

'I can never use this for work.'

Because it's copyrighted.

And this copyright issue will never be resolved in the future. Because it ended neatly and left. Everyone knows that if you do it again you're screwed.

'But it's fun.'

because…

"It just so happens that each boss in part 2… was named after the first tutorial member we collaborated with."

Because of this.

Relevance and creativity.

'It seemed like it sounded like a grudge from some parallel world.'

In any case what is certain is that it is a choice that brings back memories of past work but is not burdensome.

[Sold OUT – II8: BGM]

On the screen the sound of the first boss named after 'B11' the character I played in the trailer was playing.

"How about arranging the BGM for each character the way you want?"

"Oh that's interesting? He looks like a recreational instructor at Mundae. Hey~"

The guy who held the briefing yesterday and voted unanimously is making a fuss.

But this structure itself was necessary. A structure where each person attempts to compose a song.

It should have been like this a long time ago.

‘I put too much pressure on Kim Rae-bin.’

Right now I’m not going to sing the first verse by myself just because I have the highest singing stat out of all of them.

It had to be the same in producing as well.

Regarding the music part I should have actively participated in the production itself and improved my skills rather than just giving feedback but I postponed it.

Because Kim Rae-bin is so good.

‘The song is the most important thing so I shouldn’t have done that.’

It was not possible to let Kim Rae-bin listen to the identity of Testa’s music on his own from the beginning.

Rather than just formulating a concept and genre you should have touched on it in detail at least once.

I thought about this after checking the composition program on my laptop.

‘I hope this performance has the effect of relieving some of the pressure.’

okay. Anyway I’ll have to check that guy’s reaction first.

I raised my head looked at Raebin Kim and opened my mouth.

“And next time…”

No I don’t think I need another one.

I closed my mouth. Raebin Kim was staring intently at the video on the smart TV.

Chapter 307

The composition camp started right away.

The item is a 60-second arrangement of the Vostema BGM from the sequel to 〈127 Section〉.

“Wow why are game songs so addictive?”

“I think it’s even more so because the sections are repeated.”

Since it was not something they would risk their lives for the members chatted leisurely and turned on the composition program to create an atmosphere.

Since debut when marketing through self-producing the agency has provided basic training on how to use a composition program so everyone knows the basics.

The problem is that it was of little use after being used for three years.

“Hmm.”

“Why is there an order here? “Tell me!”

“First of all… top notes.”

‘That’s bullshit.’

I looked down at my laptop screen.

I know that I have to first pick the original sound and organize it but… there is no rule that I have properly mastered.

-Mundae do you know how to load this?

-… Let’s at least watch the basic lecture.

That’s right. To put it bluntly we were just crap.

Everyone knew about it but we didn’t study harder than we should on purpose.

‘That doesn’t fit the purpose.’

Because this is a hobby.

“I’m so sorry but this is…”

“This is a drum machine group!”

“…thank you.”

I saw Raebin Kim operating his laptop quickly without even blinking while sincerely answering questions from people around him.

Even then I get sucked into the laptop again.

The hectic surroundings on the other hand do not allow time to worry while composing music.

‘It’s okay.’

I also started to build up the base by moving the mouse.

And after some time.

“Three hours over! Now let’s tell each other~”

“and!!”

Anyway except for Kim Rae-bin they were all there and since it was a three-hour work they took turns playing the songs without much pressure.

And as expected the level of completion was crap… but unexpected crap started popping up.

“Hahaha!”

“This is cool!”

“Yeah cool!”

The sound of an unadjusted blade explodes through the Bluetooth speaker.

I was fortunate that it was a mountain lodge. If it had been a resort I would have been kicked out.

I shook my head while listening to Cha Yu-jin’s shockingly extreme arrangement.

“How are you?”

“Oh it’s like thunder.”

“Hehe.”

It’s not a compliment but it’s good. When I turned my head Raebin Kim’s pupils were shaking. He seems embarrassed.

Still it’s easy to give feedback.

Because you can give advice and talk to your heart’s content instead of wondering if the other person is being presumptuous when he or she is a better person.

While listening to Sun Ah-hyun’s song that happened to be played next time Kim Rae-bin sitting next to her eventually opened her mouth.

“Uh what do you think…?”

“that…”

Besides you have to say only good things.

The pressure of having to answer honestly is offset once again.

Raebin Kim played the sound several times with great sincerity and seemed to be putting all his effort into getting praise.

“The harmony is thicker than the original song so it sounds soft and beautiful…!”

I guess so. Because the original song was 8 beat.

“I see… thank you.”

Still because it was a compliment from an expert Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened.

“That’s right it feels more like a protagonist than a boss? As expected it’s Ahyeon~”

“…It’s easy to listen to.”

There really isn’t a separate club. Raebin Kim quietly spoke.

“That is correct. The guitar is nice to listen to so I think it would be beautiful even if the volume was turned up a little more.”

What the hell. It looks like you might want to polish it up a bit now.

First of all it seemed certain that I was free from the pressure of evaluation. If you praise these beginners’ arrangements they will gain confidence.

And soon enough it was time to play Kim Rae-bin’s song.

I intentionally put it in the middle instead of at the end or front.

“Oh~ Ravin~”

“yes. Let me play it.”

Raebin Kim operated the mouse with a slightly excited face.

And then a sound as tightly woven as a spider’s web began to flow out.

“…!”

It wasn’t a song format.

A sleek structure close to New Age.

The original taste of the background and theme was faithfully maintained by arranging the short sections that were used as background music well.

However the resolution of the song was different.

‘…I can’t believe it can sound like this.’

It feels like it has been idealized by extracting the essence of the song that enters people’s ears and remains in their minds.

And after the first 30 seconds the song rises with unique elements mixed in.

“…!”

“This is our song! Right?”

It is a mixture of the signature of the rap part of the collaboration OST we created ‘Bonus Book’.

A somewhat sad-sounding monotone falls like water droplets on a spiderweb-like structure.

It matched perfectly with the character narrative and the pleasure as the song unfolded was great.

“Hey~”

“Ravin is this so good??”

okay. good night.

It’s not a song that can be sold to the public but the song was good enough that I even used expressions like spider webs to express it.

And no matter how much they decided to only give positive feedback there was sincerity in their gestures and voices.

“I love hearing this!”

Raebin Kim seemed a little embarrassed by the outpouring of admiration but also seemed a little moved.

I gave a short review.

No other words were needed.

“It sounds more like the original song than the original song.”

“…!!”

Kim Rae-bin suddenly raised his head. I nodded.

“…thank you.”

I could hear his voice shaking but he didn’t bother to point it out.

Even after the one-minute arrangement finished playing Raebin Kim looked at the laptop screen and touched the touchpad.

We left him alone for a while.

And just as Kim Rae-bin came to his senses the next guy's turn came which was no different from a public execution.

"Hmm~ Next is Mundae!"

It's me.

I sighed inwardly but I was the one who brought this hell upon myself.

'End it short and boldly.'

And then I pressed play.

Wow.

Well since the symbol of this character was a drone I used more electronic sounds to make it sound more ominous.

And that crackling… I also gave it a complicated instrumental effect.

People around me nod their heads.

"Are you okay?"

Is that so? No need for sympathy.

After listening to this song from a perfect professional there is no need to take a step back.

It's like the 'grasping ear' is screaming.

I crossed my arms unimpressed but Raebin Kim across from me raised his hand.

"The elements are fun and you seem to have a clever sense of modifying the melody…!"

“I know. “I guess the door has some sense.”

Even Kim Rae-bin said empty words… Wait a minute.

I saw the guy’s face.

Kim Rae-bin looked as focused on the song as she did when she checked the topic on TV.

“…?”

Are you serious?

He even came to my laptop and checked the notes he had taken.

And I clenched my fists.

Like wanting to hold a mouse.

“brother! “If you don’t mind I’ll just sing a little bit of this song…”

“okay.”

Raebin Kim looked up at me with a puzzled expression.

“It would be nice if you groomed me.”

The smile on his face grew uncontrollably.

He had a bright face not like an unpleasant guy.

* * *

The content of the first day’s composition camp was changed to Kim Rae-bin’s arrangement lecture.

– Among the VSTs you used there are many harsh and strong sounds so if you adjust the level here…

-WOW!

Kim Rae-bin excitedly gave advice on how to take advantage of the members' arrangements and the members had a lot of fun editing their own songs.

And my song… well it's almost like Kim Rae-bin did some kind of modification.

What's surprising is that the original feel was left behind.

-The idea used in the arrangement was great and the direction was clear so it progressed quickly!

In other words doesn't that mean that I didn't notice the imbalance that was so obvious to fix in your hands?

…Well whatever it's okay if you're satisfied.

Raebin Kim modified all seven theme songs into her own versions ate dinner satisfactorily and ended the camp for the day.

And now it is dawn.

"hmm."

Since I woke up alone before the alarm went off I thought I'd check my schedule for the day in advance.

I stepped on the blanket and sat down at the kitchen table to avoid the guys who seemed to be kicking me.

And shook his head.

'today… '

I plan to pick children's songs and idol titles one by one and combine them.

Of course we will select idols from among the most prominent juniors and make sure that we cannot officially use them.

‘And when time permits Liu Chengwu even brought hiking boots… ’

“?”

At that moment the person who had been sleeping on a blanket in the kitchen opened his eyes.

This is Raebin Kim.

“tight.”

“No it’s okay…”

And then he hurriedly got up and sat down across from me.

“I really want to say thank you.”

now?

“It may be that my self-consciousness is exaggerated but I feel like they were very considerate in helping me regain my ability to compose…”

“It’s not consideration.”

I tilted my head back.

And what I had to say a few days ago when my laptop was confiscated came out.

“We had to gradually take up composing as a hobby. “There are seven members so it’s abnormal to put all the burden of music on one person.”

“…”

“So it’s okay if you say you don’t want to compose. “Everyone wasn’t doing it so what?”

However Raebin Kim opened his mouth with difficulty.

“But many people are looking forward to it. “The company’s employees and the AR team also said they were waiting for my song.”

“Are you afraid that people will be disappointed if you can’t use it?”

Raebin Kim hesitated. It means positive.

I held back a sigh.

“Ravin. “You’re good at performing and rapping but why do you act like you’re good at only one thing?”

“…!”

“Writing songs is fun so it’s okay if you do it but if you don’t even if you change the method this group will somehow continue. “You can just buy the song.”

Raebin Kim raised his head.

“Of course it’s true that you make ridiculously good songs and I’m receiving a lot of help thanks to you. “We should be thankful for that.”

I continued calmly.

“But if you don’t do it it’s not your fault and you’re not ruined. “Always remember that there are other options.”

“yes.”

Raebin Kim answered with both hands clenched and his head bowed.

“I won’t forget.”

The answer was watery but there was also definitely a sense of relief.

‘It’s true that I felt a lot of pressure.’

When I kept making it well I didn’t feel it but when I slipped once I got scared.

I’m worried that my reputation could be shattered and that it could cause enormous damage to the team.

‘Now that I think about it it was like that when I was misled in <Azusa>.’

I remembered that during the second team match this guy was so intimidated that he just accepted the feedback.

‘…Could that have been the cause?’

Well it’s not something we can figure out just by guessing now so let’s move on.

But anyway I said this after making good songs again and getting out of the feeling of helplessness so I guess I’ll be able to breathe a little easier.

I waited until Kim Rae-bin calmed down.

The guy briefly wiped his face with his shirt and then opened his mouth again in a quiet voice as if he had made up his mind.

“I… But can I tell you one thing?”

“okay.”

Let’s see.

I even predicted things like ‘With the composition skills of the current members my absence will be very fatal.’

But Raebin Kim spoke seriously.

“Because all members are participating in the production of albums and activities it seems excessive to say that I provide unilateral help…!”

He is truly a consistent guy.

“okay.”

I smiled and uncrossed my arms.

“thanks.”

“no.”

Raebin Kim answered firmly.

Beyond that you can see the veranda illuminated by the rising sun. It seems to push away the darkness.

‘Did it go well?’

And a cylindrical shape shining in golden light…

hmm.

[Large 150000 Small 70000]

[Cash price]

I said without thinking.

“Shall we have a drink?”

Raebin Kim followed my gaze and checked the ginseng liquor. And he shouted with a bright expression.

“yes! “I will follow you.”

“…?”

I thought you would say no.

However Kim Rae-bin has a puzzled face.

“yes? I heard that ginseng liquor is good for the mind and body…”

“…Grandma?”

“yes!”

okay. That’s true. I drank ginseng wine with Kim Rae-bin at 6:30 in the morning when everyone else was asleep.

The first alcohol I drank in a long time wasn’t as exciting as I remembered but it tasted good.

* * *

“Is there something that’s bothering you?”

“No something… I think the layout has changed.”

I ignored Bae Se-jin’s words when he woke up in the morning. There is no evidence.

Instead the moment I was about to proceed with my next schedule after eating a decent amount of rice balls for breakfast.

One of the guys who was having fun playing yesterday’s songs one more time opened his mouth.

“Um… Ravin. Rather than not making this public at all should we try posting it on the internet? “It’s a shame that only we can hear it.”

“…! “You mean on Testa’s social media account?”

I went to this extent to prevent that from happening.

‘…I was originally going to do it on the last day after camp.’

Now that the word has been said let’s proceed.

I naturally moved on to the next step.

“I’ll just create a WeTube account and upload it. “You can’t do it in our name.”

“Oh I see.”

“Yes that will do!”

Bae Se-jin shouted out even more excitedly and quickly created an account. He is doing well.

I reflected on the order.

Camp stage 1.

1. Continue to create hobby songs without any intermediate feedback.

And next step.

This is label-free verification.

“Huh wait a minute~ How about we pick a screen image first?”

…However this turns into a verification on a much larger scale than I expected.

Chapter 308

Second day of composition camp.

The arrangement was carried out amidst laughter.

“Hahaha!”

“You’re such an idiot!”

This is because combining children’s songs and idol songs was a stupider move than expected resulting in various strange works.

The song was even chosen by drawing lots.

‘I can never reveal it.’

As soon as it is revealed that we created this there will be controversy as ‘Are we mocking our juniors?’

I played back the result of combining ‘Dreaming Bear’ and ‘Hacker’ and turned it off without hesitation.

[Bear~ Go go go bear!]

It was an indescribable piece of strange trash.

However Raebin Kim produced quite interesting results here as well.

“Oh~ Ravin the beat on this is a Golden Age song right?”

“That’s right. “I borrowed the beat from the verse and finished it with a more flashy feel!”

“…So this is what ‘Butterfly’ sounds like?”

Kim Rae-bin's mash-up was so unique and great that Bae Se-jin's question was understandable.

'Butterfly' sounds trendy.

'I was trying to make everyone fall apart and lessen the burden.'

On the contrary it seems to have made Kim Rae-bin more excited… Well it was actually a good thing.

I stood up and looked around the composition camp which had become a comedy grinding ground.

"Where are you going to Mundaemun University?"

"To see the chicken."

The idea was to check the boiled rice being cooked in a pressure cooker for lunch.

But something unexpected followed.

"I'm going too!"

It was Cha Yu-jin.

'I don't think I liked white boiled rice more than chicken.'

You seem excited to come visit. I shrugged put it on and headed to the gas stove.

When I noticed the ginseng liquor displayed neatly on the veranda next to me I was reminded of early morning drinking.

'You use spray like this too.'

I changed my clothes brushed my teeth and even used mouthwash so no one would know. There's no way you could get drunk with that small bottle right?

‘…for a moment.’

That’s me but what about the other guy?

“The more I listen to it the more it seems like Sejin made an excellent choice in using only the most addictive melodies from children’s songs!”

“Haha! okay? “Ravin just wants to keep listening~?”

“Yes very interesting!”

“…”

Could it be that Kim Rae-bin was so talkative because she was drunk?

‘Well… it’s good to relax.’

Anyway no one knows. I passed the ginseng liquor beyond the glass window.

But at that time Cha Yu-jin was Sook-deok.

“Did you drink that?”

“…!!”

How did that bastard know… No I deny it for now.

“I don’t know what you’re talking about.”

“lie! “I don’t trust you.”

Cha Yu-jin grinned and pointed to the refrigerator.

[When I looked in the morning there was an empty bottle in the refrigerator. That’s the strange liquor there right?]

“…”

[I found it while looking for cola.]

Was that the cause?

It was a discovery worthy of the person with the biggest appetite here.

I looked at Cha Yu-jin wondering if she was going to ask for another chicken leg but to my surprise Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

And then I glanced at Raebin Kim.

[Did you drink it while talking to him?]

“okay.”

[also! He seemed more comfortable today. They say that sometimes alcohol opens a person’s mouth.]

“Who said that?”

[Um are you my maternal grandmother?]

I think I understand why that guy and Kim Rae-bin got along well since they were at their previous agency. I briefly thought about Kim Rae-bin’s grandmother who praised ginseng wine then erased it.

Cha Yu-jin lowered her voice and spoke.

“I like that Raebin Kim looks very comfortable.”

It was quite an extraordinary sound.

“I see you were very worried. Why didn’t you tell me directly?”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

[We are in the same grade. I have a self-esteem problem.]

I wonder if this is what the guy who came to Raebin Kim crying during <Azusa> would say.

'Is that another field?'

Anyway I just nodded and looked at the pressure cooker with the chicken in it.

Cha Yu-jin caught up again and this time raised her thumb.

"Brother you're amazing."

Baeksuk?

[My brother has already provided a lot of support for Raebin Kim to be able to compose music.]

"It's just that you did a good job."

Honestly that guy who turns children's songs into popular songs would have made a good living wherever he went.

But Cha Yu-jin folded her arms.

[no. My previous company wasn't very smart! Kim Rae-bin definitely had talent but he wasn't often entrusted with composing music.]

"hmm."

[But Kim Rae-bin often said that he was grateful to my brother for trusting him from the beginning.]

I thought they just yelled at each other all the time but did they even talk about that?

The content was so heartwarming that it was embarrassing to say that I saw Maestro's characteristics in the status window.

But Cha Yu-jin's story did not end there.

[Originally athletes and artists experience slumps at some point. So Kim Rae-bin did not fall into a slump because her older brother put extra pressure on her.]

"…"

[Kim Rae-bin would definitely want to say this so I'm telling her in advance. As BFF!]

…I didn't expect this to be encouraged.

I don't know what that had to do with my back but he patted me on the back.

[And look at that. You even worked on your brother's magic trick. Honestly I respect you?]

Wow.

I looked at the smiling guy checked Kim Rae-bin once again and then gave a short answer.

"thanks."

"Hehe."

[But don't talk about alcohol with others.]

"all right! [I'll keep it a secret for my friends.]"

Cha Yu-jin said with her eyes shining.

"But I drink too! "That is a condition."

Ginseng liquor?

I don't think I would like it very much but I guess I mistook it for the taste of some kind of dessert wine because of the color.

"when."

"NOW! "No at night!"

Me indeed.

I smiled and answered.

"okay. "Either drink it."

Cha Yu-jin smiled and held out her fist.

Then a gloomy voice intervened.

"Drink something."

"…!"

Why are you popping out there again?

It was Bae Se-jin.

The guy looked at Cha Yu-jin's fist as if he was uncomfortable and immediately shouted with a shocked face as if he realized something.

"you…! "You drank ginseng wine!"

Damn it.

"No that's…"

"Raebin Kim! "Did you drink that with Park Moon-dae??"

"Oh yeah! Together in the morning… ah."

Kim Rae-bin answered with an embarrassed expression probably remembering what I had said 'Let's not say it because the other members may feel left out.'

"sorry. "I should have held out until dinner… I'll definitely make something new for dinner!"

"that…!!"

Bae Se-jin's face turned red but he held back.

oh.

"…okay."

"All right!"

"What's going on~?"

"We talked about drinking ginseng wine in the evening!"

"This ginseng…?"

"Oh that's it."

The members had mysterious faces but there was no need to criticize them.

It's been a while since I stopped drinking and I probably don't feel like saying anything to Raebin Kim now.

Is this how it goes?

Well it seemed like Bae Se-jin also guessed that there was a situation. And it's okay because I don't get much excitement from drinking anymore.

'One more time naturally in the evening like this… '

At that time Bae Se-jin grabbed my shoulder and said.

“You can’t.”

“…”

hey.

“Look bro! It’s okay now. “It’s no problem to drink a little wine!”

“That’s not wine that’s spirits!”

Cha Yu-jin ended up crying and giving up.

“I’m sorry bro.”

Done…

I did not drink a single drop of alcohol until the moment I left the lodge.

Still… it was a good camp overall.

When I left the mountain cabin Raebin Kim’s laptop was in her hand not my bag.

* * *

After returning from the composition camp where we were cut off from the outside world for 3 days and 2 nights we have completely devoted our schedules to preparing for the concert.

Of course this doesn’t mean that there is no spare time at all.

I used to briefly monitor the reactions to the arrangements of section 127 which Keunsejin uploaded including the background images.

In conclusion the response was better than expected.

-What is this person?

-OK I'm not lying This is SOO000 interesting

-I'm tired.

-What are you doing in a ruined factory? You need to make money right away. If something like this appears in the boss room it'll be crazy.

Perhaps because it is a game series with so many global enthusiasts people regularly search for covers and it seems like word of mouth has spread.

'I thought it would be like that based on the quality. 'I deliberately added keywords so that it wouldn't be buried and would be easy to find in searches.'

And of course the theme song arranged by Raebin Kim received the best response.

Even though Kim Rae-bin refined ours to a level of re-creation the quality would be better if he put it all together himself.

And the response… was mainly that he was a genius.

-Expected to be an established composer

You're confident even though you're an outsider. People in the industry will give you an estimate. You seem like a young kid with genius who hasn't entered the professional scene yet.

The X door guy is saying whatever he wants lol. I can see right away that he is a very talented arranger.

I deliberately let Raebin Kim look for these.

No we even watched it together.

“They say so.”

“Yes those are a bit embarrassing but I am grateful…!”

I hoped Raebin Kim would see the comments and solidify her confidence that she was out of her slump.

At first glance these comments are similar to the public’s high evaluation that gave Kim Rae-bin a slump but there is a slightly crucial difference.

‘It’s a new face.’

The problem is that there are no high standards or background knowledge.

Since it is just pure complimentary feedback regarding the arrangement without any other intention it can be replaced as driving force.

And this time even if I get criticized I am not afraid of the repercussions. Because it’s anonymous anyway.

Moreover there is a place to escape from there. Because it was made with beginners.

‘Whether I fail or do well it ends at this line.’

Additionally it has the effect of keeping other people interested in composing music.

A few times I saw Sejin Bae looking for feedback on her own songs.

“…Why why!”

“no.”

Well I also look for reactions to my arrangements so it’s not the time to talk about others.

In any case it was nice to see feedback without pressure during the concert.

Perhaps thanks to this Raebin Kim seemed to be concentrating well without any unnecessary thoughts even though it was her first concert in which she did not participate in the arrangement.

And there were also people who took advantage of this.

“Mundaemun University.”

“…?”

Just as choreography practice was over and I was about to go home Keun Se-jin spoke to me while holding a tablet PC.

“Hmm… We didn’t really touch the music side of this concert because Ravine had some work to do right?”

“okay.”

“So the arrangement will come out faster… Why don’t you put more effort into other elements in your spare time?”

oh.

“In a way.”

“Like this~”

Big Sejin turned on the screen and showed the set list.

It is not an existing draft but a draft that has been changed by drawing lines yourself.

“…!”

“Are you okay?”

It was like that.

I answered without hesitation.

“Good. “I’ll post it at the meeting tomorrow.”

“Okay~”

Big Sejin grinned.

‘That’s productive.’

I drank water and shared files.

But the agenda of that day did not end there.

“Hey… there was a comment.”

On the way home from practice Bae Se-jin showed a screen.

There was a comment window for our anonymous channel for arranging that was slowly becoming familiar to the eye.

It got so many recommendations that it rose to the top…

It was a formal invitation.

-hello. This is T1 Plays. Since you did not provide contact information on the channel we will inevitably contact you through a comment.

“…??”

And at the bottom of the long comment there was an email from the person in charge of T1 Plays.

It was familiar to my eyes.

“…Are you the person I contacted when we collaborated on the game?”

“Sure.”

Suddenly a huge fishing started.

Chapter 309

The comment from T1 Plays the company that took over the production team of Section 127 was the theme song that Raebin Kim had independently arranged.

And the comment which was posted less than a day ago was crowded with comments from people full of pilgrimage and expectations.

-Let's go

-Ah you're good at your job.

-I waited.

-Put it up!

It feels like this arrangement will be officially adopted for a cinematic trailer or something at any moment.

There are even a lot of foreigners posting foreign memes filled with emoticons.

"Uh oh…"

Raebin Kim was mesmerized. I think my brain was overloaded in an unexpected situation.

It's funny but I agree.

'When did it get to this point?'

I knew the reaction would be good but isn't it a separate issue from topicality?

What kind of game parody video uploaded by a new account gets so popular in just one week?

Since it was an anonymous account anyway I just left it alone but it didn't work.

I turned on my smartphone to find the cause of this mess.

'Is this an algorithmic pick again?'

It wasn't. Rather it was artificial.

It is true that '127 Section' has passed its heyday in Korea and only the fan base remains and its popularity and sales have declined.

However perhaps because of the right sensibility it has become a steady seller overseas with a strong fan base.

Thanks to this there were many overseas game YouTubers who were obsessed with this game series and it seems like one of them saw the video while it was live.

That damn subscriber…

[25.92 million subscribers]

Yes this was awesome. Thanks to this I caught the attention of the person in charge who was working hard and this situation arose.

So what is the conclusion?

"What should I do?"

"Sure."

Since a while ago the frequency of 'sure' as an answer has increased significantly.

It was such a funny situation.

Because it's not some kind of side character but a second career as a professional composer.

And that's because my current partner took the bait on his own.

At that moment Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

"We're doing it! "It's fun!"

I thought so.

"Wait a minute!"

"Let's think about it Eugene!"

I opened my mouth as I watched Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin stop Cha Yu-jin who was trying to throw her out by majority vote.

"First of all… if you really accept this offer you will have to enter your real name and bank account when signing the contract."

"Oh then we'll be caught right away?"

"yes."

At that moment it was clear that Testa was being used as a story to promote this game. Since it's the same affiliate the head office will push it without thinking that it's the right thing to do.

It's a fun story so I thought the testa and the game would be beneficial.

'And suspicions of manipulation will be rampant everywhere… '

Of course a coincidence like this with a good sister and good brother-in-law can easily look like an obvious marketing deception.

-Launching a tester is disgusting.

-See how the guy is dragging the guy in to get some water one more time.

-I'm going back. T1 Marketing Team why are you like this? ㅅㅂㅠㅠ

It was foolish to make such noise in front of the target. Think about the formation of public opinion such as 'Testa is not qualified' during the Rookie of the Year Awards.

Although it is important to actually receive the grand prize the public's recognition that it was 'deserving' clearly affects the success of the mission.

'Even if we try to stop it it can become

I can't see that.

At that time an unexpected person opened his mouth with a serious expression.

"How about putting it in the name of a family member…?"

It was Sun Ah-hyun. It seemed like he suggested it because he felt bad about giving up Raebin Kim's accomplishments.

"Oh are you okay?"

"I like it!"

I answered with difficulty.

"no. "The moment you are caught you will be accused of tax evasion."

It is unconditional. It's still a sensitive area these days so you have to be careful.

Bae Se-jin who was once in an uproar over his comprehensive income tax return in the first year of his debut swallowed his saliva.

“Then… shall we ignore it?”

“Something like that too.”

Since it had already garnered attention once it seemed like if I continued to post arrangements on this account stories about contact would continue to come out.

‘Kim Raebin’s talent is worth it.’

Besides look at the people commenting with excitement right now. On the contrary if there is no reaction aggro may be attracted because that part is unique.

Then those who try to use it to go viral can also come out.

‘…I should just change my account.’

Well I thought this account had a symbolic meaning for Kim Rae-bin overcoming a slump so I tried to leave it there for as long as possible.

To avoid that… it’s the orthodoxy after all.

“If you are thinking of refusing I think it would be best to express it in appropriate words first.”

“I see.”

It’s perfect if you have a good excuse that everyone can understand and move on.

If you just continue arranging activities there comes a time when your interest wanes.

“Come up with something plausible you’re good at this!”

“yes? “Me?”

When Keun Se-jin laughed as if it was absurd Bae Se-jin flinched. After being polite for about a year or two the two of them seemed to be slowly losing their temper.

‘But is it okay to say it out loud?’

Anyway instead of getting into a useless fight with Bae Se-jin Big Se-jin expressed his opinion.

“In this matter the opinion of the first contributor is important~ What do you think Ravin?”

“yes?”

Kim Rae-bin who seemed to be lost in many thoughts with his mouth open suddenly came to his senses when Keun Se-jin called him.

And answered carefully.

“It’s okay for me to say no!”

“Wouldn’t it be a waste?”

“yes! “It was originally created at a composition camp as a hobby not for commercial purposes so I’m really happy and satisfied with the response I’ve received!”

“Well if that’s the case with Ravin.”

“Okay~”

The conversation ended with thinking of an appropriate rejection phrase.

“I guess academics will be fine right?”

“okay. Refine your speech.”

So this is the comment left on the video.

-I really appreciate the formal contract proposal but I don't have time because I'm studying. I'm satisfied with being able to upload it to WeTube and share it like this.

It is a reason that is so benign that it cannot be criticized and is common enough that it is not suspected.

This concludes it.

Everyone probably had similar thoughts but things didn't go that way.

* * *

"Wow this guy is persistent."

A few days later we found a comment from the person in charge underneath the pinned comment.

-That satisfaction… wouldn't it be greater if money was included? (frowning emoticon)

We can contract with arrangements that have already been made so please feel free to contact us! Good luck studying! (smiling emoticon)

And as if they were somehow impressed by this dull comedy people got even more excited and started posting in the comments.

'…It's slowly coming up in the community as well.'

[Abandoned factory under construction]

[Is that arrangement really that impressive? [I heard it was difficult]

[Recent status of hard-working companies]

Someone must have captured this and was carrying it around because it looked like fun.

– Hahahahahahaha

-Please update at a time like this.

-Take it! Accept it!

It was as if if I refused here I would get upset and become a rude brat.

Of course there will be people who criticize the person in charge saying ‘Why bother bothering to do it if you don’t want to do it?’

‘Then it really becomes a mess… There is no topic that spreads more easily than a controversial topic.

If it were revealed that the arranger was actually a tester in that mess a truly unpleasant situation would arise.

‘If you’re not careful it’s controversial.’

Moreover as elements other than the arrangement become a hot topic the number of people who intentionally write negative reviews or praise in comments is increasing.

The essence of opening an account is already becoming blurred.

‘Fuck you.’

It’s really annoying.

I’m busy concentrating on the concert so what kind of fuss is this?

Thanks to this Kim Rae-bin even felt a little downcast.

“I am truly sorry for making you worry about unnecessary things during such an important time…”

I laughed.

“Why are you apologizing for having talent?”

“Of course I didn’t mean it that way…!”

Kim Rae-bin was shocked but couldn’t find anything to say in particular to refute so I checked again while playing the conversation.

“I guess the reason you agreed to decline this wasn’t because it was burdensome but because it was neat under the circumstances.”

“yes? yes. That’s true but…”

“Then that’s it. It’s okay to ignore all of this. “Because the concert comes first.”

“…yes. All right!”

Kim Rae-bin seemed relieved to hear that confirmation. At that moment Keun Se-jin came in smiling heartily and clasping his arms around his shoulders.

“Yes~ We have to show our best side at this concert~ We are preparing so hard!”

That is also true.

In fact there weren’t many people who had enough energy left to pay much attention to this game company’s shit.

The more I focus on the set list that guy changed the more details I have to take care of.

‘He’s a useful guy.’

I saw the big Sejin once again.

If there is a corner to gain it is quite easy to design a realistic route to get there.

‘So he is also the one who played the biggest role in the plan I made.’

That's right. The curriculum I had set up when planning my trip to the mountain lodge was still incomplete.

There is one last step left.

-Composition camp stage 3.

Now that you have regained your confidence through step 2 this is a way to prevent mental breakdown even in a slump situation.

'as soon as… '

Giving people a sense of accomplishment and reward in a situation where they are disconnected from the power to touch production.

That's what this concert is.

* * *

"I feel like my heart will explode."

"Me too."

The graduate student was making a fuss with his friend Park Moon-dae who was sitting diagonally in front of him.

And unlike them a third person with a somber face was sitting nearby.

'Why am I here… '

It was their friend. He participated in the ticketing competition as a mercenary but surprisingly all his friends succeeded in ticketing and there were tickets left.

And thanks to my friends' encouragement and curiosity I ended up sitting here… but I was already regretting it.

'They'll sell it through scalping.'

I didn't do it because I was worried that I might get caught and have trouble finding a job but I felt like it was a waste to sit here in an uncomfortable chair.

'With that money I can repay 100 years of service!'

That's right. She was a modern mobile gamer who wasn't afraid to spend money on random games.

'I was tempted because he was such a famous idol… whew.'

She looked at her friends who were already talking excitedly and shook her head.

'This is a bit embarrassing too.'

The light stick was so bright that I wanted to put it in.

However at the concert hall where everyone was sharing the same excitement and excitement she had no choice but to helplessly hold up the light stick.

'Ugh really.'

Around this time she was starting to resent her friends.

-Jiiing

A soft-voiced announcement began to sound.

-hello.

Ahhh!!

"Oh my."

Is it that exciting to get started? She was startled by the cheers that erupted around her.

-We would like to provide information to the audience who came to see Testa's 'Wave for me' today.

It was nice to hear a man's voice carefully explaining viewing etiquette but I felt a bit out of place.

It was because it was a word choice that would be made in a more formal performance hall than a concert but she did not notice anything specific.

-Well then I hope you enjoy watching it.

At that time the graduate student spoke to her with a big smile.

'That's the doorway!'

uh?

At that moment the lights went black.

-Now we are entering the waves…

The performer's final announcement sounded just in time.

And slowly sounds began to be heard in the concert hall which had suddenly become quiet.

It was the sound of the sea.

And slowly the orchestra and electronic sounds melted into it and began to come to the fore.

A clear rustling sound.

It was a song she had heard too.

'It's Testa's debut song right?'

But the very next moment another powerful melody comes into the mix.

This is a song I know again. But again in just a few seconds the next accompaniment appears…

‘what?’

It was an overture an overture.

A preview played at the opening of an opera or musical.

The difference is that this is not meant to introduce the song.

This is because everyone at the scene already knew the song.

This was for immersion.

‘…there’s an atmosphere.’

And the lights return to the concert hall.

It was an intense blue light that covered the entire auditorium. But it wasn’t static.

“…!”

Numerous light blue and dark blue colors waved and colored the indoor concert hall.

The air moves.

Chi profit.

And dry ice falls under your feet. Smoke billowed softly.

“and.”

The lights the wafting cool smell and the slightly dull sounding accompaniment…

The five senses helped with the metaphor.

The inside of the concert hall was underwater!

Chapter 310

Testa's concert began with the underwater view intact in the concert hall.

And what unfolded was… a performance that the gamer who followed his friend to the concert unexpectedly did not expect.

'her.'

Usually when you think of a 'concert' whether the subject is a singer or an idol there is an expected format.

A performance where the performer presents his or her own stage as the center.

The hit songs and the latest songs were mixed and distributed and the order was adjusted so that the tension of the performance did not decrease.

And in fact Testa has also been doing such concerts so far so her friends gave her a similar explanation.

-You know a lot of songs so it will be fun haha.

-That's right and the kids are all really good-looking and good so I'll definitely pay for the tickets!ㅠㅠ It's such a waste to cancel!

But not now. This concert had a story instead.

[Slowly submerging time night

[I don't want to escape]

Between the dry ice elegant choreography taken from modern dance unfolds with the hem of the fabric fluttering as if floating in the sea.

The first song chosen was ‘Midnight and Next’ arranged with a perfect orchestra.

It was a very unique choice.

This is because for an idol who has this many hit songs over the years it is common for the songs they performed a lot at the beginning of their debut to be left out as a medley at best.

However Testa went out of his way to arrange and use this song.

Because this is the starting point of the narrative that will be shown in this performance.

[Songs and dreams

Forget everything it’s midnight here.

Your Midnight]

The boy who fell into the sea is stuck in the past along with his dreams.

The clockwork turns and the members sink into the sea and experience the past.

The members lay down in the deep sea at the same time as the grandfather bell announcing the end of ‘Midnight and Next’.

[Dang-]

And the stage background naturally becomes a classroom.

The lighting changes clearly as if in a dream.

The song that naturally connects is ‘High Five’. A bright and cheerful rock sound that sings of cheerful youth!

The members stand up and run around the stage grinning and doing foot-stomping choreography past the slightly dazed interlude.

[My feet move

Faster and farther!]

The boy who returns to the past pursues his dreams falls in love encounters enemies and develops the strength to overcome them.

Testa's songs were included in each context one by one.

Of course Testa was an idol and the story wasn't as explicit as a real musical or opera.

However I was able to fully understand the context through the lyrics atmosphere and the VCR that appeared every now and then.

Especially if you have no background in Testa!

'This… was this song originally made to do this?'

The gamer was embarrassed.

Because fans were so familiar with the song they went through it more smoothly but in fact the members prominently added expressions tailored to the story between songs.

And gamers accepted all of that text at the same rate as the song.

Embarrassment joy tension vigilance…

Because his overflowing talent and expressive power were extraordinary gamers were instantly immersed in even unfamiliar songs.

The protagonist on stage who has grown through the realization of love delivers a powerful performance as if to show off his power.

[Bite it and enjoy it

Now Spring out!]

The narrative enhances the three-dimensional feel of the stage.

In the end when the concert-style performance using guns and dancers exploded with intensity she was almost unconsciously applauding and cheering at the end of the stage!

“omg.”

When you come to an idol concert you’re not cheering but you’re reacting like this conditioned reflexive sentiment?

She was dumbfounded when asked what kind of musical she had come to see but there was no need for her.

Testa was more sincere.

The high notes vocal volume and extreme choreography came together in perfect harmony and at the end of the powerful ‘Spring Out’ ending the lights blinked.

An epic high point with tearing shouts and heart pounding.

But for a moment everything stopped as if it had been washed away.

“…!”

After the song ends with a spectacular climax… it’s time for a break.

[~Intermission~]

[Act 2 will begin soon.]

They even saved the intermission format.

As if asking you to think about what you just saw. As if to inflate expectations further.

[Yay!]

The gamer opened his mouth as he watched the VCR playing with the members running around in animal pajamas as if it were some sort of public service announcement.

She wasn't the only one.

As the lights came on and the atmosphere relaxed for the intermission the fans also started going crazy in the tacit permission that it was 'intermission time'.

"Uh huh huh huh…"

"What is this?"

There were countless people holding their smartphones and frantically writing things down.

And gamers also received a message.

-Great genius great genius great genius.

-(Falling down emoticon)

They were two friends.

When I visually checked where the two were sitting it seemed like they were both sending KakaoTalk messages with their eyes completely fixed on the VCR.

'Huh.'

It was a bit scary.

But I understood a little bit. ‘They make it so well that even people like me who don’t know anything can enjoy it.’

A concert like this was worth seeing at least once. She internally admitted that she understood the reason for the force.

This was Testa’s first time performing in this format and she waited for the second act with even more excitement than before without even guessing that social media was going crazy.

‘Are we about to see a fight?’

Because she was familiar with this royal road-style game protagonist narrative! With gorgeous dancing and singing it couldn’t have been fun!

The performance soon resumed with a lively announcement.

[Audiences aren’t you a little surprised by what these guys are thinking when performing like this? Are you somewhat curious?]

This is Sejin Lee.

When the audience is buzzing with laughter and reaction to that sly comment.

[Still you can check how the test fares soon. Then Act 2 starts now.

The lights go out.

When a light orchestra flows and the performer appropriately breaks the tempo anticipation builds in people’s hearts.

Now gamers are easily impressed.

‘You did it so that the audience felt like they were participating in the stage right?’

There was something about this perverted level of detail that stimulated the hearts of enthusiasts!

‘It was completely planned!’

That’s right.

Testa carefully structured the structure and poured his skills into this performance to give it story context and immersion.

But no matter how it was put together there were inevitable gaps in between.

Testa’s songs were not composed with the aim of telling a single story and they are not as rich in variety as the songs of musicians produced in musicals.

So the cover stage is what fills that void.

It was a solo and unit performance.

The second act was filled with the latest popular songs that would be the highlight and cover songs to support them.

So Testa had to make very precise calculations even behind the scenes.

* * *

“Huh.”

“3 minutes!”

The backstage is full of moans and short answers.

The noise was annoying and I kept counting.

‘It’s tight.’

As the sense of connection between the stage and the stage became more important there was less time to catch my breath. Because there is no time to talk or relax during the performance.

-Wow!

I held my tongue to avoid being swept away by the cheers I had just heard.

And I thought calmly.

'As expected there will be different opinions.'

Right now the audience will really like it because it's fresh and fun but as soon as they cool down they'll start talking.

Some fans may want to communicate more interactively at concerts.

To make up for that point it was the right decision to plan W Live communication after the performance.

'good.'

There was no time to be more satisfied. At that moment the guy next to me who was going to go on stage next was dying.

I asked Kim Rae-bin whose face was ashen.

"Are you worried?"

"yes? Oh no. We will do our best to show a stage that will satisfy our fans…!"

Raebin Kim answered quickly but he was clenching and opening his hands.

It means you are more nervous than usual.

'It's worth it.'

I crossed my arms.

We lacked this experience.

An effort to completely understand and implement the song itself without touching it unilaterally given by someone else.

Since his debut there has been almost no career in which he has aligned himself with a work that has already been completed as the composer intended.

‘Because I continued to participate in the song and concept.’

It is no different from omitting the training that a rookie would normally do over 45 years to serve as a foundation.

Since you can’t touch the sound source everything else… especially learning how to use yourself to the limit.

‘I will learn it through this opportunity.’

That’s exactly what we had to show today by tearing ourselves apart one by one.

In the first place why did Keun Sejin modify the set list in a way that emphasizes the story like this?

It was simple.

-You decided not to touch the song~ Let’s use that time here right?

By excluding the arrangement time he added capabilities that he could further hone within himself in that space.

Even ‘context’ is included in the elements that the performer considers and expresses on stage.

I hit Raebin Kim on the back.

“I had a good time during practice so take it easy.”

I heard the sound of swallowing.

“…yes.”

Raebin Kim nodded firmly.

Well actually it’s a problem that’s okay if you don’t go to this extent.

“Mumundae I have to go with Ravin over there…”

After completing his return the guy sneaked up to Kim Rae-bin.

Seon Ah-hyun.

This is the member who will perform a unit performance with Raebin Kim on the next stage. I smiled and opened my mouth.

“Seon Ah-hyeon.”

“Hmm?”

“I think Kim Rae-bin will do well on stage.”

Sun Ah-hyeon answered without blinking.

“huh.”

Resolute without a single hesitation. It was an unusually self-confident statement for a guy.

“thank you…!”

Thanks to this Kim Rae-bin seemed impressed by the momentum. The two shook hands before running away.

“Ooh let’s do well!”

“yep!”

‘It’s a good thing I posted it.’

There is a basis for Sun Ah-hyeon’s confidence. Because he’s the only one among us who doesn’t need to lay this foundation.

Because it already exists.

Sun Ah-hyun devoted her entire childhood with the goal of presenting a perfect interpretation and expression of the intention of existing works.

He was a senior ballet major.

“Ooh we’ll go…!”

“okay.”

I saw Raebin Kim and Ahyun Sun running.

The picture was okay.

* * *

On stage right before.

[This is the sound that calls you]

The performance of the boy’s inner seduction ‘call’ has ended. Bae Se-jin whose neck was grabbed glared at the audience.

‘Aaaah!!’

Park Mun-dae’s Homma swallowed his inner cry.

‘How can you do such a cute and brilliant plan at a concert and not promote it even once? I wonder if ‘rich like a musical’ was a hint in the description on the detailed page!'

And took a deep breath. I had to calm down.

Even though Park Moon-dae's gloomy solo part added to the singing performance was so incredibly sexy that I wanted to dwell on it I had to watch the next stage carefully!

[Tuk.]

But when I actually looked at the VCR it seemed like the next thing to appear was a unit stage.

'hmm.'

She guessed that it was Park Mun-dae just by looking at the two shaking hands. So I relaxed a little.

'Let's enjoy the stage.'

She regained her senses and fixed her gaze again.

At that moment under the stage the members of Testa who had also finished changing their costumes were waiting and watching the monitor.

"Let's begin!"

Park Moon-dae tried to touch his chin but lowered his hand conscious of his makeup.

And focused on the screen.

The stage scene was being broadcast from a large monitor installed by the dedicated team.

For the unit stage inserted in the final build-up stage of the climax the VCR turns off and music begins to play.

Rrrrrrrrrr!

This is the powerful sound of a progressive rock band that was responsible for the fin-de-siècle experimentation of the 90s.

‘Good implementation.’

A boy who was defeated at a critical moment in a confrontation with the enemy.

The performance that follows ‘Call’ which was a temptation toward greater power is ultimately an internal conflict.

The thunderous electric sound which seemed like a strong temptation soon subsides and is replaced by the elegant and agile sound that was active in the first act.

Orchestra’s violin solo and soft vocals.

[A dizzying place to stay]

So the first one to go up on stage is Sun Ah-hyun.

The characters all symbols symbolizing reason and intelligence are expressed through directing and move smoothly across the stage.

A white spotlight falls along with movements that apply modern dance.

[Standing on tiptoe]

Although it was an experimental song it did not harm the performance that took place with Seo on stage.

This is because the delivery was incredibly good.

“and.”

“Cool.”

Ahyeon wearing a white costume and drawing straight lines perfectly portrayed the foreground of the song.

The unwavering vocals even melt into one of the accompaniments making the performance stand out.

[I have to keep my voice even when the lights change]

[Step by step]

The fabric flutters as he stretches out his hands does a backflip and lands softly.

The power of his mastery as if he was using every inch of his remaining capabilities was extraordinary.

‘really… ’

That static climax that leaves the audience mesmerized.

However dissonance appears here.

thud.

The violin breaks.

Rrrrrrrrrr!

Electric rushes in.

And with a blinking spotlight someone else appears on the other side of the stage.

[Red light]

This is Kim Rae-bin wearing clothes fastened with countless black buckles.

He didn't dance or anything.

Instead he just moved forward slowly holding a head microphone.

Slowly and imposingly.

[If you walk you fall.

Stop there and go back]

And the rap was shot out.

The rap which is a mix of English and Korean started slowly and then gradually got faster.

And the electronic sound crackling from the microphone.

It was a song performed in collaboration with a Korean rapper at a band concert in the 2000s.

The focus of this song's performance remained in the interview at the time.

-A song that requires you to burst into the middle of the stage like an uninvited guest and become the master.

And Raebin Kim did just that. He pushed out the orchestra and forced himself to settle down on stage following the tempo of the electric music.

[Tick-tock Tick-tock]

[When the line changes you are not you

Where your feet are your heart is]

The rap goes in the gestures get bigger and the choreography spreads out.

Steal the stage.

With the sound of the orchestra Sun Ah-hyun gave a short and powerful performance as if it were her last resistance but it had already been eroded by all productions.

Thus the orchestra disappears and Seon Ah-hyun impressively falls from one side and disappears along with the stage equipment.

Rrrrrrrrrr!

A stage with a completely changed tone. And only then does Kim Rae-bin's short and intense group dance with dancers fill the stage in the same amount of time that Sun Ah-hyun dominated in the beginning.

-Wak. Wak. Wak. Wak!

In the midst of the dancers' group dance mixed with dominant and intense krump Kim Rae-bin kept pace and waved the hem of her coat.

My inner self was dominated by impulse.

In this way the song was reproduced in the 2020s with the original meaning as intended by the songwriter.

Except for one ending.

-Mmmmmmm.

Jisung did not come back.

The only thing that stood until the end was impulse.

-Get off

At the end of the song Kim Rae-bin turned around and disappeared down the stage.

* * *

Wow!!!

“Wow look at that sound!”

The screams from the concert hall sound as if they will shatter even the narrow hallway of the backstage.

Although I am usually generous with cheers this can be considered an honest impression.

‘It means that the unit’s cover song was as good as the actual performance.’

It was a success. I willingly opened my mouth.

“You did a good job.”

“Thank you so much…!”

Sun Ah-hyun came back first smiling while covering herself with a towel. And the remaining one has now appeared in the hallway. The members cheer generously.

“Raebin Kim!!”

“You did really well! “It was so cool!”

“thank you…!”

Raebin Kim took off his coat and nodded without removing it with a flushed face.

‘I think I did a pretty good job.’

It is rare to find such an honest person.

I chuckled.

“good job.”

“yes…!”

I didn’t say anything more and just patted Raebin Kim on the shoulder a few times.

There won’t be time to do more now anyway.

“Change your clothes.”

“ah!!”

Kim Rae-bin opened her mouth as if she wanted to say something but immediately left herself to the staff to carry out the mission of ‘recovering in 20 seconds’.

“Now there’s 150 seconds left~ Should we go to the parade?”

“Go!”

Okay the concert isn’t over yet.

And this wasn’t all I had prepared.

Chapter 311

The second act of Testa's concert was a series of endless climaxes.

As the narrative of Kim Rae-bin and Sun Ah-hyun's unit stage continues the boy's inner self dominated by impulse eventually flows in a dangerous and dark direction.

A stage to express that passion.

[The day finally came coming]

Fragmented electronic sounds replace the sounds of traditional instruments creating an ominous noise.

[Finally here today

[Never get away from me ya]

The much darker version of the original song was so intense and sexy that it seemed slightly bizarre.

Liu Chengwu standing at the center nodded with an expressionless expression.

'Joseon zombies… '

No concept could be more intense than this and gamers thought this was the best climax to the part where the conflict was the most heightened.

But no.

For each part where you feel like this is the climax a new build-up is added and the excitement continues to build.

‘Uh huh?’

‘Better me’ followed depicting the wanderings of a boy who had defeated his enemy but began to doubt himself.

It was an overwhelming shadow performance.

‘This is the climax!’

It wasn’t.

The boy who ends his wanderings attains enlightenment and returns to his original self holds a splendid return ceremony.

“…??”

The stage that took place was ‘Daybreak’ a combination of the two titles ‘Wheel’ and ‘Drill’ from the previous activities.

Firecrackers exploded like fireworks and the insanely colorful and exciting jaw-dropping performance caught everyone’s attention.

[Turn my ferris wheel around

Fire-light exploding like a star!]

I was thrilled.

It was truly a concert-like climax… but now even gamers knew.

It wasn’t.

‘What else is there?? uh??’

At this point I was starting to look forward to it.

At the bottom of that mentality there was also a wish that this crazy performance would continue without end.

Because this stimulation and immersion was so delicious!

And as if to repay those feelings the next stage continues.

Tung-.

But something was different this time.

‘It’s taking a long time…?’

The preparation time was longer than for previous stages.

Even after the VCR was turned off only the sound of drums sounded on the black stage.

‘what?’

But everything came back on stage at once.

With an exciting whistling sound.

Whick!

Before I knew it water was flowing on the stage.

‘crazy!’

I don’t know how much money was spent but a stream of water like you would see at a large water show somewhere collects on the floor creating a water source.

And light flowed.

Whihwihwi-ik!

The lights turned on in sync with the water flow pool together with the water on the stage floor creating a fantastic scenery.

And at that moment a performer appears.

The performer jumped in the dark above the water stream in front of the concert hall and landed in the water.

"…!"

It was Cha Yu-jin.

Unlike the unit stage where the two were paired up Cha Yu-jin was the only one to come on stage alone during this performance.

[Yeah yeah yeaaaaah]

And without waiting he started dancing alone right away.

Literally like a fish in water he performed a spectacular solo intro with light and spray in water up to his calves.

Water and light form a parabola causing diffuse reflection and flashing. However all of the effects are absorbed as part of the movements of the performer who moves alone.

Cha Yu-jin's characteristics instantly took over the stage.

The gamer was impressed without even realizing it.

"Wow."

Are you human?

The moment Cha Yu-jin finished the intro performance she took off her goggles and grinned at the audience.

Wow!!!

The gamer did not frown even though the shouts were deafening.

Because a familiar prelude was played.

‘Oh this!’

This is Testa’s latest hit song. It was a ‘Promise’ that is still firmly on the music charts.

It is currently the hottest song among Testa’s songs. Even gamers were used to hearing it once every two times when they went out.

So I made a pretty convincing guess.

‘Ah so are we going to just have people sing along like a festival?’

Unfortunately it wasn’t the case this time either.

Instead what was there at the beginning returned to the concert hall along with Jeonju.

Just lighting.

Ugh~

Waving blue lights cover the concert hall. And this time instead of dry ice soap bubbles are poured towards the audience.

“uh…?”

The stage that concludes everything.

The performance venue changes back to the sea.

However this time the boy did not sink.

[Umm]

Turning back Cha Yu-jin shrugs her shoulders and looks up to the ceiling or the sea.

And right around there the stage floor opens and six figures emerge.

Testa.

[Take your STAR]

They were rising toward the surface.

“…!”

As soon as the first verse started Testa started laughing and pounding the water.

[The day the stars pour down]

The performance shown in the pouring rain unfolded as loudly and splendidly as a concert just as it was originally intended.

The anxiety caused by the heavy rain completely disappeared in the leisure and joy that came from countless practices.

Beautiful and cheerful choreography pours out like cool vocals in a pool with water flowing down and the water level has dropped to the ankles.

[Kick the waves and run

[Run and Fly to the Sky]

As the number of people increased the water movement became more spectacular.

“and.”

The intimacy provided by ‘the original song’ was met with power and was replaced by immersion.

The melody passes by in an instant.

If you are completely immersed in the performance using water spray and wave your light stick…

[Mood twinkling like stars

Come with me I promise

[Make you fly]

We arrive at the bridge in the second half of the song.

The members' choreography becomes static and the lights facing the water turn off. Just when I thought it was getting a little too dark.

Pot!

In an instant the inside of the concert hall itself began to sparkle.

"omg."

And the gamer was embarrassed to see his lightstick shining white at full power.

Not all the light sticks in the concert hall but countless small lights on the ceiling above the stage shone creating a cluster of stars.

[To the last island beyond the horizon

Today will shine]

It was beautiful.

The boy who had stagnated and sank into the consciousness of the past returns to the world where the stars of reality twinkle with enlightenment.

And the members leave the stage which is now almost completely empty of water and begin to run into the stars.

[Umm Umm Umm~]

ending.

The members who escaped from the water came to the front of the protruding stage and performed the final highlight dance.

The lights were no longer blue and the concert hall with its bright golden light and fluttering pollen was like a sandy beach in midsummer.

A true climax and finale. A clean and enjoyable final story with nothing to worry about.

[thank you!]

That's how Testa's story ended as an idol.

"…"

The gamer watched the whole scene with a somewhat dazed mind.

It was because of the cool emotion.

After a while the Testa members came out one by one and bowed as if it were a curtain call.

The music played is their first fan song 'The Magic Is You'.

[I feel good today as if

[I think something good will happen]

Go to the stage when your part starts

They came out and walked around the concert hall with head microphones providing fan service.

“Mundaeyaak!”

“Ahh here!”

It was a time for fans who felt sorry for the distance and the second fan song and picnic took quite a long time with everyone singing along.

However instead of being bored the gamer sat like other fans for quite a long time after the curtain call ended.

‘…’

And after everything was over I belatedly opened my smartphone.

[PM 10:31]

The performance started at 6:30 pm. Four hours disappeared in an instant.

“crazy.”

She hit her head.

On the way back.

The two friends laughed inwardly at their gamer friend who seemed impressed.

“how is it? “Did you pay for the ticket?”

It was a question with obvious intentions but the gamer agreed.

“Oh it’s fun… time goes by so quickly.”

This kind of cultural life was worth spending money on. My fondness for the idol was growing in my heart.

In the end she muttered something like an exclamation.

“Hey… you did really well.”

“…!”

The two friends exchanged glances for a moment. Seeing that he is good at it if it is vocals or fan service there is a high possibility that it is Park Moon-dae!

“who?”

“Who do you like best??”

In a tense moment the gamer opened his mouth with a serious face.

“I… I liked everything.”

“…??”

“Performing as a group like that is the best. Totally… this.”

That’s right.

She recently ended her viewing ceremony with the all-fan mentality that she is more precious than wild ginseng.

And similar confessions were being posted on the Internet but those who performed were rejoicing on a more primal level.

* * *

11 o’clock at night.

Due to feedback issues we haven’t left work yet and are working overtime in the practice room. But the atmosphere is okay.

The concert went well.

“Great success~”

“Ah the best the best!!”

“It’s fun!”

Even after performing the crazy set list everyone still has the energy to keep the smiles on their faces.

‘It was worth the money.’

Originally the pleasure of succeeding in a new challenge was unique. This is especially true if it is a large-scale event such as a concert.

I evaluated it neatly.

“I liked your idea.”

“…! Hey what are you talking about! “I just added a spoonful to the already-complete set list~ You also included a lot of Moondae ideas!”

My mouth is tearing up but I pretend not to.

Anyway W Live is going to be as long as the after-party on the last day so today all we have to do is celebrate success and check.

However I have a few more things to say.

“Well Eugene looks a little dangerous here.”

“I looked great!”

“Yeah that’s cool but let’s land a little safer.”

I passed the guys giving feedback and found someone to talk to.

“Raebin Kim.”

“yep!”

Kim Rae-bin was talking with Sun Ah-hyun about the unit stage. After saying a few words to Seon Ah-hyeon I sat down comfortably in front of her.

And then we got straight to the point.

“How was it?”

“yes?”

“What was it like performing on stage?”

“…”

Raebin Kim looked a little nervous but answered without hesitation.

“I was very concerned about whether I could properly interpret someone else’s production results and express the production intention well enough to not be embarrassed as a professional…”

After a long introduction the correct answer appears.

“…I think I handled it pretty well this time.”

yes.

“Of course I am aware that I have jumped on the bandwagon because Ahyeon who performed with me showed such outstanding ability but still…”

Raebin Kim’s eyes lit up.

“I could do it…!”

It was a solid answer. I smiled and asked again.

“Can you do this in the future?”

“yes!!”

good.

After hearing that firm answer I brought up his status window without hesitation.

And then I confirmed what I had been waiting for.

[!Status abnormality: Jumping and turning (disabled)]

His status ailment had completely returned to its disabled state.

‘okay.’

Of course it hasn’t disappeared completely so perhaps the ‘my producing is ruined’ situation may reoccur one day.

But don’t worry. Now this guy will be able to get out of his slump on his own.

Because I escaped once.

And… the option that it would be okay to quit producing must have been well established in your mind.

That was enough.

“You had a hard time.”

“No… I was truly grateful! “I will work harder in the future.”

Raebin Kim bowed his head. Seon Ah-hyeon who was next to her clapped with a red face.

It was a good ending.

With this you're done worrying about the next album's sound source.

'Well then what's left?'

Leaning my back against the wall of the practice room I prepared for the opportunity to say the last thing I had been thinking about for a few days.

"I have a suggestion."

"huh?"

On my way home from work just before midnight I raised my hand in the car.

"I'm talking about that arrangement account."

"Oh that."

First of all I made an official contact with the game theme song that was put on hold because the concert was urgent.

I said calmly.

"If it's something you just want to try I think it's okay to accept the offer."

"…!"

"How…?"

To put it simply this is it.

“You can donate the proceeds.”

“…??”

Just give up the money.

“When signing a contract the profits are diverted to the welfare foundation.”

Anyway there is no one here who would regret that money.

It would be a waste to just change the account and I want to avoid unnecessary attention if possible.

So just say OK once and continue using that account.

“If you donate anonymously there is no problem with tax evasion so there will be no problem even if you are caught later. “The title can be handled by the business owner.”

“aha…”

The person in charge wouldn’t go so far as to illegally track a novice businessman and find out detailed information about him.

“okay! There is no disagreement about profitability because I am not greedy either.”

Raebin Kim answered brightly.

I don’t think he knows anything but the person with the most stake is acting like this so even if there is someone who wasted money he has no choice but to keep his mouth shut.

Well it doesn’t matter since no one seemed to want to talk about money in the first place.

However Bae Se-jin asked with a confused face.

“Can’t we just sign for free?”

No.

“That’s… if they get caught they’ll say I’m just dealing with intellectual property rights because I’m overflowing with rotten money.”

“…”

“It seems that beyond the attitude controversy there will also be talk of a negative impact on the industry.”

Public opinion is a tough opponent for idols.

all. You have to take everything into consideration.

I asked as I passed by Bae Se-jin’s face who seemed to be both disillusioned and wise at the same time.

“So if you’re going to do it I wonder how it would be to handle anonymous donations like this… I’m curious what you think.”

Soon the cool positivity returned. I thought so.

“I like it~”

“me too!”

Even Liu Chengwu smiled and opened his mouth.

“Yeah it looks okay.”

It was unanimous.

I rubbed the back of my neck.

With this I will be able to continue operating my composition camp account without any problems.

“yes. “Then let’s do that.”

Testa’s arrangement account where Raebin Kim’s stake is infinitely high…

“You can make a career out of even a strange song!”

…Yes ‘Star’s Song’ is a reply to T1 Plays.

“…”

For your information I was against that account name.

I was wondering why they bothered to link it to Testa… but I just want to say that I gave in to the majority.

‘Because not all the plans I make work.’

The funny thing is that this time my plan didn’t go completely as planned.

A few days after signing an official contract with T1 Plays articles like this started appearing as popular posts on the Internet.

[Wetuber who arranges Flex properly]

[Result of Three Tributes.jpg]

[What is this guy doing?]

“…?”

There was no need to trace the cause.

It’s just… the person in charge left a public comment on the arrangement video.

-Thank you for the formal contract! As per ‘Star Song”s wishes the entire contract deposit will be donated to the Hanesori Children’s Foundation. (Laughing emoticon)

-Out of kindness we decided to donate the same amount ourselves!

Thanks to you this happened.

-Donate the entire amount to the Children’s Welfare Foundation.

-Is this a true story?

-God’s God song! God’s God song!

-Look at it this is Flex.

…

“Should I ignore it?”

“yes.”

We stopped all feedback after sending a complaint email to the person in charge.

As the popularity of even the alt-characters suddenly increased the weather became colder and they began to run towards the announced date.

It was soon the end of the year.

Chapter 312

The two-day concert ended successfully.

-Please encore

-No what if I make something like this and finish it in two days you crazy people? (I mean this in a good way not true)

-Be sure to buy it when it comes out on VOD. This is a recommendation for public interest.

The overwhelming majority of fans who came as audience members responded favorably. First of all it was fun and fresh.

A concert in the form of a play embodying a narrative. Since I'm good at performing on stage I probably ate half of it.'

A status window pops up but there is no need to remove it. The performance was great.

Of course there were some people who were disappointed in terms of intimacy and communication but after the W Live after-party as planned the number decreased significantly.

[Congratulations on the opening of Testa Karaoke]

They didn't just recite the behind-the-scenes moments from the concert they also selected songs in a karaoke format.

It put a bit of strain on my neck… but it was worth it.

'good'

I threw all the pear juice I was drinking down my throat.

A cold wind was blowing outside. Looks like the guys who left are having a hard time.

-Are you really not going to Mundaemun University?

The guy who asked until the end ended up going out to enjoy just one day of holiday. It was worth it.

Now is the time to set the stage for the end of the year in early November.

What this means is that you shouldn't expect a day off this year after today.

'No it won't be until February.'

It will end with an awards ceremony and tour combo.

There is no special contact from the working staff today. They're going to be really busy there too.

They said that because the format of this concert is special it would be difficult to fit it exactly at the concert halls where we usually tour.

So they will be working hard to revise the plan by mixing the general concert structure to suit the specifications of various performance halls.

'It's a busy season.'

Today will be my last free day so I might as well clear my head and rest…

Drurrrr

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: How are you?]

“…”

Are we going to exchange greetings? I’ve never had a good time with this guy contacting me while I was resting so it’s best to just ignore it.

But when I saw the attached image my mind changed.

I thought it was a dog again but it wasn’t it was a screenshot from an internet article.

[“A magic boy who defeats villains with song!” Testa appeared in 〈T-Holic’s Show Business〉]

It was a provocation.

I replied to the guy.

[Yes senior. I am working hard. So many people enjoyed the photos I sent so I’m thinking of accepting them now.]

It’s a good thing because the reaction is good but what does it matter if you’re a magical girl or a boy?

It’s not a mental victory but in fact stories about that entertainment show still appear on the internet.

In name and reality he is the hottest rising male idol in Korea this year.

‘I ran without a single misstep in the second half of this year.’

Sexual awareness and topicality are not lacking anywhere. If it is an awards ceremony that is close to T1 it is almost certain that we will receive a grand prize.

‘Is this guy doing this because he’s angry?’

But the reply came without delay.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I see. I was just trying to say that it suits you well^^]

This bastard is completely trying to kill people…

'Eunwon liquidated everything with the cooperation of Gold 2?'

If this is going to be the case it would be better to just get a picture of the dog. I briefly considered whether to just turn off my smartphone.

But at that moment without even replying a phone call came out of nowhere.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo]

"…?"

What should I do?

I thought there might be some information among the bullshit so I took it anyway.

"What business do you have?"

Then a calm voice was heard.

-Um… I was wondering if you had anything to say to me.

"yes?"

What kind of bullshit is this?

Then there was silence on the other end of the phone for a moment and then a slightly regretful voice was heard.

-Not yet.

“yet?”

-I’m talking to myself. I just called because I was wondering how you were doing.

I don’t think so.

“As I said I’m doing well.”

I’m sure ‘not yet’ doesn’t mean that some kind of trick has been pulled and it hasn’t exploded yet.

I asked outright.

“Did you prepare anything separately?”

-hmm?

“I heard you said ‘not yet.’”

Then the sound of hearty laughter comes over the phone.

-Oh it’s really nothing else. I was wondering if you my junior have not entered the country yet. Testa had a brief overseas schedule last week.

‘But that seems like an excuse.’

Since there was no sign that he was being manipulative I decided to let it go for now.

-We entered the country.

Is that so?

“If you have time while you’re in the country let’s go see T-holic’s entertainment show. “I recommend it.”

I was curious about what to do with those boring kids. But the guy answered harshly.

-Ah… seniors.

If it wasn't for the phone call I wouldn't have even called you senior.

-Your survivability is truly amazing. No matter what happens you have good resilience… I've often admired you.

The story is that I tried everything to kill him but he managed to survive.

I summarized briefly.

"Senior you are like that too."

-Um really? Have you found yourself in that position before you know it?

I don't know why but it makes me angry because he seems to be having fun.

-Anyway I don't really plan on going there but thank you for the recommendation.

"you're welcome."

You look so calm.

'…Even if you miss one target item your position is strong.'

Well that's a good thing. Because it means that the probability of this bastard hitting me in the back again has decreased.

Cheongryeo ended the call with a smiling voice.

-See you at the awards ceremony then.

“yes.”

And it actually happened.

The last time I saw Cheongryeo was at an awards ceremony for a major music chart that was scheduled for the last time that month.

* * *

“Ah Testa can you show me something today?”

“of course!”

“haha!”

The members who completed all preparations in the waiting room before the awards ceremony began appear half excited and half nervous.

Honestly if there was someone in this situation who didn’t expect to win awards that would be a weird person.

…But I didn’t expect that they had already brought out the champagne.

“Now shall we have a toast?”

“Yeah cheeeeers!”

The guys holding the non-alcoholic champagne included in the catering looked like test takers eating glutinous rice cakes right before the college entrance exam.

‘Well… the atmosphere is nice.’

Among those who were in such a mood Ryu Cheong-wu pointed out one with a smiling face.

“Sejin looks like she has something to say. Can you give her a toast?”

“My me?”

“huh.”

“Oh~”

Bae Se-jin’s face was red but he was not angry.

“Okay then…”

Instead he cleared his throat a few times and opened his mouth seriously again.

“This year too… you’ve worked really hard and no matter what the results are! “Let’s not doubt that we worked hard and did well!”

It was surprisingly plausible. I don’t think Liu Chengwu singled it out for nothing.

‘It looks like you secretly prepared it.’

“brother…”

“I think so too…!”

“It’s touching.”

The atmosphere couldn’t have been better.

Big Sejin also smiled without saying anything and held out his hand.

“Thank you for your continued support next year! “Ah we still have to give official slogans one more time properly~”

“…okay!”

“great!”

Then to shout a fighting slogan members put their heads together to form a circle.

A chanting formation that would only appear right before a sporting event.

It may not be much different in that there is a difference between winning and losing and rewards are given.

“Oh Moon Dae Son!”

I held out my hand. Familiar slogans come out with energy.

“Ah Testa I’ll show you something today!”

“and!!”

Adrenaline was rushing.

I finished my non-alcoholic champagne in one go and placed the empty glass on the table.

“Then let’s go out.”

That’s how the first awards ceremony began.

The first part of the Grape Music Awards passed without any special events.

Rookie stage with good grades disappointing performance but meaningful stage rookie stage from a large agency…

It doesn’t mean much. The only thing that happened was that the group with Gold 2 showed up briefly.

Of course there could be controversy over my attitude so I took the position of watching the stage intently.

After the long first part is over and the second part comes the words

I've been waiting for come out.

After stages and stages have passed again.

When the fame of the person presenting the award changes and the effect before the presentation and the time leading to the introduction change.

[The next award is given to the artist who has shown activities that comfort and move the most people this year.]

okay.

[This is the Artist Award!]

It was the first target item. And this is the prize we are aiming for.

The camera visits the target candidates and captures them.

The camera arrived right in front of our block and grabbed this table without hesitation.

"oh…"

"fizzle!"

Big Se-jin controlled Cha Yu-jin. Correctly.

That's how time passes.

[The winner of the Artist of the Year Award is…]

drum.

Singers laughing awkwardly.

A shaking light stick.

And finally the words are spit out.

[…Testa!]

The camera lights up.

[congratulations!]

Wow!!

The sound of pollen exploding the sound of cheering the sound of music.

And familiar faces on the electronic display board. The facial expressions that go from bewilderment to joy are exactly the same.

The funny thing is I'm no different.

"ah."

I was expecting to receive it.

Isn't it true that they moved this award order to the front for no reason? Because we have to subtract in order of seniority and give the ending to the senior.

But… yeah I'll be honest.

It feels like someone has hit a gong in my head. Goosebumps rose all the way to my skull.

'Target.'

Are you really going to ride this this year?

Big Sejin stumbled and got up from his seat. I also got up from my chair.

I think people around me are clapping but I'm not sure. I went up to the podium with Cha Yu-jin who was tapping me on the shoulder.

Shoulders collide with Sun Ah-hyun.

We stood on stage. Bouquets and trophies are handed over to each other.

"thank you."

Liu Chengwu seemed to get choked up for a moment so he removed the microphone from his mouth and then spoke calmly again.

"We… are really happy and honored to receive this well-deserved award. "The members have worked hard not only this year but every day since their debut."

Ryu Cheong-woo took care of everyone from fans to staff and parents. I heard them practicing from the dorm but I listened without paying attention.

He was the one who deserved it.

And it felt like it.

"…Thank you again."

But as I finished speaking someone stabbed me in the back.

The first time I thought I stabbed it wrong but the second time it definitely wasn't the case.

"…?"

What is it?

'Mundae!'

It was a big strike.

He pushes me. Other guys made room and then blatantly left the middle empty.

‘what.’

So I ended up being pushed to the center. People around me tap me on the shoulder. The pollen that was there stuck to my nose and fell off.

There is a microphone in front of it.

‘…what a mess.’

Of course I wouldn’t put it off for the last speech so I smiled and held the microphone in front of the audience.

…I’m a little excited.

‘Now that I’ve caught it I guess I’ll have to say something.’

It was that moment.

[Mission clear!]

“…!”

A hologram appeared.

After clearing the status abnormality it stopped popping up when I didn’t call it.

And I understood the situation a beat late.

‘ah.’

I see.

It seems that public opinion was as important as I expected.

This is because… Testa is a prestigious object in the public perception that it is an object.

‘Still it was cleared at the first awards ceremony.’

It was a development I liked. I was willing to accept this situation.

But the hologram wasn’t over. It extracts unsolicited text.

[Settlement of compensation…]

“…!”

now?

The order is strange.

‘I have to accept the reward to get it… fuck you!’

I realized that I had been mistaken about something.

This was not a ‘status abnormality’ given by the system.

So… this means that there was no guarantee that what was possible when clearing the status abnormality would happen.

The same goes for compensation confirmation.

‘Unless I press the button to receive compensation.’

Cold sweat drips down to my neck.

The hologram in front of me crackles and changes shape.

[Reward complete!]

Reward: Conversation with Park Moon-dae complete?

At that moment my vision became blurry.

-Park Moon-dae!

Just like when I debuted <Azusa> when I cleared the first status abnormality.

And it was a dark battle.

* * *

When I think about it again it was a really strange thing.

I who had never participated in a talent show before now have a job dancing and singing in front of others.

'Originally I… '

Why did you take pictures of idols?

You can say it's because they made money but then why did they film people who can't make money?

The joy I got from it…

Was it vicarious satisfaction?

"Huh."

I opened my eyes.

Inside a dark room.

I saw a familiar ceiling. But it's been so long that it doesn't feel familiar or welcoming… that thing. This is the ceiling of my old living room.

“…!!”

I got up. And he groped his face. A glass bead is caught.

Without having to run to the bathroom to look in the mirror I wear my hair my hands and my glasses…

My original body.

Ryu Geon-woo not Park Moon-dae.

“…!”

I clenched my fists. And he bowed his head.

‘Calm down.’

And this situation.

‘this.’

This… I already had a similar experience once.

‘daydream.’

Is this a similar situation to the coma? Even now maybe it’s a dream…

It was then.

[Over there!]

“…!”

what.

I hear it in my head… or rather I don’t know if it’s right to say I hear it a strange resonance.

[Um… bro why are you here…]

I spat out the words.

“Who are you?”

[yes yes?]

A sound like crying.

Next a small resonance rang out.

[Bar Park Mun-dae.]

“…”

What the fuck is this?

Chapter 313

An unexpected situation where I jump out of ‘Park Moon-dae’s’ body and return to my original body?

Of course I had considered it and expected it. Because in the beginning I was trying to find a way to go back.

The problem is… I’ve never thought about going back with its original owner.

[…]

“…”

[I]

“Be quiet. “Because I’m thinking about it.”

[yes…]

I pressed my forehead with both hands listening to a voice that sounded like a cry.

My head was pounding.

‘Fuck you.’

I don’t know what the heck is… No let’s start by gathering information.

“You… you’re Park Moon-dae.”

[yes yes…!]

There was no clear color in the voice but I could understand the tone of speech to some extent.

This means that he seems to be a little timid.

'Damn it.'

Is this really the 'Conversation with Park Moon-dae' reward received for clearing the mission?

There is a level of absurdity. It's such a sudden reward and you see someone so random on the podium… Wait a minute.

"…!"

I was… right before the grand prize speech. At the music awards ceremony being broadcast live.

In an instant my blood cooled.

[Geonwoo hyung…?]

I ignored what he said and got up immediately. And started searching around.

[What are you doing?]

"cell phone."

I rolled up the blanket and asked in a low voice.

"Where is your phone?"

[I don't know… I don't know why I'm here…!]

I wandered around the room and finally found a small TV on the dining table/desk next to the sink.

‘TV?’

I’ve never bought anything like this before… I just turned it on.

I quickly flipped the screen to the news channel. I wonder if there was some kind of breaking news. And… I saw it.

Today’s date appears in small print at the bottom of the news channel.

“…!”

[December 15 202X]

It was 4 years ago.

Today when I lived it was not the awards ceremony day at the end of November when Testa received its first grand prize of the year.

…December 15th. Park Moon-dae’s birthday.

That was the day I entered Park Moon-dae’s body who had collapsed in a motel after taking a sleep-inducing drug.

The day it all happened.

“…under.”

I stepped back and tripped over a chair and stumbled.

[are you okay??]

You came back again?

‘no.’

That can’t be possible.

So this… everything is very similar to when I was in a coma but even

then…

okay. I understand for sure.

“Is it a dream again?”

[yes? brother!]

I sat down on the chair. And he clasped his hands together. The tremors subsided.

“okay. “Let’s talk.”

Since this is a fucking reward it must have some meaning.

I opened my mouth without hesitation.

“Park Moon-dae. “You said you didn’t know why you were here.”

[yes?… yes.]

Whether that’s a lie or not it means that I’m not in a state where I can easily get an explanation as to why I entered his body. If so go back and hit the ground running.

“Then what were you doing right before this mess started?”

[I am…]

The sound of the voice wavered slightly uneasily. I waited patiently for an answer.

[…I went to visit my brother in the hospital.]

“brother?”

This is the first time that Park Moon-dae has an older brother.

But a completely unexpected answer came back.

[Geonwoo hyung… Brother.]

"…!"

Me.

Visiting my hospital? This is something else… no it's something I've been feeling since before.

'This guy knows me.'

From the beginning without hesitation I called him 'Geonwoo hyung'. It means that you are confident that you are friendly with me.

I felt like I had a clue. I continued asking questions.

"when."

[that is…! That's strange to me too. I was clearly living in 202X but the year in the broadcast earlier was strange…]

I have to admit this. Apparently this guy… is Park Mun-dae in the situation I saw in the last 'truth' confirmation.

The future Parkmun University that I don't remember that I had a meal with and kept in touch with.

The small trembling resonance rings again.

[Could it be that you… don't know me?]

"I'm not sure."

[yes??]

It means I don't even know you.

“First tell me the last situation you remember. “I… I feel like my memories are all mixed up right now.”

[Then…]

Park Moon-dae hesitated but soon began to gently share his memories.

[My brother… was hospitalized so I went to see him because I was worried. But after that when I came to my senses it was like this…]

“Why were you hospitalized?”

[…Oh you’re overworked.]

I nodded.

“Don’t lie.”

[…!]

It makes no sense to say that I was hospitalized due to overwork. And when this guy lies his tone of voice changes.

“There must have been other reasons than overwork.”

And there was an answer passing through my mind.

“…You said you made an extreme choice.”

[…yes. Brother Tongue… he was very heartbroken and exhausted… I think you remember that.]

also.

In the final confirmation of the truth he tried to die but it seems he didn’t actually die and was taken to the hospital at the right time.

Still the bad luck seemed to be okay. Although the situation was absurd I nodded my head first.

“So roughly what did we talk about when we visited the hospital?”

[I couldn’t talk. My brother hasn’t woken up yet…]

“…”

He was in a coma.

I inquired further but they said that nothing special was done during the visit. Looking at the nuance it’s not a lie.

So is there one more thing to find out?

“What were you thinking?”

[yes?]

As a result of the last cross-validation we hypothesized that those who returned to the past seemed to have chosen the time to return based on their last thoughts and desires.

If so it is necessary to check the last memory of this ‘Park Moon-dae’. I have never wanted to enter Park Moon-dae’s body.

“I wonder what the last thing you thought of back then was.”

For example you might have looked at my situation and thought that if that was my future I would want to run away.

[…]

Gong Myung was even more nervous but spoke without hesitation.

[It wasn’t a big deal. I just thought it would be good for my brother to live a long healthy life…]

"…!"

It was an answer I didn't expect.

I was a little shocked and kept my mouth shut. Because I felt a bit… petty.

'Damn it.'

And only after a while did he say what he wanted to say.

"First of all… I'm sorry."

[…yes??]

"I'm sorry for suddenly speaking as if I was interrogating you. "You would be surprised too."

No I'm glad I didn't panic because my body suddenly disappeared and only my voice remained.

It was just a dream it was a foolish thing to suddenly scold this guy. I had to deal with it more rationally.

"Anyway when I came to visit thank you for thinking that way."

[ah…]

The resonance is mixed with a bit of embarrassment and embarrassment.

[no! You kept helping me but I didn't get anything in return…]

What about repayment?

I expected it but it seems like I haven't had much experience receiving help from people around me. I don't know how many times I hear that phrase over a bowl of soup.

Thank you but let's move on to something more productive.

"That's okay but more than that what exactly are you in right now?"

[iced coffee! Even though I can't move my body… I can feel it when my brother moves…?]

"okay."

Then we share the same body but I have control.

Anyway the 'conversation with Park Moon-dae' is taking place. Although it is a bizarre method of making people talk in the same body.

'Why do you have to do this?'

If we're going to create a dream like this anyway wouldn't it be okay to just have a conversation with each person?

Maybe… in the reality I lived in there was already no 'real Park Moon-dae self' so it was embodied in this way.

"hmm."

It is not a very pleasant hypothesis and there is no conclusion. I need to check how this dream is structured.

I got up and started searching my phone again. It was then.

[Are you looking for that guy's phone?]

"okay."

[That… I wonder if it's in my back pocket.]

Gong Myung added in an uncertain tone.

[Right now I feel like I have something in my back pocket…]

ah.

I immediately put my hand into my jeans pocket. And then I found a familiar square.

All sighs come out.

“thanks.”

I’m so crazy I couldn’t consider this. I clicked my tongue and opened my phone.

Then a pop-up appears.

[Network registration failed.]

“…?”

This is a pop-up that only appears on the air system. No phone number…

…no way.

With a strange intuition I immediately turned my head and looked around.

I lived with the options at the time and didn’t notice much until now but there was a definite sense of discomfort.

And I found the cause.

[brother?]

It was a family photo on top of the system window.

It’s a photo of four strangers. I will never photograph purchase or place anything.

Traces of others.

"…"

Suddenly a thought crosses my mind.

When I first entered the body of 'Park Moon-dae' I checked Ryu Geon-woo's active account phone number site ID etc.

Everything had disappeared.

At first I thought it was a parallel world but after verifying that 'all accounts and records that had been discarded in the past remained' I concluded that it was a supernatural evaporation.

-'Ryu Geon-woo' disappeared from all places including the Internet and the real world starting from the moment I entered the body of 'Park Moon-dae'.

And now… what if I suddenly 'came into' the situation 4 years ago?

Without any connection to reality.

I inadvertently hit my face to check.

[brother!]

"…"

It hurts.

'What the fuck.'

I got up right away. And I looked around more closely.

And came to a conclusion.

‘It’s not where I used to live.’

And judging by the pain it wasn’t even a dream. This is fucking reality.

Then realistically the first action you should take is…

“Let’s go out.”

[Are you leaving??]

okay. If your monthly rent contract has been reset you are now in someone else’s house!

I hurried out of my room which had become someone else’s room.

Well nothing special was touched so you won’t notice that there was a trespasser.

The problem is next.

‘What I have now… ’

A flip phone not a smartphone that has become popular. And I only have about 140000 won in my wallet.

“…”

Of course there would be no bank account.

‘I want to kill him.’

I ground my teeth. And called.

“Status window.”

Something was hot.

[Receiving reward]

"…"

Let's calm down.

It can be taken in a positive sense. Once compensation is received it will be restored to its original state.

I quickly pressed down on my situation right before my acceptance speech. Even thinking about it now won't help.

"after."

Park Moon-dae's Gong-myeong who roughly grasps the situation lowers his voice and hums.

[Hey bro… are you okay? What kind of situation is this?…]

"are you okay."

Actually no. But no matter how much I tried nothing would change so I just shut up and sat down.

The most urgent thing right now.

'I don't have a home.'

No there is no foundation not just a house. All communication networks with society have been reset.

I don't know how long this shitty situation will last but I can't afford not to have at least one phone activated right now.

…Then there is only one thing to do.

After coming to a conclusion I started walking again.

[Hey… where are we going now?]

“convenience store.”

I added casually.

“I’m going to buy a lottery ticket.”

[Lottery…? I feel like I’m back in the past but I don’t know the lottery numbers…]

There’s some misunderstanding.

“I know the number.”

[…]

I opened the phone again.

Even though it was an air system that couldn’t make calls or anything I was able to check one day of the week.

-friday

And tomorrow Saturday is the day the lottery winners are announced.

Think about it.

As soon as I entered Park Moon-dae’s body I thought about the fact that I didn’t know any stocks or lottery numbers. Do you really think I could have passed by without seeing the numbers announced the next day?

Even if it’s a shame I’ll see it at least once.

And such an impressive experience is bound to remain in one’s mind.

‘I still remember it.’

As soon as I entered the convenience store I bought about twenty lottery tickets including one or two confusing numbers.

“One of these is absolutely correct.”

The resonance sounded like swallowing saliva.

[Hyung… you’re really smart.]

It was not a head problem but a situation problem. To understand that I think I first need to explain what I went through inside my own body.

‘Right now… this guy seems too tired.’

Anxiety began to mix with the resonance a while ago. I’m starting to feel scared that this situation is starting to feel real.

‘For now give me time to rest.’

I then found a reasonably priced accommodation. I just need to hold out until Monday morning so the cash is pretty good.

‘Let’s rest first and talk after our heads cool down.’

As soon as I wake up I have to tell this guy what I experienced and explain the exact situation.

I said as I lay down on the bed.

“If you still can’t sleep after I fall asleep wake me up.”

[yes? no! It’s okay…]

“Wake up.”

I checked the status window which still only showed ‘receiving rewards’ and then fell asleep for a moment.

* * *

Light pours in from outside the eyelids.

[Geonwoo hyung…?]

“Sigh.”

I took a breath and opened my eyes. I guess I fell asleep deeper than I thought but my head is clear.

And then I heard a voice that almost sounded like crying.

[brother! Ah I thought you were still there…!]

Why are you so happy to see me? I got up.

And I was embarrassed.

“…?”

It looks like the inside of an officetel not a motel. And green trees and sunlight flashed outside the window.

“…”

It’s definitely not December.

“what.”

But first Gong Myung speaks up.

[Oh brother! I won the lotto! I received 1.2 billion!]

That’s good. But what that means is that enough time has passed since you received it to buy the house.

I asked him exactly that.

“It seems like quite a bit of time has passed since the day I bought the lottery ticket.”

From then on the voice gets quieter.

[yes. I bought a lottery ticket at that time. I woke up the next day… my older brother was gone and I became his older brother…?]

what?

[So for now I stayed like that…]

It was bullshit that made my eyes dizzy.

‘…Let’s stay calm.’

Still it seems like he won the lottery properly and there is no money problem.

I erased one worry when I saw that the house looked much more normal than the room I used to live in.

But the most frustrating part happened next.

[And that… brother. After my brother disappeared something strange happened…]

“what?”

[Look at this…]

After a while.

[! Status abnormality: Pass or die! (1)

If you do not receive a report card without a failure in the first written test of the ‘Grade 7 Open Competitive Recruitment Test’ you will die.

“…”

These fucking bastards are really…

Chapter 314

Public notice level 7.

This is the same test that I failed the third interview at the last minute while living as Ryu Geon-woo. When I think about it I immediately think of the exam life that changes several years of my life.

But why did it suddenly appear as a status abnormality in this situation?

‘Are you crazy?’

It didn’t even occur to me.

[Receiving reward]

That still pops up for me. So that strange abnormality… I think it belongs to that guy seeing as it only appears when ‘Park Moon-dae’s’ resonance is called.

‘Then you should give me the stats. Why the hell aren’t the stats showing?’

I asked holding back the curse that was about to come out of my mouth.

“…When did it appear?”

[I remembered my brother calling the status window on the day I bought the lottery ticket… I also tried calling it the next day…]

Damn it.

‘Did you see that?’

I am now asking if it was because of the atmosphere that I couldn't say anything.

[Now that I think about it the 'receiving compensation' thing… is this what your brother did too??]

Oh it's similar.

However without needing to answer Gong Myung continues to talk without stopping as if pouring out the words he had not been able to say for a while.

[I bought an officetel but was it right to buy this…? Would the monthly rent be better? And something really strange happened…]

In addition to the status abnormality that causes death if you fail to pass the civil service exam it seems that quite a few shocking things have happened to 'Park Moon-dae' who has been living in his own body for the past few months.

And that is the final boss.

-Re-listing! Idol Co. Ltd. Mundaengdaeng's Mungagato Moment☆

[excuse me! That's me right??]

"…"

Some guy participated in Idol Survival with his own body.

'Was it the same timeline?… '

I guess this is the past of the same world I lived in as Park Moon-dae. I silently endured the highlights of Park Moon-dae on the screen.

[I tried to contact them somehow but there was no place to contact them…]

Yes I guess so. Because you also canceled your smartphone.

When I saw the chicken feet mukbang I had mixed feelings.

‘Back then… that’s how I lived.’

I opened my mouth with difficulty.

“That’s me.”

[…?? Bro I think I misunderstood…]

“No that’s what you thought.”

I held back a sigh.

“I lived in your body.”

[Uh… Uh huh??]

I feel sorry for the person who was already shocked by the status window but it was an explanation that should take precedence anyway.

I sat down on the living room sofa and slowly began to recite what had happened to me.

It wasn’t difficult. The summary was easy.

After a while Gongmyeong shouts out:

[So… my brother became an idol with his own body!? Are you saying that if you don’t become an idol you’ll die?]

Oh that’s it.

The resonance rang like crazy.

[Oh somehow! It was too cool to be me!]

Are you serious?

You know how to say things in a euphemistic way. I also know my broadcast image at this time of year. It's okay if I look like a jerk.

[So just as you were about to win the grand prize you suddenly opened your eyes and found yourself here??]

"okay. But I guess that's not important now."

[yes…?]

I said darkly.

"Look at my case. "If you don't pass the civil service exam you could die."

[…]

I don't know if Gongmyeong can swallow his saliva but it felt roughly the same.

[That's right.]

It's surprisingly calm.

[Actually… I bought the problem and studied it just in case. I'm not sure…]

Isn't that because I gave up?

'I need to design this first as soon as possible… '

I thought for a moment and then opened my mouth.

"Listen carefully. First look again at the text that appeared on the hologram earlier."

The name of the status abnormality is ‘If you don’t pass you will die!’ However if you look closely at the explanation you can see an escape route.

-If you do not receive a score with no failures in the first written test of the ‘Grade 7 Open Competitive Recruitment Test’ you will die.

Exactly this part.

“The standard is not passing but failing.”

[…Ugh!]

“You just need to score over 40 points per subject on your report card.”

And seeing as they added ‘(1)’ after the status ailment this probably won’t be the end of the status ailment. Passing the first round will probably result in the following status conditions.

For now it adds persuasiveness to the logic that ‘all you have to do is avoid failure’…but in the long run it is a marathon of death.

“What month is it?”

“It’s April…”

The first exam was in July. There’s only 3 months left.

‘Why is this… ’

Are you saying this is such a mess that someone made it a point to not pass the civil service exam? I ground my teeth.

‘It would be easier if I could see it.’

For the 7th grade PSAT I think I can get up to the passing line with just one or two months of rehabilitation.

The problem is that I seem to have passed the exam after a few months but if it continues like this from now on the exam will be as good as gone.

And if it is certain that this condition is attributed to ‘Park Moon-dae’ then Park Moon-dae…

“…”

That won’t work. I sentenced.

“It would be better to go to a boarding school.”

[yes??]

It varies depending on the facilities and instructors but for roughly 200 per month there are high-end boarding schools that will let you study without worrying about anything else.

What would happen if I put all the remaining money into futures and options related to stock prices I know and just went in and studied?

“Anyway if the following status condition appears as a condition for passing… boarding school is the most efficient option.”

Isn’t boarding school better than dying?

[all. Is there a next one??]

“I guess so.”

[Ugh…]

It depends on where the standard is.

If the memories of ‘Park Moon-dae’ are the focus… From what I’ve said it seems like I’ve returned to the past by about 6 years so there would be about seven things.

‘It’s hell.’

Even after you get the job it won’t be awkward if promotion or personnel evaluation comes next.

But to twist it a bit… What if I used the ‘conversation with Park Moon-dae’ as a reward and it was retroactively applied to the person who disappeared and came back to live in my body?

‘Then… the time when I won the grand prize is the standard.’

Still maybe about five? I held back a sigh.

Of course I’m not sure because I don’t know how it will be applied but the important thing is that it’s hard work.

There are 7 or 5 status abnormalities.

‘Fuck… ’

I sat in front of the PC holding back a sigh. Then I opened the page and searched for civil service exam lectures.

[202X Civil Servant D-100 Completed in Shortest Time All-in-One Package OPEN!]

“First let’s cut off the Ingang first…”

No wait.

When I see the advertising banner in front of me something flashes.

okay.

‘I must have solved this year’s past questions…!’

It was the latest exam from the period when I was most focused on public examinations. I definitely remember going into the lecture and organizing it.

"…"

I grabbed the mouse again.

And Gongmyeong began to hum as if he were confessing.

[Hyung I… I haven't studied much since I graduated from high school…]

"No it's okay."

[yes??]

I loaded up the PDF file of the workbook this guy had downloaded from my desktop.

And after taking a look I laughed.

I remembered.

"I will take pictures of what will come out so just study it."

[…!!]

I think I can go to boarding school next year. This year I will take pictures of all the types so you will avoid mistakes.

…Of course this is assuming that this guy has basic reading skills.

'If it doesn't exist it's over.'

For your information surprising results were waiting.

* * *

[So number 3…?]

"…"

I nodded.

“Correct answer.”

[Hey!!]

After giving it a spin I found that this guy’s head was fine.

No it’s not just okay… the basic understanding itself is good. I feel like if I had continued to go to high school I would have done well on the CSAT.

‘I think my memorization skills are a bit lacking but it doesn’t matter because PSAT is not a memorization test anyway.’

Since it also includes past exam questions from my memory it means that I will pass the first test with ease.

I slammed down the workbook I had finished checking. I looked for all similar types and checked them.

“If it stays like this for 3 months it will be okay.”

[Really?]

“okay.”

If you cling to it until you die you will avoid mistakes.

[…]

The resonance seemed to hesitate but soon it hummed with a lower more trembling wave than before.

[Actually this is an expedient method. Because I am receiving what my brother studied…]

I was surprised that he had the spirit to even consider such ethical considerations when it seemed like he would die if he didn’t get along but I kept my mouth shut.

This is because I got the feeling that he was strangely filled with emotion.

[Nevertheless I'm really glad that I can do it. thank you……]

"…It's about helping each other."

Because I also became an idol with your body.

When I said that the resonance jumped out as if I was a little excited.

[that! Then shall we look at that? The guy from 'Azusa'!]

"…"

Do you really have to do that?

But since I studied for almost 10 hours it would be nice to give me something.

'Is it fun because I'm on TV?'

Without saying anything I changed my PC screen and accessed WeTube…

-The controversy over Park Moon-dae's past sanitary pads that is causing a stir right now?

For a moment it almost ripped the sofa but it soon sank.

What I saw was a recommendation for the latest video. The incident where Azusa tried to voluntarily leave the company.

'That was today.'

Now that I think about it the date turned out to be exactly right. I was drooling.

In any case it was a problem that would be resolved by the parties involved coming out at dawn. There is no need to feel any different now.

But this guy is the problem.

[That… I…]

“I know it’s not. “It’s all sorted out so you don’t have to worry.”

‘Park Moon-dae’ is said to be in a very shocking situation.

It would be upsetting to suddenly have one’s personal history exposed to the public. It could be scary.

“…sorry. “I guess this is what happened because I went to survival without your consent.”

He said he was trying to avoid sudden death but that may not be his business. But Gongmyeong was shocked.

[Oh no! I too… have been receiving this much help since coming into my brother’s body…]

Gong Myung trembled uneasily.

[But… what should I do if my brother can’t debut because of me…]

“I said I would do it.”

What do you mean I already did it?

But this guy didn’t answer for a while wondering what he was thinking.

And only when I started preparing the meal did it suddenly start buzzing again.

[I… I think I can contact you!]

what.

[I didn't remember the number… but I have his email address!]

"…!"

[I sent an email a few times for the group meeting… I'm sure it will remain.]

I see.

The two seemed to have a very good relationship so it was likely that some trace would remain.

But is it necessary?

Anyway they will notice this early in the morning and post an explanation. It's better not to do anything suspicious…

'for a moment.'

…no way.

I hastily recalled the past.

-I didn't do anything but things suddenly got this much better?

It was strange even back then. I thought there was no way everything would magically resolve itself so quickly.

And if now is the same timeline as then…

"…"

I eventually nodded.

“Where are you writing your emails?”

[…! It’s a favorite over there…!]

I followed his instructions and left a fairly long email to my friend.

It was a sincere request filled with concern apology and regret.

I could have edited it more effectively but I didn’t bother to touch it. I just made sure there were no inappropriate comments.

And as I read the content again I intuitively realized that this friend had written an explanation after reading this email.

‘The vocabulary overlaps.’

Because I could see that my word choice was affected.

Finally thanks to this email an explanation was posted.

[I want to send it like this…]

“…okay.”

As I clicked send the email I was overcome with a strange feeling.

My thoughts at the time were correct. Things don’t suddenly get better.

It’s just that someone specifically worked on it.

So favor was favor.

That night as I lay in an unfamiliar bed I admitted it.

“thanks. “For sending me the email.”

[no. It’s natural…]

Even after saying thank you the resonance sounded rather depressing.

[I'm sorry… for getting you caught up in something strange.]

"Are you the only one who has to take level 7 in 3 months?"

[Ugh.]

okay. Just worry about yourself. I smiled bitterly and threw the smartphone.

[That brother. If you fall asleep…]

"So I'm trying not to sleep either."

[Ah… yes!]

The resonance became a bit lighter. I guess he was scared that I might not wake up for another few months.

"Looking at the pattern it seems like it will definitely come back so don't worry if it disappears and prepare well for the exam."

[…yes.]

I looked at my watch and made meaningless small talk with him.

The clock moved steadily.

-11:55 p.m.

And the moment the minute hand points to 12 o'clock…

I fell asleep naturally.

* * *

When I opened my eyes again it was morning again.

‘If a day goes by do I always fall asleep?’

I can’t survive without sleep. I clicked my tongue inwardly.

Then I heard a scream similar to last morning.

[Ugh! brother! Is your brother here??]

“okay.”

Judging by the fact that her clothes are sleeveless it seems like a long time has passed. I sighed and got up.

And all kinds of resonance poured out.

[I took the test! I didn’t pass… but there were no failures!]

I thought it was because I saw that we could talk without having to say anything.

“okay. “Good job.”

[…! yes!]

Gong Myung seemed happy but soon calmed down.

[But another status abnormality occurred… Oh before that I had a schedule for today…]

“schedule?”

[It’s displayed on the smartphone alarm…]

For some reason the sound is getting quieter. I’m not even going to mention it directly.

‘Did you really think they would scold me for playing around without registering for boarding school yet?’

It may not be as urgent as a status condition.

I smiled and got up and picked up my smartphone. And I immediately checked the alarm name.

– Testa Festival appearance at 2:30 p.m.

“…?”

[I… can I go there?]

I wanted to hear from the beginning what happened.

Chapter 315

When I opened my eyes several months had passed and I suddenly found myself going to see an old performance of mine.

And the cause of this situation was… surprisingly simple.

I straightened it out by pressing between my eyebrows.

“So… when I had time while studying I was curious and looked up my activities and at some point it became fun.”

[yes!]

You answer very clearly.

[To Magical Boy… Oh the performance in that baseball uniform was really cool too! And that solo entertainment show was really fun… I wasn’t able to watch the live broadcast because I was studying…]

I think that’s enough to keep me informed of all the news about his famous activities but I think he managed to avoid an accidental death by failing to make a mistake.

…No it’s possible that this was the only pleasure in life.

‘Did you relieve stress by watching idols?’

Then it’s okay to say something.

[And when I tentatively graded it it seemed like I definitely passed the failing mark… so I thought I might go and see it in person for a day so I made a ticket…]

“…”

The resonance became faint as if it were blurring the words.

‘I want it.’

I said while holding back a sigh.

“…Where do you do it?”

[…!]

okay. I understand.

If a person spends all day studying he or she will give up. In the long term I needed to rest for about a day.

The resonance is crazy and exciting.

[It’s not far from here! It was a Gyeonggi-do festival…]

“Wait.”

I changed my clothes.

There will be thousands of people so I wonder if anything will happen. All I have to do is endure the solemn monitoring of my stage and my own support.

[Thank you so much bro!]

I think I heard gratitude about three times while putting toothpaste on my toothbrush.

“It’s not that difficult so why not? “You should at least have fun like this.”

[yes?]

I chuckled.

“I’m going to start boarding school tomorrow.”

[…Ugh!]

I have no intention of interfering with the test taker’s last leisure time of the year.

* * *

An hour later.

I bought wireless earphones at a convenience store so I wouldn’t be suspected of being a crazy person talking to myself. If this is the case the assortment will be just right.

Of course while I was moving I was also doing what I had to do at the same time.

“Let me first tell you what happened.”

[yes!]

First I checked the status abnormality that had newly appeared on this guy.

[! Status abnormality: Pass or die! (2)]

If you do not pass the first written test of the ‘Grade 7 Open Competitive Recruitment Test’ you will die.

okay. I knew it would happen.

The deadline is still one year. hmm.

‘I’ll have to tell you to delay clearing confirmation from next time.’

If you get pushed back you could end up in a crazy situation where the period expires before the second or third exam.

There won't be much difference since the exam is on a yearly basis but you may benefit from the period.

But the moment I thought about it I also remembered how I was able to confirm that I had cleared my condition.

'Check the truth.'

I don't know if trash like 'Check the truth ☜ Click!' has appeared on this guy as well so I'll have to check.

"Looking at the date it doesn't seem like the condition changed immediately after checking the grades."

[Uh… yes! Still something strange appeared…]

The resonance somehow trembled slightly. And as soon as he explained it I knew why.

The choice that appears at the bottom of the success pop-up that appears as soon as you check your first grade.

[Accept synchronization ☜ Click!]

I was somewhat apprehensive about clicking on this so I hesitated for a few weeks and then received it in September.

[I was planning to wait a bit and ask my brother if he came…]

But I was in the dark and in the end that guy ended up clicking that button yesterday.

And the result…

[Cumulative completion.]

It is said that a window like this appears.

'…It must have felt really uncomfortable.'

[That brother. Could it be that I did something wrong and am accumulating penalties…?]

“No that won’t be it.”

From my rough feeling… I think it’s settled that ‘Park Moon-dae’ existed during the process of receiving the compensation I bet on but I’m not sure.

‘By what mechanism does it float?’

There are more things to analyze. At first I thought that way and passed it on.

Because we have already arrived at our destination.

I got off the bus and checked the sports stadium in front of me.

“Here it is.”

[and!]

I remember.

‘I think it was a festival held by some kind of company.’

Aside from that it was rare that tickets were sold instead of rented. It looks like this guy figured it out.

‘The line-up… was at our best level.’

I entered inside reviewing the details.

The air inside the venue was stuffy. In a modern society where abnormal temperatures occur like a meal it was hot even at the end of September so it was an obvious result.

‘I guess I don’t sleep in sleeveless clothes for no reason.’

I felt a strange sense of déjà vu as I sat in the aisle seat on the outskirts. Does it remind you of the days of data arms?

[That brother. Do you also remember this performance?]

“okay.”

[then…! When are you coming out?]

I consciously pressed the Bluetooth earphone and answered.

“The second to last game.”

[and…]

I wonder what on earth was there to admire in the conversation just now. In the midst of a fight to get to the end is it practical to just get off work quickly?

‘When I have time should I at least share an anecdote from my career?’

I feel like a curator. I kept my mouth shut. And on stage the performance was just starting.

“…”

The subsequent stages were not very impressive. Because we had overlapping activities we saw each other very often.

However looking at it from below again I feel a sense of déjà vu as if Datapal has gone back in time.

[Hyung aren’t you having fun…?]

“No it’s okay. “It looks like it’s because I’m used to it.”

It’s this loud so even if you mumble you can do it yourself knowing that people around you won’t hear you. And Gong-myung understood it well perhaps because it was his own body.

[You worked as an idol so of course it is!]

“Besides I went to film something like this when I was in college.”

[…!]

Well I just said it for no reason.

However Gong Myung asked ‘Did you do a journalist internship?’ Instead of saying the same thing he enthusiastically agreed.

[That’s right! That brother also took a fancam of Youngrin…!]

“…??”

What do you know so well?

“Did I even tell you that?”

[Well… yes. I found out by chance!]

okay. Well it wasn’t particularly a secret so it could have been spilled like this while drinking.

I nodded.

The guy I was sharing the view with was excited so I watched the rest of the performance without turning my head.

And after a long time the guys who had been waiting finally came up on stage.

Wow!!!

There are three times more screams than before.

And then the figures come up and form a formation.

Testa.

-I met you tomorrow

I think about it all today

Me wearing a dark blue stage costume and holding a microphone…

-Dream as blue as day

"…"

[and…!]

It was a strange feeling.

I definitely did a lot of stage monitoring. Because I have to check what the hell I'm doing so I can refine it.

But seeing the actual performance completely from the audience's perspective was… almost shocking.

Even though it is the size of a lighter.

'Did I have that kind of expression on my face?'

The face on the electronic display board and the running matchstick-sized figures intersect in the field of view.

-Cast a spell

Only then did I actually understand that I was included in those scenes that I had once left behind as data.

Park Moon-dae on stage I looked like a pretty… decent idol.

I sat quietly among the cheering people until Testa's performance ended.

And only when the rapper who said he wasn't interested in 'Park Moon-dae' came out did he get up and leave.

[brother?]

"Please go to the bathroom."

I wanted to at least pour some cold water on it. Because I can't believe I'm so impressed by this situation.

…I missed you.

'oh my god.'

I moved my feet and naturally headed to the end of the hallway. And the moment I entered the bathroom I realized it.

Just now… I very naturally entered the area where unauthorized persons are prohibited from entering.

"…"

I guess they thought he was a staff member since he was invisible to the cast's fan base. Event security is terrible.

'Well I don't even have a camera.'

I shrugged and turned on the water in the sink.

And I heard it at the same time.

bang!

Someone opens the door so hard that it breaks and comes out of the bathroom stall.

“…?”

What is it?

Coincidentally the person involved was seen in the mirror in front.

But… he was someone I knew.

[Ugh! This person!]

This is Bae Se-jin.

At that moment I understood the situation.

‘I was stuck in a compartment and cried.’

It’s still obvious since it’s only debut. Now that I think about it have you ever experienced a similar situation during a daydream?

“…”

This is Bae Se-jin who was trying to act less harsh but was still having a bad temper due to family issues.

I saw Bae Se-jin stopping without approaching the sink. His eyes were tense with alertness.

‘hmm.’

I had a strange feeling. Should I say… I’m glad to see you.

Of course I might look like a weird guy so I’ll have to take care of it first.

I washed my hands and spoke briefly.

“Are you Sejin Lee? sorry. “I was surprised because I am a fan.”

“…!”

“I had a good time watching the stage earlier. “I think you always have a really nice expression.”

Bae Se-jin no Lee Se-jin who has not yet changed her last name had a blank look on her face.

‘Ah this was the time when I started swearing a lot.’

Since it is a time when the additional successful candidates are being criticized by internet public opinion due to their lack of stage ability it may actually cause more caution.

But Bae Se-jin did not do that.

“…thank you.”

Instead a look of embarrassment crossed his face perhaps because he was a little embarrassed.

“I am truly grateful. “I will support you.”

“…yes.”

Only then did Bae Se-jin come to the sink and start washing his hands.

‘I passed it.’

I dried myself off and was about to walk to the door when I heard a voice behind me.

“that…! “If you need at least an autograph.”

“ah.”

I’ve thought about this before but this guy secretly likes fan service. I pretended to search my pockets a few times and then nodded.

“Because I don’t have a pen. Please next time.”

“…yes.”

After a short conversation with Bae Se-jin from the past I carefully exited the staff area without being seen by anyone.

I can’t deny that it was a refreshing experience.

[Wow… maybe you recognize my brother?]

“Probably not.”

I think we barely even chatted at that time.

‘If it were September of the year of debut… ’

Now that I think about it that guy was the one who accused my father of fraudulent gambling to the police and changed his name. Was it early October?

‘hmm.’

At that time… it seems that not only was he caught for gambling but he was also caught for drugs so his sentence increased significantly.

‘I even knew the identity of the drug dealer right off the bat.’

I stopped walking.

…if?

“Can I stop by somewhere for a moment?”

[yes? yes!]

I found the nearest pay phone.

[…?]

Then I called the Gyeonggi Province Northern Police Station's civil affairs office.

[brother??]

Ah I received it.

"Drugs are being loaded into the illegal gambling den in the basement of building XX in XX city."

And hung up.

[Uh… uh…]

You might think it was a prank call now but if Bae Se-jin makes an anonymous report you will remember it at least once.

There is little difference in the dates but two reports with completely different feelings came in from the same location.

'It would be effective to check for drugs.'

I shrugged and left the phone booth.

"It's not a prank call so don't worry. "The police won't come."

[Well then…?]

I slowly returned home to the officetel telling a few anecdotes from my debut days.

And after I ate dinner and took a shower the day was already nearing its end.

'Going out definitely takes up time.'

First I gave instructions related to status abnormalities and then quickly took next year's first exam. I received it quickly after studying for a few months.

After that there were only 30 minutes left today.

Thanks to this I am chatting with Gongmyeong aka Park Moon-dae who seems a bit depressed.

[Brother by any chance… does he come back every time I remove this status condition?]

"That could be possible."

Although there was only one case it was a story with potential. Then the resonance hums gloomily.

[Then… I might see you next time in a year.]

I chuckled.

"If you think about it the other way around if you make it to the first round you'll get to see each other again."

[I see… I see??]

"uh. "Work hard."

[…yes!!]

It's a bit surprising that if you don't work hard you'll die suddenly but wouldn't it be better if a guide comes to you like an annual membership?

I went to sleep after giving him one last lesson on how to sell stocks in case I need money.

It was midnight.

* * *

And again morning.

The reason I opened my eyes again was because of the sound of the alarm.

The sun was coming in.

Now what is ‘Park Moon-dae’s hypothesis?…

[brother! You’re my brother right?]

After listening to your voice it seems to be correct.

“okay.”

I chuckled at the resonance that seemed to make me excited.

“Did you do well on the test?”

[yes! yes!! I’m stuck…! 1st time!]

Yes great.

No matter how much you registered for a boarding school… Wait a minute but this is still that officetel.

I got out of bed and looked around. There was something on the table.

“Have you not registered for boarding school?”

[i did it! Oh it’s the weekend and I had work to do yesterday so I came to the officetel for a bit… And I thought this place wouldn’t be unfamiliar to you when you come.]

“okay.”

It was a pretty unique idea. I nodded and headed to the table. What's on the table is some sort of advertising bromide…

for a moment.

[Be happy^^ VTIC Cheongnyeo]

You bastard… why is the sign here?

Chapter 316

I don't know what happened over the past year to have a bromide autographed by a competitor in the same industry in this house.

It's not just any other guy it's Cheongnyeo.

'Isn't this the time when this bastard was hitting on the back of my head for a while?'

What kind of wind blew that caused me to get this Reset Syndrome bastard's autograph?

This guy didn't seem inclined to spend money on fan signings just because he won the lottery.

Sure enough there was another reason.

[ah! I bought that dress and won!]

It seems that even though he was not interested in clothes because he was living bare-chested and completely reset when he could afford it he made large purchases to survive.

Especially winter clothes… It is said that people would freeze to death without a coat so they even bought coats and padding during the sale period.

[I don't know much about clothes… so I just bought what one store recommended…]

Coincidentally that store was an outdoor brand advertised by VTIC.

And just for fun I won a fan autograph event for the advertising model with the entry card I entered into the lottery.

I'd rather have Testa advertise… No that would have been strangely twisted.

'Why did I apply for the male idol fan signing draw in the first place…
'

[The last performance we went to see was cool… so I got interested when they said I was an idol. There is also someone who appeared on a variety show with that older brother…]

"…"

It was my fault. I understand.

I looked away from the bromide with uncomfortable eyes. It seems like you're studying properly so it shouldn't be a big deal.

"When did you go?"

[Yesterday!]

I guess I went there to commemorate the end of the first exam like last time.

Since I was given another one-year grace period anyway I was told not to worry too much about the second round and to just focus on the first round so it was worth it.

And in fact it seemed like there would be a status ailment similar to the first one where only failure would be avoided.

[! Status abnormality: Pass or die! (3)

If you do not receive a score report without a failure in the second written test of the 'Grade 7 Open Competitive Recruitment Test' you will die.

Yeah I knew it would be like this.

So next year all you have to do is pass the first time and avoid failing the second time. And since I know until next year's exam there won't be any problem.

I tried to explain it but this guy said something unexpected.

[Well… Actually I've already watched the second round but based on the tentative marks… I don't think there will be any failures!]

"…!"

[I was very lucky to get a lot of shots! I don't think it will stick but…]

Still it was an incredible achievement.

"Enough. good job."

[…! yes!! thank you!]

Then I will be able to eat the new status ailment raw within a month. I nodded and calculated.

"Still don't clear it right away but make sure to wait until just before the second grades come out next year and then clear it. "Make sure you have some free time."

[yes!]

So roughly… I guess I'll be back in September next year too.

I checked the current date on my smartphone. September is correct. I filled it up and returned to this body after a year.

[This time they told me to wait again so I tried to wait as long as I could…!]

"That was good too."

The resonance sounded like it was bouncing around. Probably smiling.

‘Then there’s nothing special to do today?’

I felt like I could spend some time wondering if there had been any special events in the past year other than that guy’s cause of death.

I accessed the stock app and continued talking with ‘Park Moon-dae’ while selecting the ones I wanted to sell.

“How about boarding school?”

[great! The people were kind… and they taught me well about studying so I had a really good time. The rice is delicious too…!]

I see. I turned off the app after selling and buying stocks a few times.

‘At this level if you just study without thinking you won’t have any money problems.’

And the moment I went out to the living room while listening to Gong Myung talking about his daily routine for the past year I saw something very impressive.

“…”

Flower head.

The ‘May Groom’ doll the hologram character I made when I appeared on ‘The Singer I Made’ is sitting in the exact center of the sofa.

‘What is it?’

It seems like he watched his body perform with great interest.

“Not this either.”

[My brother sings really well… I thought it would be nice to get one as a souvenir…]

I am the one who sets a cost for relieving stress every month. So it doesn't matter if you like it…

Feeling a bit nervous I put the doll aside and sat down on the sofa.

And Gong Myung carefully brought out the main topic that he seemed to have been waiting for.

[After the second results come out… Would it be okay if I went to see you at Testa's year-end concert? I couldn't go early this year because I was studying…]

It seems like it's a phrase I've been preparing since yesterday.

I chuckled.

"What are you getting permission for? "If you think it's okay to go you can go."

[…! yes! thank you!]

There is nothing to be thankful for. Of course going to a male idol concert with my own body is a somewhat conspicuous act… Wait a minute.

"That's a fan signing event."

[…??]

"…You said you went yesterday."

[yes!]

I looked again at the bromide with the VTIC sign on it.

There are quite a few non-fans who come to the advertising model signing event not the fan signing event attached to the album… but I think it still stands out.

[He was very kind.]

It’s more ominous.

Just in case I logged onto WeTube and entered a search term.

If you combine today’s date activity name and clothing brand name… a fan signing fancam video will appear.

As I scroll down through the comments I see the content I was concerned about.

-22:34 A young girl responding to a male fan is so funny hahahaha

“…”

When I clicked on the time the shadowy back of ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ receiving an autograph was half captured.

The resonance sounds like a scream.

[Ugh! I didn’t know this came up like this…]

I captured it and color corrected it.

[brother?]

He was wearing a hat. I think he was probably also wearing glasses…

Isn’t this the same as Ryu Geon-woo’s facial expression that I told him about?

‘Damn it.’

Just in case I checked again the bromide that this guy signed.

Recipient’s name.

‘No way it’s Ryu Geon-woo…

-To. Big Moon

“…”

Big moon?

[It’s a nickname I used before… I feel sorry for using my brother’s name.]

This is excellent judgment.

‘after’

I quickly removed the smiling and signing sign from the screen.

“Avoid this guy from now on.”

[Cheongryeo?]

“okay. “Because he’s crazy.”

[Ugh.]

I gave him a hint to find Ryu Geon-woo’s whereabouts but now I don’t know his whereabouts so even the number and address don’t matter.

There is no need to increase the variables by having to meet this unpredictable and dangerous bastard.

‘Now that I think about it the reason his whereabouts were unknown was because I put him in a boarding school.’

It finally makes sense now. I rubbed my chin.

‘Then when I finish this and go back I’ll contact this guy… ’

no. I think I’m misunderstanding something now.

'…How do I know that will happen?'

I don't know what will happen when this damn status condition is over.

In the worst case scenario this guy may disappear after receiving the reward.

And even if you were to remain in this body… wouldn't you want to return to your own body?

Look at the autograph he received using his former nickname.

"…"

[I thought you were close to Cheongryeo but I never thought you were a strange person… Huh?]

"I'm not familiar with it. It's for broadcast."

[ah…]

I need to… think about this.

I was glad I had time today. I can turn my brain to my heart's content.

I started preparing the meal by coming up with a few hypotheses and fallback plans.

After that there was nothing particularly urgent or necessary to deal with.

[You're also good at cooking…]

"Oh thank you."

Since we shared the same feeling it was convenient to only have one serving.

A variety show I appeared in with Sun Ah-hyun was airing on TV during prime time in the evening. Solving problems while away from the Joseon Dynasty.

‘Was this the time when industrial spies within the company were uncovered?’

I lived really hard. I looked at my smug self unimpressed.

[Entertainment is good but I think standing on stage is even better. ‘Training’ was really cool…! I hope you make a comeback soon…]

I may have raised my stats openly but would you say that to your own face…?

But a compliment is a compliment and it doesn’t make you feel bad. I answered lightly.

“The comeback is on the 14th of next month.”

[omg…!]

“Don’t go around talking.”

[yes! I have no one to talk to!! Even at school no one talks about idols!]

Say the obvious.

The resonance excitedly shook with unknown waves but soon seemed to have calmed down and began to hum softly.

It was a bit cautious.

[That brother. I always get help like this… Is there anything I can do to help? Just like you called the police station last time. If there is anything you need to do I will do it!]

What should I do?

Well now that I think about it Cheongnyeo is going to try to kill me next month.

I thought for a moment but then shook my head.

We have handled that well enough. I can't ask someone who has to worry about my condition to do anything more.

"There's nothing more. "Just study hard."

[yes…]

I feel downcast. Me indeed.

And as midnight approached it got worse. The resonance sounds almost unsettling.

'Even if you don't say anything I guess it must have been difficult spending a year alone.'

It was understandable because there was no one to tell the whole situation to. Maybe you need something to do or think about other than studying.

So when I was about to go to bed I brought up a new topic.

"Is there anything else you want to say to me?"

[Me?]

okay.

The resonance seemed to be hesitant but soon it rang again softly.

[Then bro… what did you think when you saw my nickname?]

"nickname?"

Big moon. I know it's a nickname derived from his real name 'Mundae' but it's not a very unique word. It actually seems familiar…

[Well… I have that account that my older brother used to run. I often left comments there.]

ah.

"Was that you?"

[…! Do you remember?]

"okay. "You always left something behind."

[yes…!!]

Come to think of it that was the nickname of this guy I saw in the first 'Truth Check'.

Actually I didn't read the comments that much but I remember seeing them almost as soon as I posted them.

That's how it was matched.

'Have you been interested in idol performances since then?'

I shrugged my shoulders when I realized that the printed face was unique.

"If you're interested in that field I think you could buy a camera and take some pictures."

[…Is that so?]

"Of course once this test is over."

[Of course! Still… wow.]

As if feeling better the resonance resonates more comfortably.

And the time was almost up.

“okay. Then think about it. “See you next year.”

[yes…]

Sleep slowly came to me. It was quite peaceful.

* * *

[brother?… brother?]

I opened my eyes.

It’s the same morning as last time. The temperature seems to be similar so maybe next September…

[You’re Geonwoo right?? brother!!]

“okay.”

This guy seems to be panicking. Did you call because there was a problem?

I got up right away. But first the resonance rang incessantly.

…I feel like I’m sobbing.

[Brother brother car accident…]

ah.

‘Fuck you.’

I immediately opened my smartphone.

-June 22nd

Four days after the debut anniversary.

That was when I fell into a coma because of my crazy ex-manager.

Chapter 317

Four days after the accident the media would have been talking about how there was no sign of me waking up.

I opened my mouth right away.

“are you okay. “Recover everything.”

[The news said that the Lord was dying…]

“I won’t die.”

I don’t know what kind of crazy person used that word to describe coma but I want to sue.

[You’re not really dead right…? You didn’t come to help me now that you’re dead right?]

“I said no.”

What do you mean you went up to catch the grand prize?

‘You disappeared not me.’

Hearing this from someone who doesn’t know what will happen once this ‘reward receipt’ is over it’s a bit… disturbing.

I said while holding back a sigh.

“sorry. I should have told you in advance but I didn’t think of it. “I woke up fine and was active.”

[…]

I didn't think there was any particular problem that needed to be reported as I was able to overcome obstacles every time I got in the way. Because this thing will be resolved without him having to do anything.

However if you don't know how it's handled it's worth worrying about.

That too… It would have been even worse if I had lost someone close to me in an accident.

'I was complacent.'

I sat down on the bed and spoke calmly.

"You received a new status ailment and wanted to check if I was coming right?"

It was still June. I was planning to take some more time and then receive a new status ailment but I think I processed it now to make sure it appears properly.

'Actually it's easier to hold out for four days.'

As I kept hearing about it on the news I was so anxious that I couldn't help but check it out.

Gongmyeong seems to calm down but then trembles again.

[I'm sorry. I was planning to press it in September but I…]

"No you did well."

Even if you think about it efficiently it was a situation worth checking. Suddenly the guide almost disappeared.

'It's much better than taking the exam in this condition and failing.'

I got up and sighed in relief.

“I handled it well so don’t worry about it. Since it is a month before the exam we can give you another past exam which is actually advantageous.”

[yes…]

The resonance subsided as if greatly relieved. It’s true that I was in a state of panic.

“It was hard. “For four days.”

Gongmyeong shook as if sobbing.

I checked my physical condition just in case and realized that my stomach was almost sore.

“Have you not even eaten?”

[…There are people who keep talking about their older brother while eating… sometimes.]

They say they don’t talk about idols but they talk about idol accidents. Are other people’s disasters interesting?

Anyway it was painful to hear stories of people I knew dying while I was eating. I clicked my tongue inwardly.

“But from next time make sure to eat.”

[yes…]

Gongmyeong was sobbing. I don’t think I’ll be able to speak properly because I’m too nervous so I’ll try to figure out the situation myself.

‘First of all… today is Monday.’

Since this year’s exams are just around the corner I thought it would be an academy from the weekend but it turned out to be an officetel.

‘I guess they took it out on purpose to coincide with my return.’

Looking at the schedule on the smartphone screen it seems like I attended boarding school regularly.

I next accessed the internet.

[Testar Park Moon-dae has been unconscious for four days… What does the agency’s statement ‘in recovery’ mean?]

It was an article that appeared on the social media page and drew criticism like ‘Why is the title like this?’ I read through the comments.

Perhaps because of the perception that it has become ‘really serious’ after four days a lot of aggro has disappeared and most of them are fans.

Worry panic despair nervousness…

“…”

In fact at the time I watched it after everything was finished so it was my first time seeing it raw to this extent but seeing it in person was confusing. I’m going to be unconscious for the next 18 days.

But on one hand… it’s ridiculous to be a little happy.

‘…don’t think about useless things.’

I sighed and took down the news screen. Everyone else must have come to their senses and be hospitalized by now.

‘I heard that most of them ended up being minor injuries so there were no major problems… ’

In fact when she woke up the only one who was recovering from major visible injuries was Cha Yu-jin. The rest were just protective gear at best.

‘Hmm then the company might cut me off and make a new plan.’

Now that I see it I’m a little puzzled.

I think there must have been a gesture from the company when it had been more than two weeks since I couldn’t wake up.

Even if we assume that the subsidiary refrained from doing so due to manager issues the headquarters T1 are the ones who will get away with it.

‘…Now that I think about it.’

Suddenly I remember what Sun Ah-hyun said before.

-Sejin worked very hard when there was a school car accident…

-I told the company… I kept coming to the hospital and talking about the surgery… I worked really hard! I can’t even eat well…

“…”

After thinking about it for a while I created a new anonymous email. And I put my agency’s email format in ‘Recipient’.

However it is not a representative address.

I wrote down the email address of the ‘Management Office Manager’ directly.

And the title.

-It is said that a plan to enforce testa activities in the fourth quarter is scheduled to be announced.

I am writing about what kind of external backlash there will be if the six-person system is pushed forward as if it were an internal complaint disguised as anonymity.

‘This works when you’re in the middle of a factional fight with the head of the headquarters.’

In this case even if the head of the division talks to the head office and brings up this plan the management director will quickly object. Because you already know your weaknesses. Then things won’t proceed properly because the two of you will be biting each other…

‘…there will be less for members to consider.’

Big Sejin.

At this point this guy was the only one in the group who could properly communicate with the company but imagine if the company even came up with a proposal like X.

I didn’t know what would happen to this guy’s head due to extreme stress.

‘Still it seems like I did a good job of staying strong until I woke up.’

Well it would be nice if some effort like this had an impact. I clicked send email.

I felt a little lighter.

Only then does the resonance sound faintly again.

[Can I ask where you are sending that brother…?]

“Oh to the company…”

for a moment.

One more thing came to mind after talking to this guy.

-Actually the article was about to be published last year but the company blocked it.

This guy's parents' plane accident.

I was told that the company prevented the article from almost breaking out around the time I was discharged from the hospital but I doubt that these bastards did a good job of preventing it in this crazy situation.

"…Park Moon-dae."

[yes!]

"Just one thing… I'd like to ask for your understanding."

I explained the situation to this guy.

If you're not careful the media may be the victim of your family affairs.

The fact that it has already been revealed to the public is enough to be annoying but I can't pass this up.

So I planned to raise awareness by sending an email to the agency in advance like a reporter who wants an 'exclusive' title.

…It's not a method I like but it's the most effective because of time and space constraints.

"So I have to write something in the email first and I'm sorry if it's inconvenient to see."

[No… I'm really fine…?]

"…? okay?"

[yes.]

The resonance rang out loudly.

[Actually I don't think he looks like me at all… He looks very different… I just don't know how to say that… It's like watching my real brother appear on TV.]

"…Well I get it."

[It may be just my opinion but maybe that's why I feel a sense of familiarity with it…]

"Thank you for that."

The resonance sounded as if he was laughing without realizing it.

"You wake up on July 6th so don't just watch the news until then."

[yes!]

"The donation concert is held after the second exam."

[yes…]

And one more thing was emphasized.

After passing the second round there is still a third test an interview and the next status abnormality will definitely be the third round.

So here's what to do.

"First go through the interview and only when you feel like you've definitely passed the test should you receive the next status ailment right away."

If you receive a status abnormality you only have one chance to clear it.

Since I've never done anything similar to an interview in my life I can't not think about the possibility of being rejected.

[I will definitely do that!]

But deep down I thought that this guy might catch on at once.

And when I open my eyes again in the morning.

[…brother.]

“okay.”

It wasn’t until the following spring that I realized I had woken up.

This guy failed the interview.

* * *

‘Park Moon-dae’ was eliminated in the third round.

Of course it wasn’t because I was particularly bad at the interview.

[I’m sorry my score is below 1 multiple and I failed the interview so much…]

In the first place the score was somewhat different in the 1.5 multiple selection.

“good job. If you make it to the second round you’re almost there. “You just have to suffer one more year.”

If it sticks this year that’s it. But the resonance stirred uneasily.

[Um… what if I don’t make it this year?]

He seemed to get scared after slipping from his target once.

But there is no need for that.

“No you can stick. “I’m not saying this to encourage you I’m sincere.”

I was so sick of the questions that I failed the interview because I tried to beat the interviewer. This guy just needs to raise his score a little.

And you will be able to raise it.

“You raised your score to the passing level in two years but honestly that’s ridiculous.”

[Ugh.]

“And if you work hard for the first three years at this level your score is bound to increase to some extent.”

I spoke without hesitation.

“So if you are already qualified you will most likely pass if you work hard for a few more months.”

[…yes!]

The responding resonance returned with strength.

‘good.’

My motivation is back. I nodded and then started my day.

Now I have to run to my death for the last opportunity to take the test so I spent this time cooperating with this guy to rest as much as possible.

By taking a break from doing what you want to do and answering what you are curious about.

For example something like this.

[Hyung what about the next comeback…]

“July 12th. So don’t look any further and just listen to the song on the day.”

[yes!]

I realized as I answered. The song making a comeback on July 12th is the most recent song ‘Promise’.

In other words it was the year I returned.

‘You’ve caught up a lot.’

I haven’t found out anything specific about the system.

‘This guy himself doesn’t seem to know anything about it.’

I crossed my arms.

Still if you look at it one by one the ‘Conversation with Park Moon-dae’ itself was well done. I think I’ve become closer to this guy than I thought.

Moreover it seems that ‘Park Moon-dae’ will end the status abnormality more successfully than first expected.

‘It’s strangely rewarding.’

Well I’m seeing some gains.

[Hyung what is that?]

“I have something to take care of.”

This is because I remembered the ‘well-timed’ expose that sent away the person who bothered me the most during this time.

Chae Seo-dam’s secret dating account.

Of course I didn’t do anything special. I’m a civil service exam student so I shouldn’t get sued.

I just… posted this on an anonymous site.

_____

[Chaeseodam Kkadle seems to be working on rumors]

This account ID creation method is very similar to the previous Chaeseodam account but it was created recently.

I wonder why you want to curse this much

_____

The post about Chae Seo-dam's private dating account was described as 'an account deliberately created by antis.'

If this happens those who want to claim that it is real will stick to it… Well then as I saw there may even be hacking bastards.

It's just a possibility. Well… I did see the results.

'If this wasn't really me I could have used it as a way to silence the anti.'

Unfortunately it was true that Chae Seo-dam herself was careless.

After seeing the number of comments increase I waited 5 minutes and deleted the post.

'It's neat.'

[Hyung… did you help frame that person?]

"It's the opposite."

[…??]

I didn't bother to explain in detail to Gongmyeong who was sounding blankly. Study hard.

After that I spent my time resting as planned and the day passed quickly.

Gong Myung hummed gloomily.

[It's already 11 o'clock…]

"okay."

In other words it is time for a decisive battle.

If my hypothesis and calculations are correct this is the section where the fifth and final status abnormality must be cleared.

Although I didn't explain it in detail he believed me when I said that his 'condition abnormality' would end with this guy passing the test itself.

However I was curious about what happened after that.

This is because I asked this now just before the day ends.

[Hyung when this is all over… what happens?]

It was something I was already concerned about but for now I answered in a casual manner. There's no need to make me anxious.

"For me nothing happened just the condition disappeared and that was the end."

[is it so?]

"okay. Well… even if it isn't he won't die suddenly anymore."

The resonance shook like a laugh.

[I guess so!]

okay.

And just in case even if I were to immediately go back to the time period where I had first impressions I have prepared an alternative.

“Then take care and see you in half a year.”

[yes!!]

“If I don’t come in call me in December using the number I gave you.”

Gongmyeong shook with tension and anticipation. It seemed like a positive sign.

‘You can control it either way.’

As long as this guy passes.

So I went to sleep considering the various possible outcomes.

* * *

When I opened my eyes again I realized that I was lying in the officetel bed again.

“…”

Also it is Ryu Geon-woo’s body. Nothing particularly changes.

And looking at the season outside the window… it’s late fall.

This is the season when the 7th grade passing results will be announced. I knew it right away.

‘It’s stuck.’

The fact that I came back at this time

That's it. I smiled and got up. And called.

"Park Mun-dae."

Well done.

But no answer came back.

"…Ryu Geon-woo?"

No resonance was heard.

There was no trace of the strange vibration that was ringing somewhere inside.

"…"

What is this… situation?

I waited a moment more. I was wondering if this guy was playing a prank to celebrate his passing.

But the surroundings were quiet for over 5 minutes.

I was the only one in the officetel.

I swallowed.

"…Status window."

[Receiving compensation.]

It means it's not over yet. I was still receiving the reward for 'Conversation with Moon-Dae Park'.

So… it's definitely not the worst case scenario I was considering.

‘But why did the person I was talking to disappear?’

What is the situation?

I suppressed a curse and immediately got up from the bed. First of all I planned to find out and deduce something through clues around me.

It was then.

Jiyiing.

A phone call came in. It’s the smartphone that was next to the bed.

‘Number not saved’

I received it right away. With the intention of ripping out information to combine something.

Then a voice was immediately heard from the smartphone.

It was just a voice I knew.

-I found it.

…Cheongnyeo.

Chapter 318

The sound on the other end of the phone changes tone and rings softly.

-hello. It's our sphere right?

Even if I listen to it again the clear voice is still true. It gives me goosebumps.

'Why is this bastard coming out here?'

Even the phone numbers are different. What kind of situation is this? In the meantime what is Gumyeon talking about?

-I said hello to the new person moving into the dormitory. Are you Geon-woo?

"…?"

-I found something you left in your room. I'm going to send it by courier. Can you tell me the address? The academy only gave me my phone number as personal information.

"…"

Is this voice phishing?

I was dumbfounded for a moment and kept my mouth shut then briefly pondered the possibility that it was really someone else.

And he gave the correct answer.

"The delivery is okay and I will stop by today to pick it up. thank you."

-okay. All right.

It goes away surprisingly easily. No it's really another person with a similar voice…

-It's a weekday so I have to attend lectures during the day… Shall I meet you in front of the academy at 9 PM?

That can't be possible.

I couldn't hold back and opened my mouth.

"Just do it."

-What are you talking about?

"Take action Shin Jaehyun."

-…!

Keeping the last possibility in mind I didn't call him by his stage name but looking at his reaction I think it was him.

There was a short silence on the other end of the phone but soon a laughing voice was heard.

-You are my junior.

"…!"

-Hmm… Looking at your reaction it seems like you know me but why are you using two bodies?

I'm more annoyed because I'm quick to notice. Anyway I wonder if this is enough to immediately reason out this extraordinary situation… First a question.

"How did you find this contact information?"

-You came to the VTIC signing event.

“You must have done thousands of autograph signings so don’t make ridiculous excuses.”

Even if it was an advertising model autograph session it probably didn’t happen once or twice so how could they identify the person who received the autograph more than a year ago without even mentioning their name?

But his voice was calm.

-Well it was quite impressive. Moreover it is not common for people to change their name twice and make it into a nickname.

“what?”

He remembered and explained the situation at the time quite specifically.

The phrase is automatically reconstructed and played in a resonant tone in your head.

‘Park Moon… no Ryu Geon-woo… I’m sorry. Just ask for a big moon!’

-I told you both names of my juniors-

Isn’t it weirder what you don’t know? When I heard about impressions from my junior it immediately came to mind.

“…”

-I thought you told me this on purpose… but I guess it wasn’t?

Damn this…

I endured the double insults and endured my anger in silence. This is because I knew that swearing at ‘Park Moon-dae’ who knew nothing would be meaningless.

Since he is fundamentally not here in the first place he ends up coming back to the same question.

‘Where on earth did this guy go?’

Still I have to tell you one thing.

“That’s not me.”

-It was a big month to even have a nickname but that excuse is funny.

“I said no.”

I pressed my throbbing head.

“That’s because it’s really Park Mundae. “Not me.”

Cheongnyeo on the other end of the phone paused for a while before opening her mouth.

-I think we need a detailed conversation.

* * *

An hour and a half later.

I came face to face with a guy with a dog at a residential cafe on the outskirts of Seoul.

The place and place where I met him last time is the same and the dog is also with him so it is an extremely similar situation.

‘Are you going to test it one more time to see if it’s you?’

You keep rolling your head persistently. I said sitting across from him.

“Do you come here often?”

“Sometimes when I have time.”

Cheongryeo patted the dog with the ball in its mouth and shrugged. There is no sign of suspicion.

I held back a sigh.

I feel a bit skeptical about having to deal alone with this bastard again… but these are the brain cells of a guy who has experienced special situations. It’s better than nothing.

Meanwhile he looked at me and nodded.

“What can I say… the appearance matches my personality?”

It seems like I’m swearing but I don’t have the time or resources to get angry about it so I’ll skip it.

I nodded and he changed the question.

“And it’s fascinating is it possible to live by changing bodies? To say that I think I was always a junior when I was promoting as a junior.”

“I really want to ask you since when you became interested in voice phishing.”

“I’m talking too much. “Voice phishing… I’ve never lied.”

Cheongryeo put something on the table.

“They left this behind.”

“…!”

It was… a compact camera. A new product that has not yet been unpacked.

And the advice I gave to ‘Park Moon-dae’ comes to mind.

-If you're interested I think you can buy a camera and take some pictures. Of course once this test is over.

'Did you buy it for motivation?'

I sighed feeling confused about what to say. Cheongryeo grinned.

"I just kept track of eyewitness accounts and found out that a boarding school came out and used someone. "There is no fraud."

"And why do you have to make the phone call yourself?"

"sure. "In the first place you can't borrow someone else's help for something that's crucial."

It was a cautious cub.

Even when I think about the process I took to get here my evaluation does not change.

Look what this guy said as soon as we agreed to meet.

-great. If I send a car to the officetel would you like to come for a ride?

I was about to agree without thinking but then I realized what he meant.

-… I already knew the address.

-haha. Procedures are important in human relationships.

As someone who has played the same game over and over again I knew how to use my cards well.

So I'm not very happy about telling you what cards I have but… it would be more beneficial in this situation.

I decided to give him slightly more credit for his cooperation during the incident with Gold 2.

“Listen.”

I leaned back.

“I was able to see the mission in print.”

“For me the word ‘condition abnormality’ appeared right before my eyes. Like a game window.”

There was silence.

Cheongryeo lowered his head to the side and immediately responded casually.

“is it so?”

It doesn’t seem that surprising. I clicked my tongue.

“Is it obvious?”

“It was a bit like that but it’s something that’s understandable even if you think about balance.”

“balance?”

“look. Instead of allowing you to restart the mission… it adds a ‘status abnormality’. “If you give one another comes as a penalty.”

Cheongryeo slowly drew a line on the table with her finger.

“Youngjae both your body and your job have changed right? That’s a big penalty. “It wouldn’t be awkward if help was given instead.”

“…”

You can see it from that perspective too.

Cheongryeo continued to ask as if she was truly curious.

“Hmm… I graduated from a prestigious university so wasn’t it a waste to give up my foundation?”

“I was a civil service exam student so what?”

“haha.”

Cheongryeo asked ominously softly.

“Did you also infer from that advice that everything is over when you die?”

“…okay.”

“Hmm should that be considered a penalty too?”

If this continues even the level-up system will be robbed. I held back a sigh.

Now that we’ve come to this I need to check what I wanted to experiment with before getting into the main topic.

“First… just follow along.”

“hmm?”

“…Shout ‘status window’.”

The guy stared at me with a rare expression on his face.

And then I burst into laughter.

“Hahahaha!”

Don’t laugh fuck.

When I speak directly in front of others I feel like my tongue is curled up. I took off my glasses and pressed them between my eyebrows.

“It seems like you have a lot of imagination junior.”

“shut up.”

“No I tried it too.”

Cheongryeo leaned forward.

“I tried all kinds of content and superstitions. “Logout and Komani… um I guess that was the 9th or 10th time.”

“…”

“How many times do you think I’ve done that? “Nothing works.”

Cheongryeo laughed heartily.

“nothing.”

“…”

“So… well shall we shout out the status window again?”

“That’s it.”

I pressed my eyes. And after hesitating I finally spit out the following words.

“You had a hard time.”

“…”

It was useless.

‘…Has it become a habit to have ‘Park Moon-dae’ study?’

If this bastard says ‘Would you please give it to me in song not words?’ Someone who would say the same thing…

“…thank you.”

“…”

“Junior can I now hear an explanation of your current condition?”

“okay.”

I finally got to the point ignoring the dog sitting at my feet.

After the ‘status abnormality’ was over I received a mission of my own and told the story of what had happened so far omitting the details.

The guy’s eyes narrowed slightly when he heard ‘I received the mission on my own’ but his appreciation for the explanation still came out.

It wasn’t very useful though.

“It’s strange.”

“what.”

There are more than one or two strange things. Do you understand why I said that?

Cheongryeo tapped her fingers on the table.

“look. “Whether it was my junior or I when we started again the time before was like nothing else.”

“okay.”

“But this time the two exist together in the same timeline and influence each other. “It’s a completely different type.”

“What do you mean?”

“I wonder if another force was at work. “It seems like a time paradox occurred in the process and that’s interesting.”

Whether this guy is interesting or not isn’t something that can be decided right away; what matters is the outcome of this situation.

“Anyway when I woke up in this body after the condition that caused the test was over ‘Park Moon-dae’ disappeared.”

“Oh you entered that body?”

“okay.”

I need to get at least a hint as to what the hell this is.

“I’d like to ask if anyone has ever suddenly disappeared during a restart.”

“no. “It was always the same.”

The guy responded as if there was nothing to consider.

And he responded with a face that said he didn’t understand.

“But… is that really that important?”

what?

“From what I heard it seems like your junior will go back to normal after today. “Wouldn’t it come back to its body on its own after that?”

“Maybe not.”

“I think it would be more comfortable if not but are you worried that your original body will disappear?”

“now…”

What is this crazy guy talking about?

“It saved me the time to worry about unnecessary ethics. Think about it carefully. Junior what if… ‘Big Moon’ comes out to ask you to return to your original body?”

“…”

I swallowed the cold coffee and put the cup on the table.

“If you want you should think about it.”

“There’s no way right?”

“There’s something worth trying.”

I have no intention of telling this guy but I have something in mind.

‘Mission.’

You can also receive the mission… ‘Change Body’ as a reward.

“And since Park Moon-dae is his own person he has rights.”

Isn’t it true if you only consider authority regardless of whether I do this or not?

But the guy sitting across the table… was annoyed.

“I think you’re misunderstanding something.”

“…!”

“Everything that Park Moon Dae has was achieved by our juniors. “Regardless of whether it’s your body or not what’s in your head is your mind and you created it.”

“…”

“But what are you planning to give it to? “It’s right to think of a way to avoid being involved more effectively…”

“It’s not about making plans it’s about options…”

“Why leave those options open?”

“…”

“Listen. “I will tell you about my junior’s actions so far.”

Cheongryeo’s fingers began tapping on the table again.

“He saved the life of someone who wasn’t there before helped them study and made a plan to keep them alive until now. “Well I think I’ve done enough morally.”

“…”

“I’m not trying to kill you. “I just thought it would be okay to leave it like this.”

Cheongryeo made eye contact.

“Isn’t that right?”

I clenched my fists.

Chapter 319

Let's leave 'Park Moon-dae' alone?

So… whether he disappears like this I'll just go back to the time when I was riding the target and continue living as a tester.

Now that you know the principles of the system there is no need to talk further with Park Moon-dae. Because it seemed like I didn't know anything.

At this point I've done enough so I'll stop worrying about it and completely take control of the idol life I've been developing for several years.

I won't deny it.

Apart from being ruthless it did sound plausible. Because I have come to acknowledge that the life I lived in that body is also mine.

'but… '

I took a deep breath and relaxed my fists.

"I don't think so."

"…"

Cheongryeo stopped tapping her fingers on the table.

"Of course what I experienced as Park Moon-dae was my own experience. "Because I did it."

"is it so. then…"

“But the body is separate.”

I leaned back.

“Just because I’ve used it for a few years doesn’t mean it’s unconditionally considered mine. “Park Moon-dae’s entire growth background is something he experienced.”

“…”

“I happened to get quite a bit of help there.”

If ‘Park Moon-dae’ hadn’t lived uprightly it would have been difficult for him to win first place so dramatically. And even after debuting it would soon become a thing of the past.

Cheongryeo stared at me.

“Have you ever thought that you would have succeeded faster if you had done it with your body?”

“I haven’t tried it so I can’t guarantee it. And in the first place this is an issue that has nothing to do with achievement.”

I chuckled.

“Park Moon-dae has the right to live in Park Moon-dae’s body. “Don’t blur the topic.”

“…”

The guy continued to look in this direction without saying a word and then quietly opened his mouth.

“So you’re willing to give up your junior career if that’s what you want?”

“I never said I would give up.”

“then.”

I crossed my arms.

“We need to reach an agreement.”

Now that his status abnormality is over I plan to listen to what he wants and coordinate it.

It’s not like I can’t do that again.

“I’m not going to just wipe my mouth and turn away.”

“I don’t understand. “There’s no need to consider it that much.”

I shrugged.

“Well… I guess I felt some affection.”

After sharing for several days in a row how ‘Park Moon-dae’ has been doing over the past few years I realized that I am also human.

‘It’s kind of funny that you think you’re going to respect the doctor rather than how to make this guy give up.’

At that moment the guy sitting across from me withdrew his hand from the table without an expression.

“I feel affectionate.”

“okay.”

“I didn’t know it would have the same weight as your accomplishments.”

I put my glasses back on.

“I keep trying to weigh things that may not be either/or… Try changing the words to ‘four’ and ‘career’.”

“…”

“Isn’t it easier to live now that you have both than when you gave up one for career reasons?”

Just in time the dog under the table barked. Cheongryeo reflexively lowered his hand.

I saw the dog rubbing the tip of his nose.

“I will try to handle the situation with the goal of getting both of them to be okay.”

“…”

Cheongryeo closed her mouth with a mysterious expression. It felt like something was going on in my head whether it was a calculation or a thought.

‘That’s surprising.’

I thought this bastard was going to encourage me and weed out my competitors because he was thinking well.

‘The way of thinking is excessive but I gave honest advice.’

I eventually added briefly.

“Anyway… I’m thankful that Testa Park Mun-dae recognized me as me.”

“…”

It wasn’t a bad feeling that the first evaluation I got after hearing all this shit was approval.

The guy paused for a moment and then smiled bitterly.

“is it so. Well if that’s the case.”

No I will cancel. Well I’m a little upset that they gave me such great permission.

Cheongnyeo took her hand away from her dog.

“It’s a shame. “I was willing to help just in case.”

This bastard can’t possibly be saying that he was trying to help bury Park Moon-dae’s body.

‘What a waste of a first-team idol career.’

I changed the topic to wake him up from his pointless obsession.

“Then why don’t you give me a phone call tomorrow?”

“tomorrow?”

“After today I think I need to check who is in this body.”

“hmm.”

“Don’t do anything unnecessary.”

To prevent any unexpected situation I planned to leave a note to Park Moon-dae telling him to listen carefully to the voice coming on this phone remember it and skip it in the future.

Cheongryeo shrugged his shoulders.

“great. “I will contact you through other bodies as well so please wait.”

“There’s no need for that…”

for a moment.

I remembered the phone call I received from this guy out of the blue one day in November.

-Um… I was wondering if you had anything to say to me.

And next words.

-Not yet.

"…"

I looked back on my memory and guessed the date and found that today was the day before.

'I see.'

Now I understand. This guy contacted me knowing about this situation at the time.

'But you didn't mention it even once and just wiped your mouth until you got rid of it.'

Is it helpful or not?

Anyway this is an unpredictable bastard. I clicked my tongue and stood up.

"A store?"

"okay."

Since I'm done talking and there's no case in particular I thought I'd look for more traces of Park Moon-dae at least physically.

"Well bye. "I'll contact you tomorrow."

It felt a bit strange that I had already received that call.

“okay.”

After finishing the conversation with Cheongryeo I returned to the officetel.

Upon arrival we immediately began a search.

‘Isn’t there something?’

There were no traces.

Perhaps because I was stuck in a boarding school I didn’t feel like living in an officetel. However there was only one bedroom filled with hobby items.

Testa’s albums and MDs.

It was stored well in various drawers that I didn’t even have time to open because I was always chatting with him.

‘Did you come to the concert again?’

I even visited the MD of the world tour held earlier this year.

“It looks like you had a good time.”

I laughed and put them away. Still it wasn’t a bad feeling to have been able to relieve the stress of my exam life.

But the situation still remained the same.

The whereabouts of ‘Park Moon-dae’ are still unknown and the only thing that can be confirmed is the notation on the calendar on the smartphone.

-The day I meet my brother!

“…”

Other than that there is no special schedule and no logged in social media accounts. Other than looking up Testa I think I really just studied.

I tried a few times to see if I could see the status window but nothing popped up. It's just that I'm 'receiving compensation'.

"after."

That's all for now.

Finally near midnight I sat down on the sofa and started scribbling down a note.

-When I came in you weren't there so I'm leaving this in writing. First of all congratulations on passing and thank you for your hard work.

…

Since I have set up a recording for Cheongnyeo's phone call I once again summarized everything from just familiarizing myself with his voice before meeting him or not sharing any additional information to how he would contact me in December.

And soon… it was midnight.

Dang-.

I am lying on the sofa.

A small bell is heard in the corner.

'You changed the clock.'

After a brief thought like 'I think that was a concert MD' unconditional sleep comes over me again.

Soon my feelings and thoughts disappeared. As always during these few days.

Dang-.

But the bell rings.

‘for a moment’

And what I am doing is perception and thinking.

‘It’s coming back.’

I don’t know what it was but it felt like I was trying to fall into a complete sleep and was interrupted…

“brother!”

“…!”

I got up.

I was still inside the officetel. But there was one thing that was unfamiliar.

“It’s really nice to meet you bro…!”

There was a strange-looking boy sitting on the floor in front of the sofa where I was lying.

It looks strangely like me but it’s not exactly the same…

“Park Mun-dae.”

When his name was called he smiled awkwardly.

“Yes… I’m not sure if I can be called by that name.”

I could guess why he said that. That guy looked like a mix of Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae’s mold fixed in his early 20s.

‘Could it be that you received that in a new body?’

Maybe it’s because I’m sleeping but I’m getting a headache. I pressed my temples and got up from the sofa.

“But that’s your name.”

“Well… you use that name too. “I also used my brother’s name… Oh then please call me ‘Big Moon’ first!”

It seems like a title that would come out of a game magazine but feel free to use it as you wish. I nodded and got straight to the point.

“What happened now?”

Even though it was an unexpected incident they seemed strangely calm.

The guy in front of me looked towards the veranda blinds with a slightly nervous look on his face.

And I operated the button.

“Oh first… please look at this.”

Weeing.

The blinds open and what you see is…

“…!”

The sun was setting outside the window.

However it is not a typical color. The feeling of golden purple and red sunlight colliding and the sound of a music box being heard somewhere.

It was something I knew.

“It’s a scene from the teaser for ‘Magical Boy’ and I think both my brother and I were very impressed. “This was implemented.”

“…avatar?”

“yes.”

The guy laughed awkwardly.

“Um… this is an imaginary world.”

“…!”

“So it’s not real it’s something that only happens in our heads…”

“You know what it is so stop.”

“yes.”

You can understand it as a state similar to the daydream I had when I was in that coma.

And then I realized why that guy was acting like that. I guess my self-awareness was mixed while living as ‘Ryu Geon-woo’.

‘You’ve had all sorts of experiences.’

I held back a sigh.

The guy laughed awkwardly.

“You really know everything…”

It’s okay to say that because there are so many things I don’t know that I feel like I’ll turn around.

“It can’t be. “I think you’re more familiar with this situation than that.”

“…”

“By any chance… were you still here yesterday?”

Originally Park Moon-dae’s ‘big moon’ sat carefully on the floor. And he answered seriously.

“yes.”

also.

“And it wasn’t just yesterday.”

“what?”

“Brother I… I have been pressing ‘Accept Synchronization’ while resolving the status issue.”

I remember. It used to make people feel uncomfortable by always showing ‘cumulative completion’.

“It turned out that it was synchronized with the time I spent with my brother.”

“With me?”

“yes.”

“I don’t remember anything like that.”

“It looked different.”

Big Moon rubbed his palms on his thighs with a nervous face. And he said quietly.

Blunt an unexpected topic.

“Brother I want to apologize first.”

“It’s actually my fault that your brother had such a hard time.”

“…”

“I… I had a strange idea when my brother was in a coma.”

He slowly began to explain the situation at the time.

“My brother said he might never wake up again. So I… I cleaned out my brother’s house. “I knew then.”

As he said those words the thoughts he experienced at the time began to appear in my head like a direct resonance.

-this…

The camera I used.

And I didn’t bother to delete it from there.

Among the data there was some that I uploaded to the ‘gun1234’ account.

And this guy who was organizing the house seemed to recognize it right away.

That mental blow was very decisive.

-Oh what should I do…

“At that time… I guess I was so heartbroken. My brother helped me from then until now but I felt like there was nothing I could do to help him and he was going to pass away soon…”

“…”

“So as I was going back after packing up my things I accidentally leaned against the railing of the outer stairs while holding the trash. Without thinking…”

Since it was a cheap one-room building I thought the railings looked dangerous when I came out to smoke.

“But the railing couldn’t bear the weight and collapsed…”

And it happened that it was destroyed when this guy was at his most frantic.

-ping!

With the worst timing.

“Actually until now I thought I might have just broken my leg… but I didn’t tell you about it because I was afraid you might worry. But maybe… I think I was on the verge of death at that time.”

I almost bit my tongue. But his story wasn’t over.

“So I guess the system was mistaken.”

“Illusion?”

“This system grants wishes based on the thoughts you had right before you died.”

Big Moon swallowed his saliva.

“But… I hoped that my brother would stay healthy and live happily for a long time but at the time he was in a coma on the verge of death just like me… and an error occurred. “You misunderstood the target.”

“…!”

“Instead of me my brother went back to the past and lived in his own body.”

-Ugh…

I pictured myself waking up in a dirty motel room.

But the point of view of that scene was… me.

“I think I integrated into the system in the process… but I guess I still had a little bit of ego left in me. “It’s like a pattern of behavior that requires something to be corrected.”

And then I realized.

This guy kept using the word ‘system’ naturally.

…the exact same usage of the word that I have defined on my own and have never explained to anyone.

I barely opened my mouth.

“…Status window.”

The guy nods his head.

“that’s right.”

“…”

“So brother I was… my brother’s status window.”

Chapter 320

The moment I heard the confirmation questions related to the status window flashed through my mind like a flashback.

'…'Park Moon-dae' is the status window'

And before concluding.

The original Park Moon-dae 'Keundal' began to talk as if reminiscing about what he had experienced as Sang Sang-chang.

"At first I was completely unconscious. But… my brother was shouting at the status window and suddenly I came to my senses."

-I quit playing games.

The last words I posted when I closed 'gun1234' the WiTube account where I uploaded fancams.

"My brother likes games so I thought it would be helpful…"

"Maybe it was because it was the last shock I had when I was human and realized that the account was my brother."

I barely opened my mouth.

"Then how about leveling up or getting characteristics?"

"yes. Since the only games I've played are mobile games… I think that's probably the only thing that came out decent. sorry."

It wasn't something to be sorry about.

The status window that I had as a perk… didn't stick out for balance reasons like Cheongryeo thought.

This is what this guy did.

“After that I became assimilated into the system again… and mainly just played a role in showing what the system was trying to do in a nice way.”

I cut him off.

“No thank you.”

“…! “That… no…”

The guy sitting across from me didn’t know what to do and lowered his head.

“Actually strange things start happening here.”

Strange thing?

“I told you that I who prepared for the civil service exam in my older brother’s body was in sync with me who lived through the status window.”

“okay.”

“Well… I think it was reversely influenced by me the person who prepared for the civil service exam.”

“…!”

“So… even when I was in the status window I vaguely knew what would happen to my brother in the future. “I’ve seen all of your activities starting with Azusa.”

I see.

I remembered the status window’s draw which gave me not only what

I wanted but also the characteristics I needed at the time as if predicting the future.

It wasn't predicting the future. It really was a mix of people who lived in the future.

I pressed my forehead.

'There is no beginning or end.'

If I hadn't set up a 'conversation with Park Moon-dae' mission after clearing all status abnormalities this guy preparing to become a civil servant would not have existed.

But I need this guy who was preparing to become a civil servant in order for me to be able to clear status abnormalities with predictive shots in the status window.

"Cause and effect are just mixed up right? Haha… I'm a little confused too."

"I know."

Even if you return to the past time is not reset and coexists as is so there is no forward or backward order.

It's as if I was interfering with Testa's activities while helping this guy with his announcement.

"hmm."

Meanwhile Geoldal cautiously opened his mouth again.

"Um so… the moment my self which was in a state of confusion really woke up was when I realized that my brother's car accident was just around the corner."

"…!"

I instantly remembered the unique option I received as a reward after clearing the '200000 audience attendance status abnormality'.

[Options]

: Check the 'truth' ☜ Click!

: Obtain 'Coin' ☜ Click! !

※ Duplicate selection is not possible

"…coin…"

Big Moon smiled faintly.

"that's right. "At that time the choice was mine not the system."

oh my god.

"And what happened after that?"

Immediately after when the next status abnormality appears all kinds of lines appear and the status abnormality is continuously updated.

'No. 1 or death' occurs!

'Target or death' occurs!

'Performance or death' occurs!

I thought it was like someone had hacked it but it turned out to be an accurate guess.

"Yes… Fortunately my brother chose the coin but there was an error there."

I opened my mouth without realizing it.

“Is it because the truth was not confirmed?”

An error occurred because the final condition was not cleared.

“…! that’s right. So the status abnormality that was originally supposed to end with that appeared once more…”

“…”

“Ugh I think it happened because I just intervened. So I tried to change it to something as easy as possible or cancel it… but it didn’t work.”

The guy lowered his head with an embarrassed face.

But in fact the burden of that condition was entirely his fault.

“So the target of death also changed to you.”

-If he fails to meet more than 400000 audiences within the specified period ‘Park Moon-dae’ will die.

Big Moon nodded.

“…yes. In fact my brother’s status condition ended just before that. “The penalty must be borne by the person who created it.”

I muttered calmly.

“I don’t understand that.”

“yes yes?”

“The number of status abnormalities I have.”

I folded my fingers.

“In the end it’s just that I don’t remember but it’s true that I lived until a few years later and came back.”

This guy was organizing my belongings… This is my future when I get a job at the company. What I saw in the last truth check.

“Why did the number of status abnormalities come down based on my memory rather than that standard?”

“That’s because… the preliminary work was done to grant my wish before my brother returned to the past.”

That guy’s wish…

-I hope Geonwoo lives happily for a long time…

It is a wish that is so good that it is absurd but there is something even more absurd than that.

“If I were to live I had to have no memories of that?”

“yes.”

The guy across from me seemed a little pale but he was determined.

“My brother’s heart was in so much pain during those years that the system decided that he would not accept a new body.”

“…”

“And seeing how far back in time I have been based on my brother’s deleted memories the number of status abnormalities has decreased accordingly.”

I was speechless.

I gritted my teeth in frustration and answered slowly.

“I don’t even remember meeting you.”

I have no recollection of even occasionally contacting this guy including buying him soup.

“That too. “I guess he thought he would react strangely if he entered the body of someone he knew.”

I’m going crazy.

‘I set it up so that one true wish can be thoroughly granted.’

Blasting someone else’s memory is not a way to appear personable at all and it was a decision that some kind of AI would make.

Now that I think about it there is something special about me that automatically connects and emerges.

“Can you even confirm the truth?”

A reward for clearing status abnormalities that was only given to me.

“yes.”

The guy across from me closed his eyes tightly.

“When the system analyzed it I think it decided that my brother could overcome it by seeing his own trauma.”

Aren’t you crazy?

“So I did it using the existing status window.”

“The system used the status window?”

“yes. From that point on not only was I using the system but the system also started using me… We end up influencing each other.”

“…”

I suddenly looked closely at the guy across from me.

The big moon sitting in the imaginary world looked like a mixture of ‘Park Moon-dae’ and ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ but when I looked at it again I felt a sense of incongruity.

Tick.

At that moment a crackling noise followed the creature’s outline.

‘Damn it.’

“Actually I’m still a little confused. “It seems like it’s a bit mixed up with the system.”

It was a strange situation. I frowned.

“The system would have moved to someone else.”

Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung.

“You remained in the status window. “But they’re still mixed up?”

“Hmm… As my brother finished dealing with the abnormal condition my sense of self became more and more clear. So the system could remain on its own when moved.”

The guy opened and clenched his hands.

“But… I can use some of the same abilities as before.”

I automatically remembered what I had chosen with the last remaining talent draw.

[Attribute: Acquired ‘Mission Constitution (S)’!]

The ability to trade rewards and penalties in a similar way to status ailments.

“It must have been you who gave me the mission constitution.”

“yes.”

So in the end this guy saved his life.

‘hmm.’

I almost felt cheerful for a moment.

“So… I think there’s still some connection. “We can’t get involved with each other.”

“okay.”

This… could be used somewhere. I nodded and relaxed my posture.

“phew…”

The guy across from me sighed softly as if he had just taken care of something big.

‘I’ve said everything I wanted to say.’

I chuckled. Then it was my turn to talk.

“I heard the story well. “Everything I was curious about was answered.”

“yes!”

This is where the main topic begins. I erased my expression and opened my mouth again.

“And… thank you for saving my life.”

“yes?”

“Thanks to you I lived well.”

I thought about the things I had experienced over the years as ‘Park Moon-dae’.

There were a lot of terrible things but when I look back and think about it… the ending was always good.

I remembered the whole experience vividly. So… I never thought I would say this out loud.

“Idol was fun.”

If I had to do it again I could do it.

of course…

“I never thought I wanted to be an idol but I guess I did.”

Then suddenly the guy in front of me started crying.

“…??”

What are you doing?

“I’m sorry. It’s really touching… I hope you’ll say that at your concert too…”

“…”

It was ridiculous but I just laughed. I didn’t feel bad.

And he said it like a joke.

“Your civil service exam was also surprising.”

Did you want to have that kind of job?

“…!”

At that moment the guy makes a prickly expression.

What is it?

“Um brother about that.”

“why.”

“Actually… I think I just decided on the status window because it reminded me of my brother.”

“…”

I’d rather take level 9 you idiot.

I can’t say anything since I ended up sticking with it but I don’t know why I pushed myself into the pit of hell.

The guy muttered a few words as an excuse saying ‘I didn’t know much about the civil service exam’ and quickly returned to the main topic.

“Your brother helped me a lot there. To be honest since I started with missions my brother saved my life several times…”

“Then let’s say we helped each other.”

“yes…”

In conversation the tension gradually eases and you start to have time to think.

And as if to express those feelings the sunset has already ended and one or two stars can be seen outside the window.

At that moment the slacker suddenly stood up.

“omg! “Time is almost up??”

“hour?”

You say it’s an imaginary world so you’re asking about that?

“yes! “It’s because I used a trick right before my brother left his body while he was taking the test…”

Now that I think about it that’s the most important thing. This guy’s future residence.

“Then what happens to you from now on?”

“Well… you can go back to the status window!”

You are saying nonsense.

“Have you ever thought about wanting to use your own body?”

“Uh… to be honest maybe it’s because I spent a long time as a status window but my body doesn’t really look like mine… I’m not attracted to it.”

“…I see.”

It’s a situation that benefits me but it’s a moment when I think it’s bittersweet.

Additional explanation is attached.

“And when I return to my body Testa disintegrates. “No really… How did you get here?”

“…”

Why do you care about that?

I don't know if I'm overly immersed because I've been using the status window for a long time or because it's a comfort to me during exam preparation but I don't think this is the case.

"You could do it. Since the body is the same I think the stats will be the same."

In my daydream I used the body of 'Ryu Geon-woo' but that wasn't reality at all.

But the guy across from me grinned.

"That brother. "There was something I wanted to say about that…"

"…?"

"Do you remember the traits that were there from the beginning? "This was before the talent draw came out."

It was there before I drew it through the trait draw…

"Infinite potential?"

"yes!"

okay. A ridiculous morale trait that allowed all stats to grow to their limit…

"It was originally my brother's."

"…!"

what?

"So the characteristics my brother picked and the stats he raised… are all just a manifestation of the talents he originally had."

"…"

“There was nothing that my brother achieved that he couldn’t have.”

Big Moon nodded coolly.

“I really want you to know that.”

“…”

I stared at him blankly as if I had been hit in the back of the head.

‘It’s mine.’

Slowly a strange sense of elation comes over me.

Its name was… Satisfaction.

The voice continues.

“So please show me some cool activities.”

I nodded reflexively. My head didn’t turn because of the sense of stability that filled my head.

The guy across from me muttered.

“I really want to continue to support my brother as an idol…”

“…!”

At that moment I came to my senses.

Now is not the time to indulge in sentimentality but rather the time to direct traffic.

From this guy’s residence.

‘If you’re not interested in your body in the first place… ’

“Then you don’t care about how well you passed the test?”

I don’t think they’ll just leave it at level 7 and throw it away.

“Uh oh!”

Fortunately this time a positive response came back. I guess I secretly wanted to do this since I’ve been fucking it for 4 years.

“Hey but will it be okay? “It’s my brother’s body!”

“What if I also use your body?”

It’s not like I’m going to save the extra body and make soup so what’s the point? I looked at him with the attitude that I would not take any orders.

Then the guy turned a little red and nodded.

“Then… I’ll use it well for a while.”

For a while?

The moment when I was about to question the choice of words that made me feel uncomfortable.

“Bro time is up! I think it will flow soon. Lie down quickly!”

“ah.”

I turned around to lie down on the sofa in response to his fuss. It was then.

The reflected light from the dark window illuminated my appearance as night fell.

“…!”

The person you see there… wasn't the complete 'Ryu Geon-woo'. But if you ask me if it was just 'Testa Park Moon-dae' I don't know.

It was both.

I don't know how that was possible but I just felt like no matter what I looked like someone would recognize that as me.

Unlike the appearance of the large moon which seemed to be unrefined and mixed with elements it had a completely settled and solid appearance.

As if I was already sure of who I was.

'I am indeed.'

I guess they both ended up thinking it was me.

I lay down with an indescribable feeling and burst into laughter.

It was somehow cool.

"If I get a chance…"

I confirmed in a cautious voice.

"See you again."

"…! yes!"

And then I closed my eyes as sleep rushed in again.

This time it was a dark battle where all five senses disappeared completely.

Dormant where consciousness and thoughts disappear.

Dang-.

The moment I thought I heard the bell ring.

“Park Moon-dae…!”

When I came to my senses I realized that I was on a platform.

The smell of stage equipment and air conditioning.

“…under.”

It was the day Testa received the grand prize.

Chapter 321

The noise of people under the stage the noise of the equipment and the swaying lights of the light stick enliven the five senses.

I'm back.

"…"

Someone grabs my shoulder. When I turn my head I see Keun Se-jin and the faces standing around him.

This kid is smiling but his hands are tense. I guess it was this guy who called me earlier.

'I guess I stumbled.'

When Azusa debuted I remember almost fainting when I saw the first confirmation of the truth.

It may have been a similar situation but the difference in how much time I felt was very big.

I quickly glanced at the faces of those standing behind me.

'It's been a while.'

From Ryu Cheong-woo to Bae Se-jin on the outskirts. Actually I met Bae Se-jin a few days ago but I was surprised at how different his impression was from the guy he was when he debuted.

'I've seen it for a long time.'

It's been 4 years.

As students it's like we all graduated from the same high school and went to college together.

I came this far by unintentionally forming a team with six strangers who were my age. It's a rare experience.

However I have the irrational thought that even if I had chosen the team myself with the status window and my own eyes I would not have been able to put together a better team.

It was a strange thing.

I laughed inwardly when I saw Kim Rae-bin's pupils twitching.

'It's just as you said.'

-Although we did not meet for social purposes I believe that true solidarity can grow within it!

There is more to this sentiment than just wanting to keep doing it because I am getting good grades.

And the same goes for the light sticks waving in front of it.

I nodded slightly to the guys standing behind me and then turned back to the front.

People who support Testa.

And I am the one standing in front of Testa's Parkmun-daero.

Even after going through all those situations the conclusion is still that.

"…"

This won't work. Maybe it's because of what I heard in the image world just before but my head feels very emotional.

‘I’m embarrassed.’

It was then.

Suddenly I noticed text popping up on the teleprompter.

-Please share your thoughts quickly.

“…!”

Yes my thoughts.

I came to my senses. It brought my head back to reality that I had something to do right now.

I was frozen for roughly 34 seconds. There is already a fuss about cutting off the procrastinating speech time at every award ceremony.

‘Still I hope you understand because this is the first person to receive fair grades.’

I chuckled and grabbed the microphone.

“Did I stall too much? sorry. “I’m nervous.”

A small laugh erupts from the audience.

I don’t think it was a funny remark… Well let’s just say it was accepted as a good thing.

“When I look back on the moments I spent working as a Testa it feels like it was a very long time and it also feels like I debuted just yesterday.”

I took a moment to catch my breath and then spoke again.

“That was also the moment when I decided to aspire to become an idol.”

This is a journey that began because of an unexpected threat of sudden death.

“Honestly as an outsider I had no confidence or expectations about how far I could go. “I just said I could do it so I came on the program.”

If I hadn’t been threatened with sudden death I wouldn’t have even thought about doing it. but…

Just before I came to my senses I remembered what I said to Geoldal.

-I didn’t know I wanted to be an idol but I guess I did.

I could imagine very specifically the perspective of the person taking pictures of me under this podium avoiding security.

Because I’ve tried it a lot.

And at that time I didn’t bother to trace the cause of my satisfaction. Because I couldn’t even imagine going beyond that perspective and seeing the sight directly from the stage.

“But after meeting these members and meeting the fans Testa has come this far.”

However if standing on stage in person is more truthful and stimulating than watching it from the audience.

That means… what I did as Data Pal was precisely for vicarious satisfaction.

And if you think that the taste of mulberry will get bigger because you think that the fact that I found this real pleasure and did well is actually thanks to my ‘unlimited potential’…you are mistaken.

‘It’s too much.’

A lot of variables came into play. And it wasn’t just me who moved the variable.

Because idols are groups.

“Regardless of this award I think I did very well to challenge myself as an idol at that time… I’m very happy.”

I never thought such embarrassing words would come out of my mouth but what can I do if everyone doesn’t understand?

“I believe the members will do the same.”

I put my arm around Seon Ah-hyun who was standing next to me.

“…!”

‘…He looks like he’s freaked out?’

I thought I would naturally accept it because I was in a bad mood but I almost got embarrassed.

Still he didn’t look unpleasant so I looked around and said what I wanted to say.

“thank you.”

“…”

Then a strange expression as if they were in tears began to spread across their faces and something like a game ceremony naturally began to occur.

Encouragement and a sense of accomplishment for working hard.

‘oh my god.’

In the audience cheering sticks shake like crazy and cheers ring out.

I accepted being one of seven professional people embracing each other.

And I also thought of another person.

‘Did you get in safely?’

I finished the last sentence between my arms thinking of the guy who was probably watching on TV.

“Thank you so much for allowing me to receive the award.”

It was a general expression of gratitude.

* * *

A fanfare was made to quickly end the remarks and leave the room and we moved to the backstage holding the trophy.

As soon as the awards are over our stage continues after a short preparation time.

This is probably why the first target was placed that way.

I thought silently as I moved around still holding the trophy.

‘I guess I’ll have to give up the grand prize at the next awards ceremony.’

This is because when my senses returned I realized that I had been too stubborn.

‘I think it was said but next time I’ll make those who haven’t given their opinion prepare separately… ’

But I couldn’t keep calculating. This is because an urgent question came before I even arrived at the transfer site.

First of all it’s a big hit.

“Park Moon-dae are you okay?”

“…?”

“You almost fell. If you’re not feeling well tell me. “Let’s leave some painkillers and leave.”

That’s why you grabbed my shoulder. I understood his actions.

‘Let’s start by understanding the situation to what extent it was.’

“I almost fell?”

“I thought I was going to collapse…”

Sun Ah-hyun muttered with a bright red face. It looks like he stumbled more grandiosely than expected.

‘this.’

I’ll have to see if this excuse works. First I sighed and rubbed the back of my neck.

“sorry. Since it’s my first target… I can’t remember what I’m going to say and I think it’s because I’m nervous.”

“…You said you did it because you were nervous?”

“you…?”

Why are these guys so suspicious?

I answered as calmly as I could.

“sure.”

“Stop for a moment.”

“Manager please give me a thermometer!”

Doubts poured down like a bombardment. I think you know roughly what my impressions have been.

I raised both hands.

“It’s true that I’m fine. “It’s just that… I really like it.”

I chuckled as I looked around at each and every one of their faces who seemed even a little shocked.

“Because it’s the first target. “I know I’d be thrilled too.”

“Park Moon-dae…”

The astonishment disappears and warmth fills the air. Since everyone will have their first target I thought this would work.

“…okay. “It could be so.”

“It may be late but I think it was a really great acceptance speech!”

good. All the weak-hearted people have passed.

‘…Well actually it wasn’t a lie.’

Because it’s true that I felt good. I handed over the trophy to the guys who were in a great mood.

“Let’s do our best next year too.”

“Ugh!”

“Good!”

Liu Chengyu seemed to enjoy this atmosphere with a look of satisfaction over teamwork and ended his speech in a gentle manner.

“I’m still going to take your temperature.”

“…”

Do whatever you want.

As I changed into my costume I was diagnosed with a normal body temperature. It’s absurd but it feels like I’ve overcome one hurdle.

“13 minutes left~”

But at the same time I realized the real problem.

‘Holy shit.’

I racked my brain and eventually stabbed Sun Ah-hyun.

“Ahyeon.”

“Uh huh?”

And he said quietly.

“I can quickly check the revised choreography this time…”

“Why can’t I suddenly remember the choreography?”

A quick-witted bastard.

“…I felt relaxed after the speech so I decided to check it out.”

“Ah I see.”

It’s not a lie.

‘That’s because I haven’t sung let alone danced for a few days you bastard… ’

Ryu Geon-woo has a year-end one-time modified choreography that he practiced for exactly a week right before entering the body and he will be using it now.

I'm in a cold sweat because I'm afraid I won't remember anything properly on stage.

"Anyway check."

"Ugh! Let's do it right away…!"

Fortunately perhaps because we didn't have time the choreography lesson started right away instead of other conversations.

As the two dance lines joined together the angle became clear in an instant.

"Kick and spin here… hit your toe with the pointer and go over…"

"Mundae was half a beat faster be careful!"

"okay."

"I know the choreography best. "Can you tell me?"

"Eujin shall we go and get some drinks?"

So with the help of others I completely re-mastered the choreography in 3 minutes.

Living alone was comfortable but the taste of being around other people wasn't that bad.

* * *

This evening the prestigious music awards ceremony is being broadcast for the first time at the end of this year.

-Park Moon-dae I think I almost collapsed just now.

-Gwanjong haha.

-Isn't the schedule too much to ask? I think there are aftereffects from that accident. I need to be careful.

-I think he's just thrilled but look at him running away like a pack of dogs.

Twin Homma an office worker who took pictures of Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae clicked his tongue as he looked at the real-time comments showing people's expectations for humanity disappearing.

But this kind of thing happened all the time and she was more concerned about something different.

'I can't believe he made such an emotional comment.'

Park Moon-dae has handled everything rationally so far but this time he acted as if he couldn't bear to feel overwhelmed.

Before the acceptance speech I was speechless stumbled around looked back at the members had a long editorial… I did all the things I normally wouldn't do.

I don't know if there is a story or if the object was that meaningful…

'Well it wasn't bad.'

Twin Homma nodded wondering why Lee Se-jin gave in to Park Moon-dae.

Since Park Moon-dae has a calm image to the public that makes him look like he's in the 4th dimension even shaking once like this would be seen as a charm rather than an annoyance.

It was no different from showing the public a scene with a similar effect to crying at a concert.

In fact by the time Park Moon-dae's speech ended the response to comments had changed quite a bit.

-It's a bit touching.

-Park Moon-dae what's going on with the real Offer City?

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-Testa you've had a hard time so far…

-You're right you're thrilled you bastards.

Moreover even the last action seems to confirm the members' affection for the team.

It seems that there was something about that series of flows that stimulated people's hearts.

'This works well.'

It wasn't for nothing that a collection of reactions from a singer who won first place on a music show for the first time since his debut was floating around on WeTube.

People love it when a star falls but they also love it when a star is overcome with emotion.

Testa's emotions were raw just to suit the tastes of such people.

Twin Homma nodded quite satisfied.

'Well done.'

Park Moon-dae had not particularly calculated such a thing and was expecting a very negative response.

In any case contrary to my expectations Testa's thoughts on receiving the award were expected to be successful and a moving speech.

Awards season has only just begun.

And this season there was going to be a lot of Testa.

Chapter 322

A few days later.

Testa's stage clip was posted on the official WeTube channel of the music company that hosted the first awards ceremony of the year.

This is the stage that was performed immediately after the first grand prize of the year.

[Whee-ik!]

Water and light erupt from a simple underwater device used as a concert stage supported by spectacular choreography.

Fans who watched the concert said 'Isn't that cool? I was excited and said 'I liked the concert better than that one' and tried to create a business-worthy stage and that's what happened.

Of course it ranked among the most popular videos in real time.

[(RMA) TeSTAR | Intro + Promise Live Performance]

Of course VTIC's performance was also ranked but who cares whether they are waving capes or riding boats.

My first performance in a while was so impressive that it took up all my brain capacity.

I held back a sigh.

'It was a good thing I didn't make a fuss.'

In the nick of time my body remembered and I lived. I almost made a choreography mistake on stage after the first grand prize.

‘From there it’s a disaster.’

Strangely enough the reaction to my acceptance speech was ridiculously better than expected…

If you do that on stage excuses like ‘I did it because I was moved’ will be the end.

It’s as simple as whether you have professionalism or not.

But that didn’t happen and what was left instead was… a few needlessly intense close-ups.

[Sailing Island in the Sky

We fly so far!]

“Oh~ Mundae hyung Smile~”

“…”

I admit it. I was a little excited.

The thumbnail of the comment collection that appeared as a recommended video earlier was a sight to behold.

-Mundaengdaeng is 100% happy hahaha.

-I know that ganggeolji that goes out for a walk has that kind of expression.

-Tibetan concentration zero hyper pure dog state

I looked at a close-up of myself smiling and turned off the screen without saying a word.

“What the…! “I’m watching!”

Don’t talk like the guy who popped out while brushing his teeth was watching.

I changed the screen to a Magical Girl cover stage and Cha Yu-jin ran away.

“Brother this is too much!”

If you feel unfair next time just grab the remote control first.

When I saw that Cha Yu-jin had gone back to the bathroom I was about to turn off the screen and inadvertently noticed the Tea Holic guys standing in the background of the Magical Girl performance.

[Flying magic Heart bullet!]

eyes are out of focus Their overwhelmed expressions were perfect for creating a sick atmosphere.

‘Now that I think about it I think they also sent congratulatory messages for the target.”

I opened my smartphone and looked at the contents.

I’m not as good as the guy who managed messages and calls to the point that his smartphone was drained as soon as he got home on the day of the awards ceremony but I got a decent amount of them.

After winning the grand prize I received calls from all kinds of people from Younglin to an entertainer I saw on a variety show so I’m sure they sent me too…

[Listen to us Testa we have enough grand prize trophies to win one each. I hope you will continue to treat us as seniors.]

[Please]

[Of course I didn’t actually get it. It’s probably in the company president’s office.]

Did these bastards even open a new group message room just to send this?

In addition there was even a personal message asking if it would be okay to post the screenshot on their entertainment SNS.

‘I work hard to live.’

It wasn’t for no reason that I stayed on the entertainment route for so long until my prime was over.

I politely replied ‘I don’t mind posting it but if a controversy arises just deal with it yourself.’

There will be no problem as long as you reply to other minor details in a reasonably polite manner.

It was then.

“No why is Moon Dae-moon doing a punishment stage… Oh T-holic senior~”

In these cases the most perceptive person puts his head to the smartphone.

‘This bastard is losing privacy more and more.’

However there was no need to cover the screen. Because dealing with T-holic is like work.

But I guess that wasn’t the main point of this guy. Big Sejin grinned and sat down on the sofa.

“As expected of you T-Holic senior~ KakaoTalk also has a room! Um by the way what do other seniors say?”

There is no need to ask who it is. I’m talking about a senior who narrowly missed out on the first Singer of the Year award.

VTIC.

So it was natural for this guy to be curious.

‘It’s even funnier if you send reactions to all kinds of awards and then keep your mouth shut here.’

Of course VTIC showed off their health by winning the ‘Album of the Year Award’ at the finale.

And I think we’ll probably be nominated for the Singer of the Year award at about half of the awards ceremonies that follow.

‘But if I kept going and got it taken away I’d feel bad.’

We may no longer do things like send friendly messages one-sidedly.

“What did they say to you?”

“Just say congratulations. But we can recognize nuance too~ So I was just wondering how you sent it to the other members!”

How clumsy?

It means that they are curious about whether there is any trace of restraint. I chuckled and closed the message windows one by one to organize them.

And eventually I found a message from a VTIC member.

But… the content was not a celebration.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Do you have something to say now?]

Ah this.

‘I got the mood.’

We've been talking since November and he seemed to have a clue after seeing my impressions during my grand prize.

'This bastard has been waiting.'

At that time I hear a quiet muttering next to me.

"…What should I say?"

I see. From my perspective and knowing that my relationship with Cheongryeo is very bad this seems almost like a fight.

'I thought you were fighting over whether you had anything to say.'

Of course it is true that our relationship was dirty. So excuses come out easily.

"Ah we almost fought over the object again."

"what??"

"It's nothing else it's just an argument. "I'm sure the winner will be announced over the phone in a little while."

I waved my hand.

"You bastard can't win against me. "Because I have a recording."

"…Moondae is amazing. amazing."

Big Sejin shakes his head as if he is fed up. Okay if we change the topic as is…

"Give it to me. "Brother Sejin will listen and tell you who won."

Wow.

"I'll be polite when I call so don't worry. "There won't be an incident like last time.”

If you remember the recording incident in Chaeseodam it is not unreasonable for this guy to come out like this.

But Big Sejin frowned.

“Who cares about that? No I’m worried about that too… Um Park Moon-dae is strange these days.”

“…”

hmm.

“I feel like I forgot the choreography and when I sing my part I feel like I’m doing something strangely different and then I get the hang of it…”

no way.

While I remained silent Big Sejin finished his sentence.

“Did you secretly do some NIS mission?”

“…”

Look at your imagination.

I looked at him as if I was dumbfounded but Big Sejin was just smiling.

“I practice and schedule every day but where is the time for that?”

“dawn? Oh wait. “Cheongwoo is a morning person again so it’s really going to work out right?”

“Don’t talk nonsense.”

“The University of Arts also caught Ravin composing early in the morning. By any chance~? “Did you see it when you were leaving the house?”

Is this guy kidding me?

However even though he is talking bullshit with his mouth there is an awareness on his face that he is talking bullshit.

I know there’s something going on but you’re trying to cover it up as a joke.

“…”

I said while holding back a sigh.

“You said you would when you can talk.”

“…!”

“It’s nothing serious and everything is being resolved well.”

He continued speaking slowly.

“Of course it is not the National Intelligence Service. It’s just a personal matter. “There is no problem with Testa.”

“…I know.”

Big Sejin sighed and then smiled bitterly.

“sorry. We had a lot of work to do. So I tried it because I was wondering if you were in a difficult situation and couldn’t say anything.”

It seems like honest sincerity.

I thought briefly but then answered equally honestly.

“I’ll tell you if I’m in trouble.”

“Is it true?”

okay.

When I nodded Big Sejin immediately erased his bitter smile. Then he tapped my shoulder and got up from the sofa.

“okay. I believe in Mundaemundae~”

The guy dragged Cha Yu-jin who came out just in time to the kitchen.

“after.”

I leaned back on the sofa.

‘I don’t know how long this medicine will last.’

However it is crazy to talk about such an absurd situation and ask people to believe it. It’s not for nothing that I kept my mouth shut until now.

‘Something like this happens because we work well as a group for a long time.’

It’s difficult to hide something. Especially for quick-witted guys.

Even to some extent… I just want to say it.

‘Is there no other way?’

Let’s make a separate plan for this in the future and do what needs to be done now.

I went out onto the veranda and made a phone call.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo]

After a fairly long call tone the connection tone was cut off. And then I heard a muffled voice.

-Um… junior.

Did you wake up? That won't work.

I immediately typed out my lines for recording.

"Did I wake you up while you were sleeping? sorry."

-no. I have an early morning schedule… um.

Cheongryeo was silent for a moment and then answered in a normal voice.

-are you okay.

I haven't been eating Jjambap for decades for no reason. It seems that he has completely adapted to his irregular life pattern.

-So why did you contact me?

I could sense anticipation in his tone of voice. I answered calmly.

"I have something to say. "Just as you messaged me."

-Ah finally.

Cheongnyeo's voice is powerful.

-how is it? I think I came back well.

"I'm fine. "There was no problem and I received the grand prize."

-is it so. Congratulations on your first grand prize. I hope you enjoy this moment.

It means you won't be able to enjoy it in the future.

I thought of a rebuttal like 'I really wish you would do that' and then deleted it.

It wasn't the time. Instead I went straight to the point.

"thank you. "Then may I ask what happened to the call you made then?"

Because this guy decided to make a confirmation call to Ryu Geon-woo's body as well.

-Ah… that person.

Cheongryeo answered casually.

-I tried contacting you on that cell phone a few times. But… they always say that the phone is turned off.

"…"

what?

"So what are you up to?"

-yes? haha. Junior. How would I know such a thing? It's just that I don't answer the phone.

"…"

Damn this…

-I was scheduled to leave the country the very next day. How can you find time to find out about domestic affairs during a concert?

"…yes."

Yes that is a reasonable statement.

But hearing it from the mouth of the guy who dug up the address of the officetel all by himself I feel like I got screwed.

‘after’

I pressed my temples.

Why did I immediately try to find out the whereabouts of ‘Ryu Geon-woo’s body from this bastard?

It’s still the original Park Mun-dae… That’s because no text message was sent to ‘Keundal’.

I lifted the recipient restriction to receive it but only all kinds of spam and stalkerish messages poured in.

‘hmm.’

I thought it would be better to wait until I wanted to contact him. Since you have just passed level 7 there will be a lot of work to do.

Still I thought this guy would definitely contact me… but he hasn’t contacted me for several days even after I received the grand prize.

It didn’t feel very good.

‘Back then… he definitely said that.’

-Well… I’ll use it well for a while…

Why was the period limited? Of course I knew the address of his officetel. If you have any trouble you can just go there.

‘Of course there are methods that can be used before that.’

Hang up the phone first.

“All right. “I hope you sleep well then.”

-Wait a minute. Is that the end?

“yes?”

What does this mean again?

-I thought you were going to give me an impression or something.

…I think he’s saying he’s a little upset but this bastard is… upset?

“…”

It doesn’t suit me in a creepy way… but in my own way… I did listen to Ryu Geon-woo’s advice when I was in his body.

I can’t deny it. This guy is also an official now.

I ended up backtracking.

“I don’t think this is something we should talk about over the phone. Let’s meet next time.”

-Um… I see. great.

I never thought the day would come when I would be able to make a leisurely social appointment with this bastard.

I ended the call with a shocked feeling.

However the screen did not turn off. Instead I immediately manipulated the screen and pressed the ‘text’ icon again. Then I opened the box to compose a new text message.

‘I’m not stupid.’

Of course I had at least roughly memorized ‘Ryu Geon-woo’s number.

All you have to do is contact me.

‘I guess I can put in two or three confusing numbers and write the content so that only this guy reacts.’

It was the moment I entered the number I remembered and even wrote ‘Big Moon why haven’t you heard from me? The last time I saw you was in November.’

“Mundae!”

“…!”

I learned a lesson from the big situation and closed my smartphone.

When I turned my head I saw Liu Chengwu walking from the hallway waving his hand outside the veranda door.

“Are you busy now? Or I was wondering if I could go to work with you for a while.”

Less calm than usual. It seems like there is some urgent news.

It would look suspicious if I turned this down during recess.

“yes. “But what’s going on?”

“I’ll tell you once I get there.”

Liu Chengwu opened the veranda door and urged me. This is also rare.

‘It seems like you’re really in a hurry.’

I hesitantly picked up my coat and followed him out the front door. I planned to continue writing down the text I had written when I got in the car.

But the moment I sat in the front seat and saw Liu Chengwu operating the navigation system.

I knew something was strange.

“brother.”

“huh?”

“Isn’t that the company there?”

“ah. for a moment.”

The car started. The car driven by Liu Chengwu left the underground parking lot and left the complex in an instant.

And with a smile on his face Liu Chengwu opened his mouth again.

“Mundae. “The person you asked me to look for.”

“…?”

Why is that story coming out right now?

“I got a call from the door saying they found it.”

“…!”

“I mean Ryu Geon-woo.”

what?

Liu Chengyu lowered his voice slightly.

“They said he was a level 7 civil servant. “I think his whereabouts were unclear because he was studying for an exam.”

“…”

“I guess I got in touch with you now that you passed the exam.”

I suddenly had an ominous feeling. I barely opened my mouth.

“No way now…”

Liu Chengwu grinned.

“that’s right. So now we are on our way to meet him.”

“…!!”

“Anyway I have a car and I’d like to meet you in person… Moon Dae-ya?”

Ah… Damn it.

Suddenly Ryu Cheong-woo and Ryu Geon-woo’s body Park Moon-dae ended up meeting together.

Chapter 323

Park Moon-dae goes to meet Ryu Geon-woo with Ryu Cheong-woo…

“Mundae are you really surprised? are you okay?”

“it’s okay.”

What kind of person can get to this point in an instant? I pressed my eyelids to keep from fluttering.

So… Ryu Cheng-wu has now come and found Ryu Geon-wu’s whereabouts. Okay start with this.

“I was a little surprised. “I’m curious as to how you suddenly contacted me.”

“yes? “So did I.”

No your reasons and mine may be different but anyway Liu Chengwu smiled and continued his explanation.

“One of the grandsons from my eldest family contacted me after meeting him at the Seoul City Civil Servant Training Center.”

“I guess there are a lot of people in the family who remember me.”

Well… I don’t think it’s just that there were a lot of people who remembered it.

Isn’t it true that the elders of the family who were dying of laughter at the words of Ryu Cheong-woo a former national team gold medalist and current Daesang idol called out to everyone and asked about him?

‘It’s worth it.’

The title alone is a lethal dose of soup but the double title is eye-popping.

Therefore Ryu Geon-woo was arrested as soon as he began his social life.

Regardless of the situation I understood the logic. So I nodded silently.

‘But how do you drive this car?’

The day that guy notices something strange between me and Park Moon-dae in Ryu Geon-woo’s body I’ll be booked into a mental hospital. I shook my head furiously.

At best Ryu Cheong-woo should just drop me in front of Ryu Geon-woo and turn the car around to let me out…

“Sorry. I guess I was just too excited and made it a surprise. “Something like this may require mental preparation.”

You make up excuses for yourself. I answered earnestly trying not to offend.

“Well I’m grateful but I’m nervous and dazed so I’m a little worried about whether I’ll be able to have a proper conversation. “Why don’t we go back today?”

It’s stupid to ask someone to find you when they talk about the price of your life and then immediately say things like ‘I changed my mind and don’t want to meet you anymore.’

‘Take your time and turn it gently.’

However Liu Chengwu opened his mouth with a worried expression.

“okay? “Except for today it will be difficult to find a date to meet for a while… After the awards ceremony there will be a tour.”

Damn it.

“Hmm… I guess I’ll have to find time somehow.”

Liu Chengwu smiled.

“Don’t worry too much. “Because I have a license… I can at least give you a ride to work secretly for a little while.”

“…”

“Mundae you don’t have a license.”

“…That’s right. thank you.”

I’m going crazy.

‘after… ’

Now that this guy already knows it’s hard to wipe his mouth and meet Ryu Geon-woo separately.

However if this guy even created a position for you but he refuses and whines that you should find out his contact information and hand it over it could be an emotional issue.

‘I think he changed his attitude after turning the door upside down and finding him.’

I even think that it might be best to just get in this car and see it today. I looked into various cases.

And concluded.

“If you’re really nervous let’s call it a day and I’ll tell the company and take some time…”

“no. “I’ll try to calm down while we go.”

“Um okay.”

Let's not make things bigger. The moment you tell the story to the company it may be leaked to officials or reporters and then it becomes a real mess.

'There are already a lot of people who are interested in Park Moon-dae's past history.'

Although Ryu Geon-woo is an ordinary person he is a relative of Ryu Cheng-wu. I can't guarantee that there won't be someone who inquires about your financial situation or family circumstances.

"…"

Yeah fuck it. decided. I'm going now.

Now that the situation had come to this I tried to smile. This is because if the facial expression looks like trash it is more suspicious.

"Anyway… thank you very much. "It's a bit surprising and my heart is pounding."

In many senses.

"haha. okay. "I have some time so I'll take my time."

In order to get rid of this guy before meeting with Ryu Geon-woo I tried to get him to drop out by saying 'You can get off and go' but…

"Well how do I get back?"

I just kept my mouth shut.

If you don't want to talk to the company you can't call the manager. If you take a call taxi there will only be eyewitness accounts.

'Either way Ryu Cheong-woo is better than that in terms of security… '

Let's give up. It's as easy as a lie. Let's do our thing.

I erased the text I had written about two or three candidate numbers for ‘Big Moon’. I don’t want Liu Chengwu to find any records left when exchanging phone calls.

‘For now I’ll just pretend to exchange numbers and then quickly break up.’

I came up with a few scenarios but for some reason I couldn’t help but feel a pull in my back.

And slowly realistic questions arise.

“But… did you have an appointment with him?”

“huh?”

Liu Chengwu shrugged his shoulders.

“I also received a call. “A relative who went to the training center with me said ‘There’s someone I want to meet. Can I see your face for a moment?’ and you said okay?”

what?

* * *

A little later a training center on the outskirts of Seoul.

People who had just finished today’s training poured out the door.

Because the training was hastily scheduled only in Seoul due to an appointment issue there is no training camp schedule and only the commuting schedule is being carried out… It’s none of my business as I couldn’t even join the program.

What’s important is that ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ was actually in the restaurant room next to it.

‘This bastard.’

Amazing. There was no need to doubt that there was no way I could be fooled by the flimsy statement ‘There is someone who wants to meet you.’

It’s a good catch.

“Uh um hello.”

Looking at that reaction I guess what’s inside is ‘big moon’. I was convinced as I listened to the guy’s tone that made me break out in a cold sweat.

It’s true that I’m angry but I also feel relieved.

After seeing this guy in the image world I thought I would feel a similar sense of discomfort when I saw him in real life but that wasn’t the case.

On the contrary since this is my first time seeing this guy move Ryu Geon-woo’s body in person I feel a new emotion.

This is probably how you would feel if you had a younger sibling.

“Are you here to see me…?”

Yes bastard. Let’s find out why he keeps making such suspicious promises even though his limbs are fine but he hasn’t contacted me.

Since I couldn’t say that I just calmly lowered my head.

“hello. brother.”

“Yes yes?”

“You remember me. “This is Park Moon-dae who my brother helped me with.”

Get your words right. a little.

The big moon looked at me and Ryu Cheong-wu quickly and immediately answered as if an exclamation point was floating above its head.

“Ah ah~ Mundae… that’s it!”

“…yes.”

It’s ruined. This guy has no acting talent.

However Ryu Cheong-wu looked a bit puzzled but he smiled and greeted her perhaps because he was embarrassed.

“I was also surprised to hear that I had a relative who helped Moon Dae a lot. “Thank you for meeting me like this.”

Considering that many difficult situations can arise in our profession I think we will continue to sit with our butts crushed.

In fact this guy is a relative of Ryu Geon-woo and a classmate at the Park Moon University training camp so there is nothing to criticize even if he sits there.

‘On the contrary my feelings might be hurt if I send him out.’

If you feel like the atmosphere has calmed down enough you will probably leave on your own. Until then there is nothing much to do. I looked at it with mixed feelings.

“Thank you…! What did I do? I would rather say Geon-woo… hmm.”

And you knew it would be like this. I immediately changed the subject.

“Let’s eat first.”

“Oh then. What do you think of it Geonwoo? Oh is it okay for me to call you this?”

"…yes."

It's ruined. I was planning on having some tea and leaving quickly but they're even ordering food.

My stomach hurt when I saw Liu Chengwu ordering a course meal. There was already a long way to cover.

'Damn it.'

…and an hour later.

While I finished eating the whole thing and delving into the main course Peking duck I could hear Keoldal's remarks more than five times.

"…"

It's a new record in itself.

'I guessed it.'

At this point inertia has developed. In fact Big Moon wasn't that careless. While Ryu Cheong-woo keeps trying to lighten the mood he inadvertently uses the wrong name every now and then.

For example this is the story when explaining how Park Moon-dae and Ryu Geon-woo met.

-Oh he really bought me a meal and gave me a lot of advice even though I was meeting him for the first time…

-My brother did it for me. I still remember it well.

It's like this. It was close.

Keudal tried to speak as consciously as possible of our bodies that were reversed from his position but it is not easy for a guy who only studied for four years to do that while eating.

For reference the time I ate Dongpo Pork right before was the best.

-At that time Geonwoo hyung… ugh.

I made a mistake with the title.

I won't lie. Here I also broke into a cold sweat.

-… yes. I said 'Geonwoo helped me a lot. Thank you.'

-…

Honestly I thought I was screwed.

However Liu Chengwu only answered quite gently.

-Oh I see.

And after a while he lowered his voice and whispered to me.

'I guess it's a bit difficult for you to talk too much since you've been studying for so long. 'I'll restrain myself.'

'…'

Ryu Cheong-wu made up another excuse after tea. He was a sincere person who tried to understand others.

'I see. Let's finish it quickly.'

I quickly took it and ate it to survive.

And now just before the meals finally arrive.

"I'm going to talk on the phone for a moment."

"yes!"

Liu Chengwu left.

widely.

The moment the door closed I saw the guy across from me sigh.

“phew…”

You worked hard.

I crossed my arms and looked at the guy in front of me. The guy is looking down as if he knows his mistake.

“…”

“…”

good. There are no signs of popularity around.

I relaxed my arms opened my mouth and got to the point.

“Why didn’t you contact me?”

The limbs look fine. The calculations become complicated as I wonder if another problem has occurred.

However the guy across from me was startled.

“I did it…! “I did it!”

what?

“I was trying to contact you separately when you didn’t contact me at all. What are you talking about?”

“Uh I thought this was that contact… Oh no. First of all I…”

Geoldal answered with a very resentful expression.

“I texted you right away when I saw you win the award…”

“…”

for a moment. I checked once.

“Right after watching the live broadcast?”

“Yes… I didn’t hear a reply so I waited because I thought you were busy.”

hey.

“I… told you to contact me after the awards ceremony.”

“yes??”

The blank expression on his face asks if that’s what it is. I said pressing my head.

“All numbers that are not in my directory are blocked but I don’t have time to look at my smartphone while I’m working at the awards ceremony so I can’t change the settings.”

“…! Ugh.”

This text was filtered out like countless other texts that came at the same time as the award. The big moon hit its head.

“sorry…!”

“That’s it.”

It was my fault for not explaining the reason in detail. I held back a sigh.

“And if someone I don’t know creates this kind of situation ask for more details.”

I don't know what kind of guts they had to accept such suspicious words.

The guy across from me muttered in a dejected voice.

"No… I thought this was some sort of sign from my brother to me."

"sine?"

"Like 007. I thought you contacted me like this because it was the same 'Ryu'…Because one of the members is Ryu Cheong-woo…"

"…"

He has a really rich imagination. But surprisingly it gets to the point so it's funny.

I chuckled.

"okay. I got it right this time. "It means be careful from now on."

"yes!"

It's a strange feeling to see Ryu Geon-woo's proud expression on his face. It's because it doesn't look like me more than I expected.

'Does the impression change this much depending on who is inside?'

I hesitantly admitted it and then passed the topic.

This is the most urgent topic.

"And the most important thing to worry about now is to be careful what you say so as not to get caught."

"Ugh. yes…"

I lower my head probably feeling frustrated myself.

“Actually this situation is partly my fault for asking Liu Chengwu to find out the whereabouts of my body. So don’t worry too much. “I will continue to cover it.”

However he explained that he should avoid giving long answers and keep his answers short by saying things like “I’m tired from the training.”

The guy nodded with sincerity. I think I understood it well.

I also gave myself a task.

“I will handle the topic well from now on so that only our past becomes a hot topic.”

The guy across from me brightened his eyes.

“Oh then should we talk about Testa instead?”

“But it’s okay.”

“Hmm if that’s the case we can really start talking about our debut.”

Me indeed.

He seemed to be a little relaxed so his shoulders slumped slightly. I handed over a few pieces of the remaining Peking duck in the calm atmosphere of the room.

“Answer slowly while eating.”

“yes!”

However apart from the calming atmosphere there are thoughts that naturally connect with the topic of debut.

The experience of the mental world where the scene from the teaser for our debut song Magical Boy was displayed on the veranda window.

That guy's comment there bothered me.

"…"

I slowly opened my mouth.

"I mean you."

"yes!"

"…Last time I said I would take care of you for a while. Are you planning on getting out of that body any time soon?"

"…"

"There's no need for that."

The face which had previously shown expressions such as confusion and joy became slightly stiff. Instead a strange expression that appears slightly less human appears on his face.

It's the same feeling I saw in the world of images. I kept my mouth shut.

His answer came without hesitation.

"I need it."

what?

"But that's not what I think."

"…then."

"The last date of my life as a human being has been decided."

The day this guy fell off the railing and made a wish on the system.

“That’s next summer.”

“…”

“So the date I can use this body is… until next summer.”

Holy shit.

Chapter 324

I clenched my fists.

I guessed that ‘Please take care of me for a while’ meant that Ryu Geon-woo’s body would not be used for a long time.

However I thought it was just an ethical story about feeling sorry for my brother’s body. Why is it being said that he will be married next summer?

Is that also why explanations like ‘next summer I as a person die and return to the past’ pop up?

Are you the only one who returned to the past?

“What do you mean when you say that those who originally died lived well beyond that point?”

“Brother it doesn’t mean I’m going to die.”

The guy waved his hand. And he answered rather gloomily.

“It’s just that… after the time I spent as a person has passed it’s hard to continue being a person.”

I interpreted those words in an instant.

therefore…

“Are you going back to the status window?”

“yes.”

The guy across from me lowered his head. I asked holding back my sleep.

“Why does it happen like that?”

“It’s not the system it’s me giving missions to the status window and implementing rewards.”

okay. This guy was realized because I used the new trait ‘Mission Constitution’ and received ‘Conversation with Park Moon-dae’ as a reward.

“Why is that?”

“You saw it. Even if you return to the past the life you lived before does not disappear; it remains the same and does not change. And when the trip to the past is over you get to return to the life you originally lived… That’s what it’s like.”

“…”

“I guess it works that way. So in the same way when this journey of living in a human body is over I get my old life back.”

The guy swallowed.

“Through the status window.”

“for a moment.”

I raised my hand.

“So if I call the status window now the status window won’t pop up? Because you are here.”

“Oh no. As a person I am here and the affected parts of the system are still there. “It will float.”

“It means it’s in a state of separation.”

“yes…”

As a demonstration I called up the status window.

[Receiving reward]

It’s true.

‘Now that I think about it even when I returned to my original body there was no separate ‘Reward received complete’ pop-up or anything like that.’

In that case I was still receiving the ‘Conversation with Moon-Dae Park’ reward.

In the end this guy is using tricks to extend the ‘compensation period’ as much as possible but the limit is next summer.

‘after.’

I held back a sigh and organized the story so far in my head.

And then I came up with the first solution. It was a similar idea to what I had thought about before.

“I can do the mission again and receive a reward similar to what I received now.”

The ‘mission constitution’ trait would not have suddenly disappeared.

So this time wouldn’t it be okay if this guy were to receive a mission and receive a reward by permanently using Ryu Geon-woo’s body?

But Big Moon shook his head.

“Well… probably by the time I become a road status window it will be difficult to separate myself from a human again and enter my body like this.”

“why.”

“I feel that the part that has assimilated into the system is becoming stronger. “I wonder if it will have any effect even if it transfers to another body.”

Big Moon swallowed his saliva.

“Maybe when I get back it will be completely put together.”

“…”

I kept my mouth shut. The guy across from me grinned.

“But bro I’m really fine! There are still a few months left. And I try to be able to talk to my brother even if it’s a status window…”

“No be quiet.”

“yes?”

I rubbed my chin and came to a conclusion. It was clear.

“Let’s get rid of the system.”

“yes? “Wait a minute.”

“I think if the system disappears the part of the system that you assimilated with will also disappear.”

“That could be true but… no that’s just a guess…”

“I was going to get rid of it in the first place. This system creates too many variables. “It’s an industry where there’s a lot to consider but it’s getting in the way of my activities.”

“Abolish the system because it interferes with what activities!?”

He came up with a reasonable conclusion at best so why is this guy freaking out?

He even hits the table when something comes to mind.

“Wow now that I think about it you said something like that! With those regressors!”

“Regressor?”

“People who returned to the past!”

You use professional names carelessly. Anyway I nodded.

“that’s right. The system was already tracking. “You probably saw it in the status window too.”

“That’s… That’s it!”

The guy across from me jumped up. And he mutters with a slightly anxious expression.

“Hyung… no I think I really wanted to tell you that since the status window…”

“what.”

“If possible don’t touch the system bro…”

Big Moon looked at me seriously. For a moment I wondered if I felt any sympathy for the system but I read a familiar emotion in its eyes.

It was fear.

“That’s… really weird. Isn’t this some kind of fantasy or science fiction movie? It’s strange. “It looks like some kind of AI and it also looks like a ghost…”

“I heard you also influenced me.”

“So you’re saying it well!”

I meant it to be self-deprecating but I ended up yelling.

“Actually even if I influenced it I don’t even know what or how… My brother described the system as a mental parasite. “It really seems like that… like a very strong supercomputer parasite…”

“…”

“Just… bro can’t you just not do that? “I’m a little scared.”

I thought carefully and then nodded.

“Well I’ll consider it.”

“You mean you’re going to ignore that?!”

The Jjambap that I looked at in the status window has not gone anywhere. As expected I ignored those words. The guy was frustrated.

“It’s really… dangerous. “No really…”

“Let me ask you one more question.”

“yes?”

I asked calmly.

“Is it possible to use the original status window functionality instead of this ‘Receiving Rewards’ window? Things like checking other people’s stats or using their characteristics.”

The guy across from me blinks.

“That… I think we can do something about it.”

“okay?”

“yes. I’ve tried something like that. If you ‘connect’ to the status window and operate it…

The guy forgot his frustration for a moment and lost his expression as if he was immersed and concentrating.

It seemed like a hacking attempt was being made.

Just in case I closed the status window and waited for him.

And after a while the guy’s expression returned and he brightly opened his mouth.

“Bro this is…!”

It was that moment.

dripping.

A knock on the door.

And then the door to the restaurant room opens softly. Big Moon immediately sat down.

“Oh I guess they were talking.”

Liu Chengwu who had gone out came back.

I immediately checked his face. Calm.

‘Did you hear?’

Just now ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ called ‘Park Moon-dae’ his older brother.

First of all if Big Moon stops adding unnecessary words I will…

“yes yes! “You’re here.”

If you're going to open your mouth don't show a straight face. No don't smile awkwardly either.

"It's been a while since I've met someone I used to know… so I'm having a hard time coming up with words. Hahahahaha."

no. To this extent he really looks like a successful long-term student who spent several years substituting social skills for studies.

I was rather relieved. And as expected Liu Chengwu just smiled awkwardly.

"After all the exam is a battle against yourself. I also had a similar experience… Ah you already speak well enough."

I think you feel a little sorry for this guy.

"My me? thank you Actually it's amazing that I even got an interview… Ha haha."

"Brother please sit down."

"Oh yeah."

I immediately ended their conversation and made them sit down. Eat something and shut up.

I'm going to organize some plans.

* * *

After that without any problems we each ate the noodles we ordered and talked about Testa.

Ryu Cheong-woo was a bit embarrassed by the guy who boasted a fairly wide range of testa knowledge from albums to concerts.

-You really know me well. I wonder if we were a hindrance to your studying for the test…

-no. I gained a lot of strength…

It was definitely heartwarming.

Looking at the guy who no longer seemed awkward Ryu Cheong-woo couldn't avoid making a diagnosis like 'I guess he's the type of person who only talks about things he's interested in.'

"Thank you for today."

"I was so thankful…!"

Anyway we successfully exchanged numbers and ended the meeting. I parted ways and made a quick eye contact with the guy.

'For more details please call.'

'I'll definitely go to the concert!'

It doesn't seem to work very well but there is no problem with texting.

Moreover at the last minute he even took both of our autographs which made Ryu Cheong-wu seem to be completely impressed.

This is because I said this while getting in the car and starting the engine.

"If I had known it would be like this I would have brought other kids' autographs."

"Sure."

Done. Even if this is suspicious I can roughly understand it given the circumstances. I relaxed my shoulders and leaned against the backrest.

From now on that guy will make a plan to keep his ass attached to Ryu Geon-woo's body…

"Brother Ryu Geon-woo's impression seems to have changed a lot."

I stopped thinking for now.

“…an impression.”

Could it be that I remembered the memory of meeting you when you were young? For now I close my mouth and search through my memories and the explanation follows.

“Just like when I saw it on that home video. “You saw it too.”

“…Of course.”

Ah that. A home video of Ryu Cheong-woo’s house where I caught Ryu Geon-woo’s whereabouts.

I leaned back against the backrest.

“It is said that humans are animals of their environment. “Of course it would have changed.”

“that’s right. yes?”

Liu Chengwu answered comfortably.

“But… I think it looks more like you.”

“…!”

“The person in the video looked similar to you.”

Liu Chengyu glanced back at me and then stared at the front again.

“Not just appearance but things like facial expressions and movements.”

“…”

“Things like that won’t change unless you intentionally correct them.

“I know this well because I was scolded a lot and corrected my posture and gait while archery.”

Liu Qingyu did not explain further after those words. I knew it from that attitude.

This guy is convinced.

And naturally I missed the timing to make an excuse.

-Turn left 50m ahead.

However after the navigation’s words rang Liu Chengwu opened his mouth again.

“There are circumstances right?”

“…”

“I have no intention of digging into it separately. Well I just wanted to say that you don’t have to worry about whether you’ve been caught or whether you need to deal with it. “It’s no different from the last time I hiked.”

Liu Chengwu added in a slightly embarrassed tone.

“I was worried about whether or not to tell you because I was afraid things would become awkward between us.”

“…”

“That’s it.”

And then I realized.

This guy wasn’t trying to ask me for a convincing explanation but was just trying to convey that he had noticed that the situation between you two had changed.

It is nothing more than that.

And it was… a much more… or ridiculously accepting attitude than I expected.

'Does this… make sense?'

It ends with a tacit understanding rather than a recommendation to register in a mental hospital.

I saw a guy driving carelessly.

You can see a strange tension disguised as calm but you can see the underlying emotion.

It was a feeling of stability.

To put it another way trust.

"…"

While the light changed and the car stopped for a moment Liu Chengwu opened his mouth again with a somewhat embarrassed expression.

"Well I'm sorry if I said it for no reason and made it more burdensome. "Well… I'll call you that then."

I opened my mouth.

"brother."

"…?"

"Just leave it alone. "It feels strange to suddenly be treated with such respect."

Liu Chengwu looked surprised for a moment but eventually smiled and turned the steering wheel.

“Haha really? “I found it a bit strange too.”

“yes.”

After thinking about it I added briefly.

“And… thank you.”

“…what.”

Liu Chengyu seemed to smile slightly as he looked straight ahead. And then he shrugged his shoulders and said:

“Again if you need help let me know.”

ah. okay.

I felt a little cheerful and opened my mouth.

“I have one now.”

“huh?”

“I’d like to get some advice.

In fact when I called up the status window again around the time dessert was being served in the restaurant room the ‘receiving reward’ window was classified as a pop-up window.

And it was possible to use existing functions through the main window.

‘good.’

Keudal in his own words succeeded in ‘connecting’.

And the reason I asked for this back was not simply to check the status windows of my competitors and take countermeasures while working.

I was trying to use something different than that.

[Attribute: Mission Constitution (S)]

This is it.

And for each of the ‘reward’ candidates I came up with the same mission content appeared.

That’s it.

[Mission: Break KPOP record]

“Is there any KPOP record that we can break?”

Chapter 325

KPOP. A new word that mainly refers to Korean idol music.

In fact it is not a name given by Korea itself.

‘I think it’s probably been talked about in foreign countries since the days of the Korean Wave.’

So if the new mission is to ‘break KPOP records’ isn’t there a high probability that only records that are well known abroad will be recognized?

I asked the status window via text message to confirm.

[I’ve never thought of it that way but I guess it’s true.]

It couldn’t have been a random record that worked but it wasn’t renewed because I asked about it.

I closed my smartphone with a feeling of discomfort.

After returning home I am now sitting on the bed in my room.

Are you going to sleep? You must go to the practice room as soon as the completed special stage choreography arrives. Because the end of the year is not such an easy season.

And my roommate who was also waiting on his bed opened his mouth.

“If you have to break a record you end up having to do better than everyone before you.”

“Of course.”

From the car he said ‘I’ll think about it’ and it seemed like he was really thinking about it. He is truly a sincere guy.

The words that followed were typical of his personality.

“How about trying a new evaluation item that was recently created? “It’s easy for new items to create records.”

It was indeed a realistic statement befitting someone who has competed as an athlete. I cracked my jaw.

“Let me take a look. First of all in Asia the record is acceptable…”

VTIC ate it all. Fuck you.

“haha. “Your seniors worked hard right?”

“yes.”

It really was. All records have already been set including the million-seller dome tour which has been number one for several tens of weeks.

In fact while Testa mainly focused on securing a domestic presence VTIC even solidified its global presence… so it can be said that it scraped by.

“It’s the same in South America.”

“okay.”

Previously all the cities where the K-pop market was a hit had excellent records. Renewing this next summer is a reckless challenge with only one bullet.

And it is not necessarily the records of predecessors that are the only obstacle.

“Everyone is still working hard. “My grades are good too.”

If you look at it globally not only VTIC but also quite a few groups have better results than Testa.

Liu Chengwu also nodded as if he was remembering what he heard at the company briefing.

“Well it’s difficult. Even if you try your best to create a good performance there is no guarantee that the results will be good.”

The entertainment industry is like that.

“It’s a big question of timing and luck.”

“okay. “There are a lot of similarities but I think it’s a bit different from sports in this respect.”

Liu Chengyu laughed bitterly.

“I tried to break records even when I was an athlete but being a celebrity isn’t just about winning or losing… I think it’s very complicated because you have to win people’s hearts.”

“Sure.”

I nodded and Liu Chengyu seemed lost in thought.

The atmosphere flows into a deeper story than expected. It might be better to grab a little.

I briefly brought up the topic.

“After listening to it I’m curious about what records you attempted before.”

“huh? haha. It’s not a big deal it’s just a challenge for everyone. 3rd gold medal at the Asian Games World Championships Olympics. Those are the people who say they will try to do it as the youngest.”

“…”

3 gold?

I have no idea what Korean archery is all about.

‘Why do you talk about gold medals as if you won the local league?’

The ecosystem over there is beyond common sense.

“You are amazing.”

“It was a huge failure. “I wasn’t selected as a starter at the world championships.”

Liu Chengyu grinned as if he was a little embarrassed.

“But I still set the record for being the youngest person at the Olympics.”

“That’s great enough.”

“Haha it’s going to break soon again right? Many young people also made it to the finals…”

“…!”

for a moment. I think something comes to mind from those words.

‘The youngest.’

Suddenly a new path flashes in my mind.

‘…yes. That kind of approach is possible.’

Rather than simply aiming for the highest overall score it means subdividing the record items themselves into different directions.

Toward an item that ‘appears to be acceptable enough to be used externally’.

‘It came out good.’

I guess I’ll have to figure this out first. I nodded.

“Anyway I’ll think about your question some more. “I’m sorry I can’t tell you anything useful right now.”

“No thank you. “I think I got the hint.”

“…? okay? If so I’m glad.”

He looked like he wasn’t sure where he got it from but Ryu Chengwu just laughed it off.

I added just in case.

“You can rest assured that we will never consider doing anything detrimental to Testa’s common interests.”

“I never worried about that… okay.”

Liu Chengwu agreed to that much.

It’s no different from the reaction I showed last time when I said ‘I have to win the grand prize.’

“…”

Come to think of it that guy didn’t even ask me why I asked this until the end. It seemed like he guessed it would be burdensome.

‘Why are there all these guys?’

It was the same in the car as before. I too was unusually impressed by the situation so I just moved on and moved on…

Now that I think about it I wonder how this guy understands this situation.

‘He seemed like the type who didn’t believe in supernatural phenomena at all.’

Isn’t he the type of person who doesn’t even treat ghosts at all?

Even if there was some groundwork before isn’t it too unrealistic to just brush it off based on the trust he has experienced in Park Moon-dae?

‘It doesn’t look like he has another plan.’

I rubbed the back of my neck and just sighed.

Eh I don’t know. Let me just ask.

“brother.”

“huh?”

“Regarding what I said in the car earlier… I was wondering how you were so sure about my situation.”

“…”

“Honestly I think it seemed ridiculous.”

The proposition is ‘Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae have switched bodies.’

Liu Chengwu smiled awkwardly.

“Well actually I tried to think of other explanations… but they all left loopholes.”

“…”

“But at first I thought that the two of us were greatly influenced by each other and had a lot in common as one. “I thought I should take that into consideration and deal with it.”

I recalled how he suggested to me ‘You can speak comfortably.’

‘Is that why?’

But the explanation didn’t end there.

“Then today I met ‘Ryu Geon-woo’…and it was there that I realized that wasn’t the case.”

Liu Chengwu calmly concluded.

“The two are very different… as if they were swapped.”

“…”

“So like a flash of lightning I remembered what you said last time we were hiking.”

-It’s just… I just acted the way I did.

Liu Chengwu laughed.

“If you take that literally everything you’ve been wondering about will fall into place. cleanly.”

“…”

“Things like your knowledge and ability to cope with trauma. And the reactions of you and Mr. Ryu Geon-woo on that occasion.”

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly.

“And why were you angry at me and avoiding me before… Same thing.”

“…”

“I understood it very well.”

That damn summer package.

I guess I had already put it into that category and wondered why I had a fit when I heard about my car accident.

I kept my mouth shut and Liu Chengyu continued speaking quietly.

“At that time it seemed like I understood you unilaterally… but in fact you also cared for me a lot. yes? Sorry.”

“…no.”

I barely answered.

“It is absolutely right for me to apologize.”

Liu Chengwu laughed it off.

“I guess stubbornness runs in the family.”

“…”

“Anyway that’s how I found out. Of course I still don’t know the principle… but it’s okay if I don’t. “You don’t necessarily have to listen to that.”

In the end this guy… exercised his instinctive judgment based on reason.

Since he was also such an easy-going guy the situation seemed to fit together well and flowed smoothly up to this point.

‘Besides hearing this the value of the information was particularly high.’

In the end I laughed too.

“I feel embarrassed because I always hear explanations without being able to explain them properly. thank you.”

“I said it’s okay.”

Liu Chengyu grinned but his expression soon changed as if something occurred to him.

“Well now that I think about it that wasn’t the end.”

“yes?”

What else is there?

“Actually… I unintentionally heard it myself.”

Liu Chengwu looked a little embarrassed.

“Earlier when I left the restaurant to talk on the phone I was standing outside the door to catch a moment before coming in…”

for a moment.

“…so maybe.”

“huh. “He very naturally called you brother.”

Was it confirmed there?

As expected the sad premonition is not wrong. I understand.

I felt a tug in my back from the situation I was worried about but it soon went away.

‘Anyway it worked out well.’

It’s like a phone call. I looked at Liu Chengwu once again.

And then he blurted out:

“Thank you for your continued support.”

“Haha please take care of me.”

I suddenly created a helper that didn’t require me to hide my identity.

And not long after the door bursts open and other guys come in.

“Everyone~ The choreography is here~”

It’s practice time again.

“okay? for a moment.”

Liu Chengwu immediately stood up and spoke to me as if he were adding something.

“Let’s come back and continue talking about that KPOP record.”

“yes.”

I think I can think about it alone but unless I’m going to act alone I have to keep talking.

So I nodded obediently but the response came from another guy after Liu Chengwu left.

That’s a big deal.

“What is Moon Daemun University’s KPOP record?”

“We were discussing what our next goal should be.”

Anyone can see that this is a productive idea worth sharing with the leader.

“Oh~ It seems like you and Chungwoo have become a lot more comfortable after becoming roommates at Mundae?”

Big Sejin grinned. And then he deliberately pretends to cry.

“Hehehe just the two of you went out to have fun but Sejin feels so left out…”

This quick-witted bastard went out secretly. How did you know?

“What are you doing when you were talking on the phone with the entertainment MC at the time?”

“Hey when our main vocalist and best friend Moon Dae called I hung up and ran right away~”

He speaks naturally and without any saliva in his mouth.

I was about to hit the guy on the back but stopped when a thought occurred to me.

‘…Now that I think about it I said I would tell this guy if I could tell him about my situation.’

…You were already caught by Liu Chengwu first.

“…”

“Mundae?”

Do I have to voluntarily explain this to this guy?

But this… I haven’t been caught so I don’t know if it’s okay to say it out loud. Is the risk too big?

If you say something directly and fail to persuade it’s not like you can start over again.

Moreover this guy is the type of person who needs to hear everything from beginning to end as soon as he opens up about it.

When I think about explaining everything to a kid who doesn’t even know what a status window is I’m worried that he might feel embarrassed regardless of whether he believes it or not.

I was silent for a moment but then I held back a sigh and opened my mouth.

"…Then when we have time let's go out on our own."

Still if I get the chance I should talk about it. Even though Ryu Cheong-woo knows and only this guy doesn't the moment he makes a mistake later on the picture becomes strange.

"…! Mundae: I finally want to get out of the house! Okay okay~ I'll just look at it!"

No you idiot.

Big Sejin chuckled and patted my back but I fell silent and walked out the front door with the members.

'There's more work to do… '

How are you going to explain this unrealistic situation to that guy?

'I decided this while paying close attention to it.'

I put that thought aside for now and brought back my original concern.

'So if we want to make it easier to break the KPOP record which is our mission goal… '

1. Pioneering new markets

2. New evaluation item subdivision

It's organized like this.

So even if we break down the items there is a market that is big enough to look prestigious and has good public awareness but there is still a piece of the pie left for us to eat…

I unconsciously spit out one expected answer.

“USA.”

“Are we going to America??”

“no.”

It’s just a group of candidates.

“Boo…”

Cha Yu-jin who reacted like lightning passed by me and got into the car with her shoulders slumped. Still there is no solution.

‘There are more than one or two cases of failure when entering the United States.’

There are other things to do first.

‘Start with analysis.’

Starting from which market Testa will be advantageous we extract all the data build a method and then enter.

If possible we will never do anything to insult the United States.

And in order to do that… I need to be able to control planning and activity plans more as I want.

I cracked my neck.

‘It’s time.’

And I remembered the contract I had renewed with the head of the division.

-If Testa wins the grand prize at the annual awards ceremony in the following year we will fully support the establishment of Testa's new independent label.

Here the target has already boarded.

So the time has come to create an independent label for Testa.

Chapter 326

When I made a deal with the general manager to ‘establish an independent label upon winning the grand prize’ there were strict standards for the awards ceremony that I set as a condition.

It seemed difficult to achieve within the period so the company lowered its awareness and tried to get people to sign.

-‘Annual Awards Ceremony’ refers to an awards ceremony held by a music or music platform that broadcasts more than 70% of sales figures in the music market that year.

And let’s see what we’re riding on.

It was received at an awards ceremony hosted by a music platform and which reflects sales figures by up to 75%.

‘There is no fault.’

This means achieving an indisputable condition.

And there is someone who said this before me.

“We… can become independent now!”

As soon as the manager disappeared from the practice room today Bae Se-jin shouted as if he had been waiting.

“Province independence…?”

“Are you leaving home? “Isn’t that independence?”

Of course the response was that this was a dog eating grass and Bae Se-jin’s face turned red but he remained steadfast.

“No that’s not it… Don’t you remember? Park Moon-dae brought the contract. “If we win the grand prize they will let us set up a label!”

That’s good. Since someone else was carrying the gun it became easier to talk. I nodded to the guys looking back at me.

“that’s right. “I asked that the dedicated team be made independent of the label and organized under its umbrella.”

“Oooh.”

“I had experienced so many things and had forgotten them…”

Most people nod their heads and respond positively.

It’s been a while since the damn car accident so my feelings toward the company have calmed down a lot but that doesn’t mean there’s any way to recover its ruined reputation.

“okay. Sejin spoke well. “I’ll have to talk to the company.”

“Hmm that’s right. So let’s talk about it as soon as the manager comes back.”

However not everyone agreed with this statement.

Keun Se-jin seemed to glance at the practice room mirror and Bae Se-jin a few times and then spoke sadly.

“Oh that’s really nice but why don’t we talk about it once awards season is over? “Right now we have a lot to prepare…”

“Whatever you want to say you have to say it right away when you can so you can’t say anything else…!”

“…”

Big Sejin twitched his lips for a moment but then spoke softly again.

“Think about it brother. “Wouldn’t we receive grand prizes from a few more places this year?”

Well that’s right.

“There will be a lot of awards ceremonies early next year and if we win a few more awards there and then organize it and talk about it I don’t think the company will really be able to say anything different. “I’m definitely going.”

“Oh~”

Keun Se-jin raised his thumb at Cha Yu-jin’s remark and then finished his sentence.

“So right now I hope we focus more on preparing for the awards ceremony. “Because the stage is the most important. Of course that’s just my opinion.”

“…”

And Bae Se-jin seemed to have touched something by these words but after being silent for a while he opened his mouth.

“…That doesn’t mean I’m going to neglect stage preparation. “I will work hard.”

“I didn’t mean that either… no that’s not the point.”

People who don’t get along are trying to be polite. I ended the conversation at that point.

“Let’s not lose each other’s energy over differences in whether to speak earlier or later.”

Isn’t there only one answer anyway? I crossed my arms.

“No matter what happens I’m going to set up a label and come out.”

“…”

“That’s right.”

“We should do that.”

Why?

“Hmm… then shall we have a majority vote?”

As suggested by Liu Chengwu who came out to settle the situation the small dispute was neatly resolved through voting.

The result was a close match.

“It’s 4:3.”

Bae Se-jin Sun A-hyeon and Ryu Cheong-woo voted for the side that said to speak immediately.

And… the winner was determined by one vote added here.

“Mundae is right here right?”

“yes”

It’s me.

“…!”

Liu Chengwu immediately declared.

“There are more people who want to tell you right away. “Then shall we take this direction?”

“Sejin what you’re saying is cool! Voting is abnormal…”

“Hey Eugene what’s wrong! “I have to give in cleanly!”

Big Sejin smiled and raised both hands.

“All right. “If that’s the team’s opinion then what? Instead everyone is practicing as hard as usual?”

“Of course!”

“of course.”

Practice resumed in such a warm atmosphere.

But after a while.

While I was going to the bathroom during practice I was caught in a headlock by Keun Se-jin who followed me.

“Mundaemundae this is a betrayal…! “We have to handle them properly one by one. What is this? Have you already talked to the company?”

It’s up to you to give up on the result. This guy also pretended not to be and got angry.

I said as I managed to get away.

“It’s not like that.”

“or not?”

I mumbled massaging the back of my neck.

“I just want to quickly rip off the label on these bastards…”

“…”

No even if it’s not necessarily because of the mission isn’t it annoying to see how the company’s management is going?

I crossed the line once or twice. Doing this every time was a talent.

Big Sejin sighed.

“Yes Mundae you can do that…”

why? Oh I was the most seriously injured in a car accident so they made it back to normal.

‘If you think the other way around it means that the other guy who spoke up won’t understand.’

Bae Se-jin.

I had a feeling that things were slowly falling off for a while but especially during seasons that require a lot of emotional stamina such as the end of the year the beginning of the year or the promotion period it becomes easy for the two of us to endure it and get over it.

Because they have been together as a team for a long time and the implicit hierarchy has broken down Daejin Sejin is not in a unilateral position as the strong one like before but there are also new noises that arise from being equal.

‘hmm.’

I tried to defend Bae Se-jin directly but instead of ruining the mood I said something slightly different.

“Don’t worry we’ll handle everything well to prepare for the stage.”

“You know… but that’s all something to worry about right?”

Big Sejin sighed and walked.

“Overall everyone is very anxious. Label independence is no joke and the company probably won’t let it go that easily… Why tell them in advance and give them time to deal with it… Hehe.”

Yes you are right. You can't just trust the contract it's better to have a sufficient environment.

I admitted it honestly.

"Actually if you think about it rationally your story is correct."

"Hey you should have said that earlier!"

Then the ticket may change but it won't work you bastard.

Still I know how he feels when he says that so I said my guess instead.

"The problem is that the company probably had that reasonable thought as well."

"…"

Big Sejin kept his mouth shut for a moment but then opened his mouth with a look on his face as if he had been punched in the back of the head.

"I guess you already know."

"yes."

Is there any way that the company could forget about something that money-hungry people like us are secretly pulling out?

There must have been a relevant meeting at the moment we boarded the car.

"Then I think it would be better to speak quickly so that I can justify it."

"…phew."

Big Sejin smiled bitterly.

“I’m going to be annoyed by the lack of support.”

And just as he said the incident unfolded.

On the way back from practice I relayed the story of ‘establishing a label’ through my manager and a reply came slowly the next day.

“It’s the end-of-year/early-year season right now so there’s a lot of decision-making going on inside the agency so it might be difficult to set up a meeting right away.”

They’re criticizing me. I snorted.

‘You’re starting with a trick.’

Number 1. buy time

First of all they are trying to delay the period of fulfilling their promise. In the meantime I’m probably meeting a lawyer.

By making offers like ‘If you complete your contract we will give you a label when renewing your contract.’

‘Because the performance period was not specifically indicated in the contract.’

The moment I wrote that down it seemed like it would be very annoying so I left it out for now.

You can criticize them by citing things like the principle of good faith but even if you establish a label it is under T1 anyway so you have to be careful and urge them accordingly.

‘You shouldn’t look extreme like you want to leave T1 at all.’

You must give the feeling that you want to demonstrate your abilities to the fullest as an artist.

“hmm…”

I walked up and down the hallway of the practice room and briefly gathered my thoughts. I was planning on going in before recess ended.

It was then.

Sweet.

“excuse me.”

The guy who opened the practice room door spoke to me. This is Bae Se-jin.

‘what.’

He closed the door looked around walked towards me and muttered softly.

“…thank you.”

“…?”

“Thank you for agreeing with my opinion!!”

Ah yesterday.

Bae Se-jin exhaled calmed down his excitement and continued speaking quite seriously.

“I actually thought it wouldn’t work. “I think there are people who think I’m not tactful and can’t understand the situation…”

I see.

Bae Se-jin too often experienced situations where his opinions were not accepted by the team such as during the company lawsuit.

“no. You had the same thoughts as me. “I was grateful that you spoke up first.”

"…okay."

Only then did Bae Se-jin relax her face. He seemed proud on the inside.

'But is it really worth taking the time to talk about this…?'

As expected for a guy who is sensitive and direct to the point of no action he is weak when it comes to supporting himself.

Even though it seems like a big deal it is a style that is very easy to be tricked by scammers.

"…hmm."

for a moment.

"Why why?!"

No because when I look at it that way something comes to mind.

'…I think I did something similar with Ryu Geon-woo's body.'

When we met in front of the bathroom sink.

-I enjoyed watching the stage earlier. I think you always have a really nice expression.

I encouraged Bae Se-jin in a situation where he was not recognized.

'I'm sure I'm not so weak to recognition or praise that I remember what I heard back then.'

I was particularly suspicious thinking of a guy looking up things like 'Bae Se-jin's stage transformation' on WeTube but I soon put the thought out of my mind.

'no way.'

No matter how much he was criticized he had so many fans that he became a tester. There couldn't have been just one or two incidents like that.

Let's continue talking.

"I thought it was true that he didn't want to become an independent label seeing as he was running a company."

"Right… I got hit right? These guys are doing this on purpose! Should I go out even stronger…?"

"wait a minute."

I stopped the guy.

"There is no need to go out strong there. Just… make the first move."

"…?"

Actually there is a method that I just thought of. I didn't leave out the period-related topic from the contract for no reason.

'When did my relationship with my company break down?'

I've thought about this before but we shouldn't increase tension with T1 in the process of creating a label.

But even so what about 'T1 Stars' which is a subsidiary that was hastily created to get Testa and whose own sales will fall by less than half if we become independent?

'If there's a cause it's X food.'

I smiled and opened my mouth.

"Brother I have an idea."

* * *

ToneA an awards ceremony hosted by T1 a few days later.

After performing in modern suits in front of a very old-fashioned fountain set we won the award as planned.

Singer of the Year Award.

“Congratulations Testa!”

Flower showers and cheers This is the second time and the guys who are somewhat used to it go up to the podium with bright smiles.

‘Honestly if I didn’t know I would receive this it would be ridiculous.’

“thank you. “It is a great honor to receive such a great award in front of ToneA’s KPOP listeners who are broadcasting live in 32 countries and most of all I want to express this joy and gratitude to the Love Viewers…”

I passed by Kim Rae-bin who spit out his thoughts without even taking a breath and listened to the other members giving their thoughts which I had not been able to do before.

And at the end when a prompt appears on the teleprompter.

Just when everyone thinks their thoughts are coming to an end.

“Thank you~”

“thank you!”

I quickly grabbed the microphone with a bright face as if I had just remembered something.

And screamed.

“We are launching a label to commemorate our grand prize!”

I’m sorry but you didn’t include a confidentiality clause in your additional contract.

‘What are you going to do?’

I told the company that the terms of the contract had already been met. Suffice it to say that I was so thrilled that I mentioned it.

“Wahah!!”

“Please take care of me～”

The members are smiling happily and adding words one by one as if they don’t feel any discomfort at this remark. I’m doing well.

‘good.’

Moreover this save had an additional effect beyond just publicity. A level that the company can never correct.

‘I’m already looking forward to the reaction.’

“Thank you once again to the companies who help us in both material and spiritual ways. I will work in a better way. thank you!”

I smiled and put down the microphone.

And from that evening scary articles began to appear.

Chapter 327

[Idol of the Year TeSTAR ToneA Received Singer of the Year Award]

['202X ToneA' tester's target action]

[ToneA's thoughts on the object of joy… Testa "We're launching a label!"]

At first news impressions and stories about Testa's prospects were widely covered in articles.

I don't know but there must have been many people who had already almost completed it and were ready to press enter the moment they received the award.

If the content is simple the article that is exposed first is likely to get more views.

Afterwards at most I wrote down exactly what I had said during my speech and added to it pouring out over the course of an hour or two.

However the true taste of public opinion was revealed only after the awards ceremony ended.

[A new attempt at T1's KPOP cultivation strategy after launching Testa's exclusive label?]

[T1's new KPOP artist independent label… Testa starts]

This is Testa's reaction to his exceptional impressions.

'Why a label is launched.'

In fact the separation of labels specifically for artists is not that rare anymore.

However there were differences in reporting methods.

It wasn't announced at the company's business level but the singer suddenly gave his acceptance speech himself.

Like a performance at an awards ceremony hosted by the headquarters.

'T1 has decided.'

'Look what you're going to do.'

People who were interested in how the entertainment business works smelled it as soon as they clicked on the article.

Moreover the reaction of fans also played a role.

-Finally finally finally finally

-The days of putting our kids in a subsidiary company are over. I'm really proud of them. ㅠㅠ

– This is the first time I've seen Moon Dae so excited. He won the grand prize and the tension continued. It's really cute and makes me cry.

-Am I dreaming?

– Wow a solo label before the contract renewal season… Please push it properly. Put in a lot of manpower.

These are people who have often suffered because of the company but the fans who heard the news of the label's independence through winning the grand prize exploded in a good way.

As the melting pot of enthusiasm and excitement filled the comments and posts even the public not just fans was affected.

‘uh? Is this a big deal?’ do.

Thanks to this a second movement occurred.

It’s stocks.

———————————

[What do you all think about the news about Testa’s exclusive label?]

This can be seen as good news for T1 Entertainment right?

———————————=

-Spacer a male idol from the new season of <Azusa> may have overlapping positions with Testa so Testa was given an exclusive label. I think a new plan will come out starting next year.

-Looking at T One Stars’ sales this year the reason for its sole label is clear which is good news.

You are correct. Testa is top-tier domestically but it is a bit weak overseas. And overseas usually follows if we catch up domestically^^ As we grow overseas next year the sales volume and name value will definitely increase several times.

-Tone’s stake in the Testa label is 100% right?

-I’m not buying entertainment stocks… but it looks sweet.

The rumor that ‘T1 has a big plan’ has become mainstream and is even somewhat reflected in the stock price.

Then a few articles analyzing it are posted and it becomes like a fait accompli.

[Why did T1 Entertainment stock price rise?]

[What are the advantages of an independent label? T1’s new plan]

At this point T1 the parent company is probably reluctant to announce that this is the first time for Testa's exclusive label.

If you are not careful it will be interpreted as bad news and will only be scraped off.

And even if we become independent T1 has nothing to lose. This is because they are subsidiaries anyway.

In the end the agency lost its biggest card that it could use to console appease and scold us.

'The subtle threat of asking if you want to have a bad relationship with T-One doesn't work.'

Thanks to this it unfolded this way.

Three days after the acceptance speech.

"The company said they wouldn't publish an article saying 'nothing concrete has happened yet'?"

"omg."

also.

Instead of taking a hard stance the company bowed its head slightly and began to take a more moderate approach. By asking our doctor.

'That's it.'

Now you are probably ready to voluntarily sit down for negotiations.

I nodded with inner satisfaction at Liu Chengwu's message.

Most of the members responded that it was a bit absurd but the fact that these bastards were so embarrassed that they came forward to communicate seems to be viewed positively.

Bae Se-jin even slightly raises his thumb and speaks with his mouth.

‘good job…!’

“…”

That’s a remark from a guy who was the first to hear and agree to this method. I nodded hesitantly.

However one member’s face turns red and starts to fuss.

“I think you’re going a little too far…!”

“…?”

…This is Sun Ah-hyeon. suddenly?

The guy squeezed his hand and even started explaining.

“You spoke so meanly to Moon Dae back then…!”

ah. On the day of the awards ceremony.

right. On that day they even called me directly and said a few words as if they couldn’t control themselves.

‘I think he said something like he was careless and lost trust.’

I knew that would happen and it was just lip service so I just skipped it after hearing it.

Still he may have been embarrassed to avoid getting caught in future negotiations. Next time I will tell you first and talk about it.’ He made some kind of apology gesture.

In the end it was a performance that was all expected so I guess they paid attention to that.

Seon Ah-hyeon clenched her fist and said.

“Mumundae apologized… But they didn’t even apologize and tried to announce it as if Mumundae lied… I don’t think it should be like this.”

“I think so too. The company was bad. “You must have a taste of justice!”

Cha Yu-jin agrees. I must have picked up an idiom after watching a dubbed version of a hero movie a while ago.

Liu Chengyu seemed to be thinking deeply and asked softly.

“Then what do you want to do?”

“I wish I would protest. “Why not vote with that majority vote??”

“No I’m fine. “Then I’ll vote.”

“…??”

Are you not asking me?

The conclusion was reached by a majority vote among those excluding the person who was criticized.

The result is a clear yes.

Sun Ah-hyeon spoke firmly.

“Let’s protest…!”

“…”

I nodded hesitantly.

“Okay… I’m grateful.”

“Oh no…! Umm what do you want to say Mundae?”

What words?

Looking around everyone is implicitly expressing their intention to follow the opinions of the parties concerned. It means that you keep your mouth shut and look at me.

If that’s the case.

I shrugged.

“Then let’s just tell it like it is.”

“Huh?”

“What you said.”

There was nothing more to add. I wrote an honest reply that reflected Sun Ah-hyun’s position.

If I were to summarize it roughly it would be like this.

-I was very embarrassed by the company’s request. Why are you trying to say ‘no progress has been made’ when there is a clear contract? Were you really planning on not doing it?

-I apologized for what I said at the awards ceremony because I thought the media might have embarrassed the company but now that I look at it I feel uneasy about that too.

-Of course we thought the company would fulfill the contract and said what we said in our remarks but I want to believe that we didn’t get more angry than that.

To sum it up it’s ‘Don’t do anything stupid come up with a plan right away you idiots.’

“Then I’ll send it to you like this…!”

“Okay~~”

“I think it captures the disappointment we felt well enough! “You are amazing!”

Sun Ah-hyun delivered the information to the company’s management amid cheers from the members.

And then Big Sejin lowered his head towards me and whispered.

“It won’t work right?”

“It doesn’t work.”

When the agency saw that they suddenly came to their senses and said ‘I’m sorry!’ starting tomorrow! ‘We will push for label independence right away!’ Is there any way to say the same thing?

It just makes me feel bad and more anxious.

‘I get upset when something doesn’t work out the way I want.’

In the meantime we have to appease them so we can’t subtly show them by neglecting care because we have to make them even more upset.

The situation suddenly became a disaster in every way.

A dead end road where you can’t move in any direction.

I chuckled.

“But mistakes usually happen in situations like this.”

“…”

Big Sejin looked at me silently and then patted me on the back.

“Mundae let’s go to Testa for a long time. No we are testers for life. “You know?”

“Like that.”

I burst out laughing.

It felt really good to be recognized. And it was quite pleasant to be able to comfortably say that.

And if things work out as planned it will get even better.

A few days later as expected the agency suffered a huge accident.

It was a fight with the headquarters of T1 Entertainment the direct parent company.

* * *

The agency which was unable to persuade both the parent company and Testa lost the power to speak out its position alone.

However it was not possible to just sit idle without expressing one’s position. This is because fans also started to join in.

-Why isn’t the agency saying anything?

-It’s a bit weird because the article only says that the official statement hasn’t been released yet.

-Even if the full-fledged launch is over after the awards season is over we have to show a gesture. There’s no way the kids would have expressed their feelings about something that hasn’t even been decided.

It seemed as if a protest truck would be sent to the agency at any moment if the deadline passed.

Well at this time it seems like what I announced also played a role in increasing the buzz among fans.

It seemed like the people who were talking about themselves behind the scenes had made some assumptions about 'Why did Park Moon-dae say that?'

-Seeing that Umseupdaeng has a good microphone I guess label X must have invested a lot haha.

-Are you at least the CEO?

-I don't give up on things like this not even to the leader. Of course it's Gomer.

These words were criticized by major public opinion as 'malicious antis who twisted even the words of Mundae's excitement' but the original controversy only increased the amount of mentions.

Moreover even these negative comments were based on the premise that 'Testa's label will be enormous' so naturally everyone who heard this news thought that way.

'It's a business topic that money can't buy.'

So in the end T1 Entertainment itself took the cake.

[KPOP's new vision proposed by T1 "Starting with the launch of an artist specialty label"]

They published the article first.

In effect it was a declaration that T1 Stars had absolutely no intention of helping with their dithering in not letting go of Testa.

And after seeing this did the executives at our agency give up?

no. It seems that upon hearing the rumor they rolled their eyes and sent a somewhat hard-line statement to the parent company.

‘It was a stupid decision.’

Normally I wouldn’t have done something like that but I was immersed in the contract issue for several days so I made a mistake in my judgment.

That statement which had not been properly reviewed was sent to the parent company…

The management of the agency was treated as a scandal by the higher-ups at T1 regarding this matter.

The result?

“…So if I do well I think I will become independent early next year.”

What is it? It’s a declaration of surrender.

-oh my god!!

The guy on the smartphone’s video call screen blinked.

Since the acceptance speech at the last awards ceremony people have been curious about the situation so we are answering their questions.

Originally I was going to do it over the phone but I decided to do it via video call to check on the baby’s condition.

‘Fortunately there are no other signs yet.’

He is receiving good training and appears to be healthy.

-Isn’t it too cold there? It looks like a veranda…

I chuckled. Now that I think about it it seems like things I do to avoid the members always end up here.

And in fact it’s just a video call using a palm-sized screen. It’s okay to do it in your room but it’s just a habit.

“are you okay. “The house is expensive so we did a good job of blocking drafts here.”

-Wow… I’m glad. It’s really nice!

“okay.”

I shrugged.

-And congratulations on the label. As a fan I’m really looking forward to the next album…

Keundal who uses the body of ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ began to share his thoughts and I listened to them in silence.

It was then.

There was a hint of popularity next to me.

Grumble.

“I got a call from Park Moon-dae’s company…!”

“yes?”

As I turn my head I see Bae Se-jin holding a smartphone in his hand hurriedly opening the veranda door and coming in.

‘what.’

Contact the company?

I took off one earphone from my ear and tried to talk to him but Bae Se-jin made his move first.

The guy suddenly started pointing at my smartphone.

“…?”

“Uh… Uh huh??”

As if I recognized someone.

“…”

-brother? brother?

Hey no way.

Chapter 328

Certainly I have encountered Bae Se-jin in Ryu Geon-woo's body.

'At best all I could do was stand in front of the sink and cheer to avoid the situation.'

There was a time when I doubted whether Bae Se-jin would remember that experience impressively.

However I never doubted that I would remember what Ryu Geon-woo looked like.

There must be tens of thousands of fans who have seen this guy's face so far but he still remembers the face of a fan he only saw once? The guy who even wore a hat?

However if you point with your finger and shout out an exclamation it means to anyone who sees it 'I know you.' There is no doubt. There is a face this is it.

'after.'

Still I must have been wearing earphones so I couldn't hear the strange situation where 'Ryu Geon-woo' called me brother. good.

As soon as I guessed the situation I immediately opened my mouth. Naturally.

Talk to the guy on your smartphone.

"Brother I will contact you again."

-Uh…? uh…

We can't let Bae Se-jin go with the flow. Just hang up once and ignore it.

However Bae Se-jin moved first. He grabbed my arm and bowed.

"You… I found you!"

"…!"

"That's the guy you saw in the video right?"

At that moment I understood the situation correctly.

'ah. Was it that way?'

right. Now I remember. When I was checking Ryu Cheong-woo's home video Bae Se-jin also accompanied me.

I guess I remembered watching it carefully several times at that time.

…Or maybe you remember me doing something crazy like breaking into a co-worker's house on a holiday night and searching through family videos.

I barely answered.

"…yes. "That's my brother."

"also!"

Bae Se-jin looks at Ryu Geon-woo on the screen with understanding eyes.

'Even so you have a good sense of vision.'

The home video was filmed when I was quite young and the contents inside were also changed so my impression would be different but I think I figured it out.

-Hey… Shall I say hello?

No just stay still.

I glanced at the screen and asked Bae Se-jin's question.

"How did you find it?"

"There is someone in Cheongwoo's family that I contacted."

To prevent further questions and answers and unnecessary talk I also explained the situation in more detail.

Let's end this.

"You know a few days ago the two of us went out for a bit. "We met then and exchanged contact information."

"Hmm okay."

That's… a face that says he didn't even know that Ryu Cheong-wu and I went out that day.

'Well that guy isn't that big of a deal.'

Even though Cha Yu-jin is my roommate she is the type of person who rarely leaves her room.

Anyway the situation seemed to be calming down. I nodded and opened my mouth.

"Although my brother went with me to check out Chungwoo's home videos so I wanted to tell you the news. thank you."

"Well… no. What did I do? Anyway it went well and uh… if there's anything I can help with let me know…"

Bae Se-jin started talking gibberish and then started acting very social.

As soon as he made eye contact with Ryu Geon-woo on the screen he said hello.

“So this is you… Hello.”

-yes? yes…!

Even if that guy answers I can only hear it through my earphones. Why are they greeting each other?

-Ah even if I say this you can’t hear it right?

I guess I finally figured it out.

“…What are you saying?”

“wait a minute.”

Anyway it would be neat if we exchanged brief greetings and hung up.

I deliberately looked at the screen and spoke clearly.

“brother. “I can’t communicate so if you don’t mind I’ll unplug my earphones now.”

It means prepare.

-… I get it!

The guy’s tone changed perhaps because he thought he wouldn’t make a mistake this time. And his expression changed… Could it be that he’s imitating me?

The guy relaxes his face and speaks in a firm voice.

-hello. This is Ryu Geon-woo.

It doesn’t suit me.

“Yes this is Bae Se-jin who is on the same team as Moon Dae.”

As soon as communication began Bae Se-jin returned to her normal self as if saying hello first was a lie. You’re quite shy.

Still it is welcome that the atmosphere has calmed down. This is because the guy on the screen also greeted me too politely to the point of being excessive.

It’s a good sense of distance. Let’s go like this.

-yes. I am rooting for Testa a lot. Congratulations on the grand prize.

“…thank you.”

However Bae Se-jin answered a beat late looked away from the smartphone camera with a strange expression and bowed to me again.

“…Does that person work in broadcasting?”

“…?”

What kind of nonsense is this?

“no. why?”

“It’s just… your face looks familiar…”

Bae Se-jin stopped mid-sentence and stared blankly at the guy who was still imitating me on the screen.

“…”

This is a very meaningful symbol.

I opened my mouth right away.

“Then see you next time…”

“for a moment.”

Bae Se-jin raises his hand and starts talking as if he wants to go.

“Have you ever met me a few years ago? It was at a concert hall and we were talking about autographs in front of the sink…”

“…!”

No there is nothing to be surprised about. Let’s calm down.

‘I’m not sure.’

The idea is to check and see if a flash of thought occurred to you as the situations overlapped.

And isn’t that what that guy on the screen did anyway? You can answer ‘I don’t know what you’re talking about’ without any remorse…

-Uh…! In that bathroom…

“…”

Why are you showing off there?

‘You also experienced resonance with me right?’

I looked at the two excited guys with cold eyes.

‘Ryu Geon-woo’ on screen reacted too warmly and thanks to this Bae Se-jin was immediately convinced.

“…!! also!”

-Wow I was wondering if you would remember…

“…Of course I remember. “I was really grateful at that time.”

Bae Se-jin seemed a little conflicted but eventually added one more word.

“It gave me a lot of strength. Thanks to you I found a lot of good stories.”

-Hmm I see.

What are you squinting your eyes with pride?

It was absurd but he continued speaking in a slightly excited tone.

-I think I would have been very happy to hear it at the time…!

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo back then?

I’m sure I didn’t just go against this guy’s will…

‘Was it telling me to listen?’

I was speechless and stared at his screen.

The big moon seems to have forgotten how to control its expression and the corner of its mouth is twitching with a happy expression. I can hear Bae Se-jin clearing his throat from the side probably out of embarrassment.

“Hmm yes. I am also happy to greet you like this. “I couldn’t even give you an autograph at that time…”

“…”

Okay well… it’s a good thing that something insignificant has helped Bae Se-jin so far.

It’s not a big deal and it’s just a small story so it might be better to just sort it out here and move on rather than realizing it later and making a fuss.

I laughed.

“I’ve already decided to give you a signed album when the next album comes out.”

“Ah hmm that will do.”

-I’m really looking forward to it…

“It’s an honor.”

The atmosphere relaxes slightly. To be precise Bae Se-jin began to shed his shyness alone.

‘It looks like we’re going to have a chat like this.’

Since there might be loopholes in the conversation any further I decided to organize the conversation this time.

“Hyung I heard there’s training tomorrow too. I think I wasted too much time.

-…! That’s right. Sorry I’ll just go into it now.

“Oh yeah. That… yes. thank you.”

Keudal quickly understood the signal this time and the call ended like that.

Tiriring.

Bae Se-jin looked at the disconnected screen and muttered with a mysterious expression on his face.

“…You really were a fan of our group.”

“…”

It would be even weirder if I didn’t ask here right?

“Do you two know each other?”

“It’s not that I met you… I received support as a fan… No I only saw you for a few seconds and I didn’t know you were the person I was looking for until now! “I knew you were looking for me but I didn’t tell you on purpose…”

“I guess so. “Because I don’t remember the faces of everyone I meet.”

“That’s right.”

Bae Se-jin sighed with a somewhat relieved expression.

“Still… it’s fascinating. You and I both got help from the same person… I didn’t know we had this much in common. “I think there really is such a thing as human connection.”

“Sure.”

“Hmm… It’s a bit strange to hear that the person who said such good things in the beginning is still supporting me…”

“I guess it’s because my brother has been doing well so far.”

“Is that so? Hmm not that much but… thank you.”

“What?”

Bae Se-jin seems really excited now.

“Wouldn’t it be nice to say something like that on entertainment? “Isn’t it?”

“…”

Let's stop there.

"There are ways to keep it as a memory between us. "More than that the reason you called me…"

"iced coffee!"

Only then did his expression change and he got to the point.

"That's right I got a call from the company…!"

hmm.

'A call from Bae Se-jin to come running and find me?'

It's not like they're trying to overturn the declaration of surrender. I crossed my arms.

"Your agency?"

"Not that company… but the company above it!"

Bae Se-jin shouted with a somewhat excited face.

"I got a call directly from T1 Entertainment!"

"…!!"

It was the departure of the parent company.

I followed Bae Se-jin into the room. A few people had already gathered in the room following Cha Yu-jin's actions.

"I came home!! As you warned me I quietly escaped without anyone from the AR team detecting me!"

"That's right."

When Kim Rae-bin who went to the studio last joined us the briefing finally began.

“It’s nothing else just an offer.”

“A suggestion?”

Liu Chengwu explained briefly.

T1 Entertainment sent the email directly without going through the agency. The board member’s opinion was sent directly to the person in charge who I spoke with last time regarding the issue of the dedicated team…

I rubbed my chin while listening to that and summarized it in one simple sentence.

“So… they’re saying they’re going to remove us from their direct label.”

“yes.”

It is not under their own subsidiary T1 Stars but as a direct affiliate of the real T1 ENT.

‘You’re crazy.’

It was an incredibly generous offer. They even sent us a plan to reform the settlement structure and explained how much we would benefit.

“Then what is your current agency?”

“There was no mention of that.”

It was worth it.

‘They just write it down because it’s X.’

Originally even if a label was established planning and activities would be carried out independently and the accounting structure including sales processing would belong to T1 Stars.

‘It means that our sales will continue to be attributed to this agency.’

Because it is an affiliated label.

However if this happens the relationship with the agency will simply end.

Literally transfer.

We will even bring a dedicated team with us so the company will be in an emergency situation and will suffer a significant blow.

However there is no need to worry about retaliation as the parent company is raising its fist behind your back.

“If this happens… I’ll be leaving that agency altogether!”

“Oh~”

Perfect timing for an escape that you could only dream of.

There are already people clapping as if it was a refreshing situation…

‘hmm. ‘It’s not good.’

I wiggled my eyebrows.

This is an unprecedented treatment by anyone’s standards and it is a change in Big Deal affiliation that anyone with even a passing interest in the entertainment industry will judge Testa as the right candidate for T1.

So that’s the problem.

‘You shouldn’t get too involved with the T1 image.’

T1 has an image of garbage as it is a large company that operates in the octopus food business.

Even in the cultural business sector there is a lot of talk about ‘ruining the industry ecosystem’ with the aggressive strategy of sucking up KPOP represented by the Tnet channel.

But what about the business signboard image that T1 is pushing?

It’s the worst if it sticks.

‘It’s not just about benefiting from a large company it’s about becoming the main business of T1 Entertainment.’

Even during the Rookie of the Year Awards there was a lot of criticism saying it was tyranny by a major broadcaster but there’s a high chance that T1 will tag us whenever they do something stupid.

This means that if something happens in the future it’s perfect to be framed in the position of a strong perpetrator.

‘Not only that.’

There is also one most crucial reason.

‘…We shouldn’t be perceived as if the company is entirely on our side.’

In business not everything can suit everyone’s tastes. Obviously a problem arises.

It was the same with the idol business.

Then when a problem arises there will be a liability… If the company starts off like this by pretending to care for us and respect us we end up bearing the brunt of the aggro.

-T-One did T-One.

-Oh shit let go of my kids.

Instead of saying this.

-LOL. LOL… Guys please let's do it properly.

– You should think that the members who haven't been active this time are pointless and let go from next time okay?

The number of people saying this is increasing. Absolutely not.

'T1 must be an image whose interests do not coincide with ours.'

The moment this breaks down even if the company makes a mistake it could be treated as the same as the idol and try to cover it more than it should or a crazy situation could arise where the idol is lumped together and blamed.

In the long term it's a handshake.

"…"

"What do you all think? "I… think I'm okay!"

"Me too."

The problem is that just because I think that way I don't know if I can really convince these already excited people.

'Honestly the reason is a bit dirty.'

We need to make people blame the company for things like X but isn't it right to say that we shouldn't make it difficult?

I can see at least three people who won't be persuaded by these words.

'…It would be perfect if there was an emotional justification.'

At that time Raebin Kim next to me muttered quietly in a droopy voice.

“Then some parts of the AR team will completely change their affiliations and break up…”

This guy… he said it well.

This is it.

“Well wouldn’t it be okay to just bring them all?”

“It will be difficult. “I don’t think the agency will come out that easily.”

I answered deliberately assertively.

“It would be a huge blow to the agency if we took out the dedicated team and it would be difficult to get other people out.”

“Umm…”

“So… what happens to those who can’t go with us?”

“You will be working in a more difficult environment than before.”

Raebin Kim’s face turned pale. I crossed my arms.

“But there’s no need for us to force ourselves to stay for those people. “Because we each live our own lives.”

“yes…”

It was then. Sun Ah-hyeon carefully raised her hand.

“Over there…”

“huh.”

“Then why don’t we just stay here and kick out all the bad people? “Isn’t it impossible…?”

I answered calmly.

“It’s hard to kick them out.”

“Uh huh. As expected…”

It was then. Liu Chengwu opened his mouth.

“But isn’t there something we can do to prevent him from doing bad things in the future?”

“…!”

“Right?”

Surprisingly this side also makes some backups. I nodded.

“That’s okay.”

“Oh I like that. Fight!”

Cha Yu-jin immediately changed her stance. He was like a guy. And Bae Se-jin muttered.

“It’s not bad…”

okay. I thought this would be your favorite too.

“Then let’s consider this too.”

There was a pretty good response.

‘That’s it.’

I clasped my hands together.

“Then let’s wait until everyone has completely decided on one side.”

“period?”

“Now that the story has progressed I think it will work.”

I looked back at the guy sitting next to me.

Big Sejin.

“Like he said last time if we are all born with the target we will have a greater say.”

“…!”

That is to the point where the others are at their most restless.

Big Sejin opened his eyes wide and immediately smiled.

I laughed along too.

“Let’s wait until then.”

Testa then received a total of 32 trophies during the end-of-year awards season.

And 5 of them were grand prize trophies.

Our deal started to move at that point.

Chapter 329

“congratulation.”

“Congratulations.”

In January I bowed my head to a senior I met in the hallway of the Gold Disc Awards ceremony.

It was one of the final award ceremonies to end the season but unfortunately I did not receive the grand prize.

‘There was no possibility in the first place.’

This is because there are only two parts like the album and music section. There was no singer award which was equivalent to an overall score.

If this happens the result is obvious.

‘Younglin and VTIC each shared one.’

Yes… This is the guy who greeted me just now.

Cheongryeo smiled brightly.

“You won a lot of good awards from best group to best performance. “I think the fans are very passionate.”

This means that no matter how much I tried I couldn’t win the grand prize because I was cut by grades.

“yes. I think it’s because we worked hard and the fans voted so passionately. “I can’t compare it to my senior’s album.”

This means that there is a lot of talk about those who were left behind in the vote.

“haha.”

“ha ha ha.”

I had a friendly laugh with him. The staff in the hallway look at me with warm eyes as they pass by.

Cheongryeo stopped laughing changed his expression and asked.

“Hmm… Did you organize the ‘impressions’ you said you would share when we met?”

Oh right.

I decided to talk to this guy one more time about what I experienced while entering the body of ‘Ryu Geon-woo’.

‘We were both extremely busy during the season so we didn’t really have a chance.’

I stopped fighting and cleaned things up.

“I found the person I was looking for. “It will help us with what we originally set out to do.”

“aha.”

Cheongryeo’s eyes narrowed.

“It would be fun to meet together once.”

“When I get the chance.”

I found ‘big moon’ and it seemed like I understood the meaning that he would help me deal with the system.

‘I think this would be appropriate for this situation.’

Because it’s not something worth talking about in an open hallway. It was enough to keep this bastard from being uncooperative in the future work.

Cheongryeo grinned.

“I wonder what kind of help he will give me. “Are there any other problems?”

“It’s a problem.”

“yes. I heard that you are setting up your own label. “It’s more complicated than you think.”

Judging by the way he speaks it seems like this guy already knows everything about the conflict between T1’s headquarters and the agency.

“it’s okay. “It’s going well.”

“is it so?”

“yes. “I am just focusing on working harder next year and achieving good results.”

In the end the goal is to clear the ‘Breaking KPOP record’ mission.

Of course it would be best if we could steal the album grand prize from those bastards.

I shrugged.

Of course this bastard will try to irritate people again by saying things like ‘That… must be difficult.’

I looked at him getting ready to take it.

However Cheongnyeo just muttered with a normal expression on her face.

“Um… okay. “Do your best.”

“…”

“Well… this year might be a little easier.”

what?

“Mumundaeya!”

I heard a voice calling me from behind but I stared at Cheongryeo.

But the guy just shrugged and turned away.

“…It’s easy?”

“You said you work hard? Then see you again when the time comes.”

That was the end.

‘What is your intention?’

Isn’t he the guy who pounced on sexual stories like a poisonous snake this year? It’s not like I’m not confident about my next grades.

Strangely… I feel like my excitement has waned.

Why is this guy who only serves half a year in the military acting like that? I looked at the back of his head uneasily and then withdrew my gaze.

‘Should I at least look for VTIC rumors underneath the surface?’

I don’t know if it’s good news bad news or just my mood.

“I’m sorry I had to say goodbye.”

“Ugh no.”

Sun Ah-hyun approached and saw Cheong-ryeo turning away with a slightly nervous look on her face but then she looked back at me and smiled.

“I was meeting senior Youngrin over there and saying hello…!”

“okay? let’s go.”

“Ugh!”

I followed him down the hallway.

As I turned the corner another grand prize winner was smiling.

“Mr. Moon Dae.”

“Senior.”

Younglin won the grand prize for music the day before at the two-day music album awards ceremony.

However I attended the album awards ceremony today and received the main award. And he even sang a song.

‘Usually I only attend the grand prize on one day.’

It was a rare and sincere attitude.

“It’s truly a new year. “I hope all of the testers will show great performance next year as well.”

“I will work harder.”

Youngrin smiled brightly but the dancers behind her began to groan and sob. what?

Youngrin perhaps noticing the attention introduces the dancers.

“These are new friends from my agency next year. “Let’s say hello.”

“hello!!”

It seemed like he was hired as a dancer as a way to gain stage experience. It’s common.

Sun Ah-hyeon looked at it with a happy face and spoke to Young Rin in a low voice.

“I guess you’re a junior who cares a lot about me…”

“Does it look like that? you’re right. “I took charge of producing.”

“Senior…”

The trainees and even Seon Ah-hyun are creating a very warm atmosphere. Of course I have no intention of participating.

‘If it’s produced by Youngrin it would be nice to have a great song.’

I organized the information about the prospective rookie in one corner of my head and also parted ways with Youngrin.

As she returned to the waiting room Sun Ah-hyun touched her hand as if it was something new.

“We have already become seniors…”

“yes. “I’m not a rookie anymore.”

As the new year approaches Testa is already in its fifth year.

Since it has been three and a half years since debut you can say that you have taken off the rookie mask. Now we also need to keep those who are creeping up on us in check.

‘I also have two direct juniors.’

I thought of the two junior groups of Azusa.

Our actions in the future will determine whether or not we will continue to be under ‘direct reporting’.

Will you escape from this agency and go directly to T1? Or should I stay and hold on to it?

“hmm.”

In fact this was almost like a conclusion reached the moment Raebin Kim’s opinion came out.

‘There are so many members who have a close relationship with the planning team and the AR team.’

Aside from the agency’s decision-makers making people angry I can’t help but feel that the working staff whom I see every time shouldn’t have had to suffer.

It would be even worse for people of that age.

As awards season passes I see kids considering the latter.

It was the same for Bae Se-jin. He seemed to be struggling with many aspects and finally came to this conclusion last night during practice.

-If it has the same effect it might be right to stay. I think that would be a better lesson.

It was a moment of virtual unanimity. I laughed and then opened my mouth.

“Seon Ah-hyeon.”

“Hmm?”

“If you stay here who do you want to be the first to shut up about?”

“Shut this mouth…??”

You seem confused. But Sun Ah-hyun soon regained her composure.

“Rather than keeping this mouth shut… I wish we would be more considerate of the people who work and not treat them harshly… That includes us other employees and idols…”

“okay.”

Do not harass members mentally. Please treat me personally.

Well… that’s a good cause.

I grinned.

“Good words.”

“Thank you so much…!”

A few days later we achieved our finale by winning the one and only grand prize at the ‘Korea Music Awards’ the last awards ceremony.

And as soon as we entered the short break before the tour the agency finally began to bend.

Of course my inner feelings were different.

* * *

‘Those vulgar bastards… ’

The head of the department was sitting at his desk shouting foul language in his head which he did not usually say.

There was one reason.

This is because performance was ruined at the most important time because of those idiots who had no blood on their heads.

‘Do you know that it is thanks to you that you are selling well? It’s all thanks to the commercialization created by the company!’

Thanks to all that financial support and quick decision-making he even won the grand prize!

He was thinking of adding the target performance to his portfolio and stepping down to start a new business!

After that shouldn’t you just take care of the label or something else?

I just planned to not make any gestures while I was here and just pass the process on to the next person in charge…

‘Fuck things! ‘I don’t know patience so I can’t stand it anymore!’

He couldn’t believe that he had ended up in such a situation after making such a fuss just because he won the first grand prize.

Especially the one who burst out in his acceptance speech.

Moon-Dae Park.

‘He’s just a stupid idiot.’

I should have looked into it from the start when they started messing around with additional contracts.

It was clear that because he didn’t go to school properly and couldn’t learn he could only use such low and shallow means. This is like a witch hunt-style instigation.

The general manager sighed and put his hand on the Bluetooth keyboard.

Anyway now that he had a falling out with the parent company due to stupid board members the cards he could use were limited.

But at the same time even to that extent there was a glimmer of hope.

‘If we settle things here it will be a blessing in disguise.’

This is because Testa is still dragging its feet instead of immediately saying yes to the offer from T1 headquarters.

There is clearly fear and hesitation about starting a new beginning among themselves.

And in this situation if you just let these guys sit at this label you can leave with your financial statements evaluated as a competent head of the division…

‘Stab here!’

He abandoned the various technical English words and leisurely words he usually used.

Instead I prepared a letter to send to Testa in a serious and honest tone.

[To artist testers.

I am cautious about writing this because I think you must have been very hurt by recent events.

What I can say for sure is that I have thought countless times about the incidents that have hurt your feelings…

…]

‘The company lacked consideration.’

‘But there are numerous communication errors and misunderstandings.’

‘Please don’t hate me and the staff.’

A four-part apology that includes an acknowledgment of a mistake an apology a clever excuse and an emotional appeal worked well everywhere. He tapped the keyboard as if he was going to fly.

[Of course if you leave this agency will suffer a huge blow. I know it can’t be helped but the only thing that matters is that the employees of this company who worked for you never had bad intentions…]

Even emphasizing the working-level staff.

As someone with extensive experience in various businesses the general manager was able to pinpoint Testa’s weakest psychological state with surprising accuracy.

And as if in response to that wonderful thrust the reply came the next day.

“…!”

It was a letter delivered on the side of Testa’s leader Ryu Cheong-woo.

[I read the article you sent carefully.]

The writing that started like that was composed of an uncomfortable feeling a polite rebuttal to his writing and a bit of depression.

[You didn’t even want to keep the terms in the contract so how can we give you more trust? I’m not sure.]

‘Is that right!’

It was true that these were in conflict!

Once the reply came there was already room for this rejection in that there was no sarcasm or personal attacks.

He wrote again himself. I felt like my head was on fire with passion.

‘It was never my intention to keep the terms of the contract. It’s a shame but it’s the end of the year and the company doesn’t have enough manpower… ’

Several letters were exchanged like that.

There was an attempt to meet in person but Testa canceled the meeting using schedule as an excuse.

The head of the headquarters keenly caught that point.

‘It’s shaking.’

Normally when people hear voices in person and meet face to face they tend to reveal deeper stories.

That’s what’s scary. I feel anxious about being persuaded!

‘We’re really there.’

He analyzed Testa’s writings and read their desires in an amazing way.

And in the following writing I threw in a bait that would satisfy that need.

‘Independent label staff expansion OK.’

‘This… can be approached through integrated management of the management office.’

‘If we talk about it as forming a direct AR team we have no choice but to move on.’

Each time he sent a letter Testa’s response became more and more emotional.

‘good!’

passing. Also there was a sense of pleasure as if I had cleared a game stage.

And finally.

In the fifth letter Testa accepts the meeting.

“after…!!”

A great achievement achieved in just one week.

The head of the headquarters prepared for the meeting with a clear mind sending a message to the board of directors that “we are proceeding positively.”

‘The moment it comes out it’s over.’

Last time the only problem was that the guy who was in a coma got dragged into a lawsuit and all that to a very low level.

I originally thought that coaxing guys in their early to mid-20s wasn’t a job for him.

“hello.”

And the only one who showed up that day was leader Ryu Cheong-woo.

“I discussed with the members and they said it would be better for me the leader to be seen as the representative so I was the only one who came forward.”

“Oh I see.”

It was better.

‘It’s the best setting.’

I’ve already told the staff that he’s a guy who only plays sports and has a docile personality that doesn't want to create any unexpected situations.

This predictable model is the best way to persuade even alone.

The head of the headquarters also considered the idea of that crazy guy coming out.

'They probably cut it in their own line.'

Because he was overly impulsive and unreasonable he was not allowed to appear in places where serious conversations were needed.

'That means I thought this position was important.'

It seemed like the highlands were already in sight. The head of the headquarters began the conversation by offering coffee to Ryu Cheong-woo who put down his umbrella.

"With a latte?"

"thank you."

After a short personal conversation the main topic came out in a gentle atmosphere.

Liu Chengyu held his glass and spoke in a low voice.

"There are many different opinions among us. To be exact… there are more people who want to leave but there are also members whose attitude changed a bit after talking with the general manager."

"is it so. "I'm really curious about what you like the most."

"that…"

Liu Chengyu seemed conflicted and sighed a few times.

'Open it quickly!'

And only when the director's annoyance was exhausted did he open his mouth again.

"I guess I still have trust issues."

"Trust."

"yes. We were lucky enough to be able to create a label but we wouldn't have been able to do it if we were other idols. "I have… such doubts."

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly.

"That said there are some members who think the director's explanation is just words. "I'm interested in the human rights of idols… so that friend is a strong-willed person."

It was the thought of children with many dreams.

'Those rich people who earn tens of billions of dollars are saying they are full. Anyway.'

Even though he thought it was a bad idea the head of the headquarters thought of an appropriate answer.

It seems that they are hoping to show at least an ethical gesture that will satisfy their moral vanity rather than profit.

'Other idols can't do it. la.'

"…!"

At that moment an amazing thought occurred to the head of the headquarters. 'With this there's nothing to give away!'

He smiled on the inside and opened his mouth with a somber expression on the outside.

"Then…"

* * *

“I received it.”

“Oooh!”

“Thank you for your hard work despite the rain!”

After returning from the meeting Ryu Cheong-woo smiled and shared the documents he had taken in the group chat room.

[T1 Stars artists can sign with an affiliated label when renewing their contract and this must be agreed upon before renewing their contract.]

This is the certification that ‘anyone can go to the label when renewing their contract.’

“You really did it.”

“I know.”

Liu Chengwu shrugged his shoulders.

“Actually I didn’t expect to get so many OKs in writing.”

“that’s right!”

“I’m Moon Dae’s wizard!”

What are you talking about when you write it all together?

“It’s because we are the best. “It just made things a little easier.”

If we can hold on to our company by raising our treatment it will all disappear anyway so of course we won’t do that.

However we just wanted to do it in a way that the company voluntarily offered it rather than asking for it.

‘That way you won’t be able to say anything else later.’

But the guys next to me laughed.

“Oh~ humility~”

Done. I shook my head and laughed.

“Cheongwoo is even greater. “You received almost exactly what we said.”

“well. “They just took care of it for me…?”

However Bae Se-jin also raised his hand.

“…Great!”

“Well thank you.”

Apparently he was extremely impressed by the change in company guidelines. It says ‘I did it!’ written all over my face.

‘It’s amazing.’

Can I unconditionally select an affiliated label when renewing my contract? This kind of thing is not done on most large scales.

‘It must have been possible because of the special nature of this agency.’

Anyway the audition program is structured to select the hottest kids of the season.

I guess the board of directors gave the OK with the thought that Testa was just a special case and that the later ones would be used well for 5 years and replaced when they wear off.

Even if you go to the label sales will be made anyway.

‘Stupid bastards.’

In other words who in the company will pay attention to those who paint a picture that their group will do well even after 5 years?

This is the label that the most popular first-tier idols belong to.

‘And when the idols create an atmosphere the working staff also agrees with it.’

In the end it was a question of influence. I swiped the amendment floating on the screen.

‘We take them out one by one.’

If this continues eventually the label will grow and the agency will become nothing more than a shell in name.

I eventually grinned and opened my mouth.

“I’m glad it ended well. Thank you all for your hard work.”

“Thank you for your hard work!”

“Ah let’s quickly decide on a label name!”

High fives and laughter fill the living room. That’s really heartwarming.

Now before we do something fun with this label…

“I have something to do first.”

“Hmm?”

“Plans for preparing the next album.”

Raebin Kim tilts his head.

“Wasn’t it a parallel work during the tour…?”

“that’s right.”

I smiled and crossed my arms.

“Speaking of that plan during our tour we were spending once a week in the same room.”

Cha Yu-jin’s eyes lit up. I guess I remembered it right away because it was a tradition that arose from my own escape.

“that’s right. there is!”

“…Liu Chengwu made a good suggestion.”

“haha.”

Liu Chengyu looked a little proud. Keun Se-jin comes in between them.

“Oh~ Shall we get together like this again and prepare our album? Like the songwriting camp back then?”

“Wow.”

“I agree!

The friendly guys smiled and looked at each other. I also smiled and opened my mouth.

“My proposal is a little different.”

“huh?”

“Not once a week but three days.”

“…”

“I thought it would work because the tour schedule was ample. And there is one more difference.”

“What is it?”

I laughed at Bae Se-jin.

“It’s an album so I have to do it to death.”

“…!”

“This will be an overtime camp not a hobby camp.”

Quagwagwang!!

At that moment lightning struck casting a shadow on the faces of those who opened their mouths.

That’s how the ‘KPOP Hell Camp – Tester’ draft was announced.

Chapter 330

Testa's global tour.

Although it was not possible to copy the Seoul concert using the musical as is important key parts and stage equipment were carefully removed and included.

'For sure the planning and AR working-level staff do a good job.'

Now that it has been launched as a label the workforce has become more active. It felt like I was getting a taste of escape.

For reference the head of the planning team was the label's representative. He is a person with good sense and experience who does not do unnecessary things so he is the perfect candidate.

'I'm not a celebrity so even if a problem arises I don't have to be the target of personal criticism.'

During this process I also heard some absurd things.

-How about having a literary school become the representative?

-yes? Would you like to do it?

-Haha sorry.

There was a guy who came up with an idea that would require 10 more years of annual leave.

'An idol directly represents a label.'

There are endless things to catch. Rather tell him to set up a company and become the president. I held back a sigh.

Anyway… the first performance of the tour was very successful.

[Let me breathe!]

At the end of the last encore song cheers could be heard for a long time until the group came back to the stage soaked in sweat and water.

Wow!

thud!

Cha Yu-jin who excitedly jumped down the steel stairs laughed out loud.

“It’s really fun! “Concerts are the best!”

“That’s right…!”

“I like it better because the stage shines so brightly. “I really need to do this a lot!”

I guess swinging a lightsaber was really fun. I chuckled and just shook the moisture off my head.

Instead Bae Se-jin who was wiping his stomach with a towel awkwardly opened his mouth.

“Of course… concerts have their charm.”

“brother!”

The guy who always thought he was going to die because of his physical strength and nervousness before his debut is now saying things like that.

‘Have you been influenced by the two of you becoming roommates?’

Cha Yu-jin shouted even more excitedly after rubbing shoulders with

Bae Se-jin.

“Don’t take a week off it’s okay! Do it again! “We rehearse a lot!”

Is that so?

“We don’t take a week off.”

“Ah??”

I draped the towel over my shoulder.

“We should go camping.”

“…”

“…”

“yes! “We have prepared for you to have a great time!”

Only a workaholic is excited.

No wait. Don’t you all like working?

“Do you not want to work?”

“…! Oh no…!”

Then what is it?

At that time Bae Se-jin turned his head and muttered following Sun Ah-hyun’s words.

“When you say that… something crazy usually happens.”

“…”

“Yes everyone got scared because Park Moon-dae spoke in such a meaningful way~ It's Moon Dae-moon University's fault… Wow!"

It's noisy.

I slapped Big Sejin on the back. And I immediately regretted it because of the moisture sticking to my hands. Ryu Cheong-wu who was watching this with happy eyes opened his mouth.

"Hmm then after the Osaka concert tomorrow is it a camp instead of an after-party?"

"iced coffee…"

The atmosphere is melting away.

However there is no one who is opposed to holding an after-party instead of camp.

…Are you really scared?

'Did I speak too one-sidedly?'

Now that I think about it I guess I didn't collect opinions properly. I shook my head rubbing the back of my neck.

"We have to… have an after-party."

"…!"

I relaxed and smiled.

"It's been a while since I've had a concert so I need to celebrate. "Even though I received the grand prize I was so busy that I couldn't do it properly."

"Park Moon-dae…"

"Ugh that's right…!"

Working for a long time… No because physical strength is important when working together.

I nodded satisfied with the warm atmosphere.

“Let’s move.”

“Yes~”

Soon Testa began running backstage following the instructions of the staff and leader while hearing the cheers that had not yet stopped.

I let the others go first and slowly left. Then a large figure came next to me.

“You know it’s a joke right? “Everyone follows your opinion because the results are always good.”

“…”

“It’s not because you pushed me right?”

“okay.”

“That’s right~”

I looked again at Big Sejin who was smiling. Certainly… he was a guy with a deeper heart than just being quick-witted…

So I feel more confident.

‘I’m definitely waiting.’

Until I revealed my situation. You may be analyzing the discomfort you have felt so far in your own way.

‘Should I look at the timing during camp?’

Once while working this guy was completely exhausted and lost his ability to think critically citing various movies and dramas as examples…

“Let’s do well with our next album as well.”

okay. You thought that would come first too.

‘Let’s just take care of our work first.’

The next day’s concert went well without any minor injuries in surprisingly good conditions.

And the after-party ended well and at an appropriate and pleasant level.

It was an appropriate basis.

Thanks to this everyone attended the camp the next day with smiling faces.

“Shall I order room service?”

“The manager brought us laptops for our composition camp!”

We had a great time and everyone looks good. There is also a lot of passion.

I didn’t stop these guys from setting up the food and seating because they were so excited.

On the contrary he tried to help appropriately but when he relaxed he attacked him.

Suite living room. I turned on the teleprompter in front of the guys sitting on the sofa side by side.

[Testa’s direction]

“Ahyun-ah-hyun look at that I prepared the presentation materials. I’m completely sincere.”

“Ugh…”

So is this serious or a joke?

“First let me tell you the results of my analysis of the current situation.”

Cha Yu-jin quietly put down the popcorn she was eating.

“As everyone knows Testa won grand prizes at five different awards ceremonies this year.”

“Ohh.”

“But this is not what you need to see now.”

“yes?”

I changed the screen.

[Distribution of Lovers]

[-> Grand Prize Popularity Award Voting Pool]

“This is the result of a popular vote.”

I stretched out my hand.

“As you can see we won popularity awards at three awards ceremonies. “What do we have in common?”

“I don’t know! Please let me know!”

You are proud.

“These are places that have blocked overseas voting. “The firepower of domestic fans makes Testa one of the top two singers who have made a comeback this year.”

“and.”

“Mundae where on earth did you get this?”

“The Internet.”

I spoke again to those who opened their mouths.

“But the moment overseas KPOP fans participate in the voting it turns around.”

“…The VTIC seniors will definitely win.”

“Of course.”

I changed the graph to vote rankings. There are even one or two examples of voting results captured in which Testa came in third or fourth place.

“They are even pushed out by idols from other large agencies.”

“hmm.”

“We are still clearly weak overseas.”

I came to a conclusion.

I brought you here to say this.

“So for my next album I would like to promote properly towards the global market. What do you think?”

“…”

Members exchanged glances with each other or looked at the presentation screen.

There was no active approval. Even Cha Yu-jin whose base is in the United States.

I laughed inwardly.

'That's right.'

No one should fall for such naive words.

Instead a rebuttal came in.

"If I do well domestically won't people abroad recognize me? "We have found many cases where attempts to force entry did not work out."

right. In fact because we thought about that we didn't bother to pursue overseas activities until now.

"I already won the grand prize so I think people who are aware of the domestic situation will know. "Isn't it time to increase our overseas exposure and appeal a little more?"

"Um… okay."

Liu Chengwu seemed to have been convinced in his own way. But the next one struck.

"But on the other hand I don't think domestic fans will like it that much so that's a bit awkward~"

It's a big hit.

"Of course we will do a lot of W apps and show a lot of our own content but honestly there is a sense of distance between us. Doing so right after receiving the grand prize may seem unloyal!"

I crossed my arms and smiled.

“Yes if the most prosperous people in the country change their course to be more foreign-friendly it would be like toadyism.”

“Well it might not be that bad but we should be aware of the disappointment and be considerate! This is it. Even though I know everything about the university~”

That was an accurate point.

“That’s true.”

I nodded.

“So it would be best if we were invited.”

“invitation?”

“yes. They’re calling us from America. Then you can increase your exposure by just visiting.”

“Let’s go…”

It’s not that we’re anxious and anxious to advance into the US but because they’re calling us we feel like we should go and do some activities.

Instead of giving an answer I only spit out conditions.

“I hope it’s not overtly KPOP-related. “The VTIC seniors have already taken care of everything there.”

“At the same time I hope that calling us doesn’t seem too artificial.”

“It’s topical so it’s worth using.”

As the words continue to come out the members’ faces become increasingly blank. Yes it’s tricky so think about it slowly.

But the moment I closed my mouth there was someone who immediately raised his hand.

‘oh.’

This is Raebin Kim.

“Even if I tell you my opinion…”

“Of course. say.”

“yes! “I would like to tell you about a field that we have recently been involved with and is gaining great recognition in the United States!”

I laughed inwardly. It seemed like the right answer would come out.

“Where are you?”

“This is ‘Ruin Factory’ a company from 〈127 Section〉.”

“…!”

“The newly released game is also a huge hit in the U.S. and it is said that a movie will be made based on that worldview so I think it would be a good idea for us to take on the challenge of participating in the movie’s OST!”

“Woah movie??”

Of course opposition poured in from all over.

“Hmm~ Wouldn’t it be nice to do that again? “We didn’t create a separate ‘Star’s Song’ account for nothing.”

Of course getting involved with that game company again is completely crazy.

And surprisingly in response to Keun Se-jin’s remark Bae Se-jin provides support.

“okay! And T1 also owns that company. “It seems like it was planned from within the company…!”

In fact unless it was a company conspiracy how could we contact them first but image was also the most important part.

‘If it is judged as a media play for self-praise it will only become a joke from then on.’

However Raebin Kim did not withdraw his opinion.

Instead we released more information.

“…! That could be so. However what I confirmed is that the movie is being produced somewhere other than T1.”

“where?”

“It’s a Hollywood production.”

“…!”

“This is news I saw in the comments while running the Byeolbyeolgok account. Gamers were all looking forward to it as it was handled by ‘Limestone’.”

“Limestone??”

Cha Yu-jin whistled.

“There’s a hero movie production company! [Insanely famous!]”

That’s right. This is a line of hero movies under an animation company notorious for its IP business.

A completely American businessman.

I opened my mouth.

“So… through our company T1 we can make contact quickly but in fact it can look like the call is from an American company.”

Also since the movie production company is another large company with a famous IP it is also reminiscent of the feeling that they are too intertwined with the game and feel bored with each other.

“yes! Are you okay?”

Are you okay?

It was the best.

‘You’ve caught candidate number 1 right away.’

As expected this guy has this sense regardless of his senses. It’s the sense of being able to choose the fun things you want to do.

“I like it.”

“…!”

“I wonder how everyone is doing.”

“I like it!”

“Of course I do too!”

There are quite a few positive votes.

It seemed like a lot of people were interested because it was a fresh challenge and a lot of their concerns were resolved.

Finally Big Sejin smiled and opened his mouth.

“Okay let’s try hard~”

“Well then the conclusion has been reached.”

We decided to aim for participation in the OST of a Hollywood hero movie that is the essence of subculture.

There was sporadic applause here and there.

“Are you contacting the person who will be the CEO of Les Labels and telling them that you would like to work together?”

“that’s right.”

“and.”

“I liked that game. “It’s good if a good movie is made.”

Bae Se-jin muttered quietly.

“But what if I don’t accept it…?”

“So what? Limestone loss.”

“…I see.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugs asking why she was so scared when she was the grand prize singer. The atmosphere became a bit lighter.

‘good.’

Good timing. I opened my mouth.

“Then I hope that this title will also be interesting to those who are accustomed to hero movies based on original games.”

“yes.”

“I think it will be a very fun project.”

“Hmm good.”

I laughed.

“Then from now on let’s pick a concept that works well doesn’t seem like we’re trying too hard and represents the colors of Testa well. practice.”

“practice…”

That’s how the KPOP Hell Camp full of brainstorming began.

However there was a problem.

Unlike hobby composition camps the difference between honor students and inferior students became more pronounced.

Chapter 331

At Raebin Kim's encouragement mountain lodge composition camp only complimentary feedback was possible.

So even if a beginner had to struggle a bit with development everyone just laughed and moved on. Because I just went there to have fun.

However when it comes to 'work' the words change.

Let's take a look at Bae Se-jin's carefully expressed opinion here.

"…Anyway the song 'Promise' won the grand prize. Then how about making a series based on this?"

"This is a common sense suggestion!"

It might seem like the feedback would end this warmly but it doesn't.

"yes. It's good to push the ones with the best grades. However for a target song the overseas reaction was so-so without any surprises."

"Is that so?"

"I see. I think overseas people would prefer something stronger like 'Drill'~"

"that's right. "I'm against it!"

In an instant it breaks apart mercilessly like this.

"…okay. "You can just cancel!"

"I liked it. Sejin I'm sorry."

“Hmm. okay. Well then what do you think!”

There is no particular criticism. However if you are criticized by the majority you will naturally move on.

“Is there anything else fresh?”

“I came up with a unique idea! “The concept of a robot was created by bringing out the mechanical sounds using MIDI and electric noise…”

“Woo~ cheesy~~”

No there are some people who blatantly boo.

“Cha Yu-jin you haven’t expressed any opinions since a while ago and have only been criticizing which is a very inappropriate attitude!”

“Ok! I’ll tell you. “I like transformation heroes!”

“We did it for ‘Azusa’ and when we do the OST there’s too much overlap. Dismissed.”

“right…”

Please give yourself a boo.

Anyway most of the members made sensible remarks in this way. It’s just that it didn’t fit the current situation so it was tacitly and quickly dismissed.

As a result the brainstorming turnover rate is extraordinary.

“Because the story is so confusing let’s put it into a diagram. “I captured only the essence of the concept that received the best response overseas and the concept of the hero movie OST.”

“Okay~ Is the door made for you?”

You pass on things naturally.

“Sorry. It’s Mundae. “I need to learn something like this too.”

“it’s okay. “What do you do when you have so many things to do?”

In the end it took just half a day to select the concept characteristics we should aim for.

-1. Intense (Hero Movie)

-2. Unique (Testa)

-3. Friendliness (American)

I organized it without even taking a breath.

“A concept based on intense action beats American-friendly and unique to Testa.”

“…”

“…”

“and.”

If this kind of request came from the company the proposition that one would beat the boss to death was completed.

But you have to do it. That’s what arts and physical education are all about.

“From now on we will use this as the central framework… and talk about the desired concept and song.”

“yes…”

The bloody meeting that had been going on like crazy entered a lull for a while.

“My throat hurts…”

“Eujin from now on let’s whisper instead of shouting. “You can’t perform at a concert with a hoarse voice.”

While listening to Ryu Cheong-woo quietly beating Cha Yu-jin with facts I checked on the other guys.

‘First of all Kim Rae-bin is doing well.’

This is almost at the military level. pass.

‘Geunsejin also has good visibility.’

On the contrary he was more capable here than at the creative writing camp which was just a hobby. The ability to filter out good opinions and gather public opinion is top-notch.

‘Cha Yu-jin adds vitality.’

By expressing opposition without hesitation at a level that does not offend it keeps the meeting going.

‘…It’s a good group.’

Now rather than just coming up with good ideas I am happy to come up with useful stories without being discouraged even when I am limited and pushed by a framework.

And when we got to the composing part one unexpected guy also made a great save.

This is Bae Se-jin.

“…since you say it’s American how about taking some metaphors from American literature?”

It was an approach that no one had thought of.

“American literature?”

‘It feels good.’

I asked back right away.

“Did you have anything specific in mind?”

“I was thinking about the Edgar Allan Poe novels among the classic novels.”

Edgar Allan Poe.

He was a pioneer of American mystery novels and horror novels.

“You know that strange thing. “It’s very famous and distinctive…”

“Oooh.”

Perhaps thanks to the positive response Bae Se-jin spoke quickly with a slightly flushed face.

“You know ‘Black Cat’ written by that author? It’s creepy and has a twist… Isn’t that exactly the kind of uniqueness that Testa is trying to achieve?”

“…!”

“I think so…!”

oh.

As someone who reads a lot of books he speaks of symbolistic ideas quite convincingly.

‘Is it classic horror literature?’

It’s okay.

First of all Kim Rae-bin's eyes are shining.

"If the concept is right I think it will come out as a very cool composition even if it is quoted in rap lyrics. "I will definitely write it down."

"…okay."

It was almost the first time that Bae Se-jin himself came forward and expressed his opinions on producing.

'You're surprisingly talented.'

Bae Se-jin may not have known that it would be received so well but a faint look of pride appeared on Bae Se-jin's face.

Liu Chengwu smiled and organized it.

"So how about making it feel like a Hollywood movie based on American classic literature and mixing our worldview with it?"

"First of all that's how we get started with producing."

I rubbed my chin.

Honestly it's a bit… insufficient.

'I just don't feel like I'm getting anywhere.'

First of all I decided to focus on the fact that I had a grasp of the idea and came up with the idea.

'The point is that you can complete it while working on the movie OST in parallel.'

In fact the push for this camp was not specifically intended to produce high-quality results right away.

Rather it was closer to checking and encouraging each member's producing ability.

‘I was just trying to see if the label would do well.’

Because now the group is really standing on its own.

‘Becoming an independent label gives you greater decision-making authority but there are definitely people who need an adjustment period.’

And so far most of the members have been good savers. Everyone talks well and is cooperative.

‘Ryu Cheong-wu has a talent for tuning so it’s okay.’

I gave almost everyone a passing grade.

But after looking around there is only one person left.

“…”

“Seon Ah-hyeon.”

“Ugh…!”

The guy who had been arguing with me almost all day raised his head.

“I’m curious what you think about the drafts that have just been released.”

“Ugh… I think everyone has good opinions…!”

“Which part?”

Sun Ah-hyun flinched but answered slowly.

“Ha Hollywood movies… have a very popular feel. “I think it’s good to add a deeper feeling like classic literature…"

"…okay."

okay. If you ask people openly and slowly one by one like this you will get pretty good feedback.

The problem is that real time which is the most important thing in working is not possible.

'I can't give an opinion.'

Sun Ah-hyun is amazing at expressing a given task well but she is still a bit weak when it comes to original ideas or ideas.

However unless it is a moral issue they are not willing to fight even if opposing opinions arise.

Out of consideration I try to take a step back and listen to other people's opinions so I can't figure out the right time to intervene.

In short in these matters you just add numbers to the majority vote.

I know that too.

-brother! Any opinions?

-I am… not yet.

-Um~ OK.

-…

After this conversation with Cha Yu-jin Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head.

I sat next to him.

“It’s okay to take it slow.”

“…huh.”

Sun Ah-hyun didn’t seem to agree but she nodded.

That was actually okay.

‘You have your own pride.’

I guess I feel a strange sense of competition over what I can’t do. There is room for development…

“What’s wrong with the atmosphere?”

“…!”

Big Sejin laughed and joined in.

“Ah~ I wonder what Mundae said about Ahyeon not being able to express much of her opinion!”

“…”

“Oh no…!”

Sun Ah-hyun reacted a beat late. I think I felt that way…

“Why do you care about such things? There are a lot of friends who are this good at producing. Let’s just enjoy it Ahyeon!”

Of course these words did not work for Sun Ah-hyun.

“There will come a time when I have to do it myself…”

Big Sejin grinned.

“In that case the university can do it for you!”

“…!”

“Aren’t you going to produce Ahyun’s solo after college?”

“My my solo??”

“okay! “Aren’t we going to play as a unit or solo at least once in the future?”

The explanation of the sad situation ‘when other members went to the military’ was cleverly omitted.

Anyway I chuckled.

“If you want it of course you should do it.”

“…!”

“Look can I feel at ease?”

“huh.”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled faintly and stood up with a more relaxed expression.

“Thank you.”

“what.”

Still when I looked into his eyes it seemed like the spirit of ‘trying it out’ had not died. I guess I just felt a little more at ease.

“I’ll go in.”

“okay.”

“Ahyun see you tomorrow~”

Today's camp was almost over so some people had already left.

Sun Ah-hyun followed them out of the suite living room with a thoughtful look on her face.

"…"

Big Se-jin kept his mouth shut until Seon Ah-hyeon disappeared.

And then he blurted out something.

"Ahyun takes great care of me every time."

"Because I'm a member."

"Um really?"

Keun Se-jin added in a relaxed tone.

"You know that Ahyun of Mundae does really well once she gets her producing job and starts preparing right?"

embrace. Still I want to grow it a bit.

"When we have time to worry about friends of the same age let's do our best~"

"okay."

No actually you are all younger than me. I tolerated Big Sejin snickering and patting me on the back.

'This guy is still fine.'

It looks like I have some stamina left so if I talk nonsense now I won't be able to recover even a single bone.

I got up thinking that I would have to wait until tomorrow to reveal my ‘circumstances’ again.

“Where are you going?”

“restroom.”

Just then I received an unexpected text message on my smartphone.

[The concert was so cool it was the best ㅠㅠ]

“…”

It’s a big month.

[Did you follow the tour?]

[yes! Since it’s a neighboring country I worked hard on the weekend and I think I did really well. This is healing…]

Yes he is rich enough to be able to afford to fly first class.

I tried to estimate how much this guy had and then shrugged. It doesn’t matter how you use it as long as you don’t get scammed.

But one after another another text message arrived.

[Are you okay with video calls? There is something I want to check.]

hmm.

I think something is going on with this.

[okay. for a moment]

[yes!!]

I entered the small room where Liu Chengwu was typing on his laptop.

“I’m going to have a video call with Ryu Geon-woo for a moment.”

“Um okay.”

I thought about getting a new room and making a phone call but I thought it would be more suspicious and misunderstood so I decided against it. This suite was my room.

If this guy is there even if other guys snoop around they’ll cut him.

‘…It’s reassuring to have someone I know.’

“Can I say hello too?”

“You can do whatever you feel comfortable with.”

I made a video call to Geoldal and it was accepted as soon as I heard the call tone.

-hello!

“…You keep saying the opposite.”

-Oh sorry… are you outside?

“yes.”

This time an unexpected accident like last time is unlikely.

-how have you been doing?

“sure.”

Geoldal immediately corrected his tone and only then did I ask how he was doing and get straight to the point.

“Why do you want to talk on the phone…”

At that time Liu Chengwu called from behind.

“Mundae?”

I said it was okay to say hello so why bother giving permission again?

“No that’s not it… Sejin said he wanted to say hello too.”

“…!”

“Oh not my younger brother Sejin but Bae Sejin.”

When I turn my head I see Bae Se-jin standing beyond the door looking a little nervous.

Liu Chengwu looks a little embarrassed.

“You claim to be someone you know… Is that right?”

I’m going crazy.

I looked at Bae Se-jin and Bae Se-jin cleared his throat.

“Well… I see you make video calls like this often. “I thought I’d say hello too…”

“…Um yes.”

If I say OK here without thinking I think I’ll just keep telling useless lies. I racked my brain for a way to end this shocking situation.

It was then.

“What are you all doing there… um?”

Big Sejin saw the three guys gathered together in front of the door and came over.

I immediately pressed the end call button.

Tiring.

“Park Moon-dae you’re on the phone…!”

“ah.”

Bae Se-jin was shocked probably thinking it was a mistake. Big Sejin burst into laughter.

“Were you on the phone? “I was wondering where you went when you said you were going to the bathroom.”

“I got a call from someone I knew briefly.”

“okay?”

Big Sejin looked back at Ryu Cheongwu and Bae Sejin and shrugged his shoulders.

“…Do you all know each other?”

“Ah… this is the person who helped me with my door when I was young.”

“Ah that’s right.”

“There is someone Park Moon-dae has been looking for since last year. “That… ah.”

Bae Se-jin saw the atmosphere and belatedly shut his mouth.

‘Damn it.’

Of course he brought it up thinking that Big Sejin would know but then he realized that he didn’t but it was worse than not doing anything.

“Anyway it just so happens that I also know someone…”

“Ah… yes.”

“…”

Big Sejin kept his mouth shut. There is an awkward silence between visits for no reason.

“…Shall we go take a rest first? “This is the original Mundae room.”

“That’s right.”

Bae Se-jin looked at me with an expression that made a mistake but when I shook my head she closed her mouth and followed Ryu Cheong-wu out of the room.

“Sejin let’s go in too.”

“…”

Instead of responding to Ryu Cheong-wu’s call Big Se-jin massaged his own shoulders.

And after a while he seemed to turn around and suddenly opened his mouth.

“Isn’t it a bit… too much?”

“…!”

It was a tearful cry.

“How many times have I… everyone knows but it seems like I’m the only one who doesn’t know.”

Fuck you.

It was misleading.

“No not everyone knows. “It’s not that kind the situation before was…”

“Then why do you know everything when you say it’s hard to explain? Now even that brother…”

It seemed like Big Sejin was holding back his next words for a moment. And then I shut my mouth.

“…”

‘Open your mouth.’

I barely thought of something to say. And then I opened my mouth as calmly as possible.

“therefore…”

“Park Moon-dae was just embarrassed. “Are you not sorry to me at all?”

“…!”

Words come out reflexively.

“no.”

“okay? however…”

Big Sejin opened his mouth as if he was going to shoot but… he sank again.

“…No I’ll talk now… Let’s talk later.”

“for a moment. you…”

“later.”

Big Se-jin muttered to himself in a voice that wasn’t that angry then opened the room and left in an instant.

bang.

I left so quickly that I immediately heard the front door closing.

Bae Se-jin muttered in the hallway.

“…sorry.”

“…”

It’s ruined.

Chapter 332

What kind of situation is this?

I am lying in bed. I don't have any particularly good thoughts. I'm just ruminating.

The situation right before when I went to visit Keun Se-jin who had left the camping hotel room.

-Beep.

I rang the doorbell of Keun Se-jin's hotel private room but there was no response.

-…

I wondered if he was not in the room. But is he the type of person who will go out and make a fuss while Keun Se-jin is so busy?

It's definitely inside.

-Lee Se-jin.

I waited a moment and rang the doorbell again.

Then came the response.

Grumble.

From your smartphone not from your door.

[Moondae let's talk next time. I'm a bit tired now.]

That was the end.

“…”

I took my hand off the pillow checked the text once and swiped it away.

-Are you okay?

“uh.”

And now Ryu Geon-woo’s face appears on the screen. Because I’m resuming the call I hung up earlier.

…I have to do my job.

“What is the story you were trying to tell?”

-… wait a minute.

The thing on the screen moves. Then raise both hands and point into the air.

-Do you see this?

“no.”

The guy on the screen cautiously lowers his hand.

-You can’t see it…

“…”

-I’ve done a little research since the last time I logged in to take down the ‘reward receipt’ pop-up.

I see.

-A few days ago I was able to load and display the status window from my side. So I wonder if you can see it on the screen…

“okay.”

It was something worthy of making a video call. I understood.

And when he closed his mouth the room became quiet again.

“…”

A cautious voice was heard.

-That brother. After all what happened earlier?

“no.”

Can you stop asking that?

I almost felt annoyed for a moment but I realized there was no need to and pressed it.

…For this guy since the phone suddenly hung up of course he can ask.

“Someone who didn’t know the situation came and hung up on me and there was some misunderstanding.”

-ah…

After a short exclamation the guy became silent again. It seems like he roughly understood the situation.

‘Is this the end of the story?’

Now when you wonder if it would be okay to end the call and hang up.

-Well… then wouldn’t it be okay if I told you the situation?

“what?”

-You're Sejin Lee right? You were my brother's close friend. then…

"I came back to the past in someone else's body and became an idol. If I didn't do it I would die so just tell the story of how I leveled up and came this far."

-…

"Common sense tells me this… No I'm sorry."

At that moment I realized why Big Sejin stopped the conversation and left. I guess I did it to avoid unnecessary yelling.

I shook my head and continued.

"I will organize my thoughts and analyze the status window problem you just mentioned so you should take a break today as well…"

-no. brother.

The guy stopped talking.

-I think this is the first time I've seen you so uninterested in talking about the system. Normally you would have asked a lot of questions.

"…!"

-I think you are very concerned about the current situation.

"…"

And then I heard a small voice.

-Then why don't you just talk… and be comfortable?

I clenched my fists without thinking.

It was that moment.

I suddenly remembered the afterimages derived from those words.

The mistakes this guy made every time he met me.

-brother!

-Geonwoo hyung ummm…

Errors in titles or endings.

I thought it was because he was such a bad person at deceiving others.

But now that I think about it it's strange that someone who lived in Ryu Geon-woo's body for so many years made such mistakes every time…

Isn't it unnatural?

"You must have made a mistake every time the members were around…"

-…

"Maybe they wanted me to get caught."

After a moment of silence.

A voice came from the screen.

-Maybe…

"…!"

-I wasn't conscious of it at the time but I think I did it subconsciously… because I thought it would be helpful to my brother.

"what."

-Testa is a close person who has lived with my brother for several years. I wanted my brother to feel at ease after telling him the secret…

It is an action based on good will.

However it reminds me of something in that it does not take into account the other person's wishes and feelings at all.

And he says that too.

-But that's what the system does.

okay.

-You're just ignoring your thoughts and feelings.

This was too mechanical and inhuman an impulse for this weak guy.

I slowly opened my mouth.

"…So you guessed that the system was being affected?"

The last time I met him he reminded me of a guy who was particularly afraid of the system.

-I can feel the part that has assimilated into the system becoming stronger. I wonder what effect it would have if it were transferred to another body.

And a bitter somewhat dejected voice comes from the screen.

-yes. So ever since I noticed it I've been really trying not to make mistakes…

"…"

-It really wasn't intentional. I am truly sorry that you must have felt uncomfortable. I will be very careful not to be swayed in the future…

“…okay.”

A sigh of relief was heard on the screen.

‘You’re having a hard time.’

It seemed like it would be quite unpleasant to be influenced by something I didn’t know what it was.

‘I’ll have to pay closer attention to this guy’s condition from now on.’

I looked at the big moon with some sense of calm as if I had been hit by cold water.

But the topic came back.

-But bro this is really a separate message. That friend will definitely believe you.

I’m going crazy.

I said holding back my sleep.

“If he had the personality to believe this kind of science fiction it would have been sorted out already.”

However Lee Se-jin was the most realistic character in this.

I admitted it.

‘So… I was putting it off.’

Because I have to work and the timing is not right.

By making excuses like that I was rationalizing the situation by keeping my mouth shut and dragging it out.

I was intoxicated by the atmosphere and said ‘I’ll tell you when the time comes' so I guess I should say it… but it seemed like there was a very high chance that they wouldn't believe me no matter how I said it.

I sighed.

Then a somewhat absurd voice appeared on the screen… What's absurd?

-Brother I'm telling you in case you've forgotten… Was that my brother's status window??

I know that too.

-I know how you and Lee Se-jin are doing!

"…!!"

-The brothers fighting and things like that… Anyway I'm speaking from the perspective of a third party who knows all the information. Please trust me…!

It was quite an embarrassing story to see it all happen.

However the big moon was embarrassed and embarrassed and was almost crying now.

-That friend is realistic and knows you well…! And we trust each other a lot.

And I find it funny but I listen to that.

-If you just explain honestly and honestly you will believe me.

"…"

I lay down with one arm resting on my back.

-brother…

I don’t know.

“I don’t even know how to say it. “It happened like this.”

-ah…

“First… look at the situation.”

I’m telling you the truth now and I don’t know how this guy will come out tomorrow.

There was a possibility that it wasn’t a big deal because my emotions got stronger right away. When you cool off a bit you may end up explaining the misunderstanding and feeling a bit embarrassed.

-Brother so…

The guy on the screen seemed to be trying to give some words of encouragement but it didn’t really hit home.

“okay.”

I immediately ended the call and while conflicted responded to Keun Se-jin’s text.

[sorry. Rest well]

And it’s funny but it really wasn’t that big of a deal.

The overnight camp for the album the very next day went smoothly.

* * *

“I added an explosion sound to the beat what do you think?”

“Is it good? But how about adding it only at the chorus point and replacing it with a different sound in the verse? “Because your ears may get tired quickly.”

“All right!”

Keun Se-jin coordinated the situation well providing feedback that was no different from the previous day. Promote good opinions and reject inappropriate opinions.

“I would like to select a song based on demo number 4. What do you think?”

“…That’s okay. But I think number 3 is better.”

“okay.”

It’s not like I just smile and be nice like I did before when I got angry and things got awkward between us.

It’s just… the sense of distance has gotten thicker.

‘Damn it.’

You don’t give us time to have a private conversation.

It was difficult to even apologize for this. ‘What are you sorry about’ is impossible to develop a conversation like ‘It’s okay’.

“Let’s get some rest.”

“yes.”

And then it’s time for a break. I woke up while following the guys who were scattering around the suite more freely than yesterday.

‘Let’s at least pour cold water on it.’

If you can’t concentrate because you’re frustrated you’re stupid. Let’s at least come to our senses and look at the album after some cold water.

I was on my way back after using the sink next to the entrance.

“…Lee Se-jin.”

“yes?”

I heard a voice from the kitchen next to the hallway.

Bae Se-jin who calls Big Se-jin.

It was rare. So just yesterday after Keun Se-jin left the conversation with Bae Se-jin came to mind.

-Did I… say something strange?

-… no. It’s because there was some misunderstanding with me. I’m sorry for getting you involved.

-No no.

It seems like the topic will be brought up no matter who hears it.

The voices of two people with the same name continued to be heard from beyond the corner of the hallway.

“Hey… I was talking about yesterday. “I’m sorry if I made a mistake.”

“yes? no. It’s not like that. “I was the one who caused the mess.”

“…Isn’t it because there’s a problem?”

“Oh it’s just my problem. Did I speak a little rudely at that time? “I’m sorry bro.”

“No that’s okay…”

After a moment of silence.

“Um bro. “I have something else to do so is it okay if I tell you this?”

"…wait for a sec."

The sound of Bae Se-jin swallowing saliva was heard.

"…It was yesterday that Park Moon-dae told me that he was the person he was looking for so I didn't bring it up. "I didn't know because I happened to be there."

"…"

"I shouldn't have said that…"

"brother."

Big Sejin stopped talking.

"I think you need to hear this from yourself."

"…!"

"I really don't think it's my fault so you don't have to worry. On the contrary I knew it thanks to you. "The situation."

Bae Se-jin was heard suffering. It seemed like there was a cross between the feeling of wanting to talk about what was going on and the thought that it would be foolish to intervene further.

And finally said.

"okay. "I hope you have a good conversation with Park Moon-dae."

"…"

The guy who would normally have finished saying 'yes' instead blurted out in a rather tired and sharp tone.

"…I don't know. "Do you want to do it?"

"…!"

"Anyway… yes. All right."

I knew then.

Clearly this guy was also paying more attention to the current situation.

And I was so pissed off right now that I had the urge to listen to the story.

'then.'

I suddenly remembered Geoldal's last words yesterday in response to my comment 'I don't know what will happen after this situation ends.'

A statement that didn't really make sense at the time.

-Wouldn't people believe me more if I told them that the situation was like this? My brother isn't the type of person to say nonsense to someone who is angry.

-…!

-Knowing you the more strange things you say the less likely you will think it's an excuse or a joke!

"…"

Fuck you. okay.

I picked up the phone and called the manager.

There is no other way. Let's do it.

* * *

Sejin Lee liked concerts.

Anyone who is familiar with him would easily mistakenly believe that people like Lee Se-jin would prefer appearing on entertainment shows or famous WeTube channels.

Originally what people thought with their heads and what they felt with their hearts were different.

The concert was like proving myself as an idol.

The existence of dreams and ambitions.

‘So that’s good… ’

But today I wasn’t able to fully enjoy that great concert.

In a concert it is common for members to gather together and enjoy the encore during the encore.

Even if that wasn’t the case the amazing coordination with the members who were on stage together at times encouraged immersion and a sense of belonging.

But today that was impossible.

‘under… ’

This is because I stood on stage with Park Moon-dae without even having a proper conversation since the uproar a few days ago.

I am conscious of it moment by moment as if a stone had fallen into my shoe and my mood becomes depressed every time.

‘why… ’

In fact I already knew that Park Moon-dae did not ‘look on’ him as leniently as the other members.

In fact I was more than happy to do so.

Because it felt like a kind of relationship establishment.

‘An equal friend.’

I even shrugged it off a bit. He is confident that even if the group disappears he and Park Moon-dae will continue to work together and remain friends even if no one else knows.

That reassurance.

However once you realize that it was an illusion you feel as betrayed as your confidence.

‘That’s really funny.’

No Park Moon-dae didn’t say that he trusted you the most so what kind of betrayal are you talking about?

Sejin Lee laughed.

We know very well that humans easily change their positions depending on their environment. And there was nothing particularly disappointing about it.

‘It’s even more like that in this industry.’

But I couldn’t understand why I felt so disappointed with Park Moon-dae as if we were great friends.

But if you think about it again isn’t it worth it?

‘It’s not like we’re just a decent group.’

I spent my time talking about all kinds of worries accidents and even my personal history.

And yet…

Sejin Lee clenched her fists.

‘I’ll just say an apology via text and that’s it.’

This means that Park Moon-dae doesn’t have much to regret right now.

What’s even funnier is that even now he’s thinking about talking first and resolving the situation.

Wow!

Sejin Lee took a deep breath as she watched the flower storm explode next to the stage.

It wasn’t just that I was out of breath.

‘It’s annoying.’

I felt ridiculous that my condition had worsened just because I had a fight with one member in front of a large audience on this beautiful day.

That’s because I looked down on the idiots who couldn’t distinguish between that type of construction.

So I paid more attention to performance and live performances. If you lack immersion you have to do it elaborately.

“Thank you for your hard work~”

“Thank you for your hard work!”

So when I came down from the concert I felt more empty than the usual joy.

It felt like the energy that was overflowing on stage had disappeared.

“…”

“What about the doormat?”

“What did you do so quickly!”

In the meantime I was somehow more upset that the other person left unscathed.

‘Why am I the only one who wastes my emotions?’

Sejin Lee was torn between fever and fatigue and eventually left holding back a sigh.

I planned to quickly get in the car and go back to the hotel and sleep.

Tirik.

But when I opened the hotel door and entered.

“Are you here?”

“…?!”

Someone was already sitting in the room.

“I got the key from my manager.”

The person who had his hand on the table was… Park Mun-dae.

Sejin Lee couldn’t believe her eyes for a moment.

‘this… ’

What’s going on?

Why on earth is the guy who went in first still here?

At that moment expectations flash through my mind.

‘no way?’

I’m trying to grab an apple…

“I’m sorry for trespassing.”

“Ah are you sorry about that?”

Fuck you.

Big Sejin felt like punching herself in the mouth. I don’t even know why I’m talking like this.

In the first place showing any signs of being offended seemed like a loss.

And… that’s why I was afraid that the relationship would become strange.

“I’m sorry for that and I’m sorry for something else as well.”

However despite these words Park Mun-dae answered calmly without any other response.

I was calm and somehow I didn’t like it even more.

“what.”

‘No are you really calm…?’

He almost burst into tears but immediately saw Park Moon-dae’s face and posture.

His expression was still serious but his hands were touching his fingers and his shoulders were moving slightly.

“…!”

Park Moon-dae… was very nervous.

“That’s what I didn’t explain properly to you yesterday.”

“…”

“My brothers don’t really know everything about my situation. “I only heard part of it.”

“You got caught?”

“okay. So this means that this is the first time I’m speaking with my own mouth.”

“…”

Sejin Lee forgot all the complexities and annoyances for a moment and focused on the conversation.

What on earth are you trying to say?

“First of all… I think it would be right to start by saying this.”

Park Moon-dae’s eyes lit up.

“I am not Park Mun-dae.”

“…??”

“And then I returned to the past.”

Sejin Lee began to wonder if she had actually fallen asleep in the car.

Chapter 333

Lee Se-jin also had his own guess about Park Moon-dae's 'secret'.

And among them there were some that I thought made some sense although they were unrealistic.

'Are you Park Moon-dae's cousin?'

In fact he knew Park Moon-dae who was older but he guessed that he was using the identity of a younger brother due to the situation.

Of course when I tried to think of the reason my reasoning became muddled to the point of absurdity so I would quickly quit.

'Because I said I would tell you.'

While listening to those words didn't you accurately pinpoint Park Moon-dae's discomfort and receive recognition from him?

Still I had been making all kinds of guesses for a while and at one point even a spy from North Korea made a wild guess.

The way he goes out of his way to get results while suffering from amnesia and the way he manipulates public opinion fits perfectly.

Of course I immediately laughed it off.

'It's not some kind of drama but some kind of spy?'

But now Park Moon-dae said something even more unrealistic than that.

-I am not Park Moon-dae and I have returned to the past.

It was a statement that only a cult leader would make.

I was in a cold sweat.

‘what?’

Dreams… aren’t dreams usually like this?

Sejin Lee unconsciously turned her hand back and pinched her thigh.

‘Oh damn.’

…It hurt.

Meanwhile Park Mun-dae continued speaking.

“…I was originally a civil service exam student named Ryu Geon-woo.”

“…”

“The video call you saw yesterday was with that person and Park Moon-dae is there right now.”

Sejin Lee answered calmly.

“Oh… really?”

What kind of freezing ‘yes’ is that?

I had to think properly before reacting but I was just saying whatever came out of my mouth.

Lee Se-jin stood still and tried to figure out what Park Moon-dae’s intentions were…

“okay. If you want you can make a video call again right now. “Let me check.”

I'm going crazy.

"…hmm."

Lee Se-jin became confused. Now I'm at a loss for words.

At that moment Park Moon-dae who was looking at himself dumbfounded smiled bitterly.

"You won't believe it."

"…!"

"Well… I thought so."

Park Moon-dae spoke as if it was no big deal.

"That's why I kept putting off talking until now and there is no particularly visible evidence. "It's all just testimony."

But the other person's body language said something else.

His friend was in a cold sweat.

'ah… '

Lee Se-jin's mind became dizzy. It was contradictory but at the same time he suddenly woke up as if he had been electrocuted or bitten by ice.

Is Park Moon-dae whom he knows the kind of person who would say something that doesn't make sense in a situation like this?

'no.'

Absolutely not.

The guy who performed the concert effortlessly even though he had a cracked rib couldn't have done that to the guy who kept up his schedule even though he couldn't sleep because his dreams were disturbed.

He had never seen anyone live as fiercely as Park Moon-dae.

And if he wasn't mistaken his friend was sincere right now.

"I knew you would suspect it was mental illness. therefore…"

"no."

"…"

Lee Se-jin moved his legs and walked.

And he sat across from Park Moon-dae across the table.

"I will listen so speak slowly."

"…!"

Then after a brief moment of surprise a faint expression passed over Park Moon-dae's face.

laugh.

It was a brief relief.

"I guess so."

And Park Moon-dae's words became a little more natural.

"Well… to start the story from the beginning it was Azusa a few months ago when I woke up to Park Mun-dae."

From then on the story that Lee Se-jin knew well began to be told from a completely unexpected perspective.

< Re-listing! The circumstances of Park Moon-dae's participation in Idol Co. Ltd. and his success.

Of course there were some stories that were difficult to understand.

"They say that if you don't become an idol you'll die."

"Hmm."

It was said that some kind of instruction was floating in the air but Lee Se-jin kept his mouth shut because it really reminded him of mental illness.

'Was that… schizophrenia?

Of course Lee Se-jin was not interested in this field and had no intention of looking into it so he couldn't be sure but fortunately he was able to alleviate that impression soon.

This is because no matter where I looked Park Moon-dae did not appear to be suffering from paranoia or losing his mind.

More than anything I didn't want to put that kind of suspicion on Park Moon-dae right now. I didn't think that would work.

So instead I just listened.

With a light cheer.

"okay."

"Hmm I see."

He even made this joke.

"Then is that why you and Ahyeon became friends? Doing well in the future?"

Of course there were bones.

At that time Park Moon-dae looked at himself with a slightly relaxed expression and smiled.

“I had no intention of becoming friends with you but you tied me up and treated me like that.”

Park Moon-dae said that as a civil service exam student Lee Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun were not among the debutants he had vaguely heard of.

“ah.”

It’s not something I would do under these circumstances but it was a bit pleasant.

In the end whatever the truth it means that it was really Park Moon-dae’s pure kindness that solved the composite photo of his cigarette.

‘It’s really funny.’

Even though I was listening to these unrealistic stories I ended up becoming immersed and thinking about things like this.

In the meantime Park Moon-dae’s story has moved beyond his debut and entered the Testa period.

And among them there was some content that was so unrealistic that it felt like I had guessed just one blank spot in a puzzle.

“He’s the guy from before me who came back to the past.”

“…!”

VTIC Cheongnyeo.

“…Go to Cheongnyeo.”

“I guess you decided not to wear it senior.”

“What kind of senior are you in this game? really…”

In the end that guy was truly crazy.

Park Moon-dae only revealed that Cheongnyeo had returned to the past. And although it was vague that he threatened her in order to gain knowledge of the future Lee Se-jin read between the lines.

The absurdity of Cheongnyeo.

'…isn't he a psychopath?'

Could it be that he really tried to kill Park Moon-dae out of anger if he didn't give him the right knowledge about the future?

A shiver ran down my spine.

However Park Moon-dae's attitude was strangely kind.

"I've managed to come to my senses now so don't worry."

It wasn't just a fight saying 'If you report it we'll lose money so let's move on.'

Park Moon-dae's unique generosity shown in close interpersonal relationships.

'…We shared the same experience.'

Lee Se-jin briefly suppressed the growing resentment.

In fact even now my sense of reality had long since exceeded the tolerance level so it was a moment I should have moved on instead of arguing.

Moreover the next bomb was waiting.

"And speaking of Chung-woo… he is my relative."

"…!"

“It’s the same Pungsan Ryu. “We’re closer than I thought.”

The situation became clearer as if I was solving another puzzle.

Why was Park Moon-dae reluctant to Ryu Cheong-woo and why did they quickly become close after they recently became roommates?

And when the two went out.

“…I went out to meet Ryu Geon-woo.”

“…”

Park Moon-dae did not mention the accident of his parents and Ryu Cheong-woo but that alone was enough to complete the rescue.

‘So Chungwoo… ’

Strangely enough the attitude toward Park Moon-dae has changed recently.

All the circumstances were correct. In the end Lee Se-jin emotionally acknowledged Park Moon-dae’s excuse that he was ‘caught’.

In addition Park Moon-dae also took care of the explanation of the next person.

“Brother Bae Se-jin found out that it was Chuseok. I was at his house. “I don’t know the details at all.”

“…”

Having reached that point Lee Se-jin began to feel a slight sense of shame.

‘It wasn’t a big deal but for no reason… ’

The explanations he had heard from Park Mun-dae so far were so unrealistic that he could not believe his ears but there was a clarity that came from his agony.

It was easy for Lee Se-jin to imagine how anxious he must have been to tell himself this ridiculous story.

‘You shouldn’t do that.’

He muttered honestly.

“…Sorry. “By urging.”

Park Moon-dae chuckled.

“You deserved it. “When did you mention it?”

From then on Park Moon-dae’s experiences continued to be summarized through word of mouth.

In fact Park Moon-dae omitted the daydreams in the coma and some truth confirmations that did not need to be mentioned but the content was still extensive.

And Park Moon-dae was consistently serious and seemed to be trying to answer Lee Se-jin’s questions honestly without equivocating.

There was no symptom of obsessing over useless details or repeating the same thing which is common when bluffing or lying.

“…”

Thanks to this Sejin Lee suddenly found herself completely immersed in this unrealistic story.

And before we knew it the story moved on to the most recent incident.

Park Moon-dae briefly returned to Ryu Geon-woo’s body.

“…So I returned to the point where I was riding the grand prize and gave my acceptance speech. “That’s why I suddenly forgot how to dance.”

Park Mun-dae who had concluded the last words like that ended his speech as if he were relieved.

“This is… my ‘ejaculation’.”

“…”

Se-jin Lee saw Moon-dae Park.

Then he got up and brought some water. Without hesitation Park Moon-dae took the plastic bottle and brought it to his mouth.

And Lee Se-jin silently organized his thoughts until Park Moon-dae had almost emptied half a bucket of water.

‘how is it?’

Anyway. I’m dying of confusion. I can’t understand it… It makes me wonder how it could be this unrealistic.

‘I don’t think dramas are like this.’

Although I was immersed in the speaker’s attitude my mind was saying something else.

At the very least as Park Moon-dae said there is no visible evidence.

but…

“I understand now. “You put it off because you thought I wouldn’t believe this?”

“…”

“I’m sure Moon Dae knows me well. But… you should know this too.”

Sejin Lee grinned.

“You really believe what I say~”

“…!”

How realistic is it that Lee Se-jin has successfully debuted and is touring as a popular first-tier idol performing in concert in front of tens of thousands of people?

Perhaps if he had known the future six months before <Azusa> came out he would have secretly laughed at the person who told him and pondered the hopeless reality.

But you did it didn’t you?

‘I did it with him.’

Perhaps it was more unrealistic for Lee Se-jin.

So he stopped laughing and answered seriously.

“You’ve always been like that. So I’ll do the same thing with this one. “I trust you Park Moon-dae.”

“…”

Sejin Lee added as a joke.

“And if you believe what you say the results will always be good. Are all the members like that too? “Park Moon-dae should have done better.”

At that moment Park Moon-dae laughed.

“…thanks.”

Park Mun-dae emptied the remaining half of the water.

Sejin Lee pretended not to notice that the hand holding the plastic bottle was shaking slightly.

Instead I once again realized how much I was convinced despite hearing such absurd things.

‘I got all my sleep.’

It seemed like all kinds of thoughts and reasoning would be heard throughout the night but Lee Se-jin didn’t show it.

Then it seemed like Park Moon-dae started talking about all of his thoughts.

“You probably knew it when you heard it.”

His friend who had crumpled a plastic bottle hesitated and muttered.

“I originally didn’t intend to be an idol. “You might be disappointed.”

What on earth is he talking about?

“Are you an idiot Park Moon-dae?”

“what?”

“You love being an idol so much but you say things like ‘That’s not what I originally wanted to do.’”

“…!”

“Is there anyone here who said they were going to be an idol from the beginning? If they were trying to survive it’s okay it’s okay.”

Park Moon-dae had an uncharacteristically bewildered expression.

“Better than that what should I call you? Can you call me Geonwoo? “Gunwoo gunwoo?”

As if Park Moon-dae had deliberately told him to be disgusted he was actually a bit disgusted.

The atmosphere became a bit lighter.

“it’s okay. “I’ve lived like this for several years.”

“okay. It’s because we’re from the survival world but these days everyone uses stage names. “Park Moon-dae is also your name.”

“…”

“Right Mundaemun University?”

“…okay.”

Sejin Lee grinned.

In fact before returning to the past I suddenly had the urge to ask if I had really heard anything about myself but I held back.

‘I guess it wasn’t good.’

If Park Moon-dae hadn’t been there he would have voluntarily left the show due to the school violence controversy… Even if Park Moon-dae knew about him it wouldn’t have been very good news.

So instead I said this.

“thank you. “It must have been difficult to talk about but please tell me.”

“…”

“Honestly it was dizzying to say something like ‘There are letters in this world that only I can see～’ wasn’t it? I could see that he was completely embarrassed… Wow!”

“It’s noisy.”

“haha!”

Keun Se-jin smiled coolly avoiding Park Moon-dae’s hand.

That day Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin had a long conversation before going to bed to prepare for the concert.

“Then how old were you originally?” “

“…I was 29 years old right before I came back.”

“Oh should I at least call you my brother? older brother?”

“it’s okay.”

“Wow… right. After all you’re a professional idol. It’s better to be young than to be treated like an older person… Wow! “I avoided it this time!”

“Tch.”

Most of it was trivial talk. However it was a strange feeling to hear a personal story that I had never heard before being subtly revealed.

“…You are from a very prestigious university Moon University! “Isn’t it a waste?”

“It’s not a waste. “It’s not even money.”

Park Moon-dae looked comfortable.

So Sejin Lee no longer had to regret getting angry at her friend over something unnecessary.

There wasn’t a drop of alcohol but the conversation went well and ended with a deep foundation built.

It was a new layer of trust.

And the next day.

Unlike yesterday Lee Se-jin regained her original sense of humor on the stage without any awkwardness.

‘Good good!’

He showed off a great ad-lib with Cha Yu-jin and Sun Ah-hyun on either side and then came down humming after a spectacular encore.

And the moment I tried to find Park Moon-dae.

“I see you reconciled well.”

“…!”

Sejin Lee looked back at the leader of the group who briefly tapped her shoulder.

Liu Chengwu was smiling slightly.

‘It’s obvious.’

Lee Se-jin immediately lowered his head.

“I’m really sorry bro! “I’ve been a bit like that these past few days right?”

“no. I was fine. “I just saw it in person… so I tried to act a little in case it might be difficult for the two of you.”

“…”

Oh no?

Now that I think about it suddenly last night the meeting time for the next day was delayed by about three hours.

I thought it was because of schedule adjustments.

“No way the meeting time was delayed…”

“Yeah well… we all did that to recover our stamina.”

It was designed to allow the two to communicate comfortably.

“…thank you.”

“We’re in the same group. Of course things like this have to match each other for them to last for a long time. “Everyone said we should do it right away.”

Liu Chengwu laughed. Sejin Lee was speechless for a moment.

This is because he thought that no one would be more sincere than him in doing his best to ensure that this group is maintained for the maximum possible lifespan.

‘…I was worried that I would miss out on personal activities once I got my annual leave.’

Sejin Lee admitted that… it might have been a bit arrogant.

Meanwhile Liu Chengwu continued speaking.

“Sejin Bae Sejin suggested it first. “I was worried about you both a lot.”

“I’m glad it was resolved well. “Oh there it is.”

When I turned my head following Ryu Cheong-woo’s chin gesture I saw Bae Se-jin talking to Park Moon-dae holding a towel next to the steel structure.

Chapter 334

Big Sejin believed it.

‘How did this happen?’

I don’t know either. I checked the status window last night to see if I had made any corrections but nothing happened.

In a state of complete peacetime Great Sejin understood the internal situation.

‘This is what happens.’

I’m still dazed. But… of course I don’t hate it.

It was a bit strange. Because I’ve never been this honest before.

Because I didn’t predict that my attitude wouldn’t change even after hearing the whole story.

Thanks to you I think I overdid the concert today.

‘I feel like my lungs are going to collapse.’

“Here!”

“thank you.”

I took a deep breath and looked down at the towel and smartphone given to me by the staff.

‘I didn’t even go here.’

In fact there was a preparedness plan I prepared for last night’s revelation.

‘Keun Se-jin has a realistic personality.’

And I thought that in order for a guy like that to convince me of the bullshit that only appeared in web novels I needed to show him at least real evidence.

But can such a thing exist?

The only thing that remains is context.

‘Testimony of officials.’

Since the only cards I could use were horses I tried to secure a variety of species.

First of all Liu Chengwu.

-If I can help of course I should.

However I told them to start talking first.

Next is the big moon.

-Um… are you having a video call with Lee Se-jin?

This guy was very welcome. There is nothing more to say.

In addition I made an appointment with Geundal to meet him later along with Keunsejin.

Next is the problem.

“…”

If I only recruit people who are friendly with me or who I don’t know well wouldn’t there be some room for suspicion?

From Big Sejin's perspective it was necessary to recruit an official with a hostile relationship to fit the spectrum.

Cheongnyeo.

-is it so?

The guy seemed to be wondering 'Why are you doing that?' but he didn't refuse.

I just said this.

-It doesn't matter… but I don't recommend it.

-Because I won't believe it.

Yeah fuck it. Actually I suspected that too.

But I believed it.

'He only believed me after hearing my explanation.'

I won't deny it. Maybe it was because I was sleepy and out of my mind but when everything was over and I went back to my room at night I felt a thrill even to the top of my head.

Thanks to you I did something yesterday that would be buried in controversy if it were posted on the Internet.

I sent a text message to my senior in the early morning before going to sleep.

[I believed it]

And this is the reply I received this morning.

[is it so?]

[I'll bring you next timeˆˆ]

Are you crazy?

'Why are you naturally inviting me?'

I don't know what your intention is. I looked away from my smartphone with uncomfortable eyes.

It was then.

"…What are you doing?"

"I was wondering if you had contacted me."

"I see."

Bae Se-jin spoke at that moment. The guy paused and eventually spoke with an expectant look on his face.

"You guys… reconciled?"

I laughed. He didn't think he had time to talk because he was preparing for the concert but he asked as soon as it was over.

"yes."

"Whoa…"

Bae Se-jin let out a long sigh of relief as if the tension had eased. The ground will disappear.

I looked at him again.

They said they were able to delay the meeting time thanks to this guy.

"Thank you."

“What what?”

“In addition to the time you told Sejin Lee to talk to me.”

“…! “Did you hear that?”

“yes. Not on purpose but by accident. Thanks to you I also gained the courage to apologize.”

Bae Se-jin’s face looked like it was about to explode. I chuckled.

“But there was no need for you to apologize to him.”

“I know I was just saying this to start a conversation…!”

“…”

Is that so?

“He’s totally in the mood for you…”

“…”

Did it show off that much?

Bae Se-jin looked like he was about to let out a scolding.

“This is my first time in a situation like this… I don’t know if I did a good job.”

“Because you did a good job.”

We’ve been talking about that up until now. What are you talking about?

Still I understood what Bae Se-jin meant. Does that guy have any history of trying to mediate between peers?

‘It seems like he voluntarily bullied everyone else when he was in school.’

I guess that guy didn’t know that his first attempt would work so well.

“Okay anyway… I’m glad we reconciled…”

Bae Se-jin looked burnt white as if she had used up her life force from the unique experience but she looked very proud.

‘Should I at least make a late-night snack?’

As I was about to open my mouth I saw that Big Se-jin was approaching this way instead of talking to Ryu Cheong-wu.

‘Could it be that you and Ryu Cheong-wu each marked each separately?’

This is my first time being treated like this. And Keun Se-jin who approached me winked at me a few times and then spoke to Bae Se-jin.

“Hey bro.”

“Huh?”

“thank you. I heard it from Chungwoo. “I heard you delayed the meeting time?”

A look of ‘Did I tell you that too?’ crossed Bae Se-jin’s face but it seemed that pride soon won out.

“Well we are a group. It’s better for everyone to understand this… and! “I wasn’t the only one who thought this… everyone agreed.”

“…”

“Well why did you interfere with work? It could be that but this too…”

“I don’t think so.”

“…!”

Big Sejin touched his neck. That guy looks embarrassed.

“I didn’t know my brother would care so much about this. “No I’m not being sarcastic it’s true.”

“…”

I thought about leaving him behind and sneaking out but I decided to stay for now since there might be another dog fight.

Bae Se-jin did not seem angry but his expression calmed down.

“Why… you thought I wouldn’t care?”

“I thought you would avoid it even if you care about other members’ work. “It’s uncomfortable.”

“…!”

For your information I was the one who was surprised.

‘Why is this bastard talking straight out of his head?’

Even Bae Se-jin’s mouth which had been forced to speak through a filter began to slowly become freer.

“It’s a bit uncomfortable.”

“yes.”

“But there’s a concert tomorrow and I got involved in your fight… I did what I could.”

“…”

“You would have done the same.”

“…!”

Keun Se-jin’s face looked as if he had been hit. Bae Se-jin said with a rather plausible expression.

“Hmm isn’t it?”

“…no.”

At that moment Big Sejin relaxed his expression and smiled.

“Of course it was. Anyway I guess I had a needless misunderstanding. sorry.”

“…”

“And thank you. “Really.”

“okay. “Well you had a hard time.”

The atmosphere suddenly became lighter. I shrugged.

“…Park Moon-dae! “You worked hard too!”

You drag me in because you’re embarrassed.

“What? “Let’s go down slowly.”

“Oh yeah.”

Only then did the three of us start walking quickly down the hallway. Everyone else had already gone to the waiting room.

Meanwhile Big Sejin suddenly burst into laughter and even joked.

“Is that why you were out in the living room when we were roommates? “Do what you can?”

“No… it’s true that it’s uncomfortable.”

“…”

“…”

“yes. what.”

“Hmm next time I’m a roommate… let’s have that conversation.”

Keun Se-jin took on one more challenge.

“Brother you didn’t even respond properly when I spoke to you!”

“no! “I really have nothing to say about that!”

I knew it would be like this.

Still it’s much better to be honest and say what you don’t like.

‘I guess I knew in my head that we had no ill will toward each other but I couldn’t really feel it.’

I think I’m feeling it now. I shrugged.

“You know I really don’t understand you sometimes right?”

“know. so do i.”

It looks like Keun Se-jin and Bae Se-jin will be sorted out around that level this time.

It was a big step forward.

‘Even if you put them together they won’t explode.’

I accepted the unexpected income quite happily.

* * *

I went through a similar process as I entered the waiting room and prepared to return.

-Brothers! Welcome!

-Brother this is delicious. eat!

They try to hide it in their own way but these guys are all obvious.

'I know that you guys fought and reconciled and I feel proud that I contributed in some way to that.' That's the atmosphere.

Even the staff passed by with a smile as if they had heard the rumor. Oh damn.

-Ahaha thank you~

Big Sejin didn't stop laughing. It seems quite embarrassing that he knew everything. embrace. I am like that too.

Still he spoke quietly to me.

-Park Moon-dae If you have a problem tell me anytime? I also want to quickly meet the person who introduced me~ okay. It's not bad if you want to see it with your own eyes.

'It seems like I had a conversation with Ryu Cheongwu on my own.'

…I felt a little relieved. I straightened my shoulders. Then another guy caught my eye.

Seon Ah-hyun.

He was sitting alone in the corner watching something and was startled when his eyes met mine.

"…? Why why…?"

"no."

Now that I think about it from this guy's perspective I think it was a thorn in his side that two people of the same age on the team excluding him had a fight and then reconciled.

'I didn't know you knew this much.'

Besides in the future… there will be more things to talk about without mentioning this guy.

I hesitated for now.

"I'm sorry for bothering you."

"Oh no…! "I was worried but I thought they would make up."

Seon Ah-hyun laughed softly and then added in a low voice.

"Hey… if you have any concerns you can always tell me."

"…"

Of course this guy doesn't know everything…

"thank you."

"What what?"

Sun Ah-hyeon smiled and started packing her luggage. I thought about it inadvertently.

'I wonder how this guy will react if he finds out… '

I don't know. In the first place I didn't know if I would even believe it but guess what?

Well I don't plan on bringing Keun Se-jin into this game anyway so I don't think Sun Ah-hyun will be left out much.

I also lifted my belongings next to him.

Then I found it. Bae Se-jin's electronic device… hmm is it an e-book reader?

"This is my brother's."

"uh? okay."

While I was holding it I handed it to him and in the process the device screen lit up.

It was locked but the title of the book was visible.

[A day when it's okay to fight]

"…"

"…just for reference!"

"yes"

It's a self-help book.

Really… I guess you worked hard.

'It would be funny if I didn't praise you here.'

I opened my mouth right away.

"I'm sure you'll do well once you do it."

Surprisingly Bae Se-jin was not surprised by these words. Instead he muttered in a slightly excited voice.

“I know. “I was surprised that there were things like producing that I thought I couldn’t do but once I tried I was good at it.”

“…”

“From now on… I’m going to try to be more proactive.”

“That’s a good idea.”

“huh.”

Bae Se-jin seemed to have made a new resolution.

And the opportunity to put that promise into action came soon.

A few days later.

“I received a response from the film company.”

“Oooh.”

Inquiries about the OST of a movie based on the game world of an abandoned factory seemed to have been safely delivered via T1.

However Ryu Cheng-wu who received a call from the company laughed awkwardly.

‘…an embarrassment?’

“It’s positive.”

“oh my god!”

“Wooooow!”

Cha Yu-jin who I was most looking forward to whistled. However Liu Chengwu's embarrassed expression did not disappear.

"But… the deadline is very tight."

"yes?"

no way.

"I think we're in a situation where we're pushing through now. So if you really want to participate…"

"If there is?"

"They say I have to release a demo within four days?"

"…!"

It was crazy.

Everyone reflexively looked at Raebin Kim. Because the situation required expert opinion.

But I already knew the answer.

'It's obvious even if you don't look at it.'

As expected Kim Rae-bin's eyes were sparkling.

"Indeed it is Brother Mundae. "You were concerned about this situation so you brought in a strong policy of training camp three days a week!"

"…"

Let's say so.

K-Pop Hell Camp… Reopening.

Chapter 335

Everyone agreed that this time since it was an OST a slightly different approach was needed compared to the previous album songs.

“It’s not a collaboration like a game so we just have to make it fit the movie.”

“At the same time it is important to clearly show the testa color~”

The focus is on the movie and Testa is laid out as a base just enough to be recognizable.

However there is a problem.

“Ugh… It would be better if there was a main melody like in the crab game.”

“…You have to give me the materials to make it or not.”

The film company didn’t offer much.

Some of the keywords and scenario summaries given were ‘limited due to leakage issues’ and were worse than expected.

Let’s start with keywords.

[Space Cyberpunk Superpower Combat Focus]

The plot is at the level of an obvious sci-fi hero movie. There is almost no explanation of the worldview.

‘No matter what it’s too much.’

I frowned. You could at least write a confidentiality agreement but I think it would be less than informing people who come to audition.

“First we will compose the music while keeping in mind that it is background music in line with the movie OST writing style…”

So even if Kim Rae-bin shouted solemnly and started working the rest of the members had nothing to do.

‘I don’t know how to write an OST so what can I do in Zero Base?’

There are four days left but it’s hard to cram because I’ve learned it in a hurry.

‘At best I’ll just have to touch the melody… ’

There is no room for brainstorming. Dae-ron Lee was able to provide feedback on what Rae-bin Kim created with surplus manpower.

‘I started camp to avoid this situation.’

Nowadays when composing OSTs I have no choice but to follow the previous version which is a bit bitter. I turned my neck and stood up.

“Where are you going Mundae?”

“To drink water.”

“I’m going too!”

Cha Yu-jin followed along. For some reason it seems like it follows me whenever I go to the kitchen… but I don’t think I’m mistaken.

“Can I eat this?”

“okay.”

Let’s not tell you that since it is an expense anyway you are essentially paying half of it. Because this guy also has enough money.

Cha Yu-jin who was looking for snacks in the hotel refrigerator and stuffing them into her mouth suddenly spoke.

[Do you see the worry on your face?]

"…what."

"Is it tasty! Take it!"

No need.

I suddenly took the nut he offered me chewed it and muttered.

"Are you worried?"

Isn't it obvious?

"I guess it's a forced process to draw the OST in four days. "There aren't many ingredients provided by the company."

I'm not a person who gets swayed by realistic words so it's okay to say this much.

As expected Cha Yu-jin looked fine but shrugged her shoulders.

And then he made a bombshell statement.

"That company is doing this on purpose!"

"…!"

Cha Yu-jin crumpled the snack bag and threw it into the trash can.

bang.

"I said it on purpose."

[That's right. This is completely clear. Well it seems like this company doesn't want to give us work right?]

"…"

Keep talking.

I leaned against the wall. Cha Yu-jin also leaned against the wall.

[He said he was uncomfortable because we suddenly intervened. Well there may have been some bias at play.]

ah.

'Is it racist?'

Since he was a local he probably knows better.

"Are you talking about experience?"

"There are none! But I don't care."

Now you also use double negatives.

Well looking at the guy's expression that Cha Yu-jin's Korean skills were insignificant anyway it seemed like nothing serious had happened.

"So I know this too. "If you do well I can't say anything."

oh.

"And you don't have to. "We're cool even if we don't do an OST!"

"You wanted to go to America."

[Well there's always another option!]

It's still the same. There is nothing to lose if you coolly refuse.

‘It’s been a while since this guy showed such active use of his head.’

It’s kind of interesting. Should I encourage it?

“Then I don’t want to quit but what if these bastards are annoyed?”

“Then I’m screaming that I want a 100% correct request. Stars are just like that. And] I want to do it! “My company sends emails.”

hmm.

It’s definitely a cool method… but it’s true that we squeezed in through the T1 line so there’s no need to give the opponent an excuse to openly refute it.

I grinned.

“Is there a quieter and cooler way?”

“…! “Tell me!”

okay.

“Hmm… Let’s start with the fact that these guys unfairly pretend to give us work.”

Rather it is a good situation.

I smiled and took the plastic bottle.

“You should pay attention to the fact that they say it that way.”

“Are the two different?”

“It’s different.”

I drank water.

“It’s a state where you can’t just refuse.”

So aren’t you making unreasonable demands by pretending that something isn’t happening?

“Oh…”

Cha Yu-jin nodded earnestly.

“But why do you like it?”

“It means that our company is putting in some effort.”

“Is it stronger than our company Limestone?”

How can even T1 do that against that crazy copyright giant?

“That’s not true it’s a collusive relationship. “T1 Entertainment distributes all Limestone movies in Korea.”

“Ouch.”

There is clearly a reason why the film company could not reject it. I don’t know what it is but T1 came up with a better deal than expected.

Perhaps T1 saw our proposal as a green light to flatter us by saying ‘Thank you very much.’

‘I was just about to be sarcastic because the proposal for a direct label fell through so you thought we bowed out on our own?’

It’s a complete misunderstanding but it’s convenient to use.

In any case T1 must have also wanted to increase the target singer’s overseas presence so they were excited and contacted a film company and made a big deal.

However the film company initially gave the okay considering the relationship with T1 but the working staff was annoyed that a non-American KPOP idol suddenly intervened.

I touched my chin.

'Someone is messing around somewhere in the middle of film history.'

Did you think it was okay to do this because at most it was just one OST song by foreigners?

"I see who among the heads of Limestone's working-level staff looks down on us."

"all right! But when will you tell me how?"

"now."

I grinned despite my fuss.

"okay. The meaning of the explanation so far is…"

"Please let me know!"

You are proud.

"It means that once we meet the absurd conditions these guys have called for they will have no choice but to give us the okay."

"hmm?"

"It's a situation that has been agreed upon by all the higher-ups. You can't refuse without a justification. "I don't know if it's a modification request."

Then it means you can shout.

"So the way is… to first send a well-made finished product."

“Buuuuu. “That means losing.”

This guy.

“It’s not just about making it well it’s about making it by adding more than just keywords.”

I drank water.

“We are doing elaborate additional work by adding the existing hero movies of this film company and the game world view keywords of the game company.”

“Why do you do that?”

“I have to make you feel embarrassed.”

“hmm?”

I crumpled up an empty plastic bottle.

“I was honestly adding that when I sent it. “Because you didn’t send me too much I collected the data on my own.”

“Uuuuuh!”

“And my next words are important.”

“What is it?”

I laughed.

“I don’t think the person in charge knows much but when requesting an OST demo they usually kindly inform us that this level of information and period is required.”

“…!”

I shrugged.

“And when you have a meeting you can tell them like you’re teaching a kindergartener that they need to prepare for these things. Then it’s over.”

Even if it’s just one OST song you can’t skip preparing for the first meeting with an outsider without reporting it to your superiors.

Then even if you don’t know who the prankster is there is no way to escape. You will have to explain to both companies yourself what happened.

“WOW.”

Cha Yu-jin changed her stance.

“Bro that’s so badass!”

“Do you like it?”

“I like it!”

I’m glad you like it.

Cha Yu-jin asked for a high five and even ran to the hotel reception room to begin explaining herself.

“Let’s embarrass ourselves by making a great OST!”

“what?”

I knew it would be like this.

I completed the explanation by supplementing Cha Yu-jin’s words. The members looked confused but soon became serious.

“That’s a classy way.”

“It’s okay~ Even if something goes wrong we did our best.”

This means that even if something goes wrong you can unconditionally win the public opinion war. Yeah I considered that too.

“Shall we try a majority vote?”

“okay.”

The instant the unanimous OK was given Cha Yu-jin whistled.

“Our members are really cool!”

And Raebin Kim started having fun again.

“Then I guess we should get to work quickly.”

“okay. “We’ll quickly bring up movie and game references~ Good luck Ravin!”

“yes!”

In this way the surplus staff excluding Kim Rae-bin also had work to do.

“Well then should I tell the company what explanation to send there?”

“Well I think it would be more effective if we used it too.”

It is unlikely that an interpreter will be appointed who can capture all the subtle nuances in this short period of time. It would be better for us the parties involved to put in a little more effort.

‘There just happens to be the right person.’

“Do I do it??”

“no. You collect references. “Because I know American culture well.”

“OK”

Not Cha Yu-jin. He’s proactive but honestly I don’t think he’ll be good at using official vocabulary.

I turned my head.

“Ahyeon.”

“Huh…?”

“Can we write a description of our work in English?”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened.

“Ugh…!”

This would be better since I studied abroad at a prestigious private institution and my English vocabulary is advanced. You just need to have it inspected by an expert before sending it out.

Moreover since Sun Ah-hyun does not often participate in producing it seems that she is glad that she has something she can do.

“I’ll work hard…!”

“good.”

I think this took some of the pressure off Seon Ah-hyun’s mind.

Big Sejin grinned.

“Ah it looks like everything has been sorted out. Shall we do our best again?”

“Let’s do it!”

The air became lively again.

And in that atmosphere Raebin Kim muttered as if he had now realized.

“Then considering the explanation and translation… the deadline was reduced by half a day.”

“…”

“…”

Raebin Kim raised his thumb.

“The planned camp date was originally three days so it seems like a perfect fit!”

Okay if you’re okay with it we’re all okay with it.

* * *

“Ah… I’m tired.”

The person on duty at TI ENT’s external cooperation department sighed.

The worst thing was that I had no choice but to be on emergency standby one day a week since overseas calls came even in the early morning Korean time.

I took a nap and watched Net Plus but I was still bored.

‘The reason I’m coming at this hour in the first place is because I barely have permission to view it.’

If an emergency arises from the few business partners you have been asked to do there is nothing you can do other than contact them quickly. The worker rolled up the company’s ERP system with a sigh.

Then I saw a document.

[TeSTAR movie cooperation case]

Because she was such a hot idol I heard rumors about her in the Al-Eum Al-Eum department.

‘I said first that I would work with Limestone.’

And I think I heard that they sent an actual demo the day before yesterday.

I didn’t have permission to read it so I just glanced over my shoulder but I could tell that even the explanatory text attached as an appendix was put together with great care.

So I felt uncomfortable.

‘Is it even like this… ’

To be honest it seemed a bit servile.

‘It seemed like everyone was ignoring them but the idol who won the grand prize in our country… ’

Could it be that the company ordered it to do that?

For some reason the employee’s pride was hurt so he used it as an excuse to gleefully curse at the company.

And the future was also briefly predicted based on time.

‘If you give me an OK sign as if you’re selected I’ll use it to unplay or fight you this damn company… ’

It was then.

A new email has arrived.

[Fw: In response to your request of…]

It caught my eye first from the recipient.

‘Limestone!’

I wanted to click it quickly but I didn’t have permission. So one thing caught the eye of a worker who was just barely scratching the surface.

Attachment capacity.

‘uh… ’

What arrived was a pile of files as large in volume as Testa had sent…!

‘What on earth did they send me to do that?’

A simple OK sign couldn’t have been this big and it wasn’t even a contract clause.

‘I-Ssi!’

It was frustrating that I couldn’t see it because I didn’t have permission to view it…! The officer on duty sighed.

And after daybreak the person on duty finally hears the circumstances in the email.

That it was a gesture of voluntary tax return and reconciliation.

‘Woah!’

It was a refreshing surrogate cider.

‘What on earth did you send? How much better did you make the song than that?’

* * *

“The correct request has arrived.”

“oh.”

It worked.

Of course I don’t know what he will say when he actually leaves the meeting.

‘No if this happens we can just exchange emails without a meeting.’

Still I didn’t bother to stop the members from smiling and giving high fives.

‘One win is one win.’

Liu Chengwu smiled and continued the briefing.

“There are almost no requests for modifications only a few requests for arrangement related to the song structure.”

“It’s not difficult!”

Raebin Kim is almost flying. He shows an unbelievable proactiveness for a guy who worked for three days while drinking caffeinated beverages like water.

‘It looks like fun.’

It was then. Liu Chengwu showed a puzzled look.

“And… they say we should sign a contract that includes cameo appearances?”

“…?”

“Really? Movie cameo?”

“huh.”

I was impressed.

these guys…

They’re really trying to take advantage of Korea’s box office success by saying things like this have happened.

“You’re talking about this movie right?”

“huh. “I guess it just appears in the background.”

“If that’s the case…”

“Are you okay?”

And naturally we all looked at one person.

“Why why…?”

“I’ll just trust you.”

“…!?”

The time has come for genius child actor Bae Se-jin to take on the challenge of Hollywood.

“Don’t believe it!”

Chapter 336

As soon as Testa accepted the offer the film production company called him to the United States 10 days later.

It seems like filming was already in full swing.

‘I guess we intervened while the schedule was already quite advanced.’

But you even offered me a cameo?

I thought this was a gesture of reconciliation and ambition but I think we should be more open to other possibilities.

‘It could be for watering purposes.’

I was thinking of mentioning that I should at least prepare my mind but there was no need to.

“Even if it’s just a passing scene you may have to wait for hours because you don’t know what the order will be. “I probably didn’t skip that day for no reason.”

“Ohh.”

“Of course Hollywood may have a different system but we will definitely be pushed down in priority so consider it…”

This is because Bae Se-jin is focusing on field problems like a bomb.

Thanks to this the atmosphere of ‘I’m doing a cameo in a movie to refresh myself in the middle of the tour~’ has disappeared. Everyone was set up to greet their new job like a newbie going to a meeting.

In the meantime Bae Se-jin is now trying to take care of things.

“…but it could be good! Film acting definitely has its charm!”

The effect was minimal.

“I guess so.”

“I think it’s a different issue from whether we can perform well.”

“…I was an idol too! “You can do it too!”

“It is difficult to generalize because it is not a case of the same person…”

“That’s right~ Let’s do our best!”

“…??”

By blocking Kim Rae-bin Keun Se-jin calmed the mood.

‘It was blocked well.’

Bae Se-jin seems to want to persuade him until the end but that’s enough.

I spent some time on the plane looking through the materials they sent me for the OST.

Of course it’s English.

‘I knew you wouldn’t translate. ‘Because time is running out.’

The agency provided a summary translation but the quality was not very good. As soon as the label becomes independent I need to find a full-time professional interpreter.

The good news is that Cha Yu-jin and Sun Ah-hyun gave a briefing so everyone was well aware of the movie's content.

To summarize this is it.

[The story of a delivery man who accidentally goes into space through a naturally occurring warp gate after the Earth is half destroyed and has a dangerous and exciting adventure!]

It only borrowed the science fiction format but the actual style seems to be a mix of a western and a hero movie.

'And the universe system in this story of the Earth's ruin is in the style of the Ruined Factory game series worldview.'

While monitoring 〈127 Section〉 I checked words I had seen several times and titles that appeared in new games.

'It's a bit confusing because it's in English… '

"If you need to explain every word I can tell you…"

"Then thank you."

"Ugh!"

I listened to the explanations of Sun Ah-hyun who was sitting next to me on the plane and put the plan together.

Let's check once more what role we will play through the cameo.

'Hmm… I wonder if this is an homage to the starting game characters we collaborated with before.'

It seems to appear briefly in a battle scene.

There is no need to prepare anything in particular. There was only one line.

I thought this would happen because the film company bought the worldview rights and there were no copyright issues. Because it was an expected draft I was able to easily organize the effects and side effects in my head.

"…hmm."

And predict.

'I think I'll be ridiculed if I criticize it.'

Isn't this an overly one-dimensional interpretation and intervention? And I'm also worried about makeup.

'There are no Northeast Asians among the main characters.'

Even if all 7 of us showed up at the same time it would be difficult to make a good impact and it would also be difficult to avoid the feeling of discomfort.

"Hmm."

"Mumundaeya?"

"Oh I want to look at the scenario book."

I put aside the documents related to our scene and took out the scenario summary again.

My brain spun tensely.

It was 12 hours before arriving in the US.

* * *

And finally arrived in the United States.

We entered and moved privately and quietly. Fortunately nothing major happened as T1 was already drinking kimchi soup and hitting the Unplay.

The first place we went to after that was… the filming location for the Dajjagojja movie.

That's fun.

"Uh… why don't we start with the OST meeting?"

"They said they couldn't change the filming set schedule. "It is said that the schedule is completely divided by time."

Certainly regardless of the scale the site was running quietly and smoothly by people taking care of their own business.

"…"

"…I thought it would be noisy."

Even Bae Se-jin seemed a little embarrassed. The person who was temporarily on site as a guide smiled and spoke in Korean.

"This kind of specialized division of labor is a unique advantage of Hollywood."

"Oh yes."

And after hearing a few words of explanation and saying hello to the assistant director… I started waiting in the trailer.

"…"

"Hmm."

At this point everyone seemed to have sensed the atmosphere and bitter smiles broke out among the members.

"You're neglected."

"I know."

They're pretty good at providing me with blankets and food but I haven't even started putting on makeup yet.

It seems like only our managers and officials are working hard.

'Is it going as expected?'

It seemed like it wasn't checked properly. It's a bonus treatment that I haven't received in Korea since joining the first team. This is fun too.

"The manager must be having a hard time~"

"I guess communication isn't going well. Should I go out and come back?"

While listening to some guys talking I was making my own plans.

Cha Yu-jin sitting next to me stabs me in the waist.

"…?"

What is it?

When I looked at him he muttered awkwardly.

"This is not normal!"

"then?"

"It's a bad thing."

Cha Yu-jin then spoke only with her mouth.

'Pretend you didn't hear.'

"…!"

[It's a pretty classic method.]

Oh… I mean.

‘Are you saying that you’re ignoring our staff right now as if it wasn’t intentional?’

This crossed the line of fun.

I crossed my arms.

“What is the basis?”

[In Hollywood actors are basically the best. But look at this treatment. They treat us like extras or props not actors.]

“…”

That sounds plausible.

I saw earlier that you were so concerned about the time schedule but we don’t have any special provisions in the contract and we have set aside plenty of time so I guess we can afford to be lax about this.

“What’s wrong Eugene?”

“hmm.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged and looked at me. What are you telling me to translate?

I only briefly talked about reality.

“It seems like these people are intentionally trying to delay our filming until the very last minute so we can film it.”

“…ah.”

“Ugh.”

Everyone sighs as if they have guessed the atmosphere.

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly.

“It’s just as Bae Se-jin said.”

“…no. “I said this while thinking about filming in Korea but things seem different here.”

Bae Se-jin continued speaking with a stern expression.

“If you’re doing this on purpose… it’s harassment.”

And Kim Rae-bin was shocked.

“…! “Is this racism?”

okay. That’s it.

“Well there was a hasty intervention… Race and recognition as foreigners may have also played a role.”

How to deal with work that suddenly pops up when the schedule is already set depends on one’s strength.

And in their perception we don’t seem to have much power.

“…”

I craned my neck to check on the others.

No one is outraged.

It’s not like we didn’t get treated like this before we sold 1 million copies.

“It reminds me of ‘Azusa’.”

“Wow that’s right.”

Crucially the experience is weaker than the debut program.

They are calm as befits people who have been through a lot of trouble even before their debut. I shrugged.

“Since we have a meeting in the evening anyway let’s talk about it first after the meeting.”

I asked the guy who spoke.

“how is it.”

[If I leave out here I won’t be able to film because you guys refused to go over schedule. Will this end up as a violation of the contract?]

“I guess so.”

“yes!”

Sun Ah-hyun was immediately convinced. So it means that two guys who drank foreign food came to the same conclusion.

“Hmm.”

“Oh I’m embarrassed.”

Aside from being angry they seem to be allergic to punk as expected of people who enjoy their work.

“What do you think about Moon University?”

What am I?

I crossed my arms.

“I… I don’t think it would matter if I broke the contract.”

“…!”

“It’s not like I’m going crazy because I want to do a cameo.”

I looked at Bae Se-jin with a stern face.

“It would be very disappointing if my brother’s advancement to Hollywood fails…”

“hey!”

Bae Se-jin was furious. The atmosphere became lighter for a moment but he soon calmed down.

“Anyway I don’t really want to film in a situation like this. “Because I’m not doing it under my own name but under the group’s name.”

“brother…”

There is an automatic reaction from people who know that this guy has been giving advice these past few days but pretending not to be excited.

“that’s right. “It’s too small of a role for Sejin to appear.”

“That’s not it!”

I chuckled.

“It was a joke. In fact I don’t think it will amount to a breach of contract.”

“…?”

“Why why?”

“They won’t be able to give up the OST no matter what.”

“I think we’ll come out quite amicably at the dinner meeting so we don’t get into trouble about that.”

“…!”

If they say they will remove it after hearing the finished version those bastards are fucking god.

The people working in the field and the people there have been completely divided so even if the treatment here is like this the OST people in charge can never play around anymore.

I was bitten badly once…

“Kim Rae-bin made it so well.”

No matter what politics I played with in the explanation it actually worked because the finished version was good.

“Oh…”

“After all Ravin is a genius.”

“That is an undeserved compliment. I will work hard.”

okay. Take a breath and speak. The atmosphere was set that way. In fact it was as if a conclusion had been reached.

Big Sejin shrugs his shoulders.

“Then… shall we go out?”

The members turned their heads to each other a few times and then even Sun Ah-hyun nodded.

“Let’s go out.”

“OK~”

At that moment Cha Yu-jin kicked out the trailer as if she had been waiting.

"…!?"

Those who look back to see what this is ignore them.

"Let's find a manager first."

"yes."

And we blocked everything by saying we would talk about it again after the meeting and left the filming set taking care of the company staff.

The staff just pretended to stop him and followed him.

'It looks like you've been in a bit of trouble.'

"We say that if anything goes wrong we will have problems with our tour schedule due to the psychological trauma and will file a claim for damages."

"good."

Thanks to this everyone's combat power has increased.

Even Bae Se-jin was excited as he entered the hotel.

"We don't have to put up with that… rudeness. "Isn't that right?"

"Of course."

Besides that.

In fact from the moment I was first shown to the filming set until the meeting I was planning to persuade them to skip filming and drag it out.

‘On the contrary it helps.’

I shrugged.

Even though I haven’t even implemented the plan it’s proceeding smoothly on its own.

‘Thank you Tetsey.’

That’s how we escaped filming the cameo on the first day.

It was my first schedule lapse as a member of the Testa group.

* * *

And the meeting place that night.

Surprisingly the executive producer of the film production side came out.

‘It’s rare.’

I never thought that the highest ranking members of the working team would appear in the OST work.

“Isn’t it right that the director appears…?”

“They say the supervisory authority is not that great in this town. “You saw how everything was divided.”

“I see.”

I’m glad the interpreter didn’t translate what we were learning between ourselves.

Afterwards accompanied by an employee dispatched from T1 the usual greetings and brief introductions were exchanged.

The interpreter carefully conveyed the producer's words.

"They are asking if there was a problem with the filming and why you didn't film it."

Ah is this why the producer came out?

It seems like a report was made to T1 after leaving the filming set and it looks like something happened between the higher-ups.

I nodded.

"I couldn't hear any explanation and had to wait indefinitely. "It was cold in the trailer but you can't go on tour because you hurt your neck."

If you use English here it will feel like you are adjusting to the limited vocabulary. I have no intention of doing so.

When the interpreter translates these words the producer nods as if he understands.

And this is what came out.

"Well… they said they were very sorry that things had turned out this way but it would have been better if you had been more respectful of their time since it is almost impossible to reschedule the filming set…"

"…!"

Wow.

Bae Se-jin was furious.

"No we're not like that…"

"Hyung hyung wait a minute."

okay. They seem to be mistaken that they are angry because we were pranked with a few keywords during the request and are taking out their anger on an unexpected cameo shoot.

It was when the atmosphere became cold.

Suddenly a barrage of polite English came out.

[It is definitely not a normal situation to just wait without any instructions. And the words of our employees were not properly conveyed to the assistant director. Shouldn't respect be mutual?]

"…!"

Sun Ah-hyun spit out a long sentence in English.

The guy's face was pale but his gaze was stern.

And it was a situation that had not been agreed upon with anyone.

Big Sejin was impressed.

'I guess Ahyeon is really upset.'

'I know.'

I kept my mouth shut. The producer looked a little embarrassed but did not seem angry at Sun Ah-hyun's words.

On the contrary it seemed that only then did his mind begin to return to a proper understanding of the situation.

And after a while the interpreter spoke again.

"You say there seems to have been a mutual misunderstanding. "They say they will be more respectful of your time on site."

"…yes."

Sun Ah-hyun kept her mouth shut. He didn't look very satisfied but I gave him a light slap on the back.

'Well done.'

This is enough to create an atmosphere. Sun Ah-hyun smiled faintly.

And I opened my mouth again.

"Then let's film the cameo again on a different day and in a different scene."

"…!"

I will eat you without any hesitation even to the point of pretending to give in.

Chapter 337

Let's look again at Testa's cameo appearances in existing movies.

-When the main character leads a large-scale battle the role is to back up a supporting character and then disappear.

'It's the perfect composition for homage or parody.'

Looking at the scenario scene it looks like quite a few game characters will appear in passing as well as us.

'If I were to guess it would probably be in the middle or latter part of the movie right before the climax.'

But what would happen if we suddenly appeared as game characters without being established actors or CGs?

Even if you do well you will barely break even.

If you are a little clumsy it becomes solemn.

'If I go any further I will be ridiculed on the Internet.'

It's understandable that the director and the field won't like it. This is clearly a choice made by the production company as a company.

And the producer sitting in front of us right now is the head of the working-level staff positioned between the production company and the production team.

It is a position that has authority but can also empathize with the field.

But even now justification has been pulled from our side. That person is ready to listen.

‘Sun Ah-hyun created the atmosphere well.’

Now if it seems like a good idea to wear a red skirt I will accept it.

So I slowly opened my mouth.

First of all carrots.

“We have no intention of infringing on the filming set’s schedule. “It may not be possible in the first place because of the tour schedule.”

We’re busy too kid.

When the interpretation was delivered the producer nodded quite seriously. I continued speaking.

“So how about we proceed simply enough to recognize that a tester has been released? “Our contract must be fulfilled.”

An interpreter relayed the producer’s words.

“They say we should proceed to secure a schedule by checking as many similar scenes as possible.”

Thinking that we were bowing down too he quickly asked.

I thought that would happen but it just wasn’t going to happen.

I laughed inwardly.

You can’t appear in a fight scene with that shitty cosplay vibe.

It will come out as a different image.

“If you make it that difficult it’ll be uncomfortable for both of you so it’s okay to make it a little easier.”

induce.

As I was reading the script summary on the plane I recalled all the scenes I had noticed.

And I picked one of them up.

“How about something like this scene instead?”

This is because as soon as I returned to the hotel I asked our staff who had been wandering around on set and noticing things.

Did you hear any of the staff mention any of the scenes I filmed?

And I got one.

-Oh this…

-Did you say that?

-yes. Well I think it was some time later that this actor said he was using this set?

That’s this scene.

The final draft fits the schedule perfectly.

I handed the relevant page of the summary to the producer.

“It’s more fun for a singer to play the role of a singer. “We are singers so large fight scenes may seem awkward.”

A cut that can be hit and left with little disruption to the shooting schedule and at the same time a cut that we can use as an image.

This goes for it.

“I don’t need to do anything special just say a few words and insert a background so I think you'll find it easy to use."

The producer listened to the interpreter. I looked around slightly.

Since it had already been agreed upon at the hotel no one was particularly upset.

However Cha Yu-jin who was sitting closer to the producer slightly raised her eyebrows humorously. I felt like I heard something.

'oh.'

Cha Yu-jin grinned. I understand roughly what is being said.

After some time.

"You said you would like to hear the story in more detail."

In fact it was an OK sign.

'yes.'

I shrugged.

And three days later the afternoon cameo filming proceeded as scheduled.

* * *

Late winter morning.

As always on Hollywood sets the workers know exactly what they are doing.

Even if what was waiting for them was just a series of unpleasant things to do it was no different. If it was just to make a living I would have gone to law school and not be here.

The same was true for the assistants who were like the feet of the production team. As the youngest of the PAs she barely heard the briefing while checking the coffee on set.

“You have extra people?”

Even though it was a short cameo appearance it was rare for someone to be suddenly added on the same day like this.

When she asked who the ‘exception’ was she gave a short answer to her teammate.

“KPOP star.”

“ah.”

They were foreigners who left their place without permission a few days ago.

I don’t know how well-known they were in their country but it was a band that even she who knew what KPOP was didn’t know.

‘VTIC? ‘There’s only one KPOP boyband name I know.’

She frowned slightly as she remembered her younger sister who was crazy about KPOP but soon straightened it out.

“Joan was definitely rude.”

The attitude taken by the assistant director and half of the production team during filming at the time was excessive.

It was something you would do to an unknown actor. Whether it’s okay to do something like that just because you’re an unknown person is another discussion.

“Still you have the guts to leave.”

The teammate’s words were ironic.

If you can't stand it and leave the trailer you should give up on succeeding in Hollywood.

'It's going to be a rough day.'

She briefly assessed how much of a mess this band would make of her day after leaving the set in one day and eventually sighed.

"Is the filming extended?"

"30 minutes."

"Uh… I guess I'll just have to pray that Steve doesn't kill anyone."

"I'll just have to pray that it ends quickly."

The chat ended quickly. She took the call and started running around the scene again.

The set and effects were extremely realistic as the director used CG as much as possible and was able to save on set costs.

It was a good environment for acting which is rare in this movie series where actors often act wearing only a green jumpsuit.

'Still… what on earth are you going to film here?'

This scene was the early part of the scene that showed the vast scope of the world view where the main character who first appeared on the space station went into a bar and met a helper.

There was no room for KPOP stars wearing strange clothes anywhere.

'Well Joan the assistant director would know.'

Because I was in a position to manage and manage trivial matters at the filming site. She held back a sigh and moved her desk.

And that was the moment when I was about to pile up a few chairs.

Her feet twisted.

“Uh huh.”

I stepped on the wrong floor.

‘oh my god!’

The assistant closed his eyes for a moment but did not collapse to the floor along with the chair.

Instead someone snatched the chair she was holding.

“Are you okay?”

“…! Ah ah… yes.”

“Oh my god why did you carry so much? “I can see people playing over there.”

It was a lively and relaxed voice.

‘Who is it?’

Although she was momentarily puzzled she got up from her slumped body.

And I was surprised.

“Everyone has a job to do…!”

“Well I guess that’s right.”

When I looked up there were more than ten people standing in front of me. All are Asian and most are male.

And the tall boy who carried her luggage grinned.

“My job is cameo. nice to meet you. “This is Testa.”

“hello!”

The boys of my age who greeted me from behind were quite polite. They all had good skin and good looks but some were too pretty in her eyes.

‘Still you have a good attitude.’

The concerns I had a few minutes ago disappeared like a joke.

“hello. yes. thank you.”

She suddenly thought of something like ‘You speak English well’ then swallowed it and gave a normal answer.

As if he had noticed this the pink-haired boy behind him opened his mouth with strange eyes.

“This guy is from here. California.”

“Oh that’s right.”

Now that I think about it anyone who hears it has this state’s accent so they are even more surprised when they look up.

She looked again at the boy who helped her.

He has a good physique is relaxed and has the unique spirit of a successful person.

“You can call me Eugene.”

“Hmm I see.”

“You’ll be okay with not having that delicious sandwich in the trailer today right?”

That way of speaking… he was definitely from California. First of all tone down negative comments into positive ones. She smiled weakly.

“Maybe so. “First of all I will guide you to Joan… the assistant director.”

“thank you!”

As she took steps to hand them over to the assistant director she heard a foreign language being spoken behind her.

[Wow Yujin speaks so well?]

[i know!]

I don’t know what it meant but it was a bright tone. It doesn’t seem to be that bad.

‘Have they at least increased the amount of cameos?’

What is certain is that the assistant director’s attitude has also changed. Joan suddenly began to treat them in an overly polite manner.

‘What on earth?’

Anyway they quickly occupied the set before the main actors filming today arrived.

She also moved quickly.

First of all snacks and drinks.

“Where can I take it when it’s finished?”

Instead of their staff a pink-haired boy glanced back at himself and briefly answered raising his hand.

Put it up?

“thank you. “Up there.”

“…?”

She raised her gaze to her hands.

The boy continued speaking in a harsh tone.

“We are going to perform.”

oh my god.

The place the hand was pointing to was… a corner of the bar that had been created for perfection.

A small stage in a bar.

They are here to act as performing extras in the background of this scene!

It was ridiculously simple.

‘Why are you doing this… why are you doing this?’

No matter how much makeup they put on the question was whether this crazy set atmosphere would suit them.

Meanwhile preparations for the filming were going on steadily and the boys went through a camera test and actually stood on the backstage of the bar.

‘The sound will be processed in hindsight anyway so all you have to do is pretend.’

They controlled the microphone and one even actually sat down at the keyboard. There was also a boy who asked about the use of a strange space instrument.

And the moment filming actually began in a quiet location without any expectations.

Ugh~

The bar set goes dark with mirror balls and glow-in-the-dark lights flashing.

-Black hole

A rich sound comes from a microphone that is not intended for singing.

"…!"

Amazing tones formed a harmony and the accompaniment poured out like lasers or starlight.

But it wasn't elegant. A sound with a texture like randomly drawn crayons bounced around.

An addictive song with a fast beat that goes well with a kitschy space opera. And a band singing in a quite rebellious manner on a narrow stage.

-Let me swallow it

All of that blended in incredibly well with the atmosphere of a bizarre bar that faithfully showed off the aspects of a science fiction back alley.

A talent for seizing the moment.

"…"

She emotionally understood why the boy had left his home state and traveled to a far away country.

'It's hard to reject a team like that.'

Considering the fact that they were not formed as a team in the first place and were only a temporary group of survival survivors they were intended to be the flagship.

In any case the OST performance which was arranged to last only two minutes left not only her but also quite a few workers dumbfounded.

During the heightened parts and climax there were even staff members shaking their bodies slightly while watching without realizing it.

Tuk.

“thank you.”

Even the leisureliness of those who said hello at the end added to its own status. It was the attitude of a truly popular celebrity.

‘…It was unexpectedly good.’

Moreover they didn’t look at the camera until the end as if it wasn’t there. It was a skillfully prepared attitude for the movie.

That made it even more sad.

‘It’s all going to be edited anyway…!’

There was zero chance of this performance being saved in a movie. This is because it is such a sudden and external factor. o

At most this was filmed as a candidate to be revealed behind the scenes!

She somehow felt that this fact could not have been more unfair.

I understand why they chose this as a cameo scene but it was unfortunate that they made a mistake because they didn’t know much about this field.

“phew.”

It was just a vain worry.

This is because the parties involved did not have such expectations in the first place.

What they were aiming for was not simply to make this performance look cool and be included in the movie.

It was a connection to what was to be filmed next.

“Hmm.”

“You won’t film any more performances right?”

“Looking at the atmosphere I think so.”

Park Moon-dae who left the microphone opened his mouth to Bae Se-jin among the members waiting for the next cut.

“Brother now show me the acting skills of a genius child actor.”

“go for it!”

“You don’t have to feel burdened but we want you to know our deep faith and trust!”

And Bae Se-jin nodded earnestly putting to shame past reactions such as ‘It’s just one line of dialogue but it’s like some guy’s control over the camera.’

“…okay!”

“Oh!”

‘I was immersed.’

Park Moon-dae judged Bae Se-jin's condition.

Bae Se-jin refused the water offered by the staff and just adjusted her gown with calm eyes.

And some time later the 'real' cameo filming took place after the actors joined.

"…!"

The youngest assistant completely understands why the KPOP band chose this on the spot.

At the same time I am engulfed in confusion.

'That guy… why is he in a boy band?'

* * *

Two months later.

The film's tentatively edited internal blind preview premiered and Testa's editing volume did not decrease despite the feedback from this preview.

However as the rumor spread speculative articles began to appear in Korea as well.

["Korean game world view" Limestone's new movie… Will KPOP idols appear?]

The match was about to fall on the dry firewood.

Chapter 338

april.

Kim Rae-bin's fan came to the movie theater for the first time in a long time.

'I turned!'

Even the college student thought it was crazy that he was going to win after attending all kinds of preview events during the midterm exam period when graduation was just around the corner.

That's because of a trashy article that isn't even clear.

Rumor has it that a KPOP idol will appear as a cameo in this Limestone movie.

And as it turned out that movie was the very same sniping movie based on the worldview of the game series of 'Ruined Factory' which created 〈127 Section〉.

Naturally candidates for groups that could be associated with were hotly sought after but the number one priority was her idol.

Because all the circumstances were correct.

– Wouldn't you have used a group you collaborated with? Common sense tells you

-Wow is it ㅌㅅㅌ?

-I'm so excited. What's going on?

On the surface expectations were a mixture of positivity and anxiety.

Of course the game community in question criticized the game company saying things like ‘They targeted the US and ruined their original intention.’

If the ‘KPOP idol-incorporation’ was true the general consensus was that the game worldview was sold cheaply for the sake of over-the-top marketing.

And interestingly similar reactions were coming from the underground idol fan community.

– As soon as I received the domestic grand prize I sent Cheon Jo-guk to him. He was so shabby that he was at a loss for words.

-It’s strong.

-Now Korea is a fish that has been caught. Yes I live while watching the translation haha.

-Idol cameo hahaha already haha are you crazy because your hands and feet are missing?

For your information Kim Rae-bin’s fans were also this group.

‘Could it be that the independent label was also a piece of cake to send to America?!’

Fans who were already skeptical and thought ‘There is no way the company would give an independent label’ were preparing to attack the agency early on.

At the same time externally they are even trying to hide negative reactions to Testa.

‘I wonder if it’s really the agency that caused me this much trouble during my inactivity period.’

However despite this enthusiastic response T1 Stars did not make any official statement.

Normally this company would have gone crazy whether it was for the first time or a media play but the quietness actually made fans more anxious.

It became suspicious.

‘Isn’t the quality so trash that even Unflow can’t use it…?’

‘I guess they bundled the kids up and sold them on some kind of garbage deal right?’

‘Why are you taking such a long time with a cameo appearance? ‘Is there anything more?’

Unfortunately Testa was on tour so it was difficult to ventilate him with other content.

Combined with the fact that he didn’t bother to answer even when questions were plastered in the comments on W Live it became an established opinion that Testa had actually appeared and was keeping it a secret.

And anxiety heightened.

‘Don’t come out better don’t come out!’

That’s what the college student was thinking as he frantically searched for all the preview draws.

But time passed steadily.

The first day preview of the movie was held yesterday.

And then everything turned upside down.

-crazy

-Limestone is always right

-Oh just come and see.

-ㅋㅋㅋ Gukppong don't worry just buy the bastards ah~~

The movie was a decent film with an average of 4 stars from critics. It succeeded in bringing out the game world in an attractive way providing good material for Gukbong YouTubers.

Moreover Testa's appearance…

-I'm really shocked my kids are like that.

She only saw this and logged out.

'Some crazy bastard posts spoilers so they can be searched for!'

This was so as not to be affected in advance. And I never accessed social media again until I came to this preview today.

They didn't even check Testa's official SNS.

'I just look at it and evaluate it based on zero base.'

It's not a day or two that part-time commenters are manipulating movie ratings and it's not every day that fans try to influence public opinion on the first day.

She organized her thoughts with such alertness.

'The only thing that is certain is that Testa will appear!'

The college student sat in the movie theater with a cool-headed mind.

"Hey I have popcorn."

"shut up."

Since there was no one to bring him he gave his younger brother a shout-out and soon after the emergency route instructions ended and a logo appeared.

Limestone's unique English sentence.

And the title.

[Cosmic Gunner]

It was a typical movie name there. As expected from the preview brief cheers rang out here and there.

However the grand content that followed… only killed the visual beauty and was so-so to her.

That's because I wasn't really interested in science fiction. I don't know what they're talking about and I'm not really interested in the game.

'I knew it would be like this.'

The college student chewed caramel popcorn intently.

'When will Testa come out?'

But it was definitely fun to watch as a movie.

From the sarcastic black humor when explaining the background of the Earth's destruction to the wonderful scene transitions and friendly storyline.

Overall this is a movie worth watching at least once even for people who are not interested in science fiction or heroes and don't know much about it.

'It's okay.'

I felt the familiar taste of limestone. She relaxed for a moment and watched the movie blankly.

I assumed that Testa would only appear after the middle part like most Hollywood cameos.

By then the screen was showing the decadent and colorful neon sign of the space station where the protagonist had arrived.

[Wow it's worth watching right?]

-(I tell you honestly this was a false delusion.)

People in the theater burst into laughter at the flashback monologue intersected with the main character's words.

Meanwhile the main character of the movie saw the alcohol-shaped sign at the station and sneaked into the bar.

There is a close-up of the band's powerful and meaningful performance and using it as background music the protagonist sits down at the table.

And a comic-like conversation exchanged with a supporting character who appears.

[Are you from Earth? How about there?]

[Well these bar songs are equally noisy.]

At that moment harsh slang English burst out from the strange band in the background.

[What the fuck did you just say?]

[I love this song friend! Hey! It was the best performance of my life!]

There was a blurry depiction of a band member glaring at the protagonist from a distance then nodding and retracting his gaze. Once again the audience burst into laughter.

The protagonist chuckled.

[Teenagers with no blood on their heads are glaring at me.]

[Oh be careful! Newbie friend you shouldn't judge people based on common sense from that planet.]

Then a small alien supporting character sitting across from the main character lowers his voice and introduces himself.

The world the protagonist will encounter from now on.

[The number of planets contracted with this station alone exceeds 1200!]

Gorgeous and spectacular scenes of extraterrestrial life are edited and presented to the audience.

'oh.'

The effect filled the movie theater. The college student briefly expressed his admiration.

Meanwhile the voices of the supporting actors continued to narrate.

About the unique history treasure conflict and armed forces of the various planets that use this space station.

Quite a few things were contrary to common sense on Earth.

Even the risks.

[Most of the small guys are hiding force shooters thanks to the protection law. Do you see that?]

[Like you?]

[Yes like me.]

The supporting character on the screen at the bar who returns laughs and shows the force shooter in his arms then hides it. The protagonist looks at it carefully.

[And lastly… you have to be careful of crazy people walking around like crazy people.]

[Crazy guys?]

[Ah there are people walking around who are noticeable when you look at them!]

After the supporting actor's words the screen turns once again.

Above the bar's small performance area to the 'teenage' band that had said a word to the main character earlier.

As they were heading down after finishing the session soldiers dressed in imposing combat uniforms started an argument.

Only visible from the back and sides they were dressed in avant-garde fashion as if they were a combination of a 70's rock band and game characters but their bodies were not as huge as those in combat uniforms.

It felt like the band would be beaten up by the soldiers at any moment or run away.

[oh.]

However when the camera was properly focused on the band from the soldier's point of view.

Those faces were just sad.

And those were very familiar faces to most of the audience at the premiere.

"…!"

"Wow!"

Testa!

A moment when admiration and reaction suddenly burst out from the audience due to an unexpected appearance.

[I'm doing it because I can act like a crazy person!]

The camera rolls with the supporting actor's narration.

"…!"

Whick!

The sight of soldiers being exaggeratedly neatly subdued by strange space instruments passed quickly and turbulently.

Tatak!

One member of the band blasted the last one across the table with a laser.

Then she naturally shook off her crumpled gown and carefully but delicately smoothed out the green stains on it.

With just that one momentary movement the audience can recognize that the stain on the white gown was created on purpose.

When I look up a young man wearing makeup and glasses lowers his head with an expressionless expression.

'Wow.'

The college student realized.

This is a stage costume modeled after the 'Doctor' from 〈127 Section〉!

And only a beat later did I realize that the person was Bae Se-jin.

"…!"

Even though Bae Se-jin didn't say a word she seemed like a completely different person from the usual idol Bae Se-jin. When I shouted in English earlier I couldn't even recognize my voice.

Even though I was a college student who knew Testa very well it was even more unfamiliar to me.

In that brief moment Bae Se-jin appealed to the character she had given herself.

'what.'

Raebin Kim's fans were drooling over Kkakdugi's professional talent which they previously treated as a mascot.

And the screen composition was changed again.

We briefly saw the seven band members leisurely passing by the protagonist's table ignoring the fallen soldiers.

Bae Se-jin said without even looking back.

[Come listen again.]

[That is truly an honor…]

However before the main character's words are finished he disappears from the screen leaving only the SF sound effect of the door opening and leaving.

Shoo!

[…]

The two main characters who were watching with wide eyes on the screen immediately lowered their heads and whispered.

[I saw it. It's a neighborhood like this.]

[…oh.]

The protagonist blinked.

[Then I just…]

[Yes I almost died. I have a better plan than that…]

The movie theater was filled with laughter again. It was fun and joy enjoyed only by those who knew who the cameo was.

And Kim Rae-bin's fan was briefly shocked while holding popcorn.

That scene which ended with laughter was clearly an effective way to introduce this worldview to the main character and the audience.

Humor twists and coolness.

A cameo appearance with all three virtues.

'Wow.'

There's no way T1 would do this well… no no. This is ultimately thanks to the members receiving it well. It's not thanks to those bastards.

'Bae Se-jin… '

Kim Rae-bin's fan who had been reciting the name of the member who was particularly hard-carrying in an unusual way came to a realization as if struck by lightning.

Come to think of it what was the song you were playing?

And the moment the band's music she heard in the bar played along with the vocals in the ending scroll following the final battle scene she realized she wasn't wrong.

-Exploding far away

This high note that goes well with pop songs.

And who on earth chose this amazing OST?

‘Raebin Kim! Park Mun-dae!’

Her pick did not fail as expected!!

And as soon as the movie preview ended she reconnected to the Internet and the short cameo and the OST were already causing a stir.

Chapter 339

It's mid-April with only a few weeks left for the Testa tour in the US.

"Let's go to the movie theater again!"

"I don't have time."

"Then make it!"

You are persistent today.

I looked at Cha Yu-jin who was singing even at the composition camp to watch the movie.

Because of this guy I'm going to see 'Cosmic Gunner' like a late-night thief in every city I go on tour.

'There were quite a few sightings.'

I went so far that people who were aiming for predictive shots came looking for me so I stopped but I was acting like I was experiencing some withdrawal symptoms.

"It is not good to continuously take away your brothers' sleep time to re-watch Cha Yu-jin's appearance scenes that only last a few seconds…"

"My voice is long! And we were cool!"

"Haha that's right. "It was amazing to hear our song in the ending credits."

Yes I had no idea that they would even adopt our song as the main theme song.

I don't know but I think the reason the producer came out in person last time was because he liked the song more than I imagined.

'Those bastards didn't even give me any more money.'

Let's say it was used as promotional fees. First of all the composer himself is very excited.

"yes! "I was very surprised too!"

"okay."

"I wasn't surprised? "Ravin's song was really good~"

Admiration once again poured out to the top contributor. Even Cha Yu-jin nodded.

"Kim Rae-bin's song was great too."

Raebin Kim nodded solemnly.

"Because it was produced in a hurry there were some parts that left something to be desired in terms of completeness but we supplemented it with feedback after filming so in the end we decided that it was finished at a satisfactory level."

"GOOD~"

It's rare for two people to agree and not fight.

"The bar response has been very good. Even in the U.S… articles appeared."

"Oh~ really?"

It seems that Sun Ah-hyun even attempted a rare search. When you do something different you get all sorts of results.

I translated the article he gave me.

“The main insert song for this Limestone movie was composed by a KPOP boy band… The identity of that impressive cameo is said to be surprising the public.”

“Oh~”

It’s too early to be impressed that all the articles are published separately but when I actually went to the anonymous community in the US and searched I found that there were posts about the article.

‘First of all the movie was a huge box office success.’

This was something we couldn’t do anything about but we were lucky.

Anyway thanks to the good impression we got from that popular movie it seemed like we were already posting about it.

This includes the Testa cameo scene that was leaked and floating around in low quality.

What’s interesting is that many people said ‘I thought it was a supporting role but I was surprised when it didn’t appear again’ as if they didn’t even know it was a cameo.

-I thought that crazy band would reappear later but it’s a shame But they were the ones playing the song in the ending credits right?

Cameoya is actually a K-pop band

Oh my god

As a result it seems like there is now a post outlining who these guys are.

I recalled the comments on a popular article titled ‘The identity of the crazy band ‘Cosmic Gunner’.

-This is K-pop?

-Are my stereotypes the problem or are these kids the exception?

Both (crying and laughing emoticon)

-I wasn't surprised because Testa is one of the most talented K-pop groups I've ever seen.

That's right! I'm sure this song is also by their member-Ravin? He's the boy with the red sea urchin-like keyboard during the cameo

As expected K-pop fans pop out lol

And if you go a little further entertainment shows that used to sell hotteok in the U.S. are often included as recommendations at the end.

In other words the overseas response exceeded expectations.

"The overall response has been really good."

"I know."

And there is someone who is listening carefully to all this pretending not to be here.

He is the one who along with Raebin Kim brought about this reaction in the form of a two-horse carriage.

I turned my head.

"My brother was really good at acting."

"…Hmm."

This is Bae Se-jin.

This isn't the first time I've done this to people around me but now I feel a little embarrassed. At first I was really freaked out.

Cha Yu-jin cheered.

“that’s right! “It’s absolutely perfect!”

“Actually it wasn’t perfect. I did my best to interpret the lines to suit the make-up and situation but there were pronunciation issues… Anyway! Thank you! “You helped me a lot with pronunciation.”

“i know!”

Bae Se-jin stopped at that point and obediently admitted. I guess I’m finally starting to realize that if I show up with a straight face the atmosphere will become awkward.

Perhaps the fact that I saw so many good reviews also played a role.

I recalled the favorable responses that poured in just a day after its release.

-I just thought it was an actor there.

-You’re crazy.

-What is Bae Se-jin? What is Bae Se-jin? Is this a true story of a Hollywood luxury cameo performance that captivates everyone in 3 seconds?

Actually I was surprised to see it.

‘They asked a lot of questions on site.’

Bae Se-jin tried to understand as much as possible about the script and situation even using Cha Yu-jin as an interpreter.

‘At the end even the ad-lib I did passed in one cut.’

To begin with the cameo line was only a line of swearing and arguing for humor.

However I thought ‘Wouldn’t it be more fun to say something at the end?’ so the ad-lib was the line that I discussed on the spot.

-Come listen again.

It was a pun that we added knowing our song would appear again in the battle scene in the second half.

I had no idea that it would be recalled because a complete song with vocals was included in the ending credits.

In any case his abilities in terms of acting and talent were at a high level to the point where he received almost overwhelmingly positive evaluations.

Of course thanks to this some people started to fight each other.

-I don’t know why I’m an idol. Isn’t acting good for both of us? Testa’s stage quality has improved and Bae Se-jin is good at what he does.

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋ Look at the way you speak yes no.

I won’t accept Sejin’s withdrawal from X or professional idol Daecute Hamchim~

This was so obvious that the group’s fans were all prepared to block it.

However the problem is that this reaction was unusual even among ordinary people or cinephiles who just watched the movie.

-It’s too much of a waste to just do a real cameo. Please build up your filmography quickly.

-Gyegeun is a male actor in his 20s so can we trust him as a child actor?

The prediction and expectation is that Bae Se-jin will turn his career completely into acting once he reaches retirement age.

‘Somehow they still give more credit to actors than idols.’

Is it a matter of job longevity and characteristics? I thought about it briefly then just shrugged and quit.

‘Let’s just enjoy it for now.’

Now that Testa has just won the grand prize and raised the group’s status public opinion has not collapsed and is maintaining balance.

Since Testa participated in the OST for this movie in the first place Bae Se-jin also appeared as a part of it.

This means that there is no expectation that Bae Se-jin will quit group activities ‘right away’ and start acting.

‘Still we need to pay attention from now on in order to naturally carry out group activities simultaneously with individual activities.’

I don’t know what these guys will prioritize at that time… but for now it’s safer to create an environment where choices can be made.

‘It’s better to do various activities as a group and achieve good results.’

And I think that things that haven’t been revealed yet in this movie will help with that.

Coincidentally a similar topic came up again among the members.

“Hmm~ Bro was there any mention of when the full song for our OST will be released?”

This movie’s OST we sang.

‘Black hole’.

Even though the official sound source for this song was not released illegal music extracted from the trailer was floating around. Google even autocompleted it in English.

However we also do not have full rights to the music source.

“well. “I haven’t received a specific date but it will probably be released according to the film company’s schedule.”

I nodded.

“That’s right. “It will be included in their OST album not our album.”

From T1’s perspective there would be no choice since the contract was concluded that way.

…And actually I was aiming for this too.

‘If I had the authority I would have released it already on the first day of release.’

It would be best to release something like this when demand is at its peak but public opinion would have made it impossible to hold back until then. I’m sure.

Moreover there is the next most important reason.

“Limestone will take care of it.”

The title is ‘Limestone’.

A famous American hero movie series.

‘If this movie is released as an OST it will be a huge benefit in the United States.’

The moment a song comes out with the familiar and cool Limestone title rather than the name of an unfamiliar foreign KPOP singer the barrier to entry for the song disappears.

Elimination of preconceptions and prejudices.

It was the best reward.

‘If it’s like this it’s worth it.’

In addition there is content here to add boosters.

‘Hmm.’

“It’s also surprising that it’s an American album.”

“That’s right. It was my first time singing a movie song… You worked hard Ravi…!”

“Thank you Ahyeon for your hard work by providing smooth communication support and performance guidance!”

As I watched the guys chatting to each other with things like ‘I just enjoyed the experience’ I worked hard to calculate the return on investment in my head.

And a few days later.

The OST was released under Limestone’s label in the name of ‘thank you for your support’.

And not only the sound source but also a short video was released to the world.

-What is this?

-Fuck you

This is a live performance filmed on a bar set on set.

Yes the Limestone bastards decided to release this not as a VOD or director’s cut but for promotional purposes.

* * *

The day the OST sound source and performance video were released.

We were briefly returning to Korea and watched the video on our tablet PC using the in-flight WIFI.

“and.”

“The editing is definitely different.”

It’s a bit different from the camera work used on stage and it’s edited to make it feel like it’s part of a movie so it has an unfamiliar taste.

[Black-hole!]

The hands feet jaw lights and back of the instrument are artistically captured under colorful lights resembling neon signs.

Avant-garde clothing background rebellious performance tone and even distinct vocals. The band’s performance which brought out the atmosphere of “Cosmic Gunner” to the fullest was truly worth seeing.

It felt natural perhaps because the strange space instruments were shared by people who had actually played similar instruments.

[Hit it like a comet!]

I nodded as I watched the camera capture Cha Yu-jin from bottom to top as she threw the microphone at the last center.

‘You put a lot of effort into it.’

Although it was full of American sensibilities it was unique perhaps because the image of this band in the movie was so strong. It has a definite charm.

And I don’t think it’s because I was the one performing.

[22938704]

It's only been a few hours since it was released but it's already reached tens of millions of views.

At that moment Cha Yu-jin whistled.

"We are the second most popular in America!"

"Oh~"

"You mean real-time popular video rankings?"

"that's right!"

That's how I found out where this number of views was coming from. This is the target market.

Done.

Whether you're a movie fan or anything else there's nothing wrong with seeing a high-quality performance video with a steady increase in views.

It might take some time to explain that we're not a band but that's enough to make it an episode on some talk show.

'It's a well-known piece of honey.'

I was just trying to figure out how to maximize this.

Keun Se-jin who was sitting next to me after watching the entire video and monitoring my reactions suddenly tapped me on the shoulder. What is it?

"Park Mun-dae."

"why."

"Look at this."

I checked the smartphone he was holding out.

[Comparison of Testa OST plagiarism controversy]

“…!!”

plagiarism?

I immediately checked the face of Kim Rae-bin in the front seat. Then Keun Se-jin shakes his head and pulls my hair.

“Keep reading.”

“…”

I immediately looked away. And I read the text…

———————————

Testa’s Cosmic Gunner OST Blackhole Bridge (starting at 1:30)

Arranged by Wituber ‘Star’s Song’ channel 〈127 Section〉 Time running arrangement (from 2:56)

Make your own judgment.

＋For reference although I am a student studying Byeolbyeolsong I am not an amateur and have participated in official game theme songs.

———————————

“…??”

What is this?

Why is there an account for our arrangement?

I immediately called Raebin Kim. And I showed the article to Raebin

Kim.

“…??”

He had the same stupid expression on his face as I did two minutes ago.

I was patient and waited a little longer for a reaction. Fortunately Raebin Kim immediately shouted as if he had figured it out.

“…! “I see. I was working in a hurry so it looks like some of the samples I made before overlapped!”

“ah.”

“sorry. Because we share the same world view I couldn’t recognize it and stopped while working in a hurry…”

And to summarize his explanation it is as follows.

‘I worked on the OST by frantically selecting beats and samples that I had already made but since they share the same worldview I think they overlapped. It’s my fault! ‘I will do deep reflection and devise countermeasures at the same time!’

“No just a moment.”

I calmed Raebin Kim down.

“Mundaemun University?”

I gestured to Keun Se-jin to stop for a moment and then went into the account of ‘Byeolbyeolgok’ first.

Comments on the video were already exploding.

And the main argument is this.

-Sue never sue

– Byeolgok cheer up brother I'm rooting for you.

-I heard it for the first time and it's a really good song. It really can't be compared to a plagiarized song. Fighting!

"oh."

Everyone is excited.

I rubbed my chin. This… I guess I can use it if I do it well.

Chapter 340

Let's take a look at the public's reaction to the plagiarism controversy between 'Star Song' and Testa Kim Rae-bin.

No to be more precise I organized by type the people who are excited about this situation where they can criticize Testa for the first time in a long time with an amazing justification.

First of all number 1.

Also known as 'I didn't know that would happen'.

-Kim Rae-bin People said he was a genius and all but when I looked at him I saw Lee Ji-kyung… Ugh.

-It's so shocking. I didn't know that even an idol who won the grand prize would be like this. Really.

-Testa is really disappointing. Isn't Korea also becoming a laughingstock?

I have never had a bad opinion of Testa but I am emphasizing that I was greatly disappointed by this incident.

Of course even if you reverse this the flavor is amazing.

That's number 2.

Also known as 'I knew it would be like that'.

-Contemplation is science

– During Azusa it didn't seem like it was a bad episode fans were happy and sales were strong.

-The final part of this tech tree is usually drugs. Is Kim Rae-bin speechless and talking gibberish? Haha Kingly Godsim

I'm having fun being able to talk about all kinds of speculative curses and rumors that would normally lead to people being attacked as crazy. And the last 3rd ones are the most important.

Floating a star song.

The more you deify the victim the better it feels when you beat the wrongdoer.

-The songs on the Byeolbyeolgok channel are really sparkling and pretty. I understand why they plagiarized it.

– Haha I'm a major but this is the original song of Byeolbyul. Raebin Kim I think I crossed the line after constantly referring to it.

-I cosplayed as a genius with a real genius.

"So let's predict the reaction of Kim Rae-bin the central member of Byeolbyeolgok who is considered a modern-day Mozart genius…"

"…thank you?"

"Oh that's it."

The members sighed or burst into laughter at Keun Se-jin's words.

The people who stopped Kim Rae-bin who was trying to post 'Testa' on social media gathered at the dormitory early in the morning as soon as they entered the country.

"What about Ravin?"

"Well sleep well."

"okay."

“But why are you stopping Raebin Kim? Let’s quickly say we are!
“Show me a taste of justice.”

“Hmm Eugene it’s better to prepare before speaking.”

Big Sejin smiled bitterly.

“There are people who are angry that they were fooled for no reason when they misunderstood.”

“Ugh… I’m sick of it.”

“It’s a bit like that.”

What he said was right.

Of course the moment it is revealed that Byeolbyeolgok is a testa led by Kim Rae-bin mainstream public opinion will completely reverse.

However the problem is that depending on the method unnecessary side effects may occur.

I crossed my arms and opened my mouth.

“It could be said that we were deliberately targeting it for publicity.”

“Yes that is also a possibility.”

There may be people who are trying to create public opinion by saying that as soon as they signed the OST contract they created a WeTube account and uploaded an arrangement related to 〈127 Section〉.

-Honestly it’s too exquisite to be a coincidence let alone reacting so quickly.

-Hmm… After signing a contract for the Ruined Factory worldview movie OST I created an account to upload the Ruined Factory game arrangement?

-Hey this looks too much like a masterpiece T-One guys haha.

There is no need to leave something like this behind.

Liu Chengwu made up for it with a serious face.

“But I can’t leave it for long. “Ravin was being attacked so much.”

“That’s right. “It’s a serious misunderstanding.”

If you leave it for too long the symptoms will become stronger.

‘I don’t want to apologize.’

This is because many of the people who sympathized with and criticized the plagiarism controversy would not want to admit that they were wrong.

Then wouldn’t you try to somehow create a reason to blame the other person instead of yourself?

Sun Ah-hyun looked tearful.

“Oh even if it’s a misunderstanding… I think it’s too much. “Ravin took the first step without even listening to the explanation…”

“…okay. “It’s too harsh.”

I nodded.

“It’s a side effect of the song doing so well.”

I don’t know if the controversy was just due to the included song but this OST is in the gukbong meta right now.

‘Vicarious satisfaction is shattered and becomes vicarious shame.’

They are even more outraged because they fear they will be humiliated overseas because of this. It was a side effect of Gukppong Meta. Even if there was controversy over plagiarism in our title the Internet wouldn't have been this loud.

"after."

I laughed out loud as I watched the number of subscribers to the 'Star Songs' WeTube channel rising along with the overheated atmosphere. Big Sejin poked his head in to check and was astonished.

"Wow it's over 100000."

"I know."

Meanwhile noise marketing has become like this. Should I tell them to register as a profit-generating account and receive compensation for the amount deducted from the copyright?

-go for it!

– I subscribed. The song is really really good.

-☆★☆★☆Limestone Look here this is the original do it with this genius☆★☆★☆

-It's really surprising. I heard you're a college student. Age doesn't seem to matter when it comes to talent.

Bae Se-jin who was reading the comments on the channel muttered with a shocked face.

"…Is Kim Rae-bin really being recognized as much as he is being criticized…?"

"That's right…"

It was a funny situation where it was difficult to be happy or sad. Cha Yu-jin stretched out.

“Whatever if you’re good at the next one I won’t be able to tell you everything! “Just let us know quickly!”

It’s consistent.

And surprisingly Liu Chengwu opened his mouth seriously.

“Actually I have similar thoughts.”

“yes?”

“Maybe I’m being a bit optimistic but… to be honest I think it’ll be fine without much discussion.”

hmm.

“Honestly?”

“Okay I thought it would be good if we explained why we created that account. “It’s actually a good story.”

“Hmm.”

Is it Jeonggong Corporation?

In fact it was the most correct way to make a statement. Explaining the situation honestly.

“I thought it would be a good idea to issue an official statement through the company.”

Then I heard a low voice behind my head.

“Well… I agree.”

“…”

“Ugh!”

“sorry!”

When I turned my head I saw Kim Rae-bin standing awkwardly behind the scared Bae Se-jin.

“Aren’t you sleeping??”

“I woke up a few minutes ago. “I came out to get some water but they seemed to be chatting so while I was moving quietly I unintentionally overheard the conversation!”

“Uh oh…”

Why are you making excuses when we who were talking about someone who is not there have to be stabbed?

Anyway since the person involved came forward an atmosphere was created to listen to the doctor.

“So… Ravin you like this opinion? “Honestly tell me everything?”

“yes.”

Raebin Kim who was sitting in his seat nodded.

“Actually I would like to tell you that the reason I started running this Byeolbyeolgok account was because my brothers were kind and considerate of me when I was in a slump.”

“Rae Ravin…”

“Although it will be difficult for us to run an account as a hobby anymore… we will try to develop a healthy hobby in a different direction!”

Raebin Kim clenched his hands.

‘oh.’

I grinned.

“okay. “Let’s just be honest.”

”…!!”

I heard a murmuring sound next to me.

“Mundaemun University?”

“Has he been drinking?”

I ignored it.

“Ravin is right. The truth always works. “I think it’s best to be honest.”

“thank you!”

“…Wow~”

Big Sejin looks at me with a face telling me not to scold him. Look at this bastard.

Of course I still had more to say.

“But how about you do it yourself instead of going through a company?”

“Oh then on Testa SNS…”

“No not there.”

“…?”

“Then where do you want me to post it?”

I turned my smartphone around with a smile and showed it to him.

Maximization of impact. let's go.

* * *

Half a day after the plagiarism controversy broke out.

The Internet was still hot.

Beyond this incident all kinds of rumors from Kim Rae-bin's past were pieced together and brought to the brink of being dragged out.

Meanwhile the OST which is soaring in the music rankings is being bombarded with star ratings and endlessly creating buzz.

-Daebak Byeolbyeol Song live begins

The person who was plagiarized has finally appeared!

[This is my position regarding this plagiarism controversy.]

People were so excited about the new firewood that they clicked on the video like crazy.

In the video revealed after the black thumbnail…

[hello. This is Raebin Kim a tester who runs the Byeolbyulgok channel.]

-???

Why are you here…?

In an instant the live chat was filled with question marks exclamation marks and all kinds of onomatopoeia.

However Kim Rae-bin who was seen on the screen sitting in his room wearing civilian clothes continued to announce his position with a serious expression on his face referring to the paper he was holding.

[First of all thank you to everyone who supports the channel. And I apologize for causing trouble.]

-What is this?

Why is the person involved in the plagiarism controversy suddenly saying thank you on another person's channel?

'Are you really trying to say that you reached an amicable agreement with the parties involved?'

'If I was forced to appear like this wouldn't it be too lame?'

However Raebin Kim continued speaking.

[It was late last fall and I was having trouble composing music due to a sudden slump… Because of that the members took advantage of their free time and organized hobby camp activities.]

[It is unfortunate that something like this happened in the process but I would like to tell you that it was my mistake and the members are not responsible in any way.]

People finally assumed from Kim Rae-bin's low posture and tone of voice that she had come forward to apologize for plagiarism.

Thanks to this the swear words finally started pouring in.

-Are you saying you plagiarized at a hobby camp?

-No what happened to your hobby camp? LOL. Apologize properly.

-Ah Gao you're falling. What are you doing on a normal person's account? You even have an agency so you're giving up your job?

-Ugh

[The samples were mixed up due to my mistake…]

It was that moment.

Suddenly a member sneaked out from a corner of the room. This is Sun Ah-hyun.

-???

He waved his hand at Kim Rae-bin vigorously but soon realized that it wasn't working so he came over to her whispered and then disappeared off camera.

Only then did Raebin Kim open his eyes wide and nod his head.

[ah! Didn't I already tell you? sorry.]

-So what is it?

[I am a star song!]

-??????

[sorry. I should have told you this first but I wanted to give you a detailed explanation…]

The comment section was once again filled with confusion and screams. It was of no use to Raebin Kim who didn't know that he could view real-time chat in the first place.

[To be precise this was an account where all of Testa uploaded the work they arranged and composed at the hobby camp.]

[Thank you for your support. I gained strength from reading your comments recently!]

-yes?

[Let's match the song that each member took the lead in arranging… Ah I almost missed the topic of today's video. Sorry again!]

-Say something right now!!

-Mi | MimiMimchin crazy

-Is this a true story?

Real-time reactions were covered in alien language. However as prepared Raebin Kim simply explained why the situation was like this.

Among them this was the only one.

[Encouraged by your positive responses I sent this account's works to my portfolio during OST contact.]

It was a sentence that Park Moon-dae quietly pushed in to prevent any suspicion that he composed the song for this account after winning the OST contract.

Of course Kim Rae-bin was someone who thought she was simply expressing her gratitude and said it seriously.

-and

-I really can't even imagine.

-Song of the Stars = Mozart in the age of Raebin Kim and Godgenius

– Hahahahahahaha no ugh.

And the real-time chat changed its stance in an instant and started to come out cheerfully.

Because it's fun!

And Kim Rae-bin is not criticizing or blaming them for swearing but is saying that she caused the misunderstanding!

By ridiculing those who cursed and caused more controversy than him the chat window began to preserve his identity as a defender of Byeolbyeolgok.

Aggros who came in with animosity towards Testa either disappeared or began to notice due to the changed atmosphere.

-First of all the bastards who cursed me ran away.

-Oh it's fun.

-Is this a powerful meta or something?

What followed was a detailed explanation of how Kim Rae-bin composed the OST and why the samples overlapped.

[Due to problems with the production period we had to produce a demo version in four days so there was a mistake in the process where samples overlapped…]

And even that was a situation that evoked enough empathy and sympathy from modern people.

– Deadline…

-You were being bullied.

-ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋWhat is this guy doing that composes music and composition is his hobby?

-Idol is really not easy

Now it has become a pleasant atmosphere to hear stories about the process of working on an OST for a hit movie.

Since the presentation prepared by Kim Rae-bin was about 5 minutes long and if it was too long it would have had the opposite effect it was time to end the broadcast soon.

[dripping.]

[ah!]

Kim Rae-bin on the screen turned her head towards the door of the dorm that was half hung in the corner.

Then the rest of the Testa members began to come in from behind the door.

-Hull Testa

– gasp

-Why are they like that hahahahahahaha

By the time the chat window started pouring in with ‘kkkkkkkkk’ in an embarrassed manner as if he had entered the conference room late.

Wearing comfortable civilian clothes they hurriedly bowed their heads as they formed a formation with Kim Rae-bin in the middle.

[Sorry for causing trouble!]

When an image that appeared on an apple thumbnail appeared the comments were filled with laughter again.

[sorry! I suggested it! Try it as a hobby!]

[We didn’t know it would turn out like this! Ravin is not guilty!]

It was so funny that anyone could see that it was sincere.

– Hahahahahahaha we are sorry.

-It looks like they were so shocked that they couldn’t sleep.

-You worked really hard
hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha so funny

In that light-hearted atmosphere people have even begun to feel comfortable apologizing.

This was the section where the controversy completely transitioned into a pleasant incident.

[Then I'll see you next time with no mistakes!]

The last camera shook awkwardly a few times and the live ended.

However the comments were still filled with the aftereffects of this unimaginable and hilarious mess.

-No are you crazy? Haha.

-Have a really fun life guys.

At the same time the Internet began to be plastered with similar notifications.

Because it was funny.

[Identity of Byeolbyeolgok]

[Kim Rae-bin and Rae-bin Kim have reached an amicable settlement over the plagiarism controversy… jpg]

And only after they were properly spread Testa uploaded the evidence to their official SNS as if it were an impression of the incident.

Now I can say… Ginseng wine that Park Mun-dae drank at the composition camp lodge

(picture)

It was all a matter of timing.

However what Park Moon-dae did not expect was that the timing this time was even more amazing than expected.

Chapter 341

“Mundaemun University’s ginseng liquor is sold out.”

“…”

I checked the post of the seller of the ginseng soaking wine kit which was shared as a popular post on social media.

-This is support I never dared expect. thank you. We will donate a portion of the profits in the name of Testa Park Moon-dae. (bowing emoticon)

That’s right.

The Byeolbyeolgok incident became a complete meme on the Internet. The effect of cheerfully settling the issue in a timely manner was amazing.

Since it did not discriminate between tastes and even responded appropriately to funny twists and turns it spread openly to all kinds of places.

Moreover they say that the more you look into it the more funny elements emerge.

-Looking at it now the account name is screaming that I am a Testa alt character.

Hahahaha a star song hahahaha

-The past of those who naturally lied about not being able to sign a contract because they were studying.jpg (image)

-They must have been screaming when the factory guys contacted them so they were forced to debut as Samgochoryeo.

Byeolbyeolgok's official arrangement of Section 127's boss theme song was also brought into the spotlight and a humorous article reconstructing it as an image file guessing our feelings at the time was also circulating.

'Everyone is excited.'

Thanks to this the useless controversy defense was put an end to.

-Am I the only one who feels like a well-organized viral story?

Go watch the video of the target idol tester getting hit in the head (link)

If you were planning on making a fuss and making a fuss why would you lie about studying needlessly?

Don't break this fun game.

I've already changed my stance after cursing once but changing my stance to cursing again is tiring and not fun.

Of course among the fans there were quite a few people who felt disillusioned or angry at the guys who cursed so much and then changed their attitude.

However for now everyone is so relieved that the atmosphere has turned around so quickly that they are paying more attention to restoring the star rating of the music source that was terrorized.

'Plagiarism was such a big deal.'

I was worried about how far I should go in encouraging the reproduction of memes before I would cross the line.

"Oh this is fun. "How about Ravin post a copy of this?"

"It'll be okay."

First of all to make things better we did allow ourselves to respond directly to memes at least once.

‘It would be nice if it could be completed in an appropriate manner.’

I shrugged.

If possible I planned to capture the public opinion of the country like this and then use it as an episode when I go to the United States.

Wouldn’t it be perfect to talk about on a talk show? It’s also related to movies.

However the plan was not realized. Some foreigners took over this before the person involved could even use it.

“…?”

The first was an American gaming YouTuber.

In the first place the Byeolbyul Song arrangement account was made known to gamers by this YouTuber a fan of the 〈127 Section〉 game.

That guy didn’t miss out on material that would sweetly suck up the number of views.

[KPOP boy bands are everywhere… they fooled me!]

After attracting aggro with this title it ends with a reaction of exclamation and cheer that does not go against the sentiments of the KPOP fans who clicked on it.

[Oh my god. The owner of this arrangement channel is a K-pop band and is that band from Cosmic Gunner?]

[And this game collaboration trailer video is also from them right? Not an actor?]

[How can you not be an actor!]

[They write their own songs? So they also wrote the movie soundtrack? That's right in the first place! Arrangement channel! Because it's theirs!]

Every word he said while touching his forehead as if he was astonished was exquisite enough to excite the hearts of KPOP fandom and soup addicts.

Meanwhile since it has so many American subscribers it seems that this news has also reached the Limestone movie fan base who has become interested in the game's worldview.

-They plagiarize themselves? That was a very funny incident lol Thanks for letting me know -Actually I feel like I've been bullied a bit. What should I look at first?

-Stop adding K-pop to everything. Testa is a unique and cool group that doesn't fit that mold!

okay. People who had prejudice or antipathy toward existing K-pop even come out as saying that this should be recognized as an exception.

'Not bad for an opening.'

If more sounds like that exception are made it will feel offensive but it hasn't reached that level yet so I'll pass.

So if it had ended here it would have been good to use as an episode because it would have laid a heartwarming foundation.

The problem is the second guy.

"Park Moon-dae! "Look at this."

"…?"

I checked the WeTube video posted by Bae Se-jin.

It's a talk show scene.

[Jason! Could you please tell us a very rare and unique anecdote from the filming set that has not been told elsewhere?]

[haha!]

[If you don't listen I will collapse here and all the staff will testify that you are the culprit!]

[all right! all right! Let's see… During the additional filming something very interesting happened: a cameo appearance by a foreign star!]

At the time a supporting actor in the movie who appeared in the bar scene was the first to speak out on American television.

"Do you remember this person?"

"Nope! no!"

"No someone who has never spoken before speaks so naturally."

It seems that he is saying this because he is a person who has run out of episodes on talk shows and has also mentioned KPOP on social media.

[A 'real' performance was performed on that small stage set as if it were some kind of live concert hall. Wow I just did that. 'As expected KPOP bands have killer performances!']

[But then you act like you're a really popular top-notch actor?]

[And then it turns out that there is a secret arrangement account they run?]

[What kind of band is that? Did you receive any special training??]

Even though this guy had never even seen us he pieced together what he heard from the staff and spoke as if it were real.

“Still you’re good at introducing yourself.”

“Sure.”

I wonder if this is also a kind of prejudice but in any case it seems that Americans found it interesting to talk as if they were explaining things as if they were some kind of reclusive Oriental master.

‘The content is funny to begin with.’

[I should have gotten the autograph but I couldn’t get it because it disappeared in an instant. I hope to see it in the next ‘Cosmic Gunner’ series as well.]

This story which came out of the cast of a popular movie on an American primetime talk show had quite a big impact.

People who were secretly curious about the identity of the crazy band that appeared in the movie but didn’t bother to look into it accepted this statement quite impressively.

Those people started using the algorithm to check Testa’s plagiarized band performance videos and our game collaboration trailers.

-I can’t believe it. So you composed that crazy black hole in four days?

-This band is like the embodiment of a subculture.

-Are there any more English songs? □

-They made many good songs in their native language (link)

-I don’t know how this will sound but it really suits being a survival program survivor group.

Thanks to this it seemed like we were beginning to be accepted in the United States as a strange four-dimensional foreign genius.

‘It doesn’t suit me.’

But I plan to use it well. I nodded.

Of course this wasn’t the climax either. This is because the final result that left all the members speechless still remains.

A few days later.

“This this this…!”

Sun Ah-hyun’s Billboard 200 album chart.

[2. 〈Cosmic Gunner〉 Special Edition / new!]

“…!”

The movie album appeared in second place. Even though there was a soundtrack instead of a testa where the singer was it was still an incredible feat.

“Huh?”

“Wow wow… I expected this but it’s amazing isn’t it?”

It didn’t end here.

The main theme song of this movie we were in charge of even charted separately on the Billboard Hot 100.

[9. Black hole / new!]

“Ugh!”

A whopping 9th place.

Of course I heard that movie OSTs sometimes top the Billboard every few years but I never thought it would hit single digits.

'This is it.'

"brother! Raebin Kim is fainting!"

"I didn't… But I'm not sure if it's an acceptable rank for a song that was produced in four days without much deliberation and even made the mistake of using multiple samples…"

"OK Kim Rae-bin is fine."

It's a mess. And it is a worthy achievement.

I lowered my voice and asked Liu Chengwu among the people who were screaming like they were crazy.

"This wasn't even released on Friday was it?"

"okay. "It wasn't."

In particular it was an incredible achievement to achieve this rank even though it did not reflect a full week's worth of grades.

I checked the analysis score.

'The on-air score is also good.'

It's a song from a group I don't know but it seems to have been played on the radio here and there. Indeed it is a major movie.

The U.S. market where entry barriers were relaxed was truly a honeycomb.

The operation was a success.

"good."

“Should I at least post a thank you note…?”

“Then~! “I also shared the Billboard article!”

I nodded once again looking at the excited guys.

Before this momentum and atmosphere dies…

“And then we have to work on the next album.”

“ah.”

With the water rushing in like this wouldn’t it be difficult if the oars were late even if you couldn’t put a motor on the boat?

‘I’m going to move on to the next album before the image I created with Limestone fades away.’

I cracked my neck. Beside him Liu Chengwu spoke gently.

“okay. The results are really better than what we discussed during the last camp. Everyone worked really hard… Let’s make our album well too.”

They nod their heads eagerly. I guess I’m more motivated now that I have real grades.

“yes yes…!”

“I will do my best. “We will work hard to ensure that not only those who are newly interested in the movie OST but also existing listeners can enjoy listening to it and watching it!”

“good! Let’s fight Testa~”

“Well shall we start right away after eating?”

With a heightened sense of accomplishment they are so excited that they come up with a crazy camp schedule on their own like test takers. This is good posture.

And I'm kind of… thankful.

I wiggled my eyebrows remembering a situation that only I had among them.

Mission accomplished to 'break K-pop record'.

'…the free days have decreased faster than expected.'

According to his words the big moon can stick to Ryu Geon-woo's body until August.

Now there were only four months to spare. The mission must be accomplished within it.

If all goes according to plan there is a good chance…

[Brother I'm listening to the black hole really well ㅠㅠ But did you make this with Cha Yu-jin in mind? I feel like that for no reason because it's a black hole!]

…In the meantime the person concerned is living without prompting or questioning which is quite shocking.

I had no hope at all. I clicked my tongue.

'It definitely makes you live longer.'

"Okay let's go out and bring our laptops right after we eat."

So in the week before the US tour I decided to devote all 7 days to working on the title song and concept.

…The problem was that planning and execution did not always match.

* * *

The forced march continued for four days without any unusual events.

“No more coffee.”

“Mundaemundae quickly convince this guy.”

“Give up.”

The concept was almost outlined and the music video synopsis and album design were also selected. In fact all that was needed was to properly work on the title.

It was around this time that everyone was engrossed in work even their smartphones.

“10 minute break!”

“Yay~”

Weekday morning. When I was given a short break I checked my smartphone for the first time in a while.

‘Is there any other news?’

However instead of news there are several missed calls.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo]

“…?”

‘what.’

It was all the more ominous because it was so unexpected.

After a moment of conflict I called him.

The call was connected in an instant. This guy must have been holding a smartphone too.

“Senior.”

-Junior.

The answering voice was calm and there was no problem.

However the next words were not very calm.

– Could you please open the door for a moment?

what?

“What door?”

-porch.

no way.

Although I denied it I passed through the living room where the members were scattered and resting and headed toward the entrance of the dorm.

Then he opened the door with the chain attached. I could see outside through that gap.

“…!”

“…”

An expressionless face holding a phone.

It’s really cool.

‘Did it turn?’

This bastard came to someone else’s dorm by chance.

Chapter 342

A man who has never given me his address or made an appointment in advance is standing in front of the door of my accommodation.

I made a lot of missed calls without even ringing the doorbell.

But what if that guy already has a track record of crazy behavior?

‘Fuck you.’

I checked again Cheongnyeo’s expression visible through the chains.

His face is still surprisingly expressionless.

“Why did you come?”

“I didn’t come here on purpose. “I stopped by on my way back to my accommodation.”

“I don’t think I ever gave you the address.”

“We talked about it last time.”

It has never been like that.

“You told me what floor you live on.”

“…”

Yes when I met a guy with a dog in the early morning I spoke in passing to lighten the mood before mentioning the information about Ryu Geon-woo.

And if I knew which line I live on of course I could know where I live…

‘That’s just gathering information and piecing it together you bastard.’

It’s a habit that only a guy who has a corner left to rub like a restart would have without hesitation.

This guy probably doesn’t have enough taste to be able to make social judgments like this.

But Cheongryeo’s words did not end there.

“I have news to tell you.”

“what…”

And an unexpected answer emerged.

“Kongi hurts.”

“…!”

what?

“I’m on my way back after leaving it at the hospital.”

Only then did I properly interpret this bastard’s strange attitude.

That guy… was in no mood.

‘Fuck you.’

I held back a sigh in a different way.

“for a moment.”

Sweet.

I took off the chain opened the door again and came out. It doesn't matter since our accommodation is the only one on this floor anyway.

"…Where does it hurt?"

"Acute renal failure."

Cheongryeo's eyes twisted slightly.

"We got right up to that point. "The worker… brought the grapes and didn't clean them up properly."

"…"

"This is my first time experiencing this."

His voice is so calm that even if you say he slapped the 'working man' on the back of his head you would believe it.

I pressed my eyebrows.

"Did you receive the apology?"

"Does it matter? "Moving your mouth a little won't hurt anything."

It was a value judgment worthy of someone who has earned money that he will never make even if he spends his entire life.

'I came out to take care of the dog.'

And after finishing the action… I guess I had a lot of thoughts on my way back.

'Is that why you called to let me know about this?'

I guessed the reason for the missed call. And Cheongryeo continued speaking quietly.

“So since there won’t be any recent photos of Kong for a while I thought I’d explain.”

”…”

“Youngjae you like beans.”

I really want it.

“It could have been done via text message.”

“ah.”

Have you realized it now?

But the guy quickly changed his mind.

“Um… I can do it face to face right away?”

“You could have told me on the phone.”

“That was for preview purposes. It’s rude to come to you without saying anything. “There will be other people in the dorm so it’s right to be careful.”

“…How did you guess I would be in the dorm?”

“If you don’t have it you can just go back but is there any need to guess?”

They’re saying bullshit as if it’s very reasonable. It’s true that I’m not crazy.

I rubbed my eyes.

Apparently this guy was extremely anxious and wanted to talk to someone but he seemed to have no idea that he was in that state.

“Your dog will be fine.”

Cheongryeo lowers her head to the side.

“is it so? “I don’t know how you can be sure.”

“Wouldn’t you have left it to a specialized hospital? It would be okay if they let the guardian go right away. “I probably would have explained the progress to you as well.”

“…”

The guy stared into space for quite a while and then opened his mouth again.

“It was like that.”

“…”

“I guess I took action quickly so my kidneys weren’t seriously damaged. “I received the IV fluid well and although it was unlikely I said I would contact you if Kong’s condition suddenly worsened.”

“okay.”

“Anyway you have a schedule starting tomorrow so I can’t take care of you.”

“yes.”

I nodded.

“I made a good decision but why?”

“well. “I thought unexpected accidents happen very often in life?”

“…hmm.”

The guy's eyes were dark.

I hope it's a dog story. I'm sure you're not going to cause an accident to the guy who spilled grapes.

'Actually either way it's not a very good sign.'

That dog probably plays a huge role in that guy's life. Isn't this the first time since VTIC's main vocalist left that this kid has been this mentally ill?

'…It's a similar situation.'

When you feel like something important in your life is about to be ruined due to factors beyond your control.

This… If you're not careful reset syndrome won't happen again.

I don't think it would be awkward if something like this were said to kill Gold 2 and see what happened…

'That won't work.'

I was silent for a moment before opening my mouth.

This guy needs to live a little more comfortably no matter what he puts at the center of his life.

"No matter how you live accidents happen. "It is impossible for anyone to prepare for it all."

"…"

"So it is important to respond well to accidents that occur. "In that respect I think you did pretty well today."

"…!"

"Because you acted quickly the dog didn't get very sick. "Thanks to you I'm glad to be healthy again."

I once again concluded briefly.

"Good job."

"…"

Cheongryeo stood blankly for a moment and then slowly nodded.

"…yes. is it so."

"So your dog…"

"that's right. "If Kong recovers well without any aftereffects there will be no problem."

We still can't communicate. I thought so.

Still his tone of voice calmed down as if he had regained his composure. And his expression returned to its usual state.

"Come see me when I'm discharged from the hospital."

"I saw it."

I nodded and the smile returned to his face.

'That's it.'

I don't know why I have to provide aftercare for a chick that tried to kill me but when I came to my senses I found out that I was working without pay.

And that too during times when other work should be done.

'Composition camp break time… '

Only then did I look down at the smartphone I was holding in my hand and realize that there was quite a difference in the time period between the missed call and the last call.

'It's almost 30 minutes.'

It seems that Cheongryeo has been standing outside this front door longer than expected.

'It's an unreasonable waste of time by that guy's standards.'

I think it's because I'm frustrated because I'm the only one who knows the details of why I brought that dog.

I was a little conflicted and then opened my mouth.

"Do the people in your group know?"

Cheongryeo obediently opened her mouth.

"no. I'm not at the dorm right now so I sent them all to work. Because of that."

"…?"

That thing?

"ah."

Cheongnyeo lowered her head to the side.

"Youngjae I see you didn't look at the internet today."

"…"

"is it so. Unless you intentionally didn't answer the phone that would be correct. You're not using your smartphone right? "Are you preparing an album or taking a break?"

Why does this guy keep trying to guess about other people's situations?

"Something happened."

Could it be the social aspect again?

Among the remaining guys in VTIC there wasn't one who looked like he could do that but it wasn't the only guy who seemed like it.

But Cheongryeo was upset.

"Should I say that it didn't happen but that it came."

"What's to come?"

"hmm? "Everyone should enlist."

"…!!"

Suddenly a bolt of lightning struck my mind.

The date is already… No it's fine for us but you probably haven't done it yet.

"Isn't there still time left? "I heard that you postponed your enlistment because you received some sort of medal."

"Um… I decided to do it according to the period so the story is already over."

Cheongryeo smiled faintly and leaned against the wall.

"We agreed that it would be best to further extend the group's lifespan."

"…ah."

no way.

“Simultaneous enlistment. Simultaneous discharge.”

“…”

No way they caught someone.

A rare group action in which all members of the group enlist and are discharged at the same time.

Although it is possible to return to full health as quickly as possible it is an extremely harsh prescription that completely blocks personal activities in the meantime.

I never thought there would be people who actually do that.

“That’s what I said. “I think this year’s grand prize will be a little easier.”

“…”

I nodded slowly. Now I understand.

“Then you’ll be going too.”

Then the reason why my mentality was so broken was because of reset syndrome or just because I was distraught before enlisting…

“hmm? no.”

hey.

“They say it’s only for 6 months. Haha let’s go next year. “Isn’t it natural that it would be more intense if we were all discharged together?”

This guy is really good at scratching people with his snout.

“So I will be the only one appearing at the awards ceremony at the end of this year. “That is the situation that was reported in the media today.”

“Is that so?”

“yes.”

Anyway Cheongryeo said it as if it was nothing new. It looked a little subdued but it wasn’t anything special.

‘It must have been a mess.’

I guessed the Internet situation and stopped.

“Don’t you feel good? “Competitors who are difficult to beat will disappear.”

“You can win even if you don’t go.”

“ah. is it so.”

I don’t believe this. Fuck you.

“How are you feeling?”

“well. It’s not good. “Because gap management is difficult.”

The response was more business-like than expected.

Even though all the guys he was with were leaving this guy didn’t seem to have much human touch.

‘hmm… ’

“It’s a bit surprising. “It’s my first time coming here.”

“…”

“I will be using the accommodation alone…”

The guy who was talking stopped talking for a moment. At that moment a sound started coming from the front door.

Tidik.

It’s the sound of a door opening.

“…!”

And then the upper body suddenly sticks out its head.

It’s a big hit.

“Why did you go outside of Mundaemun University…”

It seems that recess is almost over and he didn’t see me so he came looking for me.

However he soon stopped talking when he saw Cheongryeo standing nearby. Damn it.

“Lee Se-jin.”

“for a moment.”

And the guy changed his stance in an instant.

“Ah hello senior!”

“hello.”

“I’ve heard a lot of stories. “What’s going on here…”

“many?”

“…”

Big Sejin paused for a moment but then answered in the same tone.

“Yes a lot.”

Meanwhile Raebin Kim is heard shouting from behind the front door.

“Brother who came?”

“Um that’s it”

“for a moment.”

That won’t work. I grabbed my big brother and entered the door.

thud.

As soon as the door closed Big Sejin’s face hardened.

“Why is that person Park Moon-dae here?”

“The dog fell down… No it’s not something to do with us but they say he’s going to the VTIC military.”

“what??”

“Wow are the VTIC seniors going to the military already?”

“…”

“oh my god. “Are you here to tell me that?”

When I saw Raebin Kim pop out I immediately realized that things were getting bigger than I thought.

At least everyone gathered in the living room heard Raebin Kim’s voice.

“army??”

“…He’s out there right now?”

“Oh did Moon Dae call you a senior?”

“…! “Have you invited us to receive advice to help us with our work?”

“for a moment.”

I stopped the conversation for now. I’m breaking into a cold sweat.

“First of all I didn’t call you.”

“then ?”

I appropriately mixed in his circumstances and made up an excuse such as ‘My dog had an accident but my friends were all busy so I had nowhere to talk about it so I came here.’

‘…No now that I think about it it’s not an excuse it’s a fact.’

It happened so unexpectedly.

“Oh sorry puppy…”

“okay.”

Those who only knew that I fought like a dog with Cheongnyeo looked somewhat convinced.

Bae Se-jin looked like she was about to open the door and shout to get out but Ryu Cheong-woo was stopping her so it would be okay.

I immediately spit out the closing statement.

“I’ll send it to you right away.”

“Oh I also have to see off my senior.”

“…”

Yes do whatever you want.

I opened the front door again without bothering to remove the big seal.

Cheongryeo was still standing leaning against the wall. Just go back you idiot.

“I guess everyone was home. “Well I’m sorry if it was difficult.”

“That’s it.”

My whole back hurts.

“I thought of letting you know as an apology.”

“yes?”

Cheongryeo shrugged his shoulders then opened his smartphone and sent a file to me.

“…?”

“…It’s a sound file.”

Big Sejin was right. But it wasn’t a song.

[Future midday radio – Spacer Kwon Hee-seung cut]

It was a cut from a radio broadcast featuring Gold 2.

Chapter 343

Gold 2. Heeseung Kwon.

We are roughly tracking the activities of ‘Spacer’ the group this guy belongs to.

Of course. If you are a latecomer to the same branch of the same agency you should always check to see if anything unusual happens.

Besides isn’t he someone who knows a little bit about the future anyway? What kind of benefit might you be getting?

Of course that’s not the main purpose of keeping an eye on this guy.

‘It’s because it’s a hand that can be used.’

I recalled meeting a guy at work a few months ago who was preparing for the first year-end awards ceremony.

-Hello senior!

To be exact its status window.

Although it was a time when the status abnormality period would not be long the status abnormality was still present on him.

However the content was different.

[!Status Abnormality: Make It Work]

-Is teamwork the answer when it comes to idols?

‘Failure’ if the team fails to release the collaborative work within the period.

A new status ailment was taking the place of the existing one.

-The team atmosphere has really improved since Chae Seo-dam quit on his own! If things continue like this and we all get along well the mission will be successful……? Already successful?

-Ugh! There's more? What else should I do? what??

In other words he had already cleared the first status condition but the second one popped up.

I guess the system judged that 11 months was closer to a year. If you look at this guy's second status abnormality.

'…Have the conditions become harsher?'

I'm not sure about this so leave it aside.

Anyway it wasn't a bad situation for me to have one person keep it without having to find a new user for the system. Because it takes less work.

'Here 'collaborative work' means self-producing.'

Since this was the same agency if I got involved it would be easy to clear within a year so it was easy to manage. Thanks to that I think I was able to keep in touch with them from time to time and keep track of trends.

…I mean that's what I thought until the VTIC leader in front of me showed me the music file.

"Why are you doing that? "I have to check."

If it wasn't a dog I wouldn't have left that snout alone but let's move on for now.

I looked down again at the radio sound file featuring Gold 2.

‘This radio program.’

I also remember the ‘midday radio of the future’. It’s a fairly traditional program and we appeared on it even when we were rookies.

It was hosted by a broadcaster with the stage name ‘Mirae’ and his future skit in which he predicted the situation 10 years from now as a pun was famous.

-Raebin Kim gave me 100 songs!

-Cha Yu-jin Even if 10 years have passed it is difficult to give 100 songs to the same person…

-I gave you 200!

-I can’t give it to you!

-Kids… no 30-year-old men calm down.

I briefly thought about the crazy skit that Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin did and then deleted it.

And naturally I looked at the smartphone screen with suspicious eyes.

‘This guy can’t believe it… ’

I played the file at the lowest possible volume.

The host’s voice was heard first.

[…It is becoming a hot topic due to a special friendship and there are widespread rumors that our Kwon Hee-seung still has a friendship with VTIC’s Cheongryeo and Testa’s Park Moon-dae.]

Damn it.

[You recently went on a 10th anniversary friendship trip? How did you become friends?]

[Yes… we all became close friends because we knew about the future.]

[yes?]

[…! By knowing Mirae Radio~ by knowing our host Mirae and by that common friendship!]

[Aha~ I guess Heeseung was very impressed with his first appearance on our radio 10 years ago.]

[That's right! ha ha ha!]

"…"

It seemed like he said it inadvertently while trying to do a skit to open the program that momentarily rhymed with the host's name.

And after saying this I thought 'Wow now that I think about it this is true?' And he flinched and froze.

'This nervous bastard… '

Should I have been annoyed when this guy labeled the two of us as 'close friends' in an early interview?

I held back a sigh.

'…It's not a big deal.'

This is a common mistake when a rookie has an insanely busy schedule and barely gets any sleep.

Kwon Hee-seung's fans probably cursed and buried him for asking about his friendship with another group without using it since it was his first radio show.

However I understand why Cheongryeo bothered to tell me this.

I grabbed my smartphone.

'Is this a warning?'

Good advice.

About the dangers of sharing secrets with other pups.

"I feel like this needs management. "I could do it… but I don't think my junior would like it very much."

The guy grinned.

"I don't think the people we are working with are very careful people. Hmm… I thought it would be good to tell you that much. how is it?"

"…"

"Managing people is the most difficult part."

That doesn't just mean Gold 2.

This probably includes the fact that I told a secret to the guy next to me.

"Park Mun-dae."

At that moment Big Sejin opened his mouth. The guy must have guessed what was going on and muttered softly with a stern expression on his face.

"Hey… Is Kwon Hee-seung also involved?"

"hmm?"

But it wasn't me who reacted but someone else who reacted first.

Cheongnyeo.

The guy looked at me and Keun Sejin back and forth with a slightly puzzled look on his face then nodded as if he understood.

“Oh you don’t know. sorry.”

“…”

“I thought you told me everything because you said I told you my story too. “Is this all there is?”

And then he turns his face with a slightly admiring expression.

“You keep the line well. “Junior.”

This guy is real.

I suppressed my anger and responded calmly.

“If you were so worried that my actions would cross the line and ruin me you shouldn’t have told me earlier.”

I think he’s dissatisfied with how I explained this damn unrealistic situation to Keun Se-jin.

However Cheongnyeo just lowers her head to the side.

“Um… I think there’s a misunderstanding.”

misunderstanding?

“Junior. “I don’t take any losses from this.”

“…!”

“There are more than one or two good explanations to use when you get caught up in this kind of gossip.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“We verify which words and expressions work. “Now it’s hard for me to get hurt by other people’s mistakes.”

“…”

“You never would have thought I’d never experienced something like this. “You’re smart.”

I looked at the guy.

“You said that to someone else too.”

“of course. I was wondering if it might be worth using. But when I tried it I didn’t find it useful so I didn’t do it.”

Cheongryeo looked into space for a moment as if lost in reminiscence but soon regained focus.

“So I’m saying this out of concern for you not me. I told you. “It’s meant as an apology.”

Fuck you.

I pressed my eyebrows.

What pisses me off the most is… that it seems sincere.

“I see. Then listen. First of all Gold 2… they will catch me and manage it.”

I looked at Big Se-jin who had been listening to the conversation with his mouth shut and said

“You don’t have to worry about this. “I’m not the type of person to talk about anywhere.”

“of course.”

Big Sejin held out his fist.

‘Do I really have to do this in this situation?’

Still it would be funnier if I didn’t respond here. I bumped my fist.

However Cheongryeo’s face was sour.

“yes. Well… I guess I said I would believe what my junior said. “That’s usually the case.”

what?

“But I think there’s some misunderstanding here too… ‘Believe’ doesn’t mean ‘understand.’”

“…!”

Cheongryeo muttered without hesitation as if he was transcribing someone else’s words.

“We are close we have known each other for a long time we are in the same group… They want to say ‘I trust’ for various reasons. It’s worth it. If you don’t believe it it means the member is mentally ill and I don’t want to believe that.”

“…”

“But that’s the end of it. After that they weren’t very cooperative so… I scrapped this one. “On the contrary it became a bother.”

The guy spoke softly.

“Unless you have gone through the same experience how can you empathize with this unrealistic situation? So don’t expect too much from me junior.”

“…”

‘Is this why it was like this?’

I guess this is the reason why this guy acts like he doesn’t feel a sense of human solidarity even with the members he has been with for such a long time.

‘It’s almost like we’re dealing with a different species.’

This is a judgment that is even a little scary. Even more so in the fact that he is saying that even though Big Sejin is in front of him.

“hmm.”

I crossed my arms and tried to open my mouth.

It was then.

One step ahead I heard a clear voice next to me.

“But sir I am very cooperative with Mundae.”

“…!”

It’s a big hit. Why is this guy like this again?

“Aha really?”

“sure. Hey how can people all grow up having the same experiences? We are friends. “It’s good that friends have things in common and differences between them.”

“That’s what you say.”

“yes. Even if you don’t sympathize much there’s nothing you can do about it! Each person’s situation is different. It’s really okay~”

It’s surprising that ‘You may not know because you don’t have friends’ can be turned around like this.

The problem is that the target is Cheongnyeo who is ruminating on old memories.

'It's not like I'm rolling my eyes.'

I confirmed that Cheongryeo was looking at Geun Se-jin without any expression.

"…"

"…"

No don't just laugh and glare at me for no reason.

I suppressed a sigh and took stock of the situation.

"okay. Well… everyone has their own thoughts. Anyway I enjoyed listening to the radio file and the dog… I hope you get well."

"is it so. If you have anything to talk about please contact me anytime. "Junior."

"yes~"

Geun Se-jin fortunately answers on his behalf. What kind of bandit leader's right hand man are you?

'It's killing the mood.'

At that moment with perfect timing the front door opened.

Tiring.

Honestly I was almost glad to see it.

And the person performing this action is… Seon Ah-hyeon who looks a little nervous.

“Hey it’s already past the camp meeting start time.”

“…!”

“Oh I’m sorry. “You were working.”

Qingli smiled and nodded slightly.

“Then I’ll go in.”

“okay.”

“yes yes!”

It’s finally a wave of atmosphere. Go in quickly.

However instead of opening up right away Cheongryeo hesitated a bit before adding his words.

“I’ll contact you when Kong comes back.”

“…okay.”

I nodded at the guy wearing the mask.

Still I hope that damn dog is okay.

Cheongryeo just turned his back and disappeared into the elevator.

“Let’s go in.”

“Ugh.”

We finally went back into the front door.

Then Big Sejin took the lead and checked on Seon Ah-hyeon who was heading to the living room and bowed so quietly that no one could hear.

“Wow what you said really irritates me. Wow Mundaemun University. “How have you endured this long?”

“…”

I feel embarrassed that I almost shouted ‘That’s right!’ for a moment.

“Just so-so.”

“Umm okay. “Park Moon-dae can barely speak informally so I guess it relieves some stress?”

“…”

Now that I think about it it happened at some point.

I looked at the guy snickering and hitting me on the back and then opened my mouth.

First of all let’s start with the part that made me curious about this guy throughout the conversation earlier.

“The story about Kwon Hee-seung…”

“Ah you know I couldn’t tell you because it was someone else’s situation. “I know that much when I hear it.”

In context Eun Se-jin seemed to have already understood that Kwon Hee-seung was my next hitter and he didn’t seem particularly dissatisfied.

“But since I already found out should I make Heeseung join? “I’m also good at this kind of thing~”

“Just take a look.”

I tried not to get involved but now I’m going to go as far as destroying the system. I sighed and put it on and returned to the living room.

“Did that kid go?”

“yes. “I went in.”

Big Sejin joked.

“Ugh you were acting too friendly with Moon Dae~”

You lie so naturally.

“…! “Did you just leave it there?”

“No I’ve been arguing all this time right?”

“…okay. Then next time I will…”

“If my brother does it we really fight so I can’t do it.”

“hey!”

I left the two people with the same name to fight comfortably and went to my seat and sat down.

Then Seon Ah-hyeon who was sitting next to him opened her mouth.

“It’s radish. Did something happen…? “I feel like the story is longer than I thought…”

“…hmm.”

I was briefly conflicted but soon told the truth.

“It’s nothing special but the conversation took a bit longer because of the difference of opinion.”

“ah…”

Sun Ah-hyun hesitated but opened her mouth again with difficulty.

“What kind of opinion was that…”

“…”

“Oh no. sorry…!”

I still have the habit of apologizing even though it’s nothing to be sorry about. I held back a sigh.

‘…Is this the second time?’

This is what Sun Ah-hyun asked me to tell my story about.

I didn’t exactly ask if there were any secrets but I still felt uncomfortable. I think this guy guessed that I heard it.

Instead of saying ‘There’s no need to be sorry it was a personal matter’ I kept my mouth shut. For some reason I felt like those words would backfire.

‘Seon Ah-hyun’s expression isn’t bad right now so let’s watch the situation a little more.’

It seemed like the situation was over like that.

But that evening.

Sun Ah-hyun’s attitude toward participating in the camp suddenly changed.

On the bad side? no.

With a more proactive attitude than ever before.

Chapter 344

Sun Ah-hyeon's attitude changed.

It started with a camp schedule meeting.

"Then it's okay if I don't collect any more image references for the concept right? Shall we keep it like this?"

"I'm fine!"

"okay. So if anyone has a different opinion…"

This is a line that is usually said assuming that it does not exist.

"Hey me…!"

"…!"

However the guy who had never interrupted others raised his hand before he finished speaking.

Liu Chengyu seemed a little embarrassed but asked the guy kindly.

"So what do you think Ahyun?"

"I wish I could broaden the scope a bit and try collecting one more time. "Because there's still time…"

"hmm…"

And Sun Ah-hyun is even directly expressing her opposing opinion.

'What's wrong with him?'

‘If we close now will there be a moral problem?’

The members went so far as to say this with their eyes but Sun Ah-hyun’s words did not end there.

“About two more days…! Why not? The deadline that the project team member mentioned earlier is the day after tomorrow… so even if you give it this early the schedule won’t progress any faster…!”

He begins to provide persuasive evidence with a spirit that makes him sweat.

And the basis for this is also a plausible fact.

“Oh come to think of it it was like that.”

“Wow Ahyeon do you remember that? “It was 3 months ago…”

“Ugh I wrote it down…”

I can’t come up with any outstanding ideas. However they use good judgment and make persistent arguments in any given situation.

It was consistent with the way Sun Ah-hyun usually shows herself.

“So…! Let’s think about it for two more days…!”

“It’s me~ Of course I agree! “Right?”

“Uhm that’s right.”

However the momentum is about ten times that of normal so it is very powerful. Everyone is shocked and gets involved.

‘What’s going on?’

I wondered if I should like it but somehow I felt a bit uneasy about it. What kind of sudden change of heart has caused this guy to be like this?

“What do you think of Mundae!?”

I thought my liver was failing.

“…I agree with you.”

“Ugh!”

Now they are even collecting consent from me. It’s a proactiveness I’ve never seen before.

‘what.’

And this momentum was the same during the evening composition meeting.

“I… I wish the song had more string instrument accompaniment!”

“Ohh.”

“Which string instrument?”

“Able to produce sharp lively and dramatic sounds… An example would be the violin fiddle! I think it will feel more appropriate to the concept…!”

“Fiddle?”

And Seon Ah-hyeon began to explain more diligently what fiddle was.

Among the violin playing techniques it is the least classical so it is given a separate name and the sound is country-like blah blah blah…

“Ohh.”

It looks like he’s making an announcement or something. Cha Yu-jin who was listening with interest was almost ready to applaud.

“That’s a good opinion! “Brother it was great!”

“Ugh!”

And even though Sun Ah-hyun’s face felt like she was going to explode at these words she didn’t even hesitate.

what?

I really don’t know what’s going on.

‘Well at best it’s only when other people speak strongly… But.’

Yes it’s a good thing if you have a mental change and want to actively participate.

In fact if we were to average the extent to which Sun Ah-hyun has been interfering with the members’ opinions we can’t say it’s that serious.

“Then as Ahyeon said I will try adding a violin as a string instrument that has both sharpness and softness and goes well with the string arrangement…”

“Oh no! Not just a violin but a fiddle! Fiddle! “I wish I did!”

“Yes yes!”

“…”

No is that a bit harsh?

‘The child is running at a level where life or death is at stake.’

“I will try my best!”

“Thank you so much…!”

With even Bae Se-jin paying attention the meeting continued under the leadership of Sun Ah-hyeon and ended.

That night.

Keun Se-jin who was sitting in the kitchen and drinking carbonated water asked seriously.

“Isn’t there a sad story at Mundaemun University that someone will fail if we can’t release our album?”

“…”

“Oops no way Mundae bullied Ahyeon into paying for the meal… Eow!”

Is that possible?

I held back a sigh as I watched the guy who had been hit on the back lash out.

“…There must be another reason. “It won’t be like that.”

“okay? Uhm… well. “I have to do it.”

Perhaps deciding that it wasn’t a bad situation Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders and moved on.

“Just because you’re a friend doesn’t mean you have to know everything about a person’s situation right?”

“…”

For some reason it makes me angry that a person who has been digging into other people’s affairs says something like that.

Meanwhile Sun Ah-hyeon runs to her room as soon as the camp opens for the night and doesn’t come out.

‘What are you doing?’

I held back my silence and opened my mouth.

“…I think Sun Ah-hyun might feel a bit left out.”

“huh?”

“What do you do now? You leave him alone and it’s just you and me talking.”

In fact the relationship is the same regardless of age time or rank.

They say that they are angry at this unfair treatment and are trying to relieve their stress in a positive way by storming out in meetings.

Big Sejin shakes his head as if thinking.

“Well maybe it was a bit like that. Ah but Ahyeon isn’t the type to do that… Ah.”

The guy sighs.

“Ahyeon wasn’t very good at making friends when she was in school right?”

“…okay.”

“Well… I might have felt a bit bad about it.”

Sejin glanced back at me and asked quite seriously.

“What are you going to do?”

“…”

Do you understand?

Of course that guy isn't going to come up with a real solution but he's going to figure out how to share secrets.

In the end if the reason for Sun Ah-hyun's strange behavior is because we are aware of this supernatural phenomenon.

"Uhm… Of course I can't tell you to do this or that but I don't think Ahyun's attitude will change just because she hears your story right?"

"…"

That's… I think so too.

'He's such a good guy to the core.'

I sighed briefly.

"Hey and we won't bully you into thinking you're the only one with a mental age… Ah! Hey did it really hurt just now?"

okay. That's the arm strength of someone in their 20s kid.

…No actually the most embarrassing thing is that it seems like my hand came out first after being stabbed.

I sighed when I saw the big boy giggling.

Only after he stopped laughing did he change the subject.

"Oh and speaking of that… how should I talk about that Heeseung? Well I was also invited to this meeting. "Why don't you just explain it that way and give me some advice?"

The guy grinned.

"Or are you just going to say I'm from the future too? Wow that must be really funny."

"Stop it."

Don’t even think about bringing up examples of hypothetical destroyers whose timing isn’t right.

“Because it seems like this is being passed down in the form of a baton touch without such jokes.”

“Oh you analyzed a lot of things about the university. After all it’s Mundaemundae. “You paid so much attention to Heeseung to find out that?”

A quick-witted bastard.

I clasped my hands together.

“Yes there are places where Gold 2 can be used.”

“…”

However there was no answer for a moment from Big Sejin.

‘what.’

Then he suddenly opened his mouth again with a serious face as if he was questioning something.

“But Mundaemun University.”

why.

“I wanted to ask you a while ago… That Gold 2. Is this what Heeseung is talking about?”

“…!!”

How do you know that…

“…”

Wait a minute… did I say that out loud earlier?

“That’s right! Were you singing Heeseung’s Gold 2? why?”

“…that”

“Wait a minute. I’ll guess. No way… Gold level in ＜Azusa＞?? “Did you really number it there?”

“…”

“Is this correct too?? Oh this is awesome! Wow～ Look at how heartless Park Moon-dae is! 〈Azusa〉 It’s been a while since it ended but it’s still gold!”

Fuck you.

I gritted my teeth as I watched the guy burst into laughter.

“It is my heart. why.”

“You’re so rude… no I’m sorry. Did you laugh too much? Hey I’m really sorry～”

This guy is trying to gloss over what he doesn’t mean.

However Big Sejin straightens his real face and his eyes shine.

“I’m asking because I’m really curious… Did you call Sejin that too? Oh did they classify all the kids like that during Azusa? Am I Gold 1?”

Dreams are big too.

“…It was just a big earthquake.”

“Oh～ what is it? Still it’s a nickname. Good good.”

I held back a sigh when I saw Big Sejin shaking his head. I’m going crazy.

“Then how long have you been calling me that?”

“…”

“Mundaemun University?”

I still call it that bastard.

I left the whining bastard and went back to my room and went to sleep.

* * *

The album production camp continued the next day.

And Sun Ah-hyun’s momentum continued.

“If we don’t make progress like this we’ll have to do this until night. Everyone hates working overtime. therefore…”

“Hey working overtime…! let’s do it!”

“…uh.”

Is it… that much to do?

At this level the character collapses. I kept my mouth shut when I saw Sun Ah-hyun burning with passion as if she were Cha Yu-jin who had encountered some special device.

“Bro I hate overtime!”

“But you still have to do it if you need to…!”

Oh now you’re saying things you hate about Cha Yu-jin.

Of course it's not a bad thing. On the contrary it's a good thing in terms of efficiency but it seems like it's overkill.

I made my decision after watching Sun Ah-hyun secretly wiping the cold sweat from the back of her neck.

'I can't do this.'

I guess I'll have to try my luck.

"Thank you for your hard work~"

"Now let's sort it out."

As soon as the meeting ended after dinner I followed Sun Ah-hyun who left for her room and visited his room.

dripping.

"…!"

"it's me."

thud.

When I open the door and go in I see Sun Ah-hyun lying face down on her desk as if trying to cover something.

What are you doing?

"Do you have anything to look for?"

"I just wanted to talk…"

As I got closer I realized what this guy was covering.

Article Review Rating.

It was a kind of scrapbook in which all of our existing album-related information was printed and organized.

[The most important part?]

[Problem of expression]

And there were comments written in elegant handwriting neatly organized here and there as if they had been posted by this guy.

Not only that but there was also something floating on the electronic reader that this guy was reflexively covering.

[Edgar Allan Poe's Complete Works 5]

…This can't be right.

'Was it being made separately?'

From anyone's perspective everything was preparation material for Testa's new album.

Still let's ask one question.

"What is it all about?"

"…! Ah this is…"

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to hesitate a few times but soon answered in a quite confident voice.

"Among the works of 'Edgar Allan Poe' that Sejin Se-jin mentioned… I think we found a subject that suits us better."

"…!"

"That black cat was cool but… it felt a bit overlapping with 'The Calling'…I wanted to try incorporating what Testa does best."

Sun Ah-hyeon seemed nervous but she was smiling faintly.

And what this guy said was already plausible.

“…”

“Here.”

I took the note underneath the electronic reader that this guy held out with slightly trembling hands.

In it was written the name of the work and Testa’s existing concepts that it would like to be combined with.

I quickly read the few letters highlighted in the note.

[Eruption of energy]

[Immersive sense of speed]

Then I continued to read the note.

“…”

“Oh I couldn’t tell you because the summary hasn’t come out yet. “If you say it without a basis… it’s not okay.”

Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head as if she was somewhat embarrassed.

“I… am not good at speaking… so I thought it would be good if I at least composed the content faithfully…”

I am indeed.

“Seeing what you’re doing today I don’t think you need to worry about that.”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened.

“Thank you. Still if we add the final step…”

“Ah so you were working separately!”

I’m surprised.

When I turned my head Raebin Kim who was working at the desk over there with headphones on had already taken off his device and turned his head.

‘Since when has it been there?’

I couldn’t see him because he was just working and not reacting like he was dead.

“I didn’t know that while I was staying at the dorm for the past few days what Ahyeon was always reading was an album review.”

“Ugh…”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face turns red and she agrees and Kim Rae-bin shakes her head as if she understood.

And his eyes lit up.

“I thought it was a new hobby you picked up during the tour but I never thought you would spend so much time and energy conducting a large-scale analysis. “As expected he possesses both sincerity and talent.”

“…Ugh.”

Even though he looks like he wants to decline he still agrees.

I chuckled.

“that’s right. “It’s great.”

“…!”

“The content is good too. It would have been okay if I suggested it right away. “It’s enough as is.”

“Really…?!”

So are you going to lie here?

“okay.”

To put it neatly this is something that would have been shocking even if someone had just thrown in a draft.

‘The process of coming to a conclusion is very clean.’

Of course there are cases like Kim Rae-bin in the world where inspiration springs up and creates something that captivates people in one go.

However sometimes there are people who find the correct answer to just one case by putting together numerous pieces like a puzzle and filtering them closely like a sieve.

And that was this guy’s decision now.

The conclusion that this guy came to after going through and analyzing the huge amount of existing Testa album data at a glance… was very attractive.

‘You must have had a lot of trouble.’

I thought about the guy who was depressed because he couldn’t properly participate in the camp and I was secretly impressed.

This was beyond expectations.

“I want to try this right away.”

“…!”

Sun Ah-hyun's eyes shined even brighter. He seemed almost thrilled.

"It's radish. thank you so much."

"I am truly grateful for your good opinion."

However Sun Ah-hyun's words were not over.

"Well then… you know."

hmm?

"Me too… I wonder if something is going on…"

At that moment I realized what this guy was talking about.

'Is this… telling me a secret?'

I guess I misunderstood something.

This guy's aggressiveness doesn't come from frustration.

This guy's attitude… It's like he's trying to prove his credentials as a secret society.

"Oh no! No… I'll organize this some more…"

Even though she said no Sun Ah-hyun quietly turned to her desk with a look on her face full of anticipation.

"Do you mind if I take a look at it too?"

"Ugh!"

"…"

…It seems that Sun Ah-hyun has merged the two emotions and moved in a much more productive direction than I expected.

Two things are the desire to contribute to the album camp and the desire to be recognized by peers of the same age.

‘This… I think I’ll be ruined if I don’t say anything when I get to this point.’

“…”

Fuck you. I don’t know either.

‘Either make a place.’

It seems like I end up saying everything to these loud-mouthed people. I washed my face dry.

Anyway Sun Ah-hyun who eventually called the meeting that night proceeded with the presentation.

And as they are with discerning eyes their reaction was similar to mine.

It means it was very popular.

“…I like this one better too.”

“Then we can take a step in this direction and work hard. “Ahyeon is good?”

“Ugh thank you… Thank you!”

Sun Ah-hyun bows her head as everyone from the person who came up with the idea to the realist seems to like it.

The atmosphere was very cheerful and seemed to be applauding Sun Ah-hyun.

Until the next words are spoken.

“Well then I guess I’ll have to recheck my schedule.”

“…?”

Liu Chengwu smiled.

“That means… we have to revise the final composition plan again.”

“…”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun closes her eyes.

“I’m sorry.”

“What are you talking about? “The album concept is getting better which is a good thing.”

It was an answer that conveyed the sadness of an office worker.

‘K-Pop Hell Overtime Camp… Re-opening.’

The good news is that this overtime camp was very effective.

“Let’s just add this one.”

“Hmm.”

Also I added things that I wanted to add but excluded for balance reasons.

‘This is final.’

By the time the day became completely warm we had finished preparing to release our new album.

Chapter 345

Testa's album teaser was released in mid-May.

The film "Cosmic Gunner" in which they made a cameo appearance was a huge global box office success attracting 8 million viewers in Korea and was about to be released from theaters.

-Aren't you rushing out to row when the water comes in? Haha.

-Oh please don't rush it because it's capital that drives popularity.

-I even set up a label but why does it feel so old-fashioned?

Some people were whispering about the comeback articles and rumors that appeared without warning only 3 days before the teaser release.

Park Moon-dae's first home horse was also on the verge of biting its nails.

'The head of the headquarters seems like an idiot with an American disease…! Even to Testa?'

The head of the headquarters managed to get hooked on Mirinae and avoid the magic spell but now it may have really been a waste of time.

A thought suddenly occurred to me. Of course some people were whispering but most of them who heard the news of Testa's comeback were drunk from the excitement they got from "Cosmic Gunner."

That was actually a bit worrying.

-Big hit big hit Testa's surprise comeback is crazy ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-I'm going to listen to the billboard again. Wow I'm already excited.

'…This guy's expectations are rising endlessly.'

Moon Dae has never disappointed himself but does it always happen that people do things the way they want?

'Even if Moon Dae and the kids do well it's no use if the company does something stupid again…!'

Even the statement from a company official at the end of the article "This album will entertain a diverse global fandom" was unsettling.

– Excited! (link)

Still I made this comment while sharing an article about Testa's comeback but this is also a reaction for public use.

'I am named… I take care of myself… '

I really missed Mundae who used to put the apple rice cake sticker he drew on his cheek at fan signing events.

…At least if they make a comeback we'll be able to see that again. There will be a fan signing event.

'okay. Let's believe and wait.'

In fact if you look at the season alone wouldn't it be strange if they made a comeback soon?

She made up her mind like that out of pure fan spirit.

And three days later.

-It's up! It's up!

The teaser which was clicked amidst tension and excitement began with black smoke rising like a haze.

What unfolds is a dark and profound modern and contemporary banquet hall.

Gorgeous figures wearing masks dance in an elegant yet slightly ominous place with deep shadows.

The silhouettes overlapped and blended together.

When you feel like a scene from a 20th century art film lasts for a few seconds.

The sound suddenly changes.

-Rumble!

Thunder.

“…!”

As the light flashes the screen changes to the outdoors outside the dark and pale banquet hall.

The lights of the banquet hall seep through the window above the castle gate in the middle of the night as the rain continues to fall.

[…]

Clap.

And a bare foot stops in front of the rainwater-filled castle gate.

The skin turns red and drips and spreads into the water.

It is polluted.

“…!”

Somewhat creepy camera work and editing.

And slowly the visibility rises.

What was revealed was… a faceless shadow wearing a red hood.

A mask with no facial features.

Gooooo

The moment you think you have confirmed the eerie strangeness the screen turns black again.

Darkness.

The riff melody that resonates within it.

-Ummmm.

The elegant and slow bass violin flows ominously and eerily and the laughter of the people in the banquet hall subsides.

The album title appears.

[OVER the Masquerade]

[TeSTAR]

“and.”

The atmosphere was clear.

Elegant ominous dark and luxurious.

-Wow!

-oh my god!

First of all contrary to the speculations and concerns of some netizens the visual beauty created with a lot of money was excellent.

First of all people who were looking forward to Gukbong started chatting with excitement giving good reviews one after another.

-I wouldn't be embarrassed to put it out there.

-Look at how luxurious the sound is.

The problem occurred after some time.

This difficult yet aesthetic and intense atmosphere created a sense of discomfort.

Because I've seen it a lot somewhere.

-Hmm… It feels like a combination of all the popular K-pop idols in America such as V-Tik.

-I guess the American taste was that sweet haha. I have no conscience about benchmarking.

-These people have no real identity. They just stick to things that are popular and work like bats;

This is because the dark deadly and luxurious symbols were reminiscent of several idols including VTIC which has captured the American fan base and whose global momentum is better than domestically.

In fact it was common for idols to change their concepts but there were also people who couldn't laugh at the switching that seemed to have been made at the exact right time.

So to speak the form is not working.

-The 1st Army Gao are all dead.

-ㅋㅋㅋ Still do you think you'll take a piece of the American K-pop pie? The quality is like that of a large company.

-I wonder if it was even necessary to do this so cleverly…

“Ummmm.”

Actually I thought it was a bit forced but the momentum of fans of other groups rushing towards evil due to a sense of crisis was excessive.

‘Still the public reaction is good.’

Many people discovered various classic symbols in the short teaser.

-This seems like a reference to Edgar Allan Poe’s ‘Mask of the Red Death’. When the plague broke out the vested class who had built luxurious hideouts for themselves ended up being silently visited by the plague… I’ll stop talking about it here^^

Oh I wonder how to apply it! Awesome it feels very profound and dangerous.

-I’m saying this in a difficult way but it’s just a horror novel where people who fight against each other to live well die when a plague breaks out. ㅇㅇ

But she also felt uncomfortable somewhere.

‘This doesn’t even resemble the image of someone who appears in a movie.’

Isn’t it too heavy? Not like a regular tester…

“…

Anyway contrary to my worries the quality was good so I concluded that there would be no problem as long as I could withstand the aggro at the beginning of release.

‘Let’s go on a career high with this activity too!’

But in fact her worries and concerns had already been dealt with by the parties involved.

What is the essence of Testa?

Where is the source of their uniqueness?

-I think it all comes back to one thing in the end.

After receiving Sun Ah-hyun's analysis Park Moon-dae came to the following conclusion.

-It's fun.

Just fun.

And the absorbing power of that fun charm.

Immersion.

-So the first keyword that Ahyeon chose after analyzing all of this would be immersion.

They never made vague symbols and allusions their main value.

That's just a side story.

There was one main value.

'Fun to watch and listen to.'

This is the most indigenous and fundamental value of the stage and sound source.

A pleasant pleasure that can be enjoyed without any burden or unpleasant aftertaste.

The center of Testa has never changed. And that will be the same in this album as well.

-Let's go.

Another week after the teaser release. The music video was released.

'Ugh!'

Even though Homma's hands were shaking she immediately clicked on the video.

The scene in the music video started with the castle gate being half torn off.

It was a continuation of the cut from the teaser but there was a clear difference.

'…there is no light.'

There is no light coming out of the banquet hall even faintly. And there is no rainwater.

A gloomy midnight outdoor scene where everything has stopped.

Gooooo

It was scary for a moment.

The camera work moves as if being sucked into the castle gate passing through an unlit hallway and leading to a dark banquet hall.

Broken masks. red paint.

In the chaos that has already turned into a ruin the red-robed monster that appeared in the teaser is caught in the center. Anyone can see that it seems like the cause of this tragedy.

'Hmm… is that a plague?'

Could it be one of the members? That eerie feeling?

However the camera did not go any closer.

Instead the scene suddenly changes.

Gate again.

-Whoa.

The sound of taking a short breath. The back is captured standing with its back to the camera facing the huge half-torn castle gate.

The sound of the forest at night and the sound of insects instead of silence.

A tall man covered in indigo robes.

At that moment the music returns.

Ugh-!

The sounds of drums and trombone alternate quickly and majestically and the person standing in front slowly looks up at the sky.

Quagwang!

Thunder and lightning strike.

It’s raining.

However perhaps because of the music the scene was somewhat refreshing and exciting instead of the gloomy scene seen in the teaser.

‘Huh?’

The moment the person turns around and takes off the mask.

A close-up shot captures the face.

This is Park Mun-dae.

“…!”

Techwear elements of military uniforms are attached like sci-fi equipment including the shadowed neck and shoulders and ears.

But it was only in one moment that I really saw it.

In the very next scene Park Moon-dae flips off the dark blue hood he was wearing on his head.

White bluish hair flutters.

Chichik!

Then a glitch appears behind the head and a blue light sprouts and flutters over the shoulders like a mane.

“…!?”

Park Moon-dae grinned.

[under!]

With a brief sound of cheers the gloomy outdoors suddenly becomes a stage filled with sci-fi luminous lights!

-There’s a crying sound over there.

The sound of my footsteps jumping in appeared first

head!

From the first verse the melody rap is followed by a cool high note that cuts through the accompaniment as if piercing the pole of a spear.

The moment Park Moon-dae jumps and hits the floor with the highest sound the camera pulls back and Dopo flutters behind In-young.

And six other people appear among them.

Kim Rae-bin's low-pitched rap played in the center intersects with the high-pitched first verse.

-Yeah give me that baton.

Rule's symbol the bell of justice

It rings louder today

taut taut taut taut one

Get out!

Park Moon-dae doubled the last verse.

A sense of speed created by racing rap and piercing high notes.

Moreover the chorus bursts out immediately along with the performance where the hood is pulled back and waved.

-That's my savior!

Let go of the tension and enjoy

A night of victory!

"Huh."

An exhilarating and easy-to-listen beat.

As I watch the video with my mouth open as the atmosphere suddenly changes seven people run into the gate gesturing to the camera.

Wherever they went yellow and blue luminous lights flickered from the candles. The accompaniment of sharp cheerful and virtuosic string instruments follows as if to assist.

And again the eerie figure barefoot and covered in a red robe attracts attention as if it is about to be sucked in.

Yikes!

The members take their seats in each of the seven colorful banquet halls and each part is cut in fierce performance like a battle.

Like a hero fighting a villain.

“and.”

Only the parts where the impact of the collision was spectacular were cut short so it didn’t look like a clumsy action movie.

It’s just that the dynamics of the performance became more realistic.

‘What concept is this?? ‘Who is this?’

Homma was excited and clenched his fists but no answer came out.

It was okay though! What’s certain is just that… Testa running wild wearing techwear mixed with details of traditional military uniforms was cool and fun.

Yeah it was fun!

-Get on top of this dance move

The bowstring is pulled and the dice are thrown.

don’t stop marching melody!

Lightning strikes the dark banquet hall. And the rain pours down and splashes around the gorgeous dance.

The spectacle of a performance created by the afterimage of blazing blue light.

And the powerful choreography of the bridge that connects the posture and body to make it look like a giant siege artillery.

-That's my savior!

Hands stretching out.

Red Hood grabs his head in an instant.

At that moment the performance and music which had been running wild stopped.

[…]

The cloth around the captured head sags and the red hood falls to the floor.

There is nothing in it. This is because it is the embodiment of disease and fear itself.

All that remains is the mask in Cha Yu-jin's hand.

Gooooo

For a moment white noise flows on the screen and the colors and camera work change to make it slightly creepy.

But Cha Yu-jin who was holding the mask… just tilted her head as if she didn't understand.

The tension goes away.

“…?”

Moreover Bae Se-jin who was standing behind him came out as if nothing had happened snatched the mask smashed it without hesitation and threw it out the window.

[…]

And then he looks back at the rest of the members with a ‘are you done?’ look on his face.

[Clap… clap clap!]

The four-dimensional appearance of the members clumsily clapping their palms hard as if they were watching was in contrast to their intense performance which brought out strange laughter.

“Oh what!”

Homma also chuckled. The screen ended with the members trudging out of the banquet hall encouraging each other.

-Ring the bell Ring my bell

I wanna be your savior

An empty banquet hall that is no longer gloomy.

The last verse appears loudly in the subtitles neatly ending all sounds and cuts.

It was a perfect ending that made me want to see more.

“under…”

However before Homma can think about what to say the video comes back again.

“hmm??”

The clouds have cleared and the moonlight shines on the empty space inside the castle gate.

Seven round stone statues arranged in a circle can be seen from the sky.

And it was a statue she knew.

“…! this…”

A huge round body that I had seen in front of Gyeongbokgung Palace.

It was Haitai.

“…?!”

In Korea it is a mysterious animal that is traditionally emphasized as a guardian character that punishes bad guys.

And Homma gets a sudden realization.

“So… that’s why!”

This… was Haitai’s concept of defeating the plague!

There was even a cookie video.

The members of Haitai opened the temple door and ran out into the city below the mountain.

In the city the night view which had already recovered was sparkling as if it had never been lost to the plague.

“and…”

Homma opened her mouth.

It seems like a collection of the essence of Testa’s album activities so far… After all what's different about a restaurant specializing in concept performance… No anyway!!

'It's fun just to look at it! It's more fun when you know it!'

And the members wearing techwear were crazy handsome and sang well!

Especially Park Mun-dae!

A few minutes later when she finally calmed down and opened social media the posts were already overflowing.

And the members were also quickly monitoring all of this.

Chapter 346

“…It’s a huge success?”

“I know.”

We were silent for a moment after checking the comments and social media accounts of the hot music video that had just been released.

No… the response was much better than expected.

In fact on the day of the comeback all kinds of feedback poured in from mentally shattering dirty reactions to curses so the mood was to refrain from monitoring as much as possible…

‘There is no need for that.’

-God Star God Concept God Music Video Just God

-Testa!! Testa!! Testa!! Testa!1 Testa!! Testa!! Testa!!

-Ah haha Testa is serious about Korea~~~~Ah have you seen Gaeganji Haitai Hero?~~~

To some extent Korean comments which should be barely visible because they are covered with English comments occasionally sprout up in the music video comments window like bamboo shoots.

These are not the usual cheering comments from fans but comments from netizens who rush in like they are at a sports game.

“Uh… I guess we made something really great.”

“I know.”

To put it mildly Ryu Cheong-woo has become a reaction robot.

“Isn’t this your first time like this…? “I’m just saying that everything is perfect?!”

“Sure.”

That’s me. Liu Chengwu spoke before he opened his mouth. Bae Se-jin had his nose pressed into his smartphone.

I also swiped the screen of my smartphone.

I checked to see if it could be true and even in places where the expressions were the most extreme and dirty surprisingly good reviews were the norm.

-Fuck you you like dogs you won the grand prize for no reason so I’m afraid I’ll catch you and become

-Sambyul’s body is still in his teens. Look at his performance his cartilage needs to be alive.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

-I know how to really absorb the aggro from the movie haha. This is why I can’t let you go. Let’s keep going in this toxic meta.

“…”

Well… Actually it’s a place that’s almost anti-anti and I didn’t expect it to be this explicit…

Anyway this side prefers hard performances that ‘grind the bones’ and since they won the grand prize with the last title that was popular they seem to have been double-baked in advance for fear of continuing in that direction.

‘I don’t know why you’re wasting your energy like that.’

But when I opened the lid I felt the nostalgia of these people's favorite train ride at the performance that was truly 'Drill' level and grinding bones so I guess I started applauding.

In other words there is no possibility of unnecessary conflict occurring within the fandom.

"hmm."

"Wow you said that you wouldn't go to college but then again in a strange place monitoring…"

"Oh I'm turning it off now."

I myself at the beginning of my debut found a den of malicious personal fans like this and was mentally broken so I am good at admonishing him.

Anyway I just closed the page for the sake of my eye health not even during Azusa.

Still I feel a bit nervous.

'Honestly I thought there would be quite a difference in likes and dislikes.'

No matter how well the CG was used and the editing was done well they added Haitai Plague a modern and contemporary science fiction ballroom to an idol music video.

I did this even though I thought there would be quite a few cases of indigestion among the general public while digesting it.

However they say that quality is above likes and dislikes and reputation is above quality.

[The global reaction cannot keep quiet about the appearance of Haitai a tester that fights the American plague!]

[When it comes to the taste of Korea it's time to test it out! The surprising identity of Testa's new song 'Savior'!]

Look at the WeTube channels that have been following me since they made cameo appearances in movies and they are picking titles.

I realized it again.

'It's soup.'

As expected Gukppong Meta was the best as long as it didn't break his brain. It's killer value for money.

'It's a good thing you insisted even at the last minute.'

-If there are too many American references domestic public opinion may be hurt by being too American-conscious.

-'Spring Out' received a good response overseas so we added a little bit of the steampunk Joseon worldview to the level of a spinoff.

Of course the more this is repeated the more difficult it becomes to draw a line that does not break the brain but what makes this possible is elaborate references and structures.

'Seon Ah-hyun really served three people.'

What's worse is that he was monitoring the music video's reaction by rewinding it several times. I feel proud too. This must be it.

'No matter what I say now I can't hear you.'

It looks like it will be included in the music video.

Of course in fact there is no member who is not excited at the moment.

"Music video views are soaring to unbelievable numbers. "Making a cameo appearance in the movie was a wise choice!"

“I know… Well Sejin and Ahyeon who reminded me of Edgar Allan Poe did a really great job. “The Haitai concept of the College of Education went well with it.”

“Oooh!”

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth quite calmly in response to Ryu Cheong-woo’s public death which came to his senses quite a bit.

“…I only gave you the material! “Actually Sun Ah-hyun did it all.”

“…”

In the meantime if Sun Ah-hyun can’t hear and is only monitoring hasn’t everything been said?

The unfortunate thing is that Bae Se-jin tried one more time while turning red.

“Well… Sun Ah-hyun did it all.”

“Brother stop worrying about other people’s reactions. “Let’s move on as if nothing happened.”

“hey!”

“What about me? “That acting was amazing!”

“Ah~ Eugene was powerful too!”

“That’s right. It was definitely… alright. “You used facial expressions well.”

“Hehe.”

At this point painting one’s face with gold is considered a drinking event. An atmosphere where it wouldn’t be strange if someone brought in wheat and shouted a toast.

Next compliments are given to Kim Rae-bin who made a new arrangement after three days and to the main dancers who combined the choreography plan. It will soon pour down on me too.

'hmm.'

Should I keep these guys' feet on the ground?

"And Moon University~ Moon University really created this camp. "He's the number one contributor to this album."

"okay. In fact it was Mundae not me who played the role of leader in the camp. "It was a lot of hard work."

"Brother it was really cool! "I admit it!"

"That's right…!"

Sun Ah-hyun when did this guy come to his senses and come here?

Anyway I chuckled.

"Thank you. However public opinion changes quickly so strange things can come out again. "But it will calm down again over time so don't worry."

Then he grins. These?

"Are you ashamed of your university?"

"no."

"Okay okay I'll say yes~"

Should I hit this one?

However he quickly changes the topic. A quick-witted bastard.

“Public opinion is definitely something but is it because I prepared too hard? “I want to go on stage quickly.”

“I heard that pre-recording will be held the day after tomorrow. “I’m really looking forward to it!”

These guys are very confident having worked hard while preparing for the stage. Well it was a forced march.

-The formation doesn’t fit there~ Again! Don’t be too out of breath!

-If you just rest for 5 minutes…

-Then it ends 10 minutes late~

“…”

That state where every last drop of stamina was squeezed out… Hmm I almost thought of it and synchronized it. I quickly left and returned to thinking about my future schedule.

‘I’ll take care of the music scene in Korea and then go to America.’

It is also the handshake that appears to be all-in on the United States. Do you do such a thing knowing what will happen in the future?

So the original plan was to start in Korea and then appear on a few American talk shows but…

Something changed a bit that evening.

“You’re calling us here?”

“The company says so.”

Suddenly I received a call from a major U.S. primetime channel entertainment program.

“If you agree…”

“It’s called a live performance… and it’s next Tuesday.”

“…”

And everyone understood the situation.

“It’s just tinkering.”

“Uh huh.”

If it was an official appearance there would be no way to call me in such a hurry. Well it looks like someone hit it and hit a hole.

Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

“Well still appearing is appearing.”

okay. Even though it is an appearance where there is no talk and only performance.

There is no doubt that it is a major broadcast with better viewer ratings than most of the talk shows we caught.

“How many artists can appear in a country with so many people? “The fact that they contacted us right away means we are next in line.”

“…”

Even the flash of attention I gained through my cameo in the movie was definitely meaningful.

“Then shall we?”

“I don’t think there’s any need to refuse. “If the circumstances are right.”

Liu Qingyu’s words quietly received everyone’s agreement.

Fortunately things turned out to be the same.

This is because as soon as I expressed my intention to accept the company quickly adjusted my schedule.

“It’s fixed.”

“Oh~”

In fact it was a planned result.

‘It was fortunate that our first domestic comeback stage was on Tnet.’

Testa This was the first live performance of this album and it was a frustrating situation because it was pushed back but I gave in.

Probably because it is the same T1 affiliate.

‘Tnet got a solo comeback show for the same reason in the first place so I withdrew from that as well.’

His affiliation was a gangster. If it wasn’t for me I would have been blown away.

“hmm.”

Anyway it wasn’t such a bad picture for us. Since we will return to Korea right after this performance there won’t be many fans who will be disappointed.

‘Already the period from the music video release to the first stage release was too long.’

Since the album was released on Friday to aim for the Billboard… the first domestic music show is scheduled for next Thursday.

‘It’s been around for almost a week.’

It took a while to keep the momentum going.

And anyone with any interest in this industry will know that.

‘I’m definitely trying to work towards this.’

Sure enough after about two days the excitement about the ‘testa meeting expectations’ subsided and the sound of seconds ticking slowly began to rise.

————————— = =

[Personal opinion on Testa’s new song]

The song is cool but honestly it seems too much. Listening to the audio I wonder how on earth they will perform this live…

The same goes for music video performances but doing both at the same time? hmm…

I thought they might pre-record it but it’s a bit pushy. Live is Testa’s biggest advantage but it feels like they’re kicking themselves in the foot.

I understand the big picture of targeting the US but I hope they don’t lose their original intention. It’s bittersweet for no reason.

＋Attach proof that you are neither an anti nor a fan just a listener (capture of music site details)

————————— = =

-Wow I wasn’t the only one who thought this. To be honest I guess I shouldn’t criticize it a bit. I did it because I wanted to create an atmosphere. It’s not an insult to worry about the live performance.

-Testa is a group whose strength is live music so if they fail they will be ridiculed even more but that’s a bit much.

-Well when they come to their part they will do the choreography a little weakly and it’s really all a big deal…

Here are the three best comments:

“hmm.”

As expected there is noise but is that at best a concern for live performance?

very good

‘It looks like there’s really nothing to complain about.’

I guess they wanted to cause more stress than the review of ‘It’s crazy and not my type’…It’s a very satisfying thing.

Meanwhile in the English-speaking world people picked up K-pop from somewhere and installed it.

-They really do this dance and hit those high notes? crazy

To tell the truth most of them dance to pre-recorded songs Don’t expect much

Go away you hater of K-pop! They performed live on almost every stage. Just wait a little while and you will be able to see a great performance!

It’s not even a fuss.

People who came in through <Cosmic Gunner> existing fans and people who like Cosmic Gunner but don’t like KPOP are all mixed together giving rise to all kinds of opinions.

The popular opinion is ‘The music video sucks but do they really do this?’

That was good too.

‘The buzz is sweet.’

Isn't this kind of noise bound to be sorted out after one stage as it becomes a good topical piece of cake?

'Of course this is only when you're doing well.'

Looking at the members' reactions as soon as the stage was mentioned I think it was already decided whether they would do well or not.

I grinned and cracked my neck.

Let's take a look at some objective indicators.

'Status window.'

For the first time in a while I summoned a hologram.

It's been so long it's been almost half a year since I checked my stats properly.

'I don't really look at it because I can't do anything other than check the facts or level up.'

Still I haven't lived a prosperous life to the point where my stats disappear.

'It will still be the same.'

I checked the contents again recalling moments when I had benefited from good distribution.

'Let's take a look…!'

And I was surprised.

[Name: Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)]

Level : (-)

Title: Successful person (idol)

Singing: S

Dance: B+

Appearance: A

Talent: S-

Characteristics: Infinite Potential Time of Indulgence (S) Mission Constitution (S) Snatching Ears (A)

Points remaining: 1

‘Why are there two S’s?’

No what kind of guy’s stats have increased like this without even recording them?

‘Why was talent ranked S?’

I don’t know what I did to get it to S. Do you have any stage experience?

Moreover her appearance has also gone up one notch.

Now it’s not just A-grade pull-ups it’s a real A.

What is this… the power of exercise and dyeing?

‘Natural increase is amazing.’

I flipped my pale hair and crossed my arms. It looks like I worked harder than I thought.

“hmm.”

Somehow it feels a bit cheerful.

‘It would be difficult not to be able to perform on stage with these stats… ’

hmm. Let’s give it a little shock.

I distributed the last point without hesitation.

“Let’s do something.”

I chuckled and crossed my arms. When I look back on the Internet a few days later…

[Wow… you really have professional idol stats…]

“…!”

I almost fell.

I reflexively tried to push away the small clunky pop-up next to the status window with trembling hands.

But before that another pop-up appears right in front of you.

[Huh is this really delivered? oh my god! No I’m sorry. You were surprised right?? I don’t know if I can do it either!]

for a moment.

This way of speaking…

“…Park Moon-dae?”

[yes! That’s a big moon!]

what’s this.

[Hyung have you eaten? I ate a hundred pieces of mackerel!]

I stared into space with a dumb expression on my face for a moment.

Chapter 347

That's Park Moon-dae who is using Ryu Geon-woo's body. That's the pop-up Keoldal is putting up right now…

[brother? Are you okay?]

"…after."

I was convinced. I relaxed my shoulders and sighed.

Suddenly I heard someone talking and I thought it was a ghost… No.

"Since when did you become like this?"

He clearly didn't have this kind of talent.

[Oh I'm not sure. I just tried it because I thought it would work… and it worked?]

"…okay."

It seems that synchronization with the status window has reached its final stages. I see that you can use it as you wish.

It's not a very positive sign but since I'm having fun I guess I'll just keep my mouth shut and not talk nonsense.

[Wow… It's been a while since I felt like I could share a view like this. It feels a bit like… when I'm spending time with my brother?? wow!]

No it seems like he's having too much fun…

I always fell silent for a moment due to the static explanatory text or the chat that filled the status window.

It’s almost like I’m feeling uncomfortable.

[Can I use that emoticon too? Like this 〉_〈 Wow!]

“Yeah it’s really amazing.”

He’s showing off a talent I couldn’t even imagine.

I sighed and got up. It’s a shame that Liu Chengwu is out talking on the phone with the company. It almost turned out to be funny.

[I’m sorry if I acted rashly… Wow it’s the comeback season so I’m afraid I did something wrong]

“no.”

I blocked the text from the pop-up window that kept growing. Who does this look like a weakling?

“I’m fine so don’t worry about that. I was a little surprised because I was concentrating after checking my stats for the first time in a while.”

[yes…]

It seems a bit genuine. I wiggled my eyebrows at the pop-up window that seemed to convey nuance so skillfully even though it was just a text message.

Still I don’t know where I can use it so I’ll check it out.

“Looking at what you’re saying now it seems like you can see my situation but how far can you see?”

[Just to the extent that my brother sees it… Yep. It seems the same!]

“Anything else besides sight?”

[The sound is a little blurry but I can hear it. Other than that I don’t really feel anything else!]

Now I finally get a quick answer.

“always?”

[no! I think it only happens when you access the status window like this. Something… when I turn on the status window it feels like an electronic signal is coming to me!]

I see.

So when I turn on the status window it calls this guy and synchronizes it.

‘I could use it when I’m in a hurry.’

The possibility is extremely low but if we happen to be shipwrecked on an uninhabited island again within a few months. I nodded.

“okay. “It’s good to have another way to contact you.”

Unless you are terminally ill.

[Right??]

The pop-up window vibrated slightly. This… I wonder if it’s because they’re excited.

And it even becomes slightly smaller and soon new letters are written slowly as if hesitating.

[I… Can I contact you occasionally when I look at the status window?]

I chuckled.

“of course.”

[thank you!]

The window got bigger again. It seems to be reflected quite well.

And then the feelings begin to pour out in earnest.

[Ah my heart was pounding so much when I saw you recording the stats! I really want to see the first live live but it's a shame I can't go!]

"Do you think it's useful?"

[yes! I'm so excited that my heart is going to come out of my mouth!]

He made taking the test a pleasure in his college entrance exam life but somehow he ended up using words that fans used in his mouth.

I opened my mouth to reply but the text came up first.

[Really fighting! Oh I'm going to go to work now! Lunch time is over [Ugh]

"…"

In an instant the pop-up window disappeared with a glitch.

'I'm using it like a real Kakao Talk.'

…I think it will take some time to get used to it. I massaged my shoulders and turned off the remaining status windows.

Let's get this out of the way and come back to reality.

The important thing now is the first stage.

'Preparations are complete.'

The amount of practice and practical experience were all filled with the secret weapon.

…It's a phrase that somehow makes you feel like you're participating in the world's best martial arts competition rather than a performance.

I was shaking and then burst into laughter.

'Well it's not much different.'

It's just that you didn't lift a sword but isn't it the same that you have to produce results that won't embarrass you?

'Let's go to the real sword match.'

Because it was a tinkering I couldn't add any special effects or devices. All that is given is one firework originally installed on the stage.

So it's better. If you are impressed by this performance there can be no reason other than the testator who performed.

"Mundae. "I have to go to the practice room…!"

"okay."

I left the room.

The first public appearance of the stage was just around the corner.

* * *

The news that Testa's first performance will be pre-released on the famous American survival audition show "You got a chance" took the Internet by storm.

-Wow this is cruel and hilarious but is there a testa? Awesome hahaha. There are two teams of Maehwa and outside performers but I didn't expect a Korean idol to appear haha.

-This has never even been released on V-Tik.

-I'm already looking forward to it. What time can I watch it in Korean time?

People were talking about how great it was that they were famous for only calling out trendy or hot performers.

Of course live worry posts still popped up as if they were planned.

-There was a Sanhok review saying that the title was really good.

Fans are like that of course they grit their teeth and say they like it haha. They know it will go into post-production anyway.

I'm worried that most American audition programs won't be installed; I know Testa Live is good but this?

Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae's twin home office workers gave their reactions.

'From now on Testa will definitely do well so they will praise me excessively and say 'What are you talking about?'

To make a fuss even if you mess up even a little.

"Tsk."

She clicked her tongue.

But even so he didn't bother to stop the corners of his mouth from moving.

Because this person is the one who watched the pre-recording.

It was truly unbecoming of me. It may be an event or a concert but I personally went to the pre-recording of a music show that is famous for treating fans like crap.

'Was it worth waiting in the middle of the crowd that early in the morning receiving poor treatment from other broadcasting stations?'

Enough has been done.

No it got to the point where I thought that seeing it for free didn't make sense.

'It's better because it's live.'

It was better because I couldn't correct it. If they were people he knew they would never have neglected to take care of their necks or ankles in this situation.

The office worker nodded and calmly finished making corrections.

But somewhere in those hands I could feel a sense of rhythm due to anticipation.

And as time passed the day came when Testa appeared as a performer on American television.

[Next is a celebration performance. This is Testa a global KPOP singer and 'the' crazy band from 'Cosmic Gunner'!]

In the middle of the program a short introduction flowed by without any expectations or grand announcements.

Not only was there not enough time to prepare in the first place but it was only the first half of the celebratory performance staged as an experiment.

And as always an advertisement appeared and the screen came back again.

[…]

A group of people are standing on a huge stage where audition contestants were standing just a moment ago.

Dancers in red costumes.

And in the meantime seven people wearing black jumpers and masks.

-Testa!

-It came out in a hurry.

‘The costume is okay.’

It is not too conceptual but has a modern style and fit that suits the occasion.

While the office worker nods his head.

The black Testa came forward after a group dance that seemed to cut the red dancer and push it away.

The beat starts with a strong trombone sound while masked dancers turn their heads and glare.

sing.

Park Moon-dae casually takes off his black mask and sings his vocals.

[There’s a voice crying out loud

The sound of my footsteps jumping in]

Next the choreography is slowed down.

And sprint.

[Appeared first

head!]

The ultra-high notes of the first verse of the introduction.

A sharp clear sound not a single pitch disturbed cuts through the air.

thud!

A sense of realism where you can even hear the sound of your hands hitting the floor and then your feet jumping up.

At best it is a clean sound without any AR added to set the scale.

-????

-Mr. Park Moon-dae

-It's live right?

'that's right!'

The crazy sense of stability I heard in Sanhok rang in the ears of office workers again.

'I wonder if that's a human.'

As the almost circus-like stunt leaves a strong impression Kim Rae-bin's low refined rap part follows with meaningful slow choreography.

The eyes covered with black bangs shine.

[Appear!]

Then the choreography continues with powerful explosive movements.

[Showers in April

Untimely visitor (Hi)

I knock on my hard heart and take strides

into it]

The song drops again at the end with Ryu Cheong-woo's strong middle notes despite the choreography using his feet.

[Now the rain fell]

A pre-chorus drop with dancers to the humorous sounds of the fiddle.

Even in intense group dances that seem to bury the dancers they bounce off each other with their composition and gestures.

And the tenacity to sing the narration and even the chorus.

[Whoa uh]

-They call it all.

-You must be crazy;

Testa did not run out of energy even once until the end of the first verse.

There is no moment to go by or rest. A flowing explosive performance in which all strength and weakness are exquisitely controlled without a single limb resting.

A momentum that suits the concept of a hero movie.

[That's ma Savior!]

Slow choreography where you turn around and move both arms before introducing the second verse.

The black jumper has a blue Haitai on the back with its mouth open like a tiger like a custom jumper from a university.

-Is this called Gukbbong?

– I'm excited

-Testa when do you breathe?

The exclamatory comments without even a hint of laughter are updated like crazy.

The density is so dense that there is no room for cheers to fit into an organic structure.

However because of the eye-catching wow points and sense of immersion the sense of unnecessary pressure that would come from such a full feeling is not conveyed.

Thanks to this office workers felt at ease whenever they noticed it.

'It was like this in Sanhok too.'

He was good at first but when he started to feel like he was starting to slow down he brought something stronger like a ghost.

The huge bombardment choreography in the last chorus thrilled the hearts of even office workers.

-Yeah that's ma Savior.

Sweet.

Center Lee Se-jin smiled.

thud!

Light scatters in the flowing choreography and the accompaniment begins again.

"…!"

The fireworks on the stage were made to pop out in sync with the beats and movements like artillery fire.

An exquisite connection to the stage.

And what follows is a light fun and colorful choreography.

It was a festive ending.

-Ring the bell Ring my bell

I wanna be your Savior

Among the fallen dancers Testa assumes a formation by raising and folding his arms one after another.

And so Testa's first stage ended.

And the comments and the scene exploded.

-Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa

– Torn.

– Hahahaha this is going to be live? What on earth did Azusa produce?

-Never ignore Testa again.

The office worker exhaled without even having time to look at the comment.

'Read read read.'

It was as cool and attractive as it was strong.

Didn't they start from a completely raw stage without any special equipment and end the performance with raw power?

My mouth was hanging open.

'Is their cartilage… or are their vocal cords and lungs okay?'

For a moment doubts came to my mind but if I said I would take care of my body and didn't show up on a domestic broadcast stage or at an event I didn't want to see it like that.

'I make a lot of money so I'll take care of it myself.'

This show was really worth spending money to see.

Besides this wasn't the end.

'In the pre-recording we even did an intro glow-in-the-dark performance.'

I'm already looking forward to seeing how public opinion will go when it comes out.

She folded her hands as she remembered the comeback show in two days' time which will air on Tnet.

Looking at the reaction I feel like it will be harder to see the real thing now… but what can I do? Good thing!

She smiled without realizing it.

'Still it's railroad season so let's go to a university event or two and get more uploads.'

And surprisingly Testa had scheduled a university event as she had hoped.

Of course what was important for my career was not the event but the official broadcast schedule afterwards.

Same time.

"Whoa."

"Some water."

Most of the testers who came off the stage were sitting down in a state of almost exhaustion.

I could hear the cheering but more than that my eyes were spinning.

‘I think it’s the most physically draining thing I’ve ever done.’

‘My lungs… I feel like my lungs are going to pop out!’

I couldn’t help it.

Of course among Testa’s title and sub songs so far there have been more than enough difficult performances.

However there was no performance of a single song at such a reckless level that it took all of one’s strength to barely maintain the energy.

‘That’s why it has meaning.’

Because it’s intense.

Likewise Park Mun-dae who was sitting on the floor pressing his ribs and breathing heavily had his eyes shining.

If the sixth sense I felt on stage earlier that it worked was not wrong the appearance was a success.

‘Of course we need to monitor it properly but… ’

But now with many years of experience his stage sense has become quite good.

He checked the originally scheduled program order in his head and then chuckled.

“Cha Yujin.”

“yes!”

“The next stage is ready.”

Cha Yu-jin who was stretching alone due to the effects of adrenaline grinned and shrugged her shoulders.

[It’s always like that.]

Park Mun-dae nodded.

‘good’

Next is the second stage of entering the market.

This is the so-called ‘Narrowing the Distance’ operation.

Chapter 348

Testa's new song caused quite a stir right from the first stage.

First let's watch it from the mainland where it aired.

I entered the American variety show we appeared in 'You got a chance' into the search box.

Then I nodded after seeing that English sentences like 'Who are those guys wearing jumpers?' were automatically completed.

'It's standard.'

The only performance performed on a major entertainment show that was the American public's pick. It means that I made a good impression there.

This is why your first major exposure is so important. It's not like I clenched my teeth and put in all those tricks for no reason.

"I get a lot of comments asking why I'm not a band. "Everyone is surprised that we played so well."

"Still I think the fact that we used the sound effects and instruments used in the movie to bring genre similarities to the bridge was a good connection."

"Oh I see. "There are not many people who feel uncomfortable with music."

"Someone here asks who Chungwoo is. "Can I at least give the correct answer?"

"Be patient Eugene."

It is also nice to see various noises and likes and dislikes coming out in connection with the image of the movie. This is a valuable amount of buzz.

Naturally the inflow of music videos increases and the increase in users on global music sites is noticeable.

‘This is a level of exposure effect that is difficult to expect in Korea anymore.’

When awareness arises through the stage we are following the same reaction process. I guess this is similar whether it is domestic or foreign.

-What kind of training did you receive that made that possible? K-pop requires training right?

They are from an audition program which means they are not beneficiaries or victims of K-pop’s factory-type system!

…In the meantime there are some people who cleverly mix the truth with bullshit and post pseudo-salesy posts but I plan to use this too so I’ll skip it.

Anyway the majority of reviews were positive so it seems like it was well-received in Korea as well.

-Be good.

-Do you mean this is a live without post-processing? The fans will be full even if they don’t eat. It’s so cool.

-How on earth do you do the tumbling choreography after the cannon?;;; If it were me I would have broken my neck already.

Even if it was exposed to the public it is so attractive that it makes people who would have skipped it without even clicking on it thinking things like ‘The fans are doing business’ watch it anyway.

Of course the stage was chosen well enough to meet expectations.

Because of this the members who had been banging their heads saying they felt like they were going to collapse after the performance changed their stance.

“We did grow up a bit. Wow even your fingers hit hard?”

“Ugh everyone had good energy… It was a great performance that suited the song.”

“that’s right! “I was so cool.”

Now the process of clearly confirming and accepting the truth has been completed including Cha Yu-jin’s declaration that she can now use the past tense correctly.

‘I will continue to do so without modification from now on.’

I nodded in satisfaction.

And the subsequent Tnet comeback show and domestic music broadcast stages captured domestic public opinion once more.

‘The sub-songs are also well-received.’

We worked hard to develop the concept of a modern noir thriller using ‘Black Cat’ but wouldn’t it be a waste to discard it?

I used it in the sub song.

Unlike the action-packed and aggressive title song it has an elegant taste making even those who were disappointed with this concept choose one according to their taste.

Of course those who did not regret it also liked it.

-I love both of them. Testa’s godseongbi who does everything from a gentleman to an agent in one activity.

-Thank you guys it’s a feast (crunch crunch)

This is why every time we monitor the members' faces light up.

"The response to this performance is all good."

"Wow the fatigue is gone."

The best result among the reactions that can be realistically achieved.

For Testa who has had an eventful few years as a contestant from a popular survival program it is a warm environment that is neither boiling nor icy.

Even if you leave the best comments on articles that pop up on social media only good things are said.

-This is what promoting national prestige is all about. Korea's unique Haitai style~ A wonderful testa who spreads Haitai the apostle of justice~

Even so in the entertainment industry this was almost like a drug.

Isn't everyone dreaming of becoming an idol and pursuing a career as an idol?

Moreover around this time our independent label finally started publishing articles about our activities.

[The beginning of Testa label 'ORBIT'…"We will demonstrate our ability to develop artists"]

Liu Chengwu looked at the article and smiled.

"You meant orbit right?"

"yes."

I built it. It wasn't my intention.

'These bastards are trying to give themselves a needlessly grandiose name.'

What the company first released was Supernova.

'Why are you trying to attract aggro in the name of your agency?'

Since it is an internal label of the agency I didn't think there was any need to elaborate so I organized it on my own.

"I think it's perfect because it feels like a planet's orbit. Even if I listen to it again it's still well written."

"…thank you."

Anyway fans liked it.

Of course people who buy stocks did the same.

-These guys' behavior is very good starting from Hollywood movies. I'm not lowering my expectations.

-The Testa is very good. I was lucky to get on the 14th floor. I plan to have it until the end of the year^^

Every day throughout the weekend we hear good news translated from overseas and fans are delighted with the abundance of content.

And the public took a one-shot of kimchi soup in anticipation of the Billboard chart which will only be revealed next Thursday.

-No there's already an American entertainment show coming out…

-But I think this time too it will be a career high but anyway don't let your guard down and work hard!

-Why are there so many Testa translation accounts?

As the situation became burdensome and they also started to look forward to it fans poured out messages like crazy with happiness anticipation worry and confusion.

Among them of course was our actions.

-I guess I'll go to America once I'm done with the music scene.

-There is an article saying that I am going to ㅇㅇ. It looks like I have received quite a few love calls from the US.

-He was trying to get into Limestone by dragging all kinds of aggro but he's really gritting his teeth and trying to go to America.

Yeah what? Negeudol failed even though they pushed their butts into selling it as a tie-in but Kingstar wanted to get angry because of the local reaction?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

Unfortunately aggro cannot use its power.

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth in a trembling voice.

"…This is the first time people have been so friendly."

"Sure."

Public favorability. This atmosphere feels like he will become a national idol at any moment.

The atmosphere was so good when the music video was released and it was still the same even though it's already been a week since it was released.

Anyone in this situation would shake their head and say 'I'm only walking on the flower path.'

"huh. "It's really good."

"yes yes…"

However the faces of those who say this do not have the comfortable smile typical of people who have received a happy ending.

So what do you think?

They look like cold sweat running down their foreheads.

In layman's terms 'Hey what should I do with this?'

This is the face that appears when you think about becoming X.

The reason was… the time was slowly coming.

"…But we'll destroy this with our own hands in a little while right?"

"uh."

I nodded.

"…Enjoy it while you can."

"Ugh…"

Those with their noses glued to their smartphones have begun to enjoy the sweet taste of public opinion.

And within a few days the bitter taste began to rear its head.

* * *

Long before the Billboard chart rankings came out.

An article appeared on Monday when the week started.

[Testa appears on America's popular entertainment show… Will the trend continue?]

I clicked because I thought everyone had come this far.

You must have been thinking something like ‘Oh there’s an American entertainment show coming out again.’

However if you read the article carefully you will find out the identity of the entertainment show in which Testa appears.

[Don’t mess it up]

It’s an entertainment program that isn’t very famous in Korea so you can get your head around it but when people you know start testifying the atmosphere changes.

-Ah… This is too B-grade and not that great but it’s like a strange challenge.

In other words it is an entertainment program that gives people difficult tasks and makes them mess up or harass them and then watch their reactions. In short class B.

-This isn’t a program where successful kids appear. Why do you want to appear on something like this?

-It’s perfect to forget the upper-class image that was created through the movie and the first stage…

ah…

However Testa’s appearance is only one corner of this.

Moreover usually 10 teams make up one corner and the appearance time for all 10 teams is only 17 minutes.

‘It looks perfect as a handshake among handshakes.’

It doesn’t end here.

For reference a famous and quite sophisticated talk show airs at the same time as this program.

And most of the globally recognized groups led by VTIC performed in the program.

In other words we could have appeared there but we turned it down and are now appearing in this B-level program.

At this point you can guess the atmosphere.

-Did it turn?

-Why on earth do I come here and I don't understand?

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ I'm so frustrated I'm going to search around.

It's even the first time a KPOP idol appears.

In the first place one of the previous production staff members even made xenophobic remarks. This is a program that was cut and has a strong local flavor even among locals.

It means that our treatment cannot be good.

-after…

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

What happened after this news circulated all over the Internet?

"…um it's quiet?"

"yes."

Somehow it is being ignored as if there was no news.

'I knew so.'

If we admit that this was Testa's shameful mistake wouldn't it feel like the sense of vicarious satisfaction has disappeared and we have lost?

Since it doesn't suit the taste of the soup that one enjoys a situation has arrived where everyone pretends not to notice and deliberately doesn't mention it.

"The fans are also quiet."

That's another reason.

'I'm holding back for strategic reasons.'

Testa's recent momentum is so good that he gets even more upset but at the same time he doesn't want to let that momentum go so he keeps quiet.

This is because there is no benefit in making a fuss and canceling the already scheduled schedule and the American entertainment schedule when there is no alternative.

So overall Testa's buzz went out and the glowing praise and reactions went out like a candle.

The only thing that remains is the Gukbbong channels' videos of mental victory that are as good as nothing.

"…"

"…"

Although it is rare to hurt the public's feelings and not be criticized it may be more comfortable to be criticized.

Look even Bae Se-jin who already knows what this appearance is for is looking at the overseas reaction translation channel where uploads have stopped with a sad face.

"…"

"brother."

“know. “It’s necessary!”

okay. Because it was all discussed.

KPOP is no longer an unfamiliar genre even in the United States and is a genre with a solid fan base as a subculture.

This obviously has great benefits but it also has the effect of making only those who are already watching see it.

‘To avoid that we even collaborated with Limestone Movies.’

So if you just go in the direction that everyone else is doing you won’t be able to eat the entire pie that grew Limestone.

Bae Se-jin’s eyes returned and he nodded.

“…As long as we stick to our plan we can do well.”

“Of course.”

I shrugged. And then he hit Cha Yu-jin who was standing next to him on the shoulder.

“He organized everything. A native person.”

“that’s right. Trust me! “I’m good at it!”

“No I believe it!”

I left the two chatting and looked back at Sun Ah-hyun who had also stopped monitoring.

Since we put a lot of effort into this activity I thought I would be concerned about the cool atmosphere… but then he flashed his thumbs up…?

“Of course I believe…!”

“…uh. thanks.”

“Ugh!”

Yeah um. If so that’s okay…

‘Final inspection.’

I relaxed my shoulders and checked the best comments from the last first stage which were still moderate.

I have quite a few stories.

-The moment Park Moon-dae enters the room after lying down his posture is so detailed. He must be crazy.

-If AR was like this he would have said under his breath that it was too obvious but he has no conscience and is cowardly fighting with his vocals.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

-I’m tired of Park Moon-dae’s TOUPLE grade memo. It melts gently

That’s a really rewarding reaction.

I remembered my status window.

‘S+’ is floating around… the singing stat.

That’s right. I added one remaining stat point to vocals.

If you put it in a B+ dance the alphabet changes to A- so why didn’t that happen?

This is because I was convinced by seeing and comparing various ability levels in real life.

‘The S+ grade is complete.’ Say.

For example there is a guy whose music stats have finally reached S+ with this album.

[Name: Cha Yujin]

Talent: S+

Now if this kid just narrates to any song on the street people will stare. Even the sense of stand-out which felt a bit arbitrary before serves as a point.

And… there is one guy in another group whose other stats are S+.

I frowned.

[Name: Cheongryeo (Shin Jae-hyun)]

Dance: S+

Cheongnyeo.

The aim of the S+ grade for his dance is to be perfectly optimized for the KPOP group dance center.

The power and power that comes from ‘ideally’ embodying the intended feeling with precise force and nuance.

It would probably look good even if you gathered a bunch of clumsy CD-grade guys and put them next to each other.

In fact considering that the EX level seems to be at the level of a legendary great person S+ is probably the final level at which a person can sublimate into art.

So in order to completely block the number of cases where ‘my singing doesn’t work’ the best thing to do was to raise the singing grade to S+.

‘You can’t miss it.’

And… there was one more reason why I didn’t upload the dance.

…Because what I run is not a solo act but a group.

‘There are so many people who are good at dancing.’

It’s not like I’m going to be the dance break center but right now there’s no problem in completing this team’s choreography with just a B+.

‘I need to excel at what I’m good at.’

Performing your role with even higher quality is more helpful to the quality of the team.

And everyone else besides me did the same.

I looked around with quite satisfaction. The guys who stopped monitoring seem quite trustworthy.

Anyway it was time to use the S+ vocalist once more.

This shoot was completed well and paid off…

“Wow I guess someone on the production team posted that they were voluntarily appearing on the show after our company contacted them directly. Wow it’s really amazing.”

“…”

I’ll see you guys after filming.

Chapter 349

‘So… Eugene is coming here?’

Hannah Hamilton who graduated from the same middle school as Cha Yu-jin sat on the couch in front of the late-night TV for the first time in a long time.

She was using the fact that she knew Cha Yu-jin in high school as an excuse to watch the program.

‘Anyway we met once a few years ago.’

At a TV show restaurant that sold hotteok a Korean fusion snack.

-Um… have we met before? Middle school? elementary school?

-Ah… It’s Hannah Hamilton. I was in the same class as you in middle school.

-Ah~ Hannah! nice to meet you. how are you?

Cha Yu-jin still had the unique feel of a successful person but surprisingly she chose the subculture of KPOP as her career.

After becoming aware of his group (now known as a group not a band!) she looked up the group’s activities a few times.

It was because she felt a strange fondness for a boy of her age who was so proud and into subculture like her.

And I came this far despite being surprised by some of the cultural differences.

‘A heterosexual man in his 20s who dyed his hair pink.’

‘…Cha Yu-jin does this too?? Anime Magic Girl?’

‘They’re a good team that really cares about each other… ’

I empathized with them and even watched their live American entertainment shows.

[MESS ~ MEEESSS ~]

Humorous primary-color subtitles flowed on the screen. Hannah looked at it in horror.

‘This show is funny but I don’t know why you’re on it.’

-Testa is not allowed here!

-This is sadistic harmful trash no different from a third-rate reality show that just harasses people who want to make a name for themselves.

KPOP fans were crying out on her account. Honestly I sympathized to some extent.

[Today’s challenger is… Challenge! Can a cancerous lung survive for 30 minutes in a red tube that makes strange noises?]

[That can’t be all! The moment you become a coward lovely unicorn dolls will pour in! You are a loser!]

In this way it was full of ridicule and teasing disguised as a challenge.

Because it is a self-righteous structure that mocks the person who takes on the challenge by arrogantly saying ‘of course it is possible’ it also quietly avoids ethical censorship.

[Boo! It’s complete trash!]

[Didn’t you just blink like you were really scared? is it so. It’s a failure. You loser!]

Sometimes there is no exact standard for punishment. The production team and MC simply give penalties at the timing that seems most humorous.

Sometimes even the MC himself got hurt.

So it was really funny.

To some extent the sound of the MC giggling was vivid even to Hannah who only occasionally watches clips on WeTube.

'So it's a longevity program.'

In any case it was not appropriate for someone with an image of maintaining a certain level of dignity and class to appear.

As a result American Testa fans also complained and the production team tried to subtly make fun of it.

-Their company said 'first' that they would like to have the honor of appearing in person? (eye rolling emoticon)

Later even the MC joined in.

-Fresh and kind Asian boys… Cheer up (Emoji wearing sunglasses)

It was a mess.

'We literally almost got into a fight.'

The stubborn conservative and somewhat vulgar MC got into a fiery war of nerves with the KPOP fandom.

But the scary thing is that once filming started all comments from the production team stopped.

'I guess Testa did a good job. or not… '

…or I screwed up so miserably.

So much so that ‘that’ MC thought he had crossed the line of joking and kept his mouth shut.

“Hmm.”

Hannah swallowed her saliva once and then looked at TV again.

The performer who jumped out of the coffin was filmed running away with rainbow glitter and a unicorn dangling his pants off.

[Loser~~]

[Actor Antonio Saltre is a cute scared pony or teddy bear!]

Testa shouldn’t have to suffer such a miserable situation.

Still fortunately the corner where Testa appeared this time was one where singers mainly appear.

[Next… My own street karaoke!]

This is the ‘Street Karaoke’ challenge corner.

[Various famous songs carefully selected by the crew are arranged and played in various versions!]

[Will the artist challengers be able to properly show off these masterpieces?]

At first glance you might think it looks more professional than a ridiculous challenge but…

It’s an illusion.

As you will soon realize this arrangement is a purely comical joke.

Moreover everything was improvised and of course it was up to the production team to judge whether it was done properly.

‘Ugh.’

Since the contestants are singers by profession the challenge is funnier for those who see it and more terrifying for those who face it.

Moreover the penalty this time is terrible.

[Today’s penalty is… gourmet cannon!]

[We carefully prepared only food from the hottest restaurants on social networks! This isn’t actually a penalty right?]

puck!

“Ugh!”

She watched as the shredded hamburger was launched like a bomb and landed in the bemused cast member’s face.

I felt ashamed that I almost laughed.

‘That… that’s a real shame!’

Isn’t this what you see when you’re bullied at school?

But Connor had already started off cheerfully.

[The first song is~ ‘Counting ma green’!]

It had to be an intense and dark hip-hop song.

However it is arranged and played as an amusement park march with exaggerated pronunciation that cannot be understood.

[Oh Hong Hong Hong! It’s lively and lovely~]

[Nanananananannannanannannanannan~]

puck.

puck.

Puff puff puck.

People get hit in the face with cannons to the cheerful beat of trumpets.

It was a sight to behold.

“Puhup!”

The person who stays blank until the interlude passes and gets beat. The person who tries to get in on a verse but gets pushed out by the beat and falls into ruin.

Even the type who sings a few lines well and is full of hope ends up getting hit with food in the face.

[Cast: What kind of X is this…]

puck!

[Gestures suck!]

“Hehehe!”

She gritted her teeth and smiled. It was such a primal laugh that I couldn’t help but laugh.

“Oh please! evil!”

The problem was that Testa was not visible even after two or three songs had passed.

Even if it only lasted 1 second I would have definitely recognized it. How could you miss the powerful scene of being cannonballed with food?

‘No way… edit?’

Fortunately or unfortunately it wasn’t.

This is because Testa did not appear until more than 10 minutes had passed and one advertisement placed between the corners had passed.

Seven young men standing on the street like other cast members.

Give it a little spotlight.

[that’s right. They give me preferential treatment because I am a cast member of ‘Cosmic Gunner’. I’m close with the director there. You know right?]

The first song Sunny March comes again with the MC’s crazy narration.

“iced coffee…”

From now on I’m going to show you how Testa prepares food in a flashy manner.

With that in mind it was time for Hannah to relax and watch TV.

Cha Yu-jin who was looking at the microphone fixed in front of the camera with her hand stuck in her jumper with a sullen expression smiled.

And then we go straight into the beginning of the march.

[Cast: NANA NANA NANANNNNNA!]

“uh.”

And Testa started walking to the beat. Steps like parade-style choreography.

And naturally I follow the song while checking the lyrics that appear below the camera.

On his face was the bright capitalist smile typical of amusement park employees.

[Cast: The taste of money~ I can't stand it I'll have it~]

It was funny as the lyrics about making people laugh with a refreshing smile and the amusement park accompaniment came together amazingly.

"Hahaha!"

And they each make their own unique parade gestures and take turns successfully surviving the first verse!

[Yes~ Whatever. Lucky guys.]

The sound of the audience laughing was inserted behind the MC's voice which was exhausted due to failing to give a penalty. So it was funnier.

But Testa's story didn't end there.

[Next song!]

Next is a trendy R&B band song that flows smoothly…

Made with extremely high-pitched heavy metal.

"Ugh."

How many people were so frightened by the change in height that they couldn't enter the building and got food thrown in their faces?

However this time white-haired member Park Moon-dae casually sticks his head into the microphone in front of the camera.

And then he opened his mouth.

[YEAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!]

“…!!”

Shouting.

His facial expression didn’t change and he continued to sing that high note.

Although his neck was red and there were blood clots his expressionless expression and high-pitched voice were not enough for the impact to be noticed.

And after that the other members naturally shook their heads violently.

Ooooh!

The shaking of the jacket is a bit exaggerated so it looks better. Audience sounds inserted into the screen scream and cheer.

[…also?]

[Yeah well he’s a really great singer. I can clap too. Clap clap clap. Did you hear?]

The audience bursts into laughter again.

But soon the MC’s voice which had lost strength regained strength.

[Then the next song has to come out… You all know this but it would be really funny if it were ruined at the end!]

“Huh?”

And a new accompaniment that had never appeared before began to appear.

The latest disco song with a popping beat that is currently on the Billboard charts…

It is a ballet arrangement.

“!”

[Then the next song has to come out… You all know this but it would be really funny if it were ruined at the end!]

“Huh?”

And a new accompaniment that had never appeared before began to appear.

The latest disco song with a popping beat that is currently on the Billboard charts…

It is a ballet arrangement.

“Phew!”

It was incredibly funny but it was funny because there was no hole for Testa to escape through!

[haha!]

However one of the Testas crept forward from behind.

A pretty young man with well-groomed black hair. He naturally stood with his legs crossed and turned with one foot gracefully.

“…!!”

[What??]

Fouette.

And at that moment the six people behind us exchanged glances and started humming.

A composition that follows the main melody and accompaniment appropriately.

Acapella.

[…Oh Lord.]

“oh my god.”

And at just the right time I found the accompaniment and found the intro!

[Cast: I can take you to the night sky~]

The audience on the screen cheers.

A twist is always fun.

After doing all these crazy things he even gets applause from passersby on the street.

[Why are they applauding!]

[What is this… Wait are you all gone? How much did you give?]

The audience burst into laughter again as the MC’s narration which had been unexpectedly caught by a surprise camera began to growl.

Cha Yu-jin who was leisurely giving a high five smiles and nods her head.

[Cast: Did you receive an appearance fee?]

[no!! What I mean is that you guys… ugh! It’s going to spin!]

“ha ha ha!”

The microphone in front of the camera shakes like an angry puppet to the sound of Hannah's laughter.

[This is… right! This is actually a failure!]

[I'm so good that it's not good. Right?]

Testa looked at each other and smiled slightly. And the member with white hair answered calmly.

[Cast: No. I don't know.]

[It's a failure because it's not funny. This is a comedy show!!]

[Cast: Hmm.]

Testa then responds and instead of continuing the skit exchanges glances again and nods.

'what?'

And Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth.

[Cast: OK. Kill them all and shoot them.]

"…!!"

pop!

And the restaurant cannon was truly fired.

Not once but several times. In everyone's face.

Puff puff puff puff puff puck!

"Ugh!"

Hannah watched with her mouth open.

Testa's appearance became as miserable as those before him.

[Cast: Ouch.]

Cha Yu-jin who had bolognaise sauce dripping down her forehead wiped it away with her fingers.

Even then he grinned.

[Cast: It's delicious.]

[oh my god.]

[Cast: I appeared because it seemed the most fun. It's a truly amazing experience.]

[Please turn it off immediately. Quickly.]

[Cast: Of course. Have a good night everyone.]

[Cast: Good night~]

The members smiled wiped their faces with cloth or their hands and leisurely walked away from the camera.

I took a look and this is it.

'and… '

He is not humble at all is confident and has a firm world of his own but he is not unlucky.

It was all the conditions this neighborhood expected from an artist.

individuality! ability! Star quality!

Moreover doesn't it fit perfectly with the image of the band that appeared in "Cosmic Gunner"? It was almost like they were themselves!

[Well… well… try playing the other guys! It's not funny!]

And the screen ended with the performers unable to follow the ballet arrangement again and being hit by a restaurant cannon.

But everyone who watched knew. The ending is actually the scene where the band was walking out earlier.

"Wow."

If you literally wanted to make an impression it was a huge success.

And sure enough as soon as the broadcast ended a new post was uploaded to the MC's account.

————————= =

[I swear on my house that I did not tamper with it. This is a really crazy band. #Save me]

————————= =

"Wow!"

It was a declaration of surrender.

'It's a mess!'

Without realizing it she searched not only for KPOP accounts but also for people who watched today's program pouring out comments on her account.

Still I thought.

'I'm like this but they'll be cool and go back to Korea right?'

Yes Cha Yu-jin was someone who could do that.

The same goes for his group!

* * *

We're in the middle of rinsing a guy like crazy.

Who are you?

"Seon Ah-hyun! "Seon Ah-hyun!"

"Oooh!!"

"Seon Ah-hyun did it all!"

Of course it's Sun Ah-hyun! This guy did an ad-lib that wasn't even planned!

I'll be honest. We cheated a bit.

They had already organized all the candidate songs they would use and studied the expected answers.

This is what I have been doing every day since Azusa.

Since it is a long-running segment that has been performed over 100 times there are many references but the song was immediately answered.

'These guys write half of the latest popular songs and half of the popular songs from 10 years ago.'

Since the program must have been running for a long time I thought they would have fixed the range of songs to avoid overlapping.

And arrangement is also answered with statistics.

1. Listed in order of frequency of arrangement types used in the program over the past three years.

2. Weight is given to new arrangements released within the past year.

3. However arrangements used during the latest 3 episodes are excluded.

Once I figured out the song pattern and arrangement pattern it was all smooth sailing.

-Is this funny?

-It's not funny!

-Okay I'm not going to use a country arrangement here. pass.

All you have to do is get checked by S+ who has native sensibility and match the arrangement.

'I covered more than half of it with this.'

So under the leadership of Kim Rae-bin the expected arrangement and feeling were already drawn up and who appeared in the main role for each song was decided.

however…

'Where are these crazy bastards getting ballet from?'

I guessed the opera but I didn't know that these idiots would throw in a piece that wasn't even sung.

However this became a huge hit because Sun Ah-hyun really knocked out the ballet with her first move.

'If it wasn't for this guy I would have really been screwed.'

Because this was a meaningful task you had to clear the given songs with a neat concept from start to finish.

Embarrassing was the worst thing I could do but I couldn't do anything to prevent an almost embarrassing situation.

Everyone is making such a fuss because they made a deliberate play.

"No but what? "Ahyeon changed her major to dance. How can that just come out?"

"I prepared for a presentation before when I was in middle school…"

"It's amazing that you even remember that it's such an incredible event!"

"No… I'm used to this…"

I won't accept any excuses.

Anyway it was only when it was time to move that Sun Ah-hyun came down to the floor with a red face receiving applause.

"I…"

But in the meantime he keeps talking to me.

'hmm.'

Their faces are full of anticipation similar to when they released this album's concept.

I understand.

'I just want to hear your story.'

He did this before and he seems to have decided that he has shown himself to be capable enough to listen to what only I and Keun Sejin are talking about.

And actually qualifications are not the problem but it is true that this guy carried this number.

‘It’s okay to put it off even more.’

I looked back at Big Sejin. He also nods his head.

then…

Yeah fuck it. Let’s open our mouths!

For your information it was a really stupid idea.

Chapter 350

On my way back home I immediately realized the reality.

'When will you tell me?'

There is no time.

This was not a tour season where you could flexibly cut off time if you wanted.

In extreme cases it is an early stage of activities where schedules are planned by the minute.

'It's hard to go out now so what?'

With this crazy schedule will there ever be a time to talk to Sun Ah-hyun separately?

But the answer was easy to find.

"Can I use my room?"

"…!"

"I'm in a private room~ Let's talk at night after the schedule is over!"

yes.

Coincidentally the person who was living alone in the dormitory knew everything about the situation. There is no need to go out and make a place.

"Of course Sejin needs to sleep too~ If the story gets long I'll use your room… Mundaemundae? "Are you listening?"

“Oh thank you.”

After arranging a few certain times on the plane I decided to call Sun Ah-hyun separately as soon as I got back to my dorm……

“I’ll be there for now. No matter how much Ahyeon likes her friends she has to create an atmosphere and prepare for people to trust her~”

That is correct.

Still Sun Ah-hyun seemed to be concerned that there was something between me and Keun Se-jin that was not shared only with her.

Let’s leave the other parties as well.

That day I spoke to Sun Ah-hyun at the commercial shooting site which I went straight from the airport to.

“Ahyeon.”

“Huh?”

“After filming when I go to the hotel I plan to have a chat with Lee Se-jin at night…”

“Ugh! all. of course!”

“Oh yeah.”

He himself was very active. Thanks to this the appointment was made in an instant.

The story goes that three people of the same age sat down on the sofa in Big Sejin’s cell.

“Now everyone please sit comfortably~”

“Ah huh…!”

“…”

I don’t know how this kid can sleep with ten dolls of his own character right in front of his bed. Are the nerve cords made of iron?

Anyway I turned away from the doll heads and turned my head to look at Sun Ah-hyeon.

Sun Ah-hyeon seemed nervous but more than that she seemed to be looking forward to it.

‘My eyes are sparkling.’

No it’s such an enormous secret… That’s right.

That’s right. Just last year I never thought I would say it so openly.

“hmm.”

I cleared my throat and opened my mouth.

“First of all… I’m sorry if you’ve felt a bit left out due to recent circumstances.”

“Oh no! Of course you don’t have to tell me… It’s because everyone is working hard…”

“…?”

for a moment.

I looked back at Big Sejin. A look of embarrassment also flashes across his face.

Meanwhile Seon Ah-hyun blushes and continues talking.

“I haven’t been able to lead a conversation well… or show a great performance at work… Ugh I don’t think I can share it easily…”

"…"

Hey this.

It seems that Sun Ah-hyun thought that Keun Se-jin and I were handling some grandiose and complex behind-the-scenes work.

And I think he thought he wasn't trustworthy enough so he didn't share it even though it was a group issue.

For a moment I looked back at Sun Ah-hyeon's recent actions and suppressed my sleep.

'So… did you actively participate in that effort?'

Now the puzzle is finally falling into place.

'Damn it.'

It's twisted.

I put pressure on the hand that was trying to press my forehead and lowered it.

'This… is because I was buried.'

Because of this guy's secret incidents from Ryu Cheong-wu to Keun Se-jin broke out so his brain was fixed in that direction.

If you want to hear something from me of course it will be my secret.

"…"

okay. Then again… there is no need to tell Seon Ah-hyeon about my identity.

'He can't even guess.'

It's a good time to bring up label or media issues and gloss over them with appropriate lies. Sun Ah-hyun will probably let that go.

'…but is it still okay?'

I clenched my fists.

But from now on whenever I deal with system-related work I'll leave this guy out. Don't you feel more deceived from that guy's perspective?

If that was going to happen I should have just not said anything.

'At that point I have nothing to say even if I'm told to lie.'

It would be better to make it clear that it is not a work-related problem but that it is a personal matter and you cannot talk about it. Because there was a misunderstanding between us.

Sun Ah-hyun might be a little disappointed but the matter will be resolved from there anyway.

'The problem is.'

The thing is… I don't want to do that.

It's funny though.

"…"

I opened my mouth half impulsively.

"That… wasn't a work issue. "I never thought you couldn't work in the first place."

"Huh?"

"It's just my problem."

I swallowed. Somehow I feel a bit uplifted.

“I wasn’t originally a Park Mun-dae but now I’m living in a Park Mun-dae.”

“…??”

“I couldn’t talk about it so I just kept quiet.”

“…Huh?”

I began to explain to Seon Ah-hyeon what had happened so far just as I had told Eun Se-jin.

“A few years ago I woke up and found myself in someone else’s body.”

However after saying it once the sentences come out in a more organized tone…

‘…This really isn’t something you would do with your right mind.’

“So to my eyes it’s like a kind of hologram…”

“Phew!”

“…If you smile one more time I’ll send you out.”

“Huh? It’s my room but the door handle has to go out… I’m sorry. “I received that doll from a fan. Please take care of yourself Mr. Moondae.”

I came across a few crisis sections where I desperately needed a drink but I managed to catch the big line and get through it safely.

‘I’ll talk about Gold 2 and Cheongnyeo later if I need to.’

There was no need to tell a story that was too complicated and varied to someone who had no clue at all.

I finished the story by receiving several supplementary explanations from Geun Se-jin.

"…So I'm just doing well right now."

"…"

I finished it… but there was no response.

I opened my mouth again in some haste.

"I couldn't say it easily because it was such an unrealistic story. "I was half-caught by this guy."

"that's right. "I'm also very perceptive~ Park Moon-dae wasn't going to tell anyone but in fact I found out everything?"

"…"

And when I raised my head I saw Sun Ah-hyun's blank face.

The guy came out a few times looked back at Big Sejin and then lowered his gaze slightly.

"…I see."

"okay."

And there is silence.

"…"

"…"

Longer than expected… longer.

'…? why.'

You don't even ask questions.

By the time cold sweat started forming on the back of my neck.

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth again.

But the person I was talking to was not me.

It's a big hit.

"…over there. "Have you heard this story before Sejin?"

"that's right. "It's not that old… it's not even a few months."

"How… did you think? "I heard it first."

"hmm?"

Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

"There's no reason for Mundae to lie about something like this right?"

"…!"

"Because there was a literary school that I had seen so far… I just thought it was like that."

"…"

Seon Ah-hyeon bowed her head again at Keun Se-jin's words.

'What are you thinking?'

Why are you doing this without even asking me about the content? No of course it's quite shocking… but.

I bit my tongue.

‘Stop making unnecessary assumptions.’

Of course you might be curious about what the person who heard the story first thought.

still…

I opened and closed my hand a few times then let it go and opened my mouth.

“If it’s hard to believe…”

But this sentence was not finished.

Because Sun Ah-hyun answered.

“Oh no. “I believe it.”

“…!”

The guy raised his head and smiled faintly with a slightly tired look on his face.

“Yeah… that’s right. “Of course I know that Moon Dae is not the kind of person who would lie about something like this.”

“It must have been very difficult… Mundae. “Until now… you’ve had a hard time.”

For some reason I was speechless.

Only after clearing my throat a few times was I able to answer calmly.

“So you made a lot of money and did well. “Then that’s it.”

“Ugh…”

Sun Ah-hyun answered quietly.

“But… if you’re having a hard time please tell me.”

“The school must be very reassuring right? These two are backup~ Oh Chungwoo hyung knows something too.”

“…Your wife Cheongwoo too…?”

“Oh that guy has some family circumstances…”

I confirmed that Seon Ah-hyun was listening intently to what Eun Se-jin was explaining.

Concentration has returned to his face.

“…”

It’s okay… is it over?

Big Sejin joked as he finished his explanation.

“For no reason have we been the same age since ‘Azusa’. In the end it’s just the two of us who know everything about Mundae’s situation. Take care Mundae.”

I found it funny in the end too. And after thinking about it for a while I reached out my hand to Sun Ah-hyun.

“Yes please take care of me. “Ahyeon.”

Sun Ah-hyun held her hands slightly trembling.

It was a bit cold but it had power.

“…Ugh!”

And the joy I saw in his eyes when he answered that question was obvious. That’s it.

The next day Seon Ah-hyun's attitude did not change and I… I think I was somewhat relieved.

* * *

And a few days later.

A slightly unique schedule has returned.

"Well tomorrow is the day we go to Yonhee University."

"Oooh!"

It was a college festival schedule that returned after nearly two years.

The price was so high last year that I've been going there consistently since my debut.

He is from 〈Azusa〉 and his music has been good since his debut song so he has gained public recognition at a level where even regular college students can listen to it and enjoy it.

And the university festival performance was quite a fun event so everyone responded well.

"Oh~ It's been a long time. "Sounds fun right?"

"I know. "That's an outdoor concert hall right?"

Thanks to this the conversation started like this and after a few minutes it moved on to talking about the university itself. Well it always happens when you chat in the car.

"…If I get a chance later I would like to at least audit the class."

"okay. "I don't regret completing a cyber university in order to combine it with work but I am still curious about other options."

And Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“I had a scholarship and came to Korea. “It’s truly amazing!”

“and.”

“That is truly amazing.”

No one will be able to refute this. Because Raebin Kim is also nodding his head.

“Why did you do that?”

“Well is dancing fun? [It’s just that. I wanted to do that.]”

And it’s okay to say that I got a scholarship because I did so well.

I who had been supporting my living expenses as a data seller while maintaining my scholarship now find myself working a job that is completely unrelated to my major.

“brother! “Have you thought about going to college?”

“Not really.”

I don’t want to go there twice.

When I thought about that something occurred to me about being forced to go twice… this time I might actually go on active duty but I gave up for now.

‘after… ’

I envy gold medalists and foreigners.

“OK~ Just take a look at our campus! “It’s possible if you do it secretly!”

“Well… when the time comes.”

Even as I listened to Cha Yu-jin's ridiculous words I checked the college festival on the schedule list feeling quite strange.

There was one reason.

"Isn't this the university you graduated from Moon Daemun University?"

"…uh."

When Cha Yu-jin stopped tapping my shoulder from the backseat Eun Se-jin said this.

This is the university I went to.

'Is this my first time in this body?'

There was no need to go here.

And this agency only charges high fees for university events and puts places close to other events on a first-come first-served basis.

But this time it seems that this school raised the most money and the fastest.

'It's a great way to spend the kids' tuition.'

Those guys with a lot of money raise tuition every year.

I wiggled my eyebrows and flipped through the schedule. Se-jin was next to me and he bowed to Seon-ah-hyun who was sitting on the other side.

"Ahyun ahyeon~ I heard this is the university I went to for the College of Arts and Sciences."

"…that. I see."

Sun Ah-hyeon asked me carefully.

“How do you… feel?”

“…Well it’s just like that.”

I chuckled.

“It’s been a long time since I graduated and the campus has been renovated so I’m honestly not that impressed.”

Big Sejin grinned.

“All right. “Big brother.”

“…”

Stop it you bastard.

“Hehehehe…”

I held back a sigh while listening to Keun Se-jin shaking his shoulders and suppressing laughter. Sun Ah-hyun smiled awkwardly.

‘Well… anyway all you have to do is perform well on stage.’

It was the first Korean event in a long time. I cracked my neck.

Our role is the ending.

I was in a position where I could sing an encore three or four times if time allowed.

‘I don’t think there will be any spare time to fill it all.’

But as always things did not go as expected.

Chapter 351

Wow!!

The sound of music and cheers was deafening.

Cha Yu-jin who checked outside whistled.

“Wow there are so many people here!”

“Oh~ I see. “It’s really powerful.”

It’s not like I’ve seen a large audience for a day or two but it was definitely a spectacle to see people of the same age singing and running in unison all dressed in the same colors.

It’s mind-boggling to think that I’ll be standing in front of you and performing in as little as 30 minutes.

“Our turn is 3 teams behind. “Do you have enough time to warm up?”

“yes!”

“I’m so glad it arrived within the expected time.”

“that’s right. “Wow thank you for your hard work Manager~”

The manager sighed in relief and started running around to talk to the person involved.

We sit in the space created as a waiting room relax our necks and bodies and wait.

‘Was there a place like this?’

I didn't even know that a space like this existed because I wasn't that interested in festivals when I was in school. No even if I had known I would never have entered a place like this.

Anyway just perform well.

University festivals are actually just events but there are a lot of people who secretly look forward to them.

'Is it because it can be used as a measure of popularity?'

Fancams are also quite popular.

In fact I was impressed when I saw the lineup that was persistently kept secret until this morning.

'I don't know who pushed for it this time but they were determined not to create ticket scalpers.'

Of course it seems like the van was discovered the moment we got here.

-Testa??? Testa?

-Is this really a car?

ㄴㅇㅇ Fans agree

-It's crazy. What is this year's lineup? Did they even sing a testa?

-Ticket prices go up in real time wow.

At the same time there were legitimate posts asking people to lower their tuition if they had the money but it doesn't matter because it's not an insult to us. I don't even have a diploma anymore so I'm happy to know.

Still you should get your money's worth.

“Hyung Moon do you need to drink some water before stretching?”

“are you okay.”

“Give it to me!”

“Cha Yujin you’re sitting closer to the water than me!”

It’s still the same.

I continued stretching while the two guys were warming up by fighting.

For your information Seon Ah-hyun right next to me is steadily warming up her muscles in order from the largest to the smallest.

I saw it every time.

You do it like breathing.

It’s only natural that he’s been doing that since he was half as tall.

Hmm maybe I should have learned something.

“Ahyeon.”

“Huh?”

“Can you tell me the order of that?”

“Of course…!”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face brightened in an instant.

‘…That much?’

For some reason it reminds me of the time when I learned the choreography in “Azusa”.

I half-willingly followed the stretching recipe. This is because Sun Ah-hyun taught me too hard.

'This guy would have made a living even if he was a teacher.'

"Lastly… back to the whole body."

"hmm."

I finished the last move cleanly.

Is this really okay? I will have to continue like this in the future. I should have found out sooner.

"thanks. "This is good."

"…"

However Sun Ah-hyun did not respond for a long time and then suddenly opened her mouth.

"I… it's a radish radish."

"why"

"…Oh no."

Sun Ah-hyun smiled faintly.

"Well… I wanted to tell you that we should work hard together today as well."

"…okay."

I didn't think I'd talk about that.

I kept my mouth shut.

‘…Isn’t it awkward as expected?’

You may have many thoughts about the fact that I am actually older than you are.

‘…for no reason.’

No let’s stop thinking.

Since I have to work I just think about work for now. I stopped guessing and got up.

“Let’s get ready!”

And after a while.

The outdoor stage that we jumped onto was already sweltering with heat.

Wow!!

Shouts were being made with already hoarse voices and people were rushing in from under the stage. A wave of people shaking behind it.

It’s so excessive that it’s almost wild.

‘Is this what it felt like?’

It is also a unique experience to see such a large community rather than just fans shouting passionately.

No there are fans too.

Park Moon-dae!!

I chuckled at the sight of a few brave people holding cheering sticks.

As soon as I came up I sang last year’s grand prize song ‘Promise’ and the atmosphere was very good. This is why it is easy to hold an event if there is a popular song.

‘It’s also fun to listen to people singing along.’

There is even a guy who performs while listening with one side of his head down.

And the moment the promised final accompaniment ended we stood upright with a tearful shout.

And a hand microphone is handed out.

“Take your star! Hello this is Testa!”

Wow!!

After bowing to Liu Chengwu who was out of breath the talk began softly.

“I’m really happy to meet the wonderful students of Yonhee University today…”

But Liu Chengwu looks at this and suddenly laughs.

‘What is it?’

And naturally he puts on the microphone.

“…??”

“How do you feel?”

Hey… even this bastard makes fun of people.

Suddenly I opened my mouth and held back a sigh as I was about to share my feelings about coming to my alma mater.

“It’s passionate and I really like it. “Of course blue is a cooler color than red.”

And raise your thumb.

‘These are the rules of the country.’

Mentioning the school’s representative colors and saying that it is better than rival schools.

I know everyone is like this anyway but when they go to the next neighborhood they change their attitude and say that red is good.

Argh! Gaaaak!

Good response.

Liu Chengwu smiles and takes the microphone to speak.

“So we also prepared a song where blue beats red.”

“Please focus on the movements of us and the dancers and enjoy them~ Let’s go to the next song!”

Big Sejin waves his hand and takes a seat. This is the prelude to this title.

I went in without missing the introduction.

“There’s a crying voice over there.

Look away more than usual. There are dozens of cameras immediately visible.

The smartphone light.

“The leader who appears first!”

Argh!

The reaction is also good when the high notes explode. I ran around the stage making big moves.

The momentum does not decrease until the next song and the next song.

Both us and the audience.

“Whoa.”

“thank you!”

There are 3 songs under contract. But since we had enough time we did one more encore. It’s good that there are so many songs so there’s no pressure.

“another?”

“do! Let’s do it!”

The next encore song was 〈Black Hole〉 which was the movie OST.

Since you can sing while walking it is easy to distribute your stamina and it is well known so the response was good.

‘It’s a success.’

I felt it intuitively.

I think I got a good score with this school festival event.

Maybe it’s because things have been falling into place these days but I don’t have a very negative feeling about it.

Even if it’s not me the excited guys next to me are filming tomorrow morning and they’re singing the next song.

“Whoa shall we do one more song? Is there anything you want to hear??”

picnic! picnic!!

Magic boy!

Popular picks are pouring in. We laughed and listened to the sound.

‘It’s a ready-made sound source.’

After struggling a bit I decided to keep the shouts at a moderate level.

But suddenly Raebin Kim’s eyes light up.

“I… do you mind if I tell you something?”

“uh? then!”

“Since we are in college the audience is preparing to enter society so we thought it would be a good idea to sing our debut song too!”

Wow!!

Was this guy this talkative?

“…I agree!”

Was Bae Se-jin this active too?

I guess everyone was excited today. Anyway given the atmosphere there is only one correct answer.

“Then shall we do that?”

yes!!

“great! “Please give me the ‘Magical Boy’ song.”

The staff below the stage exchange autographs in response to Ryu Cheong-woo's powerful call.

Now if the 'Magical Boy' sound source plays like this…

-Oh oh~ Oh oh oh~

"…!"

"uh."

At that time a loud chorus of men and women comes out of the speakers.

A slightly low-pitched exaggerated band sound that borrows melodies from famous classical music.

It's definitely not the sound of the music box from 'Magical Boy' Jeonju.

I knew it right away.

'You played it wrong.'

We played the cheering music first after we finished the ending.

"…Hmm."

In short it's an accident.

'That's possible.'

This is a common accident that occurs at events.

The problem is that about 7 seconds have passed and the sound still hasn't turned off.

'It looks like there's an uproar downstairs.'

The moment we all freeze in embarrassment it sets the mood for an encore.

My smartphone is fully installed now but it doesn't work.

'Let's at least wave our hands.'

Pretend to enjoy it.

I noticed the people around me laughing and dancing to the rhythm and then I raised both hands to do something similar.

And suddenly I realized.

'If that's the case I'd rather… '

Shouldn't it be like this?

I went forward and picked up the hand microphone I had placed on the floor.

"…?"

And then he opened his mouth to the chorus.

[Wake up! Portrait moving forward! Woowoowoo~ Our voices!]

Old-fashioned cheer songs flow naturally.

Oooh!

'I didn't forget this.'

This is because every time I go to the library during this season I turn it on on the street.

'And the lyrics are taken from a poem.'

Actually the lyrics can be wrong. That is if only we could elicit a positive response.

[voice! voice! voice!]

I killed time with the members by singing in unison without overdoing it.

And around the end of the first verse the music finally turns off.

Wow!!

“thank you.”

It was fortunate. I don’t know verse 2. And laughter and applause poured out. The funny thing is that the members are doing the same thing.

“I enjoyed the encore cheers~”

“awesome!”

…Well I think it was good agility.

* * *

“oh my god!”

“That was a great ad-lib bro!”

As we entered the dorm at night on the way home the members added one more thing. Actually I’m a little bit pricked by my conscience because I’m just using it as background knowledge.

Bae Se-jin mutters softly.

“I know trot well…”

"…"

Even if you understand it that way… Isn't it strange that there isn't much wrong with it?

And the guy who knew the situation only stabbed me when people had dispersed to their rooms.

"Mundaemundae!"

Stop it.

"Surely you just learned it by actively participating in such events? A cheering song?"

Is that possible?

"There is an OT who saves up money when he is a freshman and teaches only that."

"really??"

"uh."

Sejin burst into laughter.

"hey."

"I'm sorry! No I imagined it… Ah hmm."

And even Ryu Cheong-wu who was standing quietly next to him made a noise.

"greatness!"

He keeps harassing people like he's not even that bastard.

'Do whatever you want.'

Anyway I uploaded one thing while trying to sort things out so it went well.

“Ah~ Thanks to Mundae we will be uploading popular videos again~”

And Big Se-jin even caught Sun Ah-hyun who was slipping into a corner.

“Ahyun did you hear? “I heard that I learned this separately from the university.”

“…”

But Sun Ah-hyeon did not look back.

“Um Ahyeon?”

“…Ugh I heard you…”

Sun Ah-hyeon did not turn around this time but she answered.

But the voice quieted down. And his shoulders shake as if he is out of breath.

‘now… ’

It feels strange.

It was the moment I was trying to speak.

Sun Ah-hyeon stumbled.

“…!”

“Ahyeon.”

“…Wook.”

The sound of holding one's breath or gasping.

'…Hyperventilating?'

And in an instant Sun Ah-hyun stumbled and ran.

"…!!"

bang!

To the entrance bathroom.

"Seon Ah-hyeon!"

I reflexively followed and grabbed the doorknob.

thud!

…locked.

why?

I can hear the guy running next to me shouting.

"Ahyeon? Sun Ah-hyun! Are you okay?"

All I could hear was the sound of retching.

"Mundae get out of the way. "Let's destroy it."

"Watch out."

Cha Yu-jin runs out of nowhere and violently slams herself against the door.

bang! bang!

Ting…

And the door opens with the sound of the doorknob being removed.

When I opened the door I saw the back of Sun Ah-hyun with her face pressed into the sink.

My head is soaked from what I did in the meantime.

“Seon Ah-hyun where are you in pain?”

“Gu… I’m calling an ambulance!”

“Wait a minute the child’s condition right now…”

I walked into the bathroom and tried to tap the guy on the shoulder as he stood at the sink.

My shoulders suddenly slump.

“…!”

And I hear a small voice.

“I’m sorry… Mundae. “I’m really sorry…”

“…!!”

why…

“…”

“Guys wait a minute…”

Behind my back I could vaguely hear Liu Chengwu taking out the others.

And I stood there as if I had been struck by lightning.

“…what.”

As soon as I said that word the words exploded like a dam burst.

“Baba baro! “I should have told you… but I couldn’t because I liked being with you like that… ah I felt relieved…”

“…”

“I thought about you and really should have said it for you but it’s okay.”

Sun Ah-hyeon turned her head.

His face had turned completely white.

“You need to get dental treatment. Counseling… Now is not the time for you to be active… It’s getting worse… No I shouldn’t say it like this… I should say it properly…”

“…”

“I’m sorry… I don’t trust you… and I can’t help you…”

Sun Ah-hyeon’s face turned blue and she started panting again.

And I had seen that face.

-Oh hello…

daydream.

This was Sun Ah-hyun’s condition when I who was meeting her for the first time brought her to Letty.

‘ah.’

I almost reflexively brought up its status window.

Past the grandiose stat section where A and S intersect… underneath.

Special item.

Trait: Guts (disabled)

!Status abnormality: lack of self-esteem

Status abnormality.

[Lack of self-esteem]

You despise yourself.

All abilities decreased by two levels

And then I realized.

That I… did the right thing.

Chapter 352

The festival is over.

The Internet was flooded with various reviews and certification photos of Testa.

Reactions are pouring in from the university community as well.

-How dare you sing a cheering song there and encourage people to sing along? Let's make Park Moon-dae an honorary performer.

□Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Hey there is testimony that the manager tried to cry under George Go during the 3-song encore of King Star.

-They paid the right ransom. I liked their business ethics.

reputation. reputation. reputation.

A fancam appears and comments appear.

-The live is crazy this is what happens

-Let's do a water bomb… This is absolutely not selfish.

-I hope there will be a lot of fancams for this activity song. It's overwhelming because it gives me a sense of realism. ㅠㅠ

I hope I leave a lot behind.

It may be possible to schedule tomorrow but this cannot be guaranteed.

If you scroll down further there is also an ad-lib video of me picking up a hand microphone and singing a cheering song.

-A video shouting that this is an idol

-Your quickness is really crazy.

Quickness?

If doing what you know is quickness then even a dog should be called a tiger.

Park Moon-dae is the kind of person who benefits from information differences and wipes his mouth. The head doesn't work well in a crisis situation.

A really quick-witted bastard would have said something different there.

therefore. In Seon Ah-hyeon's words.

-…

-I'm sorry…

-No no.

Instead of just repeating words like a kid who doesn't even know his native language.

So instead of standing there dumbfounded until the guys who eventually came back pulled Seon Ah-hyeon and me out of the bathroom.

At that time I would rather…

'stop'

Quit unproductive families.

Move on to the next situation and think again.

And I… I think I came into my room but Sun Ah-hyun went to her room… I guess.

‘maybe.’

Didn’t take it outside. This would mean that he could still be in his dorm and that his condition had calmed down.

I pressed my face with both hands. My brain felt frozen. My head doesn’t turn…

Roll your head.

Don’t neglect your duties when that’s all you can do.

Why did things turn out like this… no. You shouldn’t say that.

‘Why did you create this shit situation you bastard?’

I gritted my teeth.

If you ask me where I started doing such crazy things…

Of course from the beginning.

‘I shouldn’t have thought of talking in the first place.’

Is this sane?

If you predicted that you would be taken to a mental hospital if you tell them you should have kept your mouth shut. What kind of mentality did you have to say such unrealistic things out of your mouth?

‘Because someone else trusted me? You’re generalizing from just one example you idiot.’

I should have been relieved and moved on if it worked after I was caught and explained. Why are you talking to someone who doesn't know anything?

Is there any objective reason to accept this crazy nonsense? Was this something you wanted to talk about?

"Useless…"

Didn't the situation end up like this because I did something stupid?

'Seon Ah-hyeon's condition is abnormal… '

What on earth are you going to do with this situation being activated again?

"…"

Is it enough to just know the cause? Now that I know you did something fucking stupid I thought you would find a fundamental solution…

'shut up.'

I covered my mouth. The teeth press down on my grip.

Let's stop doing useless things and look at reality again rationally.

'What to do.'

…somehow. Seon Ah-hyeon's status abnormality must be deactivated again.

The reason Sun Ah-hyeon has been able to deactivate status ailments so far is thanks to her characteristics.

'Guts.'

[Guts (A): You create your own mindset. Burn your concentration and press down on the negative state.]

– Offset one status ailment (highest priority) when activated.

However this trait… was deactivated because of the bullshit I was talking about and the status abnormality returned.

I clenched my fists.

‘late… ’

Previously I persuaded Sun Ah-hyun with my own characteristics.

-Just think ‘I’m going to accomplish this.’

Sun Ah-hyun was convinced by my words and decided to focus only on the task in front of her right now.

But there is no way my words are persuasive now.

Because I was the one who confused him so he couldn’t concentrate on his work.

You might already think I’m crazy but there’s no way it would work…

“…”

My brain is blank.

‘There’s something you can do… ’

How to persuade.

Just like before…

I reflexively brought up my status window. Then a pop-up appears as if you had been waiting.

[brother…]

Big moon.

There are no other words. The pop-up seems to be shaking… I wonder if it looks that way because I'm addicted.

Anyway how is it?

I muttered in a subdued voice.

"Trait… Is it possible to pick it again?"

It's a trait that can persuade anyone.

"…"

The status window did not move.

And only after a while does the small text appear.

[no.]

ah.

Yeah I thought so.

[sorry…]

"There's nothing to be sorry about."

Why do I apologize every time I say bullshit? Is there any manual?

Why would I even do something like this…

[It's not your fault bro. Not really.]

"That's right."

It wasn't something that forced me to do it; it happened because I had a problem with my mental head.

I lost my ability to judge.

Other than that there is no other conclusion…

dripping.

"Mundae."

someone is calling

When I turned my head I saw Liu Chengwu's face cautiously entering the room.

"Ahyeon calmed down and is okay."

"…"

"You said you wanted to be alone but… I'm sorry I wanted to come in."

Liu Qingyu walked over with an embarrassed look on his face and gently sat down on his bed.

I want to stop hearing apologies.

"It's my brother's room but it's his heart."

"…Um okay."

And there was a short silence. Liu Qingyu then opened his mouth again.

"Mundae. "It's natural to want to tell someone about your situation."

okay. And the fact that you're really talking stupidly is a different matter.

“It was just a matter of timing now so don’t think too much about it. Okay.”

“…”

I was the one who chose that timing.

But there was no answer.

dripping.

Someone else came into the room.

‘It’s big.’

The guy closes the door he entered in again and as soon as he understands the situation he immediately speaks with a stern expression on his face.

“Park Moon-dae. This is my fault. Sorry.”

“…”

I feel like throwing up.

“How can this become your fault?”

“Because I instigated it.”

What is that guy saying now without changing his face at all?

“I made a mistake because I thought Ahyeon would naturally trust me.”

“…”

“You seemed so nervous when you talked to me so I was hoping you wouldn’t be that way this time. I crossed the line. “You just did your job.”

“no.”

I pressed my temples.

“It was I who spoke. “Stop it.”

“So that…”

Big Sejin opened his mouth as if he wanted to say something more but immediately closed it.

I was grateful for that. It felt like my head was going to break already.

“It’s not anyone’s fault that’s how the situation turned out so both of you stop.”

Liu Chengwu intervenes and cleans it up. I can’t agree but I thought I would.

But I couldn’t say the next words like that.

“But… it’s Mundae. “How about we take a short break?”

“…”

what.

“I’ve been active for over two weeks so it’ll be okay to take a few days off now. From the agency’s perspective it’s okay if everyone wants to come down with the flu or body aches.”

A soft and cautious voice continues.

“Shall we take a break and regroup?”

Reorganize.

The choice to stop being active.

"…"

If I have a conscience and think about Sun Ah-hyun's condition I have to agree.

Considering the insane live difficulty level of the current title the decline in Sun Ah-hyun's abilities will be immediately noticeable.

Then isn't it obvious what you will hear? It causes all kinds of criticism and controversy.

'It's right to rest.'

If I were sane I shouldn't be talking about working here.

but…

I turned my head and looked at the pop-up status window that I had not yet turned off.

When you rest… this guy.

[Brother please take a break and give yourself a break… please.]

There isn't much left now. If we don't make a record with this activity it will die. Go back to the status window.

But this bastard tells me to rest even though he clearly knows that…

"…this."

I feel like my brain is going to explode.

Fuck there's so much to think about so much to process… What on earth is this…

The words came out suddenly.

“later.”

stop.

Don’t say things that can’t be done. There is no later.

I have a schedule even in the early morning. There are less than 4 hours left. Even now we need to make accurate decisions quickly. Efficiently…

“Mundae.”

Someone grabbed my shoulder.

Liu Chengwu.

“Then let’s take off our schedule for at least three days. No problem for three days. There are a lot of pictures already taken. Okay Park Moon-dae?”

“…”

I nodded.

I don’t know what you can do with it though. Like that.

* * *

Living room at the same time.

Kim Rae-bin was suffering while holding in her hand the hot tea that Sun Ah-hyun often drinks.

“Anyway… I have to say that something happened between the two of

you.”

Cha Yu-jin shook her head. His dear friend had great talent as an artist but he was terrible at this problem.

So I spoke honestly.

“Everyone knows. Raebin Kim.”

“…”

Instead of getting upset Raebin Kim nodded with a somewhat gloomy look.

The situation was that serious.

‘It’s really crazy.’

Sun Ah-hyeon looked almost like a self-destructive sleepwalker while Park Moon-dae looked like he was in shock. Because I had to support myself halfway to the bed.

Cha Yu-jin honestly couldn’t understand why the situation had become like this.

I think they both said they were sorry.

So doesn’t that mean there are no bad feelings towards each other?

But at the same time I understood the situation rationally.

‘Well it seemed like everyone didn’t have many friends.’

He has often seen relationships where people put so much importance on each other that they end up causing problems.

They were really clumsy people. That sincerity was also the charm of these team members.

‘Hmm… my brother is like that too.’

He saw Bae Se-jin stumbling and sitting in the living room with a defeated look on his face.

“I… Why can’t I speak like this?”

It seemed like my attempt to speak kindly to Sun Ah-hyeon failed.

He nodded feeling somewhat sorry.

“I speak well. “I will tell you and come back.”

“Now wait a minute.”

Originally I was going to go first to help Moon Dae cheer up but wouldn’t it be more difficult if he needed advice in addition to comfort?

‘I have to go to that place.’

Cha Yu-jin shrugged and confidently knocked on Kim Rae-bin’s room that is Sun Ah-hyun’s room and entered.

Seeing that no one tried to stop him it seemed like he made the right choice!

“Brother I’m going in…”

“…”

Creak.

When I opened the door and went in I saw Sun Ah-hyun sitting on the bed in front of the moonlit window.

As if my soul had escaped

He had a stiff posture and a pale complexion. It looked more like ruins than people.

That was at least possible thanks to the sedative.

“Hyung are you okay?”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded her head very slowly. Perhaps because of the drug his eyes seemed unfocused.

“Are you feeling okay?”

silence.

Cha Yu-jin sat down next to him and got straight to the point.

“Can’t you say anything to me? “Is it Moon Dae-hyung’s secret?”

“…!”

Sun Ah-hyeon turned her gaze. Only then did it look a bit like a person. Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“Everyone has secrets. “I know even if you don’t listen!”

Well isn’t it strange that people have no secrets in their lives?

And whether or not to share those secrets was just an option.

Does sharing a lot of secrets make your relationship closer and better? Do you really know that person better?

Cha Yu-jin didn’t think so.

‘If it doesn’t happen naturally it just becomes a weight.’

Maybe this was the situation right now.

[Anyway my brother heard the secret and some kind of problem arose from there.]

Seon Ah-hyun still didn't move a muscle but she muttered softly.

"I ruined myself."

"Then fix it."

"…!"

[Don't think I'm saying this lightly but I don't think you're offended by Moon Dae.]

Cha Yu-jin glanced at Sun Ah-hyeon.

[Then it will be easier to sort things out if you think about getting some sleep right now and talking with a clear mind to fix it.]

The advice was to relax and avoid panic.

And the answer comes back.

"…Oh I know."

Sun Ah-hyeon muttered lowly in a cracked voice.

"…That's why I… can't do it."

"…!"

"Every time. "Because you know and you don't do anything…!"

Cha Yu-jin saw extremely clear emotions in Sun Ah-hyun's eyes as she said those words.

‘That’s… ’

It was self-hating anger.

Sun Ah-hyun also knew. Why don’t you know?

There’s nothing he can do about it right now so the only way to help the situation is to keep his mouth shut and sleep.

But I can’t do that. Because I’m anxious the fear of ruining everything dominates my mind.

Likewise I realized it at the moment I heard Park Moon-dae’s ‘Secret’.

‘no… ’

The past activities of Mundae.

Considering the extreme choices like memory loss and nightmares… this wasn’t usually a serious thing.

-I am not Park Mun-dae.

It seemed like a sign that the emotional wounds were spreading into identity issues.

And he knew that he was the best person to bring up the story to Moon Dae.

‘I have to do it.’

Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin are people who have overcome their own mental hardships. Little medical help was received.

So if they are healthy and have full faith in Park Moon-dae.

‘It was just me…!’

The only one who could properly tell him about the danger was himself and that was the only way he could help Moon-Dae Park.

Although I have thought and resolved countless times to become a helpful friend and colleague who fulfills my role…

'I couldn't do that.'

…No I didn't do it.

A precious relationship built on trust and intimacy could end with just one word.

Because that possibility alone was so scary.

'What if I'm the only one who hates you because you don't trust me?'

'Ultimately it means that the gate is strange. Then… it shouldn't be… '

'I'm going to feel bad… '

But as long as you keep your mouth shut you can continue to get along well.

Sun Ah-hyun clenched her hands so tightly that they turned white.

'For me it was more important to just be friends no matter what college I went to… '

Because of his neglect Mundae's symptoms became worse.

In the future if Mundae actually suffers great hardship while working and it becomes a situation that cannot be reversed…

'It's my fault.'

I had a hard time sleeping and was trying to gather information without showing that I was suspicious.

-Can’t I just trust it?

A state in which you want to somehow justify your self-justification even though you don’t really believe it.

Even though I knew everything there is one reason why I ended up not being able to do anything and ruined my work.

‘It’s because I’m the kind of person who can’t be helpful.’

There is no room for excuses.

Although he worries so much about what is good and what is right in the end he fails to do anything about what is truly precious and scary.

And unable to do anything about his weak spirit he poured it out on the other person in the worst possible way in the worst possible situation.

‘It’s not like I helped… ’

It’s just a wound. It was another wound to Mundae…

My throat was tight.

‘Don’t be in pain.’

Self-pity was also a luxury. Sun Ah-hyun suppressed her scream. Because crying and apologizing is not an indulgence.

“…”

Cha Yu-jin who was watching almost clicked her tongue which was unusual for her.

‘You look like some kind of ascetic medieval monk.’

The specific details were unknown.

I could see this atmosphere just by looking at it. Sun Ah-hyeon was in pain.

Still Cha Yu-jin decided to say what she had to say. In the end everyone has to come out of pain on their own feet.

Still you can give that person a stepping stone!

[hmm. all right. But this situation is a little different.]

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

[This time if you don't do it Dae-hyung Moon will do it.]

"…!"

[Because when something happens to this group he is the type of person who tries to solve it himself.]

Sun Ah-hyeon raised her head.

[He's that kind of brother. You know too right?]

Of course I knew.

[So this time it's not a matter of whether you do it alone or not.]

"…"

[Either the older brother acts or the older brother Moon Dae acts first. It's one of the two.]

Sun Ah-hyeon gritted her teeth.

then.

…then.

* * *

dawn.

“Let’s go Kong.”

Cheongryeo was walking down the street with his dog who finally returned last night.

Just my walking trail is still being used without any sightings or problems.

When I went out for a walk at the usual time I was happy to feel that everything was back to normal.

It’s funny that a routine that’s only been around for a few years is called that.

“hmm.”

He immediately wrote a text with a faint smile.

[I was discharged from the hospital]

You can send the photo you just took.

“Kong. here.”

“king!”

And he was about to take a picture of the dog’s smiling face.

I saw Inyoung sitting on the bench.

“…hmm.”

Thanks to the time zone it was rare but that didn’t cause any disturbance.

Because it was a person I knew.

“Junior.”

“…”

Dark bench. The black hood moves slightly revealing the contents underneath.

A familiar face.

Cheongryeo confirmed the pale complexion visible even under the mask. Meanwhile the voice heard is calm.

“…I have something to ask you.”

“…”

It was a very rare thing.

And since he has done this rare thing himself he made an equally rare decision.

“is it so? “Then let’s go in first.”

That’s how Park Moon-dae was invited to the VTIC dormitory.

In an impromptu way that would have been unexpected just yesterday.

Chapter 353

“Come in.”

“…”

Park Moon-dae wearing a black hood stumbled slightly and entered the entrance. Kongi groaned and circled around him.

The only sound that could be heard in the spacious and quiet accommodation was the dog’s howling.

“Beans are hands.”

Cheongryeo was trying to lift her dog who was already preparing to ‘finish the walk’…

‘hmm.’

I deliberately asked my companion.

“Can you help me?”

“…”

Park Mun-dae silently cleaned Kongi’s four paws prepared the meal and eventually even allowed the dog to rest its head on his leg.

‘I can’t come to my senses.’

When I thought I had crossed the line there was none of the usual reaction.

Cheongryeo placed the hot drink across from him and spoke casually.

“Did you fail?”

“…”

A hooded head raised its head. There is no particular backlash.

‘That’s right.’

It depends on what kind of failure it is but it probably won’t be work-related.

‘Then there’s no way I wouldn’t know.’

He did not miss his competitors’ trends.

Perhaps information would come to him faster than Park Moon-dae’s poor company would realize the problem themselves…

Cheongryeo looked at his competitor who was still wearing a mask and continued speaking.

“I heard you had something to say. do. “I will listen.”

“…”

Park Mun-dae looked down at the dog and spoke in a quiet voice.

“You said you explained the situation to someone else.”

“Of course.”

Oh I failed at that.

It seems that Park Moon-dae told someone about the situation again.

Since Park Moon-dae confided in Hana who appeared to be of the same age it is highly likely that he was the same age as the remaining Hana. That’s how relationship pressure usually works.

He could have said something like ‘I told you I didn’t recommend it’ but Cheongryeo omitted it.

Because I felt like I knew it well even if I didn’t have to.

“Excuse… I heard you have an excuse.”

“There is.”

I looked at him wondering if he was just asking for information rather than a deal or a threat but his junior didn’t seem to be in a state to make such calculations right now.

Really unusual.

Cheongryeo confirmed that the reason Park Mun-dae did not grab the cup in front of him was because his hands were shaking.

The sleeve fabric was shaking.

“…”

He is in a state of crisis as if he is incontinent and barely able to withstand a huge shock with only his outer form remaining.

Cheongryeo found traces of an unfamiliar very old version of herself in that appearance.

Just like I did a few times with Park Moon-dae in the past.

So I obediently opened my mouth.

“First I create a storyline similar to my own. “Find references in well-regarded best-selling novels or movies.”

Cheongryeo even found and organized appropriate examples by year.

Even if you make a mistake you shouldn’t reveal in advance the work that will be released in the future.

“I said that first in the interview. “Focus on keywords.”

”…”

“It’s like foreshadowing that I’m attracted to the concept.”

Then the member who heard his secret will later say something and pass it off as a joke or overindulgence.

It’s a way to take the public and throw away the relationship.

“It’s a way to neutralize the other person’s mouth. It’s effective. “Should I say it’s the same principle as a vaccination?”

However no words came out of the masked mouth.

Cheongryeo guessed somewhat unevenly.

‘Do you not like it?’

Park Moon-dae was sometimes overly emotional. Well it’s only natural since I only came back once.

Although Cheongnyeo was internally dissatisfied with it he offered another alternative.

“You don’t like it? Then just tell the other person directly that you made a mistake because you had a hard time working.”

“…!”

“At first it was a fantasy I had as a joke but I think I actually started to believe it myself… to that extent?”

Park Moon-dae raised his head.

Since this method focuses entirely on making the other person feel at ease in fact Cheongryeo herself has rarely used it except for the first few times.

‘Because there are variables and efficiency issues.’

This is because I was annoyed by sudden behavior even if it was only slightly insincere.

However it seemed like an appropriate method to Park Moon-dae.

Actually if you cared that much I didn’t think you would say anything insincere. Cheongryeo kindly added an explanation.

“Then I will believe it even if I see some loopholes. “It’s positive and not too different from the expected answer.”

Cheongryeo slowly finished speaking while looking at Kongi who was even giving Park Moon-dae his hand even though he was not called.

“Those types of people rarely change their minds.”

And laughed.

“You don’t want to be the wrong person right?”

“…”

“Give me the answer I want to hear. Then it will be resolved.”

In front of Cheongryeo steam was still rising from the drink that Park Mun-dae had not even touched.

And when Park Moon-dae finally made eye contact…

I was sure.

“no.”

this.

* * *

My head feels like mud.

Thanks to this I managed to fit into someone else's dormitory which was identical in structure to Testa's dormitory this early in the morning. I know it's not a funny situation.

However even though the head is like a worm's burrow so complicated that you don't know what to do with it one thing functions.

It is denial.

"no."

Cheongnyeo who was sitting across from me lowered her head to the side.

I feel like cold water has been poured into the mud in my head.

"hmm?"

"He… isn't that kind of guy."

That one thing could definitely be refuted.

'Sun Ah-hyun is a person who admits that she was wrong.'

To the point of being harsh.

He continued to live like that until now. While remaining conscious of my own trauma and shortcomings.

[! Status abnormality: lack of self-esteem]

With that condition in mind you continue to find and acknowledge your own shortcomings and points to improve.

To the point of excessiveness.

And try to overcome it.

[Attribute: Guts]

Its characteristics seemed to reflect that.

The mindset to overcome. And I try my best to make the right decision.

‘I’m not the kind of guy who can easily be convinced that I told him what he wanted to hear.’

So instead a problem arose.

I remember what Sun Ah-hyun shouted…

-I’m sorry… I don’t believe you… and I can’t help you…

“…He wanted to believe.”

“I guess so.”

“But I thought it was right not to believe it.”

“…”

“I didn’t come to a conclusion in a way that was convenient for me but I ended up in this situation because I was trying to find an uncomfortable answer.”

Because I… couldn’t explain it properly I misunderstood that mental illness was the correct answer.

‘…Actually your record was impressive.’

I smiled wryly as I recalled how I had dealt with everything from seizures to alcoholism.

…I don't know why I thought Sun Ah-hyun would believe it.

"So… I have no intention of using that method. It doesn't work. Because it's the opposite situation."

If it were Sun Ah-hyun she might think back on those words and realize that it was an appropriate excuse.

Then there is really no turning back.

"is it so? all right."

Cheongryeo nods as if there is nothing to regret.

"But… didn't you think it was a very presumptuous judgment?"

what?

"I…"

"No not your junior… him."

"…!"

"Didn't you get into trouble because you were convinced that the wrong answer was the right answer? "I don't know why you're trying to be so considerate…"

"…"

"Isn't it unfair?"

I clenched my fists.

But soon he relaxed his strength with a sigh.

"It's me who said the words and ultimately I'm the one who has to accept the reaction."

The words came out calmer than expected.

“It’s true that if someone spilled the beans even though they didn’t torture you you have to deal with it.”

“hmm.”

The guy across from me didn’t seem to agree very much but he didn’t object this time either.

“is it so. Cheer up. “If you don’t like it you can give up at any time.”

“Even if you leave Testa your life doesn’t end. “Isn’t that right?”

This kid seems to have healthier ideas than before…

‘Why does it sound like this?’

This is really annoying.

Besides my current situation is not the time to think about only that.

‘Someone other than me is going back to the status window you idiot.’

I gritted my teeth.

However even if I said ‘Anyway my junior won’t die… Well that’s right. all right’

I felt like I was going to make a noise about the same clothes exploding so I just kept my mouth shut.

And then I looked at him again.

‘This guy with poor empathy skills is so good at giving me counseling.’

I was sitting on the bench just in case to cool my head but I had no idea that I would come all the way to the dorm and be treated to tea.

‘…Is there any comparison?’

I was silent for a moment remembering that Cheongryeo was closed when I came to see the news about the dog being hospitalized.

No no matter what it’s different from just randomly coming to my house. Still let’s say what we have to say.

“Anyway… thank you for the advice.”

“You’re not going to perform it are you? haha.”

That’s my heart baby.

Anyway I started thinking again with a clearer mind than the night before.

‘First of all there were restrictions on testa activities… ’

…I should never let this bastard know. I would fucking love it.

“Do you want Kong to have a snack?”

“king!”

I silently closed my mouth as I watched the man expertly handling his dog.

In the end there is only one way to come back.

‘Seon Ah-hyun’s characteristics need to be activated again.’

Guts.

The surest way is to activate it again and cancel out the status abnormality.

But… even if I think about it again I don’t think my words will make sense.

'…I wonder if they'll even want to talk.'

I don't know they may have even listed recommended hospitals.

'stop'

I cut off any thoughts that were going in a useless direction.

In a productive direction.

'So someone else should do it not me.'

This means that the members should perform similar tasks that I did in Azusa.

"…"

Mobilizing helpers.

I got up and came up with a few ideas.

No I tried to get up.

"Kkiing."

Even if the dog didn't catch the person.

Cheongryeo's eyes narrowed.

"Kong is feeling sad. "It's okay to stay a while since I'm here."

At the dorm?

"What about your members?"

I heard that you're going to release an album before enlisting but why can't I even see you pulling out your nose?

"Personal schedule. Or because it's vacation."

I see.

It's not for nothing that dogs catch people.

I looked around again.

Well I don't want to observe in detail where other people live but… there were some things that caught my eye.

Photo frames and souvenirs that I received at the beginning of my debut are still placed in the living room.

"…"

For a moment I thought I took a picture of that and sold it… That's it. no way.

I turned my eyes to look at the guy and the dog across the road.

And impulsively I asked.

"Are you not planning on talking to the members right now?"

"yes."

There is no sign of concern.

"I'm curious as to why you said that junior. "There's no need to tell you right?"

"…"

That's my question too.

The thing is I don't know why I said that…

"I don't know. "I just… wanted to talk."

"…"

Whether you laugh at it or not I answered with half-giving up.

However Cheongryeo simply replied like this while stroking the dog's head.

"That could be true."

"…!"

"Because it would be frustrating."

Surprisingly a faint understanding emerges from his tone of voice.

"Aren't you frustrated?"

"Not really. Um… no it seems like it was like that before but people get used to it."

Cheongryeo takes his hand away from the dog and laughs softly.

"They say they are animals of adaptation right? "Your junior you will be fine soon."

"……"

My brain thinks it's bullshit. Strange… It's funny how it provides emotional comfort.

I finally answered with a sigh.

"…thanks."

“is it so.”

That guy is also holding my dog so I should take advantage of this opportunity and quickly get up.

I poured the cooled tea into my mouth and got up.

‘I didn’t even suspect that something was burning.’

I guess I’m not in my right mind yet.

When I shook my head and left the table.

Band-ring.

The doorbell rings.

I looked at the intercom without thinking. I was thinking that if I was from this company I would have to hide.

However the tall guy wearing a light mask seen on camera is…

This is Sun Ah-hyeon.

”…!!”

I reflexively took a step back. Why… are you here?

‘The thing that came to me… ’

Probably not. How could anyone know that I am here?

And there is no reason for you to come here yourself.

‘I haven’t received any contact from the company or members.’

I didn’t set it to silent and it never vibrated…

“…”

for a moment.

After checking my pockets which were somehow light I raised my eyes and looked at the intercom screen again.

One of the two smartphones in Sun Ah-hyun’s hand.

‘That apple case.’

It’s my smartphone.

“ah.”

And I figured out the situation. Now I… left that mess last night and crawled out in the early morning without any contact…

“We have a visitor since morning.”

…about 3 hours have passed.

Holy shit.

Chapter 354

A member who went out early in the morning without a smartphone during his active days and was out of contact for several hours.

What if the schedule was interrupted for three days just before that because of that bastard?

‘It turned.’

This is inexcusable insanity. I gritted my teeth.

‘Cha Yu-jin even left a note.’

Even if you didn’t see it there would have been an emergency at the dorm.

In extreme cases the story may have even reached the company…

‘…Damn it.’

I can’t believe I’m a fucking bomb.

I can already guess what kind of expression Sun Ah-hyun will have.

I gritted my teeth and looked at the intercom again.

Tiring.

Even Seon Ah-hyun is standing right in front of this front door not in front of the main door on the first floor. I don’t even know how this is possible.

So it’s even more confusing…

“You are a junior member. “Would you like me to open the door?”

“…for a moment.”

I looked at the front door and took a slow deep breath.

“I want to open it.”

“hmm? is it so.”

I left the guy who openly said ‘Why?’ with his expression and headed towards the entrance.

And then pulled the door open.

The guy on the intercom screen begins to appear through the gap in the door.

“…!”

Sun Ah-hyun’s face seen from the front is pale even though she is wearing a mask. However the moment the door opens the complexion changes.

…I was relieved.

Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head.

“You were here…”

I’m going crazy.

I barely opened my mouth.

“I didn’t know I left my smartphone behind. sorry. “From the morning.”

“…! Oh no. I…”

Sun Ah-hyun takes a deep breath and speaks without raising her head.

“Sorry…”

“…”

Looking at it it looks like I’ve been running around since dawn so what’s the point of being sorry?

“Because you made such a fuss… Mumundae may need some alone time… but I don’t know…”

“no.”

I want to stop hearing these damn apologies.

I suppressed those unreasonable sentiments and tried to answer as calmly as possible.

And it was ruined.

“It’s the person’s fault for disappearing without contact so let’s stop.”

“…”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun immediately closed her mouth. I wanted to bite my tongue.

‘You stupid bastard.’

Why do you answer like this? Are you taking medicine instead of saliva?

The silence felt like X.

At that moment an unimpressed voice intervened.

“I think Kong will mistake it for a walk so I hope you do at least one thing whether you come in or go out.”

king!

The sound of a dog barking echoes through the hallway. Sun Ah-hyun suddenly raised her head.

“…! I’m sorry. “Then… it’s a radish bite.”

No eye contact. Something similar to a smile appears on the man’s face which is covered with a mask.

“If you’re feeling better… please relax and come in… here.”

“…”

And the smartphone is carefully brought out in front of my hand. As if telling me to take it.

“Whew I think my phone needs some blood…”

I looked at the distorted apple pattern and clenched my fist.

And I accepted the smartphone.

“…I was just about to go back now.”

“…”

“I’m going out.”

“Uh huh…!”

I took my smartphone and headed out the door. Sun Ah-hyun hurriedly moves her feet to press the elevator button.

“Wow!”

And the dog ran out excitedly with the harness in its mouth… Why are you there?

“Kongi already misunderstood. “Thanks to my junior the walk ended up being short.”

“…”

“Kong wait a minute. “Let’s do this.”

I barely opened my mouth.

“sorry.”

“is it so.”

No I said it to your dog.

The elevator with three men in it with only one harness attached goes down in silence.

I opened my mouth first.

“How did you know I was here?”

Sun Ah-hyun shrinks slightly.

“C I checked the CCTV.”

“…!”

CCTV?

An unexpected and extreme measure emerged.

Normally this would require reporting to the police or going to the company… But that doesn’t mean Sun Ah-hyun didn’t say anything else.

‘no way?’

“Because it was urgent I earnestly asked you to do so… so you wrote a consent form and showed it to me…”

The subject is not plural.

Did this guy go all the way to the management office alone and ask for something like that?

I checked his feet. The shoes are crinkled and crinkled on my bare feet.

“…”

It’s not a very happy situation.

Nevertheless… I have a strange feeling about it even though I don’t like it.

‘But it looks like it’s not completely over.’

The level of tension that had risen to the very tip of my head lowers.

I answered quietly.

“So I found out that I was following this senior.”

“…Ugh.”

Sun Ah-hyun nods her head eagerly.

When you feel like the atmosphere has become a little softer.

“That’s strange… Did I ever mention a lake?”

“…!”

“No matter what I don’t think they would have even shown the inside of the building where they don’t live… That’s not possible. “Isn’t that right?”

The parties hit the nail on the head.

But Sun Ah-hyeon was not surprised.

“Yes yes… I heard about that after asking my senior at VTIC over the phone…”

“…”

“who?”

“This is senior Chae Chae-yul. Thank you for letting me know right away…”

“ah.”

I witnessed another disaster that could befall a guy about to join the military.

‘That’s too bad.’

Basically bad things come all at once. endure.

After that conversation Cheongnyeo split up on the first floor.

No matter how he feels he knows how to take care of his dog so he will walk the dog like this.

Still I did leave a word.

“Well I understand why you were worried. “That’s the type of person who has a lot of ups and downs.”

“…!”

“haha. It was an activity issue. “Then it’s definitely worth thinking about.”

‘This bastard… ’

The risk of Sun Ah-hyun’s stats declining was immediately recognized.

‘…It’s not like it got that trait for nothing.’

I once again recognized the characteristics of Cheongnyeo.

[Emotion (A)]

: There was little of value and there was a lot of trash.

-Human resources judgment +150%

‘…I’ll have to be careful.’

Meanwhile looking at the guy whose appearance stat had risen it looked like he was going to be doing more harm than good in the future.

Cheongryeo lowered her voice and stopped talking at that point.

“I wouldn’t change my advice.”

“yes.”

Something like that.

“Welcome in.”

I pressed my face and eventually answered.

“…I enjoyed my tea.”

“haha.”

Cheongryeo walked to the other side with the dog.

And silence came again.

Sun Ah-hyeon didn't ask why I followed Cheongryeo and she didn't even ask why I went outside at that early in the morning.

We closed our mouths and walked quietly along the other side of the walkway.

And surprisingly Sun Ah-hyun spoke first about another topic.

"…I found that Mumundae… is it okay if I contact you?"

"…If you go into the dorm right now won't everyone be there?"

How many people went to the police station?

For a moment the future almost turned dark but fortunately no reports were reported.

"Oh there's probably one… I'm just in case I come out alone…"

"…"

This guy seems to have acted alone without paying attention to his surroundings. And now it seems like she has come to her senses and Seon Ah-hyun lowers her head probably embarrassed even for herself.

I hesitated and opened my mouth.

"thanks. "For your concern."

"…! Oh no…"

Seon Ah-hyeon suddenly stopped walking.

Seeing that it's making a clogged sound… no way it's Una.

“Seon Ah-hyeon.”

But he didn’t cry.

Instead he continued speaking in a trembling voice.

“It’s radish. “This might be boring but… can I just say one thing?”

“…”

I nodded silently.

The words follow immediately as if they had been thought over and prepared several times.

“You… are a really great person and your art activities… you are really good at everything you do. Always… it’s never been that way. “I really…”

ah.

I remembered what he shouted yesterday.

-Now is not the time for you to be active… It’s getting worse…

He was crushing every negative connotation that could have been implied in that word.

“I… I said something wrong so… I was always good at Mundae…”

I stopped walking on the street in front of the accommodation with no one around.

I listened to him blankly. Sun Ah-hyun’s words were not finished.

“The problem is me.”

“…!”

“I know… I get swayed and have ups and downs on my own. “Every time… it was like that.”

what.

As if she had overheard Cheongnyeo’s words Seon Ah-hyeon slowly pronounced the sentence.

It was brutally objective.

“Because… I did that before too.”

He looked down at his feet as if he had already felt a similar sensation.

“Right now… I might be more awkward than usual… and that would be a nuisance to the team…”

Sun Ah-hyun finished her sentence in a calm tone typical of someone who has already reached a conclusion.

“Then… I can just announce that I’m sick.”

“Because it’s my own problem. “There’s no need to talk about anything else.”

Sun Ah-hyeon swallowed her saliva.

“And I will practice as much as I missed the schedule. W I will practice hard.”

The voice became increasingly desperate.

“Then to some extent it will be okay to play on stage. There will be no problem with the T-Team… Even if Mumundae doesn’t solve my problem… it’s okay.”

“…”

“Now honey this is what someone who needs to go to the hospital said so don’t pay attention to what you heard yesterday. Forget this…”

“that.”

Don’t say that.

However without even having time to say that Seon Ah-hyun hurriedly continued speaking.

“But it’s Mumundae. “It may feel bad but… just once.”

A trembling voice came out.

“Can’t I get some counseling?”

I turned my head.

Sun Ah-hyun trembled.

“I’m sorry. Let’s talk about this again…”

“…”

“And all. Next time I will definitely listen to the story properly… I will listen carefully to everything they say…”

Even though Sun Ah-hyun’s shoulders were shaking she never cried or screamed.

She only stammered but in fact a conclusion had already been reached within Sun Ah-hyeon.

-All conflicts are my fault and I take care of them myself.

Therefore Park Moon-dae requests that he re-examine his condition just once and look back with peace of mind.

“…”

I chose to say something a few times and then canceled it.

The calculations were a mess.

But I knew what conclusion I wanted to reach.

“You’re ready to listen to whatever I have to say.”

Sun Ah-hyun nods her head quickly.

And then he speaks again in a depressed voice.

“I asked you to tell me…”

“No that’s my fault.”

I continued speaking without hesitation.

Your conclusion is your conclusion and I have mine.

“It wasn’t a story anyone could believe. “When I thought about it again it seemed like a completely crazy story.”

“Mumundaeya…”

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to be holding back her tears.

I nodded seriously. My thoughts were naturally organized.

okay.

That was the source of my mistake.

“I should have said it properly so I had no choice but to believe it.”

“…Hmm?”

Let’s think about it.

Sun Ah-hyun is not the type of person who can intuitively come up with sparks or make leaps in logic.

This is a guy who sifts through a sieve to remove all impurities and contradictions and then leaves behind the correct answer that best suits the conditions and convinces.

‘We achieved success by doing that in this album as well.’

I know everything.

Then you should have explained it accordingly from the beginning.

Now it becomes clear.

‘This… is not a matter of trust or intimacy.’

It was a matter of timing.

And normally I would have taken all of those things into consideration and controlled the game but the problem was that I misunderstood that this guy believed me right away and lost control.

“I said I would listen. okay. “I’ll explain it again so listen.”

“…!! “That…”

This time it will be filled with witnesses and proof cases so that there are no gaps.

Then whether it is porridge or rice you will reach a conclusion without regret.

Chapter 355

“Park Moon-dae!”

“you…”

“Are you okay?”

As soon as Seon Ah-hyun and I entered the dorm we received a warm welcome from our housemates.

It’s right to yell ‘Are you crazy?’ but you’re worried that this guy may have gone crazy so you approach him cautiously.

I hit the player and hit him in the head.

“sorry. “I went out to think about it but I didn’t realize I left my phone behind.”

“ah…”

“Yes that’s right.”

My face looked pretty good and for a moment I felt a sense of relief.

Cha Yu-jin who was drinking cola answered cheerfully.

“OK~ I’ll tell you next time!”

“What is Okay! “Everyone was worried because you suddenly disappeared!”

Thank you for taking it to UGG.

Bae Se-jin looked back at Sun Ah-hyun with a red face.

“you also! “You should have told me what you were thinking… Sun Ah-hyun?”

“…”

“excuse me…”

“yes yes! I’m sorry. “I’m sorry for moving so carelessly without saying anything.”

“Oh yeah. “He… went through a hard time.”

Sun Ah-hyun came into the living room of the dorm with a mesmerized expression. And sat down on the sofa.

It seems like a big shock.

I said ‘I will inform you properly.’

Let’s see this guy’s reaction again right after he did it.

-That’s… that radish radish.

-He said he would listen to anything.

-… That’s right.

The words were positive but the face said ‘This isn’t right.’

Of course that’s why I gave him carrots.

-And no matter what the conclusion is this time I will definitely go get counseling.

-…!

-It’s okay to record this.

-Oh no…! Ugh thank you… Thank you Mundae…!

The guy who was shouting desperately was in a state of complete confusion when he arrived at the accommodation wondering if he had any worries or expectations. This is it.

I massaged my neck.

‘It won’t last long.’

I have to do it right now because I have time because I took off my schedule.

There can be no further damage to those involved.

‘If you take out three days of the activity period how much profit do you give up?’

In terms of settlement profits it was an amount that was already noticeable.

Moreover a battle of speed is essential to silence those who are raising rumors and talking about our condition.

‘hmm.’

At that moment someone who needs it speaks to me.

“Did you two have a good conversation?”

I looked at Liu Chengwu and nodded.

“yes. “I’m sorry you must have been surprised.”

Liu Chengwu smiled.

“okay. “That is correct.”

“The alarm went off in the morning but the phone owner was not there. ‘Everyone must have been three or four times more surprised than when Eugene disappeared.’

“yes.”

This is so embarrassing.

I was silent for a moment remembering the things I said when Cha Yu-jin disappeared. Liu Chengwu pats his back.

“great job.”

“yes.”

They give me a bottle and give me medicine. I endured it thinking about the karma I had created.

‘And the next one… ’

Big Sejin.

The guy was holding a smartphone next to Liu Chengwu and writing something.

He didn’t say anything when I came in earlier and he still doesn’t raise his head.

“…What are you doing?”

The guy muttered as he put down his phone.

“…um upload.”

ah.

I checked social media. A new post has been posted on the Testa account.

————————==

ㅠㅠI have a cold in this weather… I'm really sorry. We'll get better quickly and come find you. Don't worry Lover we're taking the medicine and feeling better!

————————==

It was a quick response.

"…thanks."

"what."

Only then did he grin and hit my shoulder.

"Are you feeling okay?"

"okay."

Actually what I wanted to ask wasn't that but what happened with Sun Ah-hyun and what I did when I went out at dawn.

'But it's shameless to ask.'

Isn't this the Joseon Dynasty royal court? There are so many people saying it's their fault.

'I'm glad I asked you to lend a hand instead.'

I held back a sigh and got to the point.

"But… I need your help."

"uh?"

"Brother Cheongwoo too."

“hmm? me?”

“yes.”

Should we start by pushing ahead with the quantity?

* * *

Sun Ah-hyun took a deep breath.

The roommate shouted ‘I hope you have a good night’s rest!’ and went to Bae Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin’s room with their electronic devices.

However Sun Ah-hyun’s head could not rest. I kept repeating my decision over and over again in my head.

‘You’re reacting properly this time.’

okay. Maybe this was an opportunity. A chance to alleviate the shock that Moon Dae would have suffered from his wrong reaction.

“Phew.”

‘First of all I’d like to say thank you very much for talking to me seriously… ’

After checking her reaction in her head a few times Seon Ah-hyeon planned to go to Moon-dae Park’s room at the appointed time to talk to him.

But I couldn’t.

dripping.

“I’m going in.”

“…!”

Park Moon-dae came to see us even before the appointed time.

And then we got straight to the point.

“I came a little early because I had something to set up. “Ravin please use the computer for a moment.”

computer?

“Let’s get started. “Raebin Kim asked me to tell you this.”

“Uh huh”

“Listen while you drink.”

Park Mun-dae who opened the door and came in held out the tea he was holding and placed a notebook and pen down in front of him.

‘Note…?’

And they began delivering information without stopping.

“I’d like to start with witnesses first.”

“…Zwitness…?”

Park Moon-dae paused for a moment and spoke in a slightly strained voice.

“…I didn’t tell you before because I was afraid it would confuse you even more but actually I’m not the only one who has returned to the past.”

“…??”

It was an unimaginable statement.

Sun Ah-hyun froze holding the tea in her hands.

However Park Moon-dae immediately began to bring out the people he had recruited.

“I’d like to start with witnesses first.”

“…Zwitness…?”

Park Moon-dae paused for a moment and spoke in a slightly strained voice.

“…I didn’t tell you before because I was afraid it would confuse you even more but actually I’m not the only one who has returned to the past.”

“…??”

It was an unimaginable statement.

Sun Ah-hyun froze holding the tea in her hands.

However Park Moon-dae immediately began to bring out the people he had recruited.

It almost happened.

[hmm.]

Cheongnyeo of VTIC. The senior colleague I had just met was smiling openly and insincerely.

[Wouldn’t it have been easier if we had done it when we met earlier?]

“yes. “Things have changed.”

[That’s so fast.]

After that Cheongryeo had a brief argument-like conversation with Park Moon-dae not sure if he was being sarcastic or laughing but he soon admitted it.

[that's right. I am the person who knew the future before Mr. Moon Dae… Mr. Moon Dae so Mr. Geon-woo is next.]

"…"

Is this really reality?

[My junior is actually older than me so he speaks informally to me. Didn't you hear it earlier?]

It's just… I thought it was something that popped up every now and then because we became so close to each other. And I was just a little jealous.

[It's fun to use polite language even though you say you're not recording.]

"It's noisy."

[haha!]

Cheongryeo concluded the appropriate assurance with a casual expression.

[I have a lot to pay back junior.]

"Go in."

[Oh my. I can't deny it.]

And then Cheongnyeo disappeared from the screen.

"after"

Park Moon-dae took a deep breath as if he was suppressing his irritation.

"He's an annoying guy but anyway… that's why I watch him sometimes."

“…”

And while he returned to operating the computer with a stern expression he added with a slightly proud tone.

“There is no manipulation. “It’s not my computer it’s someone else’s computer and you’ve probably seen that they don’t touch the storage media.”

“…”

“If you want you can go see it again in person now. Hmm I guess so.”

“Oh no.”

Sun Ah-hyeon responded reflexively.

But my mind was full of exclamation marks and question marks.

“Then let’s move on. This time there will be someone who is going through this strange situation after me.”

“Ugh…”

“Oh if you have any questions feel free to write them down in your notebook. “Because it doesn’t matter.”

“…”

So… you brought it with you?

Sun Ah-hyun reflexively grabbed the notebook but her limbs were creaking as if they were broken.

And when another familiar face appeared on the screen I screamed inside.

[Wow bro it’s been a really long time! How have you been?]

Heeseung Kwon.

It was the face of a junior who Park Moon-dae secretly referred to as ‘Gold 2’.

[This time I’m talking to Ahyeon… Hello brother.]

“Oh hi.”

Sun Ah-hyun pinched her thigh for a moment but it only hurt.

Kwon Hee-seung on the screen excitedly told about his experience – I saved a person fell in the Han River and came back to the past! – and even grumbled at Park Moon-dae.

[Hyung aren’t you collecting friends too much?? Are we a bit of a secret organization? Wasn’t it like that?]

“If it’s unfair you can say it too.”

[Well… our group isn’t in a position to do that yet…]

Kwon Hee-seung bitterly said things like ‘I tried to secretly tell my parents but they slapped me on the back to make me come to my senses’ and ended the call with a sigh.

For your information Sun Ah-hyun could not write a single word in her notebook.

“Well that guy is the one who returned to the past after me.”

“…”

“Actually the return on stocks I bought from the time that guy came back is about 15 times. “They say they’ll even show you a proof shot if you want.”

“…that.”

“For your information I am the only one whose body changed in this case. “There’s a reason for this.”

‘I heard you were being asked a question…!’

On rare occasions Seon Ah-hyeon internally refuted Park Moon-dae but Park Moon-dae ran like a runaway locomotive.

“So I called the person involved again.”

for a moment.

also?

Sun Ah-hyeon mentally gasped.

And I asked myself.

Is it possible to justify one’s mental world by involving so many stakeholders on such a vast scale?

That’s impossible…

‘No no.’

Someone as smart and great as Park Moon-dae could probably do it.

‘If I just believe what I’m comfortable with Mundae… ’

for a moment.

“…uh?”

Sun Ah-hyun noticed a contradiction.

‘Even if I believe it… I said I would get counseling anyway.’

Then… isn’t that okay?

‘No matter what I think.’

No matter what Sun Ah-hyun thinks if Park Moon-dae can meet an expert when he needs help.

‘I see… I see.’

Sun Ah-hyeon took a deep breath as she felt the stuff in her throat slowly subsiding.

The fear of making the wrong choice melted away.

The fixed conclusion played its role according to Park Moon-dae’s strategy.

Moreover all of this was somehow… something… not in the direction that Sun Ah-hyun had predicted and prepared for.

‘That… a more in-depth conversation.’

I knew how to do it but it felt like I was collecting data while working at a pure composition camp!

“…”

The funny thing is that even in the midst of embarrassment and confusion Seon Ah-hyun’s reason began to exercise judgment.

This is the presentation of evidence as naturally as flowing water.

This was work not consultation.

[Hello Ahyeon…!]

“Now Ryu Geon-woo who was originally Park Moon-dae has now switched bodies with me.”

“…”

“For your information Cheongwoo was my cousin on my father’s side.”

But what happened next… was a supernatural proof that even Sun Ah-hyun could not have imagined.

After arranging a light greeting Park Moon-dae suddenly asked Seon A-hyeon a sharp question.

“I think what bothered you the most was that I was seeing holograms.”

“…”

“It’s a hallucination. “It’s the most serious.”

Park Moon-dae chuckled as he saw Sun Ah-hyeon’s face darken.

“Then before we go into detail let’s first prove that this isn’t a hallucination.”

“…”

“I have a question written in my notebook.”

“Uh huh.”

“Show me. But before that…”

Park Mun-dae stood up and turned the monitor back.

“If you do this ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ on the screen won’t be able to see your notes. yes?”

“That’s right…”

“no. for a moment.”

Park Moon-dae turned off the monitor completely.

“…!”

“If this happens only the speaker will survive. I can’t use tricks. “It’s not even my computer in the first place.”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun couldn’t even guess what Park Moon-dae was doing.

But Park Moon-dae did not stop.

“Now show me your notes.”

“…huh.”

Instead of resisting Seon Ah-hyeon quietly turned the note around with trembling hands and showed it to Park Moon-dae.

It was elegant cursive.

-Why did Moon Dae switch bodies with Ryu Geon-woo?

This was a question that Park Moon-dae would soon explain.

To be exact… Park Moon-dae easily guessed that it would have been closer to ‘Why on earth do you think it has changed?’

It wasn’t a big month.

[I received a lot of help from Geonwoo… I wished him happiness but it turned out badly!]

“…!!”

Sun Ah-hyun couldn’t believe her ears.

Monitor turned off.

Speaker next to it.

[Of course I think the result is okay. It's really cool to see your brother promoting as an idol…]

A gentle male voice was flowing softly.

[By the way the subject here is brother right? Is it me? Anyway the answer doesn't change much…]

"…"

It was the answer to the question written in the note.

Snap.

The note fell to the floor.

Sun Ah-hyeon looked down at her notes with a feeling that her blood was cooling… then raised her head to Moon Dae.

Park Moon-dae nodded naturally.

"It's connected through a hologram window."

I got goosebumps.

"Just write something and show it to me. "I'll convey it through this."

Sun Ah-hyun gritted her teeth and picked up the note.

And I wrote down any thoughts. It's something you can never guess.

foreign language.

-pas de deux

And a sound rings out.

[I'm sorry… I don't know what it means. Pas de des?]

"…"

[Ah ah~ It's a ballet term. I see. Because Ahyeon originally did ballet!]

This… this?

Sun Ah-hyun grabbed the table. My eyes began to spin.

Common sense… was being destroyed.

This was his room. I knew that there was no device and Park Moon-dae did not have any time to install anything separately.

Even Park Moon-dae is talking about the player.

Park Mun-dae wearing white short sleeves and pocketless pajama pants lightly jumped from his seat.

"It's impossible to hide a small camera in my clothes right now… But I'll borrow your camera detector first."

"…"

Then on her own she lifted the camera detector placed on the corner of Sun Ah-hyeon's desk and rotated it around her body and the table.

Of course there was no reaction.

'ah.'

Sun Ah-hyeon blinked.

'Then then… '

But before I could draw a logical conclusion from that thought.

“But then again trust is lost.”

“…??”

Sun Ah-hyeon raised her head.

Park Moon-dae was nodding his head seriously.

“Now let’s get someone else involved and try it. Chungwoo and Lee Sejin are calling me now.”

“…”

“Besides that if you have any doubts let me know right away.”

Park Moon-dae laughed.

“Because I have a lot of time until tomorrow.”

The beginning stage of a plan to thoroughly demonstrate empirical evidence before unraveling the story.

Park Moon-dae’s proof continued until the sun set.

Chapter 356

“They… don’t even eat?”

“I am hungry. “We have to eat chicken.”

It’s already been over an hour and a half since Park Moon-dae and Sun Ah-hyeon locked themselves in their room.

Bae Se-jin who was sitting on the bed and willingly giving up his desk to Kim Rae-bin who was playing the keyboard thought anxiously.

‘No without pretending to be popular… I wonder if he even drinks.’

Bae Se-jin checked the refrigerator just in case but there was no trace of alcohol. I knew it was a guess since no one had ever bought it in the first place.

‘I didn’t think mediation was essential.’

Sun Ah-hyun came in the morning and looked a little dazed but the atmosphere seemed less serious.

Bae Se-jin slightly got lucky.

“You must be having a good conversation.”

A sharp answer came back.

“That’s right. “I have no idea why you borrowed my laptop but I hope it helps you two have a deeper conversation!”

“…Hmm okay.”

Bae Se-jin decided to put aside his doubts. This was because I felt a bit embarrassed because I felt like I was the only one in this dorm who was worried so much.

‘Still I wish someone would check.’

Should I text him and ask him to at least bring a meal?

However not long after Bae Se-jin thought so hard Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin were called by Park Moon-dae who only showed his face and entered the room for a moment.

‘You’re the same age as your roommate.’

It was a selection that made sense as to why it was called.

Bae Se-jin almost felt a little disappointed as the oldest but soon remembered her speaking skills and was convinced.

No I was relieved.

‘I’m glad it wasn’t me who called… ’

And like a lie that thought became reality.

The two who were summoned came out two hours later looking sick.

Se-jin Lee even waved his hand without saying a word and disappeared into the kitchen to drink water.

‘…?’

Bae Se-jin was embarrassed.

“what’s the matter?”

“hmm.”

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly and shook his head.

“I heard that Mundae is really unusual.”

“…uh?”

“They persuaded me logically.”

It’s not even a discussion so why does that come up here?

Bae Se-jin asked back without realizing it.

“what?”

“Well why do I have to make up with myself?”

“…??”

Reconciliation is achieved through logical persuasion.

Is something like that… possible?

However Liu Chengwu added a word with a weak smile.

“You did a good job.”

“…??”

That kind of thing… works?

Bae Se-jin became even more confused.

But it was true that something similar was happening in the room.

* * *

‘good.’

I nodded.

The two guys who entered the room put all the various forms of proof to good use.

I guess what Geoldal and I just said in writing. Answer the questions the three of us came up with in random order. Each of us drew a picture changed it randomly and then described what Sun Ah-hyun was holding…

As the number of people increases the process becomes more astronomically complex and the number of loopholes to suspect deception decreases.

It was the last time that Sun Ah-hyun had to come up with a method herself.

'There is no such thing as a legend.'

All proofs went smoothly. Thanks to Keoldal's annual leave there was no problem.

Ryu Cheng-wu looked at me somewhat meaningfully.

-You could do something like this.

"…"

It was like looking at twins who communicated telepathically.

Should I have just called Keun Sejin?

Anyway both guys performed diligently. In particular as soon as Seon Ah-hyeon's defenses were lowered Se-jin was very good at hitting on the contradictions I had felt before.

-I heard that the curriculum of the College of Arts and Sciences is different from ours. Did you hear him say something other than Gook Soo not Gook Soo? I thought I heard wrong?

-He can drive too. Last time I was scolded by my manager without realizing it. Ahyeon have you never seen Park Moon-dae study related to licensing?

I wanted to block the spout a few times but the effect of improving the situation was so effective that I skipped over it.

And as time passed Sun Ah-hyun became more and more proactive in coming up with testing methods.

By that time I felt a bit nervous and exhausted.

-Then… I will ask any question and that person will answer.

-okay.

And now after countless resets and repetitions.

"…"

"…"

Sun Ah-hyeon is looking into space with a blank face. It looks like he has completely abandoned his obsession with notes.

'I was holding on to it like a rope and finally let go.'

Questions and keywords are scattered across the note.

-magic

-Without electronic devices…

-someone else

Of course everything is crossed out.

This is because until now we have been burying Sun Ah-hyun's questions and doubts and crushing them one by one.

At this point even this guy has no choice but to admit it.

That I am not just a crazy person but at least I am a person with some substance.

“Do you have any other questions?”

“…”

The place was quiet when the two guys invited as guests left. After cleaning up Kim Rae-bin’s computer I sat down across from Sun A-hyeon.

The sound of Sun Ah-hyun swallowing her saliva was heard.

And then I raise my head.

“…Oh no.”

Confidence returns to the eyes of the guy who answers.

“doesn’t exist.”

A firm answer as if everything had been brushed aside without any problems.

‘yes.’

It was worth squeezing in as much as I could for four hours.

I almost rested my fist then unclenched it.

“…okay.”

It’s not over yet. Now I’m like ‘Then you believe it?’ If you scold them the whole board will break.

‘If it ends like this I’m sure I’ll have some unpleasant thoughts later.’

I say that first.

“Of course just because something crazy like this is possible doesn’t mean what I said is true.”

“…! “That is.”

Power and truth are not the same thing. Just because some crazy person does magic tricks doesn’t mean that everything he says is true.

‘That’s a complete scam.’

So I must say this.

Just blocking the source.

“But there is no benefit to me if I lie about this.”

“…”

“You know to put it bluntly there aren’t many worldly values that we need more from our perspective right now.”

Money fame and social status.

We are currently standing at the peak of this profession with a short average lifespan but there is no reason to obsess about the things above right now in case a decline occurs in a few years.

Because I already have it.

Looking at it objectively the idol ‘Park Moon-dae’ has both his desire for material goods and his desire for recognition satisfied.

“There’s no reason for me to say crazy things with this ability.”

And surprisingly Sun Ah-hyun responded immediately.

“I never thought about that.”

“…!”

“Mumundae… I never thought you were lying.”

“…okay.”

I never thought I would hear this.

But it’s not a bad feeling.

-That’s right. Of course I know that Moon Dae is not the kind of person who would lie about something like this.

‘At that time… were you sincere in what you said?’

The short reminiscence is over.

…Thanks to you I can move on to the next part without delay.

After a brief pause I continued speaking.

“Then let’s look at the hypothesis that I mistaken myself for someone else.”

Why is this not valid?

Why is ‘Park Moon-dae’ mistaken for ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ to be himself an awkward proposition?

‘If you want to prove that… ’

I smiled bitterly.

“‘Ryu Geon-woo’…Now you know that but he didn’t live a life that ‘Park Moon-dae’ would envy.”

“…!”

Both of them were orphans and lived busy lives trying to make a living.

You can feel the same thing but if you want to change your mind… wouldn’t it be possible if you were jealous or had something better than yourself?

“If Park Moon-dae had turned his head and thought he was someone else it wouldn’t have been him.”

It would be better if it was Ryu Cheong-woo. Ryu Geon-woo is unqualified.

“So honestly that hypothesis doesn’t make sense either.”

And contrary to that hypothesis I have spent hours and hours of proof to back up my claim.

Sun Ah-hyun looked at me with trembling eyes.

I released my hands.

“This is all I have prepared.”

“…”

“I think I did everything I could. “Honestly there is no way for me to prove anything more at this point.”

I spoke honestly.

I am fully qualified to say this after talking about it for such a long time without leaving a single gap.

“I mobilized everyone I could and did everything I could say.”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded slowly.

You can immediately say ‘That’s right Mundae. Okay now I believe in it too.

I chuckled.

“So… I’m not going to ask what you think.”

“Huh?”

Isn’t this guy’s personality obvious? What would happen if they admitted that I was fine when I was telling them to go to the hospital?

‘I’m going to blame myself until I break my head again.’

There is no need to leave it at that. So… let’s ease it.

“You can’t get through everything just once. Take your time and be skeptical as much as you want. continue.”

“Keep going…?”

“okay. If you have any doubts in the future you can ask me anything and I will continue to answer.”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth.

This guy isn’t the type of person to make a fuss with malicious intent so it’s okay to draw a line like this.

No it’s been done this far but I doubt there will be anyone who doesn’t believe it but honestly isn’t it normal to believe it at this point?

Still I’m thinking of giving it a full charge once.

‘It says OK here.’

I looked at him with almost certainty.

“Thank you… Mundae.”

However Sun Ah-hyun reluctantly did not nod her head.

“But it’s okay even if you don’t do that.”

“…!”

“I… have shown myself to be unreliable on many occasions.”

Sun Ah-hyun clenched her hands tightly.

“But after talking so long and hard about it it’s not to the point where I can’t admit it to myself… no. And if you have any doubts…”

Sun Ah-hyun took a deep breath.

“Make sure to think about it first… think about it carefully organize it and even if you find out look at it… but only when it doesn’t go away. “I’ll ask.”

“…”

“I really… believe it. “It’s radish.”

Me indeed.

“okay.”

I held out my hand to Sun Ah-hyun. Sun Ah-hyun held out her hand and took it. It wasn’t so cold this time.

“Please continue to take good care of me in the future.”

“huh.”

It was my first handshake in a few days.

* * *

Finally Park Moon-dae and Sun Ah-hyeon came out to the living room.

And all of the testers who saw the atmosphere between the two realized that the conflict had been successfully resolved.

“good job. “Whoever wins gets to eat chicken!”

“Cha Yujin! “You have a habit of speaking…”

“okay. Instead you buy it.”

“…! “If Moon Dae says so…”

“No not you.”

A few times the usual playful stories pass by.

And that was the night when the leader called the company with a smile about the schedule.

“Ahyeon~”

“Ugh.”

When Seon Ah-hyeon who was standing on the veranda turned her head Lee Se-jin stood next to her with a grin.

“Why are you here alone and not eating chicken?”

“It’s okay.”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled faintly.

“I guess Ahyeon has a lot on her mind.”

Sejin Lee bumped his shoulder and laughed. The atmosphere softened.

However Sun Ah-hyun did not wave her hand or lose her temper.

"…Ugh. little."

I just answered plainly. However Lee Se-jin hit the nail on the head.

"Um… do you care that you think you could have done a little better?"

"…!"

That's right.

After the conflict was resolved Sun Ah-hyun finally looked back on the incident without any problems and made an objective judgment.

'…I wasn't thinking rationally.'

The moment I first heard Park Moon-dae's story I was terrified and became immersed in it.

So step by step without even asking Lee Se-jin or Ryu Cheong-woo who already knew about the situation my anxiety grew like crazy.

This conflict was a product of his own weakness.

I wanted to tell you this fact right away.

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth.

"Ugh a little bit. I guess so. "We all have to do better next time."

However what came out of his mouth was only a light admission.

"Okay Sejin I'll do the same~"

“Fighting fighting.”

Seon Ah-hyun pondered over and over the conclusion and decided not to repeat admissions and apologies to those around her.

‘That’s because I want to feel at ease.’

Even if he tries it will only make Park Moon-dae more burdensome and cause pain to the team.

As Sun Ah-hyeon went through all of this she felt one thing keenly.

‘If you want me to share your burden you have to carry mine properly first.’

You can share the burden only if the other person appears to have some spare time.

Instead of trying to show off your qualifications it was better to actually become that kind of person.

‘I have to handle my share on my own.’

However Seon Ah-hyun will leave the fact that she did not trust Park Moon-dae as an object of self-reproach and self-reflection.

Sun Ah-hyun decided to do that without relying on anyone’s judgment.

self.

So he ended his speech like this in a surprisingly light tone.

“Umm let’s go eat some chicken.”

“Oh that’s good.”

The two who were standing on the veranda left and returned to the living room. It was a strange return.

However inside him he had made an unusual decision.

And the next morning.

“Oh hi. “It’s a door.”

“okay…”

Park Mun-dae who comes out the door and meets Sun Ah-hyeon confirms something he did not expect.

[Attribute: Guts]

[!Status abnormality: lack of self-esteem (disabled)]

“…?”

Sun Ah-hyeon’s condition was back to the disabled state.

Without any help.

‘what’

Park Moon-dae was trying to quickly move forward with his plan to reactivate his characteristics starting today based on the trust he regained through yesterday’s crazy 5-hour relay demonstration.

‘Did I see it wrong?’

Park Moon-dae almost frowned and looked at Sun Ah-hyun for a moment.

But I saw something else first.

[Guts (S): You create your own mindset. That’s why I can handle it.

– Offset mental status abnormalities when activated. (Can be applied overlapping)

“Mumundaeya…?”

Park Moon-dae read one more sentence that caught his eye.

[You create your own mindset.]

That’s right.

I don’t know what kind of change of heart she had but last night Sun Ah-hyun broke her slump and reactivated her characteristics.

Perhaps Park Moon-dae will be able to guess the mechanism in the future but…

‘But… it’s okay isn’t it?’

Because Sun Ah-hyun overcame it on her own she knows.

Whenever Park Moon-dae criticized her for being a fraud she looked at Sun Ah-hyeon as if she was quite special.

…Of course if a problem arises like this we will find a solution by analyzing everything from cause to effect.

Not today.

“Let’s eat.”

“Ugh…!”

The next day Testa resumed his activities as scheduled with the announcement that his condition had recovered.

And while they were back on track the first Billboard ranking was announced.

It was the beginning of a great turmoil.

Chapter 357

Are they suddenly announcing that a previously canceled schedule will be rescheduled on the same day?

Of course it doesn't work.

Regardless of whether it is the truth or not there are many cases where the conditions are not sufficient.

So the day we resumed activities was free. There were articles like 'Green light to resume activities after two days of testing… recovery is in progress.'

Thanks to this the members had a lot of time to spare during the day and only performed according to the company's own schedule.

"Umm I'm sorry and thankful to the company's employees."

"Uh huh. It's really like that…"

okay. Even if they had to pay a penalty the sudden artist problem would have been a headache so this time the company gave them their money's worth. Thank you to the employees.

But I expected it.

'Still it would have been a mess.'

-No matter what everyone takes a break during the active period due to body aches… Well isn't that too unusual?

-Someone caused an accident haha. There is already talk in the Sasaeng community.

-A university event was postponed for a test so it was supposed to be Wednesday but suddenly they announced that they were in poor condition the next day? dog strange Keun Se-jin was quick to post a post on social media according to the situation but it was obvious what the people who were very upset after the 'Star's Song' incident were talking about.

'I guess I'll have to take care of it first.'

As the cause provider isn't suturing an essential procedure?

I worked out some plans and got online.

'hmm…?'

But surprisingly things didn't turn out as I expected.

Instead the Billboard rankings were slightly mixed with the news of our hiatus.

"Wow… I forgot about this."

"That's right. "I think there was a brief misunderstanding between the previous movie OST and this title."

Me indeed.

'Somehow I think positively of you.'

It's okay to be honest and say that I was distracted by that mess with Sun Ah-hyun.

I shook my head and lowered the screen.

First of all the album chart. Billboard 200.

[8. 〈WEAPON for you〉 / new!]

Ranked 8th.

“Oooh.”

“Ha one digit…”

After all the chaos I found out later that the members are liking it but in reality this is within the predictable range.

It is no longer unusual for a KPOP boy group that has made a name for itself in the United States to rank in the top 5 on the Billboard album chart during its heyday.

‘Still I’m very satisfied with the result.’

This is a signal that the chronic problem of overseas weakness has been resolved.

The problem is:

Song chart aka Hot100.

[15. Savior / new!]

“…?”

“omg?”

This… landed in 15th place.

‘what?’

You may be wondering why you’re surprised that it’s lower than the album chart but for a foreign language song to rank on this music chart is several times more difficult than an album. Because you need a level of popularity that can offset the fact that it’s a foreign language or a ridiculously large fandom that can push it away.

So this is… a little strange.

‘I expected to be in the top 30 at best…?’

No actually 30th place is a ranking that I wouldn’t have even dared to rank if it wasn’t for the movie OST released just before.

‘This is a ranking that can be compared to the Korean weekly music chart when Testa released a performance-oriented song a few years ago.’

It’s almost shocking.

And thanks to this the Internet’s reaction to Testa’s suspension of activities was summarized.

Like this.

-The water is rushing in and the oar is smashed~

-If I’m a slut my stomach will be torn apart.

-Can you bear this? I must be really sick lol.

-Aren’t you just trying to get to the U.S. quickly?

It is true that it hurts because there is no way for a sane person to rest in this situation.

In addition conspiracy theories such as ‘It was a noise caused by a quick change to the American schedule’ arose and all the bullshit was absorbed into that direction.

“…”

Things have really worked out amazingly but I still don’t know how this works.

Bae Se-jin also asks a local person with eyes full of disbelief perhaps because he studied something on WeTube.

“Is this… really what comes out this well?”

However the locals refused to answer.

“I don’t know! “I don’t really look at billboards.”

“Then what are you looking at?”

“Umm Dotifiy～”

“Dotty Pie?”

It is a global music streaming site popular in the United States.

‘…It’s streaming.’

At that moment I realized.

“ah.”

yes. I should have started by checking where I got my score.

I immediately checked the Billboard score percentage.

Music Sales Streaming Index Radio On Air…

“hmm.”

‘There’s more on-air score than you think.’

Foreign language songs aren’t often played on American radio but considering that it’s decent. It looks like the company spent its money well.

And of course the highest volume of music sales is due to fandom…

“…!”

‘Streaming is okay right?’

That’s right. There is almost no difference in streaming compared to similarly ranked songs above and below.

As expected this is…

“Cha Yu-jin do you have a Dotify account?”

“there is!”

“Show me something.”

I went into Cha Yu-jin’s smartphone and looked at the rankings.

‘No. 26 on the global charts.’

Considering that only two weeks had passed since its release it had tremendous staying power.

And if you check the US charts not the global ones…

[25. Savior / by TeSTAR]

“Oh~ I like 25th place!”

“…!”

Higher than global?

This too is deformed. Usually KPOP has a higher global index than in the United States…

“Brother do you use your phone for a long time?”

“wait for a sec.”

I looked at fan accounts on my smartphone and kept checking Dotify

Pie's streaming rankings on Cha Yujin's phone.

And then I realized.

"It's a promotion."

"…Promotion? advertisement?"

"Yes I think this song was also recommended to people who listened to our movie OST."

This testa title is given to those who have listened to 'Black hole' by 〈Cosmic Gunner〉.

The American promotion algorithm was requested in the direction of this connection.

'…It's effective.'

It was composed by the same guy and sung by the same guys and the sample was used to have a similar feel so of course it suits my taste.

Maximizing natural promotional effects.

In addition the image we established through our movie cameos and entertainment appearances created a synergistic effect.

'…My Face fun game alien image.'

So it seems that even the incomprehensible lyrics have their own charm and have alleviated the resistance.

So to conclude overall…

"You did a good job at the company."

"yes."

I can't deny Liu Chengwu's words.

It feels like they are trying to squeeze out the US market somehow…

There's only one guy who can do this.

"here. Well written."

"yes!"

I returned Cha Yu-jin's smartphone and quenched my appetite.

My mouth is bitter.

'…I can't believe the general manager is doing a good job.'

It seems he didn't have an American business disease for nothing. Or is there anything you felt through trial and error with Mirinae?

It's a good thing but I feel strange. Is it because from the inside I think of that guy as shit?

"Aren't you going to get off at Mundaemundae?"

"hmm."

I finished my thoughts by getting off at the concept photo shoot site for the tour.

First of all let's do some work… I guess I'll have to create a Dotify account for monitoring.

That day I ignored Cha Yu-jin's advice and opened an account for the United States.

And the very next day I realize that this was a pretty good idea.

It was a night when my schedule got busier and I crawled into my dorm past midnight.

When I sat in the bathtub to relax my body.

[Hyung hyung! Did you see this?]

While I was mindlessly checking the status window I suddenly saw Geudal typing frantically in the status window.

[A new girl group that appeared like a comet… Powty takes over the billboard]

[Younglin junior Pouti “Please love everyone’s double title!”]

[The appearance of ‘NEXT Younglin’ who raids Pouty’s global music charts]

“…”

After reading the flood of articles.

I opened my mouth with difficulty.

“It’s a double title.”

[yes…]

Then access the Dotify account created for monitoring purposes and view the rankings.

There is a new song that has just been ranked.

[14. Love Soul / by Powty]

[17. Underwater / by Powty]

Two songs in the top 10.

When you click on it a trendy English dance song appears.

-Hey goody do you want a…

Structured like advertising music. Sticks well to the ears. Although it may be obvious it is a masterpiece with a popular appeal that everyone will like.

"…"

I stopped playing the music and pressed my temples.

"this…"

X haircut.

What kind of situation is this?

[Well… the teaser parody that used the two titles together was a huge hit on Tic Tac Tok and is receiving a good response even in the US…]

I appreciate the supplementary explanation but the cause isn't really important right now.

In any case the important thing is that these rookies achieved huge success outside of the standards.

'That's it.'

…First let's look at what 'breaking the KPOP record' I was aiming for was.

[Two Testa songs simultaneously listed at the top of the Billboard Hot 100 chart]

This is it.

As you can see this was chosen considering that our movie OST will definitely be on the Billboard charts by now.

OSTs run for a long time until the movie is released to the public and continues to be exposed to the wider public.

Then I thought it would be possible if I just maintained the momentum with the title.

‘I looked it up and found that this wasn’t even targeting VTIC.’

The album is stronger that way and the songs are less popular.

So since the huge fandom chose only the title and used its purchasing power this uneconomical method was not used.

So I thought it was right.

‘I’m going to hit this part.’

Basically records except for traditional ones are subject to public perception.

Depending on how widely it is recognized it may become a meaningful record or it may end up as their own media play.

In that sense… isn’t it quite impactful to see the same singer’s name twice in the top 20?

Of course it was also inspected by Geoldal.

-Do you think it will work? Oooh! the first!

It was like this.

‘So I thought it was almost confirmed and proceeded… ’

But here a rookie suddenly accomplishes something similar?

I immediately rolled over head first.

‘Unless a bigger surprise occurs the sales volume and final streaming score will inevitably be lower for rookies than for us.’

In other words according to Billboard which calculates weekly scores we will definitely win.

‘But that’s not the point.’

Even if their song rankings are lower than ours isn’t dark horses usually subject to correction in the public’s perception?

-It’s awesome. A rookie is competing with Testa for rankings.

-What’s happening with K-pop this year?

If they lose by decision like that… what does this mean as a record…

“…”

Damn it… no I’ll try to save it first.

“…hmm.”

I held back a sigh and asked as casually as possible.

“Anyway our Billboard rankings came out first so the mission condition must be success and we had two songs listed in the top 20 for the first time. Then there’s nothing to worry about.”

Anyway since we did it first let’s call it the first time and count the mission as a success.

But the big moon had no answer.

And slowly creakingly letters are engraved as if making excuses.

[If this is the case… in terms of public perception… it’s hard to say it’s an overwhelming record since their activity periods overlap so it can be compared… especially if it’s a rookie group.]

“…”

This bastard…?

[It’s not my will it’s my subconscious…! Because the systematic unconscious makes the decision right? ! ㅠㅠ]

[I’m sorry bro but I really don’t know. Will that happen…?]

“…”

Yeah it’s not your fault.

‘Will it work? ‘It won’t work.’

I sighed.

Younglin is not an idiot and since it has become like this the media is always asking questions by comparing it to Testa which is active at the same time.

‘Because it’s perfect for leveling up.’

Moreover since the genders are different groups it doesn’t feel like fighting directly.

Then it is inevitable that Testa’s paintings that are recognized as having an impact as a stand-alone record will pass over the water.

Because similar minor cases are catching up with momentum.

“…okay.”

I cooled my head.

‘Youngrin… Youngrin is my junior.’

And then I realized. They were the people Youngrin introduced last awards season. I smiled bitterly.

Anyway there are so many variables in this town that competitors pop up all of a sudden.

[brother…]

But now is not the time to accept it as competition.

It has to be completely torn off.

To do that… we'll have to artificially intervene here as well.

"…"

It's a method of intervention.

I lowered my head lost in thought.

The opaque water containing bath salts sloshed around. It seems like the current situation is that you can't even see an inch ahead…

for a moment.

"ah."

I see.

'The water must be clouded.'

Let's split the board.

"This will end if we are not mentioned together with these rookies."

[?? Is that… okay?]

Why not?

‘All you have to do is blur the tone and add different weight classes.’

All you have to do is come up with something more interesting for the public.

I sat and continued to think until the bath water cooled.

Cut it out and cut it out.

In a clear direction that is most beneficial.

And the next day.

“Manager just a moment.”

“yes?”

Before I even left for my early morning schedule I submitted a request for an interview with the head of the department.

This was my first voluntary contact since signing a contract with the label and I’m curious how it will be received.

hmm. And one more thing.

As I got into the car I picked up my smartphone and sent a text message.

[If you see the text please contact me when you have time.]

As soon as I put this in I got a call right away.

-Ah hello senior!

“hello.”

-yes!

A voice with discipline that I haven't heard in a while.

"Thank you for calling. "I have a question."

My immediate junior is Minha Park of the female idol group Mirinae.

After a little pause I got to the point.

"Are you having any worries these days?"

-… yes?

"It's a matter of group direction."

okay.

Since I have already established a label I would like to contribute to the company.

Chapter 358

At the end of May of this year Testa became a flawless first team both at home and abroad.

What does Mirinae her immediate junior think of Testa Park Min-ha who is effectively the leader of Mirinae?

‘Anyway… I just think of him as a senior.’

To begin with I haven’t seen much of it recently. This is because even in companies labels are created in separate areas so their movement lines do not overlap.

But there is this.

‘…Sounds good! i envy you!’

Testa who escaped from the hands of the head of the division was a bit disgusting but in fact there was no role model more envious than him.

…and there were certain senior members who contributed greatly to her thinking that way.

‘…You must have done it on purpose to criticize the label and announce it during the awards ceremony right?’

That’s right.

This is Park Moon-dae the main vocalist of Testa and the person in charge of ‘Soft Bean Rice Cake and Apple Rice Cake Puppy’.

Park Min-ha screamed internally.

‘What a puppy!’

I don’t know what the extraordinary if not extraordinary thoughts of the person who is controlling the company are coming to their senses but if they come to their senses they are in the right place… Anyway what about that person?

“…”

‘If you list it like this in a way you have the constitution of a heavenly idol.’

Anyway it was scary.

Thanks to this we are a popular senior group so let’s get along well. I was in a cold sweat trying to stop the members who were trying to do well.

‘What if you send my sisters and brothers away because they say friendship with the opposite sex is the poison of idols…!’

But I don’t know how such a scary person can look so harmless when the camera is rolling.

‘…In reality it gives the impression that it’s a bit difficult to approach.’

Through years of self-management and investment in stats (though Park Min-ha doesn’t know) Park Moon-dae was already in a career where cameras would be visible.

But even now when I watch the video it’s scary how well the image of a friendly dog fits.

It was worthy of being a role model.

‘…It’s amazing. really.’

So you make your own resolutions.

‘When the contract renewal season comes we will really do it right!’

I will protect this group by handling things clearly and never getting caught…!

However as I was doing this for a while the person in question received a phone call.

That too very meaningfully.

-Are you having any worries these days?

“…”

The moment she heard those words all kinds of possible bad endings came into Park Min-ha’s mind.

what? what?

‘What are you thinking… ’

So like a reaction robot an acceptable answer came out.

“I worry just as much as other people do! Still I am satisfied with my life as an idol where I can meet fans like this…”

-hmm. yes.

Park Moon-dae listened to the whole story without stopping.

Thanks to this the repertoire for social life answers was quickly depleted.

‘Ouch!’

The pressure to say more increases.

‘Oh please!’

Isn't it time for us to discuss our concerns senior?

Fortunately Park Moon-dae gave Park Min-ha a hint just before he passed away.

– Well then I'm glad. But do you have any other concerns?

"…When you say different what kind of thing are you talking about…"

-I was wondering if the company was doing well recently.

"Company?"

-yes. I don't know much about Testa because there was some distance between them as they became independent labels.

Park Moon-dae described calmly.

-But it seems like you continue to run all groups centered around the United States. Since we are also active in that direction these days what do you think about our juniors?

"ah."

If that's the case.

At that moment Park Min-ha opened her mouth as if it were a conditioned reflex.

It was a problem I was really thinking about and there was a lot of it.

Even after speaking I regret it and think 'I was caught.' But that wasn't a trap it was really a stepping stone to a good proposal for Mirinae.

Of course it was true that Park Moon-dae caught it.

* * *

-… That's why I'm still working hard!

"hmm."

I organized the current situation of Mirinae which Park Min-ha explains in quite detail and the information about the new group that I obtained secretly between the lines.

First of all the current position given in advance is…

'That's ambiguous.'

It's stagnating.

This guy also had an idea so instead of criticizing the company he glossed over it in a positive way but he seems to know that the momentum and controversy he had at the time of his debut has largely died.

It's worth it. As we continue to make music that will be popular overseas and focus our promotions on that our connection with the domestic public is weakening.

'But the fandom is okay.'

Because its own content is good and the quality of its activity capital is good the inflow of fandom itself is steady.

'It's patterned like that.'

In short they have become fandom-type idols whose music has weakened slightly as public interest has declined but album sales are still rising.

'At this level I have already established myself as a successful idol.'

However if they manage to gain popularity just once they could truly become a group that has it all but the company will continue to target only the US which will upset them.

Meanwhile a new female idol came out from Younglin Company.

And it started to become a huge hit.

-That's right there are a lot of people who are really good at it these days! We are also thinking that we need to work harder…

That is ultimately what this means.

'I feel threatened because of the overlapping positions.'

A trendy female idol who is recognized globally especially in the West.

Two similar images.

The problem is not only that the images overlap in the American market but also that the selling point in Korea is blurred.

And the more powerful latecomer usually naturally takes over.

So perhaps now is the right time before the topic moves towards the new female idol.

I crossed my arms with my smartphone between my neck.

'…It's okay.'

Mirinae has an established first-team image and strong album sales.

Rookie girl idol Paouti may not have a strong record at the moment but her overseas music is strong and based on her popularity her domestic music is also on the rise.

Everyone has strengths and weaknesses.

'The game is perfect so it's better to plan the game.'

There's nothing more fun to watch in a fight than watching similar positions go back and forth.

I came to a conclusion. But there was one more hurdle left to go through.

'Because it's someone else's business.'

The intention of the parties concerned.

I responded appropriately to what Park Min-ha said and waited and when it was over I opened my mouth again.

"yes. Thank you for letting us know. And I have one more question."

-yes?

I asked slowly.

"Do you think it would be better for more people to be interested in the group's activities even if it makes a little noise?"

-…

You know what it means to 'make a fuss'.

'You mean being criticized.'

Of course the lower the topicality the less criticism there is.

Speech hand movements past photos of plastic surgery… Do you prefer a stable current situation rather than feel the pain of having your brain pounded by absurd rumors?

'For those who have experienced <Azusa> it is not strange even if there is trauma.'

I waited.

But after a while a firm voice came from the phone.

-of course.

good. You have guts.

I passed the conclusion that I was satisfied with.

“Then can the company proceed like that?”

-Oh how?

like this.

From the very next day articles began pouring in on the entertainment front.

* * *

[Rookie Pouty’s unprecedented global success… ‘A record for a girl group’?]

[Pouty Mirinae surpasses Blue Rain and ranks #1 in search index]

[Was Mirinae’s comeback notice ‘monster rookie’ conscious?]

The articles sometimes mentioned it explicitly and sometimes concealed it but in the end the tone was the same.

‘Didn’t Pauuti beat Mirinae as soon as she debuted?’

The article was filled with content that subtly predicted Pouty’s superiority.

And of course sounds that could be heard in response began to come out.

All kinds of extreme clamor.

-Stop grabbing my hair.

-If you're going to do this please make Younglin come back… I'm obsessed with rookies you crazy bastards who built your building?

-But objectively isn't it true that her grades are better than Mirinae? Why is it so bad?

Stop aggro-indulgence

Okay I want to believe it's aggro.

However there was one thing in common.

Everyone naturally believed that Younglin's company would have taken the lead in this promotional material-style article.

Media targeting senior celebrities in similar positions is a traditionally effective method of raising awareness.

Of course unless Younglin is an idiot they would have been planning to release a similar press release and we have confirmed that this is indeed the case.

When an employee of our company contacted the media they said that the agency had already promised to hand over the content for publicity purposes first.

Thanks to you it was comfortable.

-So you liked it? It would be perfect if you just changed the subject.

The employee said that in a slightly excited voice.

therefore…

'This is helping.'

I nodded.

It is a kind of donation.

Didn't he help out by hitting on some players that were supposed to be played in the first place? It was something the company should be thankful for.

Well the person they were trying to snipe at was Testa not Mirinae… but we'll find out.

I coolly lowered the smartphone screen.

There was an uproar as articles were being taken from all sorts of places.

"Good buzz."

Mirinae's fans may be a little tired but it's better to spend something hot rather than something that's mentioned dead and stagnant.

Because rivalries are good for motivation.

'Even Mirinae is making a comeback soon.'

I hope this becomes a hot topic domestically.

-yes. I like the song!

You seemed confident.

I laughed and threw the smartphone.

Now all we have to do is wait until Mirinae makes a comeback and the results come out.

'When it's ripe the company will put out a press release about our records… The mission results will be released within two weeks at the earliest.'

Then as long as there are no other incidents you will pass this gate.

‘It’s neat.’

I stood up stretching lightly.

“ah.”

There is one more thing to take care of. Until the results come out Testa must be leading with an image that has nothing to do with these guys.

To help with that… an independent activity that is both topical and inspiring.

What could it be?

‘It’s a popular solo entertainment show.’

Coincidentally the entertainment production crew that had been sending us hotteokpals in the US contacted us again.

It was the right time.

* * *

“hello~”

“hello!”

“Oh my testers please sit down quickly! oh my!”

A few days later we were called to a meeting for a new entertainment show.

“If you look at the title…”

When I looked at the presentation materials even the logo was already drawn out.

〈Grandson of that house〉

I can feel it from the naming sense.

'It must be a fantastic composition.'

It's actually better because it definitely feels like you're going to do something stupid.

Several familiar writers explained this with excited faces.

"I went down and cooked a little food and tended to the garden… I prepared something that was really healing."

"Ahaha. yes!"

Of course it must be a trap. The members look at each other and nod their heads.

'What is it?'

'I think I'll give you self-denial training.'

'That also makes sense.'

This time should I take a fishing boat because I owe money in the countryside?

But the writers persevered.

"Oh this time! Definitely not fishing! "You're just having some fun with the mini-games… but that's absolutely not the case."

okay. Let's pretend to be hooked.

"Really?"

"yes!"

The author strongly affirms this. We were about to smile and nod but before we could the author added.

With eyes burning brightly with resentment.

“Or you can sue me really!”

“…”

complaint?

An embarrassed smile appears on Liu Chengwu’s face. Other guys are similar.

‘Hey I think you’re serious.’

Are you really going to create a simple healing program that will soothe the tired hearts of modern people?

“Because you are an idol you can combine some professional knowledge and feel meaningful! We also show performances to the residents…”

Raebin Kim was amazed.

“…! “I think that would be a really meaningful opportunity!”

“Um sure. “It has a good purpose.”

Bae Se-jin is looking through the data again with a somewhat relieved look on his face and Seon A-hyeon is taking notes.

Everyone is in a peaceful mood.

“…yes.”

And I looked back at Big Sejin.

The guy was desperately trying to smile but the moment our eyes met the corners of his eyes twitched.

‘okay.’

I was in big trouble.

‘Sounds like healing.’

These production crew members have lost their true sense of entertainment.

Chapter 359

It rattled.

“…The view is nice.”

“There’s a cow over there…!”

An idyllic road scene passes by beyond the people making comments at the window.

That’s right. We are boarding a typical tourist charter bus and heading to the countryside.

Of course there were cameras all over the bus. This means that this too will be broadcast so you can’t waste it.

“Wow there’s a karaoke machine here too?”

“Oh it’s been a while since I’ve seen that.”

“I want to call you! “Give me the microphone!”

“okay! Shall we bet on the scores?”

Keun Se-jin smiled and lifted the karaoke microphone to liven up the atmosphere. It’s an entertainment-type stance that seems almost desperate.

I understand.

I can’t stand this peaceful uncut atmosphere.

“Come on~ Our main vocalist has to sing just one song here!”

You work really hard.

“Give it to me.”

“Oooh!”

I selected a popular song that was about 10 years old and tried to sing it with as much excitement as possible while trying to make the best move.

This side is just as desperate.

‘When we arrived there was a possibility that it was a deep-sea fishing vessel… it was not out of the question.’

Production crew please do what you’re good at.

“That blue sea ～ cool breeze ～”

“Oh! Oooh!”

Please let’s just go with the meta that’s ruining the cast!

But when I finally arrived the sight I saw was… a comfortable and warm country farmhouse.

“…”

A picturesque country house with a blue roof and veranda and lots of sunlight.

The members are excited.

“Wow!”

“It’s a wonderful home with a very cozy feel!”

“…”

No… the appearance could be fake. Yes what's inside is important.

But after entering.

"Here… the floor is warm."

"It feels more intimate because it has a sense of life."

"That's really true…!"

The neatly organized ondol rooms had mother-of-pearl cabinets white porcelain classically colorful candy containers and even stone tables with an old-fashioned charm.

"Have you seen the refrigerator?"

"…Yes there were a lot."

The kitchen is stocked with various seasonings and rice side dishes.

With sunlight shining through the window even the air is very warm. I swallowed.

'…it's better inside.'

This is a house that is full of the so-called romance and longing of rural life.

'What on earth did the art director get up to?'

Why did they use a title like "That House's Grandson" and make the accommodation look so fancy?

How dare you not screw up the cast? This is a betrayal.

"Wow~ It's really amazing! "How can I do this?"

Keun Se-jin saw the atmosphere and changed the content to a housewarming reaction.

Trying hard.

In the meantime the director also quietly adds a word.

“Haha everyone I borrowed this from a resident so I have to return it when the period is over so please use it carefully~”

“yes!”

Why are you talking like that with such a warm expression?

I opened my mouth just in case.

“Perhaps we have to repay…”

“Oh that can’t be right~ Of course we paid for it all through rental! absoluteness! That won’t happen!”

Yes I am very grateful.

‘It looks really messed up.’

After a while we were asked to gather on the veranda so we finished our reactions and left.

“Testa’s grandchildren please sit here~”

“Yes yes~”

A brief briefing on the content follows.

It’s not much different from what I heard at the meeting. Living in the countryside helping the elderly with their work and cooking meals.

‘No fun… ’

It would be better if it were full-fledged hardcore volunteer work but it is a structure in which we earn money day by day.

And the production team's explanation did not end there.

"Here's how to get paid~"

Before you know it there is a lucky bag on the table placed on the veranda. Liu Chengwu picked it up and opened it.

"What is it? Wow~"

"…It's fascinating. "Is it a bottle cap?"

Inside a circle with an engraved pattern sparkles.

"You can only use one currency here and you can acquire more through various tasks!"

The director points to the lucky bag.

"That's right~ <Carrot Coin>!"

"Oh!"

It's a name that seems somewhat unhealthy.

However the members' eyes shine at the toy-like coins made by pressing bottle caps.

"Why is your name Carrot?"

"That's because it can be exchanged one-to-one with real carrots~"

"ha ha ha!"

Even the production crew who say nothing is met with generous reactions.

“I understand~ Carrot carrot!”

“It’s novel isn’t it?”

“Let’s use this as public money.”

And then I nodded.

‘Then yes.’

There’s no way the production crew who sucked at this drug could let the cast roam free and abundantly like this.

‘They must have been playing around with coins.’

Your debt will surely snowball or you will end up in a difficult situation due to a severe lack of coins.

‘Then for impact… ’

We need to start with large-scale consumption.

My head finally turns. I tried my luck with enthusiasm.

“Shall we start by looking at groceries for dinner?”

“Good.”

“I’ll make a list of things to buy!”

Let’s start by targeting the pictures that make you cringe when you see the price.

As I entered the grocery store I held up a coin I had received from Ryu Cheong-woo and meaningfully asked the production crew.

“Are you lending me this too?”

However the production team responded firmly.

“no. “I’m just giving it to you~ initial funds!”

“…yes.”

…I don’t think it’s a lie.

Well that could happen. So does it feel like there is a shortage of coins due to the ridiculously high prices?

We started shopping.

“How much is this?”

Towels are a must. Surely people are surprised by charging exorbitant prices for this type of product…

“Ah~ The young people… Anyway these are two carrot coins! Just give it to me like this!”

“thank you. please.”

“…?”

for a moment.

“Please buy me that!”

“Does Eugene want to eat dalgona? Okay Auntie how much is this?”

“Wow you’re so handsome. uh? “You’re so handsome~”

“Thank you! “Your aunt is so beautiful too~”

“okay? Then just one coin is enough for 7 of these!”

“…Wow~ Awesome! thank you!!”

"…?"

Whatever you choose it's ridiculously cheap.

'You're giving it for free.'

What is this?

After receiving Dalgona from Keun Se-jin and almost missing it I immediately looked back at the production crew and tried to get my luck going.

"…It's very cheap."

"All the residents are kind-hearted."

That means that residents arbitrarily set prices for goods.

In that case the camera will roll and of course I will give it to you even though it is not real money!

'Is there a screw missing from my head?'

Was this meaningless free rule made in the right mind?

"Then shall we go in and cook quickly?"

"It's radish. Should I try it this time…? "The level of grilling of the meat…"

"…Good."

-No problem in solving problems such as easy work and good housing with prices that are as good as free.

I made a comprehensive judgment.

'It's ruined.'

Who the fuck would want to see an idol who is already so popular enjoy simple healing to his heart's content?

No of course fans may want to see it… but even so there has to be some level of stimulation to pique their interest.

'There is no curve.'

This bland structure cannot capture emotion laughter or spicy flavor.

In short it is a soup that everyone knows.

It would be better to make the flex happen somewhere great or the concept is nothing right now.

'It's going to turn.'

I stuffed the dalgona into my mouth and suppressed my salivation.

Of course I actually tried to change the program's route several times before leaving.

Everything from the forced march farming concept to the horror special was good. If only we could make it even a little more provocative.

But surprisingly it didn't work.

-Oh that's a bit… right?

-Yes I don't think it will work.

All entrance cuts.

The production team said they had already finished talking to the agency and walked out like a snake.

'Why are these bastards so obsessed with healing when they're so good at cleaning their mouths?'

The previous program was also a quiz show where actors got into trouble so why are they doing this to us?

I tasted bitterly.

‘Is it too popular?’

Since Testa is doing so well it seems like they are afraid that if we release it now we will say something different or the fans will be angry.

This situation is so likely that it just leaves me with a bitter taste in my mouth. Fuck Dalgona’s writing.

“Wow~ Look at this at Mundaemundae there’s an eel here too!”

“Wait.”

I decided to find a job and do more.

Now that things are like this there’s nothing better than to imprint him as a harmonious workaholic so that he can benefit from his image.

‘If you don’t have it just make it.’

Thanks to this the sweet and sour pork I made for dinner despite all the unnecessary steps turned out amazingly well.

…I wish I could at least give this a try as a mukbang. Please.

* * *

I continued to try to somehow put the content together but no matter how much I thought about it I couldn’t come up with an angle.

It’s amazingly peaceful.

‘I’m tired.’

Still something happened after dinner on the first day.

The guys who went downstairs brought something with them.

“Ta-da!”

“wow…”

A smiling Liu Chengwu places a dog with a black nose and white fur on the veranda.

The guy kicks his feet energetically.

“king!”

“…”

I almost reached out my hand without thinking but then took it back.

A ball of hair small enough to be picked up and lifted.

“I met the camera director’s grandmother and she said it was one of the pups born to the dog.”

“He kept following me and I said ok and brought him back!”

“This name is Mungge Rae.”

“king!”

The dog gets between me and Bae Se-jin and struggles. Bae Se-jin’s face turned red.

“Do you mind if I listen to it?”

“You can just grab the side here.”

I watched the dog’s face which looked stupid and thoughtless and its tail flapping wildly.

‘This… could be okay.’

Because people like dogs.

Moreover since it doesn’t even have a breed there is no need for unnecessary controversy. hmm. good.

I nodded internally quite willingly.

“Since this puppy came to Testane I think I should get an activity name~ How about Mundaengdaeng?”

“hey.”

And deliberately overreacting to Big Sejin’s bullshit he ran through the yard with Big Sejin and the dog behind him.

“ha ha ha!”

I wondered if the threshold for laughter had been set too low but the members and staff laughed anyway.

…Maybe it’s not that bad. From that day on the dog slept in the middle of the ondol room.

After that small tasks continued.

Digging potatoes Watering crops Feeding ducks Giving massages to villagers.

And what I’m doing now is delivering groceries.

“Ugh!”

“We’re almost done.”

The goods are distributed to farms located far away.

Traveling through the countryside with a dog was the perfect thing to do without thinking about anything.

And on the way back.

“Uh shall we take a rest over there?”

“Good judgment!”

There are no restrictions so you can use your time however you want.

So in the late day just before sunset you can park a cart with a bicycle attached and sit down in the pavilion.

“I want to lie down~”

“me too!”

And it can be stretched out completely.

‘You do all sorts of things.’

In the picture they are lying down together but it is doubtful whether a replacement volume will be available for this as well.

At that time Sun Ah-hyun who was lying next to me muttered briefly.

“I think something like this is good.”

“…”

“It’s been a while since I spent time like this without worrying.”

“…I know.”

In the meantime I ran hard without any hesitation. Because it’s a job where you fall if you stop.

‘Even when I rest I even make plans to rest efficiently.’

…It’s bound to be a long time since I’ve had a time like this.

Time passing aimlessly.

“One per person. “No more.”

“Boo…”

Bae Se-jin who just happened to run to the supermarket asked for the hard drive he had brought.

It tastes like fruit.

Slurp- Slurp

The grass sways in the wind.

“It smells good.”

“huh.”

It’s quiet.

I lay down in the pavilion and realized that I was quite relaxed.

“…”

Maybe… this might not be such a bad thing.

‘Is this why healing entertainment shows keep coming out?’

Looking back it seems that supply is pouring in because it is secretly popular but there may be demand for this relaxing feeling.

‘I’m sure you’ll feel like you’re moving away from a heated sexual fight.’

I shook my head. And I thought.

‘…I guess I’ll just leave it this time.’

Even if I just enjoyed the entertainment without thinking about anything else I didn’t think there would be much of a problem in completing the mission.

Just this time should we trust the production team’s editing skills and delegate the content?

‘It could be that since I took my first step into entertainment with <Azusa> I was only looking for things that were too provocative.’

I don’t know the taste of organic food.

I slowly placed my head on the floor enjoying the sweetness of the ice cream.

It wasn’t that bad to be busy in this narrow pavilion.

* * *

Two peaceful days passed like that.

Around the time when the members and I were finally getting used to this uneventful life.

“hello everyone!”

“hello!”

The production team that came every morning showed up again and called us.

‘I’ll give you small tasks to do again.’

However today there was something that was conducted first before the daily briefing.

“Everyone shall we play a mini-game for a moment?”

“A minigame?”

“yes. “There was a brief event this morning so let’s play a mini-game to find out what happened there!”

“Oooh.”

The mini game was a simple game played against the production crew.

Even now I often do it and if I win I get snacks or fireworks or something.

So everyone naturally agreed and participated.

“Wow it seems like our Munge is always with Mundae.”

“Haha I guess they feel the same way because they are dogs.”

“…brother.”

Even Ryu Cheong-woo is like this.

I participated without much tension petting a dog and lost.

“ah.”

“Well that could be the case.”

“are you okay! Let’s do more work!”

No one is very upset. The atmosphere is just smiling and encouraging each other.

“Then I’ll pull out a penalty note about what happened at our event.”

“Yes~”

Until now Kyunghyang-sang’s penalty notes had words like ‘1 volunteer activity today’ and ‘buying corn’.

And all that’s left are two notes.

“Let Ravin choose.”

“All right!”

Today’s batter Kim Rae-bin vigorously drew one of the two remaining penalty notes.

And it hardened.

“…??”

“Ravin?”

“what’s the matter?”

“Ravin please read~”

At the production crew’s name Kim Rae-bin opened her mouth with her pupils trembling.

“This morning an unidentified overnight guest came in and stole all of Testa’s precious ‘Carrot Coins’?”

“…!”

What… what?

Chapter 360

An hour has passed since it was revealed that all the carrot coins had been stolen.

“Aaaahhh.”

Inside the comfortable accommodation it is a mental mess.

Kim Rae-bin the person who pulled out the note is stuck in a corner looking like he just took a shower in cold sweat.

“Carrots… carrots”

It seems like a big shock.

“therefore…”

Liu Chengwu calmly opened his mouth.

“That means we don’t have any money right now.”

ridge!

If it has been edited an exclamation mark will appear above its head. These guys are really realistically shocked.

I crossed my arms and spoke quietly.

“In a word a beggar.”

“That’s crap…”

“How could something like this happen overnight?”

All there is is one dog.

A bundle of fur jumps around the devastated guys as if to cheer them up.

Meow! Wow!

The members' complexions brighten a bit.

"Yeah I'm glad they didn't steal our lumps. right?"

"Ugh!"

"…It's still a baby so there was a risk but I'm glad. "You weren't hurt."

Are you serious?

No I wonder if this is happening just because entertainment money disappeared but the side effect of the past two days has been to relax people…

No it's not a side effect.

"…!"

'I got hit.'

These guys planned it all and did it so well.

In order to properly portray the shocked look in a disarmed state…

'You did it amazingly.'

-Huh? What should I do? Why did you pick this? The other message probably didn't contain that message.

-Then show it to me so I can check it!

-Oh you can't do that! We have to write again next time!

-Ugh! really!

'He must have prepared a note with the contents of stealing coins from both of them.'

I thought about the face of the PD who was babbling shamelessly and held back my swearing.

You say it's healing you bitch!

No… let's calm down. programmatically

This is a section that will be quite fun. Healing… Yes the healing amount is more than enough in two days.

You have to think like that. I definitely think that way. Don't get angry. If you get angry here you lose.

Meanwhile Sun Ah-hyun kept her mouth shut and then raised her hand as if she had made up her mind.

"Yes Ahyeon."

"Since I have a poetry room… shall I make something and see if there is actually anyone out there…?"

"wow."

"Well a person with dexterity can come up with an idea like this."

It was a good idea. The sight of first-tier idols sitting together and doing the handwork of glueing on doll eyes would be unique and funny if they were desperate.

However in this case the intention of the production team is important.

"…It's true that you are great… but isn't catching the criminal more important than that? The production team also said so."

Yeah I guess that's the direction this program prefers.

-Who on earth?? Who stole it?

-yes! This unidentified night guest is someone currently living in this town!

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva.

"I'm telling you to catch them outright."

"Hmm."

The members were immersed in worry. After a while Kim Rae-bin muttered seriously with a blank face.

"If you get harmed…"

"Oh that doesn't work."

"yes yes. It could be dangerous…"

No it's overly immersive. This isn't a genre entertainment show and the production team's top priority is making people laugh so it's impossible for them to do that.

Big Sejin nods his head seriously.

"yes. "It could be dangerous."

You were so excited. Are you saying that hardships and adversity have finally come and you are able to get your bearings?

Liu Chengwu proposed an arbitration plan.

“But since I don’t have enough food right now… I guess I’ll help out with work and earn coins first.”

“yes!”

“And then let’s see who might be the thief. “There must be a hint.”

“Good… that’s a wise decision.”

That’s good enough. I felt immersed in it and compared to the picture from the volunteer work the day before haha it must be really… funny.

“…”

No don’t get upset.

Anyway we set out on that road with a camera in search of the residents.

“Father is it okay if we continue cleaning the yard like we did yesterday? “If you give me some coins I’ll be really nice to you!”

“Huh? “It’s okay.”

However surprisingly people do not give work.

“…?”

“How many homes have we been turned down by now?”

“Five houses.”

An unnatural situation for anyone to see.

The grandmother in the sixth house even clicked her tongue and said:

“Oh my… that coin? I don’t have that anymore. “Hey guys can’t we just grab a drink and go?”

The production team answered brightly.

“No~”

“Why are you answering for me?!”

“It’s a rule! “Why are people who know everything about the conservative system like this?”

These kids are real.

It seems that the rural affection that the production crew was crying out for died suddenly overnight.

At this point Ryu Cheong-wu laughs and asks if even the saintly gentleman is in trouble.

“Then what should we do?”

“so! “We have prepared something just in case.”

Yes I guess so.

‘It will definitely make us do ridiculous amounts of work… ’

“It’s a carrot farm!”

“…!”

This isn’t the scale I thought.

We took a short bus ride and arrived at the end of a green farm spread out on a flat plain.

“and…”

“It’s so spacious.”

How on earth did they contact me? I guess they made this contact and decided on accommodation and coin type.

The PD opened his mouth with a bright smile on his face.

“Did I tell you that physical carrots are exchanged for carrot coins on a one-to-one basis?”

“Ah I remember!”

“that’s right.”

Among the admiring members Kim Rae-bin looks relieved.

Oh my.

“So do you directly exchange the carrots you harvest for coins…?”

“Uh huh~ Everyone those carrots were grown in someone else’s field for a long time so of course you don’t give them away just because you harvest them~”

“…”

I thought so.

And the PD makes a suggestion that seems like a robbery.

“First of all if you cash everything from here to there today it’s 5 coins per person per day!”

“Hey!”

“Oh I don’t do it!!”

“I’m going out.”

The production crew suppresses laughter while looking at the freaked out guys.

Is this funny?

“Everyone you have to eat~”

“…”

Those who have become accustomed to the absurdity of the program start moving their bodies after a moment of blank stares.

“Shall we start from there?”

“okay.”

“I don’t like those carrots.”

Even though you complain you end up doing your best.

I grabbed a hoe and dug into the ground pulling out rows of scarlet root vegetables.

‘The picture will come out well.’

They will come out as pure and sincere young people who do not lose their original intention even if they wander follow the rules and work hard.

Or are you fools who are fooled again?

‘Fuck you.’

Either way is beneficial… Maybe it’s because I got caught in a fake and got stabbed in the back but it feels quite numb.

‘Is this a land version of an ocean fishing boat?’

“Let’s put it here!”

“okay.”

The hours of hard labor filling the huge basket continue.

The PD grabbed the megaphone.

“Okay five! “I won’t straighten my back until I pull it out.”

“Ugh! “Will you take responsibility if our backs hurt?”

“Huh? Are there too many daily wages?”

“sorry.”

To be honest it is not too hard on the body. Compared to when I was active and practicing for a performance for a while I was just tired.

“Work work!”

“…”

Still the atmosphere is just right.

The atmosphere of being treated like a medieval serf is infuriating… Of course it becomes fun after editing. This must be it.

‘I understand.’

Sometimes I would look at the production crew with resentful eyes and eagerly grab a carrot. It was bearable up to this point.

The problem arises from the following.

“Here’s the gang!”

“Wow!”

“We won’t eat carrots for a while. “I won’t even eat carrot cake.”

“Yes it’s Mundae.”

When we went to the supermarket to buy dinner with our hard-earned coins we were faced with exorbitant prices.

“Give me… just ten!”

“…!?”

Suddenly the price of Dalgona jumped tenfold.

“20 per geun?”

“We’re dying!”

Meat also skyrocketed.

Of course those who turned their attention ran to the production crew and shouted.

“They said there was no manipulation!”

“We never! “I didn’t set the price arbitrarily everyone~ Absolutely not!”

Raebin Kim asked with an almost ecstatic expression.

“Then what is this situation…”

“No how can we know people’s hearts? “We sell it at the price everyone wants.”

“…”

I clenched my fists.

I don't know who the person who made the opinion was but I sincerely wanted to stick to just one thing.

In the end I returned home with a shabby shopping cart that was nothing compared to the previous two days.

I declared calmly.

"Let's just make sujebi and eat it."

"iced coffee…"

"Sujebi… it's delicious."

Still it is useful to react.

"I'm sorry… The starting point of everything… was my indiscretion…"

"What are you talking about! "Of course the PD played a trick!"

Kim Rae-bin who pulled out the note is almost lost and Bae Se-jin and the dog are there to comfort her.

"…"

That won't work.

I tapped Keun Se-jin who was putting his luggage in the kitchen.

"There's some flour and butter left."

"uh? Uh oh. "I left it behind… why?"

"for a moment."

I checked the butter I had overspent on the first day and headed to the kitchen.

No matter how I use the free time I was given to criticize the production staff I guess that's how I feel.

* * *

Moon Dae Park creates something.

'Mmm.'

As soon as Liu Chengyu came out after washing up he smelled a fragrant smell. And then I saw the back of Park Moon-dae moving steadily in the kitchen.

'…is it food? They said it was handmade rain.'

In the meantime being conscious of the camera angle and taking care to capture the cooking process well was truly his own behavior.

'You're so calm.'

It's definitely a situation that can be upsetting but we're silently coming up with a realistic answer. This is where I felt like he was my older brother.

Liu Chengyu carefully entered the kitchen.

"Do you need anything?"

"It's almost over. it's okay. "Other guys helped me."

Moon-Dae Park opened the air fryer.

Then along with a fragrant smell… a yellow cookie appears.

"Would you like to sample something?"

"ah."

It was a cookie.

At that moment Cha Yu-jin came out.

“I want to eat!”

“It’s hot so be careful.”

“Hehe!”

Ryu Cheong-woo realized this when he saw Cha Yu-jin putting a cookie in her mouth and giving a thumbs up with shining eyes.

‘I guess you’re thinking of selling snacks.’

It was a really good idea. I thought the reaction of the members who didn’t want to go to the carrot field again would also be good.

“…! “It’s delicious.”

“Thank goodness.”

Liu Chengwu was impressed by both the taste and the idea.

‘I’ll have to keep an eye on it and assist when cooking in large quantities.’

But that idea is quickly shattered.

This is because Park Moon-dae who had poured more than half of the snacks into the container as soon as they had cooled down said this.

“The other kids are going to make sujebi… Let’s go together brother.”

“…me?”

Where?

And Park Moon-dae walked along with himself… to the village hall where he had just finished dinner.

'…??'

What on earth is going on?

"Hello old man."

"ah! "Aren't you that guy who brought a camera from Seoul?"

"The camera came with me today too. And I made something. "It's soft so it would be perfect to eat now."

"Oh my what else!"

Thanks to the enthusiastic support of the seniors who discovered something fun for the first time in a long time Park Moon-dae scattered cookies in droves.

Liu Chengwu suddenly joined in the action.

Park Moon-dae went one step further and sold out Ryu Cheong-woo himself.

"This guy won a gold medal in archery at the Olympics. "Do you remember?"

"Oh my!"

"Yeah I think I remember hey~"

"ha ha ha."

Ryu Cheong-woo smiled and shook hands eagerly and gave him a massage but he still didn't know why Park Moon-dae was acting like this.

"Let me sing a song."

“Draw draw~”

Park Moon-dae even sang his own trot song and even danced to ‘POP★CON’ showing off all kinds of jokes.

“…??”

Ryu Cheong-woo’s feelings became more complicated but without saying anything he sang a verse and eagerly answered the seniors’ questions.

‘I guess he has an idea.’

And when the atmosphere was fully ripe and the elders’ barriers came down.

Park Moon-dae got straight to the point.

“By any chance are you talking about this bottle cap? Did the people from Seoul say anything about this today?”

“Ah that!”

While the camera director is confused Park Moon-dae finally hears the truth.

“That is…”

* * *

I opened my mouth.

“So I heard you decided to give the latest massage chair to the ten residents with the most carrot coins.”

All the members who heard the full story of the incident gathered together and confronted the production team on the veranda.

The PD seemed to be avoiding eye contact. Soon he muttered more shamelessly.

“No did you come after hearing that?”

“Ugh!”

“That’s right!”

“How could you do that to us really!”

Criticism is pouring in.

Even Sun Ah-hyun blushed.

“You said healing or suing me…!”

“Huh?”

The PD naturally recommended it.

“Do it~ Sue me!”

“…!!”

“No Carrot Coin~ Is this an actual currency? “It’s a bottle cap~ I don’t know if it will work!”

“Aaaah!”

Fluttering.

Bae Se-jin shakes his shoulders and mutters through gritted teeth.

“I will not forget…”

“Producer~ One day this will all come back as karma!”

Then the PD must have been a bit offended and hastily makes an excuse.

“No guys… you’re not going to do this to me. The culprit who stole it! “There definitely is!”

“…!”

“If you just find the culprit! We’ll return all the coins… and we’ll give you our own prize money! 100 coins!”

“…! “Really?”

“Really~ Were you just fooled?”

Oh you lied.

“…”

I took a deep breath.

okay. This is how it’s funny and fun.

Testa has become accustomed to this production team due to his experience with numerous scams.

So this is the right way to create a more stimulating and interesting picture.

‘It’s also the best at making cuts that make the kids risk their lives to find the culprit and make fun of it in front of the elders and the production crew.’

“…”

But… why are you treated like this? A picture that is unexpected and unexpected in someone else’s design? I’m not funny. I.

“Mumundae? are you okay?”

“…”

I made up my mind.

The PD’s voice rings out.

“Please find the culprit~”

It was just after midnight that day. At this point the production crew withdrew leaving only the unmanned cameras.

Grumble.

I quietly opened the front door and came out.

Of course you are not alone.

“Um… Mundae hyung.”

Kim Rae-bin dressed in training clothes hesitantly followed along with a confused look on his face.

“I… do you mind if I ask why you are accompanying me?”

“Pick up the shovel and follow me.”

“…??”

“I’m going to dig up carrots now.”

I won’t leave you alone.

Chapter 361

Walking through rural rice fields at night can be quite creepy. Because there are not a lot of lights like in the city but streetlights flicker occasionally.

Still it doesn't seem to have much of an effect on people who are used to this to begin with.

I asked the guy trudging along with the shovel.

"Aren't you scared?"

"…! "Maybe I have a reason to be afraid…"

Done. Let's get on with our work. I picked up my smartphone and turned it on to video recording mode.

"Is it a camera?"

"I think we should film what happens."

I waved at the selfie camera. Kim Rae-bin also instinctively lowers his head.

"hello everyone. The time is now 3:30 in the morning. "We left home safely."

"That's right."

"I'll explain why I came out."

I declared calmly.

"No more carrot economic scams… We have decided to start a revolution.”

“yes??”

“revolution.”

Raebin Kim’s pupils began to tremble.

“Um… bro. Of course getting carrot coins is important but wouldn’t it be rude to carelessly dig up a field that belongs to someone else…?”

“Of course that’s rude.”

“yes?”

I stopped at an ambiguous place where a stream begins at the end of a rice field.

I guess it’s okay since we’ve reached this point.

“Let’s leave the shovel here.”

“A shovel…?”

Raebin Kim looks dazed for a moment but then regains his intelligence.

“If I still want to pull carrots wouldn’t it be easier to bring a shovel?”

I chuckled.

“The destination is not the carrot field.”

“…!”

“I brought it out because if I did this other people would think I was going to a carrot field.”

There are unmanned cameras all over the house. Of course one of the youngest members on duty would be observing.

If so our unexpected behavior would certainly have been reported.

‘I’m heading to the carrot field.’

‘I should have predicted it from the beginning.’

Coins and carrots with a one-to-one exchange rate.

Then aren’t there likely to be people who go to frost real carrots at night?

Just look at Kim Rae-bin right now.

“Were you worried that I was going to steal crops from someone else’s carrot field?”

“I am in no way questioning my brother’s morality and since it is entertainment after all I thought that such a pattern of behavior might be possible!”

“okay. I had a hard time thinking about it. “Don’t worry any more.”

It’s fishing aimed at the opposite.

‘Just look at me playing in a carrot field somewhere.’

Aren’t we recording separately like this for those of you who can’t keep up?

I also placed a flash light and a hoe on the shovel. And then I took another step.

“Are you throwing it away?”

“No I’ll leave it for a while and come back to get it. “It’s a bit awkward to go into the store with a shovel.”

“That’s true but… are there any stores open this early in the morning?”

“Yes.”

I raised my finger and pointed to a faintly twinkling sign in the distance.

“A place open 24 hours a day.”

“…?”

Raebin Kim turns his gaze to follow the finger. I took a picture of it with my camera.

A puzzled face appears on the screen.

“Why… here?”

“I heard you’ve also visited a place like this and made a request.”

Last time I heard you talking about your childhood.

“yes. That’s true but…”

“Okay I only trust you.”

“…?? “Oh I understand!”

Raebin Kim looked even more confused but quickly answered. As expected he is easy to work with because he doesn’t complain.

“good. “Let’s go in.”

We entered an old building that was still lit.

Red letters blow in the wind on illegal road advertisements.

[Woori General Hardware Store]

[Emergency on-site construction available – open 24 hours]

* * *

And the morning is bright.

“Has everyone woke up?”

“good morning…”

“…Why are you coming out of the entrance instead of your room…?”

We returned to the accommodation after 7 o’clock.

There is nothing in particular in my hand. These are just the tools I took with me when I left.

The PD camped out in the yard asks in a puzzled voice.

“Where have you two been?”

Still I sent a text message to the production crew last night saying I was on an adventure so I guess they didn’t report me missing or anything.

I answered putting the shovel back in the yard.

“I tried to go to the carrot field but I got lost.”

“Hahaha!”

Are you happy?

Be very happy. It’s more fun that way.

And after the production crew’s interrogation questions come pouring in from colleagues.

“What did you do bro? Did you eat something delicious with Raebin Kim? “Did you do something fun?”

“no. “I starved.”

“Oh… okay. cheer up.”

Cha Yu-jin passed.

And as he passes by the guys who are still sleeping or have just woken up one guy puts him in a headlock.

Of course it’s a big hit.

“No~ I feel sorry for you. “How can you leave Sejin alone and do this at night like this… sob.”

Let go you bastard.

“There is no such thing as quantity. “I didn’t have a camera so I used a smartphone.”

“With Park Moon-dae’s filming skills didn’t he film it like a professional? “It must be an important scene I’m even more disappointed~”

I am indeed.

“I thought I would get caught if there were a lot of people so that’s it? “I took Ravin because he had a role to play.”

“oh…”

Big Sejin stops crying and grins.

“I’m becoming more and more curious?”

“I’ll deliver it to you before breakfast so gather the kids.”

“hmm?”

I chuckled.

“Because you did a good job. “I have to share it.”

And after a while.

The production crew hears Testa’s sudden announcement that he is going out.

“Everyone you only have 4 coins are you really going to go shopping?”

“yes. “I still want to go.”

“Oh it’s good for us~ Whatever it is Testa’s grandchildren feel the same way!”

Use your tongue well as if it were oiled. I guess they were excited to make fun of us scrambling to buy something.

Anyway we went to the supermarket again in the morning accompanied by the production crew.

As soon as we entered the entrance Liu Chengwu explained in a friendly voice.

“Guys shall we choose everything we want to eat?”

“Yeaaah! great!”

“Okay then… I’ll bring some fruit…!”

The production team was taken aback when they saw the members scattering in perfect order.

“Huh?”

“what?”

And the PD speaks to me in a subdued voice.

“You know that if you get frost in the carrot field it’s theft right? “Are you deducting double the penalty?”

“I said I didn’t do it.”

They seem to suspect that they dug up the carrots and hid them in a corner of the field where surveillance nets could not reach.

Unfortunately that’s not the case.

“Okay~ So this is the end?”

“for a moment.”

“Wow the door is big. “One duck per person?”

When I go to the checkout with a mountain of supermarket items I have selected the manager of the supermarket welcomes me once again.

However what they say is different.

“Well since you’re done give me just one coin…”

“…!!”

“Thank you~”

As Keun Se-jin quickly tries to finish the calculation the production crew shouts in confusion.

“Hahana?”

“Wait a minute.”

“This can’t be like this…?”

“Huh? “It can’t be like this the manager said~ Cheongwoo please calculate!”

“Haha yeah.”

Liu Chengwu handed out the coin and finished the calculation.

Click!

Looking at the amount displayed next to it I think I bought something worth 300000 won. The production cost is sweet.

The PD managed to ask.

“…What did you do?”

“What is it?”

“No what did you do??”

“Why do you keep doing this? Originally residents voluntarily received the price they wanted. “Isn’t that right?”

“…”

Other staff members can be heard holding back laughter around the PD whose mouth is wide open.

I nodded to Raebin Kim telling him not to say anything.

“I’m glad you gave it to me cheaply.”

“I know.”

First complete section 1.

After preparing and eating a huge breakfast I drove the cart again to help the elderly.

“Hey!”

“Cha Yu-jin slow down! speed!”

And this time too enthusiastic and generous coins pour in.

“Take this~ It’s a service for sweeping the yard yesterday~”

“Thank you…!”

“Oh my the young people are having a hard time~ Here! I’m the perfect one! “I put in five.”

“wow! “Father really… good-looking people think differently right?”

I earned 36 coins in just 3 hours.

More than the first day.

The members shrug their shoulders.

“Oh I earned as much as the daily wage on our carrot farm.”

“That’s it. let’s go.”

At this point the PD committed suicide.

“Senior massage chair… don’t you need it?”

“I don’t need it~ It would be great to have that~”

“Ugh!”

The PD can't stand it anymore and starts spitting out an alien language made up of exclamation points.

If I were to translate it it would be something like 'You bastards make the game dirty.' This is an undeserved compliment.

I lowly high-fived the members.

Verse 2 successful.

And around the time of eating Saecham.

I prepared for the last revelation before I went crazy.

"I'm done washing dishes~"

"Let's get some rest."

Ryu Cheong-woo quietly unpacks his lucky bag and places it in front of him as if to lie down comfortably among the guys lying on the veranda.

And the production crew who were confused and asking about news about the village suddenly asked the question.

"What on earth…"

The author who was checking his lucky bag just in case soon discovered something.

"Huh?"

"why?"

Then he calls out to the PD passionately and holds out a coin.

"Is this different??"

“…!!”

The production crew begins to murmur. And for a while I ran around and dialed my phone like crazy.

Just then the right news arrives.

“Someone distributed dozens of carrot coins to each house in the morning! “They said it was a special gift…”

“…!”

Oh I got caught.

Although it was already too late.

“…Testa’s grandchildren.”

“yes.”

“Now… they say there are over a thousand carrot coins loose in this town?”

“is it so?”

okay.

If you think that your coin holdings are at the level of the top 10 stable coins wouldn’t it be natural for people’s hearts to return?

“There are about 500 of them in the supermarket too?”

“is it so.”

okay. We negotiated there as well.

-In the future when cameras arrive please allow me to purchase them all with one coin.

Since the cost of the goods is charged to the production team anyway there is nothing to lose.

“Everyone how did this happen??”

“We don’t know either. yes?”

“Okay then.”

PD calls out.

“Mr. Mundae! Mr. Ravine! “What did you do when you left at dawn?”

What are you doing just stick a carrot?

I didn’t go to the field at dawn but I did mine coins.

‘It’s because the mining method is unique.’

So who would make coins in such a sloppy manner as if they were children’s free toys?

Easy to replicate.

“No this…! this! “It’s fake.”

“Is there a problem?”

I tilted my head as I looked at the production crew in astonishment holding the same yellow carrot-patterned coin printed at a hardware store.

“I don’t know. “It looks the same and everything is the same right?”

“Oh it’s exactly the same?”

“…I don’t know the difference either.”

The production crew screams as they are assisted by members with the same name who naturally sympathize with them.

okay.

It's fun to watch entertainment shows where successful people suffer from unexpected events.

But I don't think it necessarily needs to be a test.

So… what about a certain entertainment production company that is defrauding the cast who have been on the path to success until now?

Those guys now.

"anyway! Mr. Mundae Mr. Ravin I'm sure you went to the hardware store and ordered something!"

I guess I figured it out now.

"yes."

"Now Testa's grandchildren can only use carrot coins. What happened?"

PD shouted excitedly at the tail he had finally caught.

I shrugged.

"Oh they gave it to me for free because they were my fans."

"…!!"

"who! I work with a fan spirit! "You gave me money right!"

uh. Of course I put it on credit. It's easy to be a celebrity with a well-known face.

It was a few times more expensive because it was handled by real-time express at night but it was worth every penny.

But I answered without changing my expression.

“Do you have any evidence?”

“Ugh!”

If you’re good at that I’ll grab your back.

And soon the PD changed his target.

“Mr. Ravine!”

“Yes yes?”

“Mr. Ravin you are a good person. Are you condoning lies like this?”

“That…”

Oooh. That’s a good approach.

But I also expected you to do that.

“It’s not a lie.”

“yes…?”

Raebin Kim said with clenched fists.

“And the Carrot Coin… it is a desirable trend that a lot of it goes to everyone.”

“…!!”

“If a problem arises I will provide you with a massage chair at my own expense!”

“yes??”

I already brainwashed him for 2 hours… no I explained it well and convinced him.

“…”

That’s how the production crew sank.

“Mundaemundae buy everything from our mart. “It’s a coin.”

“Wait a minute.”

“Why they say they will get one based on residents’ voluntary pricing.”

“sorry! sorry!”

Even the artist picks up the sketchbook in which he hastily wrote.

[We have a huge production cost and PPL! Please save me!]

Unconditional surrender.

“Healing! “I’ll give you healing!”

“Just this time?”

“Next time too! Next time we’ll take you to the hot springs over there for our Very Healing Full Course! Hot springs!”

In this way the economic disturbance in the Carrot Coin world came to an end due to indiscriminate mass production.

And just at that point the preview for episode 1 was released.

Chapter 362

————————==

[New Testa entertainment show comes out]

(trailer video)

The combination of Sazza PD and Testa who are famous for always drawing legendary john jams haha.

+I guess I'm going to the countryside!

————————==

It's 11 o'clock on a weekday night when there are many people watching the live broadcast of something.

Kim Rae-bin's fan saw the trailer that appeared on TV recently and accessed the Internet and of course there was a lot of discussion about it in the community.

-A combination you can trust

-Wow my grandson is already cuteㅠㅠ

-I guess it's really healing this time. It's time for our kids to take a break really.

-I think only real fans will see this

□?? There are a lot of people who like this kind of thing what are you talking about?

□Feeling of hitting

To sum up the response was moderately good as it was a steady-selling country meal content for a production team that created legends every time.

However Kim Rae-bin's fans knew.

The fact that there is not much aggro means that it is not that hot.

'This means that only pure people are commenting on this.'

At the time of Hotteok and Desert Island it was so spectacular that it almost turned the Internet bulletin board upside down but now it's just ordinary.

I sighed.

"Phew."

He pretended not to be my younger brother and was watching a TV trailer with me when he stabbed my older sister in the back.

"Why are they appearing on a variety show? "Isn't it good?"

"Oh if you don't know just shut up."

This is some kind of signal.

'Mannerism signal!'

There was no jealousy or anger. I just thought this way.

'Is it time for that?… '

Kim Rae-bin's fans were feeling a little bit upset.

As a freelancer and a beginner in society she slowly began to compromise her personality with social life and so she felt a similar sentiment in Deokjil.

‘Now that I have completed my annual leave and won the grand prize I want to do something comfortable.’

okay. Everyone said they were feeling sick and we started looking into it after a few days of rest. Isn’t the title performance of this activity already crazy?

‘How can the eye color not be Dongtae?’

In the past I would have run amok and said things like ‘Get my favorite like a medieval rabbit out of the crowd of bastards who have lost their original intention’ but not anymore.

‘Okay… they’re human too so what can we do about burnout?’

All you have to do is not show off in front of the camera. The stage is still crazy and I take good care of myself.

‘Even if they fight they seem to make up quickly.’

It seemed like Moon-Dae Park and Se-Jin Lee had a fight during a concert in Japan not long ago but judging from the fact that it didn’t come to light right away their professionalism is still there.

She stopped while recalling the timeline of her secret account which was briefly speculated about behind the scenes.

My younger brother got irritated.

“Hey so you’re not going to see it?”

“I’ll see!”

Overall I’m a little disappointed but I’m hoping for a natural disaster reversal like the uninhabited island.

‘Well anyway what kind of spectacle is it in the countryside? Sun Ah-hyun will set the kitchen on fire… ’

Still since that PD had such an impressive track record she decided not to judge it hastily.

And the day episode 1 aired.

She is a little embarrassed.

"…hmm."

Surprisingly… fun huh?

At the beginning the production team gathered testers during the meeting and cried out for healing.

Of course Testa didn't believe it.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Hmm… it's scary.]

[Lee Se-jin: Oh and we were just… It was actually rural Alaska! Is it like this?]

[Writer: Not really really!]

In the end tear-soaked subtitles appeared on the fast-forwarded meeting screen due to the long persuasion time.

[I trusted the production team only after hearing that it was okay to sue Testa…]

"greatness!"

Kim Rae-bin's fans almost laughed too.

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-Even if I am a tester then

-Karma is back hahahaha

The amount of time spent on self-reflection by the production team continues in a funny way.

[Youngest Writer: Mr. Mundae's doubts and worries until the very end…]

[PD: Our sins are deep. really.]

And in strong contrast to that gloomy and satirical scene… Testa's first day of filming.

[Testa: Waaagh!]

The bus scene which exploded with excitement on a sunny day finally began.

[The persuasion effect was amazing!]

[These people were really excited…]

On the screen Testa was having fun on the bus singing looking at the scenery and playing games.

[Trance]

[Bae Se-jin: Don't unfasten your seat belt because it's dangerous!]

[Lee Se-jin: That's right that's right everyone stay in your place and enjoy it~]

[Cha Yu-jin: Yay!]!

[True untact ballroom]

[~So excited~]

Testa who was obsessed with the healing keyword was completely immersed in the outing and his tension rose.

[Lee Se-jin: Rest area! Let's eat algamja at the rest area!]

[Park Moon-dae: I have cash.]

[cheers]

In short it seemed more exciting than I imagined.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-The kids let go of themselves? LOL

-What should I do? I'm so excited that I can actually play this time haha ㅠㅠㅠ

-This is the first observational entertainment show where the cast is so eager to enjoy themselves.

Even though Testa arrived at the accommodation with the same momentum he started moving amidst the buzz of cameras as soon as the production crew gave him instructions.

[Cha Yujin: It's warm!]

[Raebin Kim: Don't lie down right after eating!]

It was fun to see them lying down in a yellow-floored room or seeing them having fun looking at coins that looked like toys as they were full of energy.

[Lee Se-jin: Oh my~ Do you want to go with your brother? Shall we go together?]

And the excitement reached its peak when the dog was brought along.

[Mungge / 3 months of life]

[Park Moon-dae: (fidgeting)]

[Contemplating if he is my younger brother↑]

The baby pet effect was enormous. I cried in every social media post.

-Ahhhhhh

-Do you think Mundaengdaeng has a younger brother? ㅠㅠㅠ

-Wow… I can't believe this two-shot is complete.

-Two Sigorjab baby Baekgu glutinous rice cakes!! Two!!

"crazy…"

Even Kim Rae-bin's fans opened their mouths.

'If you have the same hair color as Park Moon-dae this… '

Even if you don't look at it every account that creates edited memes is probably pouring out captures.

[Hello Testa brothers (front soles)]

Moreover the sight of seven grown adults cuddling a small puppy and making a fuss not knowing what to do was even funny.

[Cha Yu-jin: Please give me more sweet potatoes!]

[Park Moon-dae: What are you talking about? If you eat more you will become a pig.]

[But the hand is honest]

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Why are you naturally tying Eugene to the dog and treating him like that?

-Everyone has really strong characters.

The dog became bloated after eating all kinds of homemade snacks. Cha Yu-jin also benefited.

She continued watching the entertainment show as if fascinated.

The production crew did a good job filming the scenes and bringing out the changes and narratives of each tester in a cute way.

For example Raebin Kim did not initially stand out among the residents' welcome picks.

'It's an award for the best defeat at a meeting ceremony.'

That's right. It was because of the sharp decadent look and piercings. However as time passed awareness rapidly increased.

[Kim Rae-bin: Here it is!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Then take this!]

[Kim Rae-bin: I will do it!]

[(Firecracker) Sun Tzu a worker of the era (Firecracker)]

This is because the polite and pure attitude and attire were so natural.

It was a vibe unique to someone who had lived like that since childhood.

Later the residents even secretly gave them snacks which was broadcast openly.

[Resident: Oh I think he does the best job! Just eat well~]

[Resident: Uh… can you eat one of these?]

[Raebin Kim: Thank you! thank you for this food! If you need anything to do please feel free to call me.]

Isn't an idol with both rawness and nerdiness a dream combination?'

She nodded saying that the combination of the countryside and Kim Rae-bin would definitely produce memes.

Each character has a clear outline so just Tiki Taka is full of content.

Testa helps out elderly people whom he doesn't know shows jokes rides his bike across the rice fields and carries groceries.

[Park Moon-dae: Bro what leg has an engine on it?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Hahaha!]

Overall for the fans it couldn't have been better than this.

'It's surprisingly okay even if you don't have a purpose… '

Testa who had been together for a few years now knew how to talk well and lead the program without feeling awkward even if they were left alone.

As a result it seemed good for ordinary viewers to watch without stress.

[Seon Ah-hyun: The weather is really nice. yes?]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes.]

This is because electronic devices were not displayed well on the screen and the unique sensibility of the rural space gave me a strange feeling of old youth.

Although it lacked unique features like previous entertainment shows the name Testa was valuable enough to become a feature so the viewership ratings did not seem to be bad.

‘I don’t think the ratings will fail and the popularity won’t win…?’

From Sun Ah-hyun who almost starts a fire while trying to barbecue in the yard to Bae Se-jin who throws a book into the ridge of a rice field and screams without screaming. The comedy was also done very well.

[Cha Yu-jin: Fire! fire! Fire!]

[Bae Se-jin: There’s meat don’t throw sand! turn off! Just turn it off!]

[Lee Se-jin: Gyaaaaa!]

Beep!

[※Adjusting screen※]

[It took seven adults an hour to extinguish the fire.]

There were some humorous elements coming from idols who are not used to this kind of life.

‘It has its own pace.’

Even touching at the end.

[Lee Se-jin: It smells good.]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes.]

Testa who finished the delivery and ate ice cream while lying in the pavilion was all smiles.

A comfortable bare face that is shown regardless of the busy and hectic schedule.

When I thought about the fact that I had stopped working for a while due to body pain even people like me felt a little sad.

“Hey the dog is in trouble.”

“shut up.”

Kim Rae-bin’s fan gave her younger brother a reprimand and tried to focus on the screen again.

It was that moment.

[??? : Waaagh!!]

“…?!”

Suddenly red-hot subtitles appear covering the faint scenery of the pavilion.

And the cheers and screams of many people shake the screen.

[??? : Done!! That’s it!!]

[??? : Hmmkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk]

And the black screen appears for a moment… then brightens again.

The production crew gathers in the yard and applauds.

“…??”

“what.”

And subtitles again.

[Why is the production team so happy?]

[Are you curious?]

That’s right.

[To be released next week.]

“hey!”

And then an advertisement played.

“Hey what just happened?”

“I don’t know either!”

It’s been a long time since I was this excited about this commercial break!

‘go away!’

And fortunately the screen came back soon. And the trailer aired normally.

[The University of Arts says we should educate ourselves?]

[Great approval!]

This is Testa enjoying continuous healing.

However a vague reminiscent OST from a famous drama was used as BGM.

[It was good back then～♪]

Even the screen changes to a sepia color like a flashback to the past.

It was a very blatant… preview of a modification.

* * *

Episode 1 was aired.

And I was embarrassed.

‘Why… is there such a positive response?’

No I thought it would be good but I had no idea it would be so well received by the public.

‘I thought it would run a bit even though it sounded like fun.’

Thanks to the magic of editing episode 1 made good use of contrasting atmospheres and came out cleanly and without being boring.

Of course it was a good thing but there were some side effects.

-Ah what on earth did the production crew do?

-It’s funny but sad. Please don’t do anything too bad. Kids like it like that haha.

-I’m afraid of next week

-I’m going crazy. It looks like I’m going to hit a goal lol.

-I think it would have been better if it went on like this. What if the kids have a hard time?

Episode 1 was chosen so well that even people reacted with a bit of discomfort at the change in atmosphere.

Thanks to this the production crew seems to be in a bit of a state of emergency.

‘Do you regret stabbing yourself in the back for no reason?’

That won’t be it.

To be honest the progress is fast and it’s only one episode so it’s edited with great care but I get sick of Healing quickly.

But now that I look at it I wonder if the production staff would have switched back to the healing code at the last minute without me having to do it.

Because it turned out that demand was good.

‘Well… but if the result is the same anyway wouldn’t the one with more twists and turns be more fun?’

The production team is also thankful. I shrugged my shoulders.

At that time Bae Se-jin who was watching the reaction next to him opened his mouth.

“Our filming… until today.”

Oh that’s it.

“yes. Now we have to withdraw quickly. “If they find out where it is people might flock and cause chaos in the neighborhood.”

“…yes.”

The guy nodded with a serious face.

“But… this was pretty good too.”

“Sure.”

In the second half it was filled with the story of making a lot of food and inviting people to have a party but it was fun to see the production crew suffering because they spent a lot of money.

‘Of course we will sort out the money issue in the end.’

I was satisfied when it was over because I felt like it showed a variety of tastes. I nodded.

“But there’s one thing that hasn’t been revealed yet.”

“hmm?”

Bae Se-jin frowned and muttered.

“In the end who was the culprit who took the carrot coin? “That’s why all of this happened in the first place.”

Oh are you paying attention to that?

‘I left it behind on purpose.’

After confirming that the camera was not there because it was replacing data I answered quietly.

“It’s obvious. “He must have been an insider.”

“…!”

A look of embarrassment appears on Bae Se-jin’s face.

“He… he’s among us!?”

“yes.”

I muttered quietly.

“It wouldn’t be fun if it were someone else. Because it has to be among us the plot is good and the twists are impactful. “He must be among us.”

Bae Se-jin listened with a blank expression and immediately seemed to understand.

And suddenly he asked with a nervous look on his face.

“…Are you saying this because you thought it was me? “Because we need that acting ability.”

That must have been so.

“no. “I don’t think you are my brother.”

“why??”

Why are you so upset when you say no?

“My brother was so calm.”

“…?!”

If Bae Se-jin had been the culprit he would have reacted calmly and with common sense.

It’s definitely not true to see him being overly immersed in his usual out-of-focus seriousness.

“Actually there is a suspicious person.”

“who?”

I turned my head and looked at the guy outside the room.

‘Is it really him?’

Big Sejin.

The guy who still looks happy is showing off his energetic side.

He has good acting skills good split-second judgment and good social skills. He is the perfect person to outwit a spy.

In fact this was the main reason why I didn’t take that guy with me when duplicating the coin.

‘Because if I stab the production crew it’s over.’

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth as if he noticed my gaze.

“Ise…”

“It’s just a suspicion. “Let’s figure it out and end it among ourselves.”

“Hmm. “Okay okay.”

I decided to stop there.

Since I’m a guy who likes length so much it would be better to save it for the last bit of back-and-forth that will appear on the air.

That’s definitely what I thought at the time.

Chapter 363

next week.

The details of how we were stabbed by the production team were only revealed in the second half of episode 2.

‘I guess so.’

It was scheduled to be 5 episodes but if all the coins were used up from the beginning of episode 2 the length would not be balanced.

Thanks to this the impact of the stabbing scene became stronger after the peaceful healing.

The moment Testa smiles happily and opens the penalty note.

[Kim Rae-bin: This morning an unidentified night guest came in… and stole all of Testa’s precious ‘Carrot Coins’?]

[!!!!]

…I caught them all in close-up one by one as the coins were being stolen and the smiles disappearing from their faces.

Real-time reactions explode.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssst

-Look at the kids’ expressions.

-Don’t put a surprised lump behind Mundae’s face ㅋㅋㅠㅠㅠ

-No the production crew seems to be having a blast haha.

…And with the typing effect the plan is reorganized from the production team's perspective.

[Full story of the incident]

[40 days ago]

The production team sitting around the table is having a serious conversation.

[PD: No they suffered too much! I definitely (turn on) the light in my eyes so as not to get hurt again]

[Lee Writer: That's right.]

[Writer Park: Shouldn't we approach it very structurally and delicately?]

[Similar to a wild animal capture team]

These guys were so determined to film all of this.

"Wow."

"You said you did it like that?"

Laughing as if it's absurd comes out here and there. Everyone is watching at the same time while moving in the car.

Anyway the production crew on screen continue their briefing laughing among themselves and accompanied by exciting BGM.

[PD: First let's look at the members with average vigilance.]

And subtitles appear like a mission manual.

[Difficulty ★★]

[Sun Ah-hyeon and Bae Se-jin]

[Features / Once you fool them they easily get away with it]

“I?!”

“Uhmmm…”

“Hehehehe.”

Calm laughter spreads at Bae Se-jin’s embarrassment and Sun Ah-hyeon’s embarrassment.

[PD: Here you only have to logically convince them once.]

[Writer Park: That’s right. They are such nice people (it is possible).]

[This writer: Morality is morality.]

And then comes the statement.

[PD: No let’s just… tell them to sue if they get stabbed in the back.]

[LOL]

And at the meeting the writers continue to make accusations.

“…!”

[It worked well.^^]

“Uuuuuu…!”

For a moment the two of them blush with betrayal and then the screen moves on to the next batter.

[Difficulty ★★★]

[Ryu Cheong-woo]

[Features / Not noticeable]

“haha.”

Liu Qingyu smiled shyly as he saw a collection of his gentle expressions passing by on the screen.

[Writer Park: A little… There’s no need to fake it~ You can just create an atmosphere like this right?]

[Writer Lee: Even if you don’t believe it it’s okay because you don’t show it (?)]

It was edited as if it was random but surprisingly it gets right to the point.

[Difficulty ★★★★?]

[Cha Yujin]

[Features / Incomprehensible American Sonja]

[Lee Writer: I really don’t know… but this is a scam and you wouldn’t care right?]

[PD: Okay]

[And Cha Yu-jin really didn’t care…]

On the screen Cha Yu-jin’s bright collection of eating and driving passes by. It looks like he’s busy just enjoying what he’s doing.

‘It’s consistent.’

I looked at the real-time reaction filled with ‘ㅋ’ again and then looked at the screen again.

Five stars appeared.

[Difficulty ★★★★★]

[Lee Se-jin]

[Writer Park: It seems like you already know everything.]

[(lol)]

[PD: No aren't you just waiting for us to stab you in the back? [He's a friend who knows entertainment.]

[Writer Lee: Still I have to fake it. If you unconditionally pick him up he will definitely be someone who will be active in healing.]

It was correct. These guys have surprisingly good analytical skills.

[Characteristics / Sincerity in entertainment]

On the screen a cut scene showed Lee Se-jin's face enjoying the healing entertainment 200%.

"Handsome~"

'hmm.'

I slept on my chin. In my case I pulled out enough pieces…

'Will it pass like this?'

It wasn't.

A red star rating appears again on the screen.

[Difficulty ★★★★★]

[Difficulty ★★★★★ + ★!]

And the text appears with the effect of being hit.

no way.

[Park Moon Dae]

“…!”

“Hahaha!”

Let’s ignore it.

The screen excitedly pours out subtitles again.

[AKA Tibetan University Mundaeng]

[Characteristics / Always suspicious of the production crew’s tricks]

[PD: I think it’s almost instinct.]

[Author: Is it because it’s a dog? My nose is really like a dog’s nose (hahaha)]

…What follows is a roughly edited version of me asking about the production team’s tricks.

[Park Moon-dae: The bus destination is definitely a rural home right?]

[Park Moon-dae: Didn’t you lend me a coin?

[Park Moon-dae: Betting on production costs…]

[doubt]

[suspicion]

[I absolutely do not believe it…!]

“Hahaha!”

“Park Moon-dae’s expression…!”

“…”

Even though it went through CG and editing I wouldn’t have looked at it with such blatant suspicion.

[Never deceive. certainly…!]

Anyway the magnificent BGM ends with the production team making a decision. The screen also cut out once.

Then a strange sound comes from around you.

“What about Ravin?”

“Then why is it Ravin…”

And then the next scene appears with some trivial BGM.

[supplement]

[Difficulty ★]

[Kim Rae-bin]

“…!”

[PD: I really like Mr. Ravin.]

[Writer Park: Me too.]

[Lee writer: A character that is a bit like every entertainment producer’s dream.]

On the screen there are numerous cuts of Kim Rae-bin trying to figure things out on his own with a question mark on his head.

“Haha!”

“Oh my.”

“…”

I glanced to the side. Kim Rae-bin’s pupils are shaking again. Let’s pretend we didn’t see it.

[Thank you Mr. Ravin by all members of the production team]

Anyway after that the content of episode 1 was reorganized from the production team’s perspective and a lot of thriller-like humor broke out.

[Eye of suspicion]

[Lee Writer: It won’t work. Mr. Moon Dae and Mr. Sejin are still (doubting)]

[Youngest Writer: !! Director! That puppy at the director’s house!]

[Decided to supply fellow countrymen]

And when it was finally caught the production crew hugged and shouted as if they had scored a goal in the World Cup.

[Aaaah!!↗ (joy)]

[This is how it happened. ^^]

“Hey people really.”

Even looking at it again it’s still disgusting.

Afterwards the sight of Testa suffering from crazy prices in various places and eventually being dragged into a vast carrot field and stretched out was nothing short of black comedy.

-I'm scared of fraud like this.

-Do not coin

– Hahahahahahaha

It is clear that people are saddened by the rapid change in pace and atmosphere but are also having fun.

And here's an exquisite trailer.

This is Raebin Kim holding a shovel at night.

-???

-What is it?

-Why Gapbun Thriller

The dialogue is also exquisite.

[Kim Rae-bin: I'm going…]

[Kwakwang!]

After the inserted thunder and lightning the program ends with lively BGM.

So the stark contrast stands out even more.

-No hahaha

-Ughhhhh

-I asked what it was lol.

-Could it be that I am going to be with the Lord?

-It looks like the production crew is leaving.

“Kim Rae-bin’s face is strange!”

“It’s probably because of the lighting Ravin…”

“I’m fine…”

I looked at Kim Rae-bin whose face turned red and laid her head down on the sofa and shook my head.

‘Aggro they’re coming… ’

Anyway for the past few days people have been screaming and making funny guesses because Kim Rae-bin looked like he was going to bury someone.

And next it was another few days before common sense speculation emerged.

-Isn’t it overtime? Working overtime digging carrots haha

-I guess it’s true the kids must have had a hard time…

But it was neither.

‘You’re finally here.’

[Park Moon-dae: (I can’t stand it.)]

The reconstructed replica of me and Kim Rae-bin’s midnight getaway coin was finally broadcast next week.

And the viewer reaction exploded.

-Park Moon-dae ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋ

-I'm glad you're an idol I'm glad

-Forge Punch of Justice

-Someone save Ravin he was caught lol.

But why am I a fool and Raebin Kim a victim of fraud?

-No Park Moon-dae took good pictures with a professional camera. It's even funnier because it doesn't shake. He looks like a professional forger.

-Revolution 〈- Mundaengdaeng Since when was counterfeiting currency a revolution?

-They told me to stop synthesizing it haha.

This is confirmed. My entertainment image has become that of a completely strange person. To put it bluntly he is crazy.

I held back a sigh.

'Still I'm glad he's not a bad guy.'

This has been familiar since the time of Azusa. I decided to calmly accept this distortion.

'The production team also made some sacrifices.'

Image-wise.

Because the production team thoroughly edited themselves into an obnoxious position they actually received some criticism before this episode.

And in this episode Testa turned the tide of the war providing tremendous catharsis.

'Thank you for that.'

It was an edit that captured both Testa's topicality and image.

'The counterattack was also successful.'

I nodded wondering if it would be okay for us to do this together next time.

…and after a satirical gag parody edited like a drama trailer called 'Animal Farm with Coins' became popular on social media.

After episode 4 we return to healing… Finally the last episode.

We gathered in the living room again.

"It's been a long time since we gathered together like this to watch TV."

"Really~ It's a bit difficult because of the time difference but… it's fun right?"

"Make the sound louder!"

This is because there was a suggestion from the production team to film a reaction video for episode 5 and use it as content for WeTube.

There's probably one reason.

'There's another twist.'

There is only one thing left unresolved so there is nothing to think about. Won't it come out about who stole the carrot coin?

And there is someone who already guesses who the culprit is.

"hmm? "Mundaemun University why~?"

"no."

I put my head back and started watching TV.

The first and middle parts of the show were edited to make it embarrassingly cute showing them performing and joking around in front of seniors.

Our average is in the mid-20s so I don't know if it's okay to be like this but the important thing anyway is the following.

The moment we boarded the bus to return.

[PD: But you guys didn't catch the culprit in the end?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Haha that's right. Are you going to fool me and tell me now?]

[PD: Sorry.]

Unlike the producer's exaggeratedly servile voice meaningful subtitles appear.

[indeed…?]

What switches is again a meeting scene of the production team.

I nodded.

'It's time to come out.'

And I waited for the big Sejin to appear…

[PD: First of all excluding Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin.]

[Writer Park: People who are too perceptive are a bit like that. It has to be unexpected so people won't be suspicious.]

"…?"

[Writer Lee: No wait a minute wouldn't anyone suspect Mr. Ravin?]

[!!!!]

And after a moment of silence.

The viewpoint on the screen changes.

It's Kim Rae-bin… standing with the production crew.

[The day the carrot coin was stolen]

[PD: Mr. Ravin is the culprit.]

[Raebin Kim: Yes??]

[PD: No Mr. Ravin picked the note where the coin disappeared. So of course Mr. Ravin is the culprit!]

[Kim Rae-bin:…!!]

Subtitles pour out behind Kim Rae-bin's face which looks like its eyes are about to pop out.

[PD: And think about it. Mr. Ravin what did you do last night? You gave us a lucky bag right?]

[PD: What is that? That's right the coin was moved!]

And then a flashback scene enters. A situation right before falling asleep where camera data is briefly exchanged.

[Writer Lee: Let's check our props~ Sorry Mr. Ravin that too!]

[Raebin Kim: Yes!]

And Kim Rae-bin handed over the bag containing the carrot coins to the production crew without hesitation.

“…”

I can’t believe you used that method.

‘It’s so plausible that it makes no sense.’

It’s just a scam.

Bae Se-jin’s lips tremble.

“You you…!”

“sorry! “I didn’t even know!”

Yes it looks like that just by looking at it.

‘Is that why you blamed yourself so much… ’

Coincidentally every time the story about stolen coins comes up a collection of cuts of Kim Rae-bin shaking and shaking in a cold sweat passes by on the screen.

[Park Moon-dae: If we catch the criminal we should hand it over to the police.]

[Kim Rae-bin: That’s right… that’s right.]

[Culprit ↑]

It was pathetically funny.

It seems like everyone is like that.

-Rabbit that gave carrot coins

-ㅅㅂ The production team is a completely evil bunch. What should we do with our medieval rabbit?

-Why rob Raebin Kim because you have nothing to rob?

And anyway Raebin Kim tried to refute.

[Kim Rae-bin: I will turn myself in!]

[PD: Wait!]

Of course this seems to be what the production team expected.

[PD: If you get caught now your coins will just evaporate!]

[Raebin Kim: !!]

[PD: But if you don't get caught until the end!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Otherwise…?]

The PD cheerfully shouted to Kim Rae-bin who was already possessed again.

[PD: All coins in this town will be doubled and donated to the town hall! With a massage chair!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Huh.]

[PD: Mr. Ravin is a righteous enemy! Phantom thief of justice!]

[Remarks of conversion]

And Kim Rae-bin whose movements have stopped is gradually brought into closer-up.

"…"

"…no way."

No way they caught someone.

[Kim Rae-bin: Ah I understand!]

“Ugh!”

“also!”

“sorry!”

Kim Rae-bin on the screen eventually clenched her fists and answered the production crew.

And large subtitles appear like a sentence.

[Medieval Rabbit a phantom thief who steals carrot coins goes out]

[Lee Writer: I will make you a complete accomplice by giving you a mission to steal coins again.]

[LOL]

[I thought the perfect crime was committed like that…]

It was smashed.

It was Raebin Kim who went to the hardware store at night and showed me in detail how to use it and how to receive it.

[????]

[PD: Mr. Ravin why would you open it?]

[Embarrassed production crew]

In the end the production team even secretly calls Raebin Kim in an emergency.

[PD: No but why is Mr. Ravin helping with that? Are you saying Mr. Ravin is a phantom thief?]

Raebin Kim answered with his eyes shining seriously.

[Kim Rae-bin: Because he was a thief he was able to commit the illegal act of producing coins!]

[PD: Wait a minute.]

[Raebin Kim: As the amount of coins increases the amount to give to the village hall also increases so I think this is the right direction.]

[PD:…]

A stamp is placed over the PD's face with his mouth open.

[conclusion]

[Makes people who wouldn't normally move move]

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Earn self-employment

-Karma shot hahahaha

-If you keep going like this for a moment it turns out that Park Moon-dae influenced the culprit through brainwashing so he's backtracking and catching rats haha.

Viewers are delighted by the despair of the production team.

And I looked down at Raebin Kim sitting on the floor.

"sorry! brother! "I didn't mean to deceive you but they said all my coins would evaporate if I got caught so I had no choice but to…"

"okay."

I just laughed.

‘You tried hard.’

It must have been a bit of a struggle to do that with this guy’s personality. Thanks to that I had fun getting selected.

One thing… takes a while.

‘…It wasn’t a big strike.’

I want to make the fact that I opened my mouth to Bae Se-jin something that never happened. Fuck you.

Anyway I hit Raebin Kim on the shoulder.

“good job.”

“yes!”

Raebin Kim barely straightened his expression and answered brightly. Bright content is unfolding on the screen again.

[Thank you for your hard work Mr. Ravin~]

But no one reacts to it other than me.

“…?”

Looking around the faces of the others except Cha Yu-jin are still shaken. No… I’m more embarrassed than nervous.

‘what.’

They’re not like this.

The moment I opened my mouth out of curiosity the BGM on the screen disappeared again as if I was being sucked in.

[Cha Yu-jin: Yes! But…]

[BUT]

[: but]

[Used when the preceding and following contents are contradictory]

“…??”

[Did you all enjoy it?]

[It’s not over.]

[3]

[2]

[1]

And the PD’s voice is heard from the black screen.

[PD: But it doesn’t have to be just one person right?]

“…!!”

what…?

[Full story of the incident 2]

Subtitles appear and a fixed camera close-up appears.

And five different faces captured by the same camera.

[Bae Se-jin: Oh I understand.]

[Seon Ah-hyun:…! Then… did I steal it?]

[Lee Se-jin: Oh~ It’s fun it’s fun!]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: So we must not find out who stole the coin.]

[Cha Yujin: OK.]

Everyone received the cards with an ‘I understand’ look on their faces as if they had received a very important mission.

And the contents of the card.

[You are a phantom thief spy!]

“…”

Hey wait a minute.

Chapter 364

I turned my head.

Everyone next to me is either sweating coldly or with their mouths wide open.

I turned my head again and looked at TV.

On the screen the images of each person receiving secret orders moving one by one are edited in succession.

[Am I a phantom thief?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: If you don't get caught until you leave the village you will succeed…]

[Lee Se-jin: Oh it's easy. Anyway no one saw what I stole yesterday and I didn't know right?]

[Seon Ah-hyun: Umm yes. I will work hard…!]

And subtitles appear on the black screen.

[no one]

[I never said you stole the carrot coin…]

Viewers burst into laughter.

– Hahahahahahahahahahahaha

-??????

-So the real culprit is Kim Rae-bin but he made everyone think it was him? Hahahahahahahaha

-Wow you really look like a devil haha.

-The professor's progress is too fast.

The living room is dead quiet except for the sound of the TV. However the producer's voice on TV is as lively as a devil.

[Bae Se-jin: But I didn't do anything last night… I don't know how the coin was stolen.]

[PD: If you can guess how the criminal stole it last night a bigger prize is waiting for you~]

[Bae Se-jin: Oh as expected…!]

[LOL]

The exaggerated editing clearly shows the writers and producers shaking their heads as quietly as possible with their heads down.

However those who were given an important role were unable to check it because they were busy reading the note.

[Phantom Thief Spy of Justice (Fake)]

[Individual exhibition begins!]

Lee Se-jin squinted at the camera.

[Lee Se-jin: Ugh~ It's our members' entertainment show so please watch it!]

puck.

The real-life Lee Se-jin silently slams her fist into her thigh. The person with the same name is also clenching his fist. No one stopped me.

[A breathtaking battle of wits]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Since I have the thread should I make something and see if anyone knows it?]

[↑ A person pricked by conscience]

[Bae Se-jin: It's true that you are great… but isn't catching the criminal more important than that? The production team also said so and told them to catch it openly.]

[↑ A person who is good at acting]

[Kim Rae-bin: Even if it hurts if you get hurt…]

[↑ Imagining myself being harmed]

Subtitles with arrows float around providing additional explanations and viewers are in awe.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: (coldly) That's not possible.]

[Seon Ah-hyun: (Cold 2) Yes. It could be dangerous…]

[Lee Se-jin: (Cold 3) That's right. It could be dangerous.]

[An opinion that somehow fits well]

And then I appear on the screen alone with a question mark on my head.

[Park Moon-dae: (Is that so…?)]

[↑ People who don't know what's going on]

this…

– Hahahahahahahahaha

-Why don't you just tell me the door handle you production crew bastards hahahahahahahahaha

-Oh I feel sorry for you haha.

"…"

Unlike real-time chat with viewers who are crawling around not a single sound of laughter can be heard in the living room.

I shook my head. The surroundings are shaking.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: First let's help out and earn coins. Let's take a look and see who might be the thief. There will definitely be a hint.]

[Raebin Kim: (Relieved) It's a good… wise… decision.]

[The big picture each person draws]

On screen they move desperately to avoid being discovered that they are reckless criminals.

[Lee Se-jin: Isn't there a culprit among the houses we went to work on the first day?]

[Kim Rae-bin:… Indeed!]

[Bae Se-jin: It's an idea worth considering.]

Lee Se-jin continues to make plausible but incorrect guesses about the culprit. Naturally it was passed with enthusiastic support.

An interview with the smiling guy is inserted.

[Lee Se-jin: I'm also good at this kind of thing.]

"Ugh."

Now the big Sejin in the living room can't raise his head.

And the next person to be seen on camera is Ryu Cheong-woo.

[Park Moon-dae: I'm thinking of going to the village hall.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Oh of course we should go together.]

[↑ Thoughts on surveillance]

"It wasn't surveillance it was really just trying to help."

A panicked voice echoed through the living room but no one responded.

This is because Sun Ah-hyeon on screen was surprised when people around her inferred the culprit and set fire to the meat.

[Fire… is it catching fire?]

[??? : Ahhh!]

We even arranged an interview at night.

[Q. Was it intended to cause confusion?]

[Seon Ah-hyun: No…]

Sun Ah-hyun covered her face with both hands and lowered her head. Sun Ah-hyun in real life also has a similar pose.

It was a mess.

'…therefore.'

I suppressed my anger and came to a difficult conclusion.

'All these kids thought they were the only culprits.'

That's why I can't raise my head right now out of shame.

No but I'm the most embarrassed person right now. These bastards made me feel like I was being cheated. Why did I…

'for a moment.'

Now I see a guy with a normal face.

'Cha Yujin.'

Suddenly an explanation appears on the screen.

[And this person…]

[American Grandson]

On the screen Cha Yu-jin is standing with the camera around the production team with a sullen face no different from the one in the living room.

And then he says it right away.

[Cha Yujin: Hey I know.]

[PD: Yes?]

[Cha Yu-jin: There are many criminals other than me! I'm not the culprit. The PD and writer lied to me.]

[!!!!]

This bastard…

"Don't you know everything? "I knew."

"…!!"

“How??”

“Everyone doesn’t want to find the culprit. And I work very hard. “It’s because of conscience!”

This guy didn’t know… I didn’t know.

[The production crew became desperate]

[PD: If you don’t say it it’s meat!]

[PD: Pretending to be a product! I’ll give you Korean beef!]

A screen with a slow effect. Cha Yu-jin slowly opens her mouth.

[Cha Yujin: Good!]

[be easy…!]

“hey!!”

There was an uproar on both sides.

“You sold us for meat!”

“I didn’t sell it! “We ate together!”

“I could have bought that meat with my own money…!”

It was the moment when Bae Se-jin shouted angrily from the other side of the sofa.

[MVP selected by the production team]

[Bae Se-jin]

[↑ Luxury actor]

“Cough.”

Bae Se-jin heard the news.

[Q. Ready to become a spy?]

[Bae Se-jin:… First of all I plan to construct my own character well… and act out how I would have acted if this had not happened.]

The subtitles stick like a scab on Bae Se-jin’s serious face.

[I play myself…!]

“Big.”

And Bae Se-jin’s exquisite speed control and immersive acting spread through the air with half admiration and half editing.

[Bae Se-jin: We have to catch the culprit first… Of course eating is also important!]

[Bae Se-jin: If you have a conscience you should surrender now!]

[This person… is he really acting?]

[And the first crisis to come] crisis?

At that moment the screen switches again.

The camera screen which was slightly shaken and out of level was of low quality. It seemed like someone was barely taking pictures with a smartphone somewhere.

What is shown is… Bae Se-jin and the back of Heo Yeon’s head…

no way.

[Bae Se-jin: Who was the culprit who ultimately took the carrot coin? That's why all of this happened in the first place.]

The white head peeking out from the side can be seen splitting the mouth.

Fuck me.

[Park Moon-dae: It's obvious. He must have been an insider.]

The subtitles make a fuss.

[!!!!]

[no way…?]

Saliva dries up in the mouth.

-Big hit!

-Could it be that Park Moon-dae noticed??

Stop guessing really…

[Bae Se-jin: He… is among us?]

[Nervous]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes.]

Then Heo-yeon's head on the screen says something plausible a few times and Bae Se-jin asks 'that' question.

[Bae Se-jin:… Are you saying this because you thought it was me? Because I need that acting ability.]

[Self-destruction…?]

Fuck you!

I lowered my head. However the cub on TV continues to flutter.

[Park Moon-dae: No. I don't think he's my brother.]

Shut up you stupid bastard!

[Park Moon-dae: (Confidence) He was so calm.]

[LOL]

-1 puppy lol.

-Gaeko malfunction

-Bae Sejin being relieved is so funny hahahahaha

-Park Moon-dae seems to be wearing a blanket.

The subtitles explode. Viewers are extremely happy.

Meanwhile the guy on TV doesn't close his mouth.

[Park Moon-dae: Actually there is a suspicious person.]

don't do it!

[!Nominate Lee Se-jin!]

[kyung! (Congratulations on 1/6 correct answer) Congratulations!]

"…"

"Park Moon-dae…"

…Subtitles play again on the screen where the firework effect explodes.

[Park Moon-dae: It's just a suspicion. Let's figure it out among ourselves and end it.]

[Incredibly smart]

You bastards.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae! Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae! Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae! Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae! Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae! Entertainment fairy Park Moon-dae!

"No I'm afraid I might have been caught too…"

"…"

"Sorry! No because it's a broadcast… But I never thought that would be filmed! "I really didn't know!"

"…"

"I wasn't that happy doing this either…!"

However on the screen after I leave Bae Se-jin stands up from his place and starts shaking a little.

[Perfect Crime Ceremony]

"…"

Bae Se-jin's voice disappeared. When I turn my head I see a guy with his face on the floor.

Subtitles are appearing again on the black screen.

[Questions that viewers may have thought of here]

[Why was Park Moon-dae excluded?]

Stop it now.

[Full story of the incident 3]

Images of the production team's meeting begin to appear again. I want to break it.

[Writer Park: But I'm a little anxious.]

[PD: What?]

[Writer Park: Mr. Moon Dae.]

The masked writer speaks seriously.

[Writer Park: If you give instructions to the criminal for no reason it becomes like giving more hints so doesn't Mr. Moon-dae notice it? Then it's a disaster.]

[…]

[…]

[How to deal with 6-star risky actors?]

After a moment of meaningful silence the PD speaks passionately.

[PD: Then… let's take it out!]

[Writer Lee: Yes??]

[PD: Just take it out! Mr. Moon Dae I especially ask you to become a citizen!]

[LOL]

[Correct answer / Incorrect]

“…”

In contrast to the silent living room the production team’s laughter can be heard on TV.

[Lee Writer: That’s right that works!]

[PD: Let’s trick it properly!]

[Writer Park: Waaaa!]

‘ㅋ’ passes like crazy on the screen and then fireworks explode.

[That’s it.^^]

[????Isn’t Park Moon-dae the only thief????]

[Congratulations on becoming a good citizen Mr. Moon~]

And in quick editing I can see myself being swept away in a daze among the phantom thieves who have been ordered to do so.

“…”

“Mumundae breathe breathe…”

It doesn’t end after all 5 episodes are thrown in. No instead of ending I inserted the popcorn I made at the community center there.

[Citizen Certification Dance]

And as it blurs huge letters appear on top.

[★☆Park Moon-dae’s Truman Show was a great success☆★]

[Production Support: All testers together]

“…”

“Mundae? “Is it Mundae?”

“Park Moon-dae is out of his mind?!”

These… bastards.

* * *

After the last episode of the Great Disaster.

The entertainment show 〈That House’s Grandson〉 became a hot topic in many ways.

-The Unimaginable Spy (All)

□You missed this (excluding Park Moon-dae)

□Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkk kill me twice

-The production team really has devil-like star quality hahaha.

-You must see the Testa reaction cam. It’s so funny. Park Moon-dae’s facial expression is real haha.

-All the kids are saying to each other ‘Now they’re getting caught’ but Kim Rae-bin went crazy from the moment the sole culprit came out. All 20 minutes were highlighted haha.

And Testa has become a group of brats that has never been seen before in idol history…

Especially me.

I!

‘Fuck you!’

Moreover these clever guys even sent gifts on the day after the last episode creating an atmosphere of reconciliation.

[This is Testa's family photo (+ photo) taken at a photo studio in town! ^^]

I will never forget the feeling of defeat I felt when I posted this as a proof post on social media.

Big Se-jin who gave permission to talk for the first time in four days asked awkwardly.

"Are you okay at Mundaemun University? Was it a bit harsh this time? Even if we do it with other people after us…"

"No we will be together again."

"Oh~ As expected of you…"

"If we work together we will definitely hold on to the production costs and make it difficult."

"…"

It will be smashed.

"yes! "I have to cooperate unconditionally unconditionally!"

"uh."

I wiggled my eyebrows when I looked at the group photo in the living room.

I get angry every time I see it but the photo is innocent.

Even an innocent guy was caught.

…a dog.

I looked at the white fur lump.

For your information there were quite a few opinions among the members about bringing that guy in.

-Ah~ If we leave it alone someone will come and steal it really?

-Well since it was on TV there's a chance that's not out of the question…

-phew.

However it is difficult to raise it in a dormitory.

'I have a tour… and I'm away from here too often.'

I don't know how on earth that bastard raises a dog.

Fortunately a solution came quickly.

-My mother wants to raise me…

-…!

It seemed that Bae Se-jin's mother was looking into getting a dog and made a decision after seeing Bae Se-jin's photos text messages and the first episode of a variety show.

-That's good. Sometimes we can go see it~

-… Uh um. yes.

-…

At that time Bae Se-jin immediately said 'Lee Se-jin you are coming to my house…?' It seemed like he would answer but he said he would gladly welcome the visit anyway.

‘If I get a vacation I’d like to talk about it for at least a day.’

It wasn’t a bad idea to bring him to the dorm sometimes.

“…”

Anyway let’s talk about it.

If we were to evaluate it objectively and honestly it was true that the intended purpose of this entertainment was achieved. Not to mention the topicality the viewership ratings were pretty good.

‘The last upset was 7.1%.’

Considering it was a cable it was excellent.

In other words it’s time to open the lid.

‘Let’s check how things are going.’

I checked Mirinae’s situation and opened the status window.

Chapter 365

First of all Mirinae's comeback was very successful.

So in terms of aggro.

-Honestly I think I was a bit conscious of Pouti and the feel of the song is similar.

Eng Banbanji Pouti Paddle no conscience is too much ㅠ

LOL It was a trendy + intense concept from Mirinae's debut but it was all bullshit.

-Ah but it really can't be compared to the talents of idols from Serba Jiri's Pouti haha.

As expected public opinion heated up because there was a comparison group.

Originally it was more fun if people had a hierarchy that could be measured along the same lines.

Moreover although each group has similar positions their strengths are different so each viewer's evaluation is bound to be different.

In conclusion there was a lot to talk about.

'It's a mess.'

What is certain is that the news of Mirinae's comeback was clearly imprinted on the public and that the fading interest and interest were rekindled.

'Noise marketing was done properly.'

Thanks to this Mirinae is rising rapidly on the music charts for the first time in a while.

Although it was no different from the previous song in that it was aimed at the US it seems to have been received like a pop song due to its ‘global friendly’ position similar to Pouty which was a hit in the US.

‘The song itself is good too.’

I shrugged my shoulders after watching the public opinion battle between the two heated up for a while.

‘Testa is completely missing from this edition’s mention.’

Since we came from the same survival field and had the same gender naturally there was no room for us to be mentioned.

And that family’s grandson… Anyway thanks to the entertainment show being established properly Testa’s popularity is burning in other directions.

– Jade floor board sold out (buying position)

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

…The process was a little different from what I expected but I ended up reaching a similar goal. You have to think like that.

Moreover the response from overseas was quite positive.

This is because an agreement was reached from the beginning on a global strategy so T1 handed over the entertainment to Netplus rather than its own OTT service.

And it is said that the grades were good. The production team dared to send a text message directly so I said everything.

-6th place in the Net Plus World TV Show category! Congratulations to all of you testers (smiling emoticon)

-Mr. Moon Dae? Next time I'll go to a real hot spring. Please accept our apology and love ㅠㅠ (Check the gift) spa? I don't believe it. I won't let this stupid thing get publicized even overseas… Anyway so the game is in balance just as I pictured.

'And the press play just started.'

Even before the last episode aired

I contacted the company and finished adjusting the timing.

[From double entry on the Testa Billboard to entertainment… Where does the power at home and abroad come from?]

[From Dotify Pie to billboard. How did 'Daesang Idol' Testa's two songs become successful?]

Our activity period has now come to an end.

In a situation where the Billboard rankings are falling well this will naturally settle down without any repercussions.

'The fans will like it too.'

Thanks to the favorable image gained through explosively influential entertainment now is the best time to spread the news in a gentle manner.

'good.'

And a few days later.

A status window appears.

[Mission clear!]

[Settlement of compensation…]

I grinned. It's always nice when things turn out as expected.

Of course it should have been like this but what kind of entertainment show is that…

I sighed briefly and looked at the status window again.

The expected sentence pops out.

[brother!]

Yes I thought you would pop out when I called the status window.

Big moon.

"How are you?"

We've been in touch occasionally but it's been a while since we've talked to each other since the district office he's assigned to is quite busy and I'm also traveling overseas.

[sure! Congratulations on clearing the mission!]

It's still the same. I nodded looking at the letters growing rapidly as if I was excited.

He's the one to celebrate first.

[And I really enjoyed the entertainment show. Mungge is so cute… and the twist is funny! I was so amazed at how you came up with such a story!]

"…"

I kept my mouth shut.

The status window pop-up vibrates.

[It wasn't everyone's plan.]

"no."

[sorry…]

There is nothing to feel sorry for about this guy but it is certain that he will have to watch everyone he meets laugh at him for a while. I ran a hand over my face and looked next to the pop-up.

The settlement had been completed.

The goal reward phrase I wrote down is still written there.

[Reward complete!]

[Reward: Enhanced interference in the status window]

I am very satisfied with this.

The status window pops up and down as if you're looking at it more closely or as if you're curious.

[Brother but why on earth did you want this reward…? enforce? Is it possible that you wanted to subdivide the items shown? I could have just done that!]

"no."

Is there any way you could accept a mission as difficult as breaking a record like that?

I raised my finger.

"Look carefully. "The subject is not me."

[yes?]

“It’s the status window itself.”

That’s right. The compensation was that the status window strengthened its interference power.

[omg]

“In short your ability as a status window has been strengthened. “In a broad sense.”

In order to avoid getting caught in the system they deliberately withheld the answer and even vaguely used the phrase ‘interference power’.

[Why why?]

“Because I have a place to write.”

In order for this guy to not return to the status window you have to eventually get rid of the system. I called Heeseung Kwon Gold 2.

He is the holder of the current system.

* * *

“Wow all my bones hurt.”

“Do we really have to do Dub App today? “Can’t we do it tomorrow?”

The group of ‘Spacer’ Kwon Hee-seung who was at the end of their Japan tour was suffering from the aftereffects of their first tour.

Of course one person who thought he had a chance to live a new life was still alert.

“Hey the decline comes from that lazy mind.”

“Ugh.”

Spacer was sobbing at Kwon Hee-seung’s words but he understood and moved.

‘There are no more people with bad personalities on our team.’

Kwon Hee-seung shook his head inwardly.

‘That’s because there are some kids who don’t get along very well!’

Spacer had more people than Testa. It was the same even after the withdrawal of Chae Seo-dam which was a nightmare for Sun Ah-hyun during her school days.

And if there are a lot of people on the team if they are not properly led the conflict increases exponentially.

Well… it was difficult.

‘Still we came this far!’

Although Spacer was a little less popular than Testa from the hit Azusa re-release season his fandom was solid as expected from a survival show.

And Kwon Hee-seung was confident that he was doing an excellent job as a self-proclaimed mental leader!

“Come on brothers and sisters let’s do something today too!”

“okay…”

Everyone was exhausted because their comeback was just around the corner but they showed their professional spirit and the personal broadcast went well.

“We’ll see you again~”

“I’ll be back soon!”

After a brief mukbang the members dispersed to their hotel rooms.

“Oh my.”

And Kwon Hee-seung was also congratulating himself on a successful day patting his shoulder and was about to fall into a deep sleep.

I got a call.

[Testa Mundae hyung????]

“omg?”

So suddenly?

Of course depending on the person there are cases where they prefer to hit the phone first but I can tell you that it was not this hyung.

‘He’s very calm cool and well-planned.’

However it did not mean that Kwon Hee-seung disliked Park Moon-dae.

It was a little scary but it was because he was a good senior.

-It’s better not to fight there and just leave.

-Don’t say something like that even if it’s by mistake.

-I think we can just separate the two rooms.

Sometimes I asked Heeseung Kwon first about his concerns or his current situation and when he asked for advice I answered quite sincerely.

At first glance he seemed to have a friendly personality to those who were in the line. Kwon Hee-seung rubbed under his nose.

‘Well it’s been like that since ‘Azusa’.’

He clicked his tongue recalling Park Moon-dae an ordinary contestant at the time who calmly ignored Choi Won-gil’s manipulations while also taking care of the people around him.

Recently he even received an apology from Choi Won-gil who contacted him through Park Moon-dae so it was true that Park Moon-dae had a large distribution.

‘…even when I was caught talking nonsense on the radio they were quite lenient and let me go.’

-If something happens just fix it and that’s it. This is a problem because it may not be resolved.

…although one fact was painful enough to send cold sweat down my spine.

‘So I didn’t know that he would reveal his situation to those around him… ’

Haha now that I look at it I wonder if that decision was made out of concern for me who almost talked about our organization(?) publicly on the radio!

Or maybe he was just trying to set an example and say ‘We should reveal it this way.’

The timing was perfect.

‘Wow it’s so cool.’

Kwon Hee-seung blinded by the majesty of a first-team idol who returned from the future ended up making an absurd deduction.

It’s not that he’s not but Park Moon-dae is now closer to his role model!

It wasn't just because of the 'idol gathering that knows the future'.

'He is also someone worthy of respect as a true idol.'

It was because of his wonderful personality that he lost on this entertainment show. It wouldn't have been easy for such a cool person to do that.

-Dang Dang Dance~ Mungumundae Dance~ (Video)

-Park Mung-daeng and the six phantom thieves haha (capture)

'Hey they say idols have to be good at entertainment to be in the first division. 'You're such a living witness!'

Kwon Hee-seung almost laughed recalling the humorous and cute posts that were flowing into his fan account.

Beep.

"Achacha."

While I was lost in thought for a moment the ringtone went around.

Kwon Hee-seung quickly touched the smartphone screen before it was too late.

"Hello Brother Moondae!"

-okay.

A calm voice was still heard over the phone.

"What's going on?"

-I have something to check for a moment.

“Yes~”

It seemed like he would get to the point without much fuss. It was urgent!

And Park Moon-dae asked an unexpected question.

-What exactly did you say about this mission?

This is a mission that is paid in return for gaining a new life in the future. Park Moon-dae says he finished it all before. And that still remains for Kwon Hee-seung.

‘Why this all of a sudden?’

Still Kwon Hee-seung gave an answer right away. It wasn’t an answer I liked though.

“…Uh a self-produced album.”

Sigh.

I don’t know why I’m so attracted to this. Did you say that it’s not that you’re attracted to it but that you feel that way because it was given to you as a ‘mission’?

‘Either way is not good… ’

An album released with the participation of the entire team… Normally something like this requires more years of experience.

I somehow participated a little bit in making it but honestly I was a little worried at this point as the release was just around the corner.

“actually…”

So Heeseung Kwon honestly confessed his concerns. This is because I trusted the counseling experience I had with Park Moon-dae so far.

-okay. It was like that.

Park Mun-dae answered in a calm tone.

But… there was a hint of laughter mixed in somewhere.

'…laugh?'

why?

And the words continue slowly.

-I think I can help.

"yes?"

Kwon Hee-seung blinked. And after a few seconds passed in silence.

"Gaaaaaaaa!"

Something appeared before his eyes.

[!Status Abnormality: Make It Work]

-Is teamwork the answer when it comes to idols?

: 'Failure' if the team fails to release the joint work within the period.

Gray text that is translucent and sparkles.

It soon clattered away and disappeared but it was clearly visible.

"Bah baba you just said that…!"

-I showed it briefly.

The voice on the phone spoke calmly.

-Your ‘mission’.

Kwon Hee-seung covered his mouth.

Argh!

Chapter 366

Shocking and surreal evidence that confirmed his ‘mission’ through a hologram!

Kwon Hee-seung came to his senses only after a few tens of seconds.

“How can this… how does this happen??”

I will correct it. I thought my head had come to its senses but this damn mouth couldn’t come to its senses.

‘Ugh!’

What kind of sci-fi movie is this? Limestone movie?

However Park Moon-dae’s voice heard from the smartphone was calm.

-I don’t know the principle but… it’s like hacking.

“You mean it gets hacked…? “Is this a computer?”

-…

He didn’t say anything but Park Moon-dae was surprisingly silent as if he was lost in thought.

And he answered with some interest.

-That could be possible.

‘It’s possible!’

This is not some kind of Metaverse virtual reality AI!

Kwon Hee-seung who was using all the IT technology words he knew had recovered from the shock and was about to ask in more detail 'How on earth did he do this?'

Park Moon-dae struck first.

-Anyway what did you see when you looked earlier? The mission content.

"Hmm."

I find the rather unpleasant phrase 'status abnormality' disturbing but perhaps what this senior is asking is not that but the content underneath it.

Heeseung Kwon opened his mouth reflexively.

"I think it was the announcement of that joint work…?"

-okay.

"It's amazing. "I can't believe it's truly a self-produced album…"

Kwon Hee-seung felt thrilled like someone who had been struck by magic.

He looked like a real movie star. I'm not sure if that's good or bad though.

But Park Moon-dae was cool.

-No it's different.

yes?

-The standard is not a self-produced album but a collaborative work.

"Yes… but isn't that what it is?"

-It's different. A collaborative work doesn't necessarily have to be an entire album.

"ah."

Park Moon-dae who cut justice like a sword applied his skills flexibly.

-It is much easier to get the public to recognize that it is simply a 'collaborative work'.

"and."

It sounded like a real secret organization agent.

Kwon Hee-seung who became a little more serious politely held the smartphone with both hands and asked.

"Then… I guess I can succeed with this album? "The odds are a little higher right?"

-okay.

Oooh.

Kwon Hee-seung briefly expressed his admiration but calculated the next moment.

He wasn't stupid either. He thought about the possibility that Park Moon-dae had conned or conspired against him.

'hmm… '

But no matter how much I thought about it there was no need to lie to myself.

'No if that brother wanted to punish me he would have had so many chances.'

You've been kind and taking good care of me so far so there's no need to get in trouble by sharing this… superpower.

'It's not like he's a joker. If this guy had done that there would have been an uproar already.'

Kwon Hee-seung decided to accept Park Moon-dae's favor this time too!

But before that a cautious voice was heard.

-Want me to help you?

"omg!"

Kwon Hee-seung asked quickly.

"I'm so thankful bro! But what if this thing gets pawned and something like that…"

-Don't do something like that without saying anything.

"sorry. I just asked this question after watching the movie! Are you still helping me? lol…"

There was a sound of laughter.

-okay.

And Park Moon-dae really began to thoroughly help Kwon Hee-seung.

* * *

The production process begins.

Park Moon-dae skillfully picked out the parts worth spooning about in Spacer's latest album.

-The lyrics book is better. Although it is not a part that is revealed externally or a photo book that fans consume it feels like a reputable component.

“Ohh.”

-And even if a non-expert comments on it the result is not that ruined. It’s an item that hasn’t even been released in advance so it’s easy to touch.

“It’s okay… really!”

Kwon Hee-seung thought he should tell this to the member who did not believe in his creativity and refused to participate in the production of the album until the end.

However the very next day I saw that the member gave his opinion on the design of the lyrics book at the company’s recommendation.

“Huh what?”

“I don’t know because the company told me to do it.”

And the revised lyrics were replaced in two days.

‘…is it this fast?’

Does our company make decisions this quickly?

Kwon Hee-seung was a little embarrassed but work continued.

The physical album is printed and the promotional text for the album is refurbished.

————————= =

Will and leap towards your dreams!

Please look forward to this album 〈Fighting〉 which has been handcrafted by all Spacer members from the sound source to the inside material! (firecracker emoticon)

————————— = =

It doesn't come to the forefront of publicity. It's just an additional introductory phrase that makes fans think 'that's right' and accept the information.

The album and the image which were based on dreams and aspirations as an idol were completely separate so there was no awkwardness.

A finishing touch that neatly adds only the correct answer without damaging the original plan of the spacer.

'Wow this works.'

Heeseung Kwon was impressed.

Even though he lived longer than he did and returned to the past isn't this sense and power(?) another story?

'Isn't it true that Moon Dae hyung really set up the entire label?'

The last time I asked him about this rumor going around the company he reacted very indifferently but I guess it was just humility.

Kwon Hee-seung nodded but at the same time felt a little creeped out.

Later when the spacer grows large enough to become a competitor to the Testa…

'…Testa seniors will become independent!'

Yes I heard that next year is contract renewal season. Of course you will run away from this crappy company. haha!

Kwon Hee-seung decided to move on for now. What is the use of worrying about a problem that has no answer? Let's live in reality!

So I immediately greeted the person I was grateful for.

“It’s all thanks to you! Oh thank you so much! “I will repay you!”

-okay.

Park Moon-dae’s answer was short but not blunt. On the contrary it felt soft.

After making a fuss inside himself that he would at least have a bite of lobster if he got paid Kwon Hee-seung happily shouted.

“I feel like this has happened right?”

Now he was free!

But my confidence was too quick. This is because Park Moon-dae gave an ambiguous answer.

-It is true that the conditions are met.

“…Would you like something different?”

A calm voice answered.

-It will pop up now. for a moment.

“yes?”

Support position.

“Wow!”

A glitch appeared before Kwon Hee-seung’s eyes. And a strange hologram appears again.

[Successful release!]

You've succeeded in releasing your collaborative work!

!Time limit: met (success)

!Status abnormality: 'Make It Work' removed!

*^@5#& OK ???? Click!]

"…!"

It looked more stable than the last time Park Moon-dae showed it with all the success written on it.

And the buttons are brightly shiny.

'Can I just press this…?'

Kwon Hee-seung's explicit 'Click!' I checked the button and raised my arm as if possessed…

Park Moon-dae's voice sounds like cold water being poured on him.

-I mean you repay the favor.

"…?"

Kwon Hee-seung who was reaching for the hologram paused for a moment.

That moment.

-Do not press.

"Yes yes?"

-Waiting for a few days is the reward for me.

No do you have eyes? Kwon Hee-seung lowered his hand as if it were on fire.

“Why why?”

-hmm.

Park Moon-dae was silent for a moment and then asked in a voice with a hint of laughter.

-Are you interested in something good you can do with a day off?

“…??”

* * *

Below a large concert hall in Seoul.

The audience’s cheers still rang in my ears like tinnitus. The members around me laugh.

“Oh my everyone worked hard~”

“It’s fun!”

It was the end of a joint concert hosted by a credit card company.

“The store behind Mundaemun University?”

“okay.”

I sat in the back seat of the car among the guys who were happy on their way home from work after successfully completing the performance without any mistakes.

And I looked back at the conversation I had with Kwon Hee-seung yesterday.

‘From the premise.’

I was able to control the status clear timing through ‘Truth Check’ timing.

And that was entirely thanks to the status window.

‘So I thought about it the other way around.’

Doesn’t everyone just need a status window?

-If you can access the status window even for those with status abnormalities wouldn’t you be able to control the clear timing?

So Geundal accessed Kwon Hee-seung’s system and opened a status window.

[It’s a bit uncomfortable… ugh]

Of course I said it was more inconvenient than using my own status window but this guy succeeded without any other side effects.

Since I received it as a mission reward without any unnecessary tricks it only seemed to increase my strength.

‘good.’

It was inspired by Geoldal changing the state of my status window and I was glad that it worked without any problems.

And Kwon Hee-seung quickly accepted my proposal to ‘sponsor the battle for system destruction’.

-Of course it’s good! Does this feel like a mission?

…It would have been better if they hadn’t talked about it as if they were at a VR game center. Anyway I’m glad we went there in a mutually supportive atmosphere.

‘good.’

I nodded and adjusted my neck pillow.

As I had managed it well I had just enough time.

After the promotional period was over and preparations for the tour occurred there was a gap in the schedule.

‘I guess I can take at least a day off.’

If all goes according to plan one day is enough to see the results. I nodded and entered the hotel I had arrived at.

I plan to spend today reviewing my plans…

“Mundae could you please talk for a moment…”

“Oh yeah.”

I’ll have to postpone it a bit. Looks like something’s going on. I took a step after receiving Kim Rae-bin’s call.

I don’t know why but all the members are gathered at the kitchen table.

“…?”

What are you guys doing?

“Mundae.”

“yes.”

“We have some time before the tour.”

Yeah I was thinking that too.

‘Why is that?’

Liu Chengwu smiled and turned the screen of the laptop on the table to me.

“Shall we go here then?”

“yes?”

What was on the screen… was a camping resort.

-Healing Glamping

Photos taken with a good composition are automatically forwarded.

Forest bathing hot springs countryside… animals.

Keywords seen most often.

These are the healing keywords experienced in the entertainment show <My Grandson> and the keywords that the production team promised for the next healing.

‘what.’

Big Sejin grabs my shoulder.

“Ahyun said she went there on a family trip! “They say it’s really good?”

okay. The facilities and appearance look good. Of course it would be okay to go from that wealthy family.

But why suddenly?

I looked at Sun Ah-hyun. The guy shrugs his shoulders.

“Mumundae liked the neighborhood we went to for our entertainment show… I didn’t want that to be left as a bad memory for Mundae.”

“…!”

“That’s why I looked into it.”

I was speechless.

“Do you hate poetry?”

“…no.”

I answered.

“And… I didn’t feel that bad.”

I was a little embarrassed but it was okay until I found out about the production team’s manipulations. That’s why I felt even more embarrassed.

“But I didn’t give you anything delicious…”

“Cha Yu-jin be quiet!”

That’s because being upset and being upset are two different things. You bastard.

But I have no intention of saying that now to those people who are watching me with their pupils trembling.

Bae Se-jin quickly adds.

“okay. Anyway there’s no need to go to the hot springs with those entertainment people. “Let’s go together!”

“I know. “Then how about we just think of this as a holiday souvenir and go have fun?”

Liu Chengwu finished speaking.

I chuckled.

“Good.”

“Oh~”

“Then decide here!”

“OK!”

The guys relax and start talking amongst themselves.

“Should we all go on a cruise on our next vacation? “If you ride in Europe or somewhere like that no one will recognize you.”

“Oh that’s good too.”

“What is a cruise ship?”

“Cruise ship.”

“Oh…”

“You don’t like Eugene?”

“Grandpa loves cruise ships. “I am young.”

It was really consistent.

‘I am indeed.’

The next morning for the first time in a while I cooked a large meal without purpose. All my housemates stuffed it in their mouths without saying a word so there was no troublesome process.

It’s funny but it also feels like a kind of ceremony before a big day.

‘Finish and go on a vacation.’

I chuckled. It wasn't intentional but it's an almost typical structure.

And afternoon.

I called my last collaborator.

After a few rings the phone rings and a voice is heard along with the sound of a dog whining.

-It's been a while junior. Business?

"Let's borrow your private jet."

I hear laughter.

-For what purpose?

I cracked my neck.

"To make sure there is no next batter."

The system ends here.

Chapter 367

Holidays in a few days.

“Now that I think about it your group didn’t have a private plane right? “Hmm it looks like we haven’t made a profit yet.”

These were the words of a guy who is well versed in making people angry but today they don’t really bother me.

“There is sufficient domestic demand so there is no need for a private plane along the route.”

“is it so?”

“Wow! oh my god! “The sheets!”

“…”

Because there was a guy next to me making all kinds of fuss.

Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung is looking at the inside of Cheongryeo’s private plane with his mouth wide open.

“Come… senior is it okay if I take a picture of this?”

“If you are confident that it will not be leaked.”

“…”

I took out my smartphone while watching Heeseung Kwon quietly put down his smartphone.

“Will you take a picture?”

“no.”

Is that possible? This is for contact purposes.

I checked the messages once again.

[Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: Have a nice trip everyone]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Everyone please take care of yourselves and if you have any problems please let us know at any time!]

[Brother Bae Se-jin: Munge is well (photo)]

[Kim Rae-bin: I’m so glad your dog is doing well. I’m still on my way back to my hometown. We will contact you again when we arrive.]

[Cha Yu-jin: (waving hand emoticon)]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes everyone good luck on your vacation haha]

Half of the people who think I went there to have fun are half of the people who think I went to work.

At that moment the group message room is updated.

[Lee Se-jin: But why did 1 disappear from Mundaemun University and not show up? Don’t you know that we are banned from diving? (flaming emoticon)]

I laughed and moved my fingers.

[Me: I came out. See you all the day after tomorrow.]

And a few days ago when I explained this situation to people who knew the situation by saying ‘I’m going to take care of it’ I remembered their reaction.

-okay? We can go together.

I thought so.

-That's difficult.

-what?

-It's not that I'm afraid you'll be disturbed or caught up in it. It's a question of structure.

-what?

-There shouldn't be people around.

That's right.

The hypothesis I developed is simple and valid.

First of all the premise.

-The system moves to the next host the moment the status abnormality ends.

The closest suitable person who can get in quickly.

Then why do you do that?

'Isn't it because it can't survive without a host?'

So what if we could prevent it from meeting its host for a long time?

For example… what would happen if Heeseung Kwon clears the status condition in a place where there is no suitable person within hundreds of kilometers in all directions?

'If the theory goes it won't be able to survive and will disappear.'

That was my aim.

And Cheongryeo who had already reasoned with me about the movement of the system released a private plane as soon as he heard the explanation of the situation.

'This bastard was having fun at the time so I thought he would give it to me obediently.'

I nodded inwardly.

After looking around the inside of the private plane Cheongryeo naturally sat down on the seat…

for a moment.

"Why aren't you getting off?"

"hmm?"

Cheongryeo lowers her head to the side.

"I don't know why you thought I would get off. "Isn't this my plane?"

Why are there all these guys?

'For some reason they said they wouldn't take the money.'

I pressed my eyebrows and muttered.

"This time let's minimize the variables as much as possible."

"Haha junior are you riding?"

"…!"

"Is there any difference between you and me? The situation is the same for both of us. "It's strange that I'm the only one who applies it differently."

A quick-witted bastard.

Yes actually I have already received a confirmation regarding my case.

Through the big moon.

-I don't think it's possible to go back to the same person again.

-why?

-Because I already wrote that.

The choice of words was a bit odd but it means that users of the system who previously went back can't come back.

It was a vague but impossible statement to ignore. Because these words come from a guy who is assimilating with the system.

'So… I'm an exception to the next host.'

Still I didn't bring Keundal just in case.

Strictly speaking the system never entered Ryu Geon-woo's body.

'I just took my mind out of it.'

So Keundal decided to share his view with me and monitor the situation remotely.

Then why did they try to exclude Cheongryeo who is an exception like me?

Isn't it obvious? Look at that bastard's personality right now.

'He's a guy who doesn't know where he'll go.'

I was thinking of excluding it so as not to create a variable.

‘…I’ll have to keep a close eye on it.’

I finally sighed and answered.

“Do whatever you want.”

“As expected junior I like that you are logical.”

I will correct it. This guy is always scratching people today.

I leaned against the backrest roughly.

“Brothers! “Where was our destination?”

“Pacific.”

“oh my god.”

The place where the plan was implemented was on the deep sea where no people lived.

The plane continued to move.

And it wasn’t until lunch and afternoon that we arrived at the location.

“How does it feel to be floating in the middle of the Pacific Ocean?”

“Not once or twice but again.”

“haha.”

I see this every time I go to the US for work so how can I be inspired by something like that?

Do the calculation at that time.

‘If you miss this timing you will get too close to the American continent.'

It is appropriate to perform within 30 minutes.

And then I looked at the cockpit. It was the location of the captain and co-pilot who firmly believed that LA Airport was their destination.

And I recalled the Q&A I had with the person who hired the pilot.

About the possibility of the system getting into the other side.

-What are the chances that these people will be suitable?

-That's a gamble. Considering the tendency the probability is extremely low.

Cheongryeo suggested with a smile.

-Alternatively you can use a helicopter and place it on an uninhabited island or desert. Well it must be a bit difficult for the person involved. Wouldn't it be better to do that though?

-That's it.

There is a reason why there are no people in the land. It's not there because I can't buy it.

Isn't it possible to ask Kwon Hee-seung to risk his life in order to not give the slightest possibility?

'Let's restrain ourselves.'

I decided to make the best move that was realistically possible and this is the result.

Kwon Hee-seung also seemed to sense the atmosphere and looked a little nervous.

"Then shall we click now?"

“okay. for a moment.”

I called my status window. A pop-up that pops up as if it were natural.

[Brother really…?]

Okay that’s it.

‘Please re-open the status clear window for Kwon Hee-seung.’

The popup didn’t respond. It was only slightly shaken.

Still a hologram appeared in front of Kwon Hee-seung.

“Ugh phew! “I’m always surprised!”

That kid uses strange exclamations.

Cheongryeo mutters with slightly less interest in her eyes.

“There’s nothing special about it.”

“Because it will only be visible to the person concerned.”

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo crossed her arms. And he nodded.

“Then like this?”

“okay.”

I closed my mouth and adjusted my posture as well.

It was then.

[brother.]

The Big Moon pop-up appears again.

‘If there are no serious problems leave it as is. If you’re going to say it now… ’

[No that’s not it!]

Isn’t it?

The pop-up shrinks the text as if it were embarrassing.

[Actually… I feel a little hopeful.]

“…”

okay. I guess this guy actually wanted to continue living as a human.

I know I just pretended not to have any regrets because I couldn’t help it and I didn’t want to be a burden.

The pop-up trembles again and carefully spits out one letter at a time.

[Thank you so much… for doing this for me.]

‘That’s it.’

Actually it’s not just for this guy. In the first place I felt uncomfortable leaving this time bomb alone so I tried to destroy it whenever I had the chance.

On the contrary this guy actually helped me.

‘Proceed.’

[…yes!]

“Then… I’ll press it!”

Kwon Hee-seung stretched out his hand with a nervous expression.

And press.

[!Status abnormality: ‘Make It Work’ removed!

: *^@5#& OK ???? Click!]

Click.

And the status window… disappears.

As if it never happened without a trace.

“ah.”

There is a quiet silence on the plane.

Nothing happens.

Amazingly.

“…”

“Is this… the end?”

What comes to mind reflexively in response to Heeseung Kwon’s question is my own case.

‘A congratulatory window popped up.’

But since it was a big moon it has nothing to do with the system…

“Uh huh?”

“…!!”

A hologram appeared again in front of Kwon Hee-seung.

However the appearance is different from before.

[??? ?]

[? ?? ???? ? ??]

[: ?? ? ? ?????]

A strange state full of question marks.

‘Fuck you.’

I got up from my seat.

And then a low voice is heard from the other side.

Cheongnyeo.

“Hmm… I can see this.”

“…!”

what?

“Brother tongue.”

There is no time to look back at Cheongryeo. My eyes are fixed on the status window that appears in front of Heeseung Kwon.

Kwon Hee-seung’s face is stained with embarrassment.

‘…big moon!’

There was no answer to my call.

Instead the status window…

I start to tremble.

Wood-dud-dud-dud-duk.

Heeseung Kwon turns his head and opens his mouth.

[Brother this is more…]

The sound is fragmented.

Like vibration.

Piiiiiiing—!

tinnitus.

There is a sound of something breaking that cannot be heard.

My vision turns completely white.

‘This… ’

Next moment.

All kinds of holograms are everywhere.

[Status!$#6]

[Dol&]

[■■■■■■■Sound■]

[Imaginary State State Imaginary State #%2]

It’s like something strangely entered my mind…

‘Fuck off!’

I gritted my teeth. Hot blood flowed from my lips but I had no time to feel the pain.

The line becomes distorted and blinks white.

Blink.

Blink.

‘…ah.’

And 10000 meters above sea level.

No inside a small room.

Everything is torn apart.

Cheeeeeeeeeeeeeee–

There is no screaming or pain.

Reality just shatters…

Soar.

Hwaaaaaaa!

White out.

* * *

-… Beep beep!

what.

A sharp sound is heard from beyond the heavy mind…

Is it an alarm?

I thought dully but for some reason I had the feeling that it couldn’t be like that.

I didn’t know why. But the sentiment lingered for a long time and I didn’t wake up.

Longer and deeper.

Falling asleep…

If only that word hadn’t come to mind.

-daydream?

‘Fuck you.’

“-Huh!”

I opened my eyes.

A bright light stung my eyes. Several incandescent lights hanging from the large ceiling emit light.

A black wall and next to it a huge full-length mirror that takes up the entire surface reflecting the light.

Choreography practice room.

“…!”

I got up. And I looked down at my body.

He is wearing black training clothes.

Reach out and touch your shoulders and neck. I can feel traces of sweat.

-Beep beep beep!

I reflexively turn off the smartphone notifications that are still ringing.

And think. Differences.

“Whoop.”

From location.

I’m definitely sitting on the plane…

no way.

I turned my head and looked in the mirror.

No I tried to see it. If only I hadn’t seen another guy in tracksuits sprawled out next to me before.

And if it wasn’t a familiar face.

“…!”

That was Cheongryeo.

However there is a difference from the one I saw just before.

‘I’m old.’

She is a young woman who appears to be around 20 years old.

At that moment goosebumps ran down my spine.

“you…”

The other person opens his eyes without even saying another word.

“…!!”

“ah.”

The guy with his eyes open has no expression. And with a blank face he familiarly checks the practice room.

As if you know.

As if to confirm.

And he turns his head like a pattern.

Then our eyes met.

Only then do facial expressions appear.

“…!”

First a surprise then…

“haha!”

It’s inspirational.

Lament joy interest despair hope a vague and powerful inspiration that can be combined with all sorts of strange emotions.

“Oh this happens. Things like this happen. “Isn’t that right?”

I barely opened my mouth.

“Where are you…”

“This is LeTi’s practice room. “My agency!”

what?

Cheongnyeo laughed as if she was crying.

“At this start you may not be a junior but you may not be a junior. haha!”

My hair turns white.

Chapter 368

‘…So this is it.’

I came to my senses in the practice room of Cheongryeo and Nam’s agency who looked to be around 20 years old.

It was a crazy situation.

I turned my head. Only then did my eyes meet mine in the huge full-length mirror that took up the entire wall.

“…!”

“You look like your old self. “Isn’t that right?”

That’s right.

The person reflected in the full-length mirror was Ryu Geon-woo. The one that was originally my body. However I am not a person in my late 20s who is tired of public notice.

He looks like he just graduated from high school and looks like he’s about the same age as Cheongnyeo.

I swallowed and raised my hand. The young Ryu Geon-woo in the mirror follows along.

‘…Ryu Geon-woo.’

But somewhere… my impression was a bit different from the one I had at the time.

Things like the eyes the atmosphere and the skeleton.

“It seems like Park Mun-dae’s appearance still remains. Like mixed? Haha that’s unique.”

I get goosebumps.

‘No don’t be so neat.’

Maybe it was because of the expression.

At this time I wasn’t looking very good due to college entrance exams and life problems but the guy in the mirror seemed to have managed it quite well.

‘…’

Why did you manage it?

“The starting point is different this time. Well the ages are different.”

I turned my head. Before you know it Cheongryeo finds her smartphone and checks the date and situation.

I put my hand in my sweatpants pocket. Old smartphones are caught.

“The ages are different.”

“is it so. The original restart was always 18 years old. But since I was 20 the date was a few years later… Hmm that doesn’t seem right. “Is it because someone restarted it together?”

I took out my smartphone from my pocket and checked the date on the lock screen.

[201X/01/08]

“…!”

The date was definitely strange.

If I'm about 20 now it should be a few years ago.

In the first place Ryu Geon-woo was supposed to be older than Cheongryeo but now they seem to be almost the same age.

'Neither this nor that makes sense.'

Only then does my head become clear. The path is clear.

Isn't it different from a 'daydream'?

"This is a dream."

"yes?"

"I'm not sure but I experienced something similar."

I briefly described a daydream I had while in a coma after a car accident. Cheongryeo listened without much change in expression.

"…and you don't fit the age range or year. "I also don't have the right appearance or mental location."

I came to a conclusion.

"So I think this is not the past but an incoherent dream."

"ah."

Cheongryeo laughed heartily.

"You don't want to believe that?"

"…"

I clenched my hands.

"Then is there a better guess than that in the current situation?"

“The surreal situation of returning to the past has already happened but other elements are contradictory so you think it’s a dream? “Isn’t this an overly arbitrary judgment?”

“…”

“Of course you have to think of it as reality and act accordingly junior. No um… can you please call me Geonwoo hyung?”

“stop.”

This guy is going too far.

But I regained my composure after taking a deep breath.

Because nothing was wrong.

“First of all… you’re right. “We have to respond realistically.”

“yes.”

It’s stupid to see a situation the way you want to believe it. It is reasonable to assume the worst and act accordingly.

And one more thing.

‘This bastard… I got sick of the snow.’

This happened because I voluntarily followed along but I got caught up in this crazy thing anyway… and it ended up looking like I started over again.

I don’t know if I’m excited or if I want to kill someone.

‘I need to come to my senses.’

I don’t know what kind of unexpected action might occur. I kept my mouth shut.

And… identify the cause.

‘Where did the error come from?’

Let’s look back at the situation on the plane at that time.

Status windows with errors pop up all around us like crazy and that guy…

-Hmm… I can see this.

“…!”

I also saw the status window in Cheongryeo!

I get a gut feeling as if my head is being hit.

‘no way’

This guy… Could it be that the system went into this guy and activated the deactivated status ailment again?

This guy’s condition is abnormal.

Return to the starting point infinitely.

[Correction (Disable)]

: Let’s try again

-If you fail you go back to the beginning.

As already confirmed in Sun Ah-hyun’s case there is a possibility that a status abnormality that is inactive may become active again.

‘Even if the system didn’t go into it directly it became a catalyst of sorts.’

I immediately checked Cheongryeo's condition.

'Status window.'

No I was trying to check.

However… the window did not open.

Chichichik!

Instead something like a strange glitch popped up and disappeared.

One meaning was clear.

'…big moon.'

This means that it cannot appear in the status window.

I clenched my fists.

'Fuck you.'

It seems like it really failed but it's unclear where it started.

It was then.

A cautious voice is heard from behind.

"Those brothers."

Before I knew it a tall guy was poking his head out of the open practice room door.

It was a familiar face.

"Oh um hello…!"

Shino is a member of VTIC.

Of course he looked much younger than in reality. The guy opened his mouth again with a somewhat nervous expression.

“The director called me but we hadn’t gathered yet so he sent me away…”

“okay? for a moment.”

Cheongryeo gently accepted his words and spoke to me.

“Shall we go?”

“…yes.”

First follow the situation. Cheongryeo and I followed Sinnoh.

Walking down the hallway of an unfamiliar agency.

The place we arrived was the office.

And the manager who looked like a hard worker gathered a bunch of young guys and lined them up.

They’re probably all trainees.

‘About 20 people.’

Considering the size of this company it certainly didn’t seem like the entire number of people were there.

“I’ve been paying special attention to you so I’m calling you just to encourage you. okay?”

“yes!”

Among those called in I see a few familiar faces. A few faces will debut at small and medium-sized agencies in a few years.

And I can also see the faces of VTIC members I know.

‘First of all it’s Sinnoh the guy who called us. Next to it… Is that a main altar?’

No matter how you look at them they are both standing far behind in line as if they are not part of the debut group.

It’s obvious.

‘Cheongryeo has been thinned out.’

Chae-yul who is not here seems to have even been picked up separately.

I once again realized that the guy next to me was someone who had experience combining reality through various attempts.

In the meantime the director is picking each one out and giving them encouragement and questions.

“Shin Jaehyun you take care of the kids.”

“yes.”

Shin Jae-hyeon who has not yet been given the stage name Cheongryeo nodded to the director’s words with a casual expression.

…How many times has this guy experienced this moment?

It was then.

“And Ryu Geon-woo.”

“…! yes.”

Why are you suddenly calling me?

The guy called the manager twitches his fingers and makes fun of his mouth.

“Geonwoo is also a good age and has a good academic background so he has merit. “Don’t worry about unnecessary things and practice harder.”

“…yes.”

Ryu Geon-Woo is getting advice on his debut from LeTi but he’s met with all kinds of bullshit situations.

‘hmm.’

I checked the attitudes and expressions of the people around me and where I stood.

Those who are forced to smile are in the first row next to Cheongnyeo.

And if you combine the words of the director…

‘I’m in the first team.’

I guess I’m LeTi’s trainee here. That’s also the debut group.

Anyway the man called the manager said a few words that seemed to be appropriate and dismissed the trainees.

“Jaehyun do you want to stay and practice?”

“Well let’s see.”

“yes.”

I frowned after seeing the debut group trainees disappearing across the hallway.

‘It looked like the director was exploring something.’

For now let's set priorities aside because it's not a conspiracy of the head of this company.

'I have to get out of this dream right now.'

ASAP.

I have no idea what the hell is going on with how time passes in reality.

'Start with a hint.'

I decided to check my position here.

'This must start with smartphones.'

Because it's a bunch of personal information.

As I walked down the hallway I took out my old smartphone and manipulated the screen…

"…"

I don't know the lock pattern.

I tried it a few times but it all failed. And I don't know what great thing I've done… but then just take a detour.

"Shin Jaehyun."

"hmm?"

"Do you have any records of conversations with Ryu Geon-woo on your smartphone?"

If you think about the situation where we practiced together earlier and stretched out it means that we are familiar with each other.

“There was. here.”

also.

I looked at the smartphone screen that Cheongryeo obediently held out.

[LeTi 16th Shin Jae-hyeon: Please tell me the address of where your brother moved ^^]

[You know what to do]

…But then why bother sending a reply with the address written down there?

‘Are you crazy?’

The sound of Cheongryeo splitting is heard.

“Well I guess we were close. “It’s a convenient structure.”

“Oh I guess I asked because I didn’t know the lock pattern. It’s a rhombus. “It is time for the company to unify the debut smartphone pattern for management reasons.”

It means I get to work with crazy people with no privacy.

It runs very well. It was a mess.

* * *

“after.”

11 o’clock at night.

As indicated in Cheongryeo’s message I am moving to a place called Ryu Geon-woo’s living room.

What about locking your phone? Surprisingly the diamond pattern meant for company use also failed so I just left it as is just in case.

-is it so? It looks like Ryu Geon-woo has only recently joined the company.

'Damn it.'

The reasoning ended there. I guess I'll have to take it to the service center tomorrow and have it resolved. I suppressed a sigh and took a step forward.

Cheongryeo first agreed to return to his home.

-Let's talk again after we each understand the situation.

-is it so.

It was a reasonable decision.

The problem is that the building I arrived at looked better than I expected.

'It's an officetel.'

What kind of money did you use to do this?

I walked forward looking at the building that seemed to be quite out of balance just from the outside.

Just looking at this it was not reality but a dream.

Tiriririk

And fortunately I was able to get through the building's entrance using the card key sticker attached to my smartphone.

I was planning on going back to the company's practice room if I had to but it was a good thing.

‘Then it could also be the front door of the house.’

I went up to the lake unlocked the door then reached out and pulled the doorknob.

The door opens softly.

However there was a light on in the house where there was obviously no one there.

And then I heard a voice.

“Is your brother here?”

“…!”

“You practiced for a long time today.”

Sitting on the living room sofa in comfortable clothes is…

It was Liu Chengwu.

He looks about 20 years old like me.

‘what’s this.’

“brother?”

Ryu Geon-woo here… was living alone with his relative Ryu Cheong-woo.

“Hyung have you ever heard of this culture?”

“…I heard the professor doesn’t give good grades.”

“Hmm I see.”

I don’t know what I’m doing now. I rolled my eyes reflexively evaluating the 3-credit liberal arts skills shown by 20-year-old Liu Chengwu.

And saw.

On the living room cabinet there is a display of teddy bears that are given away at college entrance ceremonies.

Two points too.

'I'm going crazy.'

It's completely confirmed.

It was clear that Ryu Cheong-woo here had entered the same university as me.

Even those two teddy bears look identical.

'It means that they entered school in the same year.'

But why does that guy call me brother? There is no way I would have bothered to retake the exam to go to the same university as when I was on active duty.

"…"

Let's ask in a natural persuasive way.

"Why do you keep using the honorific when you're the same age?"

Even in the worst case you can excuse yourself by saying you drank alcohol.

"Oh well I thought you were my older brother when I was young… I already said it. "It's really not uncomfortable so don't worry."

Liu Chengwu smiles slightly awkwardly. Is that so? The settings are so meticulous and unnecessary.

I suppressed my silence and reflexively thought of a valid question.

‘…What about archery?’

I’m sure I would still be doing archery at that age but now that I think about it it was strange that I entered college now.

However I saw the moment when a relative who was even sleeping with me was about to do something suspicious by asking about it.

A blue and transparent line that suddenly appeared.

“…”

At first I thought it was a hallucination. However as if trying to climb up… a long line is drawn in the air and eventually becomes a square.

And the letters that float on the surface between the lines.

[&!Hyung 5!]

Status window. Big moon.

“…!”

I got up from my seat. And then I immediately went into the bathroom and closed the door.

thud.

‘What condition are you in?’

[I don’t know either. It felt like it was working but I avoided it. It’s okay now.]

Letters pop out sparsely as if barely squeezing through a narrow gap.

It doesn’t look okay. But the texts don’t stop.

[And there is a status window #^]

A pop-up appears with a crackle.

A familiar phrase.

[Enjoy your]

yes.

This is a sentence that starts with the words I saw in my daydream. I clenched my fists.

…It was a hasty feeling.

This is because the endings of the sentences were different.

[Enjoy your reality :D]

Not a dream but reality.

‘reality.’

My brain felt cold as if it had been doused with cold water.

The pop-up shook again.

[I didn’t write this bro. I’ll try my best. Reboot first. ^]

what?

“Wait a minute you’re in danger…”

The status window disappeared before I could say that it could be done so just wait.

‘Damn it!’

Why are these bastards so disobedient? I pounded my fist on the bathroom wall nervously.

It was then.

Lights explode like neon signs.

[START / Registration complete!]

Player: Ryu Geon-woo (Park Moon-dae)

A prism and light enter the hologram as if the vision becomes brighter.

Shine flashes like a firecracker and a new window is created.

[Quest has arrived!]

Companions that can be awakened: ?

Required reputation: 1000 experience

Small text appears in a pop-up window on the big moon.

[this…]

It was a new game system.

Chapter 369

After doing something he called a ‘reboot’ Geoldal started talking actively again.

[Hyung I think I’m feeling better!]

Clearly the pop-up he displayed was no longer unstable and had stabilized.

But my head is infinitely more complex. It’s to the point where I don’t think it’s going to explode like this.

‘A new game system is emerging here?’

I was silent for a moment and then slowly opened my mouth.

“So… this means that this game status window was created by the system itself not you.”

[Yes… I just modified it a bit.]

It seems that during the mixing process the system was able to interfere with the status window just as the big moon interfered with the system.

‘No is this a completely new application?’

Either way it’s not a good thing… But there is something puzzling.

I touched my chin.

“Why does this look like ‘Section 127’?”

That’s right. I said I saw this ‘Collect Colleagues’ somewhere but the items from the interface strangely overlap.

The game we collaborated with.

[That's me! I wanted it to be familiar to my brother at least in game form… so I tried it.]

"okay?… thanks."

If so it means that this structure and content itself were originally intended to be provided by the system.

'It feels uncomfortable.'

With a frown I flipped through the holograms one by one and looked at the contents.

First of all the notation in the status window is similar to before.

[Player: Ryu Geon-woo (Park Moon-dae)]

Singing: A+

Dance: B

Appearance: A

Talent: A-

Characteristics: Infinite potential

Until the next awakening opportunity / Exp 1000

Even though his characteristics were completely gone and all his abilities were downgraded it was still an incredible report card considering his age.

'He is an all-rounder who has nothing to throw away.'

Is this my original ability without any system corrections I've received so far? The situation seems too trash to be proud of so let's get over it.

The problem starts after that.

[Recruited colleague: Shin Jae-hyeon]

Until the next recruitment opportunity / Exp 1000

Why is this guy listed here?

Before that what does it mean to recruit colleagues? What is awakening?

I asked Geoldal a few more questions but I'm not really sure if he's confused either.

'I can't help it.'

It's impossible to even guess what happened to this guy in real life. We can't expect any more help from this guy.

What I don't have I make up with my head.

I lay down on the embarrassingly good quality bed and lost myself in thought.

A combination of existing clues.

'…If we think of it in terms of <Section 127>.'

There leveling up was called awakening.

Until the next awakening opportunity / Exp 1000

That's probably what's displayed below my status window.

Each time you awaken you gain abilities or skills randomly. I heard that the optional actions I have taken so far are based on accumulated probability.

If Geondal properly implemented the mechanism it would be similar here. And here the experience used for awakening is… <Fame Exp>.

'It's obvious.'

If you become famous win awards and get good grades you will get kicked out. It is no different from reorganizing the system from when I was a student at Park Moon University to make it easier and more understandable.

In short the aim is visible.

'I'm telling you to debut.'

Anyone can see that what this system wants is my debut in this world.

This means that you should debut build up your reputation and do better than last time.

'It's like telling me to just settle down and live here.'

It was an unpleasantly blatant suggestion.

'Did I turn?'

Do you know what you're going to do and live here like this? and…

'…there are so many things in reality.'

I couldn't throw it all away. Never.

I closed my eyes.

I was actually glad that I had a tight plan for what to do starting tomorrow. Because there was no time to waste energy with useless worries and thoughts.

* * *

The next morning.

I got to eat with young Liu Chengwu.

"…"

No… It's something I normally do in my dorm but eating like this without anyone around makes it feel like a home away from home.

Ryu Cheong-woo has a relaxed and calm expression as if he is used to silence.

'The big moon said it was resting.'

I felt like I was putting on so much effort that I was kind of sleeping. Thanks to this it is quieter.

"I'm going."

"Have a nice trip I'll see you in the evening."

Instead of persistently asking this guy questions to get information I easily left the house but this was cost-effective.

This is because I was planning to go to the service center this way and unlock my smartphone.

'There must be information in it.'

Data doesn't lie.

And the service center canceled the lock pattern in 15 minutes. That's neat.

'This was the correct answer.'

If this guy were me I would have turned on the security option that evaporates data if the pattern is consecutively incorrect so I didn't even try multiple times.

I opened my smartphone with a cool feeling.

"hmm."

First of all there is nothing special in KakaoTalk history. There are only traces of a group message room mainly for group assignments.

'…Cheongryeo is the latest contact.'

What happened to this guy's interpersonal relationships? Even the photography club had temporarily withdrawn.

[Speaker Lee Yu-jin: Mr. Ryu Geon-woo?? Did you quit the photography club? Why aren't you coming?]

[Because I have something I want to do]

[Speaker Yujin Lee: ??? ㅇㅋ ㅊㅋㅊㅋ]

Judging from my conversation with the guy who introduced me to the data selling job what I want to do here is probably being an idol.

And maybe… the method is street casting while filming proxy fancams.

[LeTi 16th Shin Jae-hyun: This is Shin Jae-hyun who went to the Dream Concert with Director Lee Yong-jae. Do you remember? Please take care of me in the future bro ^^]

This is my first message with Cheongryeo. It was probably from this time.

'…It was only three months ago.'

So it means that he was put into the debut group as soon as he was picked up. In fact if you look at his abilities it is reasonable to say that.

‘It’s difficult to find a usable vocalist.’

Didn’t Cheongryeo compromise on the main vocal and cause an accident?

‘I roughly understand the cause-and-effect relationship. Next.’

…Liu Chengwu.

I looked through the history of messages exchanged with him.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Engineering building soft tofu stew?]

[yep]

He was 21 not 20.

‘I guess so.’

There are traces of Ryu Geon-woo having been in college for a year so this guy of the same age is also the same.

And… just like in reality Ryu Cheong-woo here had also quit archery.

However there were no aftereffects from the injury and it was simply a case of choosing to go to college out of one’s own will.

‘I won the gold medal.’

[Ryu Cheong-woo: I thought it would be fun to do a more academic study.]

Ryu Cheng-wu simply chose what he wanted to do among the open options.

‘then.’

…Isn’t this a happier world for this guy?

I stood still for a moment holding my smartphone.

I think I was embarrassed. So… isn’t it a good option for everyone?

‘no.’

That’s because it’s a dream.

Every time I open the status window the English sentence at the top says it’s real but I can’t believe it.

‘But it’s better than being in a crappy situation.’

In the 100 -day dream there was no mentality for each baby who met X. I gave up my thoughts and looked at KakaoTalk again.

And while lowering the scroll bar.

Get down… get closer.

I saw it.

[My family]

‘ah.’

…Family group chat room.

I couldn’t delete my parents’ contact information from my phone until I graduated from college.

I later deleted it after confirming that the number had been passed on to someone else.

And at this point… I think I was doing something meaningless by digging into this message room and writing.

‘Fuck you’

But somewhere in the corner of my head someone is talking.

In a world where everything is going well perhaps…

“…”

I entered the room with the final message ‘Okay’.

And I saw it.

[Mom: Eat your meal without skipping it okay?]

The messages we exchanged just last month.

“…!”

I hastily clicked on the profile. The introductory message reads ‘I am overseas so the response is very slow.’ I see a picture of a flower.

And the number that appears below it.

I pressed call.

Tiririk.

As the unfamiliar basic sounds connect time passes and no logic connects in my head.

And the moment the connection sound was cut off.

-Is it Geonwoo?

My throat got clogged.

One day I couldn't remember exactly but a familiar voice softly came through the phone.

-Geonwoo what's going on?

"that…"

I swallowed.

My smartphone trembles and my ears press.

"I just want to hear your voice."

-What's wrong with my son!

The voice got louder. And the end rises as if in joy.

And the memories come later.

You originally spoke in this tone.

-I'm glad I got on the phone right now. Every time I use a walkie-talkie in Antarctica the timing is perfect.

This time the voice becomes lower again.

-I'm sorry I miss you so much Mom and Dad.

Damn it.

"Yes me too."

What am I talking about?

-Oh my gosh what's going on? I'm past puberty! my son Mom I have to go now.

My eyes hurt.

-Then I will definitely see you at Christmas this year. Okay?

“yes.”

The call was cut off like a mirage. However the call details are clear.

[01:04]

As if this is real.

“…”

My hands are shaking.

Thoughts expand like crazy.

Where did you say? Antarctica?

Go back to the message room. The parents who went to the Antarctic base for two years for research purposes remain in constant contact for a year…

And he even said that since he became a member of the winter group this year it is difficult to contact him often.

“…”

Antarctica.

Ideas are stuck in the brain like an awl.

‘Wouldn’t it be okay to go?’

Now there is no force like status ailment. I was okay with not debuting here.

If I take a leave of absence like this and make up an excuse somehow to come see him… once I get to that area he won’t come out to see me.

“…”

I turned off my smartphone.

And took a deep breath.

‘no.’

I felt like my brain was going to explode…

But discernment comes first. This is manipulative.

Even if you are a researcher why would your parents suddenly go to Antarctica? It was all made up.

“It’s a dream. “It’s a dream…”

So since it’s a dream I can do whatever I want right? So you can get rid of everything and do whatever you want…

“shut up.”

Shut your mouth and brain.

‘I have to go back.’

I stumbled.

This… won’t work. We have to get out of here as quickly as possible.

I can’t stand it.

I turned off my smartphone. Then he put it in his pocket and started walking again.

LeTi to Ryu Geon-woo’s agency.

“…”

My hands were damp with sweat.

* * *

“You don’t look good.”

“It’s okay.”

I answered briefly. Cheongryeo shrugged her shoulders.

LeTi’s practice was as intense as the name suggests but today there was almost no training and everyone was practicing independently.

“It’s nice to come back just in time for the rain. “You’re not practicing as a team are you?”

“…okay.”

We need to have productive conversations.

And it seems true that this guy is not in his right mind… but even in this crazy situation his natural ease strangely makes people calm down.

‘Let’s work.’

I only think about work. Nothing else is allowed.

I regained my composure.

“There was nothing unusual about my house but what about your junior?”

“A new status window appeared.”

“Hmm.”

I explained the current situation in as much detail as possible. Because there is nothing here that could cause this bastard to get stabbed.

I also planned to give examples to help understanding.

“Have you ever tried ‘Section 127’?”

“I’m not that interested in games.”

I thought so.

Anyway Cheongryeo nodded quite obediently probably because he understood the context.

“In the end you have to gain fame to fully recover your vocal abilities. Hmm.”

“…”

That’s the most important thing to you. This is it. I get it.

Moreover this bastard even goes so far as to rush forward.

“Do you want to debut right away?”

Are you the boss? Why would a mere trainee naturally ask such a question?

‘Is this because of stagnant water?’

If both destinations hit the same target there would be no such efficiency.

However I have no intention of doing something careless by going straight down the route that this system wants.

“for a moment.”

I brought up the Quest tab.

[Quest: Companion Awakening 1/?]

-Recruit your colleagues and awaken them

Companions that can be awakened: ?

Required reputation: 1000 experience

Companion awakening quest.

And I recall the conversation I had with Geoldal yesterday just before I went to sleep.

-What does it mean to be a companion capable of awakening?

-I don't know but… maybe it's related to ability points like you guessed? Because it was like that in section 127…

-I guess so.

I thought this meant that I would level up my colleagues as a group to make it easier for them to adapt to this world.

Even without force.

'Then isn't there some room to dig into?'

As generous as it is there is a gap.

-Then perhaps you could add a little bit of text here? Just one line of explanation at the appropriate level of context.

-…! Hey a little bit?

So I added this explanatory text.

[The awakened companion remembers the previous timeline and grows.]

This is the content in <Section 127>.

In that game there is a setting that says that every time you awaken a companion they remember the contents of the previous episode and become stronger…

"…"

I clenched my fists.

'You have to try it.'

Just increase your reputation a little to see if it works.

I explained the contents to Cheongryeo.

And the reaction is like this.

"is it so? all right."

"…"

It comes out so smoothly?

"Hmm the reaction isn't that great. "I guess it was just something I did."

"That can't be possible."

Let's get the most out of this guy when he cooperates. I crossed my arms.

"First of all… I understand that if you are a large agency some of the first team trainees will be leaked before debut."

“Yes of course. “I sometimes solve it on purpose.”

I searched for it once before coming here. For example Shin Jae-hyun’s name is already well-known among idol fans of the LeTi lineage.

Just try to get that level of reputation.

“I guess I can get the information out in the same way.”

“Ah should I post something on the Internet myself?”

I looked at it in bewilderment.

“Is there any way you can do just that?”

“haha!”

Even though this guy knows he’s doing this for no reason. This means that it is difficult to control it because it has to be accompanied by controversy to attract attention through Internet posts.

The official route was better than that.

“This company also provides work to trainees.”

There is something that large agencies often do with guys who haven’t debuted yet.

For stage experience they make them dancers for senior idols or make them appear in music videos for recognition.

As long as the fan base does not overlap mainly with seniors of different genders.

And as far as I know LeTi also did quite a bit of that before the mystic line VTIC debuted and changed the guidelines.

‘It’s awards season.’

At this point in time who is the most popular female idol in LeTi?

‘Soft and sweet’

The group behind the hit song 〈POP☆CON〉.

So debutant Ryu Geon-woo is a soft and sweet dancer.

“I need you to push that a little bit.”

I looked back at Shin Jae-hyun a person who must have mastered everything about this agency.

The guy nodded calmly and trustingly.

“Well for the main vocal position you don’t really need that kind of experience… That’s right. “They say they want to do that.”

“…”

Oh this guy is really not right.

Chapter 370

The awards ceremony backstage scene is going crazy ahead of the live broadcast.

“Sister this is it!”

“Sohyun has arrived!”

This year too Soft Sweet has been crazy busy. It was common for members to arrive late and hastily prepare due to personal schedules.

The staff who were preparing for the performance nodded once for no reason.

‘The kids are all really pretty.’

Although they looked tired as expected from an idol group that had already reached the top Soft Sweet had the unique vibe of someone who had been particularly well managed.

‘Maybe they picked pretty girls in the first place.’

One of the reasons that led to this speculation was right next to it.

“Let’s do it right.”

“yes!”

This is because the trainee dancers who came with us were also gorgeous.

‘They said Letty was betting her life on this male group.’

You can’t believe all the entertainment industry gossip that goes around but at least half of it may be true.

They appeared to be about seven people and most of them looked handsome.

‘hmm.’

Taking advantage of the moment when his hands were free the staff took a quick look at his face. You might see it on a music program sometime next year.

And these one-sided observations and speculations are fun!

Then I found one person who was particularly calm.

‘…! He’s the real Letty-san.’

A slightly dark-looking boy wearing black slacks and a shirt. It had a neat appearance but the lines had a refined aesthetic.

And there was a delicate simplicity that seemed a bit cold.

‘oh.’

It was a moment when the staff was slightly impressed. The trainee suddenly turned his head towards the staff as if he had something to say.

“…!”

And then our eyes met.

‘oh my.’

The moment I hurriedly tried to look away as if I wasn’t observing anything.

‘Oh I’m laughing.’

The trainee gently lowered his head and then lifted it.

His natural smile exudes a softness as if he has done this a hundred times before.

Should I say that there is no pretense that seems burdensome?

The staff quickly nodded along but were secretly impressed.

‘Wow… Looks like you got a good education.’

It wasn’t.

Ryu Geon-woo who was originally a 5-year Daesang idol tester and is now a Leti trainee was sighing in relief.

‘I almost asked for my microphone.’

This was because I was so familiar with this atmosphere that my subconscious felt comfortable.

In addition the thin glasses on his face were a bit flimsy which bothered me more.

‘I put on lenses but there were no frames on top of the fake glasses… ’

This is because you have no idea what selling point they are trying to use. Why should a trainee dancer get criticized for having better styling than the idol himself?

‘Hasn’t he already been criticized for doing something like that?’

If I had eaten more rawly I would have eaten less.

However the moment I saw the soft and sweet costume that value judgment disappeared.

‘…To such a degree.’

Layers of chiffon and sparkling artificial crystals abound. It looked like it was for the red carpet at a film festival.

It made me wonder if I could dance wearing that but anyway Ryu Geon-woo was convinced after comparing it to his own costume.

‘I guess it’s roughly the concept of a butler or servant.’

It was cringeworthy but it was because it was a time when excessive concepts were rampant.

‘It’s enough as long as its existence is known.’

The part he played was just a short dance in the intro.

“Please take care of me～”

“Thank you senior.”

After nodding his head with Sohyun who had matched with him only once during an in-house rehearsal he walked in step with the other trainees.

Nearby I heard whispering in a lowered voice.

“Oh you’re so pretty.”

“Uh oh. Hey but my personality is a bit…”

‘Hey.’

Thanks to this Ryu Geon-woo wholeheartedly accepted Cheongryeo’s decision to pick up VTIC members.

It wasn’t for no reason that Shinno and Judan who were in the back row of the lineup were brought in.

‘It’s full of unexploded bombs.’

Maybe the agency is so blind that they only look at faces and talents but they can't tell what they can't say in public.

"hmm?"

"no."

Cheongryeo who was standing next to him noticed Ryu Geon-woo's gaze and even explained further.

"Ah that one. "I once took him with me as a test… Three years after my debut my girlfriend posted a post exposing my personality."

"…"

"Haha people really don't change right?"

Ryu Geon-woo wouldn't have been surprised if that guy had been buried in cement and thrown into the Han River at some point in time.

Anyway that was the end of the gossip.

"I don't think I'll do anything too strenuous since it's my first performance."

"uh. "You take care of it."

The trainees went on stage with Soft Sweet thinking about their individual circumstances.

And that night.

An article was posted on an Internet community that only talks about celebrities especially idols.

————————= =

[Letty's next male idol debut group candidate line-up added]

It is an established opinion in academia that the girls who appeared in the Goldie Soft and Sweet intro are the debut group.

————————==

And the article explained the trainee dancers who were briefly caught on the outskirts by combining GIF files and their previously leaked selfies.

Most of them were already well-known among the agency's fans but there was one new face.

This is Ryu Geon-woo who dances a short pair with soft and sweet Sohyun.

————————==

You said you were originally a private trainee but it looks like you joined the debut group this time?

————————==

This year as well Soft Sweet put on a stage with the so-called 'bad taste' concept but the intro itself was so good at embodying the dazzling princess concept that it was excessive.

Thanks to this the stage was dominated by that atmosphere so there was no need for the trainee dancers to become a hot topic with their skills or appearance but there was something unique about it.

-Wow look at Yeonsaeng's eyes haha.

-You make eye contact like a ghost.

This is because Ryu Geon-woo inadvertently found the camera too accurately.

I tried not to overdo it but even that was unavoidable due to Jjambap.

I chose to cry and eat mustard because I thought it would have looked more awkward to look away from the camera.

But the effect took off right there.

-What is going on with Sohyun a student at the Air Force turning her face to the camera?

– So Jaehyun? Only Lee and Bigong Yeonsaeng are captured by the camera. Just looking at them it looks like they will be selected as the main protagonists of the debut team haha.

-What should I do? Leti's live-in slave becomes my heart again.

Along with Cheongryeo who adjusted his concentration appropriately based on decades of experience Ryu Geon-woo was mentioned quite a bit in the comments.

-Letty it's a real pine tree haha.

-Wow the genealogy is clear based on the face haha.

-Please merciful Letty give me the answer. Where is this guy with glasses from? Please please.

We don't know either… We are non-performing students.

I think I know about life and death

Of course that was the end of the reaction.

Since she only appeared once as a dancer in the first place only idol fans who are very interested in Leti can catch a glimpse of her and pass by. However for the person involved it was quite a new feeling.

'It's been a while since I've had this type of monitoring.'

Ryu Geon-woo lowered the smartphone screen he was looking at.

It was fortunate that I managed to control my pace and not use facial expressions. He didn't stand out that much.

However the new knowledge itself strangely reminded me of the day of Azusa's first stage release.

"…"

I was in a state where I strangely felt better after seeing a few supportive comments.

A strange feeling of nostalgia came over me.

[♪♪♫♪♬♪~]

Gold Disc reruns are in full swing on TV.

Ryu Cheong-woo who was mindlessly making a PPT on his laptop in the living room looked up and was quite surprised.

"…! "Is that person behind you your brother?"

"uh."

Suddenly I thought I would become an idol trainee but I have already made my screen debut.

'and'

However even though it would be their first time appearing on TV like this his relatives did not show much excitement or nervousness.

instead…

'…Satisfied?'

That's right. It seemed closer to that side.

Is there anyone who can feel that way after seeing their first performance?

Because he's such a calm person you probably even mistaken him for your older brother when you were young.

'I'm not strange.'

He shrugged his shoulders. Then after taking down the PPT for a moment we looked at the TV screen that Ryu Geon-woo was watching.

"Oh there it is again."

"okay."

I thought about not making fun of him but there was no need to.

Ryu Geon-woo who is occasionally seen on screen looks surprisingly natural.

Liu Chengyu was purely impressed.

"Brother you didn't want to become an idol for nothing. "You're good at it."

"what."

But I didn't notice that my brother was clenching his fists.

* * *

In!

It was only after the awards ceremony was re-aired that I finally opened the status window pop-up.

[Fame is increasing…]

+Exp 10000

The settled reputation exp is a whopping 10000.

‘They really give it away.’

Even though it’s still early days they’ve only been revealed as trainees to this extent? If it was a real game it would have failed.

‘What do you know?’

Even though I looked at it in awe I was willing to spend all my reputation points.

Coincidentally something else popped up one after another.

[Conditions met]

: 〈Colleague Recruitment〉 has been unlocked!

-> movement

‘at las.’

A new feature has come out. They even created a tab with a grandiose image banner. It is a picture of a dark shadow figure shaking hands.

[Recruiting colleagues]

Find a colleague you have a connection with.

also.

I assumed it was taken from 〈127 Section〉 but this is the format.

‘Character selection.’

This means that who appears as a colleague is random.

It's just that the form has become more like a real mobile game compared to the characteristic drawing game but in fact the content isn't much different.

But if you look at the word it says that there is a person with whom there is a connection…

I glanced at Liu Chengyu sitting next to me.

"hmm? why?"

"no."

I think Park Moon-dae may be someone who knows everything about my situation and is close to me here.

'Anyway let's go back.'

I got up from the living room and went into the room where my bed was. And closed the door.

[brother! Are you going to do it now? go for it!]

"okay."

I moved my fingers while watching the big moon chatter.

'The 10th consecutive drawing… is done.'

First recruit only one.

When you press the button the screen spins and a shining star flies from the black space…

…turns off?

[failure!]

what.

[Would you like to try again?]

-Use Exp 1000

I was speechless looked at the status window and realized the reality.

1000 reputation points just disappeared.

"…"

This…

[sorry! sorry! I didn't do this! It's true!]

"…embrace."

Come to think of it in section 127… there was a low probability of this kind of crap.

And it was BM that set this crappy exchange fee. So it is the fault of the game companies who developed the game profit model this way.

T1!

'…Now that I say it it's my company.'

Anyway how are you? I personally signed the contract and guarantee that those kids are crazy about money.

'for a moment.'

Thinking like that opens my eyes. I immediately scrolled through the status window and looked at past pop-ups.

And I found it.

[-Recruit your colleagues and awaken.]

Recruitment and awakening are separate.

This can't be…

"…The experience points used for recruitment and the experience points used for awakening are set separately."

So after recruiting a companion you also need reputation points to awaken them separately…

[Ugh 1!]

yes.

Awakening is leveling up and recruitment is drawing… Of course it costs money to draw and level up.

Of course… isn't it common sense in games?

"…Whew."

I took a deep breath.

[Hyung-hyung are you okay??]

"uh."

Very okay.

very.

After pressing the eyes I tapped the '1-time recruitment' button again.

Then a picture appears of roughly brass and silver swirling through the black universe without impact.

It seems to have worked normally this time…

[★★ Kim Ik-je / Sub Vocal]

[★ Lee Ha-ram / Subdancer]

[Do you want to face it like this?]

Who are you?

No there is no need for an exclamation.

‘Why do people who don’t know come out?’

It’s obvious.

A star or two? It is a dummy character that always fills the lottery pool.

I suppressed my sleep and covered my face with my hands.

‘But where did the star come from?’

〈127 Section〉 has no concept so where did you get the mass-produced lottery game system you idiot?

[ㅈ;ㅖ Jeje didn’t do it.]

“embrace.”

It must be a system.

I think I misunderstood something. I guess this bastard didn’t want me to settle down here. Are you doing something like this?

…or not.

‘Are you interfering?’

Are you trying to make me give up somehow after seeing the explanation text added to awakening?

‘That’s funny.’

Anyone can waste money on gambling.

You don’t even need willpower. Just press your finger!

Instead of greeting the chosen colleague I sent him to my spare inventory.

Then out of the remaining 7000 experience I spent 5000 experience and pressed the button 5 times.

Da da da da da da da da!

[Oh my!]

Don’t be scared I was going to screw this up anyway!

And again the light flashes insincerely.

[★ Dongho Choi / Sub Rapper]

[failure!]

[★★ Jin Yoon-tae / Visual]

[★ Kim Seok-won / Subdancer]

Also unknown people pass by. In the meantime there was even a failure.

‘Fuck you!’

But last.

Aurora lights flash.

[～♪♬♪～]

Musical notes passing over the stars.

“…!!”

I swallowed.

‘no way.’

Who knows the situation this time? Eye-poppingly brilliant light crosses the universe and explodes from the status window.

And the next phrase is…

[WOW!]

[★★★★★ Cha Yu-jin / Center]

“…”

[…]

uh…?

Chapter 371

Cha Yujin.

A center with ‘Characteristic: Black Hole (S)’.

With a crazy combination of conditions optimized for idols from skills to mentality he has Triple A stats at a young age. I won’t even go to the military and won’t have a gap year.

No wonder the system gave this guy 5 stars.

However… there are other conditions.

[Chacha Yujin you don’t know anything right?]

“Oh I don’t know.”

This guy… changes his body returns to the past a status window pops up and he’s completely innocent and doesn’t know anything.

And that’s why they’re the most difficult type of person to explain properly.

-OK. So you used to know me but you went back in time and became a different person?

-Call 911?

‘It’s ruined.’

I sighed and rubbed my face.

However the status window flashes very excitedly.

[Do you want to face it like this?]

“…uh.”

Fuck that I can’t not accept it.

[Recruiting first colleagues]

: 〈Companion Awakening〉 has been unlocked!

-> movement

Another new tab was opened.

I immediately opened the pop-up. This time instead of a banner something like a list of game friends appears…

[Awakening companion]

Jaehyun Shin: Today’s workout (^^)

Cha Yu-jin: Sleeping soundly (—p—)zZ

“…”

You can see dot images of each guy that look like emoticons. This too… seems to have been implemented as a degraded version of <127 Section>.

It may be a bit absurd but it might not be a bad idea for information seeking purposes. Although it is shabby.

…It’s nice to see Cha Yu-jin’s name for the first time in a while. Anyway it seems like everyone else is here too.

“after.”

I sighed and checked my remaining Exp. 2000.

‘I’m sure failure won’t appear even when leveling up.’

Isn’t that crossing a line that wasn’t even seen in the ‘127 Section’ game? Of course it was a mistake when systems like star ratings were introduced.

‘If you think of it as a reinforcement concept there is a possibility of failure.’

And if it fails it just evaporates.

“Is there something like a probability table here?”

What percentage is a failure what percentage is a five star rating etc.

Shouldn’t we at least know the expected value and calculate it?

[wait a minute!]

The pop-up of the big moon which disappeared in a hurry slowly reappeared as if creeping in a moment later.

[There is no such thing…]

“…”

Minimum expectations… shattered.

Well in the first place there was nothing in the colleague recruitment banner.

I’m not even angry anymore. I am a god for expecting morality from this crazy system. I looked at the ceiling of the room and held back a sigh.

Then I realized that there was a postal sign in the top corner of the status window.

‘for a moment.’

What do you mean by that?

Clicked.

[Failure consolation money has arrived…]

+10G

+10G

"…"

Please note that there is no gold tab in this status window.

In other words it is a false product. It must have been created during the process of overwriting the existing 127 section skin.

'You're stuffing the text with gold you damn bastard… '

I looked away because I felt like my blood vessels would burst if I continued. And then we returned to the main topic.

Awakening colleagues!

[Colleague: Would you like to awaken Cha Yu-jin?]

-Use Exp 1000

Are you coming?

I pressed OK.

Then an unusual light appears in Cha Yu-jin's dot image.

[Leap towards emergency…]

And a few seconds later.

Fanfare erupts from Cha Yu-jin's handwriting.

[First awakening successful!]

Done.

I clenched my fists. It is not because of the thrill of success.

'So what happens?'

I need to check how valid the explanation I pasted is but after summoning my colleagues there is no realistic comment other than these emoticons.

'What are you asking me to do as a colleague?'

It was then.

Another pop-up quietly appears.

[＜Communication＞ has been unlocked!]

"…!"

It's impossible to make people talk to their colleagues through the status window like Geoldal…

[I have contact information…]

Cha Yujin: 858-XXX-XXXX

"…"

He gave me a real number without any hesitation.

No if you look closely… this even has an area code in the United States.

San Diego California USA.

‘Damn it.’

I pounded the bed with my fist.

Is Cha Yu-jin in the US?

So Sangtae was sleeping?

* * *

Cha Yu-jin had a dream.

In the dream he left his hometown and took a job in a foreign country the country of origin of his lineage.

-Take your STAR. Hello this is Testa!

He was a KPOP idol!

It was a job he never imagined would appear in his life.

From the moment I impulsively accepted the scouting offer that suddenly came in after the semester ended everything was decided in an instant.

There was one reason.

It was fun!

And he made his debut in a good team…

-Yujin is the best at this.

They were good members.

It wasn’t always a good thing but in the end every moment ended with a good result.

Exciting… your own life more dynamic than ever!

At that moment he knew.

‘This isn’t a dream.’

Cha Yu-jin opened her eyes.

And at that moment he realized that he remembered the past not a dream.

“Whoa.”

6 am.

He stretched out his arm and silenced the alarm that had not yet gone off.

Then I walked out to the kitchen drank some water and reflected on what had happened.

‘ah.’

The hair that wasn’t dyed felt somehow awkward. therefore…

Who are you?

‘Cha Yu-jin 23 a member of the KPOP group Testa.’

However Cha Yu-jin’s body is currently living in a completely different situation. He went to the local high school and was on the football team…

I didn’t know much about KPOP. Until just yesterday.

‘Wait was that really yesterday?’

I couldn't figure out what was going on. Apparently he had been on vacation for a long time and went to a friend's house to hang out…

Is this actually a dream?

He brought his hand to his face without much hesitation.

puck.

"cadet."

It hurt so bad.

He criticized his judgment for hitting his face and realized why he had criticized him.

Because I'm going to go on stage and I don't want my face to be disfigured.

"hmm."

He set down his glass of water and shrugged.

'I'm an idol.'

It was right to start from there.

All of the knowledge and information tips I remembered are by no means fake. A sophisticated and realistic experience that a lunatic cannot invent.

'On the contrary this one is more suspicious.'

He rubbed his chin. Isn't life at this local high school too dull compared to your own life?

It's no different from middle school.

‘Well anyway.’

First he texted the numbers of other Testa members…

‘…I don’t know?’

Well who in this world memorizes other people’s numbers these days?

He shrugged and tried to think of his next move. But before that an alarm appeared on the smartphone.

Ding dong.

It was a message from the Facelook account.

And that’s all in Korean.

-Apple: Hello.

-Apple: I’m Moon Dae Park. If you remember please reply.

Typeface with a familiar tone of voice.

“oh my god.”

Cha Yu-jin laughed.

How can they appear at the most perfect time every time?

He tapped the screen with one hand.

-I’m from America lol

-I’m going to Korea tomorrow!

Losing my savings on airfare seemed to be the same thing anyway.
Cha Yu-jin giggled.

* * *

"…So we are now waiting for the former member to enter the country from the United States?"

"okay."

I nodded.

I wasn't very happy about being called a former member but there was no need to be rude to the guy who followed me to the airport.

"It's an unusual variable that past memories can come back at random. "I wonder if I really need to use it."

Cheongryeo is manipulating something with her smartphone with a sad expression on her face.

That bastard seems to be acting under the complete assumption that this is reality.

'…I understand.'

Because it wasn't just once or twice.

For a moment I thought about telling this guy… about the dog but stopped.

'I have to tell the story only when I see a solution.'

If I try it now won't it just make me turn around even more? I held back a sigh and held up a placard.

[Welcome Testa Cha Yu-jin]

…It's embarrassing but my face is different from before so there's nothing I can do.

'It was fortunate that I was able to find the Facelook account using the phone number.'

And fortunately not long after holding this one guy passed the gate and ran out excitedly.

A guy wearing a jumper that looks like a ski suit and swinging a suitcase around with one hand.

"brother!"

Ordinary person Cha Yu-jin.

I was speechless for a moment and had a strange feeling… Wait how old is that guy?

The pale young Cha Yu-jin stops in the middle and frowns.

"Hyung Moon Dae?"

"uh. grow."

Come to your senses.

No matter how old this baby is we will first have to explain why his body is different before we can proceed.

But before I could open my mouth that guy opened it first.

"He looks like Moon Dae but he's a different person. "Have you ever had plastic surgery?"

"…Similar."

"Oh…"

"greatness."

I heard the sound of a young cub pecking. I pressed my eyebrows and muttered.'

"Anyway… I'll give you the password to our dorm so you can try everything first."

"There is no need for that. "That's right bro!"

"…okay?"

"yes. [Only among us Moon Dae hyung says things like that.]"

Cha Yu-jin smiled.

"I know. So please explain!"

"…okay."

I left the airport with a guy who used a mix of written expressions from "Azusa" just because he was a little younger.

And a game room in Seoul.

"…That's how it happened."

I somehow managed to finish explaining the nonsense situation in just one hour.

I'm breaking into a cold sweat.

'Even as I summarize it it becomes more and more shameful… '

I covered my twitching mouth with coffee. I had no idea what Cha Yu-jin would answer.

But the guy nodded obediently.

[This is some kind of parallel dimensional multiverse. Right?]

"…??"

Cha Yu-jin… do you understand this?

Also in those terms?

The guy shrugged his shoulders.

[Plus the alien mind parasite… Limestone movies like that kind of thing. I know that much.]

At the same time he seemed to be wondering why he liked such boring stuff but I'm just thankful that he convinced me. I can't believe I owe this much to Limestone.

Of course it is possible because the evidence is felt now.

Because life has changed.

[Anyway somehow I didn't feel like this was my reality.]

Cha Yu-jin who said 'I found all my memories' shook her head as she took a shot of hot chocolate.

[I'm so bored. What can I say as if the tape was played repeatedly?]

Is that so?

[And there's no way I could be a quarterback candidate this easily. It's a world of 6'3″ and above.]

Cha Yu-jin grumbled saying that for a 6-foot tall person to succeed there should have been more adversity and mountains to jump over.

I agreed.

"I feel like I've set the right conditions. "The age doesn't even match."

“that’s right. That senior? “He’s no longer a senior but a senior. He was originally older.”

Cha Yu-jin pointed to Cheongryeo quite politely.

“…”

That guy… lived much longer than you thought.

Anyway Cheongryeo who was singled out is processing something on her smart phone without any disturbance.

“Are you busy?”

“We need to adjust our debut schedule a little bit.”

Are you adjusting your schedule…?

At that time Cha Yu-jin suddenly intervened.

“debut?”

“It looks like I have to become famous to give the kids their memories back. “I guess that’s like game experience.”

“Uhm…”

A look of confusion passed over Cha Yu-jin’s face for a moment but she soon understood.

“OK I got it.”

what.

“I’m debuting too!”

Cha Yu-jin grinned.

“If I’m there the group will become famous faster.”

“…!”

It was an arrogantly confident statement but I couldn’t refute it.

“And we can get back to testing soon! Everyone let’s find something and do something!”

“…what?”

Cha Yu-jin grinned.

[Anything! I have to find a way back. Testaro!]

This bastard…

It felt like the 17-year-old kid was quite trustworthy.

But it seems it wasn’t the other guy.

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo looked Cha Yujin up and down was silent for a moment as if estimating livestock and then briefly concluded.

“I don’t think it will work.”

“…!”

However Cha Yu-jin had no sense of hitting.

“Everyone has the opportunity to challenge themselves. The group hasn’t debuted yet. So it’s not yours.”

Trying to beat them with facts.

However Cheongryeo also has no sense of hitting.

“There seems to be a misunderstanding.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“It’s not me the company won’t accept Eugene.”

“…!?”

And it’s said like a death sentence.

“Because that’s not the look LeTi prefers.”

“…”

“…”

I am now thinking of the debut group and Shinno Judan Cheongnyeo.
And finally I thought about my current appearance.

…It all feels somewhat gloomy and cold doesn’t it?

And finally I saw 17-year-old Cha Yu-jin sitting in front.

This guy looks like his eyes are about to explode.

hmm.

Definitely… I feel a bit out of place when this guy comes in.

“I’m really good at it. Is that still true?”

“well. Even if you ask me… I’m not the owner of the company.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“Just like you said.”

Oh this guy is mad.

To be honest with Cha Yu-jin's abilities even if they don't let her debut right away if her agency has eyes they will keep her anyway.

'LeTi would do the same.'

But when I see a guy I know doing something like that I'm going to kick him out.

Cha Yu-jin looked at Cheongryeo clearly and then nodded without hesitation.

"OK. Then bro come out there. "Find a new agency with me!"

"for a moment."

The agency doesn't produce new talent every quarter and if that continues there's no telling when they'll be able to debut again.

'I'm going crazy.'

I pressed my eyebrows. Cheongryeo said without erasing her smile.

"That's right."

Cha Yu-ji looked at Cheongryeo in silence for a moment and then opened her mouth quite seriously.

[I don't know why you're being so hostile but don't you want to go back? Your group already exists. Don't you miss them?]

"…"

Should one of them have been silenced?

[We can find a way to go back together but I don't know why we don't.]

Cheongryeo looked at Cha Yujin without an expression. I was ready to move if the situation arises.

‘Now… Isn’t that an unexploded bomb being picked up with an iron skewer?’

But after a while. The words that came out of his mouth were refreshing.

“is it so?”

“…!”

“I see. “When I think about it… I think I may have been too complacent.”

Cheongryeo twisted his mouth.

“It’s not like there’s a mission haha!”

Oh fuck…

Just as I was about to get up Cheongryeo stopped laughing.

“So let’s go with the logic of survival of the fittest.”

what?

Cheongnyeo laughed.

“Now that I think about it this is the first time I’ve heard this… Do you know how many people my group originally had?”

Five people.

But that didn’t seem to be what this guy meant.

This guy’s untouched… the first VTIC.

“Nine people.”

"…!"

"Quite a lot right? haha. The current debut group of seven includes two more members… Where do you think those two people suddenly appeared?"

"…"

Why was there a team change at the last minute?

'If we were to judge by considering the timing.'

I answered reflexively.

"Survival Program."

"that's right."

Cheongryeo picked up her smartphone again.

"There was originally an in-house survival program conducted by LeTi in partnership with Tnet."

Although it was helpful in forming a fandom in the beginning more provocative idol survival games were rampant and Testa lost much of its momentum during the time when it was active.

But at this point it's still a trend.

"But people's minds are very difficult to control. Right? "The more unspecified the majority becomes the more variables become visible."

Cheongryeo's eyes narrowed.

"So at some point I just let it go…"

The guy put down his smartphone and spoke lightly.

“I’ll just leave it alone this time.”

“…!”

“Only whoever survives will debut.”

“that.”

“It’s reasonable right? “Efficient.”

I swallowed. X is done.

-Let the person who wins the in-house survival program debut.

At first glance Cheongryeo’s words sound like a freedom to give up influence over the group. Because we want to debut with whoever survives.

But actually no.

‘The influence this guy has on his agency is ridiculous.’

I don’t know if I’m finding a weakness memorizing and using the butterfly effect or both. Still it was certain.

But how could this guy just let survival run its course?

‘That’s crazy to begin with.’

I’m sure this guy has already seen what happens if he leaves that survival alone.

‘There will definitely be a designated appointee.’

And this time this guy will make up all the nominees. VTIC was selected by this guy as the best… I am the one to replace the main vocalist.

In short… that's just a declaration of 'I will make you X before debut'.

'Fuck you.'

I hastily opened my mouth.

Chapter 372

“As you said survival has too many variables. “There’s no need to do that.”

“is it so? “My junior also debuted in survival so I thought he would prefer it.”

Cheongryeo walked away looked at me and Cha Yujin in turn and spoke softly.

“Don’t worry too much. Won’t you become the person you want to be? haha!”

“…”

I get goosebumps. This guy has come to a conclusion.

It won’t work.

“wait for a sec.”

I stood up holding Cha Yujin’s arm.

“I know you’re upset but let’s cool down and talk again.”

“Well I wasn’t particularly angry. “That’s true right?”

Don’t act like you’re not upset when you’re really upset.

“Why are we overreacting when we say we will give everyone equal opportunities?”

“I like that… ugh!”

you stay still

“Okay let’s meet again tomorrow and talk.”

I hurriedly took Cha Yu-jin and got up then looked back at Cheongryeo.

Eh I don’t know. say it

“…Thank you for coming to the airport today and have a safe trip.”

“…”

Cheongryeo seemed a little agitated but now the priority is to catch this bastard that is running wild like a colt.

“You watch your mouth.”

“iced coffee! “Mundae-hyung it hurts!”

As soon as I left the game room I slapped Cha Yu-jin on the back.

“The current situation is a mess so we have to say the right things while taking into account the atmosphere.”

“I didn’t even see that senior! “There’s no reason to be the only one looking at me!”

“…”

That’s… Anyway this guy is only saying the right things.

‘Cheongryeo was more openly aggressive than I thought.’

It was unexpected. I thought they would just gently coax him into becoming a trainee at his agency and say things like eliminating his competition.

Rather than making calculations to use it comes from arranging the rankings…

I clicked my tongue. It didn't taste very sweet.

'…That bastard must have lost his mind too.'

After struggling so hard and adjusting to the reality of raising a dog I suddenly found myself starting over again?

It was wise not to go crazy.

I took my hand away from Cha Yu-jin and held back a sigh.

"…okay. You didn't do anything wrong. But he also has his own circumstances."

Cha Yu-jin shrugs.

[We all have our own circumstances but that doesn't mean we can act like bisexuals.]

"…"

You're saying the right things so I don't have anything to reply to.

"okay. Anyway you'll have to get used to the jet lag today so get some sleep first. "Where did you find accommodation?"

"no!"

"…"

"The plane ticket was expensive. Are you going to that motel?"

He says it so clearly.

"Just… follow me."

I'm already at a loss as to what I should explain to Ryu Cheong-woo but that doesn't mean I can't leave a guy who has no money to come to Korea to sleep on the street.

'If only this bastard wasn't 17… '

With Cha Yu-jin in tow I returned home to the officetel where I had also spent a few nights.

Ding-dong.

As a courtesy ring the doorbell once.

"brother?"

And when Cha Yu-jin sees Ryu Cheong-woo coming out the front door she is delighted.

"Do you have Chungwoo? "Did you come first?"

"I heard they're relatives and they're living alone together."

"OK…"

Cha Yu-jin speaks to Ryu Cheong-woo with a slightly new face.

"I don't know?"

"huh?"

Liu Chengyu seemed to think for a moment about what the situation was but then burst into laughter.

The kid looks young so I don't think there's much suspicion.

"Did your brother introduce you to me?"

"okay. "This is Cha Yu-jin."

He roughly explained that he was an international pen pal as part of a school program and came to Korea all of a sudden.

Liu Chengwu was impressed.

“You are a courageous friend.”

“What is courage?”

If it were a real situation like that you wouldn’t have anything to say even if you were beaten with a broom and dragged home.

In fact it seems like there was a lot of talk at that guy’s house but the family customs were so liberal that they got permission after escaping.

I pressed my eyes.

‘…I’m sure you’ll pay my living expenses.’

At least it’s not the worst. I heard that the guardian continues to take care of me.

“Can I just stay for a few days until I find this guy a house?”

“of course. “My friend went to bed too so what?”

“thank you! Please take care of me!”

Cha Yu-jin occupied the guest room and utility room and I went into my room and started thinking in earnest.

How on earth should I deal with this situation?

Just in case I checked the status window… Let’s not talk about it.

[colleague]

[Shin Jae-hyeon: Working hard (//-^)]

[Cha Yu-jin: Adapting to the new room (〉ㅅ〈=☆)]

The problem is that I have no idea what the first guy is working so hard at.

And what is the shade of that emoticon? A sign that you're upset?

'after'

The goal is tense.

At that time a pop-up appeared in the status window. It's a big month.

[Are you okay?]

"okay."

It's not like they said they would kill each other and this kind of mess was fully expected… no they had to deal with it.

[Hyung I… If you could debut in the same group as only one of you what would you do?]

I thought about it for a moment but there is a neat answer here anyway.

"I guess I should go with someone who is likely to become more famous in a short period of time."

[Is it that simple?]

"It's simple."

I sat down on the bed.

"If the goal is to get things running efficiency is the top consideration."

The sooner we deal with it the sooner we can return to Testa's reality. Here the emotional fight becomes entangled as it goes.

'It seems like they're secretly hoping for that and doing this shit.'

The system. I have no intention of being dragged along.

And when considering everything the more advantageous side is naturally Cheongryeo.

Even though the years and circumstances are a bit off the information and experience he knows about these years would be at an inhumane level.

"…"

Still if possible it is better to have both because it covers a wide range of demand.

'Well there's no soybean paste.'

This is a person that Cheongryeo has an advantage in so he can be tempted. Relax your mind a bit.

I frowned.

It was then.

dripping. A fairly polite knock is heard and then the door bursts open.

Who could it be? This is Cha Yu-jin.

"brother! "We made plans for tomorrow."

"what?"

Cha Yu-jin… is making a plan?

“I’m going to find Raebin Kim…”

“…!”

“It’s okay if Kim Rae-bin doesn’t know Testa! “You just have to make an idol.”

I am indeed.

okay. Maybe it could be Kim Rae-bin. I grinned.

“good.”

“Hee hee!”

Cha Yu-jin sat on the bed in street clothes but he turned a blind eye. Because you gave a productive opinion.

And if this guy is looking for Kim Rae-bin… Since we have been trainees together before it will be easier to predict the radius of action.

“Is there anyone who can guess where I’m going?”

” there is! “Raebin Kim’s house in Gangwon-do!”

“…”

I need to reserve a KTX ticket first.

And one more thing.

“Hyung what are you doing?”

“Finding Raebin Kim.”

I turned on the Internet and accessed WeTube and Sound Mist.

If this is truly an environment where everyone can live reasonably well… isn't it obvious what Raebin Kim is doing?

It is composition.

* * *

17-year-old Kim Rae-bin who is scheduled to enter high school this year was working hard to prepare for her future during winter vacation.

'It passed…!'

This is my career as a composer.

He had just started his first job by exchanging emails with an agency in Seoul.

Considering his young age and lack of personal connections this was a remarkable achievement but unfortunately neither he nor his guardian had any specialized knowledge.

Thanks to this Raebin Kim was planning to get a uniform for a nearby high school next week.

Instead of putting everything on the line to demonstrate every last bit of his amazing talent he continues his peaceful daily life.

"Let's go in before Ravin sets me up~"

"It's already about that time! "Then I will get up."

I was about to return home after helping out at my grandparents' strawberry house on a sunset afternoon.

Raebin Kim who came out of the greenhouse was locking the door when he heard someone shouting.

"Raebin Kim!"

“yes!”

Everyone around here was elderly. He turned his head in response to the voice that so naturally belittled him.

But there… there were people I didn’t know.

“…??”

Those people… who are they?

“That’s right Raebin Kim!”

“okay.”

The person wearing the long padding calmly listens to the excited shouts of the person wearing the jacket in a wild and haphazard manner.

Both of them… somehow didn’t seem younger than themselves.

then!

‘I can’t believe this is the bullying of a high school student that I only heard about…!’

When I was receiving school violence education I once saw someone come to my house and discipline a student who hadn’t even entered school yet…!

He had never been bullied by anyone in his life until now but he was going to be bullied now!

Kim Rae-bin who made all her peers intimidated by her appearance stiffened her face and body with an unreasonable expectation.

“for a moment.”

However those who came closer… just had faces of joy.

And it was intense.

“…!”

One of them had the brightest eyes of anyone he had ever met in his life.

With his almost yellow eyes shining he held out a hand towards himself… and pointed a finger.

“Kim Rae-bin I found it!”

“…?”

Do you have some… business? No you shouldn’t point a finger at someone’s face before that!

However before Kim Rae-bin could ask a question the other person spoke first.

“Okay you found it.”

And look at yourself.

“Nice to meet you. “Ravin.”

A clear and solid voice that is pleasant to listen to.

It looked cold and delicate but when I looked again the eyes seemed warm. And I felt like I was crying somewhere.

For some reason my heart ached. Somehow… I felt like these two looked familiar.

‘…?’

Why?

Raebin Kim thought carefully and soon came up with an answer like a lightning bolt.

It was a very likely guess.

Raebin Kim opened his mouth with a very sorry expression.

“sorry! “I don’t remember the specifics but I’m sure the two of you are familiar with me!”

“…!”

Kim Rae-bin was unable to capture in detail the surprise and unexplained emotion that passed over the two people’s faces.

So I asked brightly.

“Are you a relative on your mother’s side?”

Is this a relative I met when I was a preschooler and don’t remember?

“…”

“…”

There was silence for a moment.

“no.”

“then…”

“I came because I have a suggestion.”

A person with a delicate expression smiled faintly.

“Scout Janede.”

“Scout??”

The strong-looking one shouted like a cheerleader.

“Become an idol with me!”

“yes…?”

Raebin Kim was confused. A person with a delicate look takes out a smartphone and turns the screen without hesitation.

It was his account.

“This is yours.”

“…!”

Without any time to think a sensitive person continues talking calmly.

It’s as if Kim Rae-bin is discussing an issue that has come to a conclusion of course.

“You must have thought about wanting to perform this song yourself on stage.”

Raebin Kim opened his mouth instead of shaking his head like he was possessed…

And five hours later as if he had been scammed he makes an appointment to go to Seoul.

‘…??’

Kim Rae-bin’s dream of becoming a small producer was hijacked by becoming an idol.

* * *

[Cha Yu-jin: During the victory ceremony (〉ㅅ〈/)]

As soon as she returned to Seoul after exchanging contact information with Kim Rae-bin Cha Yu-jin started posting that status intermittently.

‘It worked out well.’

I shook my head while laughing.

Given his personality and talent it wouldn’t be surprising if he got scammed into a contract in an instant but the bloody impression seems to balance it out.

Of course the method of persuasion was also unique.

‘I’ll think back on that later.’

First of all… what should I do with this guy? I moved my gaze over Cha Yu-jin’s explanation.

[Shin Jae-hyun: Thinking of a puppy (//∼ˆ)]

“…”

I’m really going crazy.

I shook my head and stood up. I ended up leaving the officetel this late at night.

As expected he was in the company’s practice room.

Alone in that practice room.

I went inside. That guy doesn’t move at all.

“It’s past midnight why are you still here?”

“…well.”

Cheongryeo was staring at the wall mirror without any expression.

“There’s no particular reason.”

Are you thinking too much that you didn’t even want to practice?

Instead of saying that I went and sat next to him.

“There’s something I didn’t mean to say before.”

Then choose the words and say them slowly.

“Before… I was grateful that Kong sent me a picture.”

“…”

“I couldn’t raise a dog because I didn’t have the conditions to do so but it was okay to look at the picture.

Cheongryeo looked into space for a moment without saying anything and then asked briefly.

“How are you?”

Beans.

“I believe that you can check for yourself.”

“well.”

Cheongryeo was not excited or angry. I just muttered slowly.

“Faith is not a matter of probability. “Isn’t that right?”

“yes.”

This means that no matter what you believe don’t expect it to actually come true.

However I have also thought about something of my own these past few days.

“But I have a heartache.”

“which?”

I crossed my arms and took a deep breath.

“The system is too friendly.”

Cheongryeo only turns her eyes and makes eye contact.

“Would you be friendly to the guy who tried to kill you? “They’re trying to get rid of it.”

If the system were truly omniscient and omnipotent and could create the entire world these troubles would end with accidental deaths.

“But… instead I only filled in good conditions. Age environment ability economic conditions…”

I suppressed the sobbing in my throat.

“Even my parents.”

“…”

Cheongryeo flinched for a moment.

“There is no favor to the enemy without reason. There is something I regret. “There is a reason to appease and please.”

“option.”

“…!”

Cheongryeo continues speaking covering her chin with one hand.

“You mean they want to make you choose this side?”

“okay.”

I calmly continued my reasoning.

“If there is no way out there is no need for people’s choices to matter. “They’re trying to tempt you to stay because you can get out of here.”

“…”

“And structurally the one with the highest probability is… the last one.”

“last.”

“okay. Clear the game. “I think there’s something good about being successful as an idol again.”

At the point where the quest is finished and you see the ending.

Isn’t it a choice between ending and going back to reality or staying in the world after the ending?

I lay down with my head in the practice room.

I felt like I was actually lying down in my company’s practice room.

“Of course this is just an assumption but I think the evidence itself is persuasive. how is it.”

“…”

Cheongnyeo released the hand covering her chin.

“I have a question.”

“what.”

“Is there any reason why I shouldn’t just stay here?”

“Because I want to go back to reality.”

I answered without hesitation.

“And actually you want to do that too.”

“…”

“Isn’t that why you didn’t even mention the dog until now?”

Isn’t it a subconscious desire to just make it like it never happened rather than suffer a useless mental blow?

“…”

Cheongryeo leaned against the wall.

It is similar to when I first woke up in this body.

And slowly open your mouth.

“I’m not sure.”

That damn thing’s defense mechanism is real.

But instead of chochi he closed his mouth. There must have been a time or two when he thought he wanted to go back but was frustrated. Fuck we have to tolerate this much.

And it was worth it.

“But… Kongi wasn’t born yet.”

“…!”

“I need to meet you before then.”

“We have to make it like that.”

I got up.

“That’s why we want to create such a group.”

It’s not VTIC or Testa it’s just a group that can get the highest efficiency in the shortest amount of time.

A risk-tolerant group that prioritizes profit over stability without considering future variables.

“A group that can win both the Rookie of the Year Award and the Grand Prize as soon as they debut.”

I declared.

“And let’s go back and watch the ending right away.”

It was a short-term project group proposal.

Chapter 373

A short-term project group aimed solely at achieving the highest efficiency results in a short period of time to escape from this place.

For this to be accepted we must ultimately acknowledge that reality exists separately and can be returned to.

‘The question is whether this bastard can get there.’

I kept my mouth shut. And Cheongnyeo slowly opened her mouth.

“is it so.”

It worked.

‘That’s it.’

I clenched my fists and suppressed a sigh. There is no need to show that you are relieved.

“Then survival is now…”

I was going to tell them to cancel. If it weren’t for the next words.

“hmm? “It’s already scheduled to happen.”

“…!!”

Where has this bastard been talking so far…

“Cancel.”

“hmm? I’m not the president of a broadcasting station… it’s difficult now. haha.”

I want to grind just one piece.

As if he had noticed it he finally came up with a useful reason.

“Isn’t there something that was more popular in the early days than survival?”

“……”

I touched my chin.

“Of course.”

Isn’t there a living witness here?

If it appeals to the right audience there is no better way to gather firepower in the short term than survival.

The problem is that he is the one holding the sword hilt.

“As long as you don’t do anything stupid.”

“What nonsense?”

As long as they don’t trash Cha Yu-jin on broadcast just because she’s being treated badly. You bastard.

Although he didn’t say it out loud Cheongryeo probably guessed it through nuance and shrugged his shoulders.

“Well I think there was a misunderstanding here.”

And then split it again.

It makes me feel dirty because it seems like an expression of pity for a baby.

“If there is no improper intervention do you think that your junior group member will definitely be able to debut?"

"uh."

This guy must have seen that crazy version of 'Azusa' and he's saying something obvious.

Is there any way that a guy who debuted through that crazy situation wouldn't be able to survive as an agency in the 2010s?

'If you get the coaching right it's not a problem to push the chaff.'

"hmm…"

Cheongryeo stroked her chin.

"Then shall we make a bet?

"what?"

"Who debuts here more VTIC or Testa?"

That's bullshit.

"Is this a bet? And I've only got two together so far."

"I have two right now."

"…"

In the first place isn't the VTIC capacity half that of Testa?

"Hmm have you lost confidence?"

This guy is real.

I nodded.

“It would be better to do it in proportion. Fairly.”

“is it so. “I feel confident.”

The guy laughs haha.

“is it so. Junior. Then… let’s make a plan.”

And then he holds out his hand.

“…”

I shook the hand he held out.

It was a temporary alliance.

But then strength comes into my grasp.

“But if you get to the end and there’s nothing.”

The guy’s expression disappeared.

“If my junior’s reasoning is wrong.”

“…!”

Cheongryeo narrowed her eyes.

“From then on I just do what I planned.”

“…”

Anyway what are you digging?

‘That won’t happen.’

I nodded silently. And I also tightened my grip.

“Haha if this were real it would be a real mess.”

“It’s a nightmare.”

In this way in real life a mix-and-match survival that everyone in the fandom can enjoy was accomplished.

And after a few days of preliminary work.

The article was reported in late February and teasers began to be posted on WeTube.

* * *

The preview teaser is a typical large agency survival style.

First of all LeTi’s new headquarters is shown like a palace with great camera work.

[LeTil the cradle of global idols representing Korea

[Producer: Never before.]

[Artist Team Leader: It’s the best ever. It’s amazing how we got it together like this.]

[Smooth and Sweet Sohyun: But will it be possible to win the hearts of the public in the end?]

[Sohyun Soft: That seems like a different problem.]

Officials saying meaningful things.

And then a huge title comes out.

[Who is Superior?]

The initials are nicely grouped together in 3D graphics.

[WiS]

[Survival show to select LeTi's next generation]

[〈Wise〉]

Wise.

The meaning of 'hyeonmyeong' is pronounced by mixing 'Who is' and 'Why' to capture both the meanings of 'Why should I debut' and 'Who is that member?'

-Eventually it is called Letty Survival.

I thought so. I warmed up recalling Cheongryeo's words.

There are already cameras lined up in the waiting room below the stage.

"face!"

"yes."

Perhaps because they haven't even debuted yet the makeup staff's tone doesn't have the feel of a service job. However it is less mechanical than "Azusa".

'Is it because there are so few people?'

I looked around the remaining faces.

There are a total of 14 people sitting on the floor of this building right now.

This number is the 7 members of the debut group plus 7 other trainees.

'There are many faces I saw back then.'

I realized that many of the people the director had called in on my first day here were included here.

Were you instructed to scoop this up?

‘I can also see the Sinnoh Judan.’

I don’t know if the existing VTIC members were originally like that or if Cheongryeo put them in but they are here anyway.

I crossed my arms.

‘Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin are also scheduled to appear on time.’

The problem is the other guys.

The remaining Testa members… that is.

Of course I looked at all the people I could find on the Internet to see where they dispersed before the start of survival but…

“…”

In many ways it is the two youngest who are in the situation right now. Let’s start like this.

‘Because there is one more chance.’

I briefed my brain once more about the structure of this survival system that I had heard about from Cheongryeo.

-From the outside it will seem like everything revolves around the CEO’s perspective.

Soon the main camera starts rolling and lights and people appear on the stage.

14 people enter side by side.

The gaunt-faced CEO sitting in the judges' seat right in front of the stage began the briefing.

He was the face of a popular singer-songwriter group in the 90s.

"You will no longer be treated with respect as a trainee but as a fellow singer. "Did you know?"

"yes."

"great. "Then I will explain the rules of this program to you the gods of LeTi."

The explanation continues after intentionally stopping a beat.

"This is survival."

"…!"

"yes?"

Even though I heard that there was money in the company the acting is quite good. There were 14 people to begin with so it was natural to expect that there would be some who were eliminated.

I just stood there with a stiff expression on my face.

"Who will be eliminated how many will be eliminated who will debut how long they will debut… it's all unknown."

Don't the words before and after mean the same thing?

Anyway everyone swallows their saliva with a proud look on their faces.

"You run towards your dream but to achieve that dream you have to overcome a lot of competition."

"…"

“So from now on whoever wins the competition will survive.”

– Honor class and inferior class. At first we divide it like that.

It was literally like that.

Task number 1 of which everyone was notified in advance.

[Show a solo performance.]

This was the main content of episode 1.

“You have to do well but star quality is just as important as doing well. “I will also use charm which cannot be converted into numbers as a standard for evaluation.”

Even if the verdict is X it means that it is because you are unattractive.

“yes!”

Those who responded energetically came out one by one and performed a dance or singing talent show before entering.

‘You interpreted the meaning of performance broadly.’

Although that won’t happen I watch the stage while controlling my facial expressions so that I don’t get caught.

The quality is… very good for a trainee. but.

‘There is a bit of a difference from the debut group.’

I laughed inwardly.

‘I informed you late on purpose.’

In episode 1 the remaining 7 members were used as food to boost the 7 members of the debut group.

In those rookie days there is a huge difference between practicing for a week and practicing for a month.

Probably wouldn't have said it out loud. They must have encouraged differences to the extent of secretly spreading rumors among the debut group.

like this

-Did you hear about the solo performance? Oh not yet? No guys practice~

'I'll be there for 3 months so there's no need to pick up rumors.'

Anyway so the honors and inferiors classes are almost the same.

The debut group is an honors class. The rest are inferior classes. I watched Sinnoh and Judan go to inferior classes. There is no change in Cheongryeo's expression.

'hmm.'

Are you trying to create a striking image?

It was then.

"Next performance… Ryu Geon-woo."

"yes."

It was my turn. I got up and moved.

9th. Ambiguous location.

First stage.

'Actually… it's not that important.'

In a survival game like Azusa where a large number of people fall in half in an instant a single hit is important but you have to look at it longer than that.

First of all all stages will be broadcast.

‘Here only images are taken stably.’

I grabbed the head microphone and waited quietly.

A song came out.

* * *

LeTi’s president who was currently sitting in front of the stage for the survival show actually didn’t have much interest in each of the trainees.

What I’m interested in is the company’s growth and greater success.

Fame and wealth come from there!

‘That’s business.’

The former singer and current businessman who has already gone more than a decade without releasing an album has crossed his fingers.

Still he had eyes to see. Because these good seeds were carefully selected and selected.

The president quickly skipped through the rehearsal and practice videos scanning the people he identified mainly based on the documents he had received.

[Summary of candidate list]

Typefaces that have been refined through various experts do not deviate easily. And he didn’t have time to waste on each one.

Moreover this one in particular was just as described. The guy who came out in front now.

-21 year old Ryu Geon-woo.

After going through the new product details the description written in the first line of the feature is this.

-Visual image pursued in the project

'He looks very handsome.'

Even among the good guys he was a strikingly handsome guy.

The lines are straight and the atmosphere has an intellectual feel.

It seemed like if he showed himself a little dissatisfied the public would foam at the mouth and vote him out.

'okay.'

The stance was set. It would be fun to be a bit harsh first.

The president crossed his arms.

"Start."

The lighting on the outskirts of the stage disappears and a spotlight shines brightly on Ryu Geon-woo.

And the elegant and heavy music you hear.

"hmm."

It's jazz pop.

Under slightly dim lighting a white face puts his mouth to a standing microphone.

[In a sweet life

There are things you need.

music dance wine maybe rose]

Pop songs have been a popular choice for performances recently especially for aspiring idols.

Tone rather than high notes. Because there are many songs with a structure that is good for a suitable lead vocalist.

And if the song was chosen to show the best of one's considerable ability that would have been the best but this time was an exception.

[Life in the Clouds

Twinkle stars]

There is no nervousness awkward tone or clumsy vocalization.

The sound that rings the microphone is as complete as the original song with no regrets.

"…!"

Not a single sound of amateurism. The tone flows like deep wine.

[When the piano sounds

Blooming in white smoke

jazz…]

The president reflexively glanced at Ryu Geon-woo's next written evaluation.

-High-level vocal skills

…Isn't it a devaluation to simply evaluate this as being of a high standard?

-3rd place in total evaluation at the end of this month

But is it okay to dance here?

and…

-disadvantage : /

Blank. I was thrilled.

[Hmm umumm Lalala-la…]

High-quality products that have not yet been consumed with a flawless image of a perfect gemstone shine on the stage.

And the stage was still full of voices. Until the first verse ends with soft and weighty technique.

[Twinkle stars]

With that single unaccompanied high note the sound that had filled my ears disappeared in an instant.

All that remains is a handsome face speaking from a standing mic.

"…"

For a moment the silence felt horribly empty…

The president was silent not intentionally but truly at a loss for words.

'What the hell… '

Where did this guy come out at the age of 20?

It was then.

A low voice rings out.

“thank you.”

“…!”

“ah.”

Clap clap clap…!!

Applause erupts from all over the place one step behind Ryu Geon-woo’s thank you.

This atmosphere of being overwhelmed.

‘…just now!’

And the president grabbed the microphone.

You can edit the detailed review later and include it in the interview. I had to say this now.

I got that feeling. The feeling of a broadcaster and businessman!

“Our Mr. Geon-woo… he’s only been a trainee for three months right?
“I was originally a college student.”

“yes.”

“What university are you a student at?”

The young man in front of me answers calmly without any change in his expression.

“I go to Yonhee University.”

This is the perfect place for a cut scene. And the boss laughed inwardly.

‘Be thankful.’

By giving this amount.

“Then why do you want to be a singer?”

I intentionally didn’t add an idol. This was so as not to give the dance any room to interfere with my thoughts.

‘If it’s sung this well and the corrections are done well it’s sure to produce an amazing picture.’

Well everyone would want this guy to become a singer but…

“I think I can challenge myself to do other good things even if I just graduate from college.”

It explodes here.

‘Come now!’

Ryu Geon-woo looked at himself without much change in expression.

It seemed like he wasn’t aware of the camera. Words come out naturally.

“In my life… I’ve never been this happy.”

And a faint smile spreads.

“So I think this is the right answer. And you can’t leave the correct answer and choose something else. “This is it.”

“…”

A simple unadorned taste like a student without any sense of entertainment.

A valuable item for trainee survival.

This is… done!

The president picked up the microphone with an exhilarating feeling.

“Did you see it everyone? The period is not important. “What’s important is that mindset.”

Raise your hand and point to the trainee on stage.

“That clear sign that I will debut! “That’s number one.”

And that’s a nice way to say it.

“congratulations. Mr. Ryu Geon-woo. There’s nothing more to say. “It’s an honors class.”

This was the highlight.

“…thank you.”

Ryu Geon-woo seemed to be choking so he answered a little late and bowed his head.

‘He’s a good guy to use.’

He smiled inwardly.

But it was the same for the opponent.

‘How can the superiors all have the same ideas no matter how big or small they are?’

It’s about effort and mindset.

Ryu Geon-woo who had adjusted his answer to allow the president to say as much as he wanted was nodding inwardly.

* * *

[Congratulations really! The first shoot was the best!]

“okay.”

After filming was over the agency said that there was not enough footage and sent them back to their homes instead of the survival dorms.

‘Thanks to you I have time to think.’

Coincidentally Liu Chengwu went to MT. Seeing that he takes pictures of the mountains and sends them it seems like his hobby is still alive and well here.

And I sat in my room lost in thought.

…But I never thought that Keundall would make ‘that statement’ at that moment.

[If things continue like this I think my debut will go smoothly?? brother!]

I suppressed my sleep. And then I clenched my chin.

“That’s how it should be.”

[yes…?]

You have to do well.

Otherwise it’s because you feel so embarrassed.

I recalled my prior conversation with Cheongryeo.

-But in the end the junior who debuts with whom will have to debut.

-That's right.

In the end I am the one who has to collect experience points because the ghost of the system is attached again.

Then the guy lifted his chin and spoke like he was serious.

-Would you like to be able to debut unconditionally?

-what?

-Um no. You said it wrong. This is not a recommendation. Of course it should be that way.

-…

-Haha are you really taking care of your pride here?

And I'm like fuck. I realized that if I tried to stop this bastard because he was offended I would be a fool who couldn't understand what was right.

-Is that possible?

So this is what happened.

[Are you manipulating Joe??]

"…In the worst case scenario yes."

If it looks like I'm going to be eliminated that bastard will end up using his hands to enter the group through the back door.

I suppressed the feeling of crumpling.

'That won't work.'

A person with dignity deserves to receive the grand prize and then see the embarrassment of not being able to debut.

“It will never happen like that and we will plan well and attack so don’t worry.”

[Of course! I trust you too!]

Are you coming?

Just like in Azusa I had to plan every moment properly. I gradually predicted my image and drew up the future composition.

‘I’ll probably focus my image on students from prestigious universities and go for special positions. That’s what the question was about.’

Then… I guess I’ll have to show my more adult side. And it would be better to quietly cooperate with the group assignment.

It would be okay to look a little naive. The president has a strong say so I have to appeal to him.

“hmm.”

[Well I think it will work out!]

“okay.”

I went to sleep that night after coming up with a few alternative plans.

And that very week.

In <Wise> unlike <Azusa> the agency which already knew the participants’ tendencies attitudes and characters passed on the contestant data to the broadcast production team.

So without having enough time to observe and plan a storyline the footage shot that day was quickly edited and the second trailer was released right away.

And the moment the profiles of 14 people were released…

-Mimi | A man with glasses has appeared

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅅㅂGreat job!!

“…??”

I… realized the reality. Didn’t you experience it through Data Pal and ‘Azusa’?

An idol’s first impression was their appearance.

Chapter 374

Let's think about the time of Azusa.

Even though I went platinum on the first stage I didn't receive much attention in the beginning ending with just a few comments.

But now?

Even though only the profile is public new posts appear.

[There is a soft and sweet guy with glasses in Letty Survival Wise]

[Letty Survival trainee lineup that seems to have gone well]

[Where did Letty catch these guys? (Summary)]

Every time I click on an article like this most of the time I am included.

"…"

I scrolled down then lowered my smartphone and suppressed my sleep.

Was it really all about appearance stats?

Of course the fact that she was a soft and sweet dancer just before was appealing as she looked 'natural on stage' and seemed to have acted as a catalyst but…

'Still the difference in buzz amount is this big.'

He hesitantly touched my face. Then I went to the sink and looked in the mirror.

“hmm.”

I thought about it from the beginning but I think I’m definitely better than I was when I was a civil service exam student before.

I don’t know if it’s because the stats that were naturally increased at Park Moon-dae are still there or because Ryu Geon-woo is living well here.

‘Probably both.’

There seems to be a difference of about one letter in the stat grade. Still to this extent?

– Damn it’s Letty-san ㅅㅂSacred Bone ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-Shin Jae-hyeon and Ryu Geon-woo starting today I will put them in my mother-in-law and live with them. Leti 1 Leti! Letty!

-This is the fundamental male idol agency.

‘…I guess there’s also a matter of taste.’

During the test my appearance seemed to have blended in and become a bit more neutral but Ryu Geon-woo has a rather bleak look.

And I guess that’s the so-called ‘Letisan’.

It has yet to be aired on LeTi’s in-house survival program. Naturally only people who were originally interested in the agency clicked on the article so it seemed like that factor was at work.

‘This year’s trainees are all like that without exception so I think there’s a greater synergy effect.’

All 14 people have a similarly gloomy feeling as if they were chosen on purpose.

As a result not only Ryu Geon-woo but about four or five people also posted quite a few posts just with their profile pictures.

‘The VTIC guys are also mentioned quite a bit.’

The mention of Judan and Sinnoh is also quite noticeable. One guy seemed to have suffered a loss because his profile picture didn’t look as good as the real thing.

In any case the program received quite a lot of attention for an in-house survival program and was steadily growing in mention.

Thanks to you I also received this.

[Fame is increasing…]

＋Exp 15000

Again fame increased handsomely.

‘Is this enough for 15 rounds of recruiting colleagues?’

I removed the pop-up and looked at the default status window list below it.

[Colleague List]

Jaehyun Shin: Making a plan (*^^～♪)

Cha Yu-jin: In training (＋ㅅ＋＝3)

You both are excited.

Cha Yu-jin is probably receiving special training with Kim Rae-bin in tow. Kim Rae-bin is the type of person who dances well if you teach her how to dance so she would probably do a routine.

“hmm.”

Still it would be nice if Kim Rae-bin was listed here as well.

I thought about it for a while while looking at the Myeongseong pop-up that I made this time and then I decided.

[Would you like to recruit your colleagues?]

okay.

If Kim Rae-bin appears it would be best given the circumstances but from the moment Cha Yu-jin appears as the first taro it is impossible to predict. Still if you look at the probabilities…

'Cha Yu-jin also appeared in episode 8.'

So far according to statistics there seemed to be a good chance that someone I knew would show up. good.

I increased the draw button to 10 consecutive draws.

And I saw reality.

[★★ Kang Seongbin / Sub Rapper]

[★ Jaehoon Kim / Subdancer]

[failure!]

[★★]

[★]

…

It doesn't come out.

Only 10 times? There was no choice.

I wasted all my experience points in vain.

“…”

Is this a game?

No is this reality? Without even knowing the odds how can I end up tying my reputation to these odds in the future?

In the meantime even more annoying notifications appear.

[The companion bond archive is full! Would you like to expand?]

Use Exp 2000

“…”

With 1 and 2 stars the inventory is already full. They are trying to take advantage of it.

Get out of here bastard.

[I let go of my relationship with my colleague.]

The breakup consolation money has arrived…

＋20G

I decided not to spend the remaining 5000 and just leave it alone. It was like X. The big moon opens a large pop-up.

[Fighting! It will come out next time! (ง •_•)ง]

This guy also uses emoticons which I don’t know where he got them from.

“…okay.”

I came to my senses while rubbing my face. And I asked a question I had been thinking about before.

To hear an answer that might be a hint about the current situation.

“But what exactly are you in right now?”

This is the current state of Big Moon.

It’s talking to me but it’s just text. There won’t be a body so I need to know what the situation is.

[Hmm… I’m not sure. I am definitely conscious…]

It was an ambiguous answer.

I followed up with a few questions.

Isn’t the system trying to interfere? Are there any changes in your ability to write that make you uncomfortable or questionable?

Most of the time the answer was a vague negative.

‘It’s vague but it’s not bad. It’s tidy.’

The last question was the same.

“I can’t access your original body or anything like that.”

[Yes⊤⊤]

You guessed this answer. The problem is next.

“…Do you feel like your body has disappeared?”

[no. Rather than that… I feel like I’m blocked by something! It’s like the Internet connection is lost because there is no Wi-Fi.]

It was a fairly unique analogy but I understood it. And it was also a quite reassuring statement.

[It's nice but how can I feel safe…?]

I smiled faintly.

"Because it means that the world in which you lived as a civil servant has not disappeared because of my testa. "If something is blocked it means there is something beyond it."

[iced coffee!]

The pop-up grows hopefully bigger. I nodded.

"If the situation is too uncomfortable talk about it. "But I can still listen."

Isn't it a refreshing feeling to be connected to someone who has no body but only a mind?

[Oh I'm not sick or anything! It's a bit… shall I say it feels like I'm using the internet in a dream? That's what it feels like!]

"okay."

Still I was glad that it seemed to be quite peaceful so far.

I nodded and pulled away from the sink. And I got dressed.

[Where are you going?]

"See the kids."

Since the lottery failed I need to see with my own eyes whether the plan is working.

After controlling my sore stomach I joined Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin and practiced the routine for half a day together.

“Good job Raebin Kim! “Let’s do it one more time!”

“Oh okay!”

It was a rare sight to see two guys who didn’t yell at each other for being stupid but by that night they both came back looking no different from when they were in Testa.

And Kim Rae-bin who is really 17 years old seemed a little embarrassed.

“I am by nature not a rude person who talks so casually to people I am meeting for the first time but without realizing it I am in a situation like this…!”

“It’s good if you feel at ease. “I will have to keep seeing you in the future.”

“yes…”

“That’s right Kim Rae-bin don’t do anything!”

“You are so…!

Kim Rae-bin tried to respond reflexively but ended up making a face that made him think he had missed it.

He was the most consistent person in any situation even when his memories were lost. I chuckled.

“Let’s do our best.”

“yes!”

Kim Rae-bin was able to sleep in the officetel because Ryu Cheong-woo went to MT and the room was empty.

And the very next day new filming began.

* * *

The start of the second survival shoot was uneventful.

“Introducing your accommodation!”

“Wow!”

Entering the accommodation.

Of course as a survival game it was differentiated in its sadistic nature.

What can it be? There were good and bad rooms divided into honors and inferiority classes.

“Ah this is the honors class…

“But they also have the names of all the kids in inferior classes on them?”

“You have to be in the honors class to use it. This must be it!”

In the two areas divided with the living room in the center 14 people’s name tags were posted in duplicate.

‘Well inferior classes aren’t that bad.’

He looked better than when he lived alone in college. It’s just like a motel. It’s a problem compared to an honors class that doesn’t have a separate hotel.

“…”

Still it was typical of a broadcasting station to show the inferior class their place in the honors class and then not let them unpack and take them to another dorm.

Isn’t it strange that the students in the honors class feel refreshed when they see them leaving with gloomy faces?

-Do you use editing that highlights personality?

-If you are a trainee who is not preferred by the company.

I managed my facial expression while remembering the preliminary questions and answers with Cheongnyeo.

Coincidentally there was a guy next to me.

“Please take care of me brother.”

“yes.”

I decided to share the same room with Cheongryeo in case of an emergency. As planned the name tags were placed side by side.

‘good.’

It’s neat. I purposely didn’t talk much to the rest of the honors class who were going to drift away anyway.

‘That bastard will do whatever it takes to send it away.’

No matter how much you cut based on ability there is no way you can take the guys who exploded within 3 years.

I’ll send you away somehow so there’s no need to engage in friendship now that will be toxic later in the game.

Anyway the filming that followed went smoothly.

“I’m going one more time.”

“yes!”

The honor class has a special stage with the honor class and the inferior class has a special stage with the inferior class.

That’s the theme.

-Yes I am

There’s so much you can do

Pull the gear and go up there

(Who can be a star?)

Yes I am

〈Yes I am〉

It’s like a title for first-year middle school students learning English but it was chosen well like the opening of a reality show.

Moreover unlike 〈Azusa〉 where you have to throw everything and memorize it everyone has already practiced it anyway so all you have to do is follow the daily routine and you’re done.

‘It’s peaceful.’

It’s a bit spicy but do you think it’s less vicious than the company survival show from a few years ago?

I’m sorry but it’s a misunderstanding.

The real capsaicin pours into the kids’ heads this evening the moment they finish their performance and strengthen their resolve.

“Thank you for your hard work!”

“Wow!”

When the subjects have finished filming and are running wild among the pouring pin lights and pollen.

A new episode begins.

“Well done. everyone. Let’s continue like this in the future.”

“yes!”

The president sitting in front of the stage nodded and took the microphone.

“While doing this program you will constantly face challenges.”

The artist holds up a sketchbook titled ‘Arrangement of Locations.’ The participants having sensed the atmosphere move slowly and stand at an angle.

It’s just like the atmosphere of meaningful BGM.

“Even if you debut and are loved for a long time and perform well eventually new rookies will come out and you will have to keep competing.”

I catch people here and there nodding their heads with stern faces.

I guess we’ll get to the point soon.

“〈Wise〉 is a microcosm of the entertainment industry the final gateway to debut and we will apply realistic evaluation methods to you.”

The president raised his hand.

“So I prepared. “Your first competitor.”

Papang!

“Uh oh!”

Next to the people flinching in surprise a huge stage set covered in dry ice opens and seven people walk out.

“Your current quota is 14 students seven in the ‘honors’ class and seven in the ‘inferior’ class.”

The boss makes a cool face.

“These people are the ‘supplementary group’ of people other than the quota.”

“…!”

“The supplementary class will nominate one of you and if you win you will participate as a contestant in ‘Wise.’”

A gasp was heard from next to me.

This is because no trainees were informed up to this point.

“And whoever doesn’t win the supplementary class is at risk of being eliminated.”

The dry ice clears and seven people appear.

And then I see a familiar face.

Cha Yu-jin with a confident smile on her face.

And Kim Rae-bin whose expression changed and gave the impression of a mid-boss.

That’s right.

Those guys weren’t among the 14 participants in the last filming. Because those guys aren’t LeTi trainees.

The time for those guys to join was now.

This filming set becomes chaotic due to the addition of the supplementary team.

“Win and survive.”

The supplementary group walks over and lines up on the other side of the stage.

Participants who are shaking their eyes and unable to control their expressions confront the supplementary class. A tense atmosphere.

And I thought deeply.

‘Well most of them are just trash to create tension.’

The more intense the fight the better it is to draw aggro and highlight the winner. Of course since it is for use most of them are unsuitable candidates.

So except for Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin the rest are faces I don’t know… Wait.

[Ugh! That person!]

There is one more familiar face.

“…!”

[It’s V-Tik right?]

Chaeyul.

A VTIC member who has not appeared until now.

A young guy with sparkling eyes and brown hair who looked to be in his late teens… was standing at the very end.

“…”

That was the guy being put in here?

Is that why Cheongnyeo didn't look for it? Did it originally come out like this? Or was it intentionally put in just this time?

No matter how I think about it filming is progressing steadily.

"Now supplementary class please find the contestant you want to compete with and stand in front of him."

Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin move their feet. We definitely discussed who to nominate…

Why is that bastard going there?

Cha Yu-jin stopped in front of Cheongryeo.

"ah."

"i look forward to!

[Quaaaa!!]

"…"

This crazy guy…!

I bit my tongue and caught the expression that was about to change.

But the unexpected situation did not end there.

[Why do people come here?]

…There was a guy in the supplementary class who walked in front of me.

He walked briskly with a flushed face but soon stood in front of me with an excited face and bowed his head.

"i look forward to!"

“…yes.”

Chaeyul.

This guy pointed me out as his opponent.

“…”

I looked away. Cheongryeo with Cha Yu-jin in front of her was smiling.

[Shin Jae-hyun: Making a plan (*^^～♪)]

Was that this?

Chapter 375

Putting them in the middle of a survival game and singling them out to face the best contestant in a death match?

I'll be honest.

'That's a good idea.'

If you are thinking of removing a stone that has rolled over and are confident in your skills this is a very good strategy.

In any case it is not survival of the public vote but survival of the agency. This means that the public knows that the boss can do whatever he wants and tolerates it to some extent.

This means that if someone who is really good comes out they prefer to change the rules and let them pass even if they lose.

But that's it.

'So you're singling out Cheongryeo?'

Cha Yu-jin you bastard you decided to point out me!

-I think it would be best so that our positions don't overlap and it doesn't feel awkward even if we appear friendly in the future.

-okay. I'm performing on stage with Moon Dae hyung!

That's exactly what I said last night.

'I've planned the scenario but this guy escapes at will?'

I looked at Cha Yu-jin and controlled the area around my eyes that was about to twitch.

Even if I show it only I will become the X.

“great. Those standing in front of you now become your rivals and competitors.”

The president reads the script pretending to be meaningful but he is so angry that he doesn’t react well.

I pretended to be nervous and took a deep breath.

“Of course competition must have its rewards. “Anyone who wins in the ‘Supplementary Class’ class will definitely be in the ‘Honor Class’ class in the next evaluation.”

“…!!”

The faces of the trainees who were agitated look a little better with just one carrot. They are easy guys.

“And trainees who are not nominated will also be given evaluation tasks. It is ‘the perfection of teamwork’. “Try to lead two people who keep each other in check and complete the three-person stage.”

I nodded.

In short it means that each of them will stand on the stage in a one-on-one death match and carry out the group tasks. You’re good at putting words together.

But do you know who is in my group?

VTIC Shinoda.

“…”

The draw luck is amazing.

“i look forward to!”

“I will work hard.”

I was assigned a vocal practice room with the two guys. Then I went in and looked at the randomly assigned songs.

‘There’s no such thing as stealing a song.’

It’s a song that the company which reads ‘CEO’ and ‘Company’ has designated as a song that will suit the three of us.

-Blue Jack’s 〈Icy Eyes〉

This is an exciting EDM debut song by a male idol group that took the autotune-dominated music industry by storm in the late 2000s.

To put it roughly it’s an obvious lyric that says I’ll have courage even though my crush’s eyes are very cold.

If you listen to it now your hands and feet will start to tremble.

[Oh ohoh Icy Eyes are cold~]

A typical hook song with short bars repeated as a refrain. The only part that shows vocal capabilities is the ad-lib high note in the second half.

“…”

hmm.

“Oh I like this song!”

The supplementary team VTIC is working hard to react.

‘…Chae Yul.’

I stopped analyzing the song for a moment and remembered my conversation with Cheongryeo.

It was time to come off the stage and briefly change the tape and microphone.

-Junior. I have never contacted Chaeyul here separately. I never brought it with me

-I wouldn't say it was a coincidence.

-Rather than a coincidence… it was something that was bound to happen.

The guy grinned.

-When the survival program progresses Chaeyul always participates in the supplementary class.

-…!

I understood what he meant.

-… always.

-that's right. Chaeyul was in the group from the beginning. I didn't choose it.

I remembered Chaeyul's status window.

[Jin Chae-yul]

Singing: C+ (B+)

Dance: B (A)

Appearance: A- (A+)

Talent: S- (S+)

Characteristic: Circus (A)

He has top-notch all-rounder potential.

As expected of a guy who has become a first-tier idol for now his skills as a lead dancer are just okay.

However my talent changed.

‘He’s almost Cha Yu-jin’s level from ‘Azusa’.’

Moreover the characteristics also assist with it.

[Circus (A)]

: Because acrobatics should be fun.

-Stage adaptability +150%

-I have no personal deviations and have never had any problems with other members. The public always likes it.

What if this guy stands out in survival?

‘Even if I’m the boss I’ll pick him first.’

It was an understandable explanation.

The problem begins next.

-And it’s interesting but every time he appears on a survival program he always points out the same position.

-Main vocal.

And this time the main vocalist is me.

Cheongnyeobu explained ‘I didn’t know they would choose me because the person they originally pointed out was still there’ but I can’t believe that.

The important thing is that Chae-yul sticks with me anyway.

‘Besides check out the song selection.’

I laughed inwardly while listening to the song.

Are you pushing an EDM hook song where the only part to show off your vocal skills is a 5-second ad-lib?

‘I obviously came down from the stage just singing.’

Regardless of which bastard picked the song I think they want to make this match unfavorable by blocking my advantage.

‘Good.’

Welcome.

[No~ Nonono…]

The song just ended. I was conscious of the camera coming in to get a reaction so I slapped my palm appropriately.

And a slightly excited voice asks.

“What kind of arrangement would you like to do?”

It’s Chaeyul. First let’s take a step back.

I smiled faintly.

“Any genre is good as long as you can perform it.”

“wow…”

I meant to tell you to look at your hand first but why am I admiring it?

The following is even more spectacular.

“me too!”

“Me too… well I’ll think of it as an experience and work hard.”

“…”

I realized.

These guys are… yes-men who have no self-assertion.

It was a selection that made it easy to understand why Cheongryeo picked him up. I spoke as calmly as I could.

“Then since it’s a contest why not make it intense?”

There is no rebuttal.

“Intense things are really cool and good!”

“Yes then… our team fighting!”

suddenly?

Anyone who sees it will think it’s a team match. All of a sudden we became like a high school class doing group work with two new students.

‘Ryu Geon-woo has also been a trainee for 3 months. What the hell is going on?’

If I take this part well I’ll be greedy and if I don’t digest it because that guy gave it to me I’ll get criticized for saying I did it on purpose.

‘I have to prevent it.’

I’ll have to appeal this absurdity in a way that won’t be edited out later in the interview. I nodded.

We need to change our communication method as well.

“Then tell me the part that looks cool.”

These are the people who will give you a specific answer if you use more objective words instead of expressions like ‘want’ or ‘hope’.

As expected some useful answers are finally coming out.

“I think the intro part looks cool!”

“Um here on the bridge.”

“Then I think it would be a good idea to arrange it in a way that can best utilize those two feelings.”

“yes!”

I completed the direction of the arrangement by adding words and modifiers as if I were taking their opinions into consideration.

The parts were appropriately distributed to what they thought was ‘cool’.

“…”

Doing this while being conscious of the camera is quite a tedious task.

Thanks to this I was reminded of the guy who always did things like this with me…

-Mundaemun University!

‘stop.’

What can I do to feel sorry for someone who is no longer around? Let’s do our job properly.

I quickly outlined the next stage. The only thing better than Azusa was that the other two were unconditionally cooperative.

And a short break that came late at night.

‘I guess I’ll have to keep going like this.’

I walked down the corner hallway holding a notebook with the arrangement direction and part distribution. It was to beat the wind and get away for a bit.

Perhaps because it was getting closer to dawn I could barely see the others.

“Has everyone gone back to their dorms?”

It was then.

A man walking with great strides appeared around the corner on the other side of the hallway.

Cha Yujin!

The guy raises his hand and quickly gets closer.

“brother! “Ewbbeeb!”

It’s just the two of us. Good. Don’t say another word just follow me.

I took him with me to a blind spot where there were no cameras.

“I…”

Cha Yu-jin who was about to open her mouth recognized my gesture of putting my hand over her mouth and closed it. Yes the audio is captured.

Instead I held out the notebook and pen I was holding.

-Why did you choose Cheongryeo?

By using this.

-Now is not the time to move impulsively. Is it because you want to stay in this multiverse or something?

I crossed my arms and looked at him.

Cha Yu-jin closed her mouth tightly picked up the pen and wrote strongly.

-I'm not impulsive. I got a call right before filming. [That person said he wanted to be with me. They said viewers would enjoy it and that sounded quite plausible.]

The guy's words which he scribbles in English out of frustration have quite a logical structure. I read his article slowly without hesitation.

-And someone else chose you first - 〉 Another VTIC senior!

"…!"

'I see.'

Of course in order to avoid overlap in who to select the supplementary team would have been coordinated with the production team in advance.

But Chae-yul who was in line before me chose me first.

'So since it reminds me of the Cheongnyeo horse I chose him instead.'

That bastard Chae-yul said she didn't do it but Cha Yu-jin didn't say anything because it was true that she did it. I wiggled my eyebrows.

Cha Yu-jin did not stop writing her pen.

-And I am confident that I will win. 100%

-Do you think I will lose Moon Dae?

I was immediately handed a pen and wrote down the answer.

-no.

Honestly looking at the stage alone I can't really imagine Cha Yu-jin losing.

-But that's only when you're limited to seeing the stage.

-This is his company.

You may not know this but he is a person who has gone through this process dozens or even hundreds of times.

You can hear Cha Yu-jin snorting. This guy?

-are you okay. ☺

-Do you feel like you are going to lose? Can't beat VTIC people? U_U

Wow.

I moved the pen.

-You too remember this. Winning or losing is not important right now. What is important is the amount of buzz.

We have to debut together anyway.

-lol OK!

Cha Yu-jin cheerfully wrote letters three times larger and shrugged her shoulders.

“We are good. “I’m looking forward to it!”

“okay.”

Since it’s like this somehow get some buzz and eat it.

‘Because I will too.’

After parting ways with Cha Yu-jin in the hallway I immediately returned to the practice room.

Shin-oh curls up in a corner and listens to his part over and over again before seemingly falling asleep and Chae-yul reacts.

“You’re here!”

“yes.”

Then he says this.

“Brother please speak comfortably. “I’m nineteen!”

“…Um okay.”

Anyway I’m trying to use informal language to a guy who is already a long time senior. I nodded.

“If you want to talk comfortably that’s okay.”

“yes!”

Seeing as he didn’t even ask me why he did that I guess he just has a brighter brain.

I sat down. Still watching. I just need to ask you something.

“Now that I think about it… may I ask why you chose me?”

“Ah that’s it.”

You could be asking why I looked like the worst person out of all of them but this guy didn’t even calculate it so he just touched the back of his head.

“Actually I’m not even a LeTi trainee… Actually I think it would be difficult to become a participant in this program.”

A surprisingly realistic answer emerges.

“That’s why I wanted to perform on stage with the most talented person! “Then I think I can gain something.”

He muttered with a flushed face that he had seen my first solo performance.

“If you’re going to fail that’s good.”

hmm. For a guy who never failed to fail to say something like this if this guy had been a trainee he would have been told that he was unintentionally deceiving him.

I chuckled.

“I don’t think you’ll fall.”

“Really??”

“huh.”

“thank you!”

The guy who bows his head has a face full of anticipation and excitement.

‘…no.’

I tried to make a moderately heartwarming picture by saying that we were both good at something so let’s both go up anyway…

I guess I forgot for a moment that if you get in I get dropped so it’s just good.

I was silent for a moment while looking at that.

What the hell…

‘…Shin Jaehyun will take care of it.’

I don’t know. There have been no problems for 10 years so there must be a way to control it. I take care of my group.

“Let’s practice a little more and then go to the dorm.”

“yes!”

A week passed and the day of the first death match dawned.

* * *

[〈Supplementary Class〉 Kim Rae-bin – Win!]

[Participants confirmed!]

Third stage.

Kim Rae-bin pointed out a rap position that had a similar impression to him and gave it a smash.

‘That’s awesome.’

[Park Jeong-woong – Expulsion from honors class]

[At risk of elimination!]

If I had known that you were a producer you should have been dancing for a while so why did you take the rap center stage? You idiot.

I clicked my tongue when I saw the fallen one.

Kim Rae-bin bowed his head and walked back to his seat in a very polite manner.

My teammate who performed with me seemed a little embarrassed but whatever. There is no place to complain.

-Ravin. Just think of everyone you meet from the moment you leave the program as being around the same age as your grandparents.

I think it was good advice for editing. I nodded.

“Now the next stage is…”

And then the stage continues which I think will probably be edited in the final order in the broadcast.

“Shin Jaehyun honors class.”

It was a death match between Cheongryeo and Cha Yujin.

Chapter 376

Two people going on stage.

To be exact there were three trainees but one trainee was so overwhelmed that he was barely visible.

Actually it wasn't the trainee's problem. The problem was that the other two were experienced workers who had already tasted the essence of the profession that had already reached the grand prize.

Cha Yu-jin and Shin Jae-hyun.

'Hmm.'

The extreme contrast was visible even in the eyes of the president who was unaware of this fact.

The two people standing in the same black school uniform costume had a noticeable difference from the way they wore it to their standing posture.

Despite this he has a natural attitude that doesn't show any tension.

'That one that one.'

The president twitched his mouth.

In fact most of the supplementary classes had to be eliminated to make up the composition and even if all of them were eliminated it was okay.

This is because it can appeal 'Look our trainees are so good.'

In other words even if I see the supplementary team standing over there I will probably send them away from here.

I was a little selfish

‘He looks so out of place.’

The president who disliked the public’s prejudiced views grumbled but did not object to Cha Yu-jin’s placement in the supplementary team.

His skills and appearance were enough to make me wonder why he wasn’t a trainee yet. It was only when I saw the explanation that he was American that I nodded.

‘You have to do one or two things well to achieve balance.’

I had no regrets about adding a handsome friend who rapped amazingly earlier. I’m thinking of eliminating him from the final anyway and leaving him out for the next round.

However the reminiscence ends there.

Now the lights are off on the stage.

“…”

hook.

Dry ice is spread below and red and blue lights shine down.

Humming like falling.

[Um Umumum uum um]

A pop song by a solo female singer famous for her gloomy cool tone and bassline.

The beginning of interlude.

thud

The three kneel to the drums accompanied by a minor guitar riff.

And then the choreography begins.

[His growling howling raise me up]

The movements using the limbs to the point of extreme seem to be difficult and then the body stands upright in a movement that feels like someone is pulling it.

Center Shin Jae-hyun looks at the camera and turns his hand.

The movement that starts with the hand joints continues throughout the entire body using the upper body skillfully and raising the head.

And the lights popping with a gloomy smile.

[To the darkness absence…

No]

The sound of singing and silence suddenly cut off.

Spreading movement line.

After bending your upper body and flipping your waist you fall backwards and do the acrobatic jump with your hands on the floor.

The music explodes.

[Tonight

he’s gonna find your room

and take you to the wood]

Even in such intense movements the scratching sound is delivered at the correct intensity by the vocals which are skillfully controlled.

The bizarre and intense tones and movements along with the school uniform create a very strange atmosphere.

And the refrain.

[Watch out!]

Cha Yu-jin appears from the center as if plunging down.

For a moment my eyes are drawn in.

[Watch out!

for wolves]

Cha Yoo-jin who moves her feet cleverly and comes forward deliberately grabs the camera with a quick touch and then takes her hand away.

The eyes are shining.

"…!"

The director becomes part of the stage leaving only an impact.

But the influence does not disappear.

The stage grabs attention.

[Wo wowo woof

Wolf]

A standing motion that moves the shoulders and neck.

And dance break. A more difficult performance unfolds on both sides using the person standing in the center as a kind of buoy.

The angle is exactly right.

However the feeling of movement is different.

One side that is strong enough to devour you and the other side that is exquisite as if it is concentrated.

[Your guest who-oo comes to the dead

of the night]

thud.

The song ends with only one dissonant piano note.

Participants fell to the floor while looking into empty space.

"…"

Only the faint sound of gasping for breath spreads through the venue.

And one step late.

Clap clap clap clap clap…!

Sporadic applause fills the venue.

The stage at the filming site has not invited the audience yet but the applause from the production crew and participants who were giving it to create an atmosphere is stuttering.

The boss was a little embarrassed.

‘what.’

This is because the performance was not of the quality the trainees expected. It was more like the year-end stage of a broadcasting station.

You might even notice that the quality is bothersome because the other one can’t be seen properly because of the two people.

It was completely overwhelming.

‘No it couldn’t have been planned with that in mind… ’

…No if that were the case they would have been in charge!

The president threw away his distracting thoughts and looked at the two people on stage with admiring eyes.

I meant it. I didn’t expect it to do this well.

‘It’s probably a matter of luck and synergy.’

Anyway I was very satisfied that I got the stage right.

-Good practice atmosphere

-Light friction with song selection

After reading the summary of the practice process handed over by the production team the president made up his mind.

And after heaping great praise on each person he picked up the microphone again.

“Who selected the music?”

“We all did it together.”

Shin Jae-hyeon who got up and straightened his clothes answered softly.

“If it were a pop song it could have been advantageous to Cha Yu-jin.”

Shin Jae-hyeon only smiled faintly as if he understood and did not respond.

Because no matter what you say it is ambiguous.

‘Smart guy.’

The president continued his next words quite proudly.

The sentiment was sincere.

“But… why does Jaehyun look like the original to me?”

“…!”

That’s right.

At first glance this intense stage appears to be exactly the type that Cha Yu-jin prefers.

Colorful and challenging.

But in fact the message of this song is more multi-layered.

‘melancholia.’

Shin Jaehyun thought lightly.

This song talks about the fear and resignation of the speaker’s deep depression.

And Jaehyun Shin was able to express it like he was breathing.

It's not because I've performed the same song multiple times. In this strange world where time is warped the song selection has also changed.

only…

Even if it's not the same song I've done so many similar things.

This dark concept has been a steady seller every year since VTIC entered its fourth year.

And crucially…

'Because this is what LeTi president likes.'

He didn't even bother to turn his head to check his competitor's face.

Cha Yujin.

Overwhelming power and dazzling talent that makes you feel like you can devour the song.

However that was not the only evaluation item.

"Why is that so Jaehyun?"

Shin Jae-hyun picked up the microphone.

"If I had to look for an answer… I guess it's just a matter of atmosphere. "I have practiced this atmosphere for a long time."

That's correct.

That's correct.

“that’s right.”

The boss laughs.

“I think what Jaehyun showed on stage today was the most LeTi-like performance.”

“thank you.”

Shin Jaehyun deliberately lowered his head slightly. To express gratitude.

And the president slightly turned his head.

Cha Yu-jin just stood still. Nevertheless an afterimage of the contrasting feeling I saw on stage remains.

‘hmm.’

He changed his mind slightly.

This becomes a picture.

“Announcing.”

The stage lights go out and light comes on in the background.

And as if it were obvious the results appear.

[〈Honor Class〉 Shin Jae-hyun – Win!]

[Honor class confirmed!]

“congratulations.”

It was Shin Jae-hyun’s victory.

however.

The president picked up the microphone again.

“However I have only one authority given to me by the production team.”

Even if I drop it in the final I’ll put it on first and see the contrast effect even more!

“It is only through this program that we can invalidate each and every trainee from the risk of being eliminated without any conditions.”

“…!”

The boss decided.

‘Let’s catch it first and at least try to fix it.’

If you add it here you will definitely be thrilled by the feeling of being ‘recognized’ and will try to develop yourself to suit the tastes of the person who acknowledged you.

What if that doesn’t work?

‘We should keep it out of the market.’

It is enough to connect even small and medium-sized businesses that cannot get anywhere. The president nodded solemnly and finished the calculation.

“Cha Yu-jin lost but I definitely see potential in her. LeTi’s potential to become a great artist.”

“…”

“So under my authority I am accepting Ms. Cha Yu-jin as an outside participant.”

bang.

Text appears behind the screen.

[Boss Pass!]

[〈Supplementary Class〉 Cha Yu-jin – Confirmed participant]

“Can you make sure I don’t regret my choice?”

“Of course! thank you!”

However Cha Yu-jin who thought she would be thrilled just smiled and said that.

An attitude as if he knew how to stick to it or as if he just felt pure joy in being able to continue. It was refreshing.

There is no sense of debt or excitement.

‘…that one and that one.’

The president managed his expression as he watched Cha Yu-jin shaking hands with his other team members and patting their backs.

‘Anyway those who drink American food are like that.’

It seemed like the employees would have to work hard to get into the habit. However since the pass had already been used could not be revoked the president simply nodded politely.

‘It will help me get Shin Jaehyun afloat.’

Because of synergy such a high-quality stage would have been possible by luck. He thought so.

Soon the stage was cleared and by the time he had composed his mind the next team came up.

The participant’s name appears on the screen.

[Honor class Ryu Geon-woo]

‘hmm.’

This time the atmosphere is quite different from before. The three wearing white jumpers seemed nervous but they didn’t seem to be keeping each other in check.

Rather he keeps looking at the trainee in the middle and adjusts his movements and position according to his hand gestures.

‘Oh.’

The guy who sang that atmospheric jazz…?

The president recalled the summary of each team’s practice routine that he had received in advance and looked at their outfits.

This is the outfit that idols wear at least once when they debut.

It was a marine look combining a blue collar and white clothes.

One guy even wears shorts. The president almost burst out laughing.

“Looking at the costume it seems like a cute concept is that right?”

“We created it with a new feel in our own way.”

Ryu Geon-woo who naturally took the microphone glanced at his competitors and just smiled slightly and continued talking.

“Including cuteness.”

Then the people around me started laughing. It was so heartwarming that anyone could believe it was a team fight.

‘Hmm.’

-No potential for conflict

-Ryu Geon-woo led the process

After skimming through the summary the president nodded.

“Let’s get started.”

I felt like the story line would come out only after watching the stage.

“yes!”

Soon the trainees with their heads nodding form a formation around the sofa placed in the center of the stage.

Sitting is in the supplementary class standing is in the inferior class.

And Ryu Geon-woo sitting astride it.

[Mmm!]

The moment the accompaniment comes out.

The people around the sofa bounce around like cushions to the refreshing beat.

[Oh Ohoh Icy eyes

It’s cold but I like it!]

The beat was strangely changed and the pitch of the ‘Ohoh’ chuimsae was changed.

Thanks to this the pronunciation is more snappy and choppy instead of the burdensome pulling feel of the original.

[The tone of your speech is as sharp as carbonation.

Eyes as hard as ice]

Sit down on the sofa get up make a flying motion jump over stand up and do the choreography.

[Oh so pretty!]

Unlike the original song the high notes explode but the jumps are at a high angle.

The song and choreography flow pleasantly with a refreshing beat that is not heavy.

[I see the butterflies

Like a bee flying in my heart

[Complicated feelings]

‘oh.’

Chae-yul was included in every killing part that required close-ups using gestures.

And he plays the part so perfectly that it’s embarrassing.

[It’s still okay

Still the baby is cold please stop and melt]

These lyrics are not cringy.

‘what?’

And the refrain came back.

[Oh Ohoh Icy eyes

It’s cold but I like it]

Surprisingly Ryu Geon-woo made a facial expression while singing the chorus in an incredibly natural way.

It was strange that the round hat was received so well.

[Oh Oh Oh Icy Ice

Your eyes are cold]

The treble was clean as expected but the refreshing crispness that I thought would be a bit awkward was maintained well.

‘…??’

Only the president who didn’t know that he was a person who survived in the idol industry for five years with the nickname “dog” was embarrassed.

[If you approach and hold out your hand

[Look at me with warm eyes]

The tempo accelerates and they perform more complex choreography in front of the stage leaving the sofa behind.

The dance break center was another trainee.

And the next refrain is sung by this trainee and the supplementary group.

‘Hmm.’

The president nodded inwardly.

And last.

[So cool!]

The part where Park Moon-dae cheated by saying that this part was ‘intense’ was bright and cheerful and covered the stage like firecrackers.

[Oh Ohoh Icy eyes]

Jumps and high notes The clear original sound at an appropriate height is balanced with the harmony and fills the stage without being distracting.

A refreshing stage that makes you feel good just by looking at it.

The two who had short training periods at this agency and the non-trainees were on the same stage.

‘I don’t feel like LeTi.’

To be honest it wasn’t the LeTi president’s taste but it wasn’t bad.

This is because a good stage is good regardless of taste.

[But I like it!]

The stage ended with a bright smile as the final movements matched the rich melody neatly.

‘oh.’

Clap clap clap!

This time cheery applause erupts from all over the place.

It wasn’t as overwhelming as the previous stage. However it was a good stage with good quality and density in a way that made me feel good.

The president willingly picked up the microphone.

“I felt very happy. The combination of the three fits well… I really like it.”

He gave a few words of praise to each individual especially the supplementary class and then got to the point.

“How was practice?”

The trainees’ faces brightened and they answered quickly.

“I really had fun and worked hard!”

“yes. “My brother guided us well… we all had fun practicing.”

Ryu Geon-woo looked a little embarrassed but did not deny it and nodded. The boss laughed haha.

“I thought so.”

The trainees’ faces brighten.

It is this moment.

“But it’s ironic… but that’s also the problem right?”

“…!”

The president looked back at Ryu Geon-woo.

“Why can’t I see any desperation?”

“…!”

“Geonwoo I don’t think this is what he’s best at… This is our second stage right?”

“…yes.”

“Then isn’t now a good time to appeal and show what you’re best at?
“I have given up all the parts now.”

The president made serious eye contact and spoke.

“Instead of unilaterally catering to my younger siblings I should have been greedy to show them more. “This was a death match.”

On the contrary the eyes of the two participants standing around seemed to be shrinking with fear and worry but Ryu Geon-woo only swallowed once.

I also liked the guts!

“This is not something that can be called fun. “It takes earnestness.”

So like a lion throwing its cub off a cliff he also planned to do something.

“I did well but I only did well today. “This is a compliment given to a student not a professional.”

Ryu Geon-woo had an expressionless face but his shoulders twitched noticeably.

‘Yeah that’s it.’

You need to be stimulated.

Both you and the viewers!

The president suppressed a smile of regret and pressed the button with a face filled with agony.

“Announcing the winner.”

[〈Supplementary Class〉 Jin Chae-yul – Win!]

[Participants confirmed!]

Chaeyul.

“congratulations. You are now a participant.”

“…! Thank you…”

For someone to say thank you they are staggering around as if they are in shock.

“And Ryu Geon-woo is in danger of being eliminated.”

The president smiled in remorse.

It was that moment.

‘uh?’

It passed right by but for some reason Ryu Geon-woo seemed to briefly smile.

‘…Is it because of feeling empty?’

But looking back I think it was just my mood. The president shrugged his shoulders and then seriously picked up the microphone again.

“Go in. “I enjoyed it.”

That’s how the evaluation ended.

And backstage.

Cha Yoo-jin found Park Moon-dae who had sent Jin Chae-yul who was shedding tears by coaxing her to look good on camera.

The camera is already out. So I approached him and tapped him.

“brother!”

“okay.”

Park Moon-dae had an unimpressed face. Even though his face changed that strangely peaceful expression still remained.

And even subtle kindness.

“Are you sad you lost?”

“no.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders. Then he looked up at the stage and smiled.

[The one who really decides victory or defeat is not just that old man.]

“…!”

His brother seemed confused for a moment but probably soon understood the situation.

‘This guy… he did that on purpose.’

Like that.

And that was the answer!

[Coming soon. I won.]

“Is that so?”

Cha Yu-jin deliberately tapped his shoulder. As usual I sneakily avoid it.

“Do you feel sorry for your brother?”

“no.”

‘Is that possible?’

Park Moon-dae smiled slightly.

“Same.”

That’s how the filming ended that day.

And not long after LeTi’s in-house survival show “Wise” finally went on air.

Chapter 377

“Ravin isn’t eating~”

“Thank you for returning home after eating!”

Raebin Kim answered energetically as she came out after washing her face.

After coming to Seoul unexpectedly I stayed at Ryu Geon-woo’s officetel for a few days but soon after an agreement with my parents I ended up staying at my uncle’s house in Seoul.

However after practicing all day I followed Cha Yu-jin to Ryu Geon-woo’s officetel and had a meal while talking about strategies. So in fact the degree of indebtedness seemed similar.

‘Why are you so nice to me?’

Kim Rae-bin still had doubts about that but his body faithfully carried out his life.

That’s right. The changed daily life seeped into my life surprisingly naturally. As if I’ve lived like this before…

Raebin Kim thought deeply and came to a conclusion.

‘If you think about it it’s not much different from school!’

The texture of daily routine as if you were taking a class was similar!

Speaking of school as soon as Raebin Kim signed with LeTi he was scheduled to be transferred to an arts high school in Seoul where attendance days would be partially supplemented by arts and physical education activities…

‘The agency is a great place.’

Now that I think about it there was an interesting coincidence.

Coincidentally the agency they both belonged to was the same company with which they signed their first song contract.

-… You signed a song contract with Letty?

-…? yes!

What I didn’t know was how much LeTi’s rookie manager liked Raebin Kim when he took her there that day.

And why did Raebin Kim come to Seoul so easily following the two people she met for the first time and start living the life of an aspiring idol?

This is because I was persuaded by what he heard on the way home from Strawberry House.

(For some reason the other side called him by the name ‘Mundae’) These were the words spoken calmly by the older brother Ryu Geon-woo.

-I’ve listened to some of the songs you’ve composed so far and there are a lot of them that go well with coreo.

-What is Coreo?

-Choreography. And recently the majority of teams that perform the latest music with choreography are idol groups.

The older brother continued as if he was asking a question.

-So I think experiencing their performances directly will help me compose songs in the future.

-…!

Even though Kim Rae-bin has never tried it before… it was a persuasive statement!

After that Ryu Geon-woo continued to speak fluidly.

About the method he would like to recommend.

In-house survival.

-Survival is the essence of the idol stage that can be experienced in the shortest amount of time. It's easy to get eliminated and just feel the experience.

Raebin Kim was impressed.

-…! okay. So am I naturally falling out after such a dense experience that will help me compose?

-That could be true.

no. It was Kim Rae-bin's mistake. Park Moon-dae assumed that if he was eliminated he never said that would necessarily happen.

And Kim Rae-bin was planning to add it at least through manipulation.

Kim Rae-bin was planning to debut like this without knowing why but she completely believed that she would be eliminated.

'But I never thought I would win by decision alone on the first stage… '

After all it was survival. No matter how much you think about it the two who showed an excellent performance are in danger of being eliminated.

Nevertheless the fact that both of them were bold made them even more trustworthy!

He nodded again.

-It's okay don't worry about it let's just practice.

-Raebin Kim you're doing great!

So Kim Rae-bin is waiting for the live broadcast of episode 1 of <Wise> with excitement even though she is not appearing.

This is because he wanted to see his older brother who helped him perform in person.

"hmm."

The broadcast started promptly at 10:50 p.m. without delay.

[Yes I am~]

A series of silhouettes turning their heads posing and raising their arms pass in time with the beat of the theme.

[Who can be a star?]

The final scene of the opening was the stage with fourteen people standing back to back. It was a typical reality survival opening.

And beyond the grandiose boasts of the agency shown in the trailer the focus focuses on the empty stage.

A fairly expensive looking dark set lighting and music create tension.

[CEO Kim Tae-in: Let's get started.]

Above it the stage unfolds with trainees climbing the stairs of the stage one by one.

It's different from 'Azusa'. Since we are starting with trainees who have already been identified by the company characters have already been assigned to all 14 people.

Especially focusing on a few people who really want to appeal to the public.

[Ace Leader]

For example this explanation given to Jaehyun Shin.

[He is a brother I really respect.]

[No. 1 in almost every monthly review.]

[Someone who can't do anything?]

The editing which intersects testimonies and daily life practice stages gives it a clear emphasis.

Keywords like 'competent trustworthy calm capable'.

Of course there were keywords that were formed based on appearance alone.

-Wow this guy is really handsome.

Raebin Kim who was watching on TV didn't know but the Internet was crowded with people chatting while watching.

Mainly existing idol fans came to see the new male rookie from 'the' LeTi.

-Shin Jae-hyun came out.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠI was just waiting for you to debut. This account belongs to Jaehyun.

-Look at the reaction a truck has already been hit. I knew that would happen.

-You're this handsome but you're also good at Letty-san? This must be the group sign

Shin Jae-hyun who was already well-known boasted an overwhelming response that was almost as if he had been selected.

And Shin Jae-hyun's performance on the lit stage was elegant and flawless a perfect professional performance.

[The pain must be stinging]

The order was edited to contrast with the previous stage which was unnaturally burdensome due to too much force but it was a very appropriate stage without any need.

As Shin Jaehyun intended.

-I decided to vote for Jaehyun Shin;;;;

-He's the leader? ㅇㅋㅇㅋ I have to become a leader.

-I can already hear the sound of a number of Homma accounts being created.

In survival it is important to get one more hit in the latter half of the game.

So despite hiding his capabilities Shin Jae-hyun as always achieved exactly the image he wanted.

'indeed…!'

And Kim Rae-bin who was purely watching is nodding.

'Your skills are as good as your personality.'

-Welcome.

He took notes remembering Shin Jae-hyeon who had a friendly attitude and even shook his hand. This is because I was writing down my impressions of each stage in my own way.

But it didn't last long.

"ah!"

Finally the person I had been waiting for got on the airwaves.

What appeared on the screen was Ryu Geon-woo neatly dressed with his hair styled calmly.

And the Internet was once again in an uproar.

-Glasses man 1!! Oh I'm not wearing glasses

-Ah the cold prize is so precious ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠThank you Letty!!

-I've already put one in with him and Shin Jae-hyun so the Bermuda line is firmly captured.

Because he was one of the trainees who became a hot topic because he was handsome.

At that time Ryu Geon-woo's modifier appears in the subtitles on the screen.

[Singing Genius]

It was so intuitive that it made me cringe.

And it was also a nickname that no viewer expected.

-???? Singing skills?

-What is a genius?

This is because there was no modifier for appearance.

-What is it is it really a sign with that face?

-No they're doing it to push a different visual. Don't expect it. But I'm looking forward to it.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

– Doesn't that mean he's a facial genius?

-Oh I think the subtitles are too overdone haha.

And the stage started quietly.

Ryu Geon-woo puts his mouth to a clunkily large standing microphone and sings a surprisingly rich and atmospheric song.

I call.

jazz.

The power to make you watch TV again even if you look away maintaining the emotional line while properly utilizing the high and low technical parts.

-ah

-?

-omg

-He's good at it.

A reaction that barely produced an exclamation swept through the window.

And Kim Rae-bin who was watching TV clenched his fist.

That amazing ability was a competency but for some reason… there was something like a strange sense of satisfaction.

Would you say it feels like the puzzle fits perfectly?

'Is it because the ideal guide vocal I thought of… has that feeling?'

It was strange.

But the evaluation stage lasts only about 2 minutes.

And the song ended quickly.

And the ending which allows you to enjoy the lingering emotions from various angles and the president's pouring praises continue on the screen.

Ryu Geon-woo was just standing there neatly listening to the evaluation but the Internet has now started giving proper evaluations.

-Mebo is right.

-You're singing you're singing perfectly.

– Glasses man but you don't dance well?

Is it real? Is it possible to not be able to do anything?

-I caught it after seeing his face. This is the first time he's been good on stage. Is this… a hit?

Moreover as the interview with the president continued new information emerged and viewers were pleasantly surprised.

-3 months per year

-????

-No where is the main character in a drama?? LOL

And the topic of current status is not left out.

[President Kim Tae-in: Which university are you a student of?]

[Ryu Geon-woo: Yonhee University]

[Ryu Geon-woo: I'm going.]

'You're even good at studying!'

Raebin Kim nodded. He was somehow knowledgeable and spoke his words with confidence and flow!

Of course not everyone passed it off as peacefully as Kim Rae-bin.

-????

-Yonhee University? Is this the Yonhee University I know? – He has a mebo position that face and is good at studying but he was a trainee for 3 months…

– Even comics these days don't have settings like this. Letia is this real?

It's to the point where there's even talk about how this is possible etc.

-No with that face shouldn't he already be famous in the regiment? Hahaha.

-Wow I have it all. It seems like it would be harder to hate it haha. I'm already excited.

-Just looking at it I can see that the vocals were also heavily edited to make it pop. Everyone is catching on.

This is a heat wave.

-I love it so crazy this is my first time with an idol like this ㅠㅠㅠㅠ Let's debut quickly Geonwoo!!!

In the meantime Ryu Geon-woo's sincere sentiments even managed to appeal to the point where they seemed somewhat pure.

The amount of mentions has soared to the point of explosion but at the same time the intensity of subtle antipathy has also intensified.

This is because appearing to have no weaknesses and appearing to have no trials in life evokes both admiration and resistance.

However thanks to that Ryu Geon-woo's buzz began to burn more brightly as if he had met a catalyst.

[The identity of the handsome man with glasses who appeared as a soft and sweet year-end dancer.jpg]

[Leti Survival trainees who seem to be a big hit]

And this fire even reached the area around Ryu Geon-woo.

* * *

I picked up my smartphone.

24 missed calls.

When you enter the messenger app you will see a series of chat windows with new number alarms popping up.

It also comes in real time.

[Speaker Lee Yu-jin: Why are you debuting?]

[Speaker Lee Yu-jin: Is being an idol something you really wanted to do? no…]

There was a lot of communication like this.

'…I didn't think of this.'

But it is an understandable development.

In the end Ryu Geon-woo here suddenly appeared on TV as an idol trainee while he was in college so people who knew him could have contacted him out of curiosity.

'He must have walked quietly.'

Looking at the list most of the people who did the group work seem to be the same so I don't feel a sense of crisis due to rumors. Still we need to monitor the school community.

Liu Chengwu opened his mouth as if he heard my phone ringing in the kitchen.

"The kids asked me today too if I was their cousin."

Is that so?

"What did you say?"

"I thought you didn't know that we are twins not cousins?"

"…"

Are you serious?

Liu Chengwu looked at my face and burst into laughter.

"I said it was a joke and of course he was a cool and good friend."

Then he sat down next to me and handed me a beer can with thin ice.

"…!"

"what's the matter? "Oh didn't you drink that?"

"no."

I gladly grabbed the beer and opened the door. And I drank it all at once.

Tu-tu-tu-tuk!

It's been a long time since I've had that refreshing cheap taste.

This… isn't reality so you can think of it as having some fun.

"Is filming fun?

"fairly."

I lowered the can and responded. In fact this guy was notified of his participation only after his profile picture appeared on the Internet.

He checked first and then asked.

-You didn't tell me you were appearing in something like this.

-… Uh um.

I was able to roughly smooth out the situation after making an excuse to Ryu Cheong-woo saying 'It wasn't confirmed and I didn't know what would happen.'

After it actually aired my attitude changed a bit.

"I see. "Definitely… just looking at this it looks like he's having fun."

This guy watched the idol program quite favorably. Even now I am naturally focusing on the TV screen.

Episode 2 was being aired to rave reviews.

[New participants appearing…?]

Episode 2 ends provocatively with the appearance of the supplementary class.

The existing participants with stiff expressions are seen passing by…

‘It’s okay.’

Because of the quite spicy and unpredictable setting this survival seemed like it would go quite well.

‘Of course we can’t just end it at a good level.’

I chuckled anticipating what kind of reaction I would get in episodes 3 and 4.

I had to draw as well as possible until the second half.

Because it will go in a direction that people who are watching the early episodes cannot easily predict.

* * *

[New competitor ‘Supplementary Group’ appears!]

“What are you looking at?”

“Ah the new Letty Survival.”

An idol group traveling by car.

The member who was sitting in the back seat and watching the program seriously was briefly interrupted.

〈Wise〉 The member sitting next to me lightly jeered after seeing the screen with the LeTi logo floating on it.

“Oh you’re a rookie in the formation again?”

“eww. “

One or two other people reacted in the same way but most of the others were busy minding their own business.

Friendship game dating.

"…"

MS Entertainment's Jairob has settled into the music industry smoothly as expected from a famous agency. It's already been 3 years.

As they won the main prize at most awards ceremonies and the settlement money from the tour began to increase everyone showed signs in their mannerisms.

'Ah~'

This kid doesn't even know the schedule.

The member who was looking at the screen sighed smiled and turned his head.

"Hey hyung since we're appearing as a mentor here I'm watching it at the same time~ I'll keep an eye on it!"

"Oh well. okay."

They say they didn't know.

'Just keep your mouth shut'

Sejin Lee naturally ignored the thought of twisting the corner of her mouth and resumed watching with a light smile.

'…You're good at it.'

In the screen that returns to episode 1 a participant is seen singing elegant jazz.

It was particularly memorable perhaps because there was nothing awkward about the stage.

“…”

Sejin Lee lifted her chin and looked at it.

Even though he made his long-awaited debut and everything is going more smoothly than he expected.

I couldn’t shake off this strange feeling of discomfort as if I had somehow received something that wasn’t my own.

‘Why are you doing this?’

It was still a cold winter.

Chapter 378

Posts about Ryu Geon-woo began to appear in the university community right after episode 1 was broadcast.

————————— = =

[Alumni just appeared on TV]

But did we have someone like that at our school?

————————— = =

-? Articles like this must be legally given and notated.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-What is it? Let me see your face.

-I'm almost a celebrity so I can upload it right? (capture)

Wow

Wow…

People who initially scolded and dismissed the incident changed their faces the moment they saw the capture. It is the power of appearance stats and correction.

-Is your name ㄹㄱㅇ? I'm so nervous…

-It's in the subtitles but why are they using consonants?

Kkkkkkkkkkkk

-There is no Feruk or Inheart. I guess he lived quietly.

-No I don't know anyone really?

The number of comments on the post that was about to disappear as I skipped over to the latest page started to increase and even a person claiming to know Ryu Geon-woo appeared.

-Oh this is the person I did the group assignment with.

Quick review

How about it?

He was quiet and worked hard but he was very smart and wore glasses.

You have it all. I'm fucking jealous.

What kind of fruit is it?

I think it was towards Sangkyung.

Fortunately this guy Ryu Geon-woo also lived a similar life as I did when I was in first grade so he didn't say anything.

'There is no such nonsense as free riding.'

I haven't been named enough to manipulate authentication yet so that's it.

I shook my head when I saw the comments where the guy who was stealing my personal information and the guy who was telling me not to do that were starting to fight.

Of course people started talking about Ryu Cheong-woo being more famous than me.

-Aren't they twins?

…Ryu Chengwu's nonsense almost spread but fortunately it was corrected.

-?? No they are relatives haha. They often go together.

-What cartoon is it? A gold medalist and an idol brother are both students at a prestigious university.

Ah haha one light novel is a breeze.

And these posts are captured and uploaded to other communities and then to social media.

It was a great viral process.

'It's spread quite a bit.'

I don't know if it's true or fake but viewers trusted it just because it was posted in an authenticated school community.

'It's fun because there's so little information.'

Actually this tendency is a double-edged sword but it is useful because it is not stuck in my skin right now.

-For some reason he was wearing glasses. Jo Won who is quiet and good at his work came across as a nerd. Really.

-Wow you were Ryu Cheong-woo's relative.

-Looking at it like this it looks really similar…? (Comparison image)

However I feel uncomfortable because Ryu Cheong-woo is mentioned a lot.

A guy who quit the national team and found a new career path and became an ordinary college student is treated like a celebrity.

I asked outright.

“A rumor has spread that he is related to you. Are you okay?”

“My brother didn’t do anything strange so why bother? Of course it’s okay.”

Ryu Cheong-woo shrugged it off saying that this was not the first time his current situation had been posted on the Internet.

‘hmm.’

If that’s the case.

I continued browsing the internet.

First of all the demand group.

Even though Ryu Geon-woo hasn’t released anything yet he seems to have been stably included in the trend he likes by grouping people with similar so-called ‘picture styles’.

So it was a success to dominate the early fan base.

-Geonwoo Jaehyun and Taejun. Who do you like? #Wise_Chinsoo

-Genius Jazz is so good ㅠㅠ

And as for the details other than the stage…

-Never waver in your posture throughout the review (video)

-Look at the fact that Geon-woo has even covered the bed with his own blanket. It really feels like he received a good home education… ㅜㅜ (capture)

After reading similar posts I roughly came up with an idea.

About my selling point here.

‘Genius calm smart pure elite golden spoon.’

A model student who grew up out of time.

It’s a keyword that works but it’s also a keyword that many people dislike.

‘There will be huge differences in likes and dislikes… ’

I searched a few more times.

There doesn’t seem to be a name for search prevention yet. Because it is a program that is a bit different from its competitor “Azusa.”

Still once you get past the halfway point the people who criticize you in earnest will start to show up.

‘I think they’ll probably call it something like ‘Ja’ to make a mockery of the first jazz performance.’

Anyway now you can just search for quality reviews.

For example if you click on the article that says ‘Feelings from trainees so far’ and look at Ryu Geon-woo’s item…

-ㄹㄱㅇ: Damn. I feel like I grew up without anything lacking but my lifespan is also short? As soon as you debut and your schedule becomes difficult controversy over your attitude starts.

okay. This is because it feels like this.

I chuckled.

Since I prepared a room for this I don’t think much of it when I see this post.

I just want to make sure things are going well.

‘When are you coming?’

I straightened my shoulders.

And a few days later the official trailer for episode 3 was released.

[Honors class VS Supplementary class?]

[Results no one expected]

[?? : Ah!]

[President Kim Tae-in: Regardless of affiliation we will make a cold judgment.]

In order to avoid spoiling the entire scene the stages are shown in close-ups and full cameras.

[Skilled members of ＜Supplementary Group＞]

[Trainer: If we go like this (beep-) will definitely win. know?]

Kim Rae-bin also appeared briefly and Cha Yu-jin was given quite a bit of screen time. This is because a few seconds of the highlights of the performance with Cheongryeo were broadcast.

'This is just a pre-release and they let me know who I'm going to be with.'

The flashy movements are captured impressively and then cut off briefly.

[An unexpected classic]

[Shin Jae-hyun: But we can't lose.]

Cheongryeo's bitter smile passes briefly.

In addition a series of stern faces passed by making it confusing as to who the trainees who had been singled out were…

Soon there is a slow close-up of a face breathing heavily with a stiff expression.

grow.

[President Kim Tae-in: Why can't I see desperation?]

[Ryu Geon-woo:…]

With the sound of deep breathing the title logo goes up and the trailer ends.

Oh I did hold the electronic display board.

This is it.

[〈Supplementary Class〉 ■■■ – Win!]

[The shocking results will be revealed this week.]

It means that someone from the supplementary class won. I nodded in satisfaction.

'Good.'

I gave it the last one but it doesn't have a lot of content so I don't think there will be any unnecessary controversy over the nominee.

'The editing is not friendly to anyone to begin with.'

Isn't it like they're saying I ruined the stage? It's a good aggro to see a good guy fail.

As if no one thought that I would be in danger haha the SNS that was waiting for the Hoho trailer was also turned upside down.

It's like this.

-What is Geonwoo's marine look???ㅠㅠㅠCrazy

-You crazy boss.

These posts were posted by the same person 2 seconds apart.

Of course there is not only a story about Ryu Geon-woo. Overall there are many viewers who were surprised by the pre-bread trailer that "Supplementary Group" was added.

Since everyone is not stupid in the last preview at the end of episode 2 they assumed that the 'supplementary class' was just meant to be an obstacle.

-CEO Kim will never let go of Letty Award. It's just a masterpiece for broadcasting haha.

But don't you say out loud that you won?

At this point even the fans of the agency's deceased figures are embarrassed.

-It must be fishing ahead of time right??

-Ah the supplementary class where did you get such rubbish rules again?

-Wow but isn't he handsome…? (capture)

This is so crazy that posts are starting to appear in entertainment communities as well.

[Letty Survival Trailer which is going crazy now (participant replaced)]

Excellent.

At this level it could be considered spicy not just spicy for an office survival show.

Leaving behind the Internet situation where aggro was well underway and Won Ki-ok was gathering I headed back to the filming set.

* * *

“Phew.”

One of the ＜Wise＞ contestants sighed deeply.

I knew there was a camera but I couldn’t help it.

Because it was so frustrating and cruel.

Such was the new treatment he received in the new filming.

“You are now ‘outside’.”

If the ‘Supplementary Group’ does not win the first one-on-one death match they will be eliminated.

But what about existing participants?

Literally ‘outside’.

They become an underprivileged group excluded from all main events.

And in fear of being eliminated I have to pack up my bags and leave my dorm room.

Then you should see a participant from the ‘Supplementary Group’ take his or her place and unpack his or her luggage.

〈Supplementary Class〉 This is what he experienced when he lost to Kim Rae-bin and was on the verge of elimination.

“sorry. I will write carefully. sorry!”

“no. it’s okay…”

I was also angry that I had to hold back my anger toward the 'Supplementary Group' who apologized sincerely. Because the camera is rolling.

'There's no way something like this would happen… '

Although it is the world of show business it was a shock in its own way for him who was still young and had not yet had a long training period.

He trudged forward following the instructions of the production crew.

He had put aside in his mind the fact that he had secretly ignored the trainees who had not been selected as participants in this survival show until a few days ago.

And then I saw reality again.

"Ugh."

The 'outside' didn't even have a bed at all. The place that I thought was a warehouse until now was the place where the 'outlaws' would stay.

Treated like a servant somewhere.

It was so sad.

'I'm so annoyed.'

However he was not alone. Ryu Geon-woo is an older person whose short trainee period seemed like a lie and was met with extremely positive reviews.

The participant was right next to him.

It felt a bit savory and reassuring.

Even though I performed so well on my first stage I was on the verge of being eliminated so luck must have played a role.

-brother…

-Don’t think too much and see you later.

Seeing as he said this to the supplementary class that took his place it seemed like he still had quite a bit of free time.

-I’ll see you again soon bro.

-… thanks.

In addition I saw him shaking hands with his roommate Shin Jae-hyun as he left the room but wouldn’t he look a bit dejected now?

‘where.’

The participant lifted his face to check Ryu Geon-woo’s expression.

“…??”

It was surprisingly calm.

My mouth opened automatically.

“Are you okay… bro?”

“It’s not okay… but there’s nothing we can do.”

Ryu Geon-woo answered with a calm expression.

“I failed because I wasn’t good at it so there’s nothing to feel unfair about.”

“…”

For some reason I was a little upset. Is there room in this situation?

‘There is a place to go back to. ‘This is it.’

Aren’t you a student from a prestigious university? The participant was so moved that he almost looked at Ryu Geon-woo with rebellious eyes.

But Ryu Geon-woo’s words did not end there.

“But I won’t be eliminated like this.”

“!”

“I have to go up somehow. Even if you crawl.”

And the participant realized.

He looks calm but that’s only because he has made up his mind.

“…me too.”

“is it so. Let’s do our best.”

The participant willingly bumped fists with Ryu Geon-woo. And I kept my mouth shut and thought.

Now that I see it it looks like he’s holding back a lot of thoughts as if he’s come to some kind of realization…

‘ah.’

It had to be that way.

Because he wanted to look like that.

‘good. ‘This will definitely go out.’

After speaking meaningfully with the participant Ryu Geon-woo was inwardly happy and took the blanket.

‘The pledge of two trainees who are on the verge of elimination. Since there are only two of us we will definitely go out.’

Every single cut was taken properly.

* * *

By the time I finished organizing my belongings in the warehouse of the dorm I was kicked out of the full-scale filming schedule began again.

Of course there is no such thing as an exception.

“During the main event you can clean up your accommodation.”

“yes…?”

“yes.”

It was like this.

‘It’s rather good.’

The main event this time was to sing a campaign song for some kind of public service announcement but I didn’t regret not being able to participate at all. There is nothing to appeal to.

Even if it appears on air it ends with a 20-minute cut and most of the content is more provocative team battles.

‘14 people just one campaign song? ‘It’s better this way.’

It’s clear that people will enjoy it because it’s less obvious housework. I worked hard to organize the accommodation and cook.

It is important to be serious and work hard so as not to look like you are playing around. Just don’t look so miserable that it’s unpleasant.

“It’s much nicer because it’s clean.”

“yes…”

The guy I work with is less cooperative but that’s okay… it depends on how well you can appease him.

‘The more I do the better.’

I think I should use this opportunity to shed the image that I grew up with without suffering. I decided to grab some rubber gloves.

“I’m going to clean up the bathroom.”

After spending all of the daytime with the ‘not a gold spoon in the greenhouse’ certification the event is finally over and the real deal comes.

Time to prepare for the third performance.

“Prior to announcing this theme the outside parties will be moved separately.”

And here too the number of people excluded refers to the number of people outside the quota.

If you are isolated and wait in another practice room it will take an hour or two before a trainer finally comes and explains how things work.

“You don’t get to choose a team.”

First of all no other information is given. Just let the team select you as a team member.

It’s waiting to be given.

But if no one comes…

“You are automatically eliminated.”

However if anyone comes they are accepted with kkakdugi… d.

‘Considering the loss of parts the correct answer is that talented teams do not come.’

It never goes back like that. Isn’t this an in-house survival game?

I didn’t show anything just stood still and waited with a serious expression.

Sure enough about 10 minutes had passed since I received the notice.

The practice room door opens softly.

And what you see is…

“excuse me.”

This is Shin Jae-hyeon.

He came into the practice room and naturally stood next to the trainer in front of the camera.

I kept my mouth shut in silence.

“Are there any outside participants that the team decided to accept?”

“yes.”

He looked at me openly and opened his mouth as if he had nothing to hide.

“The participant our team would like to join is Ryu Geon-woo…”

It was then.

dripping.

The door opens once more with a knocking sound.

A little more hastily than before.

“I…”

“…!”

The one who came in was… Chae-yul.

A member of VTIC in the original world of the supplementary class that joined me.

“Did you decide to accept outsiders from that team as well?”

“yes.”

He seemed a little embarrassed to see someone else already there but he answered right away.

“…This is participant Ryu Geon-woo.”

I guess so. Actually I thought you would come if you just persuaded your teammates.

Now what is the trainer’s verdict?

“If both teams nominate an outside participant that participant can choose.”

Oh this is unexpected.

‘I thought it would be first-come-first-served or something like rock-paper-scissors among themselves.’

But actually I’m not very happy about it. I don’t want my rank to appear high here.

Right now being in a position that involves moving up from the bottom is working well.

‘hmm.’

I blinked a few times as if I was embarrassed. And I quickly glanced at them.

It’s a situation where you can’t know what the team is like and you only have to look at the face sign to choose.

Looking at the revealed facts it seems unclear whether Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin will be among these two teams.

‘Hmm.’

I finished the calculation by pretending to look at the floor for a moment.

And decided.

“The team I want to join is…”

think.

Chapter 379

“The team I want to join is Jaehyun Shin’s team.”

I chose Cheongryeo’s team.

Even the trainer opens his eyes wide. An attitude as if he thought I would naturally choose Jin Chae-yul’s team.

[Uh huh? brother?]

Even this quiet guy came out and said ‘I won’t interfere with filming.’

‘why.’

[Well Chae-yul was my competitor just before but the atmosphere was good… I thought we would do great together as a team this time…]

So you also drew your own version?

I laughed inwardly.

‘no.’

[omg! why?]

‘It’s a good idea but it has a lot of pitfalls.’

Because my position becomes ambiguous.

First of all if I get along with Chae-yul my opinion will definitely be stronger than this guy’s. Since he already has a record he is older and his skills are superior there is nothing he can do about it.

Here if you act like ‘I lost so I’ll keep quiet’ the picture will get weird so if there's no one better than me on that guy's team I'll have to take charge again.

'no.'

Then problems arise from song selection. If we continue with the light and refreshing concept like last time problems will arise in the evaluation of the president.

'There's talk of people not coming to their senses and repeating the same thing.'

Otherwise they'll think we're fighting.

But what if the route is changed to a gloomy concept in line with the president's evaluation? This is exactly what happens.

-Well I guess I wasn't expecting a picture like this.

-I understand why but when I try to be considerate and it doesn't work out I feel like my true colors are coming out so it's a bit… cool.

I'm sure that when episode 3 airs there will be quite a bit of public opinion opposing the president's harsh criticism and defending me but I'm pretending to be disappointed because I've let down the expectations of those people.

No matter what you choose you will lose the advantage you had in the previous team match.

Whether it is consideration or pure tenacity.

[I never imagined this answer…]

There's nothing to be upset about though.

'I'm just saying that this time I thought it would be best if there was someone solidly capable of being the leader other than me.'

And didn't a leader with decades or even hundreds of years of experience come along who was proven to be good at his job?

I sincerely made a facial expression of gratitude.

"…thanks."

"I am truly grateful. "Please take care of me brother."

Cheongnyeo.

'This edition will be positioned as the #1 team member who works hard.'

That's the best.

I shook hands with Cheongnyeo. The guy was smiling faintly.

'This is what I knew it would be like.'

Are you saying that you came back after completing the calculations?

I click my tongue on the inside but on the outside I'm a bastard

He continued to look at me with gratitude.

Of course follow-up is also essential.

"Still do you have anything to say to the other teams that came to visit Geon-woo?"

okay. At this point I thought I would catch the wind.

I immediately approached Jin Chae-yul before the trainer even finished speaking. The guy was nodding his head as if he understood.

"Thank you so much for coming."

“no…”

Here I change the point of why I rejected Chae-yul.

“But you don’t have to feel guilty or responsible because I lost. really.”

“…!”

Jin Chae-yul raised his head.

“You got it because you were good at it. I too will do well this time and move up. “Let’s do it together again on the next stage.”

This is to consider whether you may have made an unreasonable choice due to guilt.

‘Actually it’s worth it.’

Since this guy was from the supplementary class he probably didn’t know anyone on the team so it would have been quite difficult to convince him to bring me along.

‘If I actually enter there’s a high probability that I’ll be talked about again because of the part.’

It would be easier in many ways for this guy to go separately. Because his abilities are also good.

“We had fun.”

“! yes!”

The guy sniffled but then smiled and nodded. I patted everyone on the back and created a good mood.

…I was actually quite grateful.

Even if your brain is a bit bright there is no malicious intent.

‘If you see that that bastard doesn’t make any noise it means that this guy will get along easily.’

I don’t think I need to do any other work.

Another team soon came and picked up the other contestants who were with Raebin Kim and the distribution of radish radish radish ended in that way.

But the camera still follows.

Well it would be better to ask this question.

I asked Cheongryeo as I walked down the hallway.

“Why did you choose me?”

“We work together best when we practice. “I want to show you.”

He lied without even putting saliva in his mouth… Wow this bastard also gritted his teeth to make a big deal out of it.

“And my brother is so good…”

As expected he is a man who knows how to clean his mouth. I returned the words as if I had promised.

“We have to do better. “It won’t be a nuisance to the team.”

“I don’t doubt it. Oh and there’s one more reason.”

“…?”

Cheongryeo laughed heartily.

“I think you’ll like our team too.”

“…hmm. “I guess so.”

I suddenly have a bad feeling but let's just smile for now.

And after a while I get to see the team members that Cheongryeo has gathered.

Sweet.

"Brother Geon-woo is here."

"thank you. Please take care of me."

I knew it would be like this but when I open the door the first thing I see is… Kim Rae-bin.

"It's an honor to team up like this! "Please take care of me!"

Producer Rapper Ssssssamham. I thought I would pick him and bring him because he was a good guy to use and didn't overlap with me in any way.

'So far it's good.'

I already thought I should take care of it this round.

When the team members turn their heads while hearing the explanation that they met through a mini game… yes there is also one VTIC member.

"hello."

"Yes yes."

Hmm it's a cast iron. I think his real name was something else but let's omit it and just nod.

What's surprising is that the last guy who comes running out from behind like a bullet is also someone I know.

"brother! Welcome~ Sit down!"

…You even brought Cha Yu-jin with you.

“I really like our team! Good job!”

“Uh okay.”

I didn’t expect this. I thought I would throw it away because the positions overlapped but it was quite a challenging choice.

I sat around and checked the final sum.

Two main dancers main rapper lead vocalist…

‘And is it complete with me as the main vocalist?’

VTIC half Testa half.

In fact there is no flaw from skill to positioning. If there are no problems this round will be won and passed smoothly without any major difficulties.

As long as we don’t fight… I don’t have any intention of dragging him away so I guess I can just act as a mediator.

‘good.’

Roles were clearly organized. I nodded.

“First let me briefly explain the rules on how we organize the performance.”

This round has a simple structure in which two teams that select the same concept keyword compete against each other. And superiority and inferiority are decided on a team basis.

Except me.

I was told that I would be evaluated separately as either being eliminated or remaining.

And the keywords we received were…

“Hmm… sexy.”

“…”

You chose something very avant-garde.

Cheongryeo smiles apologetically.

“It’s a little embarrassing right? sorry. “Because I’m not good at games.”

That must have been so.

“no! You did a good job but the circumstances were not good at the end. The concept is also… interesting!”

“that’s right. “It’s okay…”

“okay? “Thank you for saying that.”

Leaving aside this abominable performance for show the concept itself is not bad.

It’s powerful in itself and doesn’t overlap with previous stages.

‘good.’

During the arrangement discussion I naturally supported the opinion of Cheongryeo who was the leader and did not lead public opinion.

Sometimes all you have to do is gently incorporate Cha Yu-jin or Kim Rae-bin’s opinions into the flow.

So the direction of the arrangement was quickly outlined as Cheongryeo had envisioned. Thanks to this he spit out this line faster than expected.

“Then I’ll talk about the part from now on.”

This is where the main topic begins.

“Does anyone want the high notes on the bridge here?”

Immediately raise your hand.

“I want to do it.”

“ah.”

From then on I volunteered for all the difficult high notes parts.

Since I am the only one in the main vocal position there is no negative effect even if I get greedy.

‘The answer is to show a little combativeness.’

The trick here is to actively challenge only those parts that are difficult enough for others to avoid. It would be difficult to come in later and eat up the space.

I only maintain the image of showing everything to the limit of what I can do.

“Geonwoo wouldn’t it be very difficult?”

“I’ll try to digest it.”

And I won’t deny it. Cheongryeo came in at the right time to help me save my image.

“Then shall we end the distribution of parts like this?”

“yes!”

They even prepared a pretty good part for Cha Yu-jin. Even though I gave up quite a bit of myself.

‘hmm.’

As the production crew was checking the filming equipment I asked Cheongnyeo quietly without a microphone.

“I wonder.”

They put Cha Yu-jin on the team and gave him this much weight.

Without even asking what was surprising the guy answered right away.

“It’s nice to see. Because the two people who showed good performances as competitors will become one team this time. “Isn’t that right?”

“…”

When the death match between the two airs soon votes will pour in for Cha Yu-jin.

The intention is to block those viewers before they develop a backlash against them.

‘A bastard who led the suspect.’

It’s a great choice.

“I think it seemed like a good choice for your junior. “Well should we share this detailed story now?”

“That’s it.”

I held back a sigh.

Of course I had heard a briefing from him about how this survival would proceed.

However no further detailed joint plans were made. I recalled the conversation at that time.

-There is no need for further details.

-hmm?

-Yes even if you discuss everything and make a plan based on prior knowledge variables may appear. Because the time zone is different and the participants are different.

-That's right.

The guy noticed right away laughed heartily and continued his next words.

-And at that moment if we each have different opinions… Hmm you have no intention of giving in?

It was a natural story. You probably think your ideas are more effective you idiot.

-So let's go on our own. If you get caught do whatever you want.

-is it so. Do your best. Your junior will debut anyway so don't feel pressured.

I'm a little annoyed that this guy thinks everything is in his hands.

'That's it.'

That's good. Then have a taste of this natural disaster.

After breaking up with him I called the next person and went out into the hallway.

"Cha Yujin."

"Umm?"

“for a moment.”

I took him aside and had a short conversation.

-On this stage…

It was a small operation that started like this.

Cha Yu-jin looked at the note for a moment and then shrugged her shoulders.

And I wrote it like a reply.

-It’s not impossible.

-[But only for the team.]

team.

‘You probably mean Testa.’

I chuckled.

I got it bastard.

“good. Then write it here like this.”

“why?”

This is a fabrication of evidence to be submitted later when the production crew asks about the hallway cam.

And two days later the midterm evaluation day came.

Preparations had already been completed. My original plan was to make a good impression from here and create an editing point and story.

‘That was… it was going to happen.’

An unexpected situation occurred.

Active idols came as special judges for the mid-term inspection.

“We have gathered KPOP stars of our time who are actively working.”

“Huh.”

A lineup so good that trainees who make a fuss appear.

Among them… there was one.

“Hello this is Sejin Lee from Gyrop!”

“…!”

A familiar face.

To be precise there is a guy sitting in the seat who is familiar only with his face but unfamiliar with his styling.

Big Sejin.

“…”

yes. I found out that they had already debuted by searching the internet in advance. And of course I expected to meet him when I was working on a broadcast.

But I didn’t expect to see that guy’s face already…

Cha Yu-jin lightly hit his side.

‘caution.’

“…”

yes. It's being filmed.

I focused on performance. It's been a long time since I made a living from this for an unexpected situation to have any effect.

"Whoop."

"That's it!"

The first verse performance went well.

And Sejin Lee of Xyrop left this comment.

"Wow you seem to be better than me~? "It was impressive."

"thank you!"

"By the way Mr. Geon-woo."

why.

"It's okay to be a little less nervous~ I think you get a little nervous before and after the stage. "I don't think there was any need for that!"

"…yes. thank you."

Fuck you.

I immediately went out into the hallway during break time.

Because it's a bit of a thing to do in a place where there are people.

[are you okay??]

Of course it's okay. therefore…

'Recruiting fellow colleagues.'

Let's use up that damn reputation exp that gained 50000 points after episode 1 2 aired.

[Recruiting colleagues]

[1 time / 10 times]

I pressed the button 10 times.

The lights explode and the list passes by without any sincerity.

One star two stars one star two stars two stars…

Familiar names do not appear. This situation where a stranger's name is just a colleague and it fills the window…

'Fuck you.'

I gritted my teeth and turned it again.

[★]

[★]

[★★★]

[★★]

Stars are pouring down endlessly but no one is looking for them. This time it disappears leaving behind only useless gold.

"…"

I chewed my tongue.

Let's use some common sense. Anyway there's nothing you can do if you hire that guy as a colleague right now.

‘I already debuted with a different team.’

This means that he is the one with the least chance of joining.

‘…is that why I feel more rejected?’

Lee Se-jin who debuted in a completely different group? There is no certification mark indicating that this is not reality.

“Whoa.”

I sighed. As my head cooled I could see the principles of my actions.

“under.”

A laugh comes out.

okay.

It would be nice to have more guys who are efficient naive and aware of reality.

‘…I don’t think it will come out.’

Still I smiled and raised my hand and pressed 10 again. It couldn’t be that funny.

It was then.

[～♪♬♪～]

“…!”

An aurora light explodes from the image of the night sky-like pop-up window and soon swirls as if it is about to escape from the pop-up window…

‘This.’

It's a visual effect I've seen before.

…when 5-star Cha Yu-jin was selected.

"ah."

However four stars twinkle on the screen.

[★★★★]

That too for a while.

Soon a star of a different color flies in and attaches itself. A total of five.

And finally… the image and description appear.

[Ahh!]

[★★★★☆ Sejin Lee / Sub Vocal]

"…"

[※Colleagues with different colored stars have special abilities!]

Special abilities.

In the 〈127 Section〉 game it meant skills such as exploration or production not combat. In other words abilities in other areas rather than the game's main abilities.

Then here…

I moved my hand.

A small pop-up that appears when you pass over the name of 'Lee Se-jin'.

[Special ability: Actor]

This is Bae Se-jin before changing his name.

Chapter 380

“…”

I confirmed adding a colleague right away. Then after swallowing I checked the list.

The current status of the colleagues selected so far was indicated.

[Colleague list]

[Shin Jae-hyun: Going out to find a colleague (//-^□)]

[Cha Yu-jin: Calmly talking with the production crew (ㅇㅅㅇ)]

It should have ended here but one more line was added.

The guy I just picked.

[Lee Se-jin: Reading the scenario (｀ㅅ´9)]

scenario.

Anyone can see that this description is of an actor. So… Bae Se-jin is right.

“after.”

A pop-up pops up that looks like a large moon scrawled on it.

[Hey everyone wake up right now bro!]

okay.

[Colleague: Would you like to awaken Sejin Lee?]

-Use Exp 1000

I reached out and was about to press the accept button…

It stopped.

[?? brother?]

No this is not it.

Only then did I turn my head where the blood had returned.

‘We are currently filming.’

A smartphone was also submitted. Anyway even if I tried to wake this guy up now I wouldn’t be able to contact him for at least four days.

Then we can’t just let this guy who regained his memories alone remain in confusion.

[Ah… I see.]

First let’s finish the stage and proceed with the awakening.

[yes! go for it!]

I returned a colleague list popup. But I wasn’t as anxious as before.

On the contrary it’s a little… motivating.

‘I’ll have to wake up and contact you as soon as it’s over. I’ll have to tell Cha Yu-jin too.’

Of course persuading this guy didn’t seem like a normal thing… but that alone made me feel really good.

My head becomes clearer.

[Lee Se-jin: Reflecting on the scenario (` ㅅ//)]

…I don't know why hatches suddenly appear on emoticons again but anyway this is it for now.

I chuckled closed the colleague list and prepared to return to the practice room.

It was then.

"excuse me…"

"…!"

It's a voice I know. but…

'Why can I hear this from here?'

When I immediately turn my head I see the same guy as I expected.

This is Lee Se-jin with a shy expression.

"Where is the sink here?"

"…"

yes. Since it's break time this guy can wander around here as he wants.

I raised my hand.

"It's over there."

"Ah~"

Go quickly.

But instead of going the guy started wandering.

“thank you. “Ah Mr. Gunwoo is it okay if I call you this?”

“yes.”

“Oh~ That’s refreshing!”

And grin.

“Thanks to you for performing so well today I had a lot of fun. Thank you~”

“I am”

Let’s choose our words.

“Thank you for your kind words.”

“Ah that’s not an empty comment. I saw Gunwoo’s first performance and it was all really good. I think you’ll debut really!”

Does this guy remember anything?

‘That can’t be possible.’

I guess they just wanted to create a connection for networking purposes. Isn’t it obvious?

‘That hasn’t changed.’

I relaxed my arms.

Yes anyway once the famous work is over I’m going to select you and awaken you so do whatever you want.

Let’s do some gold lacquering too.

I'm not saying anything is not happening.

"thank you. I also learned a lot from watching my senior perform. "I learned a lot from seeing how each movement expression was perfectly suited to the song."

"ah."

The guy suddenly closed his mouth.

'Didn't you expect it?'

But soon he opened his mouth like nothing had happened.

"thank you. I feel energized too~ Well then since this is also our relationship shall we exchange contact information?"

It's the same as "Azusa".

It's more of a strange nostalgia than bitterness. I shrugged.

"I don't have a phone right now… so if it's okay I'll give you my contact information."

"Yeah that's good!"

I put the number into his smartphone. I felt strange.

"I'll text you and say hello later." "We~"

"yes. Then I'll just go in and get ready. thank you."

"Um yes."

I just turned away as if I didn't notice that he wanted to talk more.

'Put your brain in order.'

He's a guy who does a lot of different things on a daily basis. I felt like if I spoke now I would make a mistake the moment I relaxed.

Anyway it was a polite response so they wouldn't have been offended…

'It ends up unfolding similarly here as well.'

For personal connections that is interpersonal relationships based on mutual benefit.

I laughed and hurried my steps around the corner of the hallway.

And just in time he stopped a short distance before colliding with the guy on the other side of the corner. Cheongryeo.

"It was here. "You've come a long way."

"It just so happened."

"I don't think it's 'somehow'…Ah as expected."

He glanced around the corner and checked Lee Se-jin's back. And he muttered with a sad face.

"I heard you weren't there. I'll tell you in advance it's hard to take that one. "He's been a member of an established group for 3 years."

Don't I know that?

"I just opened up some contact information for networking purposes."

"Um are you planning on persuading me by explaining what the situation is?"

"…"

"You did that to me before."

All on the bare ground?

For a moment the thought crossed my mind that there was nothing I couldn't do but…

"No the stage comes first."

It's not crazy because I can't do it. You can do it but it's crazy that you insist on doing something that not everyone else does.

I have no intention of talking nonsense to that guy until he awakens.

"is it so. "Well thought out."

You're saying something obvious.

I returned to the practice room. For the completion of the stage.

And a few days later.

Finally for the first time in this program stage filming with an audience has begun.

* * *

"Please take care of me~"

Gylob's Se-jin Lee who came again as a special judge greeted the audience warmly and sat down.

Among the idols who came to the mid-term evaluation those who were less busy at the moment were invited back and it was not a very pleasant feeling to have won a spot.

Nevertheless there is interest in the stage.

Monitoring those who are likely to become competitors is bound to be beneficial. Plus there are people I have become friends with.

Ryu Geon-woo.

The trainee who performed on that jazz stage.

Sejin Lee frowned slightly pretending to wrinkle her nose.

‘It was a little strange.’

Originally I thought he was the type that was particularly good and attracted attention. So I thought there was nothing to lose by knowing.

But when I actually started talking…

‘I guess I should say that I just felt like I wanted to become friends.’

I feel like I want to become closer to a friend again who I became estranged from because I couldn’t figure out why he wasn’t there.

‘Do you know me before?’

Well like a friend I used to play with in the neighborhood when I was young.

No you know him because he’s older than you?

‘Oh I don’t know.’

Lee Se-jin just killed questions that couldn’t be answered.

‘There’s no reply yet anyway.’

After this stage is over you can try to find out a little by keeping in touch.

Even though the person seemed a bit blunt I was like a guy after all so I didn’t regret talking to him for no reason. Lee Se-jin straightened his posture even more.

Because filming will start soon.

"〈Wise〉 3rd stage begins."

The set is prepared according to the president's wonderful words.

And what unfolds are stages worthy of a debut group from a large agency.

'…I'm annoyed.'

Sejin Lee suppressed her boiling emotions.

A sense of crisis and a sense of crisis.

And then rank it.

This side is worse than Gylob and that side is similar to Gyrop…

'Well just because you're good at performing doesn't mean you'll be popular.'

Isn't it because the past female idols of that agency couldn't rise to prominence even with their soft and sweet skills so they turned to the concept of sickness?

But when I think about the fact that I'm debuting after sifting half of it through a sieve…

'Ah… damn it.'

Lee Se-jin decided that he had to think of a way to whip the group somehow.

Dealing with people was the area he was most confident in. I feel a sense of helplessness that idols seem to worry about things like that more often than the stage.

His eyes darkened but this was offset by the light.

“We are revealing the keywords for the next match.”

And as time passed the most awaited Daejeon arrived.

Keywords appear on the electronic display board.

[Sexy]

Wow!

There are groans and cheers among the visitors unsure of whether they are sighs or anticipation.

‘Ah~ I thought I made up my mind the moment I saw this.’

Lee Se-jin suppressed a bitter smile and gave an appropriate pleasant reaction for an idol with less seniority. And then the first team stage unfolded.

-Get on your knees ooh!

It was a stage where the tightly angled auto-tune and waves seemed to scream that they were lethal.

‘Hmm.’

Well there must be a demand.

Sejin Lee prepared a review in preparation for when the microphone returned and took notes in a way that showed the keywords she had refined.

And I roughly predicted the reaction of the next and final stage.

‘…the team.’

I had already been familiar with it since the mid-term evaluation. A team that includes many of the people with the best output in this survival program.

The team that Ryu Geon-woo belongs to with whom he exchanged numbers.

‘I guess they didn’t give me the last order for nothing.’

I looked it up and found that spoilers were circulating on the internet and everyone was looking forward to it.

Most of the audience sitting there right now will be busy on social media KakaoTalk or guessing about the members of this team by thinking about the contestants who ‘haven’t appeared yet.’

And the moment it appeared on the electronic display board.

[Shin Jae-hyun Kim Rae-bin Jung Woo-dan Cha Yu-jin]

[+Ryu Geon-woo (excluding)]

Argh! Yeaaaah!

There was a mix of indescribable screams and moans along with tremendous cheers.

This is a phenomenon in which fans who saw for the first time that Ryu Geon-woo was classified as ‘out of the league’ were embarrassed but had expectations for the team itself.

‘Everyone will end up going crazy.’

The formula for success was already visible. Lee Se-jin suppressed a bitter laugh because the program’s propaganda seemed to be visible. Their song selection was a song by a top male idol that came out the year before last.

Wild masculine and sexy.

It is a similar goal to the previous team.

‘I will win.’

If the texture is similar wouldn't the one who is better at it win? It was a matter that had already been concluded the moment I saw the mid-term evaluation.

'…Because you did well.'

You could already tell from just the first verse but he seriously focused his eyes on the stage.

The participants gathered in a large formation and stood in the shape of a bud. Colorless lights flickered on the stage.

-Cut off

And the moment when an elegant accompaniment is played with a low voice.

"…!"

The lighting changes to purple and the members move their bodies gently.

Large size connected to a wave that uses the upper body large.

Sejin Lee realized it right away.

'I changed the arrangement a little bit.'

Some instrumental elements are missing. The electric sound was removed and the sound of the bass and string instruments was increased.

And action.

Instead of being powerful it is slow and leisurely. Velvet shirt and black pants

It follows the action.

-Cut it and leave.

this is your way

(So sick)

When Kim Rae-bin who swept her hair finished the intro Shin Jae-hyun who received it smoothly performed his part with gestures.

Without any group dance. Just with facial expressions and movements.

Yet the audience is watching it intently.

'It's difficult.'

A blank stage with no set choreography. Doing something like that and making the stage look full is difficult even on a professional stage.

Moreover it is not just filled with that.

-Don't look back.

Because it's only painful it's meaningless

You lost your game stop it

Just leave

The interlude begins and the group dance unfolds. The difficult choreography presented interlocks like gears creating synergy.

stroke.

The surrounding arms and legs move as if in sync with the person standing at the center and become a pole or pedestal.

In this way the members interact like props and bring the center to life.

The goal is to flexibly move between tight choreography parts and loose parts to maximize the satisfaction of each.

-Story that has already ended

By the time the second verse was over Lee Se-jin had come to a conclusion.

‘Clever.’

It is a choice that can only be made if one is talented with ridiculous quality but he would have gladly accepted this choice if it were under the conditions of this team.

“…”

The stage lives.

He shook off his thoughts and focused again on the performance which was completely different from the mid-term evaluation.

Then another question comes up this time.

Is the arrangement really the only reason?

“…!”

And then I realized.

Yujin Cha.

Until the mid-term evaluation it was the main factor that made that stage look more wild like the original song. Rushing energy and explosive excitement.

However here it feels like the brilliant saturation and brightness were taken by oneself.

‘It doesn’t mean it’s not noticeable.’

For example the last refrain of the second verse.

-Love is a kind of disease

A late realization comes

So-

Cha Yu-jin’s gaze is half-open as she looks at the camera while holding her neck.

He killed Angwang and saved the mood.

Shady charm.

Her appearance is so believable that you can even believe she is actually an original trainee of this agency.

Being able to control that was surprising and at the same time a very strategic choice.

It would certainly have seemed different and attractive to viewers. It was clear that President LeTi who was the immediate decision maker was also re-evaluating.

Moreover the structure of this stage has strong support.

-So oh oh oh

It was Ryu Geon-woo.

He was adding difficult high-pitched parts live at the right timing.

‘Sometimes I feel the audience is surprised.’

However if it had ended there it might have been thought to be of no practical use as it would end up being used as a part on stage.

But he came away with just one cut.

‘excuse me.’

Also known as the saint part.

That part that is sung standing up and suddenly creates a static atmosphere and draws attention.

It’s not super high pitched. Moderately high vocal range.

In other words that section is extremely difficult for anyone to sing reliably.

-It’s done

It’s over

Cut it off

Ryu Geon-woo dreamily performed it in a breathy tone as if he was reciting it.

This is a person who has been adding crazy high-pitched ad-libs and chords so his breathing is unbelievable and clean.

It would have been easier to just scream out a high note.

You can take that long breath smoothly without swallowing a single breath in between? Without AR?

-Cut it and leave.

this is your way

(So sick)

Ryu Geon-woo made the most of that one killing point very well.

And the agent who raises the quality of the stage several levels with that vocal.

A presence that seems to be shouting that the group doesn't need a main vocalist for no reason.

"…"

I felt a strange sense of déjà vu.

'why'

However the stage just rushes towards the end after the bridge.

All members perform their roles perfectly. And appeal to the audience as much as possible.

And the ending.

-Cut off

Ahhhhh!!

The loud cheers and applause that made my ears go out. The shaking of shining light sticks.

Sejin Lee watched the stage with all her heart without taking her eyes off her until the end.

It was still a good win but there was no longer a sense of crisis.

What took its place was…

'…ah.'

It was a feeling of loss that I could not even notice.

A strange feeling as if one's position had been helplessly replaced…

'What are you saying?'

Did I eat something wrong today? Sejin Lee chewed the inside of her mouth and controlled her expression.

And when it was time for the judges to comment he opened his mouth with a smile.

"It was really good really!"

That very day episode 3 of "Wise" aired. Without even giving spoilers about the number of people in the audience who lost to <Supplementary Group>.

And finally the viewer voting was held.

Chapter 381

Survival agency 〈Wise〉 is expanding its viewer pool from a frog in a well to a fish in a reservoir.

Using the aggro from episode 3 as a rising tide.

[Leti Survival (SPOILER) where a real loser is eliminated due to losing a seat]

[Wise current situation.jpg]

[Ryu Geon-woo is in danger of being eliminated]

Unlike at the beginning of the broadcast the comments also became more heated with fights and questions.

-Change the title to say you are not an eliminated candidate but are in danger of being eliminated.

-Hey the glasses guy's luggage?

-Someone explain.

In a one-on-one death match between a trainee with a top tier level of recognition and an ordinary person in the middle the latter won.

Awesome

What's the big deal? Anyone can see that the former was good.

Viewers' opinions are divided as to whether Ryu Geon-woo did well Jin Chae-yul did well the president turned around was he really eliminated or not?

It was worth it.

‘They edited it better than I expected on air.’

First of all unlike other deathmatch teams where there was a sense of tension the editing was done to make it almost like a kindergarten.

[Ryu Geon-woo: Let’s do our best.]

[Jin Chae-yul: Waaa!]

[Oh Yun-shin: (enthusiastic applause)]

[Three Chicks]

The BGM was also very simple.

The same goes for Ryu Geon-woo’s role.

The part where he used his brains to elicit the opinions of the yes men was cut. It looks like they just took care of their teammates and worked hard on the stage with one mind and one intention.

[Harmony itself]

[Jin Chae-yul: I love it!]

[Oh Yun-shin: Me too.

[Ryu Geon-woo: Then I will write it like that.]

[Continuation of unanimous agreement]

Although he was a bit clumsy and blunt he gave the impression that he was accepting of people.

[Q: How was the leader?]

[Ryu Geon-woo: Everyone is a beginner in this kind of work… Since I am the senior I have to pay more attention.]

My appeal interview went along the lines of 'I had no choice as a leader'. It's so pure that it's almost half-baked

"hmm."

It was exciting so I had a can of beer at this timing.

'Even if he did the same thing he was a fourth-dimensional idiot in <Azusa>.'

Either way the power of editing is amazing.

Anyway this team passed the sweet practice period and finally finished the performance well.

But here the president's review is quite cruel.

[President Kim Tae-in: This is not something that can be called fun.]

[!!]

[Producer with a stern expression]

I'm saying don't play house.

What's interesting is that this team didn't edit it as if it had been unfairly evaluated.

[CEO Kim Tae-in: Isn't now a good time to appeal and show what you're best at?]

[President Kim Tae-in: (Geon-woo) also gave up all the parts.]

[Ryu Geon-woo:…]

[President Kim Tae-in's stinging advice]

[Silent filming location]

Instead it feels like the president has delivered a proper rebuke to an amateur team that has lost its senses.

'That's clearly editing influenced by the president's influence.'

So if a participant was just following the flow they might think 'So was it too much of a flower garden…?' It was puzzling.

There was a close-up of a nervous Ryu Geon-woo even sweating like cold sweat.

There the president shook his head slightly as if this was not true and then shouted firmly.

[President Kim Tae-in: Announcement of the winner.]

And 'Jin Chae-yul wins' appears on the electronic display board.

'It's exquisite.'

Looking at this point do you think that the public opinion might be more in the direction of 'Yes this is a survival show but they were a little less desperate'? Not so. One other element is included.

-You did well but what kind of bullshit are you talking about?

You performed well on stage.

'I can't deny it.'

-Letty's cute performance was very refreshing. What was it? ㅠㅠ

-I was really looking at it and saying "These are my vitamins" but the boss interrupted me.

-I was shocked that he was good at something like this… but the chemistry with the kids was crazy…

After hearing that I had been unfairly evaluated a fight broke out between people with different tastes.

-It seems like the concept is better received by Chae-yul because you speak a little stronger?

-Yes the leader was Ryu Geon-woo in the first place haha Jin Chae-yul was on the bus.

□??We were on stage together but what did they say? And it also means that it was a somewhat complacent choice as a leader.

-Is this a true criticism of the team who pulled off the marine look and cool cutie concept so well?

-Honestly I did a lot worse than ㄹㄱㅇ in the supplementary class but I dropped it because I was offended that President Kim didn't like X-germ. Are you kidding me haha.

-You both did a good job. Let's criticize the boss who made the rules!

And because the audience was so crazy people who came to Bulgyeong stopped by and saw the stage.

And the newly introduced people also start to add words.

By immersing myself in the position of a cool-headed and objective evaluator.

-I did a good job but I guess it's not the president's preference. Isn't it inevitable since it's an agency's survival?

-The member who showed a new side and the member who handled the concept well both did well but since it was a death match the member of the honors class seemed to be a bit loose.

-Ryu Geon-woo This is better than the first stage but I don't know what the boss is talking about.

"That's it."

I put down my smartphone. There was nothing more to see.

I have no regrets about using it as firewood to create buzz. Thanks to this the board itself is getting bigger.

'We'll turn it around in the next team match anyway.'

Whether it's a misunderstanding or not it's actually good that my attitude is being mixed on this stage.

'That way you will feel more relieved when the disagreement is resolved.'

Plus in the meantime the other guys on my crew list are cruising along.

"hmm."

I leaned with my arms on the sofa. Let me summarize it further.

First of all Raebin Kim's death match was broadcast as the first stage and drew an immediate response.

-Raebin Kim is really not Letty Yeonjae? Haha it's totally Letty-san.

-Producer?? Haha? You're definitely debuting. Are you trying to run away to a place where there are no cameras?

-I thought the fact that he won and lost to Ryu Geon-woo's supplementary team was a pre-emptive fishing trip.

The guy I defeated in the death match was originally a no-nonsense guy and thanks to his appearance he settled in as a participant without any opposition or resistance.

The swear words I received during <Azusa> are as smooth as a lie. I've heard some people say I have a strange attitude.

-Why on earth is Raevin acting like that? Why are you hiding like a private?

-Below the stage you're an intern but when you go up you're the boss. I like this kind of thing.

Coaching has been rewarding.

In addition 'Shin Jae-hyun VS Cha Yu-jin' which has already been previewed for episode 4 is already highly anticipated based on the practice process and mid-term evaluation alone.

Is this what it feels like if you sort it chronologically?

-Oh that supplementary class is the complete opposite of Leti's lol. Why did you come here?

-Why are you so good at it?

-Hey really Cha Yu-jin won?;

-No but Shin Jae-hyun is really good… Ah but the boss fucked up with Ryu Geon-woo… Ah that's harsh.

It's fun.

Normally in-house survival there is a flow. In many cases you start by deciding on someone to push you.

However in this episode of <Wise> viewers began to become immersed in the next story which was unpredictable due to the abundance of variables.

A refreshing situation where a surprise victory occurs for the supplementary team.

This is what makes the program itself fun.

-It's so unexpected that the game is completely turned over;

-People who just look at it find it hilarious.

-I don't know much about idols. Would it be fun to watch?

ㄴㅇㅇI guess it would be okay to just watch it like watching a drama?

The embers meet the firewood and burn.

Moreover the broadcast even added a wedge at the last minute.

They openly posted this after the trailer.

[Recruitment of applicants]

[We are accepting support for new challengers who want to debut in <Supplementary Class>.]

[To access the <Wise> homepage click the button at the bottom. We ask for your support.]

It was a sign posted in front of the viewers that they were going to increase the number of variables again. And on a larger scale.

'The picture is good.'

Actually this is the wind that I suggested and Cheongryeo brought in.

-That's a good idea. There is little risk and I will give you a push.

'It's not a bad thing for the company.'

Noise marketing is possible but if necessary it can all be cut off. Besides if a talented person applies wouldn't they be able to secure him as the next candidate?

It doesn't end here.

There's a huge announcement that should have been made here right away.

[!Global voting begins!]

[Please send your support to the contestants you are rooting for. Your opinion may determine your survival.]

Viewer voting begins immediately.

However it doesn't specify in detail what power voting has which makes people even more crazy.

To what extent will agency survival reflect the opinions of viewers?

'It's a bit offensive to these bastards to post both the notice of eliminations and the notice of new contestants.'

Anyway thanks to this mess the profits that could be gained from survival are being sucked away.

Prior awareness and fan base.

And even the characters of the participants.

Of course my character is also becoming very detailed.

-A completely calm and friendly large dog… This is the first time I've ever seen something like this complete with glasses and a campus romance.

…the nerd large dog.

'Why on earth?'

It's a bit funny that a dog appears as an animal even though the initial image is so different from that of 'Park Moon-dae'…Anyway awareness is steadily skyrocketing.

Nowadays when I go out people start to recognize me and at the worst there are people sitting in front of the officetel.

This point is a bit problematic.

I got up from the sofa and glanced out onto the veranda.

“hmm.”

Here too you can see a few suspects running around in taxis.

‘I think Ryu Cheng-wu will avoid this.’

In the first place since I graduated from National University it seems like I got an officetel with good security but isn’t that still the case?

“We need to talk.”

[With those people?]

“No with Liu Chengwu.”

The time is just right. This guy also just got home from a club meeting and is here.

I asked him as soon as he came out after washing up.

“Cheongwoo.”

“huh?”

“Aren’t you uncomfortable with those people? “I already have a seat at the agency’s dormitory so I think I’ll miss out if I go out for a while.”

However the guy frowned slightly and immediately answered:

“No that’s okay. More than that. “Are you sure you’re okay?”

“hmm.”

What are you talking about?

“…It’s not a good feeling to be misunderstood by strangers.”

Oh is that the story?

It looks like this guy also watched episode 3 alone. And I think I also looked at the comments while I was there.

‘I am indeed.’

I’m curious how you would react if you found out that you had appeared in such a program yourself.

I just laughed.

“The broadcast goes through the hands of many people but it is inevitable that it will be misunderstood in the process. “You might get criticized more than if you made a mistake.”

“…”

“But you also get greater recognition. “We can prove it more properly.”

I make eye contact with Liu Chengwu. I nodded.

“I like this job. Especially when I go on stage.”

“…I see.”

The guy let out an inexplicable sigh and soon recovered his smile.

“Then it’s something to celebrate. “My brother found something to be passionate about.”

As we are doing this it really feels like we are just saying good things to each other as a family.

I put off my strange feeling and sat down.

“thanks.”

“Why are you cheering up bro?”

I bumped fists with the guy. Liu Chengwu asks as if he just remembered something.

“Hyung do you have plans for tomorrow? Or would you like a drink?”

“hmm. “I think I should go out.”

“Are you working again?”

“yes.”

In a sense it’s similar.

[Uh oh finally??]

‘okay.’

I waved to Liu Chengyu who entered his room and finally called up the window.

There will be no need to delay any longer.

[Colleague: Would you like to awaken Sejin Lee?]

-Use Exp 1000

Bae Se-jin’s awakening.

This time I pressed the button without hesitation.

Light explodes.

[Leap towards emergency…]

“after.”

It’s okay to fail. The reputation level is sufficient so push it until you reach it…

[First awakening successful!]

yes!

Still it’s refreshing that this doesn’t explode and works consistently well.

With my fists clenched I tried to check Bae Se-jin’s status on my colleague list.

…even if this didn’t pop up.

[Colleague: Sejin Lee Event Occurs!!]

[Lee Se-jin realized… Σ(ㅇㅁㅇ)]

what?

Soon the pop-up shakes and an effect like golden fireworks shakes the pop-up.

[Colleague name change event completed!]

[Lee Se-jin → Bae Se-jin]

“…”

Instead of thinking about anything else I should just pick up my contact information and contact them.

* * *

“Actor here…”

“thank you.”

Sejin Lee willingly accepted the bottle of water offered by the staff.

The manager also disappeared somewhere and has not been seen for several hours.

Thanks to this his return home was delayed but he calmly accepted the situation.

‘I don’t even have any expectations.’

As long as you can work that’s enough. And there was enough work.

He spent some time reviewing the content he filmed tomorrow…

What is this?

“Wook!”

“…Mr. Sejin?”

Sejin Lee lowered her head.

My head pounded and my vision returned with a tingling sensation…

And it is revealed.

‘what.’

It’s not that something unfamiliar has been forced into my head.

It's just that a lot of information was clearly revealed in my brain as if a veil had been lifted or glasses had been put on.

Monologues conversations and thoughts.

events.

-Why on earth did 'Azusa' come out?

-I want to continue but… no.

-My older brother is changing his name to my mother's last name.

-This is Bae Se-jin from Testa. Please take good care of today's photoshoot!

It's overwhelming for a while.

But as time passes that clarity becomes truly and firmly established in your mind.

"…"

Lee Se-jin no Bae Se-jin the person who has now recovered his identity staggered to his feet.

"Are you okay?"

"yes."

There is no pain.

He sat back down without making any excuses to the staff.

No to be precise I don't have time to explain. I had no idea what the hell this was.

'Why am I here? In fact it's even weirder that I'm not here… But.'

In the end it was after the manager returned that the ego that did not fit reality was able to organize itself and establish its own identity.

And at this point Park Moon-dae was receiving absurd news.

In the Communication tab of the status window.

[Bae Se-jin has no contact information yet…]

“under.”

He looked at his colleague Bae Se-jin’s blank contact information and made a clear decision.

‘does not exist? Then you can make it.’

I decided to go find it in person.

Chapter 382

To find out Bae Se-jin's current situation… Surprisingly just one Internet search is enough.

'Lee Se-jin.'

Your profile will already appear at the top.

-Lee Se-jin (movie actor)

Latest Filmography: Seahorse (20XX.12. 15.)

This guy is a movie star with a high reputation right now.

If you check the entire filmography you will be connected to a prominent line-up with no sales below 2 million.

At this rate anyone who watches movies would have heard this guy's name at least once.

[Oh but you didn't film a drama?]

Probably on purpose. It seems like he has managed his work thoroughly since becoming a child actor.

Of course the name value is high. Considering the current situation where actors are valued over idols he is almost like a tester.

It seems like a situation with nothing to regret but… the next item in the filmography is the problem.

-Agency: Dream K Company

This guy is still under his old agency. These are the people who lower the price of a child actor by starting rumors during the contract renewal season.

‘It looks like X.’

Here instead of complaining to the agency and taking a break it seems that he received work immediately after briefly reorganizing after his child role.

A career that has been solidly built in lieu of a long hiatus.

And although the actor is a mystic his agency is working hard to sell the name ‘Lee Se-jin’ in the media and social media.

I smoothed my chin.

‘It’s easy.’

[yes?]

So this means that schedule security is lax.

There are few people like idols who sit in front of their dorms or agencies so the information hurdle is low.

‘It’s rice.’

I browsed Dream K’s official SNS.

Then we found the employee’s personal Inheart account using the keywords extracted from there compared and searched them in date order and came to a conclusion.

‘Bae Se-jin is currently filming some kind of next project.’

And although it has been anonymized looking at the frequency with which the person presumed to be Bae Se-jin is indirectly mentioned on employee SNS…

[Oh I guess you're at the company often.]

right. Especially when Bae Se-jin is active mentions pop up. It's almost as if I'm leaving work after completing my schedule.

So even now when I'm not filming there's a very high probability that I'm at work.

"hmm."

So the very next morning after waking up Bae Se-jin I took a quick shower took a hat and mask and left the officetel.

Of course I didn't just believe in probability.

[Bae Se-jin: Looking at the boss who is pointing (` ㅅ ´+)]

I checked the status once and for all.

Then the route will roughly look like this.

'After finishing filming early in the morning you got in your car and went into the building to meet the boss?'

Where is the boss? It must be in the company building.

Looking at this the probability that he is in the company is quite high.

[Then… shall we go?]

"okay."

Let's check it out for ourselves.

His company was located in a corner of Gangnam.

It is not a fancy headquarters building like large idol agencies. It is a 4-story old building with no signboard.

So security is not that tight on the first floor.

I think they'll just leave a sign on the back door where the people who manage the building come in and out that say 'No entry except for authorized personnel.'

'Is that it?'

As I was waiting at the right location a truck stopped and people in uniform came in and out of the back door.

I looked at the timing and naturally moved in that direction. A movement that could be misunderstood as a service job carrying luggage.

Then the big moon pop-up appears shaking slightly.

[That brother. If this is caught as trespassing… won't there be a problem?]

'It's okay as long as it goes into Bae Se-jin's ears but it doesn't matter because it goes in unconditionally.'

This is done out of fear that the entrance will be cut or that LeTi's rookie visit to this agency will be treated as an official visit.

Isn't this the agency's building not another company's building? It's better to get caught.

'Because I'm also half a public figure.'

Here you can see the benefits of becoming famous through idol survival broadcasts.

No entry except for those involved? Just saying you are an official is enough.

Since he is a known person with a similar job if he says that he is an acquaintance of 'Lee Se-jin' and made an appointment to meet him quietly I will most likely believe him.

‘No whether you believe it or not you just need to be able to get into Bae Se-jin’s ears.’

The fact that he awakened and changed his name to Bae Se-jin clearly means that he found his memories from the time of Testa.

Then even if you are embarrassed by this strange situation you will try to meet a stranger who appears out of nowhere.

‘But the worst thing is… the agency cuts me off without even hearing a word.’

The problem is that assuming that there is no contact information for Bae Se-jin that possibility is not out of the question.

Tuk.

I walked through the emergency door on the outside of the first floor went into the bathroom and hid myself in the cubicle.

I was planning to check whether Bae Se-jin had left the company in the meantime and then draw his movements…

bang!

Meanwhile the bathroom door opens violently and I hear the sound of someone trotting in.

‘There’s no way the security team has already arrived.’

Sure enough I can just hear the sound of the sink being used. I shrugged and checked the road status window…

[Bae Se-jin: Washing face with cold water (＃ㅅ＃)＝3]

“…”

no way.

I first opened the door carefully.

Squeak.

Then I see a man standing at the sink.

The guy in a suit is lowering his head and pouring cold water on his face.

And the moment you raise your head your face is reflected in the mirror.

“…!”

This is Bae Se-jin.

The style of the guy who wore a suit without dyeing his hair or wearing contact lenses was clearly meant for an actor.

‘It’s like this again.’

There is a memory that comes to mind right away.

For some reason I always see Ryu Geon-woo in front of the sink with this guy.

-Are you Sejin Lee? sorry. I was surprised because I am a fan.

It was a strange thing. But there is no time to waste in appreciation.

After confirming that there was no one else in the bathroom I spoke to Bae Se-jin.

“hello.”

“yes.”

From the moment I came out of the booth the guy with mysterious eyes immediately took control of his expression. Indeed he is an actor.

“I’m a fan.”

“Well thank you. “Are you a new employee?”

When I saw that the guy was getting nervous I struck the final blow.

“That’s not it. “I am a fan of Testa Bae Se-jin.”

“…!”

The reaction came out right away.

“Who are you?”

Bae Se-jin immediately became sharper.

It looks like he’s going to grab me by the collar at any moment or quickly block the bathroom.

Is direct ball the answer after all?

I opened my mouth right away.

“That’s Park Mun-dae. brother.”

“…!?”

Tuk.

Something falls behind Bae Se-jin.

When I looked down it looked like a ballpoint pen.

I think it was probably a tape recorder.

“Bar Parkmun…”

“yes. “It happened like this.”

I guess I should get to the point before this guy freaks out any further.

* * *

Unfortunately it was impossible to take this guy to any suitable restaurant or cafe.

Both of them are selling their faces too much and this guy’s current situation.

“It’s hard to leave this building.”

“What on earth is going on?”

“…There is something like that. Anyway where did you leave your body and are you there…!”

I don’t know if he really believes it or if he’s just pretending to believe it but I think it’s significant that Bae Se-jin is also ready to question me.

“actually.”

“actually?”

“I was originally born with this body. “Park Moon-dae has a new body.”

It was bullshit but because of the situation Bae Se-jin’s shaken face turned pale.

“Are you really a ghost…?”

“no.”

wait for a sec.

There is no particular difference in the proposition that it is attached to someone else's body after death.

[Because it's different! It's completely different!]

"No. When I think about it it seems similar…"

"Turn it off."

If you do well you'll be able to move on. I corrected my words.

"Anyway I was living in Park Mun-dae right before I participated in 'Azusa'. "It wasn't a choice I made willingly."

"…Are you saying it was the same situation as now? "The world has just changed like this…"

"It might be similar. Anyway the Park Moon-dae you know was me from the beginning… Even if you don't believe it there's nothing we can do."

However the ship whose face changed color

Sejin had a surprising reaction to these words.

He opened his mouth sighed four or five times and then answered like this.

"…know. "You've never changed."

"…thank you." "

Even the acting didn't feel too bad.

"But I won't let this go! "This situation doesn't make any sense right now and even you… explain it in detail!"

Even if I wanted to explain it in more detail.

"…In the company restroom?"

"…"

The guy sighed and motioned to me.

"Follow me."

And the place where Bae Se-jin took me was the company warehouse near the emergency exit on the third floor.

'Denga is like a place I often come to when I want to be alone.'

The movements seemed familiar.

Sweet.

The guy who closed the door hardens his expression and speaks seriously.

"…No one will come for a while. "Now tell me."

"yes."

I nodded and began to explain the situation so far as succinctly as possible.

"therefore…

'I can't get used to it no matter how much I try.'

Still the story is quite smooth as it was done once with Cha Yu-jin.

Bae Se-jin's face turned black then white and then yellow.

But in the end it turned red.

I understand the first part but why the last part?

“So… are you that person?”

“yes?”

“Well… Mr. Ryu Geon-woo. “I cheered you on!”

Ah that.

‘This guy didn’t have a strange expression for no reason.’

Although he was a bit mixed up with Park Moon-dae he seemed to recognize Ryu Geon-woo back then from this face. I stroked the back of my neck and opened my mouth.

“…Yes but I didn’t intentionally try to deceive you. “It really meant support.”

Bae Se-jin hurriedly holds out his hand.

“ “No thank you…… wait. But you were Park Mun-dae at the time and the time isn’t right…??”

“It’s also complicated.”

I never thought I’d say this. I briefly explained the story of the real Park Moon Dae Geundal.

The big moon was surprisingly excited and meddled from time to time.

[So please tell me that I passed the civil service exam thanks to you!]

And surprisingly Bae Se-jin was not overwhelmed by this unrealistic situation. However like Cha Yu-jin he did not fully understand the situation.

On the contrary his face became increasingly serious and he began to offer various analyses.

Your humanities knowledge stands out.

“You know what it’s called a time paradox? “I think your situation is similar to that…”

“Then isn’t this situation like some kind of mock test? “It’s similar to reality but with a less difficult feel.”

“Maybe something like virtual reality. There’s a movie. Like the Matrix…”

I answered all these words as sincerely as I could.

But the bottom line is this.

“I don’t know. “I’m just guessing.”

Unknown.

“Anyway I’m betting that we can return to the structure so far… and we’re in the process.”

“…From an idol to a grand prize.”

“yes.”

“…okay. “That makes sense.”

Bae Se-jin took a short deep breath. I guess I’ve been hearing too many crazy things so I’m running low on capacity.

And perhaps because of that Bae Se-jin also says something similar.

“Then we’ll go back to reality anyway so this is like a dream.”

“yes.”

“good.”

“…?”

what.

“Wait. “I’m going to come with a huge crushing blow.”

“yes?”

“This agency!”

Bae Se-jin spoke with burning eyes.

“It’s not real anyway but it’s good. “This is a mess and a mess and we need to see a proper legal solution.”

“uh…”

Of course I have no intention of stopping him.

“But if acting here is fun wouldn’t it be okay to have some fun?”

When you were a testa your personal activities were put on hold and you had little chance of building a career in acting.

Before I go back I think it would be quite beneficial to experience the environment here for practice and check my future personal activity plans.

However Bae Se-jin is unstoppable.

“Acting is good! But not this.”

“why.”

The guy clenched his fists.

“These bastards always force the same character…!”

“…”

“Here I am playing similar psychopath roles for four years now. Even when I look at it there are no bone bones!”

“hmm.”

Yeah I might be pissed.

‘Lee Se-jin’ is a famous actor in name and reality so it makes no sense for him to not be able to choose a scenario as he pleases.

‘Isn’t it normal to be able to throw out scenarios and abuse people?’

Isn’t this pure unfair treatment?

So it suddenly comes to mind.

“Brother I can’t believe you don’t have any contact information…”

“…! How did you know… That’s right. “They talk about mental management and don’t even let these kids use their personal smartphones.”

Bae Se-jin muttered with a cold face.

“Why are you treating me as someone with limited abilities?”

Civil law terms come up and it seems like you’ve been thinking about the past and defining them since you became a testa.

“…I think it must have been difficult.”

“Actually it didn’t matter much as long as I could act. “Looking at public opinion the schedule is not as brutal as when I was young and the payment is enough for my mother to live well…”

The guy's face became blurred and then his eyes lit up.

And then you clench your fist.

"But since I am who I am there is no need to endure this any longer no matter how unreal it may be."

"Of course."

The guy coolly declares.

"I'll leave everything behind! "Are you preparing to become an idol now?"

"Yes that is true."

I talked about LeTi's survival in moderation. Bae Se-jin nodded and shouted as if he had made up his mind.

"I'll go out there too!"

hmm.

"Wouldn't it be difficult?"

"why!"

"You're 25 years old."

"…"

That's right.

Bae Se-jin 25 years old and the oldest among those checked so far lowered his head as his face turned red.

'Is it inevitable that you have to be a certain age to succeed as an actor rather than a child actor?'

By the time the brief speculation passed.

“…Are you that old to be that idol? “When we did ‘Azusa’ there were contestants of similar age.”

“yes. “It’s not that kind of problem.”

I explained slowly.

“Since my older brother has already accumulated a lot of experience as an actor at his age it means that the public will have unnecessary opposition to my older brother who appeared on an idol program.”

This means that it is a problem because he is a 25-year-old actor who has achieved a lot.

At its peak. Unless Bae Se-jin is overwhelmingly better at idolizing than acting it will only be a pain.

If you’re going to return to reality there’s no need to endure that kind of pain.

Bae Se-jin who was groaning eventually sighed and admitted.

“…You’re right.”

“hmm…”

However it appears that they have given up on supporting fire.

The guy clenches his fists.

“Then I’ll push you properly.”

“yes?”

An ambitious smile appears on the guy’s face and then disappears.

“Anyway if your hypothesis is right there’s no need to worry about the long-term future or my influence here.”

“That’s right.”

The guy laughs lowly.

“I… in reality there are more than one or two types of corruption at this agency that I have found out about so far.”

no way.

“I’m going to hire a lawyer and push them. Let’s see if you can act shamelessly even when your weaknesses are discovered. “Instead of not going out I will fix it properly!”

The guy’s eyes sparkle with a passion for cider. That’s right… It’s not an idol or an actor who is openly fighting over public opinion but it’s about correcting the boss’s habits.

“I will support that.”

“okay!”

The guy looked proud but now he even made a suggestion with an excited face.

“Once that’s over… I’ll have a say in my activities. “Then shall we open a social media site and ask you to vote?”

“no.”

Those are scary words.

After discussing the issue of fairness for a while he postponed the matter until after his debut.

‘There is no such thing as a runaway locomotive.’

Bae Se-jin who does not worry about the future has become like a cider protagonist.

“Then you…”

And the moment when the story about the current situation continues.

Grumble-.

My smartphone rang.

“Oh I have to buy it too.”

“I’ll give you my number first.”

And that was when I opened my smartphone.

There was a text message.

-hello. This is Sejin Lee Jairop! Are you Ryu Geon-woo from Wise? (smiling emoticon)

“…”

okay.

This is the guy I was supposed to contact after filming was over.

Bae Se-jin who was watching from the side is pleased.

“…! Did you find Lee Se-jin too? “Then he remembers it too right?”

I opened my mouth slowly.

“no.”

“We met by chance but there is still no way to return my memories.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin lost his momentum. And then he stood next to me as if to quietly comfort me.

“I was closest to you. “With Lee Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun…”

And then he carefully asks if he realized something while he was talking.

“Have you seen the news about Sun Ah-hyun?”

I nodded slowly. Bae Se-jin seemed to be fidgeting and then he patted my back with a big motion like a big man.

Tuk-tuk!

“No… just get on the caravan and go back! You’re so good at making plans like this… We will do well!”

“…yes.”

I sat quietly with Bae Se-jin in the warehouse for a while longer. It’s funny but it makes me feel a little more at ease.

And after some time.

“I think he’ll come looking for me soon… I’ll contact you right away when I get your number. “I’m going to make it today.”

“Are you okay?”

Bae Se-jin snorted.

“Once they make it what can they do?”

And that afternoon.

A new group message room has been opened.

[Tester / 3 people]

The first person to post was not me but Cha Yu-jin.

-Cha Yu-jin: Do you have Bae Se-jin? WOOOOW

-Bae Se-jin: (Greeting hamster emoticon)

-Bae Se-jin: You seem to be doing well. I heard that Ravin is doing well.

-Cha Yujin: YEEESSS (sunglasses emoticon)

Somehow I felt like I was back in time.

-Cha Yu-jin: Let's add members quickly!

He even posted a notice.

[Take your 7 STAR! Cheer up!]

I looked at that phrase which felt like I hadn't seen it in a long time and typed the key slowly.

-Then (dog emoticon raising both arms)

Even though there were less than half of the people it wasn't a bad feeling to have a shape.

Not long after episode 4 of "Wise" was successfully aired and new filming was just around the corner.

"Hyung filming starts today right?"

"okay."

“Goodbye take care… I’ll see you soon.”

I left the officetel again and headed to the filming location.

And you will encounter the most competitive rules in this entire survival program.

Chapter 383

The filming day for LeTi's return of the in-house survival program 〈Wise〉.

The atmosphere has changed a bit.

'Slowly the outline of the list of debutants is coming out.'

Just by looking at the greeting given by the CEO before filming you can get a rough idea of the angle.

"You're doing great. "Let's make it a little more challenging."

"yes!"

The criterion is not how positive it is.

"Jaehyun be especially careful not to overdo your vocal practice."

"I will take note."

How specific is it?

How much do you care?

It's a level that people who started their social life early while working as trainees can naturally smell it.

"Hey… Your piercing looks really cool today."

"…? Thank you for your generous words!"

Thanks to this the contestants began to secretly talk to Kim Rae-bin who was virtually declared the president's pick saying 'I think she will adapt really well to this agency in all aspects.'

'It's kind of interesting that the composition is so different from 'Azusa'.'

And me.

"Have you prepared your mind? "I'll see you at the podium."

"yes."

This is another high praise.

The cameras were turned off for those who were eliminated but they couldn't say such cruel things. Thank you for letting me know in advance that you passed.

"Recording starts~"

This filming began with the announcement of the division into honors and inferiors from the previous evaluation into a winning group and a losing group.

"Phew…"

"thank you!"

A intersection of joy and sorrow.

However the most bloody content is scheduled for the next step.

Announcement of eliminated candidates.

They called me and another guy who was an 'outlier' to the podium.

"Only those who are already inferior and have done much better than the 14 people standing over there can survive. And that person…"

The president skillfully takes his time and then speaks with a stern expression.

“Ryu Geon-woo.”

“It’s over.”

The contestant who lost to Kim Rae-bin left the show.

The atmosphere has cooled but the president doesn’t seem to have any intention of warming things up with words of gratitude.

He said this to me too.

“The moment you find yourself in a position of exclusion again you will not be able to avoid elimination. “Do it with all your might.”

Also if you go outside it just means that you are left behind.

“I’ll keep that in mind.”

Welcome.

Then I won’t try to set a disadvantageous situation and cause me to be left out. No matter how I look at it the boss doesn’t seem to want to make me drop out.

‘This is proof that the production team will not resort to modifications in the next performance mission.’

Thank you so much.

I bowed my head. And I checked the current number of people.

Except for one guy who had a bad attitude on the stage just before and the CEO had him drop out…

’15 people.’

Since the number of people in this performance has actually increased compared to the first time I think there will be another person eliminated from this performance. We need to select a few more people so there will be more tension.

That was the moment I thought about it.

“But every event and performance has a maximum capacity… No more than 14 people.”

What?

“Therefore when an inferior member is revived the one with the lowest achievement so far among the existing members will be eliminated.”

now?

And the president called several members of the inferior class and listed their pros and cons and said this.

“＜Inferior Class＞ participant Park Jong-hoon has been eliminated.”

“…”

Sudden announcement of additional eliminated candidates.

The person called stumbles at the shocking result and the participants standing around cover their mouths.

It really gives me a sense of tension.

“Please leave now. “Participant Ryu Geon-woo can return to his/her seat.”

“…yes.”

It seems that this is why they sent the outsider away at once instead of creating a warm atmosphere.

To keep the atmosphere so dangerous.

‘I had some fun with it being a hot topic.’

As he gained popularity for being cruel he must have developed a desire to become even more extremely cruel. It wasn’t a very good thing.

‘In the end even if it’s not ‘Azusa’ will survival continue to follow this trend?’

Towards the schema where something so cruel that it breaks the kids’ mentality is exciting and intense.

‘It tastes a little bitter… but it’s nothing bad to me.’

I waited for the guy to make room then carefully entered the empty seat in the inferior class and stood.

The guys standing next to me were frozen with faces that were neither welcoming nor sad. Let’s keep our mouths shut with similar faces.

‘Blocking the pod.’

And when I turn my head all the guys I was on the team with before are all in the debut group. Because Chaeyul’s Sinnoh team also won.

I nodded inwardly.

‘The composition is good too.’

In the interview it was roughly ‘Weren’t you worried about being the only one in the inferior class?’ I think questions like this will come up. The extra amount of aggro is sweet.

“Thank you for your hard work.”

After the bloody ranking and announcement of eliminated candidates the lights go out on the stage. Microphone recording was also cut off.

“I’m glad bro.”

However the camera was still running and the quick-witted cub immediately started managing the image.

Cheongnyeo.

“brother!”

“Thank you for your hard work!”

I looked at the other guys running along with me as if I was half-heartedly welcoming them and asked Cheongryeo in a low voice.

‘The progress is quite cruel. ‘I heard it wasn’t done this way before.’

‘I see. The way I express myself has become a little more vulgar than before. The water level is high too.’

And he smiled and put his arm around me as if encouraging me.

‘People will like it. Right?’

‘…’

Anyway he has an excellent knack for talking about similar ideas like trash.

Anyway the production team probably thought they had put too much pressure on the participants so they lightened the mood a bit in the next content.

An event follows to adjust the pace by changing the program to a softer and more exciting tone.

It was the time last time when I was excluded because I was ‘out of the league’ and only did housework.

‘Last time it was a public service announcement… this time?’

It was a pictorial for the album concept photo.

There are seven concepts.

“Now let’s discuss and choose the concept you want!”

There are conflicting opinions and arguments for concessions. Since many of us already knew each other passing things on under the guise of recommendations is happening here and there.

me?

“I’m fine with anything. I haven’t taken pictures of everything so I don’t have any likes or dislikes. “It all looks interesting and good.”

“Oh! “If you say that…”

How many photo concepts has Testa Park Moon-dae taken so far? Would you be picky here?

It doesn’t matter what I get. All you have to do is coolly give in and take good pictures.

however…

“yes! “Press to reveal the inside of your mouth a little more.”

“…”

Me too… I didn’t know that the concept with the keyword ‘Tooth’ was a vampire.

Who is this bastard who put such an irrational concept in a survival game that hasn’t even debuted yet? I understand why VTIC was disbanded in the first edition.

Still I didn’t think I couldn’t film it because I had time and the reviews were very good.

The interview was also handled well.

“I just took pictures. It feels different now that it has become a full-fledged subject. Still I remembered the experience I had when I was filming… and tried my best to film.”

‘I am a college student in the photography club’ Metada.

Well isn’t this a fresh and good story?

It may look a bit heinous but that doesn’t mean I can say something crazy like ‘Haha I’m tired of filming this kind of thing’ so I chose the next best option.

“Do you think the photos will all turn out great? Thank you all for your hard work. “I had fun filming today!”

“Wow!”

Anyway as the event ended with a glimmer of warmth restored… that very night the performance mission hit hard.

‘It’s merciless.’

“〈Wise〉. This is already our 4th performance. “This theme which requires you to show more progress is…”

Now the president made the announcement with the participants feeling nervous as if they were going to act every time they were called to the stage.

“It’s a ‘fight for position.’”

“…!”

“scramble…?”

As expected the big picture remains the same. The main process I heard from Cheongryeo has not yet gone astray.

So for example this is what the battle for that position means.

-The next content is a group performance of a new song and there is a preliminary competition to decide which part to play.

And the position to be contested is revealed on the electronic display board.

[Vocal A Vocal B]

[Dance A Dance B Dance C]

[Lap A Lap B]

The part is divided into a total of seven sections.

And the boss calls the honors class.

“After looking at the pictorials you took a private evaluation panel conducted a vote. “The honors class has the authority to select parts in the order in which they receive the most votes.”

“iced coffee…”

The first name is called between the thoughtful guy and the guy whose expression brightens.

It’s an obvious appointment.

“Shin Jaehyun.”

The guy bows his head once in humility stands up and immediately moves on.

[Dance A]

Next is Cha Yu-jin.

The members who were called one by one take the remaining seats one by one after much deliberation.

And looking at all the positions filled the president nods and says this.

“Now each of you in the honors class has full authority to set the stage for this position competition.”

“…!”

“Which song to choose and what kind of performance to perform are all personal choices.”

In short it means ‘Do whatever you want on stage.’

And at this time the seven students from the inferior class are put on the stage created by the honors class as challengers.

“Try to steal the stage sometime.”

So now the total number of people is still 14 so don’t you think we should stick to each other one on one?

no.

“You can apply no matter how many applicants there are for the part you want. but…”

No matter how many people fight and what happens… there is only one winner.

-Only one person who wins can perform the new song.

Nervous contestants look at each other as they watch their parts.

‘They haven’t even told me the specific parts of the new song anyway.’

In the end the most important thing is who you stick with.

Of course here too the order is the same as the pictorial vote.

“The first contestant to choose a position in the inferior class is… Ryu Geon-woo.”

And number 1 is me.

‘oh.’

Head what are you admiring? It’s even weirder if you can’t beat young guys who haven’t even debuted 5 years ago.

‘If I couldn’t do it I would have had my head pierced.’

Instead I nodded once and looked at the president.

“Please come out and choose your part.”

okay. i get it.

I quickly shook my head.

‘Usually the standard for alphabetical order is… ’

Is it about the order of appearance and level of difficulty?

‘But Cheongnyeo chose dance A… D.’

In that case the probability that the vocalist will have more impactful parts on the A side is slightly higher.

‘Still.’

I moved my feet without hesitation.

And stood.

“…!!”

[Vocal B]

There is no other reason.

Aren't there specific factors to consider right now?

'competitor.'

That's because the guy in the honors class who was the best singer here besides me chose this.

"Contestant Ryu Geon-woo from the inferior class will compete with Choi Tae-jun from the honors class for 'Vocal B'."

Taejun Choi. His stage name when he debuted was Bihan.

How do you know?

'Because I'm the one who sold data.'

That's because he is the former main vocalist of VTIC who was lost in the club incident.

After renewing his contract he was let go due to an incident but since he was the main vocalist of a first-tier idol for 7 years until then he is not an ordinary guy.

But if I were to point out this guy…

'It will definitely look challenging.'

And if he even wins the narrative of this survival contestant Ryu Geon-woo will gain momentum once more.

'It's about halfway through the program. I need to get the flow back.'

I politely bowed my head to the former main vocalist of VTIC.

“i look forward to.”

“…Um yeah.”

The guy nodding his head hesitantly… Well I guess I’ll just call him Club Mebo or Jeon Mebo. Anyway the guy tries to smile.

I stood next to him.

And I watched the situation unfold slowly. Inferior classes choose their parts one by one.

“I’ll do vocal A…!”

It may be obvious but even though you can enter any part without quota most people point to the remaining team that has only one member from the “honors class.”

‘Because everyone calculates probability.’

However despite this there are teams that cannot point out even though there is only one person who feels that it is suicidal.

“There are currently no challengers for <Dance A>.”

This is ‘Dance A’ with Shin Jae-hyun.

‘I know my skills very well.’

Since they are trainees at the same agency they know each other well so they have enough information so they are good at looking at each other and taking care of themselves.

‘Hmm.’

I saw Shin Jae-hyun standing in front of the position display board without any competition.

And this point is the difference from the flow that Cheongryeo announced in advance.

That's the original format. One from the 'honor class' and one from the 'low grade class'. One-on-one match.

Originally this was a one-on-one setup with no byes or anything like that.

And in my opinion even if you can give up on one-on-one matches there is no way they will give you a bye in the survival stage.

Then there must be other factors.

-There are some variables this time right?

What could it be?

"Of course not like this. "There is another competitor."

"iced coffee…"

"no way."

"That's right… the viewer supplementary group."

"…!!"

okay. It was recruiting new participants with an advertisement at the end of the program.

The president speaks as if making a sentence while looking at the participants who are reacting softly without realizing it.

"Please come out."

phut!

With small fireworks meaningful BGM plays and another electronic display board opens.

‘You can use it quickly.’

In fact if it is delayed any further the fan base of the participants will become fixed and the feeling that supplementary classes are too much of an obstacle will become too strong.

I nodded inwardly and clasped my hands behind my back as if I was listening to the president.

“Don’t think about the last remedial class. “These participants are selected from a larger pool of people across the country after fully experiencing the rigors of this program.”

They give a nice compliment to the people they hired at a loss in just a week.

Even if you say it like that the probability of a really great guy coming is infinitely low.

‘I guess I’ll just check the stats and pass it on.’

I looked at the figures emerging from beyond the dry ice without any emotion.

There are 7 other people and there is no one that really stands out… Wait.

“…!”

When the smoke clears and the human image is revealed there is a familiar face in the very center that I have seen for years.

Recently we are even sleeping together…

[Ryu Ryu Cheong-woo!]

why are you there

I tried not to open my mouth… For a moment the camera caught me in close-up. You all know that these bastards are related to me.

‘No fuck.’

What on earth is going on?

Liu Chengwu is smiling slightly as if he is a little embarrassed. It seems awkward because it is my first time on a stage like this.

“The supplementary class holds a sign for the part they chose.”

I lowered my head reflexively.

The sign he picked out in advance…

[Vocal B]

“…”

This is my position stage.

[I ruined it…]

Be quiet.

Chapter 384

30 minutes after Liu Chengwu suddenly appeared on the <Viewer Supplementary Group> from beyond the dry ice.

“Then I look forward to seeing you improve further in this performance.”

“yes!”

The addition of supplementary teams and team organization has been completed. And naturally a short movement and rest period before moving on to the practice part.

Of course the camera is following us tenaciously as if it will never miss the conversation between me and Ryu Cheong-woo.

Earlier when Ryu Cheong-woo was on <Vocal B> he did a lot of dialogue cuts so he was very greedy.

-… are you surprised?

-huh.

-many?

-huh.

Even if you don’t watch it it’s obvious how stupid he will look on the live broadcast.

And what might go in between them.

‘I’m going to give you a lot of interviews… ’

As expected the interview with the production team was scheduled first and the answers took longer than ever.

“Did you know in advance that Cheongwoo was participating? Even a signal? Oh you didn’t know at all?”

“I heard you two are living alone~”

“Mr. Cheongwoo is there anything you are looking forward to while participating?”

“On the other hand there may be some who say that we need to be careful about this aspect as a check. “You’ve become a competitor.”

I’m excited.

I expressed my confusion in a non-serious way and then gave a moderately gentle answer.

“We both have to do well so I think we should prepare harder for this stage.”

There is no need to attract more aggro or exaggerate it.

[Is that so?]

uh.

‘Because it’s going to go crazy the moment it airs anyway… ’

A relative of a gold medalist who goes to the same school suddenly appears? Fuck me I’ll watch it too.

I suppressed my silence and returned from the interview site to the practice room. And then he pointed to the next batter.

Liu Chengwu.

“The writer is calling you.”

“brother.”

I waved my hand at him and pretended to put down the note and showed him the sentence from the camera’s corner.

I should tell you this much.

– Just turn around and answer softly.

“…!”

Liu Chengwu nods slightly and leaves the practice room.

‘I don’t think I’ve noticed anything when I see that.’

What on earth is going on? Why does a guy who was doing well in college suddenly appear on a survival program?

‘…I didn’t even intentionally invite you.’

They seemed to get along very well and I thought he didn’t have the impression that this agency would like so I was going to leave him alone.

But why did you come out in person? Without saying a word.

“…”

[Hmm asking directly…]

No you can’t throw that kind of fastball when the camera is rolling. Once you add the BGM it is immediately used to edit the conflict section.

‘Later as gently as possible before bed.’

That’s what I concluded. And began to revise the strategy.

What should be done in an individual team that includes the variable of Ryu Cheong-woo.

* * *

Because the interview was long practice started a night late.

And Ryu Cheong-woo who returned from the interview seemed to have properly sensed the atmosphere of the broadcast and voluntarily paid his taxes in a shallow and gentle manner.

“I was going to tell you in advance but I suddenly got a call that morning that I was accepted… I didn’t tell you because I was afraid it might interfere with your condition.”

I’m taking this lightly.

I slapped him on the back and laughed.

“Okay okay.”

“…!”

“You’re not the type to recklessly try anything just because it looks fun. Of course I believe he will do it seriously.”

“…huh. of course. “I will.”

Liu Chengyu nodded with a faint smile.

If this is the case it will leave a warm feeling when combined with the interview.

Of course I added this comment anticipating reactions like ‘It’s competition but it’s not good to relax just because we’re related by blood.’

“Don’t look at me.”

“Haha okay.”

good. At this level I don’t have to worry about the camera.

And when the situation was settled another team member who was looking at us in a bit of confusion opened his mouth.

In fact he is the owner of this team’s performance. The former main vocalist of VTIC.

“Hmm… Now I want to tell you a little about the song. Are you okay?”

“Oh yeah. thank you.”

Just by looking at him he seemed a little annoyed as if he felt like he was being robbed of his screen time but he quickly calmed down as soon as the camera started rolling.

hmm.

‘It’s not that I don’t have a head.’

And we never ask for opinions on song selection and start with what has already been decided.

‘You’re trying to take the initiative.’

This guy is two years younger than me. Normally during a team game I would tell them to relax and talk comfortably but I kept leading them into mutual respect.

‘He has a good head and a strong sense of pride.’

Then the type of stage this guy will push is one thing.

“Anyway since this team had a lot of candidates for vocal positions we organized the stage mainly around vocals.”

“Oh yes.”

I thought so.

‘This kid isn’t very confident in his dancing.’

Even though I have been a trainee for 3 years my srat is at best C+. It means that it is at the same level as I was during <Azusa>.

What if you want to clearly show only your good skills? It’s right to choose a stage that maximizes only the vocals.

‘Because that guy’s vocals are A-.’

And he seems to believe that his vocal skills are similar to mine.

‘Then you’d think the decision would be made based on song selection.’

good. Do whatever you want. Coincidentally Ryu Cheong-woo also has similar dancing stats to that guy so the standard would be correct.

‘There won’t be much of a scene where Ryu Cheong-wu can’t keep up with the dance and makes a fuss.’

I brought up the status window of Ryu Chengwu in front of me.

[Name: Ryu Cheong-woo]

Singing: B (S-)

Dance: C+ (A)

Appearance: A- (A+)

Talent: B (A)

Trait: Full Draw (B)

Not bad. No to be honest it is remarkable that a college student received a report card like this.

‘If I were an employee of the agency I would have caught them somehow and made them sign a contract.’

…but still.

The problem is that I know Ryu Cheong-woo’s abilities from the real-life 5-year first-team idol tester.

Let’s compare.

[Name: Ryu Cheong-woo]

Singing: A (S-)

Dance: B+ (A)

Appearance: A- (A+)

Talent: A- (A)

Characteristic: Full Draw (S)

A perfect singing-oriented all-rounder.

A lead vocalist who would be good enough to be placed in the main role in another group and choreography perfection and talent that would be good enough to be placed in the center.

But right now Ryu Cheong-woo here probably hasn’t even practiced the basics. Aside from appearance her abilities have dropped by one or two levels compared to Azusa.

‘And the characteristics are also strange.’

I recalled the original Liu Chengwu’s characteristics.

[Full draw (S)]

-You will be in the correct position when you pull the protest.

: Performance equanimity +150%

It is a correction value that allows you to express exactly what you want and act naturally on stage.

In short a professional image.

This was definitely an overwhelming S from the time she appeared in "Azusa."

'Why is this guy here rated B?'

I thought this was definitely a trait I would have had from my archery days…

But there was no time to think further.

Because I'm filming.

Club Mebo who was looking at the lyrics spoke in a quiet voice.

"Then as for the part… First of all the rules are set."

"yes."

Let's deal with this bastard first.

I smiled inwardly and opened my mouth.

"Because there are rules."

I'm afraid I'll look selfish if I say it myself so I'm holding back on saying this.

I recalled the president's remarks.

-The 〈Honor Class〉 member who owns the song leads this song. Think of the remaining members as featuring.

"Of course you have to follow the rules. Taejun please sing half the song as the main song. You are the owner of this song. "We are challengers."

"Oh… no. "It's a stage we all make together so there are rules."

Yes try your best to show off your humble side. I know what kind of image you want to create but…

Then the initiative would have passed.

If you let others talk they will have the right to speak.

At best if you select the song well you can write it like this in the part. Rather do the opposite.

I like it.

"I think it would be good if you could sing the entire song. "You have to hold on to the performance."

"Yes… um. thank you."

I appropriately gave him the climax in all sections except the bridge. The guy quickly takes it away.

[Ugh I didn't give too much… Ah no that's not true! all right!]

Yes appropriate.

I smiled inwardly at the pop-up of the guy reading my thoughts and admiring me then took the remaining half of the part and waved it to Liu Chengwu.

“Is there a part you want to do?”

“Oh I want to call this place.”

The guy who didn’t participate in the conversation between me and Club Mebo and just nodded his head didn’t leave the room when questions were asked.

‘You’re just proactive in the areas you need.’

After hearing all of his opinions I immediately called Club Mebo.

“We’re thinking of taking exactly half of the remaining parts. Would that be okay?”

“yes? Oh of course it’s okay.”

I answered willingly but I know you’re not particularly interested. No matter who takes which part they have the advantage anyway.

‘I’m not really interested in criticizing others and improving overall quality.’

The mindset is that if you look good to others and don’t lose money the rest of you don’t care. I see how Cheongryeo has been controlling it for several years.

“yes. Please take care of me.”

From then on I continued to practice by posting club memos and deliberately did not make time to talk alone with Ryu Cheong-woo.

‘Because it’s difficult to frame it as two guys being friendly and alienating that guy.’

This means that I am not missing out on the pictures that are well taken care of by this club memo.

And Liu Chengwu followed the practice steadily without any opposition… but that was all.

[yes? Are you good at it?]

It's okay.

However since he is an ordinary person and is following a team situation where other people have all the authority this means that his impact is weak.

'hmm.'

…Now that Liu Chengwu has participated it would be a lie to say that I don't want to lead the team in some way.

But now it is realistically difficult to do anything other than somehow select this guy as a colleague and awaken him. Because the period is too short.

'Besides I don't know what this guy is thinking right now.'

"…"

There's no choice.

First of all I need to come up with a structure so that Ryu Cheong-woo can return home without being criticized and saying that he had a fresh experience.

[ah…]

I slowly adjusted my strategy by tapping the club memo and encouraging myself to modify the stage.

Three days passed like that.

As always when you are locked in a remote place like this and just practice time flies by.

And Liu Chengwu… Surprisingly his skills are improving at an inhumane rate.

[Cheongwoo's dance stat has become B-…?]

Does this make sense?

If I didn't know about this guy I would have treated the fact that he had never been a trainee as bullshit and doubted his past.

[…Wait a minute that's what my brother heard in <Azusa>…]

That's a status changer. Not Liu Chengwu.

'But… even then I don't think it's enough to push through and debut here.'

This is because a guy introduced in the mid to late game needs to be overwhelming to push him out.

When I hear a story about someone being vaguely recognized as a gold medalist and being brought up on a blood-related bus… I don't know if it would be okay for someone who is not awakened and has no trauma.

[ㅠㅠ]

I can't help it.

I quenched my appetite and started walking again.

I'm waking up this early in the morning and walking down the hallway to gather my thoughts.

As I am doing this I seem to remember the days when I was working hard while writing 'Sleep is when you die'…

[Hey there!]

hmm?

I can see the practice room with the lights still on. And that's the practice room I was using until just now.

'…no way.'

I grabbed the door handle and opened the sliding door.

Grumble.

"…!"

I immediately see the faces of my teammates.

This is Liu Chengwu covered in sweat.

"Aren't you sleeping?"

"Ah I guess I should do a little more."

It's 3 in the morning and the unmanned camera is out of battery and not working. This guy was still in the practice room.

"What about your brother?"

"I have something to think about."

For reference the club information disappeared exactly when the camera turned off. Seeing as they aren't even in the dorm I'm thinking about doing something with the other trainees.

"…"

Wait a minute how can this guy's skills improve so quickly… Was he doing this shit every morning? Do you believe in your own physical strength?

“Have you been doing this the whole time?”

“Hmm… I guess it’s a shame.”

“Take care of your stamina. Then if I can’t perform on the actual performance it won’t work out.”

“huh. “That’s how it should be.”

Ryu Cheong-wu answered obediently and lay down on the floor of the practice room. Even if you say something like that it seems like you have no intention of going back to your dorm.

‘I am indeed.’

I closed the door for now.

Then the guy who was lying down looking at the ceiling suddenly opens his mouth again.

“I’m sorry bro. “I didn’t apply to interfere with my brother’s performance.”

“…!”

“A writer recommended <Vocal B>… I should have thought more about it then. “It’s a broadcast.”

And then I realized.

‘The tone of speech has changed.’

I guess I was careful to only use informal language. I’m afraid that Ryu Geon-woo will be criticized if a person of the same age using polite language is broadcast.

“…I know that too so there’s no need to apologize.”

I quietly sat down next to him and asked.

“So how did I actually participate here?”

Did the production team at least pay tuition for you?

“that…”

Liu Chengwu answered slowly.

“Because you look a little different.”

I froze quietly.

But the guy took no notice and continued speaking.

“Do you remember how we made an alcohol-free calendar to celebrate the New Year?”

“…”

what.

“My brother didn’t tell me but I figured it out automatically when I saw the calendar posted on the refrigerator.”

Here I have no reason to stop drinking so why on earth would I do something like that… Anyway so this guy can’t believe it.

‘Do you doubt me?’

Liu Chengwu’s explanation did not end and I rolled over several possibilities in my head.

“But my brother drinks alcohol willingly…”

so.

“It seems like he doesn’t turn down a drink because it’s so hard but seeing him keep doing this makes me wonder if it’s just as much fun.”

“…!”

I recalled a pattern from several conversations I had with him.

Questions about idols.

-how is it?

-It’s fun. It’s the most rewarding thing I’ve ever done in my life.

Is that how you interpreted it?

“And this year it seems like my brother has changed a lot as he tries out a new field…”

He hesitated a little but continued.

“I think it felt a little… unfamiliar.”

“…”

“I’m also jealous”

what?

Liu Qingyu muttered lowly.

“Actually… I’m not sure why I quit archery.”

“…”

“Originally I thought I was going to die. I think I suddenly felt like it wouldn’t matter even if I couldn’t do it. maybe.”

I reflexively completed my inference from what he meant.

Originally Liu Chengwu was forced to quit archery after being injured crying and even breaking his bow.

‘But instead of the injury disappearing… ’

A gap was created.

And the most appropriate and reasonable reason was included.

“So I just… I thought I didn’t have to.”

“…”

I thought I was doing well in college but that was it.

‘after.’

And now the guy who impulsively jumped into the industry his relative is working in speaks with a firm voice.

“So it’s been a while since I’ve stayed up all night like this. This… I feel like it’s not enough right now but I like the feeling of improvement every time I do it. “It’s been a while since this happened.”

“…”

“I guess that’s why my brother said he liked it too. “I understand now.”

Liu Chengwu laughed briefly. I stayed silent for a while unable to answer and eventually asked:

“Do you want to win here?”

“huh?”

Do you want to continue?

Liu Chengwu looked a little embarrassed but soon burst into laughter.

“of course! “There is no one who wants to lose.”

And he adds in a fairly firm voice.

“Me too.”

I got up.

Actually I was planning to give Ryu Cheong-woo an appropriate position so that he would not be compared to anyone else and then take the head of the club memorabilia in the decisive part but…

I changed my mind a bit.

“okay.”

I need to revise my plan.

I gave the lyrics to Club Mebo before going to the trainer the next day.

There is a new notation on the paper.

“Well if this performance is structured like this anyway… I would like to supplement it in a way that improves the level of stage perfection.”

“yes?”

He glanced at the new gasa paper as if it were annoying but the moment he checked the notation his concentration came back.

And what escapes my eyes uncontrollably is… greed.

‘yes.’

“And… I think this will emphasize Taejun’s stage more. Because that fits the theme of the performance. “What would you think?”

“ah”

This guy knows too. It is better for the picture to decline this a few times.

However I am only presenting an opinion not making an argument.

The moment you reject someone you will turn around and say 'Is that so?' without any regrets.

And he couldn't stand it.

"Umm… yes yes. "If only for the sake of completeness."

good. You asked.

[Huh then does Cheongwoo absolutely have the ability to defeat this person?]

That's not it.

I calculated calmly.

Due to the nature of this in-house survival…

'I guess I'll have to open the lid to find out.'

[ㅠㅠ But I still want to have hope…]

That's personal freedom.

But I decided not to look at the situation too optimistically.

'Even if it's the worst I won't be criticized.'

At this time I didn't know that the proposition that I had already felt since 〈Azusa〉 would work this time as well.

as soon as…

Ryu Cheong-woo has never suffered a loss in a survival program.

Dress rehearsal right before the stage.

The boss speaks as if making a sentence.

“Among those who are unable to perform the new song there will always be those who are eliminated. And it may not necessarily be just one person.”

“…!”

This means that we will begin reducing the number of employees in earnest.

And this time I think that the mentality of those who prepared as much as possible to not even dream about the survival of the entire team is broken…

The next words continue.

“And I am not the judge of performance.”

no way.

“The public is the harshest critic. “This is the audience’s vote.”

“…”

I clenched my fist briefly.

won

Chapter 385

LeTi's survival program 〈Wise〉 invited 500 audience members to this performance.

The applicants were not selected by lottery like regular entertainment audiences. People have been invited from a university high school and hospital of a specific corporation.

The president proudly said that it was to ensure the objectivity of the evaluation team but there were people who benefited from it.

'oh my god!'

High school students who like to watch idols clenched their hands pretending not to be teachers.

'Oh I couldn't come to see this because I was afraid my face would be sold… What's going on?'

During my school days I passionately liked an idol but even now several years after I defected from the idol that passion is still alive and burning.

'It's a miscellany but… '

That's right. She liked all kinds of idols!

Thanks to this I was able to enjoy LeTi's survival program without being overly immersed and focusing on moderate interest.

Right now I'm even guessing about today's stage after watching all 5 episodes that aired yesterday.

'Since it came out right before the team match will there be another individual match?'

At the same time I naturally think of the most powerful solo exhibition stage.

The Shin Jae-hyun VS Cha Yu-jin death match from episode 4 that aired last week.

-torn

-Wow these guys are really the boss. I understand why the boss pass is so ridiculous. They can't even send me away;;

-Honestly if it was a regular server look at Cha Yu-jin's Seung-im character haha. Letty's insight is still the same. Ugh.

-Cha Yujin doesn't have Letty's style it just makes her stand out. To be honest I think Shin Jaehyun's quality is better… Um Cha Yujin has a lot of fans.

The two's stage successfully inherited the aggro of the 'Ryu Geon-woo VS Jin Chae-yul' stage and poured firewood once again.

An unusual phenomenon also occurred here.

Basically company survival works differently from general survival which is a state of everyone fighting against everyone else.

There is a demand base that wants to gauge the group that will be completed through this survival.

-I think it will be perfect if we debut like this ㅠㅠ

However as the heterogeneous <Supplementary Group> especially Cha Yu-jin who stood out like a comet became a hit a new general viewer base who tended to focus on individuals rather than the team came in.

'There was chaos.'

The sudden chaos that brought in existing viewers due to deep-rooted evils and drove viewers into trouble continued for several days.

Moreover it had the effect of reigniting the controversy over the phone call.

-It was a waste to let Jin Chae-yul go so I had no choice but to come out and say that Geon-woo lost. He had a pass. Haha this is ridiculous.

-Do you have any ill feelings toward CEO Ryu Geon-woo? Why are you acting like this? Why do you treat a child so cruelly when you could have passed?

-ㄹㄱㅇ They all have a very victim mentality. The group's fans will be tired when Wise debuts.

However all these conflicts were dramatically resolved when episode 5 aired yesterday.

'Keyword sexy!'

The stage already made heavy viewers excited after only 5 seconds of preview and spoilers from the audience.

Shin Jae-hyeon and Cha Yu-jin performed together again and Ryu Geon-woo also joined them. It's not even an individual game it's a complete team play.

Moreover the pre-released cut was Cha Yu-jin's solo cut that killed Angwang.

It's as if he's asking 'How do I fit in with this agency?'

– Mr. Wow

-Awesome. What is this guy?

-Someone says he doesn't suit Leti Cha Yu-jin ㅅㅂStarting from today when you rebut Leti you must be correct.

In addition the stage preparation process in which Shin Jae-hyun who is full of leadership gently comforts and leads the team once again reminded people of the nature of in-house survival.

‘They’re going to be an official group soon!’

Since the pool of people is small the idea is that those who are this good will all debut together.

As the heartwarming story of recruiting foreign members and the awakening of Ryu Geon-woo were added as toppings even those who were stressed felt relieved.

-I guess these two are really close. Oh I’m very satisfied.

-Who have you seen? It seems like a declaration that they will tear up the entire K-pop stage;; Is this something Kisan of the Fallen Kingdom is doing?

-I’m already imagining how great it would be if I debuted and started working on my own.

If Ryu Geon-woo’s life outside the country had seemed overly painful things would have been a bit different. Fortunately the water level was adjusted to an appropriate level as intended.

Of course there were also elements that had nothing to do with my intention.

Just as the teacher who came as an audience member thought.

‘He… he was really crazy about making a living.’

It’s like this.

[Ryu Geon-woo: I like it when I’m cleaning because distracting thoughts disappear.]

[Ryu Geon-woo: So I’ll clean up the bathroom as well.]

[…?]

[Something that no one has ever instructed]

Ryu Geon-woo's 3-piece housework set did not build an image of being meticulous and having strong vitality.

Instead it was aired at 10x speed.

The sight of him frantically sweeping and mopping the dormitory contrasted with the other panicked members made for a very interesting picture and the production team did not miss this.

[Obsessed ♨]

[I can't bear to touch it…]

The sight of him thinking about performance and pouring his burning passion into his rice was accepted by people like a cute meme.

-Characteristics of a child who is good at studying: First of all there is nothing else that can be seen. 〈- Isn't this really it?

-It looks like you received really good home training.

-Becoming a house elf is Geon-woo's way of managing stress…?

-Ah it's salty and cute but it's really funny.

Surprisingly everything was rationalized and the image of a golden spoon in a greenhouse did not change at all.

It would have been a surprise if Park Moon-dae who was disguised as Ryu Geon-woo found out but anyway the gag image was effective in relieving tension.

The scene where he takes care of Jin Chae-yul by going to Shin Jae-hyeon's team also showed his power and the sharpness of public opinion related to Ryu Geon-woo softened.

-ㅠㅠReally sweet. It must be hard to sleep but in the midst of this you take care of your little brother's mentality…

-The kid has a venom. It's nice to see something.

-Looking forward to the stage

And now as an audience member I can go beyond the stage and get a glimpse into the next chapter…

"Let's start the first stage!"

'Ewww'

The teacher who had been lost in a flashback for a moment came to his senses. And then I fixed my eyes on the stage.

'Who will come out first?'

Naturally choosing the most popular contestant she saw black figures coming up on stage.

And then a splendid stage mixed with familiar faces an awkward stage a stage that goes beyond expectations and an ambitious but disappointing stage continues.

Wow!

Still most of the audience who had little experience seeing such a stage in person enjoyed the show and excitedly voted.

This is because the president deliberately did not tell the audience that they had sword handles.

Thanks to this the evaluation was brutally honest.

[The winner is… Jin Chae-yul from <Honor Class> who received 371 votes!]

There was usually an overwhelming victory but sometimes the performers performed similarly well.

In that case interestingly existing participants tended to receive more votes. It was an effect of gaining awareness.

‘Oh it’s Yunshin!’

The teacher also voted for the person he felt comfortable with and was attracted to.

Then the contestant who was to perform the next performance watched it on the monitor got into the mood and moved to the waiting area.

The stage he will show is a famous dance pop song by an American male soloist.

This is a stage where the song with its groove and rhythm was arranged with a focus on vocals.

But there is a secret.

‘Oh actually it’s a stage we’ve already done.’

This is a song he practiced a few months ago as a candidate song for his agency’s end-of-month evaluation and then dropped it right before.

But he didn’t give up.

‘I didn’t really show it so the company doesn’t know.’

Even if other participants remembered I wouldn’t bother scratching it and making it crumble so I thought it would be okay to use this trick.

You might accidentally play the song you practiced.

‘It’s not a fucking scam just because I saved some stamina.’

Isn't it normal to lead the stage alone? Considering that he took care of everything from song selection to stage it is only right to see these benefits.

VTIC's former main vocalist honors class participant who was given the title 'Club Mebo' by Ryu Geon-woo has completed his rationalization.

And then he stood upright complaining about his tight pants.

Next to him two people with a subtle resemblance Ryu Geon-woo and Ryu Cheong-woo were standing side by side and waiting calmly.

He even smiles and talks about his route as if he is not nervous.

'Is it worth going that far to catch him?'

Isn't it a disease to be that conscious of the camera?

'Who doesn't have a national archery medal? And what kind of bastard retired after being exempted from military service?'

Meanwhile the guy next to me who thought he was smart even made a joke to himself while practicing.

-How about all the challengers appear together only at the end and until then only one person in charge of their part appears on stage? The featuring stage is usually like that.

It seemed as if he was sneaking in but he couldn't do that in survival and he must have had an ulterior motive.

Originally there was a point where he had to say this and that about the stage even though he had no authority but he had to receive some real education… but he passed it on.

They say they'll reduce the amount on their own but there's nothing you don't like.

‘I think I’m thinking of conserving my stamina and definitely improving the quality of my live… ’

Since my trainee period was short and I was a guy who only studied I had a clear mind.

Unfortunately he was originally born with good lung capacity. That move was useless.

‘That bastard probably thinks he’s a great strategist.’

I felt like I had quite a blast when I became a character because I was handsome.

Guys like that tend to become self-conscious trolls even in games. Since it was a solo exhibition I honestly welcomed it.

“〈Vocal B〉 Move!”

“yes!”

And finally the time comes for the stage.

Anyway since they might debut together the honors class participants joined in giving each other words of encouragement.

“Regardless of whether we win or lose let’s show it properly brothers.”

Ryu Geon-woo smiled and nodded.

“Yes to the best of my ability… Why not give it a try and go?”

“yes yes.”

The honors class participants participated in cheering slogans drawing a picture that they would not be able to survive even after their debut.

“Let’s show everything! 〈Vocal B〉 Fighting!”

And a moment later on stage.

At first there was only one person who appeared from behind.

Just like a solo stage.

‘uh?’

Bambam bam bam bam!

It was a participant in the honors class who turned around to the music that exploded the moment the pinpoint light was plugged in.

The song begins with gestures and a light rhythm like choreography.

Funky rhythm and blues.

[I’m gonna show you something-]

Cheers erupt from the steady steady high notes.

[especially Good- and remarkable]

This is it!

The honors class participants coolly sang familiar lyrics.

The accumulated amount of practice allows you to sing the song automatically without even thinking about it.

[Come on it’s not late!]

Just holding the stand microphone and turning it slightly is enough. If you sing this well and add the choreography everyone can’t help but be amazed!

The honors class finished the song with a triumphant performance.

‘This is as if it’s already over!’

But that is the moment the first verse ends.

Another light comes on on stage illuminating new people.

[You’re gonna show you something]

Same melody as the first measure.

However the arrangement has changed.

The accompaniment almost disappears and husky notes fall from the smooth piano.

[Too bad- and unforgettable]

“…!”

Your concentration suddenly increases.

And the honors class gives goosebumps down my back.

Sense of crisis.

‘uh…??’

Because Ryu Geon-woo deliberately did not show his best skills during practice.

[Come on I’m waiting!]

Participants in the honors class are trainees.

What that means is that you are not used to unexpected situations in real life.

For example the pressure you feel when you feel that your competitor's skills have suddenly improved.

'…!'

The honors class participant almost missed the timing but reflexively grabbed the microphone and joined the chorus.

[Break this dance hall!]

The moment you feel reassured by its cleanliness. As promised an ad-lib that goes straight to the top.

[Break this dance hall!]

It's just a slightly higher pitch.

However there is a clear difference in technique and vocal quality.

As if there is a difference in resolution.

Like the chorus and main singer.

They chase after you like you're eating them.

and!!

The cheering sounds like a comparison.

'Fuck you!'

The tempo of the honors class becomes impatient and slightly speeds up. The boss raises his eyebrows.

[Ohh- yeah yeah!]

Just like that Ryu Geon-woo's part was finished.

Ryu Geon-woo disappears from the stage with a slightly flashy farewell gesture. People respond to that too.

But all that's left is an empty microphone and lights.

'it's okay!'

It was around this time that the honors class doing light choreography in the accompaniment finally found their composure.

I haven't even started singing but suddenly I hear cheering again.

Wow! Wow!

'uh…?'

This time Ryu Cheong-woo enters Ryu Geon-woo's empty standing microphone seat.

People are confused and react provocatively to the unexpected appearance but Ryu Cheong-woo simply enters the second verse in a soft low voice.

[I'm gonna show you something-]

A good voice is followed by cheers.

However it is a competency that is not much different from practice. He clearly sings better.

The honors class went into the next verse with their nerves tense.

but…

'Why… does it seem like my shouts are smaller?'

Normally it is right for the person with the most screen time to stand out on stage.

The problem was change.

The audience gets bored quickly.

The moment something that appears as something new catches our attention something that has always existed becomes old.

Plain with a boring taste.

And the toppings that keep changing their appearance actually become the protagonists.

‘ah… ’

Anyone who continues to hold their position simply becomes a chorus.

Unless you are overwhelmingly good at the main level.

Pop.

As soon as I instinctively feel it cold sweat runs down my honors class member’s back.

The pace begins to slow down due to tension.

‘ah.’

The inertial habit of singing becomes disorganized as mental strength collapses.

And that is visible to the audience as well.

‘hmm… ’

‘Are you a little anxious?’

The impression that was lost to Ryu Geon-woo in the first half collapsed in the second half and was completed as one image.

‘I’m not as good as I thought… ’

However regardless of whether the person next to him performed worse or better than he practiced Liu Chengwu is natural and calm.

Since you know that your abilities are not as good as your opponent anyway there is nothing to be intimidated by or expect.

Then a third microphone appears from behind and Ryu Geon-woo appears on stage again carrying his part even as the audience’s cheers grow louder.

[Ohh- yeah yeah!]

And the ending has exquisite chords.

Wow!

Cheers poured out again and the stage ended like that. And the person everyone was predicting soon appears on the electronic screen.

[The winner is… Ryu Geon-woo from <Inferior Class> who received 320 votes!]

victor. Ryu Geon-woo.

And it was virtually decided who among the losers would be eliminated.

* * *

The stage is over.

A short backstage break before the real loser emerges.

“Hyung this… is really fun.”

As soon as Liu Chengwu took off the microphone he forgot how hard he was breathing and ran over to say this.

And then he pours out words without listening to the answer.

“I never thought it would feel like this. This… even though there were no scores and even though we lost… it feels like we won the game. “Interestingly.”

His voice was unusually excited for a guy who always behaved like an adult.

And then he speaks with his eyes shining.

“It’s difficult to expect results because he is more skilled than me but I want to stay and try more. Even if I get criticized.”

I smiled faintly.

“You don’t have to worry about that. “I think it will work out without getting criticized.”

“…okay?”

Hope and desire appear on Liu Chengwu’s face.

At that moment I saw this damn status window turn on and flash and spit out a new word.

[What is the status of the characteristic…?]

no way.

[B-〉A!]

[Full draw (A)]

-You will be in the correct position when you pull the protest.

: Performance equanimity ＋120%

“…!”

I see. It seems that Ryu Cheong-woo’s passion for something has regained its influence and it has even affected his characteristics.

Well… that’s a good thing.

“hmm…”

For a moment Liu Chengwu’s excitement faded but worry spread across his face.

“…brother. “Is there any problem?”

“No that’s not it.”

It’s not a problem.

But… actually the moment I got off the stage I did something out of anger.

[Fame is increasing…]

+50000 Exp

At that time the reputation value was settled.

[Hahahahahaha I can spin it 50 times bro!!]

It feels like I just sent the club kid away so I feel good.

So I thought it was a little extra and tried it out due to adrenaline…

It’s up.

[haha!]

[★★★★★ Ryu Cheong-woo / Lead Vocal]

“…”

This… what signal is this?

Chapter 386

Is Ryu Cheong-woo coming out of the lottery at this timing?

In fact isn't this comrade drawing system like the trait drawing system previously operated by Keudal willing to spit out what I need at the time?

'…Now that I think about it I looked at Lee Se-jin and the real Lee Se-jin appeared.'

Of course it was a different guy with the same name.

I opened my mouth just in case.

'Were you able to work hard here too?'

[Oh no. I don't think I can do that anymore… Actually I tried to do it a few times.]

A small dejected pop-up appears.

'No it's fine. 'It's better to be clean than to mix things up and cause problems.'

[]

Okay.

[Oh yes…!]

okay.

Anyway there is only one option for me to consider now.

[Colleague: Would you like to awaken Ryu Cheong-wu?]

-Use Exp 1000

Liu Chengwu's awakening.

I raised my head. You can see the person's eyes shining with the immersion and satisfaction they have felt for the first time in a long time.

'hmm.'

I opened my mouth looking at Liu Chengwu waiting for an answer.

"No I think it would be a good idea to prepare your testimony."

It's best enjoyed without knowing these things so I'll press the awakening button later.

Since the announcement of the eliminated candidates.

"Impressions?"

"The moment you join the production team will unconditionally ask you what you think."

A look of embarrassment passed from Liu Chengyu's face. I guess you thought you were encouraged that you would definitely win.

That was really good advice.

"Hmm… then wouldn't it be okay to just say thank you?"

"Rather than that it would be better to be honest and show that I was a little more impressed. Dramatically."

"…?"

Any thoughtful production team would definitely treat this as a major twist.

And after a while.

When all the audience had left the stage the eliminated candidates were finally revealed one by one.

“We’re releasing it now!”

[〈Supplementary Class〉 Ryu Cheong-woo]

[Participants confirmed!]

Liu Chengwu truly became the final winner of all these rounds.

He was also the only one left in the supplementary class.

This was the only exception in the production team’s calculation that they would film familiar contestants instead of unfamiliar faces even if their skills were similar.

“Thank you um…”

The guy who was finally able to grab the microphone seemed to be trying to speak as calmly as possible even in a trembling voice.

It’s the first time I’ve felt so agitated since I passed Azusa.

“It’s been a long time since I’ve done something this passionately… so I feel a little overwhelmed. Thank you for the next opportunity. We will never let go and show you a better side of ourselves. thank you!”

It’s simple but there’s enough nuance that you’re truly passionate about this. Excellent.

Moreover anyone who heard it started to misunderstand that there was a reason why he quit archery. No I hope so. It’s good to have a narrative.

“This concludes the announcement of the eliminated candidates.”

And the club’s mebo disappeared as it was included in the nine eliminated candidates including two directly selected by the president.

There are 12 people left.

-Do you know how many people were in my original group?

-Nine people.

We’re getting closer and closer to that number. I don’t know how many people it will end up being this time though.

How many people does Cheongryeo think are appropriate for this short-term project group other than her own?

‘This… maybe we should discuss it.’

What are you talking about?

Now let’s do our thing.

“Thank you brother.”

“You did it what should I do?”

As soon as the camera turns off and he comes down the stage Liu Chengwu says thank you and then speaks in a more powerful tone.

“I have to practice hard. To follow along.”

“hmm.”

It seems like they have already come to a conclusion based on the atmosphere and it seems like they will stay in the practice room and practice all night until the next filming.

No matter how much you do it your stamina will be shattered so that would be counterproductive.

“When my brother first said he was going to do it I should have done it too. “It’s a bit of a waste.”

“why. “I feel like I’m running out of time?”

“…”

Ryu Cheong-wu uncharacteristically nods his head slightly perhaps regretting that time is running out to improve his skills.

‘I don’t have to regret it anymore.’

I can give you your practice time back.

“ruler.”

“huh?”

Take it. I pressed Liu Chengwu’s awakening button.

[Leap towards emergency…]

And for the first time I personally saw the awakening scene of my ‘comrade’.

Immediately Liu Chengyu stumbles. Bigger than expected.

“What… ah.”

“…!”

This… was the reaction really this strong?

“Are you okay there?”

“who is this?”

Even the staff reacted. However Liu Chengyu leaned against the wall and said nothing.

‘Fuck you.’

Is this reaction correct?

Just when I was about to take action either through the status window or by calling 119 fortunately the guy immediately raised his head.

Calm voice.

“…Oh um it’s okay.”

A gentle expression.

“sorry. “I guess it was because I was relaxed.”

“Ah~”

The staff leaves after seeing Ryu Cheong-wu smiling calmly.

And Liu Chengwu still hasn’t lost his smile even after all the staff members have disappeared.

However the face slowly opens up.

“…”

“…”

“…is that a doormat?”

“yes.”

And after a short deep silence.

“Whoa…”

Liu Chengwu lowers his head and lets out a long moan.

[Oh that person…]

okay.

Before panic fear confusion and relief…

‘…It came first from embarrassment.’

I quietly pretended not to notice the leader who recalled all the 21-year-old youthful aspects of himself.

“So… um it’s kind of an accident situation.”

“yes.”

After some time I finished a quick briefing on the current situation to Ryu Cheong-woo who came to his senses while packing up his luggage.

If someone else heard it it was so unrealistic that they would have thought it was about a movie or a game so there is nothing to complain about.

And as someone who knew that I had changed my body he was quick to grasp the situation.

“It was a little strange. I can see it like this. “I think the parts that were different from reality were awkward.”

Instead of talking about a parallel dimension or something Ryu Cheong-woo seemed to clearly interpret this situation as a lucid dream or fantasy.

“I guess I should say I made a different choice at a point where it seemed unlikely.”

It seemed like he thought of a few more examples not just archery but Liu Chengwu didn't bother to go into detail.

I really had to say this.

"Then the timing was perfect and I found a way to come to my senses."

"yes."

"Then you deliberately waited until after the elimination list was announced. "To make me feel the reward of winning the audience vote on my first stage."

"…"

"thank you."

"…It's because I'm filming so I don't think you'll be grateful."

"haha!"

Liu Chengwu laughed and added.

"Speak comfortably. "Actually you are really my brother too."

"…!"

"For some reason I felt like I should call him brother even though we are the same age."

Liu Chengwu smiled shyly saying that this was also a strange part.

"It's okay to tell me when I go back. "We've been seeing each other for over 5 years and it's time to stop talking."

"…Like that."

Liu Chengwu smiled coolly and passed it off.

‘I knew he was like this but… ’

It’s so embarrassing. I suddenly found myself waiting for the others to arrive.

Fortunately as I had warned the honors class students who had finished changing clothes in another waiting room soon ran out to the back of the lobby.

“Hyung Moon Dae! Cheongwoo do you remember now?”

“Eujin.”

“Wooow!”

Cha Yu-jin runs over and gives him a high five.

Even though Kim Rae-bin is there that guy calls me Park Mun-dae very conveniently.

However Kim Rae-bin didn’t react much perhaps because his brain automatically processed ‘Mundae = Geon-woo’s nickname’.

I just do my best to say hello.

“Hello brothers! “I was really impressed by today’s performance.”

“Ah now Ravin too…”

“hmm.”

Ryu Cheong-woo who noticed that Kim Rae-bin had no memory of my reaction changed his tone.

“Sorry about this. “I said something carelessly didn’t I?”

“yes? no! “As you are an older person and a fellow participant you have the right to do so.”

Liu Chengwu laughed.

“It’s the same it’s the same.”

“…?”

“that’s right. Raebin Kim is the same person.”

“…! “Could it be that you mean that there is no progress compared to what we saw in the existing program?”

“No you idiot!”

“…?!”

I left the three guys talking and looked at the guy coming behind them.

The guy was slowly joining in after receiving a farewell greeting from the others.

“congratulation. Next time I’ll consider it an honors class.”

Cheongnyeo.

“I don’t know because the number of people has decreased.”

“hmm? It’s still difficult if you can’t come up now. “Do you really think so?”

“…”

“I’m kidding. “I trust you.”

I get goosebumps.

“You always beat the main vocalist who had a solid place in the debut group. Of course you will be in the honors class from the next filming.”

“…”

After confirming that the remaining participants had left the lobby and the other three were engrossed in conversation I lowered my voice and asked.

“How on earth did that bastard survive for 7 years?”

“Because it’s easy to handle.”

The guy twisted his lips slightly.

“But people tend to change. “My self-consciousness grows and I show different patterns due to unreasonable confidence in myself.”

“…”

“Well… it was my mistake to miss it so I won’t make any excuses.”

I recalled the actions of the former main vocalist of VTIC after leaving the club due to controversy.

It was easy.

Because there is nothing.

It was quiet with no recent news articles or eyewitness accounts and no common social media accounts opened.

Who would have done it?

“But those with clear weaknesses are easy to deal with. Isn’t it a pity? “This time we were able to handle it without any major variables.”

“Then let’s at least have a reprisal match.”

“haha!”

The guy laughed heartily.

“are you okay. “I don’t regret it.”

“…”

“I asked my brother in case he would be disappointed.”

I turned my head to see that the title had changed and before I knew it the other three people had finished their conversation and turned to look this way.

And Cheongryeo also looks there.

To be exact Liu Chengwu.

“This way too?”

It probably means that your memories have returned.

“okay.”

“Hmm.”

He briefly glances at Liu Chengwu as if appraising him.

No it’s not ‘as if’.

[Attribute: Emotion (A)]

There was little of value and there was a lot of trash.

: Human resources judgment +150%

He must be showing off his characteristics.

And then he smiles and holds out his hand.

“Please take care of me.”

“yes. thank you.”

The two shook hands.

First of all it’s not as bad as when Cheongryeo met Cha Yujin.

‘It’s okay if you don’t fight.’

Since it didn’t look like anything was going to happen right away I decided to take advantage of the moment and check the status window.

This is because the main quest was just broken.

[Quest: Awakening of companions] -> Completed!

The ones I have awakened so far are Cha Yu-jin Bae Se-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo.

I guess the condition was to awaken a total of 3 people.

‘Then is Cheongryeo an exception?’

What kind of guy is being treated as a starter?

Anyway if you have succeeded in gathering enough colleagues what is the next step?

‘What is the progress of the stage?’

This is the main content.

[Quest: Colleague Awakening Reputation Collection Activity 1/N]

-Let’s collect fame

Cumulative reputation required: 1000000 Exp

The units may be crazy but fame naturally leads to fame so there is no need to adjust the period. Pass it over.

I brought up the bottom popup. This is the colleague status window.

Colleague List

[Shin Jae-hyun: Calculating newly added resources (*^-^)]

[Cha Yu-jin: Recalling happy memories (＋ㅅ＋～♫)]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Checking his physical condition (•ᴗ•])

Even the newly added Ryu Cheong-woo is in the same condition as can be seen with no unusual features.

Except for one guy who wasn’t there.

[Bae Se-jin: Receiving the president’s plaster crime (`ㅅ´=3)]

“…”

What on earth are you doing?

I picked up my smartphone with the intention of contacting him right away.

And you will see a message that appears at the top.

-Senior Lee Se-jin: Hello Geon-woo! I watched episode 5. (Laughing emoticon) I think the stage will be really cool right??

It was a message that Lee Se-jin sent two days ago.

* * *

Accommodation in Jairob.

Jiyiing.

“Hmm.”

Although it had been a long time since she was in bed before midnight and just before going to bed Sejin Lee picked up her smartphone right away as was her habit.

And then I saw the reply that came late.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: I have just returned home so I am late in replying. sorry.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: Thank you for the compliment. I really hope the stage comes out well.

“ah.”

I guess filming is finally over.

Although it was clearly something that came to mind during my regular network management and I just sent it Se-jin Lee was somehow happy and quickly responded.

-I’m sorry! It’s my fault for texting while filming. (Crying emoticon)

-Oh please speak comfortably! I’m not a great senior so I’m embarrassed to hear such respectful treatment from you!

After a while the ‘1’ disappears and a new reply comes.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: Thank you

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: You too take it easy.

“yes~”

As expected the hurdles are low as it is still before debut. Sejin Lee responded a little faster this time.

– Haha I don’t say anything! Thanks bro!

-Please change my save name to my cool younger brother Sejin haha.

And I realized it only after I sent it.

‘…What kind of over is this?’

It was a sudden move that made anyone think he was a fraud or a person who has no friends and cannot keep distance.

‘Ah why are you like this!’

The moment he was about to try to settle things a reply came right away.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: Okay

“…??”

Is this through?

‘Are you flattering me because I’m a senior?’

Even though I made a mistake I didn’t feel strangely bad.

But the reply didn’t end there.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: This is my first time with Sejin’s brother. I have Sejin.

This is some kind of nonsense again. Is it small talk?

-Oh that's right I tend to have people with the same name!

Sejin Lee quickly thought of an appropriate answer and sent it. The feeling that I should finish the job properly and go to sleep has disappeared before I know it.

And the reply that came… was unexpected.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: I think you know this person. Even the last name is the same

"…"

I know too?

'for a moment.'

A person with the same name that Lee Se-jin knows.

There was only one person who came to mind who was older than Ryu Geon-woo and who probably knew both.

And Ryu Geon-woo's reply arrived one after another.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: He's an actor and we decided to meet and hang out within a few days.

-Wise Ryu Geon-woo: I think it would be fun for you to watch it together. What do you think?

Sejin Lee got up from the bed.

Chapter 387

“hmm.”

The message I sent just now has not yet received a reply.

But let’s see.

The idol group Gylob which Lee Se-jin is currently a member of was scheduled to enjoy a short break immediately after the tour.

You probably wouldn’t guess that I knew about that and contacted you but it means that you can make time for at least one day out of those few days.

But this is where the bait falls.

Actor Lee Se-jin of the same name.

There is a story that they are both popular actors and have the same name. It is a blameless choice for networking purposes.

It is worth raising the management priority.

‘Wouldn’t it be okay if I stop by the house and spend half a day the next day?’

…I guess you didn’t think about something like that.

This is Lee Se-jin who finds out the MC’s number in her first solo entertainment show.

Sure enough.

The turned off smartphone screen soon vibrated again.

[Awesome little brother Sejin: Hahaha how did you contact me at the right time? I have a free schedule!]

[Cool little brother Sejin: When do you think the date is?]

yes.

Liu Chengwu looks at the screen and speaks with a wry smile.

“You’re also in contact with Sejin. “You must have had a hard time.”

“…yes. “Not that much.”

It was the moment when I was about to reply that there was no need for trouble.

“Hyung Moon Dae! Let’s name my cool brother! “I am Cha Yu-jin a wonderful tiger…”

“Shut up idiot… Huh?”

…No this was just used as bait… Well that’s it.

“Oh!! Kim Rae-bin did you call me stupid?”

“It’s a mistake!”

Thanks to Kim Rae-bin who automatically became the center of attention I avoided the phone book becoming even more chaotic.

And a few days later in a private room at a restaurant in Seoul.

“So Lee Se-jin is coming soon? “You don’t remember anything?”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin appeared wearing sunglasses a hat and gloves and when he sat down he looked a little nervous and was drinking water.

I don't know what's going on even though we shared a dorm together not long ago.

'Well it wasn't really right in the beginning.'

I don't know if it's because of the stressful memories I had back then.

Anyway I'll have to wait another 30 minutes for him to come so all my tension will go away.

It's because I met this guy a little early on purpose.

"By the way how is your company's job?"

…I wanted to ask you what on earth you did to deserve the boss's plaster crime.

And as soon as he heard the question Bae Se-jin's face came alive.

"Well… not bad."

"Is that so?"

"It's just that… we renewed the contract to meet industry standards changed managers and made it impossible to skip scenarios."

"…?"

"And I received a recording and a memorandum to prevent others from doing this to me anymore… so it's not bad. Huh."

"…"

Rather brag openly.

Anyone who sees Bae Se-jin says 'I exploded cider like this!' It is a face that shouts.

Are you coming? I opened my mouth obediently.

“That’s amazing. “There wasn’t even an article about it but it’s not easy to handle things so quietly.”

“Hmm it wasn’t difficult. “I just… handled it according to common sense and natural order.”

“oh.”

Is it time to tell you the method in detail?

“The president stole the company’s money and went on an away gambling trip.”

“…!!”

“And I have proof. “The video!”

He said he didn’t know it was evidence before but only found out a few years later when it was revealed to the media.

‘With this guy’s personality he must have run simulations of his explosions several times… ’

Still it seems that I didn’t meet a lawyer in vain as I was charged with plastering.

“Of course it would be good for society to report it to the police and handle it properly… but then you wouldn’t be able to do any activities for a while.”

“ah.”

Bae Se-jin fiddled with his water glass.

“Well… I need to help you get to the grand prize.”

“…!”

“For that to happen it is advantageous for me to continue to be active. still! “I think we have made it so that the president will never do something like that again.”

“…”

Me indeed.

He is like a guy who thought this wasn’t reality and then had no hesitation and came up with a realistic compromise.

“Thank you.”

“Hmm what? “We’re all trying to go back together!”

After that Bae Se-jin completely lost his temper and even talked about how he sent away the manager and the unscrupulous employee.

It’s not without its flaws but it seems to have good momentum and efforts to handle it in a meticulous manner so there doesn’t seem to be anything I need to do.

‘It’s okay.’

And originally they were going to change their name to ‘Bae Se-jin’ but there was even talk that they held back for the sake of recognition.

Ah now that I think about it…

“Is your brother’s biological father okay?”

That drug villain.

“…”

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with a slightly shocked expression.

“…I heard you’re missing?”

“…??”

No how on earth was this world formed?

“Anyway I divorced my mom and everything is over! are you okay.”

“Um yes.”

If that’s the case.

The topic returns to the current situation and future plans.

“…okay! The movie will be released soon. Hmm good luck with your survival debut…”

dripping.

“ah.”

A knocking sound is heard from the room.

‘Not an employee.’

When I looked at the clock I realized who it was.

“Please come in.”

4 minutes before the appointed time.

Sejin Lee opened the door and came in.

“Hyung I’m here. Hello~ Hello!”

The guy with dyed hair hidden in a hood took off his mask and said hello.

“Welcome back.”

“Oh it’s close to my house so I came at the right time! “Everyone came early.”

My house is nearby. He probably waited nearby and came on time.

I sat down and motioned to the other side.

“This is Lee Se-jin. Learn.”

“Ah I’m really enjoying the movie!”

“Oh yeah.”

Bae Se-jin nods. This reminds me of Azusa.

“I was also impressed by the ‘Seahorse’ you filmed this time.”

Sejin Lee like a guy seems to have done thorough research beforehand.

“He seemed like a really scary medical student which gave me goosebumps. “I’m always amazed at how well you capture those emotions!”

Bae Se-jin who was a four-shooter psychopath answered this while nervous.

“Because I always act the same way… um yeah.”

“…”

For a moment Lee Se-jin almost fell silent but soon smiled and answered back.

“Ah you feel the same way because you do well every time!”

“That’s not true… but thank you anyway.”

“Ahaha yes!”

And it seems that Sejin Lee immediately discarded all career-related small talk topics.

However even after that all of Lee Se-jin’s personal questions were bounced back.

“Oh that coat suits you well! “Do you wear a coat often?”

“Um… the manager gave it to me.”

“The manager has a good eye.”

So Bae Se-jin who heard praise from the manager who came in this morning responds like this.

“…well.”

“…”

Since I’m not good at crushing public facts and responding with lies I keep keeping my mouth shut…

‘It’s ruined.’

I clearly admitted it.

These bastards are just… unfit.

‘In the end I am the one carrying the gun here too.’

“Let’s talk more while we eat. “You must be hungry.”

“…! Oh that’s good. “What did you order bro?”

After the Korean food course came out I started creating small talk topics that didn’t even exist in Palja.

* * *

‘Ah it’s hot.’

Sejin Lee was eating and internally evaluating the situation.

It was a bad idea to form a relationship with the actor sitting across from me.

‘Did you not want to come out? ‘Why are you like that?’

Actually I thought I could somehow become closer by talking persistently… but for some reason I didn’t even want to do that.

‘It’s not necessary to have actor connections.’

I had to wait at least a few more years before I could pursue a solo career in acting. There was no need for Lee Se-jin to be in a hurry… maybe.

‘…No I need to be more conscious.’

Looking at the team it seemed like it would be difficult to renew the contract. The thought of having to find a way to live within a few years was somehow bittersweet.

‘I barely have something like this.’

It was funny to do this. Still the team is doing well right now…

“The ribs here are delicious.”

“…! “Oh I can’t believe I didn’t know about this delicious restaurant!”

“I heard that fans post a lot of hashtags like that.”

“That’s right. Please upload a lot.”

When Ryu Geon-woo saw that the conversation between Lee Se-jin and Lee Se-jin was not going well he personally gently led the conversation.

He seemed unusually proactive.

'…isn't that right?'

I don't know how much I feel like this after only meeting for the second time.

Well just by looking at it it doesn't seem like an extroverted style. Sejin Lee just moved her thoughts to the next context.

Anyway rather than having to bring someone like that I'd rather just ask them to meet each other for some reason…

'…No then maybe I wouldn't have come out?'

right. He seems to have taken the time to introduce new connections.

I don't know. Strangely the flow of my thoughts felt jumbled.

Sejin Lee didn't show it but she was a little embarrassed.

'That's strange.'

Still the conversation continued. Because it was equally strangely fun… and comfortable.

"How was the tour?"

And when we moved on to topics about idols and survival programs deeper conversations automatically began to emerge.

"The tour is fun. My brother will do it soon too. You're so good at it! The 'Wise' program is also very popular."

"But when you actually debut the song and the situation are important. “I can’t necessarily say it will work out well but…”

Cho Chi is similar to that actor in listing facts but Ryu Geon-woo ends his speech with a smile.

“Still I hope it goes well. “I think it will be very rewarding.”

“…hmm. yes. “The stage is hard but it’s really fun work.”

“okay.”

Although the questions were asked like those of a survival contestant with an uncertain future they did not feel particularly poignant or persistent.

What should I say? People are simple.

“…My brother’s agency is famous for being good at giving tours. “It’ll be okay.”

So Sejin Lee may have started to give slightly more honest answers instead of well-coordinated relationship answers without realizing it.

Naturally the topic becomes more serious.

And then comes this question.

“Now that I think about it… I wanted to ask you how you feel when you debut. What do you think?”

When did you debut?

“It’s amazing but it’s also very hectic? “I was so busy that I didn’t have time to reflect on my inspiration.”

It’s true.

But there are also facts below that do not need to be said.

"…Well it might not feel like I thought it would."

If you were expecting overwhelming passion a sense of challenge and the stability of being in the right position I would advise you to give it up.

Ryu Geon-woo asks quietly.

"Do you have any regrets?"

regret?

"Still I don't think I have any particular regrets. Of course some… unexpected difficulties arise."

It's an element that can't be helped since they already debuted together.

"which?"

"Oh well…"

Sejin Lee opened her mouth without thinking and only then did she realize.

That I am being very unnecessarily honest.

'Why are you saying this… '

And I managed to correct my words naturally.

"…There's no easy way to make money right?"

"…okay. "I think that's what I would think."

"…"

Ryu Geon-woo did not inquire further. I definitely felt like I felt something strange but it seemed like some kind of consideration.

‘ah.’

Lee Se-jin was a little disappointed but also relieved.

‘…?? ‘What are you regretting?’

Then the actor who was eating diligently said something scathing.

“that’s right. “There is nothing easy about making money.”

“…?”

“People have to pay for food.”

suddenly?

I don’t even know when he said it but it was clear that he was older than him so Lee Se-jin just answered softly.

“Right… right. yes yes.”

The actor held the chopsticks so that the veins stood out.

“They just stick to their positions act lazy and end up doing things they shouldn’t do… People like that don’t deserve to make money.”

“Oh you can’t do that. really.”

For a moment Lee Se-jin was genuinely shocked at the idea of fighting back.

This is because I was angry because of the close examples that came to mind at the moment.

Lee Se-jin said calmly recalling the face of his child who drank alcohol the day before the tour and failed to manage his condition.

“There is such a thing as work ethics. And if there is such a person in group life the team suffers losses.”

“okay! No matter how good you are a good person who works hard is better than that kind of person!”

However despite shouting out energetically the actor suddenly flinched and added words.

“You might prefer someone who is good at something even if they are a bit worse or lazy than someone who is not good at it.”

And it is resolved quickly.

“Usually so!”

“…”

Sejin Lee thought about the answer ‘There are a lot of people like that’ but then discarded it.

For some reason I was a little upset.

No he responded like this… Does he think I’m the same way because he’s the first one?

“No even if I’m not good at it I think it’s better to be someone who works hard.”

“…okay?”

“That’s right. If we’re going to keep working together thinking about the future won’t the former end up doing well?”

“…!”

Sejin Lee came to a conclusion without realizing it.

“It’s better if you have someone to go with.”

It was cool.

“…”

The moment I learned it I almost dropped my chopsticks.

Why is it like that?

But he quickly corrects himself and mutters in a much brighter tone.

“…That’s right. “You’re right.”

“Is that so?”

For the first time today their conversation ended properly.

And Lee Se-jin slightly changed his mind.

Well… he seems to have a bit of an eccentric personality but he seems to be the type of person who has a vision when it comes to doing things.

‘That’s… not bad.

And Ryu Geon-woo who had been eating without interfering in the conversation between the two only then started talking again.

“Speaking of work how much practice is appropriate? Actors and idols have different fields.”

“Well isn’t consistency important?”

“…okay. “I guess there is such a thing as a habit that becomes ingrained in the body.”

And the conversation naturally progresses with all three people participating…

"…!"

for a moment.

'…So did you intentionally bring the conversation this way?'

Because that actor opens his mouth in serious conversations. And even though I was so annoyed that I gave up on small talk I will have a serious conversation…

So that the atmosphere between you and the actor does not become any more strange.

"…"

Sejin Lee felt embarrassed for some reason and lowered her gaze to the bowl.

Even though I am young I am a senior so it was a bit strange to be treated with consideration in a situation like this.

But at the same time… I felt somewhat at ease. Should I say it feels reassuring?

'Wow you're saying all sorts of things.'

He eventually gave up.

It seemed like he just wanted to make his new connections his friends.

'…Idol friends are good.'

Sejin Lee held back a sigh and put soybean paste noodles into her mouth.

It was delicious.

* * *

The meal we had with a person with the same name ended up going well.

As soon as Lee Se-jin left Bae Se-jin took over and made this evaluation.

-Even though he's young he's still a completely human being!

Of course it doesn't end here.

-… But it wasn't bad.

Meeting him in a different situation and position seems to have made him reflect on the things that were creaky during his debut.

He seemed to think that if the situation had been different the fight would have been resolved sooner.

[I think you two will get along better from now on…]

It could be so.

Anyway I saw Bae Se-jin off as he went to beat up the president again.

And I joined three other guys who went out to pick out Kim Rae-bin's piercings.

"Have you met Sejin hyungs? Next time call me too!"

Cha Yoo-jin left these words and ran to buy pizza with Kim Rae-bin.

Liu Chengwu evaluated it this way:

"Se-jin so the reason you bothered to meet Lee Se-jin… is to make it a little less disappointing when your memories come back later right?"

"…"

I put down my smartphone.

“That’s not it. “It’s convenient if you have a connection with a senior idol with a reputation.”

I know all the information but there’s nothing I shouldn’t use… He’s also a good fit.

Liu Qingwu was blank for a moment but then burst into laughter.

“okay! The gate is still the same. “Like Ravine.”

“…!”

“Ah the kids are coming. “I’ll bring some pizza.”

“no…”

This guy isn’t listening again.

Anyway I ended up spending that day at the officetel with these three guys chewing pizza for dinner.

‘What kind of meeting day is this?’

And I said ‘Would it be more convenient for you to call me Mr. Moon Dae?’ When I was making up a suitable excuse for Kim Rae-bin who asked.

New rumors and opinions about LeTi survival were emerging on the Internet.

———————

[Spoiler alert for those eliminated?]

ㄹㅊㅇ came out and Choi Tae-joon was eliminated.

———————————

-???

-What are you talking about?

-Who is ㄹㅊㅇ?

He who won the gold medal in archery said he was my relative.

-Why is he here?

-I can smell deep-rooted corruption…

With the plate starting to burn from a new ignition point a new filming of survival soon began.

…And a completely unexpected coincidence was waiting there.

Chapter 388

The day of filming 〈Wise〉 came back.

This time as soon as the president announced the honors and inferiors classes at the dorm without any cuts of him giving lectures on stage I went straight to the content I watched.

'Not the stage performance where the eliminated contestants appear but the event for idols that takes place before that.'

The next person to hit after the public service advertisement photo shoot is…

"This event is a street guerrilla concert."

"and!"

"omg…"

I think there was some kind of deal with the local government but this means that we ended up performing at a temporary stage facility in the middle of Myeong-dong.

[Oh that sounds fun!]

Viewers may think so. But from the participant's point of view… well.

[yes…? Uh wasn't this a repeat of the stage we've already done?]

That's right.

'But the personnel has changed.'

There were some dropouts and new people coming in so there would be a lot of changes to the routes and parts.

“Next Friday at 6 PM!”

Look we’ll give you two days for the filming schedule.

‘That means it’s all night.’

[…Extreme job…]

Now that it has happened overtime work is confirmed this time as well.

Even if I or someone with memory can get there as quickly as possible we can’t go in early and sleep. The movement routes must all be aligned together.

‘Of course there are people who work more than me.’

This guy is talking to me as I unpack my things on the bed. In fact he is the one who leads the choreography practice in this agency’s debut group.

“Welcome bro. “I really thought it would come soon.”

“Oh thank you.”

Shin Jae-hyun who warmly welcomes Ryu Geon-woo who returned to the honors class with today’s photo shoot extends his hand without turning his back on the camera.

‘As expected you never miss an opportunity.’

I pulled out a cut scene while shaking hands with Cheongnyeo sitting next to me who had never unloaded her luggage in the honors class bedroom.

‘Does this guy plan to continue with this image?’

A perfect leader position who has never failed an honors class.

In fact if it were that consistent it would become a narrative and the characters would become stronger.

“The classes given in the program are just random moments. Regardless of that let’s work hard and think that we are all debuting together.”

“yes…!”

I wonder how many times that touching line has been used so far.

I spent two days watching him push other trainees to their limits while pretending to take care of them.

And on the same day.

[Oh…! A lot of people are already gathered?]

Wouldn’t it be natural to write that as a guerrilla and announce it 3 hours in advance?

It seems that viewers came running as soon as it spread on the Internet.

‘Even if that wasn’t the case quite a few tourists did gather.’

Since it is Myeongdong there were a lot of foreigners interested in KPOP.

It was a time when there was still a trend of preferring to select paintings that foreigners cheered. Maybe that’s what they were aiming for.

In any case whether it is the first time in a long time or the first time the participants are a bit excited in front of the open outdoor stage.

“Let’s shout slogans and go up.”

“Yes I am! Wise fighting!”

And then I go up to the small stage where my university’s violin concert was held just before.

Wow!

A raw shout. Unorganized peripheral reactions from cheering phrases to screams.

The smell of sunlight and wind.

The first outdoor performance in a long time had a different taste.

‘I feel like I’m running an event.’

Of course it was a strange feeling that the set list was filled entirely with other people’s songs rather than familiar ones.

And it seems I’m not the only one who felt that way.

Outside the backstage camera.

“I kind of miss it.”

Ryu Cheong-woo a 5-year-old idol who was the first among them to sing the theme song and fill in the team stage vacancy at the same time mutters.

Cha Yu-jin grumbles.

“I want to do our own song.”

They both have excellent speaking skills without mentioning the subject in case they are caught by the microphone. I nodded slowly.

“Hyung Gunwoo!”

“hmm?”

Kim Rae-bin who was warming up next to me whispered to me with a serious face.

Now that I think about it for a moment I don’t even remember this guy so he may have given me the impression that he was suspicious for no reason…

“Is it possible that the theme song may be suddenly removed from the set list?”

“…?”

“If the ‘our song’ that Cha Yu-jin refers to refers to a song for a common performance that everyone performs together it would be the theme song but it presupposes that the expression ‘I want to do it’ is currently not possible.”

“…”

“Then the conclusion is that it was excluded from the set list…”

I barely opened my mouth.

“It probably means that you want to do it quickly. “The theme song is played last.”

“…! okay! Thank you for your kind explanation.”

He is truly one of a kind. It’s a shame that the camera didn’t catch that.

‘If I had remembered I would have been tormented by a conscience that I wasn’t being fair.’

Even if Kim Rae-bin appears in the team draw right away I will have to wake her up only after this program ends.

Afterwards the mini concert continued for a full 50 minutes.

The death match stage with Jin Chae-yul while wearing a marine look was also recreated quite late in the film.

Of course it wasn't a marine look but rather a baseball jumper but in the end it seems that the CEO compromising with the public's opinion couldn't remove the song from the list and added it.

This is indeed a capitalist decision worthy of the head of an entertainment agency.

Chae-yul This guy seems a little excited perhaps simply because he feels recognized.

"I think President Kim Tae-in also appreciated our performance because he saw it several times! You might like this performance as soon as you see it…"

"That's right!"

The way he and Sinnoh are laughing is very similar to when they were in VTIC.

This guy seems to gain fans every time his bright-headed side is revealed on TV. It looks like there are no wrinkles.

Even when it was VTIC the data that captured this behavior well seemed to be expensive… Anyway there is a definite demand for it.

'I think it will stick easily.'

After briefly concluding I came off the stage waving to the people.

And at the end of the performance.

"thank you!"

Kyaaaaaaaaa! Ouch!

As soon as the theme song performance was completed the number of people increased to the point where it became a hindrance to traffic. It is a crowd mentality where crowds invite crowds.

‘I think it’s fun to just cheer… ’

Geonwoo! Wow you look handsome!

Yes… thank you.

Anyway I reacted as soon as my name was called. No one feels bad when being praised.

After the camera received enough response from people.

Finally a surprise event that was not announced to the participants in advance occurs.

“We will welcome the passionate viewers who came to the Guerrilla Concert today to the podium~”

“omg!”

“Now?”

It is a surprise fan meeting.

‘I thought it would be like this.’

When I saw it before going on stage it seemed like they were selecting a few people and sending them forward.

“Hmm.”

“Welcome… just like this.”

I shook my head inwardly as I looked at the faces of the participants who were starting to get more excited and more nervous.

‘It’s been a while.’

After getting hit with a plastic bottle during my debut showcase I almost never held an instant lottery for an unspecified number of people for fear of getting into an accident.

Soon two or three people come up. And then each person goes towards the participant they are rooting for.

“Wow! oh my god!”

“You can come here and say hello to me.”

“Ugh!”

I walked up the stage and shook hands with a few people who came in front of me and gave them a quick hug.

Most of them were trembling not sure if they were excited or nervous. I guess it’s because it’s a public place. This… isn’t much different from when I was Park Moon-dae.

So what is the difference?

“Uh-huh you’re so handsome…”

“thank you… I will take good care of it…?”

“Oh I love it…”

The frequency of ‘handsome’ is overwhelmingly greater than that of ‘cute’.

And… they don’t even ask for things like ball cock.

‘…I guess it’s because it’s an instant lottery.’

Or maybe it’s because it’s a broadcast and not just a bunch of idol fans. I don’t know but it feels like they are being treated more cautiously.

In other words a little less comfortably.

'…but I don't have a good impression of Ryu Geon-woo.'

No I'm not saying it's disappointing.

In any case the production team may have recruited appropriately but there were no unfortunate incidents in which people did not go to just one participant.

People also went to Ryu Cheong-woo whose appearance had barely been aired just before.

[This is something… when you look back years later and think it was an incredibly lucky experience right?]

Hey you shouldn't be here until a few years from now.

[oh.]

Whenever there was no one in front of me I would chat with this guy and wait for the next batter.

"We will welcome the last people~"

And when the three or four people who had waited the longest came on stage.

"…!!"

Among them I immediately recognized the first person to step onto the stage.

That person…

[uh? My brother's fan!]

That's right.

I mean… I'm a fan of Testa Park Moon-dae. How do you find out?

'…Because it was the first cannon.'

At the Azusa production press conference she was the first girl who strongly asked me to give her a look.

And I also met him when I wore a dog mask and went to get certified on a billboard. It was hard to forget this much but I continued to watch it after that.

[Wow I can see it here too!]

…I know.

I re-strengthened the posture that I almost lost for a moment. And kept his expression.

'If you get to know him he's crazy.'

Let's be quiet. Be quiet.

[I'm glad to see you all! I only did that when it was in the status window!]

Since this guy is making a fuss on his behalf there is no need for me to do the same.

And the fan walked towards the contestants standing on stage with quite brisk steps and came right in front of me.

And passed by.

"hello!"

…toward Jin Chae-yul's seat next to me.

“I’m really really rooting for you. It’s so cute cool and the best. Chaeyul do whatever you want.”

“Ugh! thank you!”

“…”

I quietly adjusted my standing posture.

That’s how Ryu Geon-woo’s guerrilla fan meeting ended.

* * *

I knew it.

Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae have quite different impressions and no matter how much they blend together there is a difference in appearance.

Is it just appearance? There is also a difference in public image.

‘The demand is bound to be different.’

So there is no way that someone who likes Park Moon-dae will necessarily like Ryu Geon-woo.

[brother…]

It’s okay.

Coincidentally after the guerrilla concert there was a gap of a few hours to prepare for filming before the performance content began.

I just… Now that I have some time I just organize my thoughts.

Let’s become aware of reality.

‘This isn’t pure stupid.’

This isn't reality so why did you naturally believe that things would go the same way?

And even if it were reality isn't it up to each individual to decide whether or not they will continue to support their idol?

There is nothing more to think about.

…As an idol Ryu Geon-woo is not Park Moon-dae. Let's not forget.

[I think you're cool no matter what you look like! really!]

That's because this guy is so selfless and greedless that he seems like he has no balls.

In fact even if you know that they are the same person you may only prefer one side. It's not a real interpersonal relationship and isn't it natural to support one-sidedly?

[Not necessarily! He will definitely have that feeling as an idol that only his older brother has and even if his appearance changes…]

"…"

A thought occurred to me as I was reading the pop-up message that was writing down words of comfort.

No matter how altruistic this guy is isn't this… a bit excessive?

Especially considering this guy's position.

'You… don't you hate the fact that I'm sitting in the same body that you passed the civil service exam for?'

[…]

Even if you don't hate me shouldn't you at least feel repulsed by this situation?

I'm using up both my bodies while I'm floating around without a body.

The pop-up is shaking.

[But… I really don't mind.]

I felt a strange sense of discomfort as I quietly watched the pop-up appear one by one.

This wasn't an attempt to console me; it was truly sincere.

And I also felt uncomfortable about it.

[Is this strange? I'm not sure. Isn't it because I'm not a person anymore…]

'You are human.'

I said right away.

'A person who worries so much about others is not human.'

[Ah no we are not the rest. Thank you anyway…]

The pop-up seemed relieved and returned to its usual atmosphere but my mind became more complicated although I didn't show it.

'Is this a situation that can be summarized as the phenomenon of dehumanization becoming more severe?'

Maybe in this situation the only person I can talk to is me but even when I do they rarely talk about themselves so it may have accelerated even more.

'…I guess we need to talk about it properly.'

But damn it my head is so complicated right now that I don't know what to do first.

‘That’s pathetic.’

I sat quietly in the camera-free hallway lowered my head and closed my eyes. I was planning on doing that until my brain fully understood the current situation.

How much time has passed?

“I… are you okay?”

A low voice was heard. Are you a staff member not a participant?

There was a guy in the hallway who was mesmerized so I guess I just wanted to talk to him.

“yes.”

I nodded slightly indicating that I would go in when I came to my senses.

They didn’t bring a camera just because the condition looked bad… No if they were the broadcasters they would get away with it.

And as expected the sound of footsteps lightly running down the hallway was heard soon coming back again.

Did you bring a camera?

“here.”

But what blows in front of your face is… warm steam.

Smoke rising from steam.

I opened my eyes.

“I find it nice to drink a warm drink when I’m not feeling well or have no energy.”

I don’t know where it came from but I see a hand holding a white paper cup.

A black drink can be seen inside the steaming paper cup.

“Of course it varies from person to person… but the warm temperature is the same. “Try some.”

I took it and drank it.

…It was hot chocolate.

I raised my head.

“how is it?”

black hair.

“Even people who don’t like sweets say it’s okay in times like this. Would you like to try some more?”

Sun Ah-hyun in her mid-20s was there.

Chapter 389

I already knew how Sun Ah-hyun lived here.

‘Because it’s coming out.’

article.

Interview Magazine WeTube…

It is no different from reality that you can see Sun Ah-hyun’s name through auto-completion by just entering ‘Seon’ in the search box.

However the keywords are different.

…Because Sun Ah-hyun here didn’t quit ballet.

[Sun Ah-hyun wins Prix de Lausanne… The future of Korean ballet is bright]

[K-Syndrome in ballet? Sun Ah-hyun “I worked sincerely”]

After winning a prize at an international competition that only teenagers participate in he distinguished himself in various competitions and joined an overseas ballet company.

Because he was such a nice guy he became famous in Korea as soon as he got through the algorithm on WeTube and he was even filmed in a few commercials after appearing on a talk show.

So I thought there would be no chance of meeting Ryu Geon-woo unless he debuted.

The person in question suddenly jumps out and starts talking.

Without stuttering even once his tone was much more refined than that of the guy I knew.

“Would you like some coffee again?”

“…no.”

I feel like I got punched in the head. Fuck you.

I poured out the rest of the drink in my mouth and mumbled.

“thank you. “It was a good drink.”

So please go away.

“yes.”

However Seon Ah-hyun does not leave and sits quietly next to him.

‘What are you doing?’

I reflexively checked him. He is wearing a black neck-shirt that looks like casual clothing and his hair is not set.

If I came to the filming set as an idol I wouldn’t necessarily do it.

“…”

It’s not like I ever wondered why Sun Ah-hyun is in that state and not an idol.

Because I know for sure at what point in life there was a difference between Sun Ah-hyun who became an idol and this guy.

[Sehwa Arts Middle School Graduation List]

‘There was no Chae Seo-dam among my classmates.’

Seon Ah-hyeon here did not meet Chae Seo-dam in Yejung because their ages were different.

So I graduated without any problems and continued down that path majoring in ballet.

No room for deviation.

-Actually… I had body type issues to continue doing ballet.

This guy previously said he quit by talking about things like his feet and pelvis but it seems like there was also a mental cause.

Even though my physical condition has not changed I see that I am continuing to do ballet here.

'…That's why I didn't even bother to contact you.'

In fact there is no way to meet other than in an extremely unnatural way and even if you do what kind of recommendation is there?

This is for someone who has already achieved professional achievement in a completely different field at a similar age to reality.

…Even if I try to awaken him he won't just be confused.

'I was just planning to leave it to its own devices and clear it.'

I folded the paper cup and put it down without saying a word.

Then suddenly a voice interrupts.

"I'm sorry if I interrupted your rest."

"It's not like that."

Let's make up an excuse.

“I was a little surprised. “I didn’t expect to suddenly see you Seon Ah-hyun in a place like this.”

I’m not even an athlete but I said it as if I was calling the national team but it doesn’t matter.

“Thank you for your concern.”

“Ah… yes.”

He smiled faintly and opened his mouth as if to say something but his smartphone started ringing in his pocket.

Grumble.

Then his expression changed to look a little embarrassed.

“If it’s okay can you keep the fact that you met me here a secret? “I made a mistake.”

“sure.”

“thank you. ah”

Sun Ah-hyun hesitated to retrieve the paper cup I had placed on the floor and quickly ran down the hallway while answering the ringing phone.

Even in the midst of this he looks back and even bows his neck so it seems like his inner spirit is still the same.

[Why is Sun Ah-hyun here…]

I held back a sigh.

‘It’s obvious.’

We met in the middle of the hallway on the set of a program that was in full swing and you asked me to pretend not to see you?

It means appearing on a program.

Not as a private consultant giving choreography advice but as a real special appearance.

For example… Yeah. Judge.

“The theme of this performance is ‘art.’”

Filming started again.

On stage the president is excitedly holding the microphone and speaking.

‘Singers can also perform special performances in various collaborations and commemorative stages. Therefore a meaningful stage must be able to be expressed properly.’ This is the summary of the long explanation that begins with ‘.

-We’ve recruited a special artist related to our art! Must use it!

‘I guess Sun Ah-hyeon is included there.’

And as expected before even announcing the randomly formed team the president introduced them by the name of ‘special judges.’

Starting with some kind of pop art master even the orchestra conductor entered.

“This is ballerina Seon Ah-hyun.”

“wow!”

I don’t know if it’s okay to invite someone like that in a program to create a male idol group but the president seemed excited anyway.

Cha Yu-jin slapped me on the back.

“Did you see my brother??”

“okay.”

I have eyes so of course I saw it.

Fortunately Cha Yu-jin’s fuss seems to be just a reaction for broadcast. Anyway the lineup was gorgeous enough to be used for an in-house agency survival show.

‘Is it because the broadcast went well that there was more investment than before?’

There is only one person who knows.

I looked back at Cheongnyeo but of course she had a calm and weak face for broadcasting.

And when our eyes meet he grins as if he is sending a signal of his appreciation for the special judges.

‘Are you even taking reaction cuts?’

He was truly a nasty guy in many ways.

‘Of course you can read it in other ways too.’

I called up the ‘Colleague List’ from the status window.

Now if you look at this you can get a rough idea of what that guy is thinking…

[Shin Jae-hyeon: Working hard on filming (^-^)]

“…”

Can you explain this in more detail?

[Brother privacy! We must protect our colleagues’ privacy!]

Oh yes.

I quenched my appetite and turned off the status window.

Separately I felt that Big Moon was intentionally making a fuss with the pop-up. I'd be so damned embarrassed that I'd be stuck in the hallway before filming.

'It's okay now.'

okay. Filming is something I do by setting aside all of my time and space for work so it was nice to be able to exclude as many distracting thoughts as possible.

Since the sense of working is dominant you can only work towards your goals.

Thanks to this my head is less noisy.

'Useless thoughts are prohibited from now on.'

I just ended it by saying it was nice to see someone I haven't seen in a long time and it was my first home game… Well it seemed like I was having fun so that's it.

Let's end it like that.

I just waited for my team for the boss to make the announcement.

"The judges will also give you feedback as mentors so we will form a team under each judge."

I got it bastard.

Then the participants are called one by one.

They were organized into a total of 4 groups of 3 but there was nothing special about them other than the fact that Ryu Cheong-woo and Cheongryeo were in the same group.

Until I was called.

“Ryu Geon-woo Jeong Woo-dan and… Jin Chae-yul.”

“…!”

“The mentor artist is ballerina Sun Ah-hyeon.”

“…”

From Sun Ah-hyeon to Jin Chae-yul.

‘I said it was okay because it was filming but they increased the level of difficulty.’

This team match looks like it will test my patience.

* * *

“Brother we’re finally on the same team!”

“I know. Please take care of me.”

“yes! “I will work hard!”

Jin Chae-yul seemed to be in very good condition. And he also explains his reasons.

“We really… I think the boss has changed his mind. “It’s the same with the guerrilla stage and the fact that we performed together again!”

Thoughts are free. And what if my condition improved because of that?

Of course it’s not like the real boss went beyond his tastes and fell in love with the marine look stage.

I checked with my team members and mentors again and came to a conclusion.

'I gave it like this on purpose to destroy the marine look image.'

Since they were paired with a ballerino they couldn't perform a stage with a light concept like before so they even added a main stage to set the mood.

In other words I think I'm planning to cover up the image that Jin Chae-yul and I have by choosing something more impressive than the previous marine look performance.

'Your dream is big too.'

If there is a person in the world who appreciates Cheongryeo he would be the best. What kind of boss can make an agency successful despite being so stubborn about his tastes?

'Anyway… am I the leader this time too?'

Since the other two are VTIC members it doesn't matter. Both of them are probably yes men.

And wouldn't it be nice to become a leader again and get a high praise from the president?

"Then let's do our best."

"yes yes!"

"yes."

Naturally I grabbed a practice sheet and started planning.

First of all the song selection is to choose among the artists' songs from LeTi's agency and the collaboration is… dance.

…I guess so. Because my mentor is Sun Ah-hyun. Fortunately it looks like the agency's experts and Sun Ah-hyun will take care of the choreography and specific arrangements and all we have to do is come up with the concept.

I opened my mouth out of courtesy.

"Is there a concept you want to do that fits the keyword 'art'?"

I didn't expect an answer but surprisingly Chae-yul raises her hand with a very determined expression.

"Ah… I was thinking about your opinion…!"

"…!"

VTIC… has an opinion?

Let's listen first.

"Speak comfortably."

"yes! Um… there's a concept that my brother used during our last photo shoot! "That vampire concept."

"…Well there is."

The problem is that my hands and feet are shriveled to the point of being shattered.

I suppressed my sleep as I remembered the photoshoot that had surprisingly received a good response on the Internet.

"How about doing it that way? "When I think of vampires I have a feeling of elegance… and their dancing is also elegant…!"

"It sounds okay to me."

"…Yeah it's okay."

No actually it wasn't okay.

'Why?'

I found the answer in a strange sense of déjà vu.

Dance and vampires.

And LeTi artist selection.

'ah.'

This… is very similar to what we did in the first team match of <Azusa>.

-come to me

come to me

The paradise next to you is dazzling

That stage was the horror arrangement of Soft Sweet's 'To a New World'.

'Should I turn the tide?'

But now the two VTIC guys are arguing with each other and leading the conversation.

Since they were given written guidelines of 'what to do' and 'what not to do' these people also began to open their mouths.

"Have you thought of a song?"

"I'm not sure… Should we find a song from our agency that goes well with the ballet?"

"Is this song suitable for ballet? If so I guess we can first write down the songs that used dance in the choreography.”

“okay! Brother what do you think…? Do you look okay?”

Here both accurate timing and sound evidence are needed to hit the first shot.

The problem is that rationally he knows that there is no need to stop him.

‘You don’t know.’

Everyone doesn’t know anyway.

Isn’t this the world that Park Moon-dae went to in “Azusa”?

I know. Anyway that stage doesn’t exist in this world. There is no problem with using it. but…

‘shut up.’

I don’t know why you’re whining so much. There is an answer sheet just use it.

Now that it’s too late and silence can be seen as careful consideration before strange editing takes place.

I opened my mouth.

“It seems like a good approach. “I’ll look for a song too.”

“Yes!!”

Jin Chae-yul’s face became brighter.

The guy said ‘I thought I had to be helpful this time. He said something like ‘Didn’t you go through a hard time alone last time?’ and then excitedly searched WeTube.

However even though I searched through all of LeTi's songs there was no song that used dance in its choreography as much as 〈To a New World〉.

It will be so. It's a song with soft dance without strong verses so it wouldn't be strange to call it 'toxic'.

"…"

But… I guess this is okay.

"I will also look for songs that I think will go well with dance if arranged. Then it may seem like a new attraction different from the existing one so I am a candidate."

"Wow… Yes!"

I finished the selection process by finding four or five more candidate songs and listing them.

But an hour later.

Sun Ah-hyun came as a mentor and gave this advice.

"Because the rhythm of each dance is different I would like to recommend writing a song that uses existing dance choreography in terms of final quality."

"Oh then… this song?"

Chaeyul carefully traced the song with her hand.

[Soft and Sweet – To a new world]

Sun Ah-hyun smiles and nods.

"yes."

ah.

If that's the case.

"How are you feeling Geonwoo?"

"okay."

Let's do that.

"I think it will be a great stage. "I will tell you so that the choreography can be done according to the tempo as much as possible."

"yes!"

"thank you."

He took the time to kindly and detailedly teach us a few movements.

And when I was going through the camera data before returning Sun Ah-hyun suddenly approached me and spoke to me.

"I'm sorry for just pretending not to notice. "They said I wasn't allowed to talk to the contestants until the first filming…"

"no. "I was filming so of course it was."

I reflexively took out a gift in return from the front pocket of my training clothes.

"Thank you for the hot chocolate. "It was a good drink."

"yes."

Sun Ah-hyun who received the glucose candy did not take a step even though she was in the mood to leave.

I don't know why.

“excuse me…”

At that time a loud voice was heard from behind.

“Mr. Ahyeon~! Mr. Ahyeon?”

“…! “Oh I’m here.”

He must be an employee of Sun Ah-hyun’s agency.

I nodded.

“Then let’s go in and practice.”

“…yes. See you again.”

The guy walked along with the employee.

“…”

I turned around and headed to the practice room. To practice the soft and sweet song once again.

I didn’t think anything of it.

And the next time I saw Sun Ah-hyun was two days later on the day of the mid-term evaluation.

Chapter 390

If all the elements and keywords overlap the stage naturally goes towards similar results.

It might have been natural since Sun Ah-hyun did the choreography and I even took on the role of leader.

This performance is becoming more and more similar to the stage of the first team match of <Azusa>.

“Thank you for your hard work.”

“Brother here!”

“thanks.”

I wiped the sweat from my chin with a towel.

“Hyung I guess you’re good at this type of dance choreography! It’s really fast and the level of completion is already amazing…”

“I see. “You were lucky.”

Because you already know.

There was nothing I needed to learn about the revisions to the chorus choreography that I am currently practicing. Because it’s almost the same.

That’s not all.

A similar phenomenon occurs in arrangement composition.

‘…I didn’t know it would prove like this what a good choice it was.’

The expert chose a similar option to me which was my first team match at the time.

As the ‘art’ collaboration had to be completed in just one week there were more in-house experts than before to ensure stage quality.

And this is the feedback I received right before the mid-term evaluation.

“I think it would be nice to save the bridge a little more…”

“…yes.”

“Since the other two friends did a lot of the dance parts let’s handle it as a collaboration. “You go solo.”

My solo.

I did the same thing with Azusa. To appeal to the vocal stat it was arranged in a high register.

In fact this is nothing short of a sentence that the arrangement composition will be almost identical.

“how is it?”

“I completely agree…!”

But no one protests.

“…”

I relaxed my hands and opened my mouth.

“all right.”

However the arranger tapped his shoulder with a somewhat dissatisfied expression and blurted out something.

“Are you sick Geonwoo?” “Young child has no pulse.”

“…!”

It won’t work.

In survival appearing lackluster is a landmine that can lead to controversy over attitude.

Voluntary tax payment is best.

I immediately raised my voice.

“no! “I had some body aches… I’m sorry if my bad condition showed on the outside.”

“No there’s nothing to be sorry about… You should take good care of your body. Debut is just around the corner. “You know?”

“yes.”

And on the contrary the guys on both sides are whispering.

“I’m sorry bro. “I didn’t know you were sick…”

“Please at least drink some water.”

“no. “I didn’t say anything.”

I got some water from Judan and let the situation go. The arranger asks again.

“Then the bridge goes like that? “To emphasize Gunwoo’s vocals.”

“yes.”

Resistance is prohibited. From now on you have to show yourself on camera as a more dedicated person so there are no variables.

‘This is right.’

But this useless resistance was the problem. An unpleasant feeling that your skills are not working properly throughout practice.

‘Damn it.’

“Let’s take a good rest and come back tomorrow…”

“If you work harder now you’ll sleep better at night.”

“…yep.”

I finished practice that afternoon suppressing the crazy comments of my teammates who were concerned about my condition saying ‘Let’s work hard and finish early and rest.’

I can’t help but sigh.

‘Are you sane?’

If the camera is rolling and your skills depend on your mood isn’t it right to get rid of it?

Are you not doing it right? It’s hard to pick a comrade and I might have to use that reputation to improve my stats.

“Hyung what about your meal…?”

“I’ll leave after I finish this. “Eat first.”

After stretching for quite some time I headed to the restaurant.

After washing and getting an intermediate evaluation I plan to come back at night and refine it. I felt like shit.

Grumble.

Perhaps because it was not dinner time there was no one in the restaurant. Except for one guy who was using it like a reading room.

“Hello brother. “Sit here.”

Cheongryeo.

I immediately checked the corner of the wall and the dining table. The guy laughs heartily.

“There are no cameras. “But we can still talk right?”

“…”

I put some food on the plate and sat down across from him. The guy who was checking the notes on the choreography moves asks.

“You’re not sick are you?”

Since we were sharing a practice room I guess I heard something here too.

“Why can’t I check something when I know it?”

“hmm? “No I’m just checking.”

The guy closes the notebook and asks in a light tone.

“Isn’t this the first time you’ve used a piece of work that received a good response in a different context?”

“…”

“You seem to care a lot.”

How on earth did you do this?

These words came up to my throat but of course I didn’t say them. I guess I did it because I couldn't not do it.

"Is that the stage? "The stage performed in the first team match of 'Idol Inc.'"

"okay."

"The first stage is very impressive. "I still remember it too."

This guy's first stage?

"Now that I think about it… I also did it in survival. "Here."

"…"

"We have quite a few interesting things in common. "Isn't that right?"

The guy stared into space for a moment and said nothing but then smiled.

"are you okay. Once you try this you realize it's nothing. Are you saying this isn't reality anyway? Rather it would be vain."

"…That could be possible."

I half-heartedly lowered the food on the plate to the side.

I can't believe I'm saying this to this guy.

"But the problem is that the feeling of rejection affects your physical condition."

"Oh my."

The guy closed the note he was writing down. And speak quietly.

"Don't practice anymore today and go to bed early. And eat well."

“…”

“A person’s ability to think is surprisingly influenced by their physical condition. “Do you have any plans to manage it?”

I nodded my head slowly. The guy shrugs his shoulders.

“Okay… if you think you can’t decide did you think of an alternative?”

“Why are you doing that?”

chin!

I roughly put down my glass of water.

“There is a right answer and I can do it.”

“I know.”

The guy smiled and got up from his seat. And he pointed to my tray with his chin.

“Empty that and sleep.”

“…”

I nodded. The guy went out.

“after.”

I feel like I’ve lost my appetite which I never had before.

[You really need to eat rice…]

Wouldn’t it be better to just shovel glucose into your mouth rather than test the possibility of eating it and gaining weight?

[Is that possible!?]

I chuckled at the scary pop-up. I've sorted out what to do in the future but my condition has calmed down further.

'Once you do it it'll be okay… '

The problem is that that expectation is also unpleasant. Damn it.

After a few minutes I put all the food on the plate on top. It wasn't a very pleasant feeling.

And by the time I got up after putting away the food tray.

Grumble.

I hear the restaurant door opening. I didn't really look but I heard the sound.

The voice.

"ah."

"…!"

I turned my head.

The guy I saw two days ago is standing there.

Black haired Sun Ah-hyeon.

"hello. "It's nice to see you again."

"…"

I lowered my head and then raised it. But the guy threw up his hand.

"It's okay if you don't do that…! "I hope you can speak comfortably."

“You appeared as a mentor but you can’t do that.”

“But we’re not filming right now.”

He smiled faintly carefully closed the restaurant door and came inside.

Why?

“Thanks to good traffic conditions and arriving early I was able to wander around and end up here.”

Is that so?

“Can I sit here too?”

I don’t think there would be any participant who would say no to their mentor.

“yes.”

“thank you…!”

I don’t know what I’m thankful for. It has become difficult to even get up. I was worried as I looked at the plate of food I had finished eating.

Then a soft voice is heard first.

“I enjoyed the candy you gave me. Because it’s a candy I eat sometimes too. Um to replenish stamina during intermission.”

“yes.”

okay. I remember this guy spitting out in the middle of the concert when it was time to eat.

Here… we’re talking about the ballet performance intermission.

There was guaranteed break time during the intermission so there wouldn't have been any spitting in the middle.

"…"

"…"

The conversation ends with a short answer and silence continues. Still this guy opens his mouth again as if he has no intention of stopping talking.

"Actually when I saw him in the hallway… he looked familiar so I thought he might be someone I knew."

what?

"But when I got closer I realized it wasn't the right time to ask that. "You look like you're in pain."

"It's called pain."

Sun Ah-hyun flinched slightly but nodded.

"yes. You look in pain. yet."

"…"

It seems like… I must have been in such a state of disrepair that I could read this and that.

'On camera?'

No I made the excuse that my condition was bad so it will be okay. I did my best without missing practice and I never verbally abused anyone so that's about it…

"You have no obligation to confide in me but… I still hope you find someone to talk to. "This is my counselor's number…"

"it's okay."

Stop it.

“…yes. sorry. “I was too presumptuous.”

Sun Ah-hyeon’s face becomes blurred. I held back a sigh. And while I was trying to exhale I blurted out an answer without realizing it.

“It’s not presumptuous.”

“yes.”

“It’s just that… we’ve already done a stage with the same song and the same concept.”

“…This stage?”

“yes.”

I lowered my gaze.

“…This is my first performance with all my close friends who I can’t see now so I don’t feel like being the first to appear on TV with what I’m doing now.”

This is why I wonder if I’m sane even after saying this.

Sun Ah-hyun’s face became blurred. Do you see any similar thoughts?

“Then… why didn’t you tell me if it was so hard?”

Why?

“Because the results will be better that way.”

“…!”

“The response to that stage was good. “I’m not stupid enough to not use something that’s been proven.”

This reaction could be misunderstood as a month-end evaluation from another agency. I guess it doesn't matter.

"…"

Sun Ah-hyun looked at the table for a moment and said nothing.

But he soon spoke in a firm voice.

"Good results are not necessarily the answer. "The answer is to choose without suffering."

"…!"

It was an unprofessional remark. However Sun Ah-hyun did not soften.

"Victory is not achieved only if you go against your unwillingness head-on."

He hesitated and added in a faint voice.

"I… lived while ignoring my heart too much and it was painful."

"…"

"And Gunwoo can definitely put on a good performance even if he changes his route. "There is no right answer when it comes to staging and interpretation."

And it was sorted out gently.

"therefore. "It's okay to not insist on suffering with the mindset that you must overcome it. An alternative can also be the right answer."

I didn't find the answer.

I will not deny that the content was shocking and that I was instantly taken aback.

But one more thing.

'…I thought I was living well without any difficulties.'

A refined speaking style that does not stutter proactive communication in unfamiliar situations and success that is close to achievement.

He is the one who already has everything that Sun Ah-hyun was trying to get back from the original world.

Doesn't anyone look like this guy is living well?

But why is this guy talking like that… or is he talking about heartbeat to a guy he's never seen before?

please…

[brother?]

'ah.'

The silence was too long.

I barely answered.

"…thank you. "I will take note of it."

Although it was not an answer that she would do so Sun Ah-hyun nodded quite happily.

"no. "You must have been surprised that a stranger suddenly said something like this but thank you for accepting it as an adult."

"no. "I was comforted by your advice."

"Then I'm glad."

The atmosphere barely warmed up. I was just lucky that the cameras weren't rolling.

Sun Ah-hyun suggested this with a brighter face.

"And… our age difference isn't that big. "You can call me as you please."

"Then mentor please stop talking first."

"Oh um… if you let go first."

The guy smiled vaguely. I thought so.

And before I could say anything more the guy's employee called me like last time.

"Shouldn't you go?"

"ah. yes."

Only then did he stand up.

"Even if the song changes I will tell you that we discussed it so don't worry."

He then said something absurd and left the restaurant.

Still I feel a little at ease because it was said by a guy called a mentor.

'You don't have to… '

[Brother… I think Ahyeon is right. If you don't like it isn't it okay to not do it??]

That's separate from shock. If necessary you should do it.

Deuddeuddeung!

The pop-up trembles like a jeer.

‘Stop it.’

I won’t change it to something like that.

Then this time it shrinks as if dejected.

[ㅠㅠ… Then you think it’s just a cover stage collaboration or something? No it’s not like we’re doing another Azusa with my brother! Just think of it as doing it with your junior!]

It sounds like nonsense but it was also a surprisingly persuasive statement.

Yes it’s definitely a different time and a completely different program. If you clearly recognize that the two are separate situations…

“…!”

for a moment.

[brother?]

okay.

‘You’re right.’

[yes?]

I was mistaken.

〈Azusa〉 and 〈Wise〉 are not the same program. Not only is the year different but the process and appeal to the demand group are also different.

‘In other words the evaluation criteria are different.’

Moreover aren't the number of members together and the theme and composition of the performance different?

〈Azusa〉 Even if it was a perfect answer in the first team match there is no guarantee that it will be the same here.

And if we recalculate the situation taking that difference into account… Azusa's first team fight is not the perfect answer here.

'Ah… you stupid bastard.'

Do you realize this now?

[Um… Then?]

I came to a clear conclusion.

'…I think I need to make some changes.'

[Oooh!]

I smiled and returned the tray.

The place where everything was cleaned was clean.

And before starting the mid-term evaluation we gathered the team members in the living room.

"Oh bro!"

"I heard you were taking a shower."

"I have something to tell you."

I spoke without hesitation.

"When I wondered why it felt so uncomfortable there was one factor we hadn't considered."

“yes?”

“Mentor.”

okay.

This time the mentor not only participated and advised on stage composition but also briefly participated in the stage.

Such as drawing pop art in the intro then exiting and appearing by tearing up the painting or even having an orchestra provide live accompaniment.

“Our mentor is a ballerina.”

“Right… right?”

“We have to stop him from eating us.”

There are no cameras in the living room yet. I spoke without hesitation.

“So we can’t do the same choreography. “The correct answer is that the two create synergy with different feelings making the stage more refreshing.”

“oh…”

They look at each other and Chae-yul speaks first.

“So… are you making changes?”

“There are some elements to delete and add.”

I closed my mouth for a moment and then opened my mouth subtly.

“Of course it seems like it will be a bit of a forced march until the end…”

The guy's face brightened.

"are you okay. great!"

"Let's try. what."

It is indeed VTIC. I can't be happier that the yes men aren't going anywhere.

"good."

I opened the notebook I brought with me.

And after the mid-term evaluation which was full of confusion and anticipation and worry at the sound of 'it will be half-renovated'…

A few days later.

The day of the performance has arrived.

Chapter 391

The day when LeTi Survival presents an ambitious performance stage with the theme of ‘art’.

Stage backstage.

“Shall we shout some slogans?”

“yes!”

Following the teammate who responded loudly and held out his hand Liu Chengwu also extended a hand.

“Let’s do well on Team D where everyone is good!”

It was participant Shin Jae-hyeon who smiled and asked for a slogan. As far as he knows Cheongnyeo.

Although he was the leader of VTIC he was also the person who was now caught up in this strange situation.

‘I never thought we’d be on stage together like this.’

It was an unexpected thing for Liu Chengwu. The same goes for the situation itself where you return to the past and go to college with Ryu Geon-woo.

‘It’s like a daydream.’

I never dreamed I would face such a surreal situation. But I managed to accept it as some kind of different life experience.

The stage preparation with this VTIC leader went extremely smoothly.

‘Extremely… everything is used in the right place.’

From participants to trainers.

It was surprising. The process of putting together the pictures that were already in my head one by one was so solid that it gave me goosebumps.

Although it was a bit mechanical… it seemed like he was a more capable leader in commanding the stage than he was.

‘I need to train more on what I’m good at.’

Liu Qingwu decided to do so instead of smiling bitterly at his desire to win.

“Now you can wait.”

“yes!”

The manned camera that recorded the slogan leaves in search of the next batter leaving only the installed camera behind in the backstage.

Since their performance was the last Liu Chengwu watched the entire performance from the waiting room below.

‘Good job.’

Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin were torn apart and moved into different groups one by one each showing great contributions.

-Yeah!

He recalled Cha Yu-jin who was the center of the Action Paint performance and Kim Rae-bin who led the arrangement almost alone while chatting excitedly with the orchestra conductor.

‘Especially Ravin he’s really great.’

The growth was almost visible.

I felt that way even when I was doing Azusa but it seemed like I was definitely a genius.

“hmm.”

And the third stage right before them was about to unfold right before their eyes.

The stage of Park Moon-dae and VTIC members.

It was a combination that would have made people faint in real life but that wasn’t the problem now.

‘…I guess it’ll be okay.’

As soon as he saw the team’s first choreography in the practice room he remembered what Cha Yu-jin had whispered to him.

-That’s the stage! ‘October 31’!

The stage of the first team of “Azusa” was so impressive that Cha Yu-jin even remembered the team name.

‘I was destroyed without mercy.’

If we had been lucky enough to be on Ryu Cheong-woo’s team we could have been on the same team but that team was split with a single button.

‘I pretended it wasn’t the case at the time but it was actually quite disappointing.’

Liu Qingwu almost smiled vaguely as he recalled the memory of that time which now feels like a memory but he stopped.

This is because while practicing for this stage which was exactly like that stage I was reminded of Park Moon-dae’s condition.

To put it bluntly it looked completely dead and sunken.

-are you okay?

-okay. are you okay.

-Are you sick?? Where does it hurt?

-no. It's not painful.

His complexion was at a level where he had no complexion at all.

What's worse is that even though they were from different teams he and other testa members snooped around a few times.

However it was difficult to say anything as everyone (except Kim Rae-bin) guessed the reason.

Because you can't carelessly say 'what you should do' about a stage that is not yours.

This is especially true for those who pledge while appearing on survival programs 'I will definitely win the grand prize and get out of here.'

'But if it had been like that for a few more days I would have tried to talk more.'

The situation has changed a bit since the mid-term evaluation.

Park Moon-dae changed the stage composition.

-There won't be time…

-Still we think it's worth the challenge.

As Park Mun-dae said that the light had returned to his eyes and he seemed to have regained his usual firmness.

It didn't shake.

Cha Yu-jin neatly summarized her position.

-I think about Moon Dae too much. I need to practice doing less this time. We are watching.

Although Cha Yu-jin was one of the youngest members she was also a member who knew how to hit the nail on the head in unexpected ways.

So Ryu Cheong-woo decided not to interfere with Park Moon-dae this time.

And the results were scheduled to unfold on that stage now.

He planned to take a closer look at the stage where all the sets were installed slightly removing his upper body but…

"My brother is always good on stage."

"…! yes. "That's right."

The leader of VTIC spoke next to me.

The other person who was younger than him now but could not bear to say anything was looking at the stage with quite joyful eyes.

"You prepared something like this."

"…"

Liu Chengyu turned his head.

The stage that started was already projecting a snowy birch forest.

-…

A bell rings and a yellow moon rises on the slowly darkening stage.

And a ringing female chorus.

-Ah- ha ha Ah- ha ha

Beautiful minor harmony.

And in keeping with that unsettling chord a seal is revealed between the trees.

Three slim silhouettes wearing black hoods.

The limbs fall out between them. A short and intense intro performance with overlapping white arms clad in linen.

-Woo! oooo oo oo

And to the final chorus the three stand tall again. Hoods are passed one by one in order of formation.

The vocals that harmonize with the exposed white face resonate on the stage like a stream of water.

-It's cold outside

Come here come in!

Let's drink with us tonight

"…!"

It was Carol.

The English title of last year's LeTi agency's joint winter special album.

The retro carol reminiscent of the 19th century did not achieve great success among the public but it created a cult-like fan base on the Internet.

The classic and warm melody was transformed into an elegant and secret feeling when met with exaggerated orchestral accompaniment.

The reason that's possible is…

'The accompaniment is 〈To a New World〉.'

That's right.

There was no restriction to only one song selection.

Instead of completely twisting and unconventionally arranging 'To a New World' like he did in 'Azusa' Park Moon-dae borrowed the accompaniment from the original song.

The dark melody changed to a minor key combines with the melody of an elegant orchestra representing a flower fairy to liven up the atmosphere.

And the song changes to a rhythm suitable for dance.

-this night

The sound of a bell outside the window

Ding-dong Ding-dong

The first verse is like a ballad.

The two members perform a performance where they grab Chae-yul's waist and lift her while she is lying down. A big movement that catches the eye.

Ryu Geon-woo's low-pitched chords which supported Chae-yul's vocals are round and solid like water drops.

-Ding-dong Ding-dong

The first verse which begins like that is an appropriate mix of storytelling and idol-like choreography.

The participants did not smile for the sake of atmosphere as they were acting as vampires but they did all other facial expressions well with gestures.

Instead of screaming ‘I’m a vampire’ with fangs or blood makeup it’s an indirect way to infer it through costume style and choreographic gestures.

The hooded robe flutters like a cape revealing a costume with a fancy chain underneath.

-Beautiful winter sounds

Ding-dong Ding-dong

The voice of winter

The red lining inside the robe waves.

After the pre-chorus choreography in which the dancer grabs his neck with both hands and turns his upper body the group dance with its strengths and weaknesses controlled exquisitely unfolds until the chorus.

The dark and dense orchestra becomes grandiose again after the chorus.

-Tonight!

In the middle of winter

Lal lalalalala!

The moment the first verse ends with the three people dispersing their movements in all directions with an impressive pose of leaning their whole bodies. Above the subdued accompaniment.

A piano melody slides into the center of the empty stage.

-♬♪ ♪♪♪ – ♬♬♪- ♪

And what begins is… the verse melody of 〈To a New World〉.

Here a new character appears on stage.

A white hand appears from behind a tree in time with the music.

And soon he stretches out his arms and his whole body appears on the stage.

-♪♫

He is a black-haired ballerino mentor wearing a white costume that reveals his silhouette.

Light turn. And Grand Jotte.

The movement of jumping in the air is controlled so as not to be excessive creating a beautiful balance with the background like a doll in a snowball.

And a voice like a music box.

-Can’t you feel me.

On the left side of the stage Inyoung wearing a hood turns around again.

“…!”

Ryu Geon-woo.

He held the head microphone with both hands and sang the lyrics softly and softly.

-Your warm touch

It wakes me up it's beautiful

spring garden

The lighting warms up to a beige color and the winter atmosphere disappears for a moment.

The perfect ballerino movements that look powerful and beautiful follow.

Arabesque.

-Umuum Umuum…

But it's a moment.

At the end of the bridge bar the moment when the orchestra rushes into the song again.

The ballerino leaves the stage as if running away.

And in an instant the three figures snatch that spot again.

Performers in colorful outfits throwing their hoods and pushing forward.

Cold lighting fills the stage like it explodes again.

-Woo! oooo oo oo

And then the chorus choreography begins again. However this time a new movement was mixed into the movement line.

Turns and jumps like the ballerina did just before.

However it was cleverly structured.

‘It feels different.’

It seems as if it is imitating it but it is a dance-pop movement of a genre that is significantly different from ballet.

So that you can just feel the quality of the rushing stage as one without being able to directly compare the quality.

-In the snowy garden

in a teacup in a sugar bowl

The film is filled with provocative idol group dances and close-up gestures.

And a powerful ending.

-The bell rings ring ri-ring

ring-ring-ring

The end of a static composition that flexibly turns the head in a different direction.

All the notes come together as one mixed with the tearing arrangement and high-pitched ad-lib vocals.

And finally the people smiling and looking straight ahead raise their arms.

-The winter is… in!!

The music is over.

And on the stage where all action stopped.

Wow!!!

Applause and cheers pour in without exception. Even screaming cheers.

good job!

People wearing robes adjust their posture nod and smile.

A dizzying intense and dark stage.

It seemed a bit difficult as if it was intentional.

If it were a different stage there would have been a risk of being criticized for being too experimental and ignoring popularity.

But this time the keyword is ‘art’

The expectations of both the audience and the judges will be slightly different.

“hmm.”

Liu Chengwu slightly turned his head and looked directly in front of the audience.

Sure enough you can also see the CEO twitching the corner of his mouth and slightly raising his thumb.

Like it was very good.

‘and.’

It’s fun!

Even though Liu Chengwu knew that it was his turn next he eventually smiled and applauded loudly.

* * *

The stage is over.

“Whoop.”

I took off my hood and held it in my hands.

It was fucking cool.

‘what.’

The feeling of liberation is enormous. Anyone who sees it will think that they have already won the grand prize.

I folded up the hood and sent it to the staff.

‘I passed it.’

I know it without even looking at the score. This worked. His head which had been soggy as if he was stuck in a swamp is spinning tightly as if it were a lie.

‘It’s a direct line.’

There is nothing like the stage adrenaline that comes with it.

I stroked my forehead.

“brother!”

At that time a guy in a paint-covered costume runs up and grabs his arm.

Yujin Cha.

“Brother you’re great. “It’s so cool!”

“100 million.”

No wait a minute… This bastard puts his arm around someone else’s neck and gives him strength?

Is this American football crazy guy trying to blow my head off? I managed to get out after repairing my almost broken neck.

Then I heard a quiet voice.

“Brother I will tell you in advance.”

what.

“You can use the stage you originally did with me however you want. “Never mind!”

“…!”

And he alternately points to his head and chest with the arm that almost broke my neck earlier.

“Our stage is here. And it’s in reality. Even if you use it in the multiverse it won’t disappear!”

“…”

“We must not forget that. “Okay?”

If I had heard this a few days ago I would have interpreted it as ‘so do it properly’ and would have been gritting my teeth and pounding my head against the wall.

But after it was over and my head was clear I listened to it… and there was nothing that sounded so right.

‘Was it me who was buried?’

I never thought I would be the first to taste it in this strange situation. I laughed and hit the guy on the shoulder.

“okay.”

“Then that’s it!”

The guy grinned.

“And I use it however I want. “Get ready to see!”

“Oh okay.”

I changed my clothes as I watched him being taken away for an interview.

And after a while the guy who finished his performance and came down spoke to me as soon as he arrived in the waiting room.

Liu Chengwu.

Chapter 392

Ryu Cheng-wu who had passed the microphone and walked over sat down next to the sofa in the waiting room and spoke.

“I enjoyed the good performance.”

“yes.”

And after a while he asks briefly.

“Are you okay?”

I chuckled. As expected this guy noticed it too.

“uh. “It’s okay.”

Even looking back now with a more rational mind it was funny. I can’t believe I’m getting so nervous just because I’m covering the first stage.

‘I thought it was a bit uncomfortable but I could have just used it to escape anyway.’

[No! It was a situation worthy of shock!]

Is that so?

Let’s be honest.

I am not the type of person who gets hurt by petty emotional fights. But now I understand why I was so stupid.

[what…]

It’s simple.

‘It was sad.’

Starting with the first escape from the home horse and continuing to prove like a proof shot that ‘you are no longer Testa Park Moon-dae’ my mentality was irrationally shattered.

That much… means that I am attached to that reality.

…No not ‘a little’ but ‘a lot’.

I crossed my arms.

‘…It’s my first time.’

[yes?]

And I admitted it.

‘It was the first time that my condition deteriorated because of something like this.’

[omg!]

It wasn’t like anyone had died or the landlord had scammed me and I couldn’t get my deposit but I didn’t expect to feel so helpless.

I opened my mouth and added.

“This won’t happen again in the future.”

Because it was the first time the response was inadequate. That won’t happen in the future. Because I knew how to control it.

[Oh~ What method?]

Why is this guy writing so loudly?

I declared calmly.

Is there something that you just don't feel like doing even though there is no other solution right away?

'Then you don't have to think about it anymore.'

[oh.]

'Don't think about it just do it if the situation calls for it and if you feel bad enough to not be effective get rid of it.'

This is the fastest.

I can't believe I haven't practiced this simple truth. I nodded inwardly.

[Hyung… that's really a healthy method right? [I think]

It's my opinion so I do as I please. Got it?

[yes…]

The pop-up shook. And Liu Chengwu's answer was heard at the same time.

"You could really do that but it's still okay to confide in your mind when it's complicated."

When I turn my head Liu Chengwu makes a small hand gesture.

…It's the Testa logo.

"Because we can understand each other. "Okay?"

"…"

[Did you hear??]

I nodded. Liu Chengwu just smiled without saying anything else.

I didn't feel bad.

After that we went back up to the empty stage where the audience had left and filmed the finale cut for this shoot.

Looking at the president's face it seemed like everyone liked this performance.

The participants were also a bit excited and the filming ended in a rare good atmosphere.

"Hyung Gunwoo! "I heard you had body aches!"

And I got ready to go home with Raebin Kim giving me a grandmother's cup of coffee that was said to be 'good for body aches'.

"…??"

For your information I thought I was taking care of this guy so I could eat it so I was going to refuse but a list of various misunderstandings that this guy might make when I refuse came to mind.

-Because it looks shabby!

-Because I don't eat food prepared by others!

-It was late in the filming so I was afraid the deadline for eating Sujeonggwa would have passed!

…I clearly agreed. If I don't want to have any problems with that old lady I'll have to call her over for a meal or something before the next photoshoot.

So when packing you are putting even this water bottle in your bag.

Around me I can hear the excited sounds of the guys sharing the waiting room.

"Hey aren't we all debuting together like this?"

“Oh that’s a bit much… I think that would be better than getting eliminated.”

“Oh this guy knows how to make some profit?”

For your information there is no need to go with Cheongnyeo since they are bastards.

‘What have you done in the past few years?’

I looked at the two guys who seemed fine so far then gathered my things and went out into the hallway. The others will be waiting in the lobby.

And this time it was the moment when I was about to leave the filming set.

A voice I heard from across the hallway echoes.

“Ahyeon please wait just a moment!”

“yes.”

…Seon Ah-hyun and her staff.

The sound of an employee running somewhere is heard and Sun Ah-hyun comes around the corner.

‘hmm.’

And the moment our eyes met he

I walked straight away.

“I was going to say hello but this is how I see you!”

“Oh yeah.”

I bowed my head like a participant who met a mentor who had successfully completed the performance.

For your information I thought this guy would give points to other teams' performances but surprisingly he calmly scored points showing that he was able to maintain the honors class smoothly.

As a mentor he had the highest specifications.

"thank you. Thanks to you I finished the stage well."

"no! "Thanks to you I had a really fun performance."

Sun Ah-hyun slightly waved her hand and blushed.

"I rarely perform on stage using popular music in this way… so it was refreshing. thank you."

"…"

Now stop thinking say hello and then part ways. Let's go like that.

However Seon Ah-hyeon speaks again.

"And… I really wanted to tell you this but the revised draft was better than before."

"…"

"I think you found a better answer. and."

Sun Ah-hyun spoke her next words softly and carefully.

"Introducing the counseling teacher… I'm still okay."

ah.

I have to ask about this.

Why on earth is this guy seeing a counselor here?

“May I ask how you met the counselor?”

At this level it would feel like a reasonable amount of interest and reliability verification.

I planned ahead to withdraw the question if he hesitated.

However Sun Ah-hyun answered calmly:

“She was listed in my agency contract.”

hmm?

“After all arts and physical education is always a battle with yourself. Counseling is also included in the basic curriculum.”

“…ah.”

So… it was artist welfare.

‘Then what context did he come from when he said that he was in pain too?’

I looked at him to see if he was lying. In real life he was a guy that was obvious to the point where he couldn’t do anything but he can hide it pretty well here.

But there is no sign.

‘I’m not lying.’

And perhaps because she thought I was thinking about it Seon Ah-hyun added.

“Performers must control not only their physical condition but also their mental condition.”

“Um yes.”

“So if you want I will contact you in advance. Well… you can probably get about 5 sessions for free.”

“…”

It wasn’t until I got there that I realized what I was seeing when I saw Sun Ah-hyun’s smiling face.

This… I see.

‘I made it sound like pain on purpose.’

By lowering the hurdle by forming a consensus the depressed person can talk about his difficulties and feel at ease.

‘I can’t believe you didn’t notice this.’

I looked at him with somewhat confused eyes.

Wait a minute… doesn’t that mean this guy is just extremely healthy?

This means that you are building your career by receiving as much care as you can.

[Is… Is that so?]

okay.

He has the composure to talk to and show favors to strangers who seem complicated.

The tension melts away.

‘I am indeed.’

“…it’s okay. “Actually someone was recommended to me by a friend in advance.”

“Ah… I see.”

I guessed excessively without any basis. It seems like the accident happened because my condition wasn’t that good. I clicked my tongue and withdrew all my assumptions.

Sun Ah-hyun asked again with a smile on her face.

“Then… shall we exchange greetings sometimes?”

“Good.”

I entered the number into his smartphone without any problems. Isn’t it funny to refuse here? It’s not like throwing gloves in someone’s face.

‘Anyway if I leave the country to do ballet I won’t have to see you here in person again.’

Wouldn’t it be better to go back to reality and take a look?… I honestly don’t know if the guy who lives here would welcome that.

‘Well you only have to worry about things like this after you win the lottery.’

Even though I can’t even pick it up I still end up with kimchi soup. I immediately stopped thinking.

‘It means controlling it in this way.’

It’s going well.

I shook hands with him out of habit just like I did with people in the industry I exchanged contact information with. I nodded.

“Then I’ll just go in. “Good luck to you mentor.”

“I’m not a mentor anymore so you can call me as you please.”

A persistent guy. I didn't know I would have to call you by this name too.

"…Then brother please go home safely."

Sun Ah-hyun smiles brightly and nods.

"yes… If you have any concerns please feel free to contact me at any time."

"You're being too generous to someone you've just become an acquaintance of."

Sun Ah-hyun had a blank expression on her face and then smiled slightly.

"I just want to do that."

Yes he's still a fanboy and nothing has changed.

That's how I got contact information with ballerina Seon Ah-hyun that I could communicate with without having to draw a partner.

[Seonahyeon hyung]

…although the save name was like this.

[Oh brother! lobby!]

"ah."

yes.

After breaking up with Sun Ah-hyun I immediately went out to the lobby.

And before I could even get to the front door I was caught again.

“Hyung Gunwoo! “Are you coming in?”

The two people who were teammates in this team match.

It is the main dan and the chaeyul.

“okay. “I’m on my way in.”

I was a little tired after talking to so many people today. But I couldn’t treat the guys who had just performed with me poorly so I stopped.

‘Do you want to talk about the stage?’

Then the two bow their heads deeply.

And Jin Chae-yul says this.

“Thank you for always leading us well even though you are not feeling well! Next time I will become a more reliable team member.”

Judan adds.

“Even more so when I debut.”

“That’s right even more so when you debut!”

“…”

I’m sure he wasn’t very happy about my condition but why would he even say thank you?

Moreover the composition I requested while revising was so important that expressiveness was difficult even for those who had already debuted.

It would have been difficult for those whose abilities had not yet fully improved to follow but they just kept their mouths shut and followed diligently.

‘…They are guys with good guts.’

I opened my mouth.

“…It was a lot of hard work. “I will take good care of myself and come back healthy from now on.”

“…! yes!”

I will admit it. They were guys worth working with.

I looked at Jin Chae-yul who was laughing as if her cheeks were bursting.

Maybe the home team will watch this performance because of this guy… but wouldn’t it be better to like someone on my team?

It’s better than not watching my performance at all.

“The stage was really good too. Thanks to you it was fun. thank you.”

“haha…”

“me too.”

Even without consciously stopping my thoughts my mind was surprisingly at ease.

“I hope our performance airs soon! Oh shall we watch it together?”

“No that’s a bit much.”

“Ah… I’m sorry.”

“No it airs after we start filming.”

“Hyap.”

I just laughed it off. Anyway I have to debut with these guys now but… I didn't think life would be that hard.

And when I finally started returning home 〈Wise〉 had already aired in full including the guerrilla concert episode.

'I guess I'll have to check public opinion.'

As we have been away from smartphones for a while inspection was essential. I immediately got online.

And I was embarrassed.

-Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy? Brother Ryu are you crazy?

-I found the perfect combination. It was Ryu Geon-woo and Cheongwoodan. When I added Jeongwoodan my face turned around.

-Wolf Ryu Cheong-woo Husky Ryu Geon-woo Arctic fox Chae-yul… We decided to call this the Gangjwisang Spectrum.

-Thank you for being an idol. I really… love you.

"…"

I thought I was going to be criticized for a long time because of the club memo and the corruption of blood ties and all. It's already a party atmosphere where no one has been eliminated.

Even all kinds of participants had accounts with their faces as profile pictures.

All viewers including you are putting up placards for Ryu Cheong-woo.

'what.'

I immediately went to the search engine.

Chapter 393

There was a pile of reactions to the episodes that aired on the Internet. Let's sort it in chronological order and drive.

First of all it's episode 7 but before that let's take a look at basic public opinion.

This is the ecosystem after episode 6 when the sexy keyword concept stage completed by Cheongryeo picking up Ryu Geon-woo an outsider was aired.

-A stage that seems to shout that this is the essence of Leti.

-This is the first time in my life that I have ever been jealous of the stage floor…

-If I just debut like this my savings will be taken away. Why are you doing survival? Let them all debut.

-The most surprising thing is that there are two new trainees from the Bojung class on this stage. The color of the agency is very clear and the leader named Shin Jae-hyun who carries it out perfectly… [See more]

To be honest I thought there would be more peripheral reactions because I used keywords like sexy but at this point analysis comments about the stage occupied the top spot.

'It means there are a lot of people who come back and keep watching.'

And it means that there are many people who give narratives. It also means that the group's image is gradually improving.

'Cha Yu-jin was also completely accepted.'

The fact that Cha Yu-jin who used to be a heterogeneous person completely accepted Letty's color creates a synergy and creates an influx of people to the stage itself.

Yes viewers were already predicting the debut member lineup by this time.

-The 9 members of Kim Tae-in's debut group that I expected to pick (photo)

-The key question is who will be added. Will the president stick to his own stubbornness or will he pay attention to the public?

Please vote quickly so that President Kim Tae-in can take notice (Link)

After the program more and more people began to trace the outline of the debut group. Even the aggro announcement at the end of episode 6 about the appearance of the public support supplementary team didn't really work.

Everyone thought of it as just a passing obstacle and focused on existing participants.

But episode 7.

Liu Chengwu appeared.

-omg

-That was a spoiler.

-Is this crazy Geon-woo's relative? What did everyone know? Am I the only one who doesn't know?

At first everyone was surprised by the unexpected new face of a big name in another field but it was also very exciting.

…I think my reaction also played a role.

[From now on let's see the person's reaction when a relative who was living alone suddenly appears on set as a participant.]

A cut from my interview appears above the subtitles flowing in red letters.

[Ryu Geon-woo:… So.]

[Ryu Geon-woo: (unable to continue speaking)]

[It took a day for Geon-woo to regain his fluency in speaking.]

'Damn it.'

I knew it would be like this those guys at the broadcasting station… The exquisite close-up of the stupid-looking face mixed with the interview cut of a similar-looking person made it a good entertainment cut in a tense atmosphere.

– Hahahahaha I guess the shock was severe.

-Ah Gunu is cute but I guess I was too. Actually even now what's going on?

Gradient confusion

-How did you really come here?

And with Ryu Cheong-woo's honest interview and the serious and cooperative preparation process the on-air response was favorable.

That is until spoilers spread widely.

———————————

[Have you seen Letiserva?]

Is it true that Ryu Cheong-woo gets in and Choi Tae-joon falls out?

———————————

-??

-That kind of thing doesn't happen unless the boss goes crazy.

The eliminated candidates were selected based on audience voting scores…

Huh

-Oh no way… this isn't real.

However until this time public opinion was that it was a fake spoiler or a mess so it seemed like it had managed to stay under water due to tension.

And viewer public opinion which was unexpected exploded only after episode 8 was aired.

-You got all the spoilers right crazy.

-I was sad when he dropped out of national college and went to college but now that he's even an idol I wonder what he's doing.

-Honestly who is to blame for this shit? Haha Genius <- To be honest their friends pushed this too.

Look at what they say to the eliminated candidate. Do you know this is a malicious comment?

Kkkkkkk seizure so transparent~

-What can we do about the fact that Ryu Cheong-woo was so good and performed well on stage?

Think carefully about whether you would have said this even if you were not on the same team as Ryu Geon-woo.

The general opinion on the negative side is that I was so good that my relative Liu Chengwu got on the bus.

Ryu Geon-woo's spirit of challenge jumping into the main vocal VS main vocal battle was an appealing character in survival.

However it is also suspicious that Ryu Cheong-woo chose that team…

'I thought there would be side effects.'

In fact there was an atmosphere that went beyond the line to talk about manipulation and deep-rooted corruption but it turned around again as even the public not just viewers questioned this aggro.

-Wow Ryu Cheong-woo is trying to become an idol? lol

-When did Maknaeng grow so much? He's still so great;

Because Ryu Cheng-wu is a gold medalist.

'Public favorability is unconditionally high overall.'

Even if 〈Wise〉 is doing very well it is only an idol survival entertainment show. There is a gap with the general public.

-So you're criticizing me for winning the vote?;;; Wow bizarre

-Ah this crossed the line.

-This is the problem with Idols especially Reti's. It's so bad… They're even beating up the national team that won gold medals just to support idols in their life.

Thanks to this even people who didn't watch the program joined in and it almost became a mess… but the self-cleaning effect worked to some extent and the people who were criticizing it were suppressed.

Still resentment was seething beneath the surface…

This happened before the guerrilla concert.

[Wise Taejun Choi video moxibustion]

Club memo capture video of this guy drinking and smoking.

A person who had a birthday party at a bar was found to have captured a few seconds at the end of a video posted on social media a few years ago and was pulled up.

Comparing it to the guy's appearance at the time I couldn't even get away with it and even verified my identity.

-and…

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

And everyone coolly changed their stance.

-Foresight came true

-Kim Tae-in wins 1st time

-The audience's insight is top notch in Korea. I reflect on my ignorance and ignorance.

-Wow I avoided this.

Now if it had exploded in the middle the fans' heads would have exploded in pain.

Choi Tae-jun is good and has a lot of fans and since he is the president's pick he is unlikely to be eliminated.

You spend the whole night in pain afraid that your boss will somehow try to take you away.

Moreover if a contestant issue arises it will have a negative impact on the image of the program as it is an in-house survival event.

‘But this ended up being something that Ryu Cheong-wu had cut off by sniping right before.’

Thanks to you I am treated like a hero.

-Brother Ryu… how far have you seen?

-Looking at it now I think it’s Gookdae’s Letty-san. Anyway that’s right.

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋ It’s brainwashing!

Because the reevaluation was so fun fans of all the contestants were so excited that they added friendly words.

‘For some reason there are a lot of fans who are not involved in the Club Mevoran program at all.’

I think I was having the most fun in the camp that didn’t say anything about this situation.

In addition the game ended with a fancam of Ryu Cheong-woo flying around having regained his tester skills at the Guerrilla Concert uploaded.

-Is it possible to improve your skills like this…?

-Okay let’s both become idols.

-I almost lost it to archery I understand.

Now Liu Chengwu will no longer have to be ostracized at least until the finals.

‘It’s neat.’

As if someone had painted a picture.

“…I am indeed.”

And who on earth could draw a picture here?

[Shin Jae-hyun: I am delighted with the smooth progress (^-^)]

This guy's good at it.

As soon as I checked my list of colleagues I made a call.

[Shin Jae-hyun: Answering a call from a colleague (^▽^)]

Soon the call was connected and I asked directly.

-Well didn't you ever think that it would have exploded around this time?

"well. "If the timing is so exquisite someone must have made it exquisitely."

I hear laughter on the other end of the phone.

-You can see it that way.

In fact he was no different from a poet.

"How did this not explode in the first place?"

-Originally… I don't know. Could it be that the person who uploaded the video had his account hacked for some reason and quietly disappeared?

Oh I see how it came back.

This guy seems to have managed VTIC properly even every single controversy. So I guess he was in the first team for 10 years.

'That's acceptable.'

I thought for a moment and then asked amicably.

“It’s the program finals soon. Is there anyone else you can send?”

-Oh you want to try it yourself?

“There’s nothing you can’t do.”

The guy laughs and then answers.

-There is one but I think it will be balanced if it is naturally eliminated from the program.

“Who is it?”

-well.

what?

-Because what I do is neat. I’ll leave the fun of guessing to my juniors.

He was truly a bastard who always treated people like people. If it were in front of me my fist would have gone out.

-Then take a good rest and see you in the practice room.

“Be prepared to talk.”

-haha.

And then the phone hung up.

‘I’ll have to make it blow before we start filming.’

I gritted my teeth and closed the currency page.

Then message pop-ups that you could not see before appear on the screen.

– Bae Se-jin: You worked hard I still remember that choreography.

This is evidence that the person who heard about this shooting contacted me and had a brief conversation.

The following is the message I just received.

-Awesome younger brother Sejin: Are you finished filming? How was the Guerrilla concert? Haha

Sejin Lee.

It seems like they contacted me just in time for the end of filming.

Last time I asked a few questions about the tour this question came up.

I responded appropriately.

-It was a bit short but it was fun.

-Cool little brother Sejin: That's right haha

-Awesome little brother Sejin: But it's so short and you're so ambitious lol Aren't you going to fly when you debut?

Are you saying we should put some gold on each other's faces?

I smiled and replied.

-You really fly around on tour.

Replies pour in immediately.

-Cool little brother Sejin: Oh the correct answer (firecracker emoticon) Sejin does it a little lol.

-Awesome little brother Sejin: Oh that's right a video of our tour is coming out? tomorrow!

-Awesome younger brother Sejin: If you have time at night will you watch it together? Haha I want to hear your thoughts on the guerrilla concert.

hmm?

Given the terms of this guy's management I think it's okay even if I haven't seen it yet. I thought the promise story would come out only after the finals.

'Well… the filming is over right now so there's no need to refuse.'

This guy is also good at reading public opinion so while watching 〈Wise〉 I may be able to catch some things that I didn't fully understand.

I responded calmly.

-If you can make time.

And the appointment was made quickly.

Like last time the time is unclear and I'm worried about eyewitness accounts so the place is either that guy's house or my house.

Well except for the guy who lives in the dorm… that actually brings us to the conclusion.

Ding dong.

"hello~"

9 o'clock at night. Sejin Lee came to the officetel with a gift set.

Of course I wasn't the only one at home.

"hello. Oh I heard you're living together! "I am enjoying the program."

“Welcome!”

“hmm.”

“…?”

Beyond Cha Yu-jin who is waving excitedly Ryu Cheong-woo looks closely at a team member he hasn’t seen in a while and grins.

“Have a good time. “Ah is it okay to say this because you are a senior?”

“Ah~ Take it easy! “I know you’re my brother.”

“Haha really? thank you.”

Sejin Lee handed over the gift set and entered the officetel. And when he came up to the living room sofa he made a social comment ‘The house is really cool.’

“If you do this the sofa backrest will go up.”

“Remove the cushion.”

“…Ah~ Yes! okay.”

As I reflexively adjusted my preferred style an expression of “How on earth did I know?” almost passed over his face.

Still Lee Se-jin successfully took care of the situation and continued chatting amiably but soon Ryu Cheong-woo and Cha Yu-jin stood up.

“Then we’ll go grocery shopping.”

“If I find something delicious eat it!”

Since I am in charge of making late-night snacks they decided to take care of the supply of ingredients.

“Hey if it’s okay can I order some for delivery?”

“It’s totally OK~ Enjoy!”

Cha Yu-jin simply answered Lee Se-jin and the two left.

Tiririk.

Lee Se-jin looked at the closed front door and reacted appropriately and politely.

“Oh my… I’m sorry.”

“Don’t worry it’s more like that than when you came here.”

I chuckled.

“Let’s go on a tour.”

“Umm is that right?”

Sejin Lee neatly changed his stance and actively operated the device.

The Blu-ray disc he brought plays and the video successfully appears on the TV screen.

[GY-ROP – FIRST DROP : THE OPENING CONCERT]

“Oh you put the letters in really big letters~”

“It’s okay because I can see it well.”

And the first song to be performed in a fairly large concert hall.

“oh.”

After the opening of a hip-hop bass song with an intense beat a light reggaeton dance song follows.

I lifted my chin.

‘It’s a choice that shows the group color.’

It is a typical style that combines a rebel style with sharp group dance. Still the quality of the song and choreography was good so I thought there would be a lot of fans.

“You’re good.”

“Ahaha… thank you.”

Although Lee Se-jin speaks naturally and brightly he looks at the screen with rather quiet eyes.

He doesn’t look like a guy who got excited and brought his own video.

I understand why.

‘I heard you were flying alone.’

It was funny. This guy tends to be obsessed with overall balance in group songs. Thanks to this it was his daily routine to grab Cha Yu-jin and pull Bae Se-jin up during choreography practice.

That means…

‘Those bastards are dancing so loudly that you can see them.’

In the name of doing a live performance I’m trying to control the choreography less. So if Lee Se-jin dances according to the rules it falls apart. Because the movement alone looks big.

Since he is already a big guy I could see him being conscious and careful but as the song progressed he became more immersed and his movements became bigger again.

Moreover in the unit songs performed by the three… you can even feel the difference in quality.

[Yes forward forward! Just further forward~]

After confirming that the guy was almost skipping the choreography of lying down while pretending to make a gesture I asked him outright.

“Wasn’t it a waste?”

Of course they would say no but since it feels better to talk shit the person listening will probably do the same…

“What a waste.”

“…!”

It was a dry voice.

But he became cheerful again one after another.

“…My older brother was a little sick at that time~ So it was a performance where we both felt a bit disappointed!”

I nodded.

“…okay.”

“…”

There was a short silence.

“Ah~ Still it’s embarrassing to keep showing my performance to my brother like this. Do you want to drink? “My brother is non-alcoholic… ah.”

The guy stopped talking. The moment I stopped moving too.

“Isn’t it? Ah I thought I heard that last time. “I’m sorry~”

“…”

I moved again.

“No non-alcoholic is better.”

“Oh really? “Then shall I bring it?”

“But he’s not home.”

The guy explodes.

“Ah bro what is that!”

I brought out a drink. Sejin Lee accepts it quite politely.

“Ah thank you~”

“what.”

The atmosphere relaxed again. I sat down and looked at the Gyrop tour video again.

And then I remembered.

These guys used to work together but now work in different places.

Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun.

And the person on screen… Keun Se-jin.

“…”

In fact rationally speaking we have already come to a conclusion.

‘There is no point in turning the lottery anymore.’

Unless Kim Rae-bin appears it would be better to try a cheat-level trick that dumps awakening points on me and makes all my abilities EX.

But still.

‘I’m pissed.’

I saw a cub from the same group struggling over there feeling out of place and limited.

Wouldn’t it be better for you to know your true situation?

‘There’s plenty of room.’

Because reputation points are steadily coming in.

After a moment of conflict I opened the status window. And with an inconspicuous movement I repeatedly pressed the pop-up “Friend Draw” button 10 times in a row.

light light light.

But what happens if Sun Ah-hyun appears?

‘I don’t know fuck!’

Then go and think about it.

Starlight continuously splashes around the screen of Gyrop’s tour.

[I think we spent about 100000 points…?! 100 times!]

Is that so? I kept pressing.

And I guess I pressed it about twelve times.

[Huh?]

A strong light finally bursts out of the pop-up.

A light so strong that it obscures Gyrop's tour screen.

And the stars displayed in the status window.

[Hu~]

[★★★★★ Sejin Lee / Main Dancer]

"…"

pulled out

[Do you want to face it like this?]

The status window asks:

I opened my mouth with my eyes on the drink.

To Sejin Lee.

"I'm just saying."

"huh?"

"If there's more to your success somewhere that you haven't noticed."

"…"

"So… what if there is another result of your efforts and you don't notice it?"

I asked.

"If there was a way to find out wouldn't you want to use it?"

"uh."

“…!”

The answer comes back without a moment.

I looked back at him. Sejin Lee looks at me without expression.

“Try it.”

“…”

“What is that?”

I stretched out my hand.

Chapter 394

Sejin Lee knew that she was living a successful life.

He overcame a competition rate of hundreds to one to become a trainee at a large entertainment company survived fiercely within it and eventually debuted.

And among the dozens of idol teams that debuted that year they received the best grades and even received the Rookie of the Year award and are on their way.

'Objectively… it's a success.'

Of course I thought I would be happy. A prime time filled with a sense of accomplishment.

But they say that if your standing position changes the scenery you see also changes.

'That's funny.'

It's amazing how you can feel anxious and frustrated at the same time every day.

Team members who are addicted to mannerisms and opinions that disappear behind the walls of the company's new plan that are empty.

Being unable to do anything even when you see something to fix makes a person helpless.

– Hey Sejin Lee let's do it in moderation? Don't you understand the mood? I'm so fucking tired.

-… Oh that's right I'm really tired… But if I do it now tomorrow will be easier. Let's go just once~

I know that reality and dreams are different. My head which had been pounding has now cooled down.

Still sometimes I felt unfair for no reason.

When moving between schedules preparing an album and getting a quick nap in the early morning.

‘…’

The feeling of being deceived comes suddenly and subsides in frustration.

That might have been why. The words of this survival contestant whom I had just met pierced my heart.

-You just didn’t realize it but your efforts produced valuable results elsewhere.

Effort and achievement. Restoration of that cycle. It may not have been exactly those words. But it sounded like that.

‘What are you expecting?’

It could have just been a trivial psychological test floating around somewhere on social media. No it won’t.

I guess he brought it up to vent because the atmosphere suddenly became strange while watching the concert.

Nevertheless he rushed forward with a straight face. I can’t stand it.

-Try it.

As if some button had been pressed.

‘Why are you doing this really?’

Still I have no intention of withdrawing. Lee Se-jin closed his mouth and looked at Ryu Geon-woo in front of him.

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo did not open his mouth to laugh or respond as if embarrassed by the sudden silence.

Instead he raised his hand.

‘…?’

And then a strange motion continues like touching something in the air…

-…!!

“ah.”

At that moment a feeling explodes like a firecracker in your head.

It feels like a stream of water that was blocked by a dam has been opened.

Things that were originally there are rushing back into place.

-Thank you again for stopping me from getting off.

-Oh our group is so good?

-We are going to renew the Testa contract. Everyone believes it~?

Memories and emotions fill my head. Emotions that were once taken for granted countless memories created at turning points in life pain excitement feelings of inferiority reward and victory.

achievement.

own place.

-I wish Seoul Concert could last just one more day.

-that's right! Let's do it

-Stop talking about things that are realistically impossible and start with the burden…

-Ugh… Isn't it a pity to have a radish radish?

-… I don't regret it.

-Is that true for everyone? The company was at fault~ It was too short~

At that moment Keun Se-jin realized the cause of the helplessness he felt.

'Because I lived the dream.'

That's right.

He has already lived a life where his efforts are rewarded with achievement.

Realizing that even if you hit rock bottom you can recover and try again realizing that that final challenge may succeed…

A life where you know what it feels like to live with trustworthy and respectable people and work passionately.

"…"

The dizzying outpouring has ended. Sejin Lee raised her head. I saw my friend's face quietly examining my condition as if concerned.

A real teammate I haven't seen in a long time.

'The results of my efforts are different.'

How could you talk in such an unsuitable way as if you were subtly trying to trick someone?

“I see.”

It was as he said.

The achievement that Lee Se-jin worked hard to achieve was elsewhere.

“It was… separate.”

And it was like that from the beginning.

“Ah how does Mundaemundae always say the right thing?”

“…!”

Sejin Lee laughed out loud.

The feeling of seeing Ryu Geon-woo or rather Park Moon-dae widening his eyes as if he was surprised that he recognized him couldn’t have been more pleasant.

What precedes the confusion and curiosity about a surreal situation that cannot be understood…

It was a cool relief.

* * *

Lee Se-jin quickly returned to being a big Se-jin.

Since he already debuted in a different group I thought I might have to convince him that he was confused about his identity for quite some time…

“I was surprised that I recognized him right away!”

[Huh.]

It just came back as if some switch was pressed.

It didn't even stumble. I just kept my head down and suddenly heard it.

And from Ryu Geon-woo he immediately inferred the Park Moon-dae he knew and now he is leaning on the sofa and laughing.

"Ah~ How did you do this? "Are you doing something like… recovering memories with nanomachines or something?"

"Where did you see something like that?"

"Webtoon?"

I was silent for a moment when I saw the guy laughing as if he was manic.

Did I touch something wrong?

[You must be doing that because you like it!]

okay?

So… I guess life in Gyrop was more crazy than I expected. then…

…Maybe it wasn't such a bad choice to lose all my reputation.

When I saw the guy slowly regaining his composure I quietly opened my mouth.

"I'll start by explaining what the situation is so listen."

"Ah you should listen."

Since he already knew everything about the situation he told me everything and started by talking about the system crash.

There was a tendency for people to complain or make a fuss because they did something pointless but he just listened to the explanation seriously.

Still since I'm a guy who plays games a bit I think I understand the concept of reputation experience points used here quite well.

Thanks to you I was able to finish the story.

No I was planning on finishing it.

"So… I just chose you based on the fame I had accumulated…!"

If only he hadn't rushed in and tried to hug me the moment I told him that I had been chosen.

It's something you only do during emotional moments like winning first place or at a concert but the fact that it came out here…

"thank you."

"…!"

"Actually you didn't even need to bring me to my senses. "We already debuted in another group… so we can't promote together."

"…"

It seems like you were more worried than you thought.

Anyway I'm sorry but what I did wasn't charity.

I tapped the guy on the back.

"No I'm going to use it as a spy."

“…??”

“Let’s listen to a guy who has already debuted explain the current state of the music industry.”

Big Sejin had a blank expression but soon burst into laughter.

hey.

“Haha! Is that what you came up with? Ah~ How can you not be so honest~”

What are you saying? In this strange world the years are mixed and Cheongnyeo’s knowledge is not complete so the more information you collect the more beneficial it is.

“Okay okay. Sejin gives us a lot of information~ He also promotes and sings entertainment shows!”

The guy grinned.

“Okay? “Mundaemundae feels very comfortable right?”

“Oh do it right.”

Stop laughing you bastard.

The moment I thought about making this guy scream by playing a wake-up call video from the beginning of Gyrop’s debut.

Tiriririk.

“We’re here!”

The door opens and the people who went out to buy groceries return home.

Keun Se-jin suddenly stood up.

“Oh~ our members!”

“…! “Is Sejin back?”

“Ohhhh! “Welcome!”

The returning cheers are loud and loud.

“No he told the person at home that he had arrived safely! “You’re welcome too Eugene!”

“Hehe! brother!”

Ryu Cheong-woo who came in past the two men put his luggage on the table with a happy face and spoke to them.

“Sejin made it sound like he might not be able to give me his memories back. “Is this why you called me today?”

“No it’s a matter of probability… And even if you get selected you can’t tell someone who is still active to be disbanded.”

Then Big Sejin started crying exaggeratedly.

“Hehehe… If you knew how hard Sejin of Mundaemun University worked would you really not be able to say that? “Are you really… not talking about normal activities?”

“why.”

He even forgot to cry and just looked at me with a straight face.

“Hey even if you fail it’s a pain to work with cheap people.”

“…? “It’s a bit cheap to fail…”

“no. “They really need to be destroyed!”

“…”

What do you mean you too will perish?

Anyway he didn’t seem to have any intention of compromising on that so I didn’t bother to persuade him. Whether or not Gyrop gets criticized I’m happy to know.

Instead the conversation turned to what me and the other testers were doing so far.

While eating pork belly grilled in a frying pan conversation builds up quickly.

“Wow did you even exchange numbers with Ahyeon during that time? Isn’t Moon University discriminating too much? “You asked Ahyeon first right?”

“I guess so?”

Sun Ah-hyun asked first you idiot. I remembered Sun Ah-hyun here sending me a picture of some kind of scenery and then deleted it.

I wanted to stop thinking about it but it seems like Big Sejin has no intention of doing so.

“The three of us can go play again soon~ I heard that all we have to do is win the Mundae Daesang Award.”

Dreams are also wild.

“Whose dog’s name is this? “Get on it right away.”

The guy grins.

“You just have to aim for the music source.”

“…!”

“Why is there Ravine? Can’t we just piece together one song for the grand prize? Anyway if this place is like a dream you don’t have to think about plagiarism or anything like that.”

Cha Yu-jin confidently answered with a slightly downcast expression.

“I don’t remember Kim Rae-bin.”

“Huh? But how did you participate in the survival show…… and you just brought him here?”

“…”

“By the way… Oh my our Ravin shouldn’t be scammed somewhere. “I caught a big fish~”

I’m secretly annoyed that the guy who would have cheated first in a similar situation is clicking his tongue and talking.

“So now it’s Ravin and Ahyeon that are left. What is this I am the type of person who takes care of things late? “How could you do such a shameful thing by leaving your best friend in another group…”

“I said it was random.”

There’s nothing I can do you bastard.

I had a late-night snack while dealing with a scratcher on purpose.

The conversation was continuous and there was nothing special about it… so much so that it feels like I’ve already gone back.

Of course I couldn’t really go back so I ended up having this conversation.

“Then Sejin you plan to continue preparing for Gyrop’s comeback for now right?”

Keun Se-jin responded to Ryu Cheong-wu’s question.

“I… wow there’s so much to do.”

“…?”

“Oh I guess I was 20 when I was 20. “He really has a very soft heart and is kind~ I was honestly moved by Moon Dae too because he’s so kind?”

“what?”

“really. “You have suffered a lot of losses.”

For these words to come out of the mouth of this efficiency obsessed person…

“What are your plans?”

The guy grinned.

“uh. “I’m going to stop by the shop first.”

“…?”

“why?”

“huh. “I’m going to dye my hair.”

And the next morning.

It is said that the guy who stayed up most of the night talking and having fun stopped by the shop early in the morning and had his hair dyed back to black.

-Big Sejin: If you bleach your hair again no matter how strong the Sejin hair is it will all melt. Yes that’s absolutely impossible haha.

This is definitely not something that a rookie idol who is only 3 years old ahead of a comeback can do on their own. But it was a big deal. That guy has developed his social skills to the limit. And after returning to the dorm that way… he must have done something.

[Lee Se-jin: Doing whatever I want (U▽U~♪)]

Let me just say that this sign appeared more than half of the time I checked it throughout the day.

And dinner.

-Keun Se-jin: Oh thank you for the invitation. These are names we all know.

This guy entered Testa's group message room which now had five members.

And as soon as I recovered my memory a person with the same name who had done something similar to this guy reacted like this.

– Bae Se-jin: (welcoming hamster emoticon)

It's surprising that they seem to get along quite well.

And honestly I thought Keun Se-jin would try to embarrass him by saying something he said when he met Bae Se-jin when he had no memory of it.

-Keun Se-jin: Oh brother didn't you and Moon Dae make fun of me so naturally last time? Hahaha

I didn't even know he was going to mention it. Nannom was Nannom.

– Keun Se-jin: Haha I was surprised that you still had no mercy in your tone. I was so embarrassed at the young age of 20 that I almost put my ribs up my nose.

– Bae Se-jin: No.

– Bae Se-jin: He keeps playing psychopaths.

I don't think he meant it that way but Big Sejin sent a laughing bear emoticon anyway.

I pressed the keyboard.

-Did you use the dye well?

-Keun Se-jin: Yes please look forward to Jairob's next activity^^

I don't know what they did but it looks like one of two things will happen either the gyroscope's life will be extended or drastically shortened.

After enjoying the cheers of Cha Yu-jin and Bae Se-jin Big Se-jin changed the topic.

-Keun Se-jin: Anyway I have to become famous at the university so that other members remember me…? That's right right?

Do I really need to leave that in text form…?

-Keun Sejin: Please quickly become famous by inviting people to group chats. I will also help you in both material and spiritual aspects haha.

-Keun Sejin: I will only look at this unit activity without Sejin but if he returns Sejin will have to be the center.

-Bae Se-jin: ?

– Keun Se-jin: No not my brother but me.

This time Cha Yu-jin sent the default emoticon of laughing. There are no special gags.

[Hyung's expression has improved ㅠㅠ I guess he's in a good mood!]

Is that so?

Nothing bad. I smiled and looked at the group message room where useless chatter passed by.

'Should I leave it alone?'

The main point came out of Bae Se-jin's mouth only after a while.

– Bae Se-jin: Hey… I'm talking about your survival broadcast.

– Bae Se-jin: The finals are live now right?

right. 〈Wise〉 LeTi's survival show which escaped the typhoon in a teacup with various aggro and stage sales was soon to be its last broadcast.

'I heard there was another announcement of the eliminated candidates in the middle of practice.'

I obediently agreed.

-yes. There are only a few days left – Bae Se-jin: I'll go cheer you on.

"…?"

Are you serious?

'No… Is it better to show that we are friends from now on?'

Even so is it still okay to say that you have been following a mystical path up until now? The psychopath image will definitely go away.

-Wouldn't your agency or officials stop you?

And this reply came back immediately.

-Brother Bae Se-jin: Say so.

-Keun Sejin: (surprised bear emoticon)

-Cha Yujin: That's cool! it's awesome!

They play very well.

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: (Sweating and smiling emoticon)

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: Anyway let's do our best and work hard in the finals. Reminds me of Azusa

'Azusa?'

I laughed out loud. No matter what there's no way something as crazy as that crazy program could happen in the finals.

"under."

Then a voice comes from beyond the wall.

"Did you laugh at my KakaoTalk message?"

"…No I saw a big one."

Come to think of it Liu Chengwu was in the room right next to me.

I kept my mouth shut and focused on the message.

-Yes (dog emoticon) Let's do our best

I never imagined that something crazy would happen in the real finals.

Chapter 395

A step-by-step aggro and survival story.

A new contestant with a unique color that is not typical of an in-house survival show was introduced and a stage with a strong color that made people say ‘It is truly LeTi.’

The attitude of viewers ahead of the finals of “Wise” which became a hit by word of mouth as a fun survival show even though it wasn’t “Azusa” level was as follows.

-Why did you receive a replacement viewer vote? It has never been written down until now.

-Hahaha the production crew forgot.

It was speculation about the whereabouts of viewer votes that disappeared at some point.

-If you don’t use it until the finals you’ll be a legend.

-If the president gives a score is there a correction value added to it?? I think it’s a role that gives the same thing haha.

-Let the president check the rank and notice. Please save Cha Yu-jin.

And its identity is revealed in episode 9 which aired right before the finale.

At first everyone thought it was an episode that only showed small behind-the-scenes stories and trainees practicing for the final stage.

Also known as resting anger.

-Chae-yul came to give Geon-woo a blanket and pillow? ㅠㅠ How can she be such an angel?

-A male idol who plays with air during his rest… You have gathered all those personalities on your face CEO Kim.

-Wow Ryu Cheong-woo isn't sleeping. He's really full of energy. He didn't go anywhere during his gukdae time.

-Shin Jae-hyun glasses pictorial B-cut finally released. Have you finally realized the demand broadcasting stations?

How close the trainees are to each other what kind of trials and errors they have gone through and what they do when they have a break.

The various questions that came up among viewers were mixed well and laid out in a fun way.

Naturally the tension unique to survival was lowered but many people responded quite favorably saying that the production team really knew the audience well.

-Specialization? There's nothing I can do about it due to time constraints but I made it well so it's okay haha.

-Still I feel like I've been preparing for the finals for a long time so I'm looking forward to the performance.

However the production team's trick was revealed at the end.

After going through various behind-the-scenes scenes that will make you laugh as well as practice room cuts of passionate participants working hard to prepare…

The camera goes to the stage.

-???

What is even displayed at the top of the corner is 'Live Broadcast'.

-what

-Are you broadcasting live now?

-The last episode is episode 10…? Shouldn't it come out next week?

It was a moment when viewers who had become accustomed to small trends such as side stories were taken aback by the unexpected live broadcast.

[Dear participants there is an urgent notice ahead of the finals.]

President Kim Tae-in who is sitting in the judges' seat takes the microphone again.

The president's voice continues as the camera captures the puzzled yet nervous participants.

[The viewer voting results are in.]

[!]

[The public's choice is the absolute evaluation scale you will face in your future choices. Those who do not meet that evaluation…]

The president took a deep breath and finished speaking.

What everyone expected.

[You are eliminated.]

Viewers cried as they watched the contestants shaking their eyes or lowering their gaze on the stage.

-suddenly??

-Ah ㅠㅠ

-What if I really didn't know I would write like this?

-The kids' expressions are so heartbreaking…

However at the same time the concentration of viewers increased momentarily due to the growing tension and curiosity about finally revealing the results of the viewer vote.

It was the power of survival.

The president unable to see the real-time comments filled with crying emoticons and exclamations slowly announced the results.

[First of all it is a stable ticket.]

The president announced four people in a row. Raebin Kim Yunshin Oh Woodan Jung Kyungmo Han…

'It's lower than expected' 'It was the president's pick so the fans weren't desperate' 'The crazy orchestra lost money in the cumulative total of the previous drama'…

There were a variety of reactions and comments but everyone seemed at ease thanks to the word 'stable area'.

However looking at the remaining eight people I fell into confusion.

-Here half the rankings are upper half and lower half?

-Hey I really don't know.

-Is it only through my eyes that I see the top 6 people?;;

Because the number of people was small 12 and the results of viewer announcements have never been made public it was not easy to determine the number of people.

[The lower ranks are announced.]

With tense background music playing the president announces the number of people one by one.

[Park Nam-ho]

-oh my

-ㅜㅜㅜㅜYou worked hard Namho!

-no

A participant who did not stand out that much so the structure started out as a member that people expected to a certain extent and then more and more unexpected members were introduced.

-ㅠㅠㅠAhhhh

-Just debut all 12 people you crazy person.

It was when the last low-ranking participant was called that the atmosphere of people feeling sad and understanding but somehow understanding was broken.

[And… Liu Chengwu.]

[…]

The person concerned took a step forward with a calm expression but the commenter could not.

-omg

-That's ridiculous.

-????

-Is it Suzaku?

A new face with a crazy presence who graduated from a former national university and whose skills quickly improved thanks to Lucky Totem was pushed out of the vote?

There were reactions that seemed to explode for a few seconds saying it was ridiculous but soon people understood the situation.

It was pushed back because it was a new face.

-Is it because they are latecomers?

-It's because the votes are cumulative. It's a few weeks late.

-No but if this is the case does that mean that the supplementary class that was put in at that time will just be eliminated? Are you kidding me?

However even though the embarrassed viewers poured out messages they did not think that the president would eliminate all of the people he had just called.

-We invited 4 people but there's no way they were all eliminated. It seems like it's just one or two contestants who weren't selected by the president.

-Please please ㅠㅠ

-If you send Ryu Cheong-woo Kim Tae-in is truly senseless trash.

And as they expected the president opened his mouth again.

[The Bottom 4 chosen by your votes were originally scheduled to be eliminated immediately.]

If so it means that you are no longer eliminated immediately.

[However in order for an idol group to be complete one more element is needed in addition to fans.]

[This is the idol himself.]

-What are you talking about you crazy person?

-Idol group without idols No one thinks about it only you think about it

Regardless of the audience's outcry the president continues his presentation with a serious expression on his face.

[Therefore I will listen to their opinions.]

The members raise their heads in confusion as they pass behind the screen.

[〈Wise〉 participants will vote for the two participants they would like to go with.]

[!!!]

A cut of the participants who were not in the bottom tier looking at each other with a helpless expression was intersected with the serious face of the president.

As 〈Wise〉 is an in-house survival show another selling point was the strong relationships and group consciousness that had built up between trainees.

And the last aggro that took advantage of that has now occurred.

[Based on your votes the two people who receive the most votes will survive until the finals.]

[The results… will be revealed before the <Wise> final stage next week.]

The camera moved further and further away capturing the entire frozen stage.

And fade out.

Colorful advertisements began to appear but viewers could not stop commenting.

-and

-Production crew you devils.

-Are you going to hand this over to the kids? It's up to you to decide you idiot.

Season 1 of Azusa had not even aired yet.

〈Wise〉 started to burn the last flame before the final with unrivaled spicy aggression.

* * *

I thought as I got off the stage.

'oh.'

The production crew does some work.

To be honest it would have been less topical if it had been roughly explained behind the scenes but it was the choice that made it provocative.

'The choice of words was also very good.'

Isn't it a matter of voting for the person who will be eliminated rather than voting for the person who will be saved? This is good. This means that it is not at the level of betraying humanity.

However if the person who survived through peer votes after debut gets into an accident there will be problems… I don't need to take that into consideration here.

Because we are targeting the group that will achieve the highest efficiency in the shortest period of time.

‘The problem is that Liu Chengwu’s location has become a bit ambiguous.’

Since a cartel has already been formed among existing trainees there is a limit to receiving votes.

‘I need to take care of this.’

So as soon as I took off the microphone I went to see the guy who didn’t tell me who he was sending to today’s live broadcast.

That bastard.

“Is this the way you naturally spend your time?”

The guy smiled and answered without being embarrassed.

“sure. “It’s so easy I have to use it.”

“…”

“Because the final result is just around the corner it is easy to be shaken by even a small shock and it is very simple to plant a choice in that person’s head.”

So that you never vote for anyone.

‘It’s a reasonable decision though.’

I frowned.

“Why didn’t you tell me?”

“I thought that if I told you in advance I would get in trouble with my junior who is trying to do preliminary work. “You’re not the type of person to wait quietly junior.”

“…”

I can’t fucking refute that.

“You understand right? So let’s do this from now on. “I will remove the elements that need to be removed so my junior please add the elements you want to add.”

This is about Liu Chengwu.

And he added pretending to be kind.

“If you still can’t decide let me know. “I will do it.”

I looked at him in bewilderment.

“You have to do it not just do it. “Is there a better player than Ryu Cheong-wu in the lower ranks right now?”

The goal is the same but I don’t know what the nonsense is.

Then Cheongryeo laughs heartily.

“is it so? all right. Then if my junior can’t do it I’ll fix it myself.”

“…”

I chuckled.

“Okay let me try it first.”

Do you think I’m going to get angry here? If that doesn’t work you may have to resort to the help of a cat. I have to somehow extract that bastard’s marrow.

“great.”

And the guy who was laughing walked leisurely down the hallway and disappeared. It felt like I was going to see another trainee.

A pop-up appears slightly above the back.

[Then… Are you going to convince the other trainees too?]

Before that there is one thing to check.

I brought back the pop-up window that appeared on the stage earlier.

[Quest: Reputation Collection Activity 2/N]

□■■■■—〉□

-50% achieved!

Compensation: Received the parcel…

When you get a cumulative reputation of 500000 experience it's called an intermediate settlement and this is what pops up.

Of course except for 100000 points I put all of them into the companion draw.

'It's a function that was in <Section 127>.'

I saw it during a test play.

-Because it is a game with many choices and various endings the main quest is comprehensive and long-term to cover all of them.

-Aha… Yes yes.

At this time did you say that a clear intermediate reward was provided to encourage and entice people to continue playing?

'The items are probably random.'

I went to the mail and checked the image of the package that said ‘Progress Compensation’.

[Package with numerous possibilities]

-It is the sound of stars encouraging you.

To put it another way you may come out with something really good but if you’re lucky you’ll end up with a decent amount of gold.

‘You must have accumulated about 4000 gold already.’

Thinking about the useless piece of text I clicked receive the package with an expressionless expression.

however.

[Package contents – invitation]

[Colleague (★★★★) is coming…]

What?

Starlight explodes from the parcel. It seems that they give you companions rather than gold.

There is no need.

‘4 stars… ’

I remembered the 4-star teammate I saw before selecting the last big group.

[★★★★ Jang So-hyeon / Lead dancer]

‘He was a soft and sweet member.’

I almost thought it was the flagship when I saw it while organizing. I didn't receive him as a companion for fear of awakening him but I did put him in my inventory.

Anyway let's look at that experience.

'I think among the colleagues with 3 or more stars there are people who are the same as me.'

I've never seen it in the 1st and 2nd voices but from the 3rd voice onwards names I've passed by sometimes appear.

[Ah in that explanation there was something about finding colleagues with whom you have a 'relationship'. Isn't that somewhat reflected?]

I already made a similar guess.

'Then maybe this time too?'

Anyway the light on the package quickly disappeared and the explanation was finally revealed…

A name I really recognize pops up.

[★★★★ Jeong Woo-dan / Lead Vocal]

"…??"

It's VTIC.

[You are a shareholder right?]

Yes it is the cast and edge.

'what.'

I moved my hand with the intention of putting it in the inventory but… there's no reject button on this?

[check]

This is the only one floating. Is this really automatic registration?

[I guess so…?]

Well it doesn't matter. If you have to just delete it from the list of colleagues and that's it.

So that was the moment I pressed the 'Confirm' button.

Cheesy!

…Another special effect appears from the button.

"…??"

[Fortune Chance]

A strange phrase embossed in bronze appears and the words spin in a vintage pipe.

'this… '

A lucky event from the game. And at some point it comes to a halt like gears meshing together and combines words.

[Additional effect – Awakening!]

And after 3 seconds.

[Colleague: Jeong Woo-dan successfully awakened!]

"what."

what?

* * *

This crazy system gave bonuses in the most fucked up way possible.

As soon as I confirmed the situation I immediately ran down the hallway and searched the practice rooms.

‘I have to find it.’

If you do it wrong it really becomes X…!

With my mind racing like that I opened up different types of practice rooms three or four times depending on my priorities.

In the end I came face to face with the guy who was banging his head against the wall of the dance practice room.

Woodan Jeong.

So… VTIC’s cast and hem.

“…”

“…”

It doesn’t talk and doesn’t lift its head from the wall. I approached him slowly trying not to attract attention.

‘Do it carefully.’

My head was spinning.

At that time Cha Yu-jin who was warming up in the corner saw me and raised her hand.

Wait a minute can you…

“Hyung Moon Dae!”

also

"…Mundae?"

The guy who was stuck in his head is startled when he hears a name he recognizes and quickly raises his head.

"Junior Park Moon-dae?"

It's ruined.

The guy who raised his head looked around with a confused face and when he saw Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin behind him he became even paler.

"Testa… wait a minute."

"Hey senior."

"No I mean…"

Cold sweat is rolling down the expressionless face of the guy who is muttering to himself.

But soon he seemed to be soothing himself by muttering something in his mouth.

'I guess I'll have to take him out first.'

I'm just thankful that I don't have a camera yet.

However before he could gesture to Cha Yu-jin to pull one of his arms and let them go Ju-dan opened his mouth.

In a much calmer voice.

"Where is the crew here?"

"Why did the production team…?"

“I will get off.”

“…?!”

I feel dizzy.

Chapter 396

It took quite a long time to subdue the VTIC guy who wanted to get off.

The production staff almost came running in with a camera probably because they misunderstood that it meant that he was going to leave because he couldn't handle the pressure but it was fortunate that they calmed him down before that.

'I almost ruined it.'

And here Cha Yu-jin Ryu Cheong-woo and… Cheongryeo were put in charge of subduing this guy.

okay. It's annoying it's rude and if there's a problem with this unexpected situation it's a personnel matter that needs to be called out.

"…"

"…"

And in the narrow vocal practice room five adults are crammed together creating crushing silence.

'Fuck… '

It's absurd to see even Ryu Cheong-woo who should be planning a plan to get votes standing there with a nervous smile on his face.

'From now on if the intermediate reward is a random parcel it will be ignored.'

This damn system is like a mass-produced mobile game.

I pressed my eyebrows and opened my mouth.

“So… senior we are all in a similar situation right now.”

I looked at Ju Dan who was now staring into space with a completely distraught face and calmly opened my mouth.

Let’s talk about tea and gun and only talk about the main points.

-I have been dragged into a strange parallel world and am trying to escape.

I wonder if anyone would believe something like this without going into detail but I can’t help it.

Imagine starting from ‘I’m not actually Park Moon University… ’ to someone who knows absolutely nothing. That sounds like a crazy person.

‘First of all we will proceed by carefully explaining the objections that come in.’

There was no other way.

At the time Cheongryeo was smiling and not bothering to intervene so she had no choice but to put on a one-man show.

“for a moment.”

Finally Zhou Dan raised his hand.

“Let me ask you a question.”

“yes.”

“What is 32 times 6?”

“…192.”

“yes.”

And each person took turns solving a math problem. Since it’s just multiplication it’s not difficult so everyone thinks about it appropriately and then answers.

‘What on earth is this guy doing?’

And after turning around and answering to Cheongnyeo the guy nodded.

“It’s not a dream. hmm.”

“…”

“I have a general idea of what the situation is.”

“…??”

“It’s a grammar that anyone familiar with subculture will easily understand. “I never thought I would experience it firsthand.”

He muttered that with an expressionless expression and touched his chin.

“No there’s a chance it’s still a dream… Anyway I’ll at least wash my face for a moment. “We need to check whether the cold water is cold water.”

The guy who said that got up and headed to the bathroom.

Drurruk-tak.

The door opens and closes.

This happened 10 seconds after Judan started talking to himself.

“…”

[What… what did you know?]

I answered with difficulty. Now I can guess.

'…by numbers.'

[???]

'In dreams logic is poor so it is usually difficult to calculate quickly and accurately.'

[ah……]

But normally you wouldn't use this method unnecessarily such as by criticizing yourself.

This guy… was he always like this?

"I was always the type of person who was interested in unique concepts but I'm still the same. "I'm trying to adapt to this situation."

Cheongryeo conscious of the camera being installed beyond the corner outside the door lowers her voice and whispers.

"Why are you talking to your members like it's someone else's group?"

"Well it's been a while since I've used it."

The guy laughs heartily. And lower your voice so that only the other person can hear.

"It seems obedient but it is quietly uncooperative at times… It was a hassle to have to calculate it again when handling it."

Your choice of words is fantastic.

"Anyway it's not impossible to deal with so it won't turn into a big variable."

"…"

He came to this conclusion casually but that makes it even more strange.

'Is this guy okay?'

Still I thought there would be some kind of reaction such as trying to kill me for having fun if the group's memories came back but it was very strategic.

The guy who was tapping his chin with his finger immediately raises his voice and takes the next step.

"I'll have to work on more detailed coordination with the cast but before that I'll have to send that one back."

"…!"

Cheongryeo smiled and turned her head. It was implicitly referring to Cha Yu-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo and they must have known. However Cha Yu-jin did not blink an eye.

"I am where I want to be."

"Then we can go out. "Let's go to the practice room next door."

"for a moment."

These guys do this every time they talk.

However before I could intervene Liu Chengyu intervened smiling as if he was embarrassed.

"Eujin. Let us go out first. Since we are all in the same group you probably want to talk separately."

Cha Yu-jin had no objection to that explanation.

I shrugged my shoulders.

“OK. “Two seniors let’s talk.”

However there was an afterword.

“Let’s go together Moon Dae!”

That’s a bit much.

“…It would be better if the person who explained it did it.”

“Are you a fan of VTIC Moon Dae?”

Is that why you are doing it?

“I will charge an explanation fee.”

“Oooh!”

Go now.

I let Ryu Cheong-woo drag Cha Yu-jin away. However Liu Chengwu did not leave but instead looked back.

“ah. “It’s a door.”

“yes.”

“Don’t worry too much about my vote. “If I get eliminated it means I won’t be of any help to the team.”

“…!”

“And I have no intention of being judged like that.”

He finished gently but firmly.

“I’ll take care of the tickets.”

“…”

He even called me Park Moon-dae so I’m saying this as a group leader.

If that’s the case.

“yes.”

I nodded obediently. Ryu Cheong-woo smiled once and then left the vocal practice room dragging Cha Yu-jin who had a sour face.

Drurruk-tak.

“…”

“Do you charge an explanation fee?”

“Do you really think so?”

“haha.”

I resisted the urge to punch myself in the face.

Fortunately Ju Dan came back before I ran out of the room.

With water dripping from my head.

“It feels real.”

“…”

The guy muttered.

“I thought it was either crazy or a dream… or worst case scenario I was caught up in some kind of ghost story phenomenon but the last one was the closest to the correct answer.”

for a moment.

“Is that really why you wanted to get off?”

“Yes people are supposed to assume the worst and act accordingly.”

“…Oh yes.”

This… no it’s done. Anyway now that I’ve convinced myself that it’s reality it will be easier to say the next thing.

I got to the point.

“We are trying to return to reality as much as possible and we hope you will cooperate with us.”

The difficulty starts from here.

If this guy thinks this is another opportunity it’s quite painful…

“of course.”

“…?”

The answer came immediately.

“When I was young I dreamed of experiencing such a fantasy-like development but now that I have grown into an adult with no dreams or hopes I want to go back quickly.”

The guy continued speaking with an expressionless expression.

“I can’t give up on the life of a 10-year Daesang idol with a building a bank account and fame.”

“…”

I barely opened my mouth.

“Senior you are going to the military.”

“It goes from here too.”

That’s… right.

“But to have to go through all the hard work from debut all over again without money or position is such a rude comparison.”

The guy nodded.

“It would be a lie for adults to say they want to go back to the past. Once you have a foundation there is no way you will want to go through all that trouble again. “It’s all a convenient setting.”

I almost looked back at Cheongnyeo.

“Anyway this is a type of game and the junior from Mundae is the key player.”

“It seems like that’s the case for now.”

“yes. Thank you for your hard work.

The guy nodded his head expressionlessly.

“Then I… appear in the latter half of the episode so I don’t have much screen time but I think I’ll be a supporting character who will provide quite useful assistance.”

What is this crazy guy saying?

“I guess I should say I’m glad I’m not the antagonist… Oh I’m sorry. “I’ve been watching a lot of novels and videos lately because I have nothing to do.”

What an excuse.

However given the situation I countered to ensure his stability.

“It’s a hobby that idols can enjoy without pressure.”

“yes.”

The guy nodded somewhat satisfied and muttered as if he wanted to say something more but soon returned to his businesslike tone.

“Then I guess I should call you junior Ryu Cheong-woo now or older brother Ryu Cheong-woo now. Anyway if I just give him my vote I won’t have to do anything else.”

Just as I was about to say yes another voice declared instead.

Soft and cold.

“Not really.”

“…!”

There was a hint of politeness in Judan’s voice as he flinched.

“brother.”

“Your skills will not be the same now. yes?”

The VTIC guy seemed to notice Cheongryeo’s thoughts and nodded quietly.

“yes.”

“Then you have to recover your skills first. “No matter how good a plan we make it’s impossible if the stage quality is poor.”

The guy with a faint smile looks at Zhou Dan and continues talking.

“As you said even if my memories and self as a 10-year idol have returned if I don’t look like that I can’t claim it as yours.”

“…!”

“I hope you will show a side that the people who willingly gave you wealth and honor will not regret. “Okay?”

“…yes.”

The guy who used to say shamelessly weird things is being disciplined. It seems like he can’t even think of resisting or talking back.

‘It looks like it rolled so hard that it got molded.’

It’s very tight. Even though I was holding it tight I let it go slightly.

“okay. Still I feel reassured because I have you. “You know?”

“…thank you.”

Ju Dan was able to leave the vocal practice room only after receiving a training sheet disguised as advice on the practice routine from Cheong Ryeo.

“…”

‘I am a nan.’

It looks like he has a knack for dealing with people.

It’s the same.

I looked at Cheongnyeo who was smiling and crossing her arms.

“First of all I went in the direction of taking care of efficiency. “It’s okay.”

“I think it would have been better for my mental health to have been more soothing.”

“are you okay. He’s the type that requires a bit of pressure to move. On the contrary if you let them go they will do their trick.”

The guy answered calmly.

“If you poke at it well sometimes it brings good ideas for albums. “He will be a good member.”

“…okay.”

Those who have seen it for a long time will know better. I didn’t bother to refute it.

The guy raised his chin.

“I need to revise my plans a bit more after my debut. Well there’s never a dull moment.”

for a moment.

“Vote for the guy you send away.”

I guess you haven’t forgotten that it’s a priority.

But it tilts its head to the side.

“hmm? It’s already over. That will get you eliminated from the finals.”

what?

“This junior hasn’t even started yet. Or are you going to trust me and hand it over like I said before?”

“You take care of it.”

“haha.”

He didn’t scratch any more. I uncrossed my arms and opened my mouth.

There was something I originally wanted to say.

About the situation where Ju Dan found his memories.

“…This was an unexpected situation.”

“yes.”

what?

“But as I become more famous as an idol and continue to look for colleagues I might be able to return the memories to other VTICs.”

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo narrowed his eyes.

“We’ll see about that. “It seems like the number of hands has increased but that doesn’t necessarily mean it’s a good hand.”

“okay.”

If that’s the case.

I decided not to ask further.

It was then.

“Still it’s my first time.”

“…!”

The guy lowered his gaze and muttered. It was a grave voice.

“Is it something like this?”

“…”

I asked.

“Are you feeling bad?”

“It’s nothing in particular but… it’s been a while since I’ve thought about this situation. “It’s unfamiliar though.”

The guy was out of focus with no expression. As if he was vaguely recalling a time when he expected or imagined ‘a situation like this’.

‘…okay.’

I guess I wasn’t impressed.

I sat on the floor for a while without bothering to ask about his condition.

And only after hearing the staff’s voice announcing the start of filming did I slowly get up and leave the practice room.

He never brought up the topic again but I decided not to click on it the next time I received a game package so I put it on hold for now.

And time passes again.

As if Joo Dan’s unexpected situation was a lie the filming site was still in a state of strange tension. The camera is already turned on.

‘I’m waiting.’

I waited until after midnight when all the filming for that day was over and the battery ran out again giving me a gap.

And among the guys who were busy practicing until dawn as it was right before the finals I found someone who was conflicted about whether to go into the bedroom.

“Senior.”

Judan got up from the practice room floor and muttered quietly.

“I avoid actions that might raise suspicion. “Let’s go comfortably like before.”

Well if that’s you.

I leaned in and asked.

“Udan. “Who among the participants are you close with?”

“…Well I don’t have anyone I’m particularly close to. “The trainees I went with couldn’t participate.”

I understand.

Well then let’s change the question.

“I know roughly who is close to whom or who they don’t like.”

“I know as much as everyone else knows.”

That’s enough.

I needed information from existing trainees.

And being able to speak naturally

“Can I get some help?”

The guy didn’t answer for a moment wondering what he was thinking and then suddenly answered.

“I’m not good at persuading others.”

I think I heard it as a request to at least join Ryu Cheong-woo’s election campaign.

I smiled and sat down comfortably.

“I don’t mean to ask for that.”

“then?”

“All you have to do is talk to me. “In front of others.”

Tickets for Liu Chengwu are limited.

If I had to choose anonymously between a trainee I was already friends with in survival and a new face who was a strong competitor I would definitely choose the former.

They probably wouldn’t bother voting for Ryu Chung-woo unless it was some kind of incentive.

So what should we do?

‘All you have to do is distribute the votes.’

The question is asked which of the remaining participants excluding Ryu Cheong-woo would they vote for.

“I’m not going to curse I’m going to praise you.”

As Ryu Cheong-woo said his vote will be respected so that he can take care of it himself.

I’m not trying to make you vote for Ryu Cheng-wu I’m just trying to make you not vote for the other guy.

Chapter 397

〈Wise〉 filming site where practice is in full swing.

The trainees seemed to be extremely serious and focused solely on the finals but that didn't mean there weren't conversations going on behind the scenes.

Who among the bottom ranked contestants will survive?

-Who are you going to film?

-I don't know I saw it then.

Although it is said to be an anonymous vote it is secretly mentioned in interviews.

-Have you already made up your mind?

Here one participant from the inferior class also gave an appropriate answer such as 'I'm thinking hard about it' but in fact I thought it was almost a decision.

'I'm telling you to take pictures of two people so there's no way there's anything to worry about.'

Normally it would be difficult if there was only one person who would be eliminated and one person who would stick. You can vote for both the best and second best so what's difficult?

'You can just leave out the ones who don't want to be filmed.'

First of all one person already implicitly lacks qualifications.

-What the fuck!

Ugh.

‘Would you like to work with a bastard who suddenly gets aggressive and tries to beat people up while eating?’

The participant nodded even though he was completely unaware that Shin Jae-hyun who knew that the assault incident would occur three years later had clearly guided everything from action to news dissemination.

So naturally after excluding one person there were three people left.

And it was simpler to exclude one more person from there.

Someone less close. Someone I don’t know very well. A person who has never been a trainee.

This is the most recently deployed supplementary team.

Liu Chengwu.

‘He will live well on his own.’

I had no close relationship with the former national team member who was receiving a pension nor did I feel any closeness to him.

‘Then just take the remaining two and it’s over.’

Originally the existing trainees had already made up their minds to choose two good people who they had known each other during practice and somehow felt uncomfortable dropping.

The parties receiving the vote can also vote and since the two are already close they have already created an atmosphere among themselves.

‘I guess it will go that way.’

After the participant had come to that conclusion he was lounging around again and enjoying a sweet little joke.

Sweet.

The practice room door opens and words are heard.

“…That’s why I’m worried about voting.”

“Yes of course.”

Familiar voices of participants.

‘uh.’

At that moment the participant who was resting behind the sound system in the practice room realized that he could not be seen.

The voices of Ryu Geon-woo and Jeong Woo-dan continue their conversation.

“Did you think of anyone?”

“What… are you going to take pictures of Ryu Cheong-woo?”

“First of all what about you?”

Have a conversation comfortably even if the person doesn’t know you’re there. The inferior class participant quietly overheard the conversation without realizing it.

“I’m thinking about Da-Hwan.”

“ah.”

Da-Hwan Kim was one of the two people he was trying to photograph.

Because the topic they had just been thinking of came up the participant held his breath and concentrated on the conversation for a moment.

“I like it. Although the dance positions seem a bit oversaturated.”

Ryu Geon-woo hesitated a bit but then spoke comfortably probably because he realized again that there were no cameras.

“We don’t care. “Because it’s a vocal.”

‘…!’

Position?

“yes. “It is beneficial if good people come in and the average competency improves.”

“okay. “I’m sure the boss has to worry about this.”

ah.

The two then left the seemingly empty practice room asking each other to take a picture of the person they had decided to take a picture of.

“Not everyone is here yet.”

“It’s too early. Then wait a moment…”

thud.

“…”

The door was closed. However the participant felt somewhat disturbed.

Dance positions are oversaturated?

“…I see.”

That was right. Of the people left now there are at most four in vocal positions including those two.

Considering that only the most impressive guys from the supplementary class were left in the rap position the dance position was oversaturated with only 7 people.

However at the top there is Shin Jae-hyun who is not a monster and Cha Yu-jin a supplementary student whose source I don't know where he came from…

'…there's no room.'

A difference of almost double. The contestant who was also in the dance position swallowed his saliva. Moreover another word bothered him.

-I guess the boss has to worry about this.

Members are not chosen by individual viewer votes but rather are chosen by the president.

Because of the president's inclination he would naturally select positions with balance in mind so if that were the case… it was really dangerous.

"…"

The participant bit his mouth due to the sudden sense of crisis.

In a situation where choices are free people end up rationalizing choices that are beneficial to them.

Especially when a huge target called debut is just around the corner.

So the conclusion was quick.

'…It's right to eliminate competitors as much as possible. I'm not a pushover either.'

-Candidates who are eliminated for dance positions must be sent here.

He hesitated for a moment but then made up his mind and quietly left the practice room and ran down the hallway.

And Ryu Geon-woo and Jeong Woo-dan who were sitting in the vocal practice room across from us confirmed it.

“It really came out.”

“okay.”

“Are you sure this would have worked?”

“uh.”

Ryu Geon-woo chuckled. There was one thing he was sure of.

own position.

Among the participants he is at the top level in terms of public awareness topicality and high praise from the president.

‘It’s hard for the same performer to ignore it.’

It was not intimacy but the power of rank and authority.

Since it is different from human liking if you directly persuade them they may react with resistance but you can just bypass it.

‘I believe it more if I think I have figured something out on my own by analyzing the other person’s words.’

In fact position oversaturation may push one side as the main force depending on the group’s tendency but you cannot safely think like that.

Of course Ryu Geon-woo had no intention of saying that much so he neatly said this.

“You can bet money that the mood will change by tomorrow.”

“I don’t fall for such uncertain gambling advice but I respect it as a courtesy to a key player.”

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo closed his mouth. Anyway Zhou Dan admired briefly and then placed his hand on his chin.

“How many times do I have to do this?”

“Change the exam one more time.”

“Is that okay?”

“Words are bound to get around anyway. The remaining trainees are all in similar situations so they will try to get together. “You saw him run away.”

Now that both Testa and VTIC have occupied the vocal position the situation of the remaining trainees in the dance position is similar.

They will then share this strategy among themselves. There needs to be meaningful numbers so as long as we are all in similar situations we will be able to communicate easily.

‘Then roughly how the votes are distributed even if Ryu Cheong-woo takes only 1/3 he is guaranteed to pass.’

There are 6 people including VTIC and Testa whose memories have already been restored.

We’ve already secured half of the garden so this should be enough.

Ryu Geon-woo shrugged his shoulders and Ju Dan quite seriously… sympathized.

“It seems like you think a lot about human psychology. I do that too sometimes. “It’s a pretty interesting habit.”

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo decided not to respond but to quietly continue explaining the next target.

Meanwhile beyond the hallway they were looking at something that even Ryu Geon-woo could not have predicted was happening.

“omg.”

1. The participant fell while running down the hallway.

“evil!”

2. I felt pain in my ankle.

“Are you okay?”

3. Liu Chengwu who was returning from the interview witnessed it.

And it moved right away.

“for a moment. “Don’t move.”

Liu Chengwu reflexively responded to the situation as he had been taught during training.

“Are you sick here?”

After checking the pain in each area.

“It looks like your muscles are a little bit shocked but you don’t have to worry about injury.”

Provide reassurance by comparing it to your own experience. And I even found a spray-type paste in a nearby break room and handed it over.

“Write it.”

“Ah… yes. thank you.”

And then he leaves without saying anything further or giving advice.

It was a light favor that could perhaps just be treated as routine. Something Liu Chengwu always does.

However the situation was a bit special.

“…hmm.”

The participant who got up after spraying all the paste thought as if evaluating.

He appears calm and courageous and reacts quickly. I didn’t graduate from a national university for nothing.

‘If we’re a team we can be more dependable.’

And… it’s a vocal position. There is no need to compete for positions.

If you think about it if you don’t vote for Kim Da-hwan who is in the dance position anyway the only remaining candidates are Ryu Cheong-woo and the quick-witted idiot.

If this happens quite common sense emotions will arise.

‘…Isn’t it better to choose someone who is a good team player rather than that guy with anger management disorder?’

The participant secretly modified the sentence he was trying to tell others about voting. And then I walked slowly down the hallway and headed toward my dorm.

And a few days later the long-awaited final broadcast.

-Wow finally

-Oh I want to see you but I also don't want to see you. Will the kids be okay?

-Is it true that it is a fun reservation?

In a situation where viewers are unable to overcome their curiosity and are watching the live broadcast the president himself announces the bottom-ranked survivors.

In order of receiving the most votes.

[I am a survivor who received a total of 11 votes and joined the final stage.]

-Wow overwhelming

-Pyo: At this level it seems like he is already an existing trainee?

-Da-hwan?

Amidst light speculation the voting screen passes through the VCR and the party is finally confirmed.

[This is Ryu Cheong-woo.]

[…!!]

Ryu Cheong-woo became the first successful candidate receiving 11 out of 12 votes.

In fact except for one vote from the bottom tier who are at risk of being eliminated the performance is almost like a sweep.

-????

-Ryu Cheong-woo with 10 votes?

-Is this possible?

Viewers were confused but were convinced when they saw the participants applauding with smiling faces without much agitation.

-Ryu Cheong-woo must have a nice personality.

-What seems to be different about insiders?

-Did you guys not get along very well at your agency? Haha awesome.

But in fact Park Moon-dae was a little embarrassed.

'What is it?'

I had no idea that Liu Chengwu would sweep away like this.

'I saw about 8 or 9 votes.'

And then I realized.

'He doesn't say empty words.'

-I'll take care of the tickets.

Liu Chengwu was truly confident in his popularity.

Even if he hadn't done such a thing he would have easily ranked second which proves that his confidence is not groundless.

'…Because he's a guy with sense.'

Didn't you act as a leader in "Azusa" as if you were eating a meal?

'It must have been similar this time too.'

Park Moon-dae happily accepted his miscalculation.

Liu Chengwu blushed slightly but seriously announced his thoughts on being a successful candidate before entering.

[As much as my colleagues have trusted me I will show that I perform well as a team in today's final stage.]

Testa's Park Moon-dae in the guise of Ryu Geon-woo happily applauded the leader.

Then another vocal position trainee was called and the two eliminated were confirmed.

It's a cold thing but since it was at the bottom of the polls anyway there wasn't a huge repercussion.

-Oh my gosh ㅠㅠ

-I'll let you do the stage it's cruel.

-Everyone is still young so I hope they debut somewhere else!

After a short period of time to allow viewers to feel appropriately sad.

[Yes I am!]

The final stage unfolds.

Thanks to the four lower-ranked performers taking on the same part and practicing two different movements the 10-person performance continues smoothly.

And naturally viewers expressed their emotions as expected from viewers of the final survival broadcast.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-Please debut with everyone

-Tae-in-ah it's not too late. Please CEO Shin Shin-son the leader of K-

pop.

-Tae-in-ah please use common sense.

Even 10 people are not that many. Nowadays people cried saying that even more than 11 people debuted well.

This is because there seemed to be no other batting line.

However it was impossible to read the face of President Kim Tae-in who was sitting in the judges' seat.

Thanks to this viewers were pouring out curses resentment and criticism.

Suddenly the screen goes blank. And I see… a familiar face albeit wearing a mask.

-???

-Hey just now.

-Isej;ㄴ

-Isn't this Sejin Lee?

A handsome man with his arms crossed was standing in front of the standing seats which were not meant for the audience.

-My first friend

-Hey why would Lee Se-jin open it?

-Hehehe that's right.

-Is Sejin Lee a member of Leti?

Is that possible?

Sejin Lee.

Here it was Bae Se-jin an actor who had not yet changed his name.

An actor who has very little media exposure and is famous for filming movies like a cow suddenly appeared in the audience for the final episode of Male Idol Survival.

Naturally reactions to him poured out like crazy in an instant.

And from the moment the camera director and producer recognized Lee Se-jin he started appearing on screen quite often.

[Who can be a STAR?]

Every time he crosses the stage for 1 to 2 seconds the comments alternate with passionate support for the trainees and stories about Lee Se-jin.

Because the reaction was visible.

[The talent crossing the stage is mine]

When someone is caught on screen they open their eyes nervously or swallow their saliva.

-I'm rooting for Ryu Geon-woo.

-That's right.

-Cha Yujin seems to like it too.

-Lee Se-jin you like talented people I do too.

-Isn't that a dork with that lineup? LOL.

Even viewers who were tired of catching the audience were quite amused by the appearance of the mysterious actor.

-It seems very transparent who you are rooting for.

-ㅅㅂ Why are you acting fuzzy in real life?

-That's the reason why I'm good at playing Ssapae. I'm already so immersed in a field that I can't see anything else.

□Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

The fun of it soon subsided but it had the effect of attracting quite a bit of attention as it was posted on social media in real time.

-Is this Seoba a male idol who even sees Lee Se-jin?

-I can cheer for someone please tell me quickly.

-What is the fun of watching a web server without any writing skills?

As the last episode came in the final finished the stage of two songs and was ready to enter the climax.

And there was one more element that could not be left out in the original climax.

It is empathy and tears.

And the easiest way to bring out this element was already standardized.

[Surprise letter sent to trainees]

A warm middle-aged voice rings out from the electronic display board on a quiet stage.

[?? : Our Yunshin is doing well?]

Just family.

“…!”

Bae Se-jin in the audience almost gritted his teeth.

‘…no way.’

Short edited video calls and friendly recordings pass by as if they were taken from all the trainees.

‘no way.’

Bae Se-jin did not know very much about Park Moon-dae’s current Ryu Geon-woo’s ‘real’ family history.

However if you look at their honest reactions when the story of their parents comes up it is impossible not to know. Ryu Geon-woo’s situation is not much different from Park Moon-dae’s.

‘…What about here?’

Bae Se-jin broke out in a cold sweat as he had never discussed that topic before and looked alternately between the electronic display board and Ryu Geon-woo on the stage.

And when I confirmed that Ryu Geon-woo was standing still without any expression.

[Geonwoo. How are you?]

The electronic signboard screen turns black and Ryu Geon-woo’s name begins to appear.

[These people sent an email to here so we made the call.]

[Letter from the Antarctic base]

Comments are pouring in.

-Wow Ryu Geon-woo’s parents are both researchers?

-See how cool it is in Antarctica;;

-Your head is gone somewhere. You really belong to an elite family.

-I'm jealous of the golden spoon.

Ryu Geon-woo bowed his head slightly.

At first glance it seemed like she was listening with emotion to her parents' voices but Bae Se-jin who had been with them for several years caught the emotion of the gesture.

'Hold on.'

Bae Se-jin clenched his fists.

Chapter 398

Ryu Geon-woo did not look at the electronic display board. But words continued to flow from the electronic display board.

[My mom and dad didn't know that Geonwoo said he wanted to be an idol and that he was actually appearing on a program like this and showing off his cool side.]

'really…!'

Why do broadcasting stations invariably prefer such peripheral low-dimensional stimulation of a certain generation?

Bae Se-jin gritted his teeth under his mask. And regardless of whether he did so or not speculations such as 'I guess Ryu Geon-woo was impressed' spread well through the comments.

[Be sure to debut and see your face. Fighting my son!]

Ryu Geon-woo held both hands tightly and did not raise his head. And the electronic display board moves so slowly that it feels cruel to Bae Se-jin.

'under… '

A short message left by Shin Jae-hyun's mother passes by touching BGM gently fills the filming set and the president's comment appears.

[Please share your thoughts on seeing the messages from your family on stage like this.]

The camera sequentially took close-ups of several participants accepting the microphone.

Kim Rae-bin swallowing her nose with tears in her eyes was quite pitiful and cute but the problem was the moment the microphone passed and finally reached Ryu Geon-woo.

Ryu Geon-woo held the microphone with both hands and remained silent for a long time barely acceptable during a live broadcast.

And only then did he open his mouth.

[…thank you.]

He bowed his head deeply and then raised his head quite courageously.

But there is a hint of agitation in his voice.

[I will definitely debut and show you a good image.]

The response was good as they seemed to be shaking from greetings and emotions that they could not tell whether from their parents or the public.

Ahhh~!

It's like it's sad it's like it's cute

Exclamations.

However Bae Se-jin who knew the truth was confused.

'It looks difficult.'

It looks like he's biting his lips because he's moved but he's actually holding back sadness or shock…

…uh?

'for a moment'

Bae Se-jin recovered from the moment of falling into sentimentality and looked at the expression again objectively.

Park Moon-dae chewing the inside of his lip.

That's just pure clenching of teeth.

A vulgar expression of anger.

"…??"

'He looks pissed all the way down to his head…?'

On stage Ryu Geon-woo stood upright with bright eyes.

His eyes were inexplicably overflowing with motivation.

-I guess I'm in high spirits because I haven't seen my parents in a while. ㅠㅠ That's right model boy he likes the taste of this.

-Geonwoo please debut.

-Lee Se-jin is making me laugh by asking why he was so shocked lol.

Thanks to this the finals proceed steadily regardless of Bae Se-jin's confusion.

The president thought that he had made a decision after careful consideration with the people involved but in fact he announced a list of successful candidates whose direction was determined by the influence of someone who knows the future.

The number of people announced one by one with appropriate pauses.

[Shin Jae-hyun.]

People are cheering as they are called one by one and each time the trainee gives his/her impression.

Ryu Geon-woo Jin Chae-yul Jeong Woo-dan Cha Yu-jin Oh Yun-shin…

[This friend had a lot to worry about but I was greatly impressed by the fact that he gained a lot of trust from his colleagues in such a short period of time.]

Even Liu Chengwu.

When the odd number of 7 people was reached people were anxious and wondered if this was the end and the expectations on the participants' faces died.

'It was an invaluable experience!'

No to be more precise that was the look on the faces of the rest of the participants except Kim Rae-bin who was already overcome with lingering emotions.

The president pretends not to be dramatic and then says the last additional successful candidate.

I was planning to tie it up for the next album but after going through 'Orchestra Collaboration' I couldn't resist my greed for the group's perfection so I made this choice.

[Kim Rae-bin.]

[…!?]

[This is the last member of the group.]

Raebin Kim almost jumped out of her seat and almost received the microphone upside down. I was not the only one but I was the redhead of the night.

[Is that that that that one?…… yes!]

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-Why does Ravin look like that lol?

-It looks like my face when the professor pretended to know me in the lecture.

The presentation ends on a touching note with Kim Rae-bin's violent expression turning into a steamed bun which brings a lot of laughter.

VTIC half Testa half.

'It's a tie.'

The leader of VTIC who was the first to be called felt a brief emotion as he recalled his bet with Moon-Dae Park.

So to conclude overall the 〈Wise〉 final was successful.

The two additional eliminations brought about disappointment and regret but the prevailing opinion was that the president had made a good selection.

In fact to be honest it can be said that even those who were eliminated were cut out well.

It might have been natural. Because it was a combination of already proven idol members.

[Dol Survival said to be the best combination ever]

[List of final successful applicants for Leti Serva who completed the semester]

[Wise's new group name appears]

However Testa's Park Moon-dae finally got off to a good start on a stage where flowers were fluttering and fireworks were exploding…

My mind was still boiling coldly.

‘Fuck you bastard.’

Because I had some kind of confidence.

* * *

-Keun Se-jin: I worked hard at Mundaemun University and it was great (thumbs up emoticon) Get a good rest today!

I checked the chicken gifticon he attached. And when you reply ‘I will’.

A pop-up appears quietly.

[Hyung… are you okay?]

I answered calmly.

“I’m not okay.”

[]

The pop-up stops as if I can’t even type any words. I know what you’re assuming but that’s not why I’m not okay.

It’s because of the frustration of being caught up in some bullshit.

“It’s a lie.”

[…yes?]

“It’s a lie that my parents are alive.”

I can’t believe I got caught in this joke.

I kept muttering ignoring the pop-up that was vibrating like crazy and churning out typos.

“It doesn’t make sense.”

There are too many logical loopholes.

“If you can’t make phone calls in the first place it doesn’t matter but if you can receive emails it means you have internet.”

then.

“There is no need to connect via voice call. It is better to receive it via video or request a video call.”

No matter how slow the internet is is there any way you can’t send a photo?

The response comes very carefully over time.

[Could it be that your parents refused to reveal your face…?]

“That will be the excuse. But that’s not all I suspect.”

I turned off my smartphone.

At first I couldn’t reason because I was shocked but the moment I saw the information on the electronic display board that said ‘Letter from the Antarctic Base’ an idea occurred to me.

“Are my parents actually researchers?”

[!??]

“In my head I thought it was true but for that matter I don’t have any memories related to my parents’ work.”

I wouldn’t have suddenly stopped being a researcher as soon as I came home.

“At least you might have some feelings about the place you work but it’s just that you come to work and leave.”

It's like a setting that was added secretly at the end.

"It's not normal. absoluteness."

The pop-up didn't respond for a while but soon it started pouring out small messages.

[Actually… I also had similar questions. Being a researcher is a stable job. However it doesn't seem like my brother inherited the money…]

"okay."

I actually doubted that too. Being a researcher is a high-income job but I don't remember losing anything whether through kleptomania or stocks and I inherited very little property.

I don't even remember having any doubts about it.

"So… there is a high probability that the parents of the researchers at the Antarctic base here are lying."

[…]

"I made it up."

I don't know what they did when the system crashed but I think they planted the 'researcher' proposition in me so that I could understand it naturally.

Since I've lost all my memories of meeting the real Park Moon-dae I think I can hint at that much.

"But it doesn't seem natural enough to cause discomfort."

[…Because your brother voluntarily noticed it now right?]

"okay. "Maybe they feel uncomfortable when they meet in person so they don't want to send them to Antarctica to see them."

Also I was afraid that I would feel even more uncomfortable when I came across pictures of my parents who became researchers so I blocked out all visual information.

Pop-ups are distorted.

[It was so mean and mean.]

The system has messed up once or twice and there is no reason for it to happen again. It's just that I feel like I've been caught like this.

'It's even more infuriating that I touched someone else's memory.'

And that too… these few memories that remain.

No let's not fall into sentimentality. There is no time for that.

I continued my reasoning and Geondal also continued to busily tell his reasoning.

[Then… Then this is definitely not the past right? Is it like a dream? Like that daydream I made.]

"I don't know about the latter but I'm sure about the former."

I muttered quietly.

"I guess it's not like I've returned to the past at all because in real life people who don't already exist can't come out."

Because all the settings were mixed up from the beginning.

[…]

"It could be a good thing."

The motivation will definitely be there.

[brother.]

I made a decision.

I shared this information with Cheongryeo without having to hide it.

About the imperfections of this place.

The guy who was sitting in the waiting room of the soon-to-be demolished filming set listened to what I had to say and then commented without much agitation.

“In the end there is no change in our goals. “Right?”

“…Yes but you need to be more careful when choosing what to do.”

I frowned.

“If there is an error in your memory you may make the wrong choice at a critical moment.”

No matter how small it is.

Minor points that may seem insignificant can change and cause a butterfly effect.

‘You need to check once in a while to see if you feel any discomfort.’

However Cheongryeo had a sour face.

“Junior. It’s okay as long as you remember the information you need to proceed. “The more memories accumulate the more they become distorted.”

“…”

“What we need to be wary of… are the additional effects caused by memory.”

what.

“emotion.”

“…!”

“As long as you have information and rational judgment you can’t make a mistake. There is nothing particularly wrong with choosing one. “In the end you just have to choose one.”

The guy declared.

“Just the goal.”

“…”

“Is that so?”

“okay.”

I never thought I’d say this but I felt like my head was clearer after talking to this guy.

I gritted my teeth and declared.

“I’ll definitely get the grand prize as soon as possible and get out of there. “That’s the goal.”

“I guess it’s your habit to repeat the obvious junior.”

It’s noisy.

I straightened up and sat down.

Let’s get to the point quickly.

“First of all… about our debut concept.”

The trembling in his face fades slightly. I crossed my arms.

“The concept of VTIC’s first album was for worldview build-up.”

“Testa will be no different.”

“well. “Because our music rankings are high.”

“Haha it looks like you came from a survival program that had double-digit viewership ratings.”

I guess I’d like to say that I couldn’t even dream of getting that rank unless it was survival.

“…Anyway yours is for mid- to long-term use so wouldn’t it be too minor for short-term use?”

“well. There was definitely a good response overseas.”

…Is that so? I took pictures of male idols because I didn’t have to watch their debut song’s music video or analyze their outfits.

“What exactly is the concept?”

“The afterlife.”

“Big.”

I almost got scared.

I barely responded.

“It’s too much.”

“Haha did you say that to Testa?”

“…”

“If there is enough investment there is nothing excessive. “The important thing is completeness.”

“…”

[That’s what my brother said…]

Oh I know so be quiet.

“Anyway aiming for popularity at this time is not a very good strategy.”

Cheongryeo tapped her chin and continued speaking.

“LeTi has traditionally had good support in the overseas KPOP fandom so we should grab that and go for it.”

“Overseas.”

“yes. The English subtitled version of 〈Wise〉 uploaded to WeTube got quite a lot of views. “It’s also the best report card I’ve ever received through survival.”

The guy laughs.

“Let’s go overseas like this and go based on album sales.”

“for a moment.”

How can you decide where you want to go?

“If you select the right music source you can achieve success in Korea as well. “Isn’t it still a good time for male idols to be popular?”

It’s hard to expect success in music unless you’re a solid first team player after a few years but isn’t this the time when there are still quite a few guys making good results?

“So that doesn’t work.”

what?

The smile disappears from Cheongryeo's face and annoyance returns.

"The efficiency is the worst."

"…"

"There are groups that are already enjoying all the fun that comes with popularity."

And then I realized who this guy was talking about.

"…Tea Holic."

In reality they are just senior idols who maintain their group through entertainment.

We also appeared on their entertainment show. An old group that doesn't expect much more from their music achievements and fills the topic with their sense of entertainment.

But not now…

This is… the time when Tea Holic is at its peak of activity.

"yes."

Cheongryeo nods her head.

"Our opponent is Tea Holic at his peak."

Chapter 399

Of course neither VTIC nor Testa were in the first group but at some point in the past there were other first-tier idols.

‘And now that means tea-holic.’

I was silent for a moment remembering the guys who collapsed on the sophistry of ‘distress is better than 1 billion’ on our entertainment show.

Thanks to that I did well with the magical girl theme song as a voluntary penalty.

At that time they acted like pure idiots but that was all for entertainment purposes and in fact they were the ones who enjoyed an absurd peak.

After those guys the male group that was properly considered ‘popular’ barely maintained its reputation until Testa emerged.

“This is the prime time before they enlist.”

“This title song released on March 22nd is scheduled to rank 8th on music sites annually.”

Cheongryeo predicted a terrible future without even blinking. Looking at their expressions it looks like they’ve had to restart quite a few times because of those T-holics.

But still.

“Let’s make this clear.”

This means that we are not in a situation where we have to consistently clear status ailments over several years.

“What we’re trying to do is short-term. “I’m not trying to consistently receive the grand prize over the medium to long term.”

“What is your intention in saying that?”

“There’s nothing complicated about thinking about the future.”

Image consumption management consistency fandom maintenance sustainable concept… there is no need for all of this.

All you have to do is get into Tea Holic just this year.

“Let’s see the volume outcome.”

Because it will be decided this year.

Qingli stared at me.

“I didn’t know that a rookie would succeed just by pouring in a lot of money.”

“If you can’t digest it you won’t succeed.”

I smiled toothily.

“But all the members have succeeded. “Half of them remember how to succeed.”

“…

These are people who have been at the top of the entertainment industry for at least 5 years and up to several decades. A product that has already proven sales.

“You just have to come up with a good strategy.”

“Tell me.”

I delivered the method I had in mind according to the timeline.

Two albums.

And a method that borders on fraud.

“The composition is good.”

Cheongryeo touched his chin and smiled slightly.

“Assuming there is a good song.”

It was a comment from a guy with a brain that had compressed and accumulated a database of songs for the next eight years.

I laughed too.

* * *

“I think this will be useful.”

The next day. As soon as he entered the recording studio he recorded seven songs as quickly as he remembered them and turned them into a pre-finished sound source.

It was a stunt that made me wonder if it was a human being but now I wonder if that’s the case.

I turned the song around and listened.

Some songs I know some I don’t.

And what I chose…

“this.”

“ah.”

It's an R&B song about a rapper who worked hard for a long time but ends up getting drunk and driving.

"You chose well."

The guy nods his head in sympathy. Well if the reviews are good even though I no longer have the 'grasping ears' that I originally had…

"I probably haven't even thought of the top note for this yet. "I plan to come up with it while drinking in the fall three years from now."

"…"

Did you mean that it was appropriate in that sense?

Anyway it doesn't matter.

"good. Then arrange this."

And the person to whom I entrust this…

"Do you compose music?"

"I know the theory exactly. But creation is the realm of the senses."

"The song on the album is good."

"I don't think I have to explain the difference between the title and the included songs right?"

Are you coming? I guess I'll just have to give it to the company to make it.

'Still it would be nice to include the members' names in the composition and lyrics… '

And I had to choose one more song. It was when I was furiously shaking my head.

“There’s a member who handles music there.”

ah.

Anyone can tell that this is Kim Rae-bin’s story.

The guy says with a genuine smile.

“Try to awaken him.”

“Because it’s not something I want to do.”

“I guess it’s your junior’s intention to try.”

This is so annoying. Should I try it 10 times and spit out a list of failures to this guy’s face?

I pressed the ‘Draw 10’ button with a shocked face.

“It’s not floating. “To be chosen so easily…”

[Leap towards emergency…]

“…??”

[Huh!]

[★★★★★ Raebin Kim / Main Rapper]

“…”

“…”

“You picked it.”

“…”

Is it true?

Isn't this system manipulating probability by looking at the facts?

'Are you doing this because you got caught for bluffing Padrep with your parents?'

If you think something like that will work that's a really stupid idea. anyway…

'I won't refuse.'

I immediately accepted Raebin Kim as a colleague. I had no intention of delaying.

And after a while.

Kim Rae-bin who was scheduled to return to Gangwon-do tonight and rest for about two days was still at the office building due to a meeting with a company employee.

"hello!"

"Oh yeah."

And when I found him and pressed the awakening button Kim Rae-bin's reaction can be summarized as follows.

1. Confusion.

"…! So this is a fake world? "Then are your grandmother grandfather and older sister… fake?"

2. Convince.

"Given that the act of awakening is possible there is a high possibility that people are real!"

And the question comes back as feedback and this cycle repeats forever.

“Exactly what started this phenomenon?”

“…?? If you were over the Pacific on a private plane whose private plane was it?”

Have no hesitation in asking questions.

When I came to my senses I realized that for the first time this guy was able to have some kind of telepathy with the ‘real Park Moon-dae’.

‘Is it real?’

I didn’t believe it either but they even delivered a pop-up message from Big Moon.

And this guy asks another question.

“Then which do you think is the more appropriate title Ryu Geon-woo or Park Moon-dae?”

“…Do what’s comfortable for you.”

“…! Even if the period is short you prefer a title that refers to the time when you had a relationship with the majority.”

Yes think whatever is convenient for you.

After a while Kim Rae-bin who had adapted to the situation in his own way seemed to be formulating complex theories inferences and formulas in his head.

And after going through the process of understanding again the conclusion reached is…

“If you need my biased abilities I will do my best!”

Fortunately it is productive.

Of course check it out.

I grabbed his shoulder.

“Even if you feel like you’re slightly infringing on other people’s rights?”

“…I believe my brother’s explanation that there will be a tacit understanding from everyone in order to restore the world to reality…”

“okay.”

Well thought out.

There were a lot of questions but it was easy to get started by getting them straight at the beginning.

I tapped the guy on the shoulder.

“Please take care of me.”

“Please take care of me!”

I returned to the officetel with the guy who had awakened like that.

Of course it doesn’t mean there were no side effects.

“Cha Yujin! you!”

“I told Raebin Kim to speak informally! Raebin Kim did it late!”

“It’s because you registered your birth late but you’re actually older than me and there’s no excuse for asking if that’s important in Korea!”

“…”

It felt like I was having a touching reunion with Cha Yu-jin at my officetel but it turned out like this at the end.

I don't know but it seems like Cha Yu-jin made quite a bit of fun of that 17-year-old guy with no memory.

Anyway it was only after a while that Kim Rae-bin regained her composure through Ryu Cheong-woo and accepted the melody I presented.

It's a song by that drunk driving rapper.

"I wish I could arrange this with just the melody but the melody is so kitsch."

"Yes according to the top notes and riffs… what direction are you considering for the genre?"

"I wish it was a house."

Raebin Kim nods his head and listens seriously as before when talking about work.

Then I threw the bait one more time.

"Ravin. And I'm sorry but I have to do one more thing."

"yes?"

I passed play to the next file.

"This is it. "I hope both songs use similar instruments and have a series feel."

Raebin Kim's face lights up as she plays another melody she has chosen.

Yes I suffered from a pang of conscience trying to arrange the original song as if it were my own but this is not the case.

‘…Actually this is also true.’

-VTIC The comeback schedule was adjusted but due to the butterfly effect it didn’t come out this time. Has the composer given up?

Well that’s how it is.

“I understand.”

Kim Rae-bin who did not know the additional information that it was a hit melody that someone else would come up with in the future simply nodded enthusiastically.

“Shall we work quickly?”

“If possible start with the latter.”

I grinned.

“I’m going to pay for that first.”

It was the beginning of a series of presentation scenarios.

* * *

LeTi’s new male group that will debut after going through an in-house survival program.

[Countdown to Wishze’s debut… Will the music industry change?]

It didn’t take long for articles about their debut to appear with the group’s name using the spelling of their program ‘Wise’.

-The president seemed to be reformed and showed off to Inheart.

-They’ll come out with something gloomy so that means it’s good.

-I’m really looking forward to it. The kids are all wearing hats these days. Are they dyeing their hair?

After the survival competition the public temporarily lost interest but even after nearly two months the fan base that was formed hardly dissipated.

This is because the two people in question did not miss the timing.

“Even if you give the public a break you have to keep your fan base.”

“It’s just live communication and practice cameras.”

In an instant Wishz’s behind-the-scenes WeTube series was launched.

After its debut it was even planned to treat it as a reality prequel to ensure continuity.

It was good up to that point but the problem was next.

This is the concept of the debut song.

“The afterlife is too maniacal.”

“YES! “I’m so depressed!”

“Isn’t that the kind of atmosphere that the existing fan base of this agency expects? And the magic boy… well it’s going to be hard to get past the boss.”

Even though VTIC is outnumbered in terms of the number of awakened people the situation is tense as Jjambap is a government official.

“Wait a minute we’re not the only members so we should listen to other people’s thoughts as well.”

So I even asked for an objective evaluation of the two guys who were not awakened by Ryu Cheng-wu’s mediation.

Chaeyul and Shinno.

This was the reaction of the two people whom Park Moon-dae calls yes men.

“Wow… can’t we do both?”

“I know!”

“…”

It was their fault for expecting something from a rookie who hadn’t even debuted yet.

Park Mun-dae held back his sleep but Ju Dan lifted his chin.

“Indeed both the magic academy and the afterlife are settings that are in demand. Moreover the better you interpret symbols the more in-depth your work will be.”

“…??”

“Mundae no Geonwoo hyung. Have you ever thought of something like this?”

And Park Moon-dae realizes the use of Cheongryeo’s idea of ’sometimes hitting the jackpot’.

50 days after this meeting.

-Are you there?

-It’s up it’s awesome ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-Pick to play right away

As time passed and the music video was finally released with domestic and overseas fans formed through 〈Wise〉 waiting with eager anticipation.

-omg

What people saw was the camera work going into a dark school where meteors were falling and the members standing at various facilities inside the school.

There choreography and close-up scenes take place against the backdrop of strange phenomena.

[one

two three

Now grant my wish]

That's right. VTIC and Testa created a new keyword by combining the concepts of their debut song.

〈School ghost story.〉

This was the theme of their debut song 'Wish'.

-Letty

-I thought it would be like this but it's better.

-The dog is handsome. The dog is handsome.

-I thought the world view would be mind-blowing but surprisingly it wasn't that bad. It's a bit like a game.

Incorporating nuances of thrill fear mystery and hunting between the strong dance song and camera work made the overall tone more intense.

Moreover the setting is a school.

Although likes and dislikes may differ there is one clear demand from those who want a strong debut.

It wasn't a very popular choice but that wasn't the target of this album.

"What we are targeting is overseas."

It was the existing KPOP listener base.

When the three elements of synchronized dance strong music and strong concept fit together the needs of the demand group were satisfied and the fandom naturally increased.

Adding to the starting advantage of being a large agency overseas momentum was seen growing at an alarming rate.

"It seems like the company is trying to focus the schedule on that isn't that what you wanted?"

"okay. "Good."

Thanks to this they managed their debut activities in a way that thoroughly appealed to the fandom.

There were some fans who were slightly disappointed by the public awareness created through survival but the fandom steadily increased both domestically and internationally.

Moreover although it was still a long way from summer until the end of May it was hot enough due to global warming.

Thanks to this the ghost story concept did not stand out too much and was properly buried as a seasonal special element.

'Just the right amount.'

The initial release of the album stopped at around 100000 copies but considering that this was before album inflation occurred it was very respectable.

This is especially true considering that it is a debut album.

‘It will be from the next album that the overseas fandom attracted here will start purchasing the album in earnest.’

They made a huge appeal with a song and concept that could appeal to the global fandom like crazy.

Now it was time to move on to the next step.

Park Moon-dae who came down from the last stage of debut song promotions Ryu Geon-woo declared to Cheongnyeo.

“As planned the next activity will not be delayed for a long time but will be repackaged within a month or two. “Don’t say anything else.”

“and?”

Ryu Geon-woo answered while looking at the person who asked the question clearly knowingly.

A strategy that borders on fraud.

“And… they change the route. “A completely popular song.”

To put it bluntly it’s a slap in the face.

By giving overseas fans the nuance that the next album would have a similar deep worldview and strong dance song feel the album’s pre-order sales continued to increase…

‘They’re just throwing out popular domestic songs that are likely to sell well.’

In this way the goal is to maximize album sales and lead the music charts.

Of course they planned to minimize the feeling of betrayal through sub-songs etc. but it was still a one-time show-off that they would never have done as a rookie if they had been the main group.

Moreover it doesn't end here.

"Before that let's push ahead with our individual activities."

What would be the best way to get the public to listen to a song at least once?

It was to make a mark on a program that the public watched. That's the biggest reason why they appear on entertainment shows during the comeback season.

Promotion.

But that's it.

'For that promotional activity… how about building up about 10 items for each member and dropping them all at the same time like a bombardment?'

All of the members are showing impressive performances through individual activities so what if they promote their new songs there?

"I'm sure there will be aggro."

Park Moon-dae planned to take advantage of the advantage of being a group of 8 first-tier idol members who knew exactly what their appeal was.

Chapter 400

Idol individual activities.

It is usually done when a certain amount of annual leave has been accumulated and there are even those who do not even have full annual leave.

An example is right in front of you. Cheongnyeo.

“You’re probably right that VTIC didn’t have any personal activities until the contract was renewed.”

“I would say I helped the boss in his decision-making.”

The boss must have helped you express your opinion.

In any case it is common sense that it is done in a way that does not stimulate or divide the fandom too much.

Especially in the early days of debut strengthening the group is a priority.

But… if you just want one decisive hit then suturing personal fans is a part-time job.

It can be built.

“Let’s distribute the work right away.”

“There is no need to delay.”

Gather all the connections you can. As it is a large agency the fact that there are many programs that can be plugged in is an advantage but…

‘You can also take advantage of the fact that there are already successful people out there.’

Actor Bae Se-jin and Jairop Lee Se-jin.

The assistance of two people with the same name had already been promised.

– Bae Se-jin: It’s already been discussed.

– Bae Se-jin: I will contact you in the afternoon.

Bae Se-jin uploaded the OST of the movie she appeared in.

Originally they could participate as a group but since they have to focus on the next album title which will be released in a short period of time only some members participate for promotional purposes.

And big deal.

-Keun Se-jin: I have a variety show that I’ll be a regular on so maybe I could appear together? Haha. The PD already asked me if I had a recommendation for a colleague.

-What kind of entertainment is this?

-Keun Se-jin: Problem puppy rehabilitation entertainment~~~ (heartwarming bear emoticon)

As expected from a big show it’s a hit. I immediately recommended a qualified person who had raised dogs since childhood.

“I took care of Kgami… but all I did was give her a haircut.”

“Normally I don’t even cut the hair myself.”

So Liu Chengwu was immediately put in.

and…

"…"

"I've never lost money in this type of program."

"Do whatever you want."

Cheongryeo also appeared. I don't think I can do it but somehow the feeling of fraud got stronger.

Aside from that all the guys who could go on based on their characteristics were put into programs that were doing well or would soon be doing well.

"I'm not the type of person who is very active in entertainment…"

"Udan you were famous for having the best sense of entertainment among VTIC."

"It's a rumor."

I pushed Zhou Dan and the Yes Men into a disaster simulation observation show. It's your decision so don't think about saying anything to me.

"What do I do?? "I'm good at everything!"

"You are going to go to the army."

"…!?"

And Cha Yu-jin was put into military entertainment. Since I'm someone who doesn't usually go I believe I can endure this much.

After organizing it like that there is only one person left… well this guy.

I sent Kim Rae-bin to a variety show but she even called me before the filming that day.

-Hyung… No matter how much I think about it I don't think this is right.

"why."

Raebin Kim shouted in a low voice.

-Isn't this… illegal participation?

That's right. I made this guy participate in the student rapper survival show "School Rapping."

This situation seems to be burdensome with an article being published as 'A 17-year-old rookie idol student rapper from a major entertainment company's entry into the survival show.'

-I'm not a student or a rookie but it seems like a kind of manipulation of my academic background…!

It looks like I'm still not convinced.

I opened my mouth.

"Whether you have been an idol for five years or one day you are still an idol there. "It's because I think idols are in a different field than rappers."

-…!!

"And student is not a title originally associated with age. "At any age if you are in school you are a student."

-that…!

And actually Raebin Kim here has transferred to high school.

The sound beyond the smartphone was quiet for a while but soon an answer came.

-That's… a valid point.

"uh. So don't worry and do your best. It's actually rude to do it roughly. "It seems like you're looking down on me."

-…! okay. I understand!

This means that Kim Rae-bin became a chaebol who intervened in children's fights and ruined the game.

'I'm already expecting a reaction.'

I reflected on my choices with some satisfaction.

At that time I got a call from the guy who asked for the OST.

-Bae Se-jin: I'll see you on set soon. I heard you guys are filming something together.

This is typical of a guy who made a surprisingly vague remark when talking about the OST saying that it reminded him of "Cosmic Gunner." It also means that those who sing the OST will be briefly accompanied during the promotional schedule.

But still.

-I don't sing the movie OST.

-Bae Se-jin: ???

-Bae Se-jin: Why are you a mebo?

-I don't have time.

That's right.

I moved on to other activities out of efficiency considerations. Lead vocalists with good voices are also suitable for OST.

So what should a main vocalist do to be cost-effective?

‘Kim Rae-bin will appear on Rapper Survival… If.’

And if it is a meta that uses proven abilities once more.

Actually isn’t it obvious where I’m going?

I recalled an article I checked a few days ago.

[Only ideas and songs… Special arrangement of 〈The Singer I Made〉]

This special program.

I was scheduled to appear once more on “The Singer I Made” which is still a prototype.

Of course I have no intention of carrying that unconventional flower head ‘The Groom of May’ again.

‘…Rather than that.’

We plan to create a character that can be more immersive.

I turned on my laptop in the car and started creating documents for the company. Since tomorrow is an afternoon schedule I will be able to complete it even if I stay up all night.

* * *

〈The Singer I Made〉 was not a cutting-edge program using holograms from the beginning.

It started with makeup.

People who created ‘singer avatars’ similar to characters at amusement parks appeared in person with masks covering their entire bodies and special makeup.

And now is the time for that to begin.

[The singer I created]

“oh.”

An idol fan who happened to be sitting in front of the TV was watching the screen without thinking.

She started out as the main vocalist but lost her passion after entering college.

‘I don’t have a child I care about.’

These days even when I saw the real thing I wasn’t particularly excited. It was clear that this was Doltaegi.

‘I guess this is because I’m an adult now… ’

The college student watched the explanations passing on the screen with no emotion.

[A singer recreated with ideas!]

‘…It’s bizarre.’

It won’t be standardized until a few years later but since it’s only the beginning so many characters pass by that you might wonder if they’ll turn off the aggro.

‘Wow the spider is the real Eva.

[Dancing Spider Queen]

[From the eight feet comes a poison that freezes people with emotion!]

Are you Medusa?

To be honest the sight of eight black feet sticking out from under the white spider web costume was something from a nightmare.

This was especially true because the quality of the doll's mask was not good.

"Ugh."

Still the song was well sung and had a strange cult appeal so the channel was fixed. (And this was also the reason why this special program became a regular program.)

Like that about 7 or 8 teams of all kinds of strange singers passed by in an instant. There were many cases where only one minute of singing was performed and only the winner emerged.

"Ugh."

It's time for her to get tired of this weirdness.

The program which was moving quickly finally stops and slowly introduces the next participant.

As if he were an important person.

[The participating singer this time is… a dog?]

And what waddled onto the stage was indeed a Welsh corgi holding a picket sign.

A full-body yellow dog doll outfit.

'omg.'

It's so ordinary that it feels a bit out of place.

'Isn't it too roughly planned?'

The singer wearing a blatantly ordinary cheap doll mask that can be seen anywhere struggled and moved up onto the stage.

Then there is a close-up of the picket.

[Looking for a strong companion]

“Big!”

Viewers who thought of comments such as ‘Please love me’ almost heard the joke.

Character descriptions appear along with flashing effects that are somewhat B-grade.

[Your house Welsh Corgi]

[Eager job seeker who has mastered all kinds of tricks and personal skills]

[Declaration of participation: Raise it (yeah?) Raise it]

‘What is that!’

It was a comment that somehow made the shiny eyes of the doll mask feel shameless.

“You must be crazy.”

Even as he said that the college student raised his head and looked at the screen.

‘Is he a comedian? For some reason I don’t think I’m good at singing.’

But the music started playing and he finally started singing…

-Up above the clouds!

“…!”

It was a cool band song with bright vocals and strong high notes.

‘Uh oh.’

A song that blatantly boasts of her singing skills enough to completely change the B-class atmosphere.

“Who are you? “You’re good~”

“Uh huh.”

I reacted reflexively to what my mother said as she passed by the living room but it was also sincere.

Are you really good at it?

At that moment the college student slightly changed his mental attitude from thinking about it as a way to kill time.

I was curious about the Welsh Corgi’s next stage.

[The winner is… your Welsh Corgi!]

The Welsh Corgi impressively advanced to the second round with tremendous cheers. The back somehow looked brave.

And it didn’t break down in later rounds either. No on the contrary it shows a more diverse side.

In the second round they sing a sad trot song with another concept-filled participant and in the third round they sing an emotional ballad.

The tone changes quickly and the song is performed like a stunt.

‘You look handsome in a dog mask… ’

The college student narrowed his eyes at the sight of the Welsh Corgi playing tricks saying he wanted to know why he bothered to create a character.

And finally the final one-on-one match to determine the winner.

The editing flows smoothly without even being called tense.

[All participating singers will sing the same song announced in advance!]

If the song selection is the same the difference in skill becomes more noticeable.

And the Welsh Corgi's skills were truly outstanding.

-Be my light

Even after this time passes

you last forever

The Welsh Corgi who performed the female singer's song in original key almost mentally defeated the spider and won in the end.

It was overwhelming.

Wow!!

"Wow."

What was this? She was momentarily thrilled by the vicarious satisfaction she felt from an overwhelming victory.

On the screen a Welsh Corgi is doing a pretty cute victory dance. It's a performance like an experienced worker at an amusement park.

Then at the same time I became curious.

'Who is it? 'Who is it?'

In times like this it's collective intelligence!

As soon as the broadcast ended she went online and checked real-time search terms.

Sure enough ‘the singer I created’ and ‘your house’ were already popping up as search terms.

-Wow it’s fun.

-I am a legend looking at this and wondering what all this is all about.

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ But me too ㅇㅇ

-No but who is the real Welsh Corgi? Haha is it Kang Seong-chu?

The voices are really similar.

It’s been a long time since you used up your vocal cordsㅠ Absolutely not~!

However no sharp figures are selected.

‘uh?’

There are all kinds of speculations such as ‘she is an established singer’ or ‘she is the vocalist of an indie band’. A famous idol’s main vocalist also appears in an unusual atmosphere.

If there were so many people talking like this it would be easy to narrow down the target audience.

And the college student thought seriously.

‘It’s an idol.’

Maybe it’s because these people don’t accept claims from idol fans due to prejudice but their acting and dancing skills were nothing out of the ordinary.

It was clearly a product of training and time!

An unknown idol main vocalist who sings well! There are already similar cases so place your bets here!

‘Wow this is going crazy.’

Suddenly tension surged through the college student’s body.

‘Ah I don’t even know your face so why are you nervous?’

It was a sign of acceptance.

In the end even though she went through a strange period of irregularity she waited with excitement for next week’s broadcast.

I watched the performances of all kinds of unknown idols to try to guess and my eyes were bloodshot but in the end I couldn’t pick just one person.

‘please!’

Today is the end of this special program so I’ll show you my face! Then the conclusion will be one that cools down and burns down!

She swallowed her saliva and watched the program.

[The singer I created!]

[A head-to-head competition between burning ideas and singing skills]

[The second half starts right now.]

Also there are a lot of strange and bizarre characters and every once in a while an ordinary character appears that seems to have been put together.

But there is no wit like ‘Your Welsh Corgi’.

‘Unrivaled.’

Saying that she had to admit what she had to admit she beat the Welsh Corgi by decision about eight times and waited impatiently for the program to end.

And after a little over an hour the winner of this episode was finally revealed.

[The last opponent the ‘Cauldron Spaceship’ will meet…?]

A dog holding a picket comes up onto the stage.

[Appearance of the winning singer in the first half]

[〈Your Home Welsh Corgi〉]

“Whoop.”

The college student took a deep breath and watched TV.

In the meantime Welsh Corgi changed his picket.

[Looking for a strong companion]

“Sigh.”

You lowered your standards…!

‘There is a narrative… there is a narrative.’

In an era when job hunting has become more difficult Welsh Corgi started the final stage with a bang drawing laughter from the audience.

Darkness slowly falls on the stage.

widely.

The spotlight turns on.

There is no change in the face of a dog holding an ordinary one-handed microphone. But a pleasant voice comes out of it.

[There is someone looking for you]

The Welsh Corgi began the last song as if telling a story.

KW
데뷔 못 하면
죽는 병 걸림
백덕수 현대 판타지 장편소설

Debut or Die

– 데못죽 –

- VOLUME 7 -

-AUTHOR-
백덕수

-ILLUSTRATOR-
텡

[DAOTRANSLATE]

Chapter 401

The song flows on the stage. The singer's voice can be heard under the dog mask.

The college student listened to it.

-With the most beautiful heart

my confession to you

Soft and gentle lyrics continue.

-With the utmost kindness of heart

my love to you

It was a famous love song used as a wedding song.

'ah.'

But here it didn't sound like 'that kind of' love.

I don't know if it's the shape of the dog or the voice.

-When you hear love

think of me

A dog saving his family.

What was written on the picket was clearly a joke but somehow when the joke and the lyrics were connected… the funniness disappeared.

-Today and tomorrow too

I love you

The mixed song sung by a man and a woman rang out softly in the voice of a singer inside a dog doll.

I chose this song even though I could have made a more unconventional or more powerful choice.

On the contrary it amplifies the delivery power of the stage. Strangely.

-I love you.

Welsh Corgi finished his final song with a very deep and rich tone.

The applause from the audience lasted for a long time.

"…"

The college student was frozen in front of the TV lost in an inexplicable sentiment.

It seemed like nostalgia was calling to her like a strange longing. She paused to think for a moment and remained still…

[An impressive performance of 'Your Home Welsh Corgi'!]

"…! after."

The MC's loud voice and subtitles make the audio sound. The college student finally shook his head and found a sense of reality.

'Anyway… it's good.'

If it had not gone through a huge correction process in broadcast transmission the winner would have been determined.

Because I created a beautiful song by getting the right sound in the right place without showing off my enormous vocal volume or high-pitched technique.

[The winner is… ‘Your Welsh Corgi’!]

Sure enough the winner emerged with a good score.

[With this the singer to be created in 〈The Singer I Made〉 has become ‘Your Welsh Corgi’!]

The Welsh Corgi presses the ball with both front paws as if it is thrilled.

It was quite cute and there was a sense of congratulations on winning but the main point is next.

‘identity!’

After the loser who was close to winning left with a disappointed greeting the flow finally returned to the Welsh Corgi.

[Now it’s finally time to meet our winner!]

Pollen explodes.

The MC finally opens his mouth as cheers mixed with laughter pour in for the Welsh Corgi performing a performance of hugging a picket.

[The creator of ‘Your Welsh Corgi’ is…]

At the signal the Welsh Corgi lowers its picket raises both front paws again and takes off its mask.

And what is revealed inside… sweaty black hair and a coldly handsome face.

“…!!”

[This is Ryu Geon-woo the main vocalist of the big rookie Wishz!]

…Idol was right.

But instead of feeling a thrill at the correct guess astonishment took over her body.

Because it's not an unknown face but a face you already know!

'Ryu Geon-woo??'

The main vocalist from an in-house survival group who had been thinking about getting his foot in the door was smiling faintly.

'No I thought I was good at server too…!'

I didn't know it would be like this. No because the face wasn't to my taste I ended up looking at it in moderation.

In the first place I never thought he would actually be a rookie.

I thought he would be an idol who has been around for 5 years with a character who walks the tightrope between generosity and wit and who has a cute charm and song range… A rookie?

'That's also from a trainee for 3 months…!'

He's wearing a Welsh corgi mask with that face and acting funny?

While watching TV with his mouth open Ryu Geon-woo smiles and puts the doll mask on his side.

And then I picked up the microphone again.

[hello. This is Ryu Geon-woo from Wishes. Thank you very much for voting for 'Your Welsh Corgi'.]

There is a strange response mixed with the audience's moans and strange screams and laughter erupts again.

[Can I hear your thoughts on winning?]

[To be honest I never dared to think about winning and my goal was to work hard to make and show what I like but it's really… I can't believe it.]

[What is it?]

[It's surprising that everyone has such similar tastes in comedy as me.]

Applause erupts. The MC also barely suppresses his grin and asks again.

[Do you like Welsh Corgis??]

[Because I like yellow dogs.]

Saying that Ryu Geon-woo hugged the yellow dog head mask and smiled.

The cold and delicate impression suddenly softened and somehow looked cute…

[Please give a big round of applause once again to the winning creator!]

['Your Welsh Corgi' created by Ryu Geon-woo will serve as the broadcasting station's mascot this month.]

Ta-da-dan!

Accompanied by magnificent BGM the Welsh Corgi wearing a mask again raises one paw and waves a cute picket. The college student almost reflexively waved his hand at the screen.

That's how the broadcast ended.

But the turmoil in my heart that had begun did not end.

"…"

The college student eventually picked up his smartphone.

This was the situation 30 seconds before a new Ryu Geon-woo fan account was created.

* * *

I ate it raw.

Since it is a special program the casting lineup is not that great but the best condition was that the response would be good once the lid was opened.

'The editing came out well.'

I have already seen 'Wish's Ryu Geon-woo' appear in real-time search terms and evaluated it with satisfaction.

I had an interview scheduled at night and was sitting in the shop so I had a lot of time.

You can also check congratulatory messages coming to your smartphone.

It was time to check the group message area where emoticons were flowing.

I received a private message.

– Keun Se-jin: Hahahaha

– Keun Se-jin: Did you see this at Mundaemun University (link)

"hmm?"

I checked the link address.

‘It’s SNS.’

Has another meme been created with that Welsh Corgi?

Since I haven’t been able to monitor it properly yet I thought it would be a good idea to take a look so I clicked.

A new post posted just a few minutes ago appears.

-Geonwoo is really so cute. I feel like I’m going crazy. I haven’t been able to sleep for over a week and I’m just waiting for rice cake.

…are you my fan?

Seeing that there was a mention of entertainment it seems like he was interested in the dog mask this time.

‘Are you really asking me to monitor it?’

If the intention is to cheer you up you can’t say it’s a failure. I chuckled and scrolled down.

After the fan art of a Welsh corgi with glaring eyes a video of him wearing a mask and taking off the mask and photos of my debut activities the chatter starts again.

-Actually I have seen Geonwoo in real life because he had a hug event with another member during Wise Guerrilla Con…

uh.

Ack ㅠㅠ

Why didn’t you choose Geonwoo? ㅠㅠ

My friend asked me to do a cheering comment for another member… But that member was cute too. The problem is that my heart doesn’t beat just looking at the message…

And this person who was chatting excitedly even attached a proof photo as the response grew.

-The participation bracelet I received at that time… stop talking about Suzaku (photo)

What is in the photo is a paper band hanging on a wrist with a bracelet.

And… it was the fabric I remembered.

The light blue knit and bracelet worn by the person who received a hug from Jin Chae-yul.

This is the attire worn by Park Moon-dae's first home horse at the time.

"…"

no way.

-I thought my tastes had been modified but it seems not to be. Sounds like cold dry beef but it doesn't get through to me. I absolutely protect the dry beef.

-I know it would be crazy to rent a cannon but I want to do it…

The account's post ended there.

"…"

I quietly put down my smartphone.

"Geonwoo are you doing well?"

"yes. little."

"Oh that's the Welsh Corgi!"

It was similar.

Nothing changed because of this but somehow I felt like I was back where I was.

I finished the interview that day with more effort than planned.

And in the meantime the impact of entertainment was growing more and more uncontrollably.

* * *

First let's go back in time a little more.

The trend began to form when the article appeared before the broadcast of "The Singer I Made".

-Kids' entertainment shows are coming out (link)

-Wow disaster escape haha. What should I do? I'm so looking forward to it.

-ㅋㅋㅋ I guess they only gather kids with interesting reactions and let them appear!

Since it was quite common for a group to select entertainment members and promote them to programs people reacted as if that was something like that.

And it is a program that looks at various coping methods through a disaster simulation starring the three VTIC guys which was aired for the first time.

Let me say this first.

…Cheongryeo's appointment was correct.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-I thought this is how shamanism came about.

-Me talking about a method I saw in a cartoon (captured by Jeong Woo-dan)

A friend who is instigated (Captured by Jin Chae-yul and Oh Yun-shin)

The two yes men were surprised by the sudden warning or earthquake but they tried to do something quickly which drew an admirable response.

And Joo Dan said bullshit there too but it was really effective and he appealed as a mental supporter for the two.

When the three of them are appealing to a young fan base that mainly uses social media.

Entertainment programs targeting other target groups were also aired.

-All three male idols who appeared in Four-legged Friend are crazy. Please appear next season as well.

-Shin Jae-hyun's four-legged friend has come out. For some reason my mom says it's like our Jae-hyun.

-Everyone becomes happy when they see Ryu Cheong-woo's 60kg Malamute arms flashing (capture)

The two guys who appeared as regulars in the new season of the problem dog guidance program called "Four Legs But They're Friends" took very good care of the dog.

I focused on warmth rather than laughter but it seems like I got more out of it.

He created a favorable image with a reliable and adult appearance.

-Anyone is fine. Let's get married.

-I need to see Ganggeoljwi but I see Shin Jaehyun next to him. So why is he so calm and kind? ㅜㅜ

-Wow you might hate it at least once but what patience is there?

In this way it succeeded in appealing to a wider range of middle-aged and older people.

Up to this point fans were anxious about his octopus-like personal activities but they didn't completely explode. Because it felt appropriate and the success effect was clear.

However tremendous aggro arrived with the next hitter.

-Kim Rae-bin appeared in 〈School Wrapping〉 and Cha Yu-jin appeared in 〈The Standard of Enlistment〉…

-????

Cha Yu-jin's military variety show and Kim Rae-bin's rapper survival appearance.

Fans were energized by the gem-filled lineup.

-Taein Kim is crossing the line of being crazy lol Are you kidding me?

– Are you asking the same kid who just served you to serve again and that too is a rapper? A kid who didn't even want to be an idol was finally made into an idol. Are you crazy?

-Hey no matter how much of an entertainment show it is it's a bit too much to send high school students into the military.

The atmosphere heated up as if they were about to attack the agency with a fax machine but the entertainment program aired first.

It's Cha Yu-jin's military variety show.

-damn

And the situation seemed to be going as fans feared.

-
Hahahah

-I'm holding up well.

– Surprisingly friendly and without saying anything are you from America the land of the free? I've adapted to the Korean style of top-down. What's going on?

-Helicopter rappel while laughing ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

Since it was an entertainment show only the pattern and framework of real life in the military was borrowed and the training schedule itself was inconsistent and stimulating.

Thanks to this there were many parts that required courage and stamina but Cha Yu-jin was outstanding in all of them.

Moreover there were people who were embarrassed because there was nothing left to do.

-You talk about guerrilla all the time but you never say anything? Wasn't it edited?

-It seems like he was originally a kid who played American football. Cheonjoguk quarterback.

Wow hahaha ㄹㅇim?

-I guess he was a sports kid.

-It's good that there are no unnecessary over-the-top reactions. I hate the entertainment-type reactions of people who come to camp in the military.

In the end Cha Yu-jin achieved flawless ace editing on the last four days of the 10-day shoot.

Because it was a popular entertainment show Cha Yu-jin's popularity rose to the level of a meme after the 10-day episode aired over two months.

“Congratulations.”

On the day she returned from filming Cha Yoo-jin who left a great comment saying ‘Everyone except me thought I was a football coach’ shrugged her shoulders.

“I hate you bro. “I won’t forget you.”

Are you coming?

“Any other impressions?”

“The rice over there is not tasty. And everyone uses Raebin Kim’s accent.”

Cha Yu-jin who regained her speaking skills after three days pointed at the TV and stuck out her mouth.

Just then the person responsible is coming out.

[Kim Rae-bin: I will do my best.]

[Lee Seon-jung: I’m scared of that word now.]

This is 〈School Wrapping〉 which is preparing for the semi-finals.

By this time Kim Rae-bin had almost become like the Grim Reaper in the program.

Of course there were some ridiculous twists and turns but I’ll explain that later.

Jin Chae-yul sits in the living room with a smile.

“Wow many people think Ravin is a rapper right?”

“Whenever he goes out and greets everyone he talks about Wishes.”

“oh my god.”

And today with my identity being revealed all members have made a mark on the public at least once on a popular entertainment show.

Of course the voice that had been building up exploded.

-What on earth is Wishz doing?

-When I came to my senses I didn’t know any members. I don’t know the song but is this possible? Is it actually a group of comedians?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

Surprisingly the stage is even better. Come see the legendary debut stage. Everyone tore up the stage without leaving a single person out. (Link)

You’re doing well.

ㄴㅅㅂ Open your mouth and spring. I can’t believe this is a real situation.

No but since they are all in one place it feels like the world view is collapsing.

When topicality is at its peak.

‘That’s it.’

It was the right time for a new album to come out.

Chapter 402

The new song to be released has already been prepared at the same time as the debut song.

It took some behind-the-scenes work to prepare like a double title and omit one at the last minute but the important thing is that the performance has already been completed.

So when is the perfect time to explode this original energy?

“Ravin the finals are already this week.”

“Yes!”

This is right after Kim Rae-bin’s 〈School Wrapping〉 final stage.

It would be best if Kim Rae-bin won and made a comeback with this song when the buzz was at its peak.

But do you think it would be too hasty to be sure of winning already?

‘no.’

Unless Kim Rae-bin sings the first verse in full on the final stage this guy can’t lose.

As I watched Raebin Kim sitting in front of the sofa and furiously tapping away at his laptop I recalled his biography of “School Wrapping.”

First of all the appearance scene.

[Ugh.]

[Participant with strong impression appears]

When a fierce-looking guy wearing full piercings enters there are looks of wariness admiration and searching.

However the mood changes with the next words.

[Hello… This is Raebin Kim from Wishz a group that debuted 35 days ago. i look forward to!]

[!]

Kim Rae-bin is said to have responded without any doubt when asked to openly emphasize ‘new faces’ and ‘idol groups’.

Of course the editing came out like this.

[Why go here?]

[Honestly if you are a large agency there are probably other ways.]

[You look good. (laugh)]

It’s obvious. It’s like I can’t admit it.

However this time like an obvious but popular cliché the evaluation is overturned.

[hmm?]

Kim Rae-bin came in and rapped with a puzzled look on his face saying ‘Why aren’t you coming in…?’ to an ambiguous beat where all the participants had declared that they had passed.

And he did extremely well.

[!!!]

In conclusion when Episode 1 of “School Wrapping” ended Kim Raebin’s cypher was listed as an unofficial clip on the popular video rankings on WeTube.

Of course there was a lot of backlash.

-17 years old doing this? Yes Suzak hahahaha

-The company must have told you in advance haha. Do you believe this?

-Even if you knew the beat in advance wouldn’t the punch line be acceptable? If you don’t have a sense of it it’s not something you can make by worrying about it.

□I guess I also received coaching~

However Raebin Kim performed well in her next solo exhibition as well.

-??

And then the team match and then the collaboration match.

The process of creating your own song

After recording for three days and broadcasting it in quick replay there was nothing more to talk about.

[I work in this way but it is still difficult to purchase more professional equipment so I often rent a company studio!]

[I have some time left today so I’m thinking of concretizing a new beat. And we brought in Moon… no Ryu Geon-woo as the guide vocalist.]

And that song was damn good too.

Every time the program ends they even appear on the real-time music charts proving their skills.

-It is said that he was originally a failed producer but after seeing his face he tried to convince him to become an idol.

-The world is fucking unfair. It's like a dog.

-Well from my perspective it feels like a thoroughly planned product. It feels like a unique product from an idol agency. If you run out of repertoire you will fail.

That didn't happen.

Kim Rae-bin emerged as an overwhelming candidate for the championship both in name and reality winning all missions like breaking a seal from episodes 2 to 9.

In addition the fact that he was the grandson of a strawberry farming family in Gangwon-do combined with his naturally polite appearance made him quite popular as a character.

A stable two-headed carriage.

At this point even some of the people who were looking at it crookedly changed their attitude slightly.

– LOL I feel like I want to shoot the bastard who tried to persuade Kim Rap to become an idol. He earned a lot of money from music and lived in a dorm for 7 years like a gunman. I can't stand it.

-Yes worldwide K-pop is more profitable~ Of course if you look at the money it's Letty Idol XX Gods hahaha

-All the people who see his face are obsessed with him. Kim Rap is the winner anyway so why are you giving up on being an idol?

It means that one skill is recognized.

It had to be that way. Raebin Kim was stirring around as if he were a species disturbing the ecosystem.

On the contrary even though the production team created Kim Rae-bin's crisis situation for fun it was revealed that it was a fraud in the next episode which further strengthened the viewers' perception.

And now only the ending is truly left.

Ryu Cheong-woo sits friendly next to Kim Rae-bin.

"How is your relationship with the cast? "Is everyone still nice to you?"

"yes. "I think they think I'm younger and give me more consideration."

The guy who was tired of feeling pressured by a 17-year-old and understood his bowing down as an expression of consideration nodded.

However it seems like this guy also had something on his mind.

"I… But is it really okay if someone else does the final featuring? "I thought it would have a promotional effect as the viewership ratings were decent but…"

The question is why the featuring for the last stage was not chosen from Wishz Group.

This is because Kim Rae-bin's last song featuring was chosen as the lead vocalist by a popular member of Soft Sweet.

I chuckled.

"Featuring is originally a collaboration with an outside party. "Performing on stage will be more meaningful if you do it with someone else rather than us."

"indeed…! "That's true."

Of course this is not the real reason.

This is to control the level of acceptance by people.

‘Group recognition shouldn’t feel like coercion.’

Such blatant tying actually causes resentment.

Delicate control is necessary to prevent the now-swelled topic from fading out or turning into antipathy.

Of course this does not mean that you will stop being associated with it at all.

“Still I want to go watch the finals is that okay?”

It would be heartwarming to at least cheer for a group.

“…! “Of course I am grateful!”

“I’ll go and cheer hard!”

“Thank you senior!”

“Ugh Ravin we debuted together call me hyung!”

“oh.”

I took my eyes off Kim Rae-bin who was talking like a comic with Oh Yun-shin and checked the schedule again.

And three days later.

Pollen explodes on the stage during the set of “School Wrapping” where all members took time off from their schedules to visit.

pop.

[＜School Wrapping＞ Season 2's long-awaited winner is… Kim Rae-bin!]

Wow!!!

There were no twists or unexpected situations.

Kim Rae-bin won on the last stage with an overwhelming competency-oriented performance that pushed through technique.

'It was useful to give advice in this direction to prevent disagreements.'

Moreover he was the only one who pushed it to the level of violence.

The featured song Soft Sweet was the best choice in that it slightly brightened the mood and improved the quality of the sound source by pushing the tone and response.

Attempts to disparage Raebin Kim will not work.

'good.'

[Thank you… Thank you! We will repay you with even more improvement!]

I applauded Kim Rae-bin who held up the Great King's golden ID card while receiving congratulations from the cast.

Preparation is over.

A few days later.

[Slap winner emerges]

[Kim Rae-bin who was an idol from beginning to end]

[Honestly Raebin Kim is such a waste]

It was the weekend after three days with Kim Rae-bin winning and being flooded with articles and reactions as expected of a popular survival show.

Slowly articles began to appear.

[LeTi Monster Rookie Wishze “Self-produced album to be released soon”]

This is news of Wishz’ comeback with their self-composed title. Although it was already announced during pre-orders the media was deliberately encouraged once more.

The keyword is ‘self-producing’.

Naturally the title of the article inevitably reminds people of Kim Rae-bin and people are attracted to the topic that has not cooled down yet.

-You should listen to this one.

-Is Raebin Kim in this group? It’s a good song

Not only Kim Rae-bin but also Eugene Chado and Ryu Geon-woo are in this group.

?

Four-legged friends Jaehyun and Cheongwoo are also in this group~

The three funny dogs who worshiped newspapers in King of Escape are also here.

What on earth is happening?

This comment was captured and circulated around the Internet. I applauded this as a desirable phenomenon.

There was no need to pause further.

“It would be better not to release the teaser separately. “There is no need to waste this buzz with a teaser.”

“okay.”

So after satisfying expectations with a teaser that included only the addictive whistle sound of the bridge the song and music video were released the very next week.

* * *

“…”

Inside an international plane.

A man sitting in first class accessed the Internet using the recently launched in-flight WIFI.

It was something that did not suit his tendency to read books but now there was something he wanted to see.

‘Ah it came out.’

As soon as you access WeTube the video you were looking for appears without any search.

[Wishze ‘Timer’ Official Music Video]

It was a new song by the rookie group Wishes.

Perhaps because their debut activities were excellent the number of views was already impressive.

The man recalled their debut for a moment and then nodded inwardly.

‘Yes it was good.’

Wishes’ debut mini album met the demand of the KPOP fandom with a minor yet artistic sensibility that presented a ghost story of a modern European-style boarding school.

The stage was also great. The dance performance using long props that seemed to be taken from pointers was also very unique and attractive.

So much so that I almost accidentally sent a long review to the person in question.

'It's a good thing I didn't send it.'

The man let out a small sigh of relief.

Such a commercial and harsh sensibility would not have been familiar to the original man… but for some reason I kept coming back to it.

"…"

The man erased the feeling of sinking for no reason.

Because it's not a feeling that's helpful for working. Instead I clicked on the video I wanted to watch.

Wishes' new song.

'Will it give me a similar feeling this time?'

In fact Wishes' fans had similar expectations. An intense and provocative dance song.

But when the man actually clicked on their new title… it wasn't like that.

[Um h-hm~]

As before there is a band sound but there is room.

[Should I turn the timer and go to the past?

Back when we were still together]

The sound became lighter.

And the singing style is grooved and simple.

[Smile on your shy face

A meteor falling from above us

I still remember today too

[Thinking about U]

The song unfolds as two types of melodies catchy with the sound of high-quality instruments.

There is no avant-garde story or grand narrative in the music video.

It’s just that the choreography cuts on the rooftop of a cool night school with shooting stars pouring down and the personal cuts with lots of cool objects are just mixed.

A song that sings about childhood memories from youth.

A song that everyone can listen to without any worries regardless of the speaker.

So to speak there was nothing to cringe about. So there is no difference in likes or dislikes.

Just extremely popular and stylish.

A song that everyone will enjoy.

Right now the melody was already in the man’s ears.

[Move the timer

Your image on cam

the picture is shiny

When I think of it it flashes in my mind]

I like this too.

I didn't feel the same way but this relaxed popular song somehow touched my heart.

[Sparkle!]

He even watched the ending of the music video where the members looked back and smiled.

It was good but… it made me feel strangely upset.

"…"

But after thinking about it he turned on the messaging app.

'…It doesn't seem like he likes me very much.'

Still I wanted to contact you. So he typed the text with slightly trembling hands.

[I really like the song.]

[I'm on my way to Korea and I think I'll hear it a lot on the streets.]

The recipient was 'Ryu Geon-woo'. And just as Sun Ah-hyun thought when she arrived and was carrying out her schedule the streets were filled with Wishes' music.

* * *

"What rank are you in?"

Cheongryeo smiled at the nervous question and lifted up her smartphone. Floating on the screen was the daily music chart.

“No. 1.”

“…!!”

“Awesome!!”

Experienced workers are also laughing among the screaming people.

No matter what there’s no way to get to #1 on a music chart without doing something crazy like this so it would be a lie to say that it’s honestly not impressive.

‘Actually this is our first time too.’

VTIC is probably not something you experience often. I took a fresh look at the daily #1 song.

“Thank you Lavin!”

“thank you so much!”

“all. “I don’t deserve to receive such an undeserved thank you for the accomplishments we all achieved together…”

“Good job Raebin Kim!”

“Oh my.”

I chuckled as I watched Raebin Kim collapse in a heap of countless hugs.

Cheongryeo smiles and approaches and speaks softly.

“The most difficult thing remains. maintain.”

“uh.”

yes.

If you are aiming for a sound source maintaining power is a must.

‘You have to solidify your ranking and run for a long time to get the right score.’

The song and strategy were all good so to be honest I’m not confident in defending my ranking but that doesn’t mean I’m going to give up from now on.

So we need to make sure that the song is consistently heard in entertainment programs and internet content.

“You can’t be pushed around by Tea Holic.”

“It’s going to be busy.”

Various global tours and overseas activities are all stop this time.

All efforts were put into scheduling promotional appearances.

…and then something like this happens.

“…! hello.”

…to appear on a variety show like Sun Ah-hyeon while wearing a denim skirt.

I managed to respond.

“…yes.”

“I had no idea it was like this.”

Oh me too.

‘I’m going to go back.’

Why is Ballerino Gukppong Named not appearing as a special feature and coming with us?

Chapter 403

The filming location of the public broadcast variety show “Chicken Only for the Winner.”

‘Ah it’s an idol again.’

The regular cast members were not very impressed with the guest lineup they received in advance.

This program is a typical weekend entertainment program aimed at families where guests are invited to play physical games and talk together so there is no pressure to appear.

Moreover thanks to the fact that it was widely exported overseas all kinds of promotional appearances were popular.

‘Still this week’s kids are worthy of their names.’

They were kids from a large agency who sang the hottest songs these days. I’m not saying I was stabbed to show up at this level but I think it would be at a casting level.

What is surprising is the special guest that was suddenly announced.

‘Wow awesome’

Ballerina Sun Ah-hyeon!

I suddenly entered the country as if I was filming an Oprah commercial for the season and it seems like the production crew somehow managed to ask.

Originally he would not have been that awkward if he had a solo special but due to time constraints and planning issues he was scheduled to appear as a special guest.

Should we take this opportunity?

After being greeted by a Wishz member who came to the waiting room like a rookie the guest slowly stood up.

“older brother?”

“Hey follow me.”

Since there was no way Sun Ah-hyun would come to say hello she planned to go and make a name for herself.

‘If I’m lucky I might be able to use it as a story somewhere… ’

But when I arrived at Sun Ah-hyun’s waiting room.

The place was empty.

“…??”

The staff tells us.

“I… I heard that I went to see them.”

“who?”

“Wishes Wishes.”

He’s not even an MC but he’s in the rookies’ waiting room? No matter how unusual his momentum may be he is a rookie who just debuted…

“Why did they do some survival show and he appeared as a mentor there?”

“ah.”

That was understandable.

‘I have a reputation in my own way.’

Of course I don’t expect filming to go smoothly.

The selling point for people of similar age is people with similar arts and physical education skills?

‘It’s a fight it’s a fight.’

The cast nodded.

I think I might have to laugh only when the camera rolls and see the mood change once it’s over.

Sure enough a little while after filming began as soon as the special guest appeared everyone was busy evaluating it.

Use existing guests to invite special guests!

“You’re so handsome really~”

“Ahyeon you’re a complete idol right?”

“If you look at it this way… it looks like a group like Iya?”

It was a common comment to get people excited but it was also true. Even writers like the sight of three men with standard beauty dolls side by side.

‘Women will really like it.’

The cast was busy looking at the obvious situation and giving their reactions.

Anyone can see that this is a situation where a special guest benefits by sacrificing an existing guest.

But surprisingly the existing guests accepted the situation gently and cheerfully without any awkward pretentious nuance.

They even went so far as to give Sun Ah-hyun a seat between them.

“If you stand like this… you’re a salty center.”

“ha ha ha!”

‘How?’

For a rookie doesn’t he have good guts? Moreover the more I filmed the more I learned.

What a blessing these guys are there are countless episodes to use for talk and content.

“Don’t you know bro? The one who escaped from the exploded building with just a newspaper! I guess they also heard about this method from the members. “It’s unique.”

“Jaehyun you also know how to rope~ Are you planning on enlisting after Eugene?”

“if! Mr. Ravin can you do a vocal imitation?”

Every time we play a game all the members are mentioned in turn to the point where the MC knows them all and agrees with them.

Moreover they each have their own characters and episodes so the conversation is centered around them.

Only then did the regular performer sense it keenly.

‘These guys… the plan is ridiculously well planned?’

I get the feeling that this isn’t going to be a one-hit wonder with just one good song.

This was the first group since T-Holic where each member had their own recognition. But even the song became such a huge hit.

This group which came out of T-Holic's hiatus of just a few months with great skill had a great smell.

The smell of great success.

'Keumm.'

Looking at it that way the guys who are currently appearing also look new and better.

First off I work hard have enough guts and have good sense.

'It seems like we get along well.'

When it's time for a break the younger one smiles and keeps talking to the older one and the older one accepts it but it doesn't seem like he's ignoring it or just showing off.

'You didn't listen to me did you?'

I was nodding my head and thinking about how to make friends but I felt similar gazes from somewhere.

When I turn my gaze… I see Sun Ah-hyun.

Quietly watching the rookies.

"…?"

huh?

Just like you Sun Ah-hyun seems to look there every time she has a break…?

The gaze quickly disappeared but the performer felt it.

'What?'

Do you really want to become friends?

However although it would be tempting to talk to such a famous person one more time the two newcomers seem to be very careful and do not talk to Sun Ah-hyun first.

And the cast had their own guess as to why that was so.

Because he also heard rumors about Sun Ah-hyun.

'But you still have no sense. You have no sense.'

You're going to owe me something for this?

He clicked his tongue happily and took advantage of the time to change the data card to talk to the rookie.

To be exact when the one who was one year older was left alone.

"Oh… what do you think? Is it okay to film?"

"Thanks for your consideration I am working hard to take pictures. thank you."

I set the mood by chatting to the polite guy about various things.

Then after quietly bringing up the topic of Sun Ah-hyun…

It gets to the point!

"He's a little chilly right?"

"…?"

Rookie Ryu Geon-woo's eyes widen slightly and then return to normal.

The regular cast members laughed inwardly because they were trying to give a good reaction by pretending to be curious which was quite refreshing for a newcomer.

“People who do art are kind of like that. I guess it’s even more so because he’s so handsome. “This feels a little different from entertainers like us.”

That’s right.

Sun Ah-hyun was well known in broadcasting circles for her reputation as ‘drawing a line.’

People are polite but that’s it. Some say that it is as if the world we live in is different.

‘There are some people who sarcastically say that they have devoted their lives to the noble ballet.’

It was an attitude that younger children might find rude or unpleasant. The cast fully understood that.

Of course this was the thought of the person listening to this.

‘What kind of bullshit is this guy?’

Ryu Geon-woo barely answered.

“…hmm. “You were kind.”

“yes. But now he doesn’t want to make friends anymore… That’s how I feel.”

“…”

“But actually it seems like he wants to get closer to you guys? “He kept looking towards us… uh Wishes.”

“ah…”

Ryu Geon-woo was speechless for a moment. The performer intended to continue giving advice with a subtle smile but…

“hello.”

“Uh huh.”

Shin Jae-hyeon a member who is one year younger returns and speaks to the performer.

“No I came here to ask if there were any inconveniences during filming.”

“also. “I heard that my senior always takes care of new talent at the year-end awards ceremony…”

“Ah hmm do you know that?”

“sure. “It’s a really famous story.”

During this time there was no entertainer whose details Shin Jae-hyun could not understand.

Ryu Geon-woo thought while he was quickly dispatching the performer who had been brought in at his own pace.

‘Sun Ah-hyun cuts people by class…?’

There seemed to be no such strange proposition.

‘What on earth happened?’

Ryu Geon-woo almost looked back at Sun Ah-hyeon for a moment but stopped.

There is no need to do that right?

“Do you want to write?”

Ryu Geon-woo exhaled in response to Shin Jae-hyeon's question which sent the contestant away.

"no."

There was no time to indulge in unnecessary sentimentality and the target was in front of me.

'Just look ahead.'

So he continued filming without wavering.

What continued after the break was a blatant special guest promotion part.

A corner to learn simple ballet movements.

Of course promotional opportunities are also given to existing guests here. Slightly at the end of the corner.

"I've even tried ballet so shall we try idol dancing?"

"Oh~"

Shin Jae-hyeon and Ryu Geon-woo came to the front according to the set script.

"You can dance like this. "By moving your shoulders like this."

"Oh!"

When Shin Jae-hyun demonstrates a choreography that intentionally uses kitschy hand movements the cast members join in and show body gags.

And they even try to throw it away.

"Ah~ By any chance Ahyeon?"

The movements of special guests.

However what surprised the cast was that Sun Ah-hyun who they thought would be reluctant came out right away.

As if waiting.

“If you do this…”

“yes.”

And we digest it without even realizing it.

“…!”

It is not possible simply by doing similar body movements but rather a feeling unique to those who have been repeatedly trained.

Shin Jaehyun narrowed his eyes.

‘Are there any left?’

Of course that feeling passed in an instant and the cast members were impressed.

“You’re good~ You could really be an idol right?”

“I know. “What do you two think?”

‘Do you really think I couldn’t have done it?’

Even though Ryu Geon-woo thought he was asking the obvious he nodded and followed the trend.

“I think so too.”

“Oh of course! “Ahyeon do you ever think about officially trying out idol dance?”

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to hesitate for a moment but that moment disappeared.

“I really appreciate the compliment… but I am still a ballerina.”

“Ah you are firm.”

“This is the craftsmanship!”

Sun Ah-hyun just smiled and nodded. So Ryu Geon-woo asked without thinking.

“It seems like you really like ballet. “Are you always focused on that?”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun slightly lowers her gaze and speaks calmly.

“Because it’s my everything. “I never thought about anything else.”

“…”

Park Moon-dae was convinced by the answer.

‘Is it because of such a single-minded voice that such a strange rumor started to spread?’

And the performer who was watching shrugged his shoulders thinking that his advice had worked.

‘This is how you make connections. after.’

And the filming entered the final main corner.

* * *

I held back a sigh.

‘It’s almost over.’

Nowadays this type of entertainment is so easy that you can pretend it is sincere even with your eyes closed. Plus the last main corner is easier.

-Right away~ treasure hunt~!

Well isn’t there something like hiding mines and treasure in an abandoned building and finding the treasure but if you have more than a few mines you’re ruined?

It seems like this happens every time a program like this comes out.

‘I can do it even if I take out my brain.’

Of course you really shouldn’t do that.

I waved three or four gift boxes in my hands in front of the camera.

“Hey are all of these really treasures? I think the probability is that they are all land mines…”

“We don’t know either~~”

“…yes.”

Oh I know it’s a treasure. I’ve calculated all your movements.

I created an alibi by deliberately asking the cameraman so I pretended to be anxious and started my next move.

It would be funny if they exchanged a reasonable amount of money and then exploded only to later feel aggrieved when they found out that it was all treasure.

‘Should I find an MC?’

So it was time to go down the stairs to find someone who would be receptive to the exchange scene.

“…Geonwoo?”

“…!”

Just then I see a guy coming up the stairs.

Sun Ah-hyeon was running around.

There is a maroon box in my hand.

‘…hmm.’

…It wouldn’t be a bad idea to let that guy win. He’s a special guest… and he’s someone who exalts national prestige to his elders.

I ran over and held out the gift box I was carrying.

“You’ve come at the right time. Bro do you want to change this? “For some reason I thought it would cheer me up to see you find it…”

“yes?”

[Ding dong!]

[10 minutes left until the end~]

The atmosphere is also good.

I waved the gifts as if I was in a hurry.

“Um… how about a 2 to 1 exchange? “I’ll give you two.”

“…”

“If you give me just one thing…”

Sun Ah-hyeon suddenly became speechless.

'what.'

Still aren't you aware that it's a broadcast?

When I look at him puzzled by the rising tension.

The guy opens his mouth again.

"I told myself…"

"…?"

"I gave it to you."

He gripped his box so hard that it crumpled and muttered softly.

"Golden ball."

"…!"

"I got it right before the bell rang."

what.

The guy who was talking almost like he was in a trance kept his mouth shut. But suddenly he raised his head.

"…Oh I'm sorry! "Something suddenly occurred to me… and I said it without realizing it."

"…"

"I appreciate that you will give me a lot if you need an exchange but… we will do it one-on-one as well."

[brother. now…?]

I noticed even if I didn't call.

The golden ball that Sun Ah-hyun just mentioned.

'I… gave it to that guy in Azusa.'

A treasure hunt corner where you can find balls containing personal broadcast keywords.

Just like now… random with unknown contents.

There I exchanged it for the guy's bronze ball containing 'frozen food'.

And of course ballerina Seon Ah-hyeon here cannot have such memories.

[But I just said it!]

uh.

So what is this situation?

Chapter 404

…Seon Ah-hyun remembers the event from the time of <Azusa>.

After the guy threw a bombshell and disappeared I checked my status window again to the point where it was crazy.

However nowhere is Sun Ah-hyeon mentioned.

Whether it's a coworker lottery or mail.

'Isn't it the influence of this system?'

[Have you ever had a similar experience in this world?]

It's not that I didn't doubt it but…

'The timing is too perfect for that to be true.'

Apply for a random box exchange at a 1:2 ratio with the expiration date just around the corner. Isn't this a very similar situation?

Moreover why does ballet dancer Seon Ah-hyeon recall the unique experience of 'receiving the gold ball before the bell rings' in such a meaningful way?

'…No matter how much you think about it that's less likely.'

[Then again Sun Ah-hyun…?]

okay.

As soon as filming ended that day I posted a message in the Testa group message room.

-Has anyone ever had an afterimage of something in reality before regaining their memories?

Answers pour in pushing out the previous record of pouring out jokes to newcomer Kim Rae-bin.

-Cha Yu-jin: I'm not that person! -!

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: There was nothing in particular but I think I felt a sense of discomfort.

-Keun Se-jin: Haha I felt a sense of familiarity with our members. Do you appreciate that too?

And I must have thought it through carefully until the answer came a little late.

-Kim Rae-bin: Now that I think about it when I first saw it in front of Strawberry House I thought it looked vaguely familiar! However since no specific image came to mind it does not seem to apply.

In conclusion although there are people who have a vague feeling no one can recall specific scenes or information.

'hmm.'

I pressed my chin.

It was then. Suddenly a phone call came.

[Bae Se-jin]

This is the guy who didn't get an answer.

"…?"

Is there really a case so grand that it needs to be done over the phone?

I pressed the receive button.

However as soon as I answer the phone instead of sharing my experience this guy gets straight to the point.

-Are you talking about Sun Ah-hyun?

"…!"

-The only one left among us is Sun Ah-hyun so that's her… no?

I always read books and I also read some mystery novels.

"That's true."

-…!!

It's ridiculous to even deny it. Then a slight breathing sound is heard from the speaker.

-What did Sun Ah-hyeon remember??

"It's just not that big of a deal."

I roughly explained the situation at the time. Bae Se-jin listened quite well but ultimately reacted like this.

-… okay. But I don't know why this is important. Anyway you can ask me directly after I get your memories back.

"Because it doesn't happen as you wish."

-You've made all the other kids come to their senses so far. Doesn't Sun Ah-hyun also have a chance?

He continues speaking in a low fairly calm voice.

-To me it looks like you're giving up without even trying.

Why has this guy suddenly become so sharp?

I answered reluctantly.

“It’s not that I’m giving up it’s just that I don’t need it. It looks like Sun Ah-hyun is still doing well. “I also had success as a ballet dancer.”

-what? Just because you are socially successful does not necessarily mean you are living well.

He spoke firmly but hesitated a bit in the next sentence.

-… If it’s because of the trauma or something that doesn’t seem to exist… I understand… I understand.

But his voice becomes firm again.

-But just because it looks that way on the outside doesn’t mean it’s the same on the inside.

“…”

…Because I didn’t go around talking about it when I was having a hard time.

I remembered the guy from Azusa.

A guy who was so aggressive and uncooperative that he couldn’t be compared to what he is now. So I thought he was just a guy with a personality that I couldn’t use but after we spent time together I found out that he was a guy with his own circumstances and strengths.

‘I am indeed.’

I held back a sigh.

“…That’s right. “Then I’ll take back what I said earlier… and just say that I doubt whether this guy has any memories.”

-Hmm okay.

The guy who seemed to be proud without knowing why was silent for a moment and then suddenly smiled.

What else?

-…! Then how about trying Sun Ah-hyun one more time? I'll make a place for you!

"…??"

By what means?

"Brother?"

-okay. Then you… just need to take some time.

"What time?"

-Practice time.

* * *

A few weeks later.

Wishes' latest song 'Timer' completely succeeded in hitting the top tier.

The crazy staying power that still remains in the top 3 of the daily charts is stronger than the original song by The Guy Who Drunk While Driving.

Raebin Kim's arrangement and perfect exposure strategy achieved perfect synergy and balance.

'good.'

And time passed and it was already October.

Now people are starting to talk about Wishes' possibility of winning.

Its fame and popularity are still nothing compared to T-Holic.

However if you only look at the music records and considering the value of the agency's name these people are starting to show their differences.

[Is there a possibility of being eligible for Wishz?]

[It is right for Wishz to receive the cut if the grades are cut off]

[Is T-holic being pushed out like this? It's a shame the fans must be worried]

[Wishes' next album really needs to come out well because there are serious signs of division…]

In a place where there is a moderate fight this is about it.

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ I'm addicted to it. Well there are some young and nice guys so why are you sucking it up?

-Doesn't anyone know that it was posted as a main work of Wezoz's tuning fork? Letido is the #1 music hoarder.

The life of making rumors by being passionate about rookies haha – Wiseon's version It's really good to get sick after a while. It's just a matter of splitting into a pile of fans. It's barely healed with crazy grades right now.

This is all the fault of the supplementary class.

You know that Oh Yun-dari is a bastard who can't accept the favor.

It was a month when this mess was slowly building up behind the scenes.

Park Moon-dae thought that because it was rising so rapidly such noisy controversies would follow too late.

And although it has nothing to do with the music industry there is one event in the entertainment industry that is worth noting this month.

It's the awards ceremony.

It is a Korean pop culture and arts festival.

A fairly prestigious awards ceremony hosted by the government to award artists.

The event which was broadcast live on both the Internet and TV attracted a reasonable number of viewers.

-Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Lee Se-jin came out?ㅠ

-☆☆☆Lee Se-jin Sometimes the camera shows reaction cuts stop asking questions☆☆☆

-Choi Gu you have a good reaction haha.

The number of people snooping around the news of Lee Se-jin's appearance an actor whose stock price is on the rise has only increased slightly.

It wasn't noisy because the lineup featured a few famous actors among older artists rather than young celebrities who are popular these days.

Until part 1 ends and a corner appears.

[Celebration stage]

-Ah there is a commemorative performance coming up.

-Oh who is it?

-Waler is scheduled! □

When viewers who thought it was a typical performance at an awards ceremony came up with a suitably formal lineup.

A close-up of the performers on stage appears on the screen.

And the comment section was filled with screams.

-????

-omg

-What are you talking about?

-Is this true?

-Is this what I saw????

There were three tall men standing on the stage.

However it is a completely unexpected combination of aspects.

Rookie idol Ryu Geon-woo and ballerina Sun Ah-hyeon.

And… actor Lee Se-jin.

-??? Sejin Lee why are you there?

-Who is Sun Ah-hyeon next to Lee Se-jin?

-Crazy Ryu Geo-nyeo hahahaha.

-Why not Wishes??

-Wow what is this hahahaha

-What are you three doing?

‘after.’

Ryu Geon-woo who was on stage recalled Bae Se-jin’s slightly excited voice.

This plan was floated a few months ago.

-Am I going to this awards ceremony too? From what I heard Sun Ah-hyun is also coming to receive a special award.

-yes.

-Then let’s perform here.

-…??

– Let’s have a commemorative performance with Sun Ah-hyun! And then observe!

…Let’s think about it from the beginning.

The possibility of it becoming a reality was surprising but it was there.

In fact this is because this awards ceremony had many senior awardees who were at the level of icons of their time whether due to age or status.

‘No matter how much it is it’s a little bit difficult even if it’s named Ballerino.’

Even if the special stage itself went to Sun Ah-hyun it wasn’t that unreasonable.

‘The problem was persuasion.’

However there is no need for the winner to perform on stage. It might be better to call a performance team of moderately high stature.

Park Moon-dae thought that would be the key but surprisingly he was easily persuaded without having to do anything.

-Seon Ah-hyun… said she became interested in this kind of music performance.

…It was a rare occurrence.

‘Why is it that a famous name in another field not an entertainment award says okay to cover a pop song without hesitation?’

But that rare event was accomplished smoothly and people eventually got to see these three people on stage.

“…”

As I took the starting formation I turned my head and saw Sun Ah-hyun standing there.

And Ryu Geon-woo remembered his last request.

-But I heard that his agency asked him to avoid too direct idol performances.

That was actually good.

This is because there was a stage that immediately came to mind.

‘If this is the number of people.’

This is it.

[Hmm~!]

Immediately after the stage is filled with bright guitar sounds and classic drum sounds.

A familiar familiar melody.

Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae who were on stage knew.

‘Seon Ah-hyun experienced situations that overlapped with reality a few times.’

Things like covering the vampire version of a soft and sweet song or changing random boxes.

And this time Moon-Dae Park intentionally gave him a similar experience.

Music plays on the stage and a spotlight shines on three people wearing jeans and white T-shirts.

-omg

-Daedae Daejonjal

Subtitles appear.

[You are amazing

by Sun Ah-hyun Lee Se-jin Ryu Geon-woo (Wishes)]

A re-creation of the unit stage full of fun at Testa’s first concert.

An arrangement similar to the original song which is more formal than before flows on stage with a bit of stability to fit the awards ceremony.

[I can hear your heart

The shy trembling of my heart]

The parts were divided exactly the same as then.

The difference is that Ryu Geon-woo is no longer Park Moon-dae’s body…

People's expectations.

-crazy

-Why are you so good??

-What's going on with Lee Se-jin's dance?

Why is the actor so good at performing…?

People were overwhelmed with confusion when they saw actor Lee Se-jin who naturally performed choreography and vocals and facial expressions on stage.

And soon began to become extremely cheerful.

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ It's clear that Lee Se-jin said he would do this.

-Sejin oppa what's going on with Deokup match?

-Inheart was used by Wishes and ended up being taken advantage of.

-Please give me a review of your Welsh Corgi in person.

This is because Bae Se-jin's active promotional actions for Park Moon-dae's grand prize have become a kind of fan meme.

People excitedly watched the three people's reactions to the female singer's classic song and the artists' reactions as they smiled and applauded.

I thought it was a very enjoyable twist.

[Wow amazing!

everything about you]

-Wow Sun Ah-hyun must be crazy she's really handsome.

-Take my passport quickly.

-Vocal dance visual Why isn't the set balance like on a professional stage…? It's no joke debut;

And I missed one due to the impact of actor Lee Se-jin's amazing hobby ability.

[I'm excited every day!

I can't sleep again today]

Even if a ballerino performs on stage it is a completely different type of performance than a pop or idol stage.

However they blended in so naturally that they showed a stage with just the right rhythm so that nothing was out of place.

[You are truly amazing]

Sun Ah-hyun smiled and turned around.

* * *

After an eventful special performance.

"I think I did a pretty good job…!"

"yes."

Bae Se-jin couldn't hide her smile even as she ran down the stage.

Over the past few weeks I've been working hard to get the route right even skipping the early morning hours and making video calls and I'm proud of the fact that I've implemented it well.

And he takes a deep breath and says this.

“…It’s fun. This is it!”

“…”

I think this is the first time I’ve seen a guy with this much stage presence. After all giving and taking is the most tantalizing thing. Bae Se-jin even asked Sun Ah-hyun openly.

“Hmm do you think it’s fun too??”

“…! ah.”

The guy nodded slightly blankly.

“yes… It’s new. So… it’s a feeling.”

“yes. “It’s been a while since I did it so I’m even more impressed!”

At that time the staff member who was shaking his feet next to me spoke up.

“Um… Mr. Sejin our time.”

“…! “Oh yes.”

Bae Se-jin quickly calmed down his red face and quickly moved to return to his seat. This is because there are still nominations left.

However I hear a muttering sound next to me as if I am bothered by what he said.

“It’s been a while…?”

“…”

It wasn’t my intention but it was a time of choice.

I looked back on the past few months of practice.

Except for the occasional absence from the show due to schedule Sun Ah-hyun participated faithfully and did not show any unusual behavior.

So in fact Bae Se-jin and I had almost given up on looking at it and were just observing…

'…The stage was definitely fun.'

I saw that this guy's face was also red and he was coming down with Bae Se-jin.

They say they have devoted their whole lives to ballet but I guess they are only inspired by ballet.

'then.'

…if it's like this.

I received my smartphone from a staff member and waited for a moment until the person walked away.

And after confirming that no one was paying attention to us in the empty hallway we opened our mouths.

"I did it at a concert."

"yes?"

"You performed this performance at a concert."

I kept making eye contact with her and muttering just as I was talking to Sun Ah-hyun whom I knew before.

"Our first unit performance. The reaction was okay. "You had fun too."

"…"

After silence.

I hear a trembling voice.

“It’s a nose concert.”

“okay.”

I waited a few seconds. Sun Ah-hyun lowered her head and there was no other reaction.

‘…is it ruined?’

I couldn’t explain it other than that I was embarrassed because he suddenly started talking nonsense.

I turned around with a bitter taste in my mouth.

Just say ‘I’m sorry. I was thinking of making an excuse by saying something like “I tried to make a joke but it failed.”

It was that moment.

“…at that time”

My arm was grabbed.

“You did it with a balloon…”

I turned my head.

“…Mundae.”

The guy laughed.

I dropped the smartphone I was holding.

Chapter 405

Ballerina Sun Ah-hyeon has never walked a different path.

His duty was to carefully walk the single path leading to his destination.

The road was steep or rough at times but he could see his destination and the sense of responsibility that he should not stop walking kept his feet moving.

Just responsibility.

‘When I first started… it was fun.’

How fun it was to take on new challenges and expressions. Dancing was a very attractive activity.

However everything changed after he suddenly won the international competition with results that were more overwhelming than anyone could have imagined.

‘ah.’

-Ahyeon you were born to do this!

The choice has disappeared.

You get an agency you get a lot of articles you become famous and you get enormous titles and affiliations.

Now that the perfect and best path had been revealed he couldn’t try anything else.

There was no reason or justification to rebel against all expectations and advice. All that remains is a life aimed at greater success through ballet.

…something felt wrong.

‘I… haven’t experienced this enough to dedicate my life to it.’

Still it wasn’t something I couldn’t bear. Because dancing is fun.

‘You can’t choose to do whatever you want.’

I heard similar things in counseling.

Because it wasn’t difficult enough to give up everything the counselor assigned to me by the agency didn’t recommend taking long breaks or changing career paths which were impossible for me.

But resignation does not disappear.

Buried confidence in the future.

‘I… won’t be able to do anything else from now on.’

I’ve already spent half of my childhood and adolescence on it.

I have no decent friends or social experience. I couldn’t even study properly.

Deviating from this orbit was impossible.

So I couldn’t say anything different now. I couldn’t torment the company my parents and the stakeholders with uncertainty and worry.

I couldn’t ruin this failure-free life.

‘How great would it be if I had a personality without doubts and worries?’

Sun Ah-hyun worked hard to make that happen.

I don't have any other hobbies and don't think about other connections or lives. It is to narrow the radius of life.

I didn't want to have any regrets or curiosity.

That's how we won and won.

-The principal ballerino this time will be Ahyeon. also!

-Then I'll just film three more advertisements. Are you okay Ahyeon?

The position becomes increasingly solid.

You can never break through this. You must not fail.

'okay.'

So it was when Sun Ah-hyeon's path was completely solidified.

We met without warning.

A survival program participant sitting in the hallway of the broadcasting station set I stopped by for schedule reasons as if he had lost his mind.

-I… are you okay?

The words he poured out while saying that he would try to encourage that person in any way were unfamiliar.

-Good results are not necessarily the answer.

-A choice that does not cause pain is also the answer.

'I am… '

I don’t know why I spoke with such confidence even though I had never thought about letting go so easily.

It was as if someone other than himself was speaking.

‘It’s strange.’

But those words were comforting to me as well.

-The alternative can also be the correct answer.

Even though he thought it was impossible to carry out.

And surprisingly the other person eventually picks up steam and goes the other direction with great results.

-Wow it was really well made.

-It was the best.

Even though he was only a one-time mentor it gave me a strange feeling of excitement and emotion. The whole situation and that person.

-… thank you. Thanks to you I finished the stage well.

So when Ryu Geon-woo heard those words he actually wanted to say more seriously that he was the one who was grateful.

But I felt like it would be a burden to talk like that.

‘…If I ever get the chance.”

I wanted to get closer and talk to you.

I really wanted to have the same mindset that I felt was unfamiliar to me as I described it to this participant.

So it was a moment of exchanging numbers and making promises.

Suddenly I saw a participant in the hallway turning around and disappearing.

‘uh?’

-… sun?

Someone with blonde hair wearing in-ears was looking at himself from what appeared to be the backstage and opening his mouth.

Stage costumes and outstretched hands as if pulling.

“…!”

But before I could touch it the strange afterimage quickly disappeared.

It was an image so clear that it was abnormal to be considered a fantasy.

‘ah.’

However strangely enough Sun Ah-hyeon was not anxious.

It just… seemed right. A strange resolution is engraved in my head as if I am fixing something wrong.

‘are you okay.’

Rather I wanted to see more. Sun Ah-hyun began to reflect on the afterimage so as not to forget it.

Then the afterimage suddenly appeared again.

When looking at the audience getting ready in the waiting room when going to the broadcasting station.

When I carefully contact the idol who was depressed.

-Wow!

Noisier more crowded and full of more hardships and ups and downs.

But there are more sparkling heart-pounding images of life.

At times like that Sun Ah-hyeon became confused but she still didn't strangely feel anxious that she was going in the wrong direction.

And gradually the afterimage becomes darker connections emerge and a story emerges.

Images connected by dotted lines.

'What is it?'

Sun Ah-hyeon carefully kept them inside and kept them.

And at this moment.

"You performed this performance at a concert."

As if the shackles were lifted by those words sound and movement appear between all the images.

And the afterimages we kept gain meaning and become memories.

real life.

"…at that time."

Soon Seon Ah-hyun realized.

'ah.'

She was not a ballerina.

It was Sun Ah-hyun who failed to become a ballerino and quit dancing as if to run away.

however…

'I was happy.'

Sun Ah-hyun became an idol.

"You did it with a balloon…"

He recalled the fun unit stage at his first concert. Next there will be a group performance afterward.

The self who stuttered the self who gave up the self who was unreasonable the self who doubted her friends.

"…Mundae."

It was okay to fail.

Quitting ballet didn't mean that learning it became worthless.

Even my daily life which was destroyed by merciless bullying and giving up on my school days could one day be restored.

Life doesn't end broken.

If only I could get my bearings again decide to walk and start walking.

'that's right.'

And conversely living a seemingly perfect life without any terrible failures did not eliminate inner anxiety and fear.

On the contrary it erases the trauma that Testa's Sun Ah-hyun had.

I feel ashamed that I made a weak choice at a crossroads in life.

‘Me too… I made the best choice every time. Like other members.’

All self-buried questions and doubts are canceled out.

The very first.

I remember the words that encouraged me not to hesitate and to run to a new path even if I deviate from the path.

-Just think ‘I’m going to accomplish this.’

And now I was facing the person who gave me that opportunity.

* * *

“…So that means I didn’t have any memories from the beginning.”

“Ugh.”

I went into the waiting room with Sun Ah-hyun.

Sun Ah-hyun who had already won in Part 1 was fine with returning to the audience a little late and I wasn’t even nominated in the first place.

That’s why I can sit face to face with this guy right now.

Sun Ah-hyun nodded and smiled.

“…I completely remember now.”

Although their appearance was no different it was revealed in their facial expressions movements and tone of voice. This was the Sun Ah-hyun I knew.

I was speechless and couldn’t speak for a while before finally answering.

“okay.”

And held out his hand.

“Welcome back.”

“Ugh…!”

The guy held out both hands and shook them. He really is still the same guy.

‘…a little.’

Let’s calm down and move on. It’s been a while since I last saw you so understanding the situation comes first rather than solving the problem.

Topic.

-How did Sun Ah-hyun come to her senses?

I took a deep breath and got to the point.

It is said that after several afterimages the guy completely ‘awakened’ from my question and established his own identity.

“Because of the concert story.”

“that’s right…”

If that was the trigger it means that it continued to build up.

“I thought I could understand what Mundae was saying… I thought I wanted to understand. So suddenly.”

It seems that Sun Ah-hyeon remembered the afterimages well and connected them to the characters every time she remembered them.

Still I don't think I realized that I was Park Moon-dae who appeared in my afterimage…

"How did you find out that I was Park Moon-dae?"

Sun Ah-hyun's eyes widen.

It's as if he didn't know to ask such an obvious question.

"…! "Even if the appearance is a little different… it looks too much like a doormat."

"ah."

"And… because we talked about it."

The guy blushed and spoke seriously one by one.

"Mundae was originally named Ryu Geon-woo."

"…!"

"I remember… of course."

ah.

I remembered that time.

My dark story is that I did all the stupid things like talking about everything but in the end I finally regained my pace and convinced Sun Ah-hyun.

'…'

But it seems it wasn't a useless thing.

I decided to revise the rating slightly.

Maybe the decision to talk wasn't a mistake in itself.

"thanks."

"…! Oh no! "Because we are friends it's a natural thing to do."

Sun Ah-hyun smiled brightly. I had no choice but to laugh too.

'I thought you would be needlessly confused when your memories come back.'

Sun Ah-hyeon did not seem to be suffering from pain or internal conflict at all.

On the contrary it seemed more comfortable than before.

'Bae Se-jin was right.'

-Just because it looks like that on the outside doesn't mean it's the same on the inside.

I will admit it. That guy wins 1st time.

After that I quickly informed him of the current situation.

To be more specific I no longer felt the pressure of having to reinforce the logic somehow to convince them.

"For more details let's talk over the phone after the awards ceremony."

"huh!"

Instead he quickly returned to the awards ceremony before it was too late.

Thanks to performing with the two nominated artists I got a temporary seat and took a seat at the corner of their table.

Bae Se-jin who was looking at us with an expression that seemed to say 'Why are you so late?' changed as soon as he checked Sun Ah-hyun's expression.

And he quickly whispered to me while the VCR was inside.

'No way now… '

I nodded slowly. A big smile began to spread on Bae Se-jin's face.

And he immediately stabs Sun Ah-hyun who is sitting next to him.

'you!'

'Hello Sejin hyung…!'

I left excited Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyeon gesticulating with their hands and feet. I think an article will be published on the friendship between the two of you. I chuckled and watched the VCR turn off.

The awards ceremony was resuming.

And that night.

[Seon Ah-hyeon has entered]

The Testa group message area was filled with 7 people.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Hello…!]

[Keun Se-jin: Oh crazy]

[Keun Se-jin: No I'm sorry for swearing. Ah but Ah-hyun is finally here ㅠㅠ You're truly welcome!]

[Cha Yu-jin: Wooooow seven stars have gathered (emoticon with sunglasses)]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: I heard what you said Ahyun it's really good (smiling emoticon) No should I call you Ahyun hyung?]

[Seon Ah-hyun: It's really okay you don't have to do that!]

I lay down on my bed and scrolled through the message room where people of mixed ages were excitedly returning to conversation after almost falling into chaos over their nicknames.

Half of the people here were actually in this hotel but it felt a little different.

'How soon should I contact Sun Ah-hyun?'

I will talk more and talk about it in detail later.

Before that let me clear up some questions in my head.

'hmm.'

Well in the end the conclusion was that a good thing is a good thing… Anyway we have to infer why only Sun Ah-hyun regained her memories on her own.

'Seon Ah-hyun is still not in the status window.'

[yes!]

First of all it means that the system is not involved.

If so.

'…Is there any difference from the existing awakening?'

After thinking about it one thing came to mind.

Sun Ah-hyeon naturally regained her real self without complaining of headaches or dizziness that other people commonly experience when they wake up.

‘…how?’

As if he could have done that in the first place…

Like your own abilities.

“…!”

yes.

I got up from the bed.

It feels like I got punched in the head.

[Oooh what did you think of??]

okay.

This is an ability that Sun Ah-hyun has differently from others.

‘characteristic.’

I remembered Sun Ah-hyun’s characteristics.

[Guts (S)]

: You create your own mindset. That’s why I can handle it.

– Offset mental status abnormalities when activated. (Can be applied overlapping)

this.

Although Sun Ah-hyeon here was of B grade the effect of canceling out status abnormalities was basically there.

‘So if this brings back even a little bit of my memory… ’

The moment Sun Ah-hyeon's S-class characteristics in reality return all status abnormalities will be detected.

So the result.

'…This guy came back on his own…??'

It was an incredibly fraudulent act.

[Wow Ahyeon you're really cool!! 1 You're crazy!]

No that's…

'This is not a situation that ends in cool.'

[yes?]

This… was a hint.

I clutched the edge of the bed.

There is a premise for this logic.

'It means that this situation is a status abnormality.'

[!!!]

That's right.

Seon Ah-hyun's characteristic is to offset status abnormalities so as long as they are offset all of these situations are considered 'status abnormalities'.

Like my 'debut or death' or Cheongryeo's 'correction'.

"…"

[That makes sense! Since we got into this situation while trying to fix the system in the first place if we think that the system has caused a status abnormality…]

for a moment.

'…I was trying to catch the system. la.'

Strangely that sentence lingered in my mouth.

'If I had tried to get rid of the system… '

And I noticed a sense of discomfort.

[Tongue type?]

Holy shit.

I immediately kicked down the door and ran out to find another room.

"hmm? "I'm here at the right time."

The room where Cheongnyeo is.

Since my roommate Judan went out on a personal schedule he is now in the room alone.

He sits at his desk and writes something then leisurely turns his head and continues talking.

"At the end of the first awards ceremony next month the score for the music awards will be calculated…"

"we."

"hmm?"

I said feeling like I wanted to chew my tongue.

“We were mistaken.”

“…”

Let’s think about it.

I got on a plane with this guy flew him to the middle of the Pacific and tried to destroy the system.

In what way?

By making it so that there is no host around for the system to enter. That basically means there has to be a system in place.

“If you’re going to do the damn thing of abolishing the system you need someone who has the current system.”

“…”

“Then he must have been on the plane at that time.”

I swallowed.

“Who is that?”

I completely forgot.

Still I didn’t feel any discomfort.

The guy in front of me opens his mouth.

“Well I don’t know.”

Cheongnyeo who was still sitting at the desk put her hand on her chin and frowned as if she was also worried…

for a moment.

I looked at the guy in front of me feeling my blood run cold.

You look fine.

This crazy control freak shows no signs of displeasure about the situation getting out of control.

that.

“You… remembered.”

“…”

There was one more guy on the plane.

and.

“I knew I had forgotten.”

Cheongryeo puts the notes she was organizing on her desk.

And then he smiled and opened his mouth.

“You still have a good head junior.”

Oh my… fuck it.

Chapter 406

The system owner who would have been on the plane with me evaporated from my mind.

As if it never happened.

But if you remembered this guy in front of you.

‘There’s no way this bastard didn’t notice that I didn’t know.’

How is it possible that you didn’t feel a sense of discomfort while talking about it for over half a year?

This was not said intentionally. This guy’s reaction right now says the same thing.

I spoke through gritted teeth.

“Why didn’t you tell me?”

Cheongryeo smiled and responded.

“I thought my junior would react that way.”

“…”

what?

“Right now my junior you may be thinking about many things… Well aside from anger or irritation towards me there will be only one thing left.”

Cheongryeo speaks casually.

“Does it bother you?”

“…!”

“You worry about people who don’t know who they are where they are or what their situation is. no?”

“How can you not care?”

Fucking people evaporated of course…

No wait.

I remembered this guy’s reaction the last time I brought up the story about my parents with a memory error.

‘Memory is inherently prone to errors so it’s okay as long as you remember only the information you need to proceed… ’

because

-What you need to be wary of… are the additional effects caused by memories.

-emotion.

And then I realized.

“…Whether he disappears or not has nothing to do with achieving the goal right?”

“is it so.”

The guy narrows his eyes.

“My junior when something bothers me I tend to rationalize efficiency.”

what.

“Well shall I give you an example? “Even though the group has already been formed the reason your junior continues to look for Testa members is not because it will help the cause.”

“…!”

Cheongryeo looks at me.

“Today I performed a meaningless commemorative performance at an award ceremony that didn’t make much of a splash.”

“…”

“You still pay so much attention to side details but how much can you care about the well-being of the people you brought in?”

I kept my mouth shut. The guy stands up and smiles.

“I think the explanation is sufficient but you’re angry at me right now…”

“I guess the guy who had the system is in bad shape now?”

“…!”

This is it.

I looked at the guy.

“If there was a difference between me not remembering and you remembering there was no need to come to this situation.”

I might be able to persuade you by simply saying that since you don’t remember I will take charge of looking for it. Like you said I don’t remember anyway.

But that’s it.

Are you saying that an over-the-top answer like ‘If you knew the truth you would be so worried that you wouldn’t be able to do your job’?

“You can’t explain it other than you know something happened to that bastard.”

And that’s quite… in a bad way.

So much so that I was agitated.

I crossed my arms and glared at him.

“…”

Cheongryeo was unperturbed.

“Junior is there a need to be so persistent about someone you don’t even know who you are? We weren’t really friends at first. two.”

“Do you understand? “The problem is that you’re trying to deceive people.”

“I didn’t cheat.”

The guy clicked his tongue. This bastard.

“Your junior you also have information that you didn’t tell me. Isn’t it? “I thought it would be difficult for the other person to understand.”

“…”

I reflexively thought of the list of emoticons in the status window that showed my colleague’s current status then closed my mouth.

The guy laughed.

“It’s the same. “I also didn’t want my junior to waste time and resources on someone he didn’t know.”

You speak sophistication well.

“It sounds like you’re saying you’ll blow it if I know who that guy is but I just don’t remember but we know him.”

“hmm?”

The guy nods his head to the side.

“You don’t know now.”

I gritted my teeth.

Getting angry or hitting someone is stupid. This bastard is my group now whether I like it or not and the moment the violence is caught in the media it will be a scandal.

‘Then let’s approach it rationally.’

I also have a head. Roll it.

The worst thing that can happen to a system holder who disappears while the system is in overdrive?

It was then.

[Why is this person so shameless? Bro if I really had a body I would have hit him!]

Status window.

I looked at the big moon pop-up and inadvertently said the correct answer out of my mouth.

“That damn system worked.”

“…”

Just like the big moon turned out like that.

“Right?”

Cheongryeo did not respond. It was a virtual affirmation. I clenched my fists.

then.

‘There is definitely a clue.’

I shake my head desperately.

If he really has been absorbed into the system I might be able to notice as I am currently using the system.

There is a part where I feel a sense of discomfort.

It was as if Big Moon had made an error and given a coin but it was unexpected and had a different regularity than before.

Something that is exceptional or does not flow naturally within the system.

“…”

that.

-This is useless so why is it coming out?

It has a round golden shape like a coin… but is displayed only as text.

[Failure consolation money has arrived…]

+10G

+10G

Gold.

I didn't know why this existed so I thought it was just dummy data that popped out when the <127 Section> format was applied.

But what if… this is some kind of signal?

If it is a barely tolerated shortcut or bug within the system.

'When I think of gold who comes to mind?'

Something immediately comes to mind.

-Roughly… let's call them Gold 1 and Gold 2.

A title given in 〈Azusa〉.

Two people I had a relationship with until recently.

'Golden Age's Ha Il-jun and Spacer's Kwon Hee-seung.'

"…!"

I suppressed an exclamation laced with profanity.

Now let's calm down.

Which of the two is better suited to knowing the future?

'This is too obvious.'

I opened my mouth.

"It's Kwon Hee-seung."

"…"

Suddenly the guy who won the new season of <Azusa> and the guy who had more time to contact me because we were in the same entertainment agency ended up being him.

Cheongryeo still had an expressionless expression but I saw her eyes narrow and open.

‘That’s right.’

I clenched my fists and walked to the desk where he was standing.

“Now that you know answer me.”

“…”

“What exactly happened to that bastard?”

And how on earth do you know that?

The expression on Cheongryeo’s face disappears and she slowly opens her mouth.

“Do you want to wait until your goal is achieved?”

“doesn’t exist.”

“hmm.”

The guy lowered his eyes.

And when he raised his head again.

_____

[‖]

_____

Suddenly the world stopped.

‘ah’

I looked around.

I thought the room was already quiet enough and motionless but in fact there were things moving.

Things like the sound of the TV outside the room in the living room the sound of the second hand of a clock moving and subtle contrasts.

But everything stopped moving and became flat as if it had become flat. A world where all movement has disappeared and stopped.

And in between.

“Are you surprised? “They said we need to stop the process for a while to fully visualize this.”

Only one moves with liveliness.

Cheongnyeo.

“…It stops.”

“yes. “Well I guess it’s a common occurrence in normal games.”

He raises his hand.

“I heard that play stops when the settings window is loaded.”

And then numerous holograms begin to appear before my eyes.

Jiiiing-

A solid world filled with small and large boxes.

But the direction of the writing is the opposite.

So… it doesn't pop up for me to see it pops up for the guy standing in the opposite direction to see.

Cheongnyeo.

[Task: Let's help the character's smooth game activities!]

[▶Quest in progress]

[Preferences]

Beyond those hologram windows I also checked texts I had never imagined upside down. Similar UI to what I have.

[Character List]

[Ryu Geon-woo (Park Moon-dae): I am astonished by you (Σ//ㅁㅍ;)]

Fuck you.

I barely opened my mouth.

"what's this."

"Well where should I start explaining?"

He bumps his finger against his chin. And then he loses focus as if he is lost in thought.

* * *

A few months ago.

Inside Cheongryeo's private plane crossing the Pacific Ocean.

[Brother this is more…]

Shin Jae-hyeon saw it on the plane before he lost consciousness.

The actual thing called the ‘status window’.

‘Did it look like that?’

I wasn’t very impressed but what I saw next was a bit problematic.

This is because while the numerous holograms appeared as if broken Kwon Hee-seung was seen being absorbed between the windows as if graphically disintegrating.

‘hmm.’

That might be a bit tricky.

When the thought came back after that thought I was already in the practice room with Ryu Geon-woo.

-Damn it!

-haha.

And for a while I thought that this might be a ‘restart’ that eventually came back so I diversified my plans by considering various possibilities.

But in the end Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae were persuaded.

-okay.

-Let’s go back to your dog Kong.

As an ally he was a partner with whom there was nothing to blame. It was not that there were no complaints about Park Moon-dae’s choice of colleagues but that level could be taken into account.

However there was one incident before that.

When he returned home to find out exactly what was going on here.

Because out of the many restarts something happened that never happened.

[The task has arrived!]

“…?”

A status window appears.

But he is not a player.

[GM: Welcome Jaehyun Shin.]

Server: Kwon Hee-seung (stable)

GM: Shin Jae-hyun

Player: ■■■

“this.”

Shin Jaehyun smiled faintly.

‘It’s a variable.’

And the number of cards increased.

* * *

“is it so. Heeseung Kwon is currently displayed on the server.”

“…”

“There was no special benefit to me. “I can just check my junior’s progress… or so.”

I pressed my eyebrows.

Cheongryeo lowers her head to the side and smiles as if reminiscing.

“And… some auxiliary abilities?”

“you.”

I opened my mouth at the passing memory.

“No way Kim Rae-bin came out of the comrade selection.”

“Well as experience points accumulate the probability can be temporarily adjusted.”

Damn it.

I bit my tongue.

‘I should have suspected it.’

Isn’t the first friend given in the game tutorial actually a live account?

Usually GM.

This is the game master’s account.

“Hide this…?”

I grabbed the guy by the collar. My clothes are being held as if they are going to tear.

“I have no choice but to give you the same answer.”

“what?”

But the guy looked down without moving anything.

“I probably already told you that I didn’t tell you because I was afraid you would end up like this.”

“…!”

“It was impossible to replace servers with this hologram.”

“then”

“Then the remaining effects are obvious. “You’re less efficient because you care about the meaning of the server…”

Cheongryeo muttered calmly.

“Throughout the process I was anxious and doubtful about what I would do.”

“…”

“It’s better to keep your mouth shut and wait until you receive the grand prize. “It won’t be too late even if I go back and tell you after it’s over.”

“So you followed what I said.”

“Rather I would say that I was persuaded by my junior’s words.”

The guy let out a laugh.

“I heard that if you win the grand prize you will have the option to see the ending and return.”

“…”

“Oh I told you to tell me everything.”

I looked at Cheongnyeo. He laughs like he’s frowning.

“that’s right. There was something more. “They said they would give me something in the form of a salary.”

He sends a hologram forward and carries it right in front of me.

[GM Ending Reward: Companion Selection]

“…!”

Wait a minute if this happens…

“So I’ve been thinking about it for a while.”

I knew what the next words would be.

“If you could wait until Kongi is born here and choose this option…”

The guy narrows his eyes.

“I have nothing to regret right? “It’s a bit of a turnaround though.”

Damn it.

“Think about your junior too. “Isn’t it better here if you can inherit everything of value?”

He gently removed my hand from his neck.

“Originally I was planning on just following my junior’s opinion but now that it’s come to this I want to hear more of your story.”

He sits down rests his chin and asks seriously.

“What do you think about this possibility?”

“…you”

“Oh the schedule is okay. You can just keep stopping. “It’s my first time using it too… but there’s no specific time limit.”

The guy laughs and looks away from the status window.

“So tell me. “Keep going until we both come to the same conclusion.”

“…”

“Because the time left is infinite haha!”

Fuck you.

There is a feeling of tension as if you have stepped on a land mine. As a biological reaction cold sweat flows down the spine.

‘still.’

I opened my mouth.

* * *

‘What should I do?!’

The large moon that became the status window of Park Moon-dae’s body screamed and spun around in the world of consciousness. The place where that crazy guy stopped has completely lost its liveliness.

And it was just before Kidnapping Season 2 aired!

‘Ugh what’s wrong…??’

Then I realized.

Huh?

He realized that he who had been sharing the field of vision with Ryu Geon-woo was suddenly outside as if he was leaving his body.

‘Uh huh?’

He broke through the ceiling of Souk Wishes’ dormitory and soared into the sky above Seoul.

‘What is this?’

Why does this happen? No I had to go back! I couldn’t leave my brother alone.

It was the moment when he made up his mind and tried to regain consciousness somehow.

I saw a sparkle.

‘…uh?’

Gold circles.

Like Dorothy’s yellow road sparkling things were making a path in the air.

And he instinctively knew that the thing at the end was the status window.

This is an error indication.

‘and.’

I guess I can see this because it is in a ‘progress paused’ state.

He almost lost his mind for a moment due to the intense sparkle of the error but he soon noticed something.

What can be called an error here is that the memory was recovered in an irregular way without being detected by the system…

‘Seon Ah-hyeon!’

When he realized that another possibility suddenly popped into his head.

His abilities have expanded and that person is an error so what?

‘I don’t know! Let’s do it!’

With a sense of freedom he ran to Sun Ah-hyun.

And then I tried it!

[Please help my brother!]

“Uh huh…?!”

On the way to Incheon International Airport.

Seon Ah-hyun who was getting out of the car confused by the world that had suddenly stopped was startled by a hologram that suddenly appeared.

Chapter 407

A lodging room where the sun still doesn't rise.

I sat down on a cushion and spoke the thirtieth analysis in a low voice.

Why is reality better?

"VTIC rarely engages in personal activities so their image consumption is still not large. "It will be much more advantageous in the long run. That's something we've already spent here."

"well. In other words doesn't this mean that he has proven his recognition and capabilities through his personal activities?"

"…the group's fandom was destroyed."

You bastard. I held back a sigh and he laughed heartily.

"That's it we can stabilize it by focusing on group activities next year. "You can refine your image consumption and concept from then on."

"…So if you go back and ask why they are doing something like that there is already a well-established fandom and a group with a well-established concept."

"I guess so."

The guy readily agreed. But I wasn't fooled.

"However considering the development potential this area can be expanded in size. "Because there are already proven members and songs."

Fuck really.

I pressed my eyebrows. The conversation with this guy has been like this since a while ago.

This guy is extremely male here and doesn't go crazy.

They just keep countering my logic of having to go back and I go back to countering them again.

Group possibilities Market distribution Personal achievement Image Performance…

Literally the end of the debate.

Damn it.

I don't know how many hours it took to bite the horse's tail. My head is pounding.

I'm not hungry or having any menstrual symptoms so I'm getting goosebumps.

"Um would you like to drink some water? "I don't know if you can drink it."

"That's it."

I touched my forehead.

And suddenly a fundamental question came to mind.

'…Why are you doing this?'

In fact it is a problem that cannot be resolved rationally.

Let's both agree to one conclusion?

There has to be an absolute branch that is logically perfect but isn't that impossible?

When comparing arts and physical education careers everything is just a realm of possibility. On the contrary this world… has a slight advantage.

'…not this.'

That was stupid.

I was dragged along by this bastard's momentum and did useless things to avoid being pushed away. I raised my head. Cheongnyeo was sitting on the chair in front of the desk in the same posture as before.

I changed my posture.

"You know this is not a matter that can be resolved. "In the first place I didn't mean to go back and see which one would be more successful as an idol."

"…"

From the beginning this bastard knew it all and actively participated in my plans for a futureless disposable target group.

It means betting on who goes back.

To do this now… I remembered what he said earlier.

-Originally I was planning to just follow my junior's opinion but now that it's come to this I want to hear more of your story.

And after a few hours my cool mind draws a conclusion.

"Are you… trying to say that you have unilaterally cooperated with me so far?"

They cooperated even though there were other options but they asked me if they were upset because they accused me of hiding something.

‘So there is no reason to cooperate.’

Even though I say it it is absurd. It’s not usually a secret that the GM was personally given by the system and there’s no such thing as a fucking red flag.

‘Well there are all these bastards.’

But the guy didn’t deny it.

“well. “My junior seemed more interested in taking care of people than his goals so I gave it some thought.”

The guy tilted his head to the side.

“Then… I told you. “There is no reason to go back.”

“If you look at it from that perspective it doesn’t exist.”

I took a breath. My head became a little clearer.

What was this guy mistaken?

I almost did that too until just now.

“I said something wrong.”

“hmm?”

“Think about it without your career.”

Not only is it impossible to compare but I wasn’t trying to say that my career as a first-team idol was perfect and I should return to that reality.

I remembered what I said to this bastard before when he was urging me to commit suicide.

-Shouldn't VTIC be on the decline?

So that is.

We had to talk about other values not just social success that can be expressed in numbers.

chamberlain.

"You decided to live in reality even if something like this happened… I'm talking about the album you released and the experiences you had after one member left."

"…"

"Isn't that a waste?"

In real life does nothing really mean anything to you except you?

These are the experiences I had after deciding to just keep living without trying to change my life the moment I failed.

An album filled with new songs that have never been used before. This is my first solo activity and I don't know the answer sheet. A group that eventually overcomes failure and stands up. A sense of accomplishment.

Impressions of a new award.

"You actually decided to return to reality including that. It's not that you unilaterally cooperated with me. "I wonder if that was a waste and something I missed."

Cheongryeo was agitated for the first time. I saw him clasp his hands and place them on his knees.

But the answer is distorted.

“Now that I think about it we could try it again here.”

Fuck you.

I shook my head.

“It’s meaningful because I can’t do it again!”

“No in the first place… Hey I heard that this place was literally created by the system.”

Today I relayed to him the results that Sun Ah-hyun deduced during the process of regaining her memories.

This world is just a distortion of a kind of abnormal condition.

There is a high probability that the reality is truly different as we first assumed.

“…So this is a world that really runs on System X.”

I hit the bed roughly.

“Are you really planning to live here with the system? Because you can suck it up while talking about GM or something?”

“…”

“Aren’t you the bastard who worked so hard because of the fucking system?”

“…”

There was no answer for a long time. I took a deep breath.

And the voice that came out slowly…

“Hard work?”

I was wondering.

I got goosebumps.

“That’s… a bit hard to agree with.”

“…!”

“In the end isn’t it true that we have a chance to succeed by being able to restart?”

Oh damn.

“Getting rid of the system was to prevent these benefits from going to others who could not control it. “Because it is impossible to tool the system.”

“…”

“Of course discomfort may be one of the reasons… but I don’t think that’s the reason alone.”

I was depressed. This kid’s problem started from here.

‘He’s a guy whose mind has been remodeled so that restarting is beneficial.’

How can I convince you of this?

“…”

Silence began to fall again. I laid my head on the bed feeling like I had lost my will to fight.

As you say time is infinite so I guess I should just keep my mouth shut.

But the surprising thing comes after a while.

This bastard opened his mouth first.

In a slightly subdued voice

“But I understand that my junior wants to go back if only for emotional reasons.”

“…!”

“okay. “Because there was also a problem with my junior’s parents.”

I gritted my teeth.

“And you didn’t say anything then either.”

Even though I pointed out that I seemed to have a memory error.

“that…”

His tone of voice becomes less dry. I was a little nervous.

“…sorry.”

“…”

I suppressed a sigh and closed my eyes.

“You… think that if you had told me there was a status window I would have been suspicious of you and your efficiency would have been ruined.”

That’s a funny bastard.

“I would have just believed it.”

“…!”

“Of course I would have done more surveillance to make sure I didn’t do anything unnecessary. But I think I put a lot of effort into researching to find ways to use it differently than that."

Efficiency wouldn't have been destroyed you son of a bitch.

"…is it so?"

"uh."

I tossed and turned.

"To be honest I blew everything on you from the beginning to the creation of the status window. "What I didn't say was the privacy issue."

"…"

You are the one who stabbed me in the back.

Soon a low voice was heard.

"all right."

after.

I rubbed my face.

That kid died in a flash.

'There is another problem with Gold 2… '

I know.

Saying things like "don't you feel sorry for Kwon Hee-seung" doesn't work for this bastard. I'm not the type of person who moves while considering such things. Because he sees people as resources.

But if you ask me if it hasn't changed at all since the reset syndrome and crazy Ohamma days…

-I brought you. (picture)

-Kongi hurts.

That won't be the case again.

But it was a dead end. If this bastard doesn't really understand why he wants to go back…

'Could I interfere again?'

Because that is unacceptable.

'I'm going to fix that and get out.'

I made a conclusion and opened my eyes.

And suddenly I saw it.

pop up.

[Error: Mundae…?]

"…!!"

I almost jumped.

[Error: !]

[Error: I think Mundae confirmed it!]

The pop-up updates happily.

I thought it was a big month up to that point.

Until these popped up.

[RAB: You finally confirmed it. I was very worried that it might be an emergency.]

[Sejini: Park Moon-dae are you okay? Should I call my university like this to be recognized?]

[BaeSJ: Answer me]

What is this?

* * *

Geudal put on all kinds of shows in front of Sun Ah-hyeon.

This means that time stopped and Moon Dae hyung was being threatened(?) and at the same time he was eagerly telling Sun Ah-hyun who he was.

Of course just because Sun Ah-hyun was embarrassed didn't make her a fool.

he demanded calmly.

"…show me the evidence so I can believe it."

[that!]

Geoldal thought hard but he actually knew.

There was no evidence…

'Ugh… '

I couldn't be more sad about not having a body.

As the game stopped Geoldal completely unaware that he was slowly regaining his human senses racked his brain.

And I remembered one person.

[Ravin knows about me!]

Ryu Geon-woo who was tired of the hellish cycle of questions even certified the existence of the big moon with a detailed explanation.

“But… can I meet Ravine now?”

[ah…]

The problem is that Kim Rae-bin is also stopped now…

‘Is there anything?’

Big Moon racked his brain hard. He diligently scrolled through the status window and rummaged through the UI window.

And after that the mental world is like the detailed code of a complex algorithm…

‘Huh?’

Then I found something that I could touch on since I’m currently ‘configuring’ it.

It seems like a line was hastily added at the bottom.

[Gold Shop]

Gold?

‘…connection!’

Keudal who had already seen Ryu Geon-woo’s mystery show immediately turned it on.

Then a simple list appears.

[Chat room opening – 5000G]

[Invitation – 1000G]

He realized right away.

This was it.

‘I’m sorry for using it so carelessly but I’m still trying to help you…!’

He bought both right away.

New features are opened.

He manipulated the pop-up.

[Do you want to enter the chat room?]

“…!”

[I’ll call Lavin!]

And the moment Sun Ah-hyun accepted admission at the pop-up after much deliberation she flew like crazy and went to Seoul.

And I contacted Kim Rae-bin who was receiving makeup touch-ups at the Gearko photo shoot.

Of course Raebin Kim’s error was not an error but a stoppage.

‘but!’

He already knew who was in the chat window.

A person who offsets abnormal conditions in the system.

[Do you want to enter the chat room?]

The golden circle is absorbed into Raebin Kim's connection system and the error spreads.

'It's done!'

I am connected to Sun Ah-hyeon through the chat window that is the status window which is the spirit of Big Moon and errors are shared.

And a new chat.

[RAB:…??]

[RAB: Is this by any chance a dream?]

Big Moon held back his cheers.

* * *

[Error: That's how you can send a message to Mundae]

'…okay.'

I nodded looking at the frantic conversations taking place in the chat room.

I roughly understood it. I guess Keoldal did well to see Kwon Hee-seung sending a tearful SOS.

But that's it.

'…is this necessary?'

Honestly I don't know what help I can get from these guys just by chatting.

'No even if it's not a chat there's no harm in beating this bastard right now.'

No matter how much I think about it I think he was so surprised to see Keundal acting like a bastard that he rushed forward. I glanced through the chat window somewhat hesitantly.

[Tiger: Bro what's going on? Are you fighting?]

[BaesJ]: Did you really meet the guy who put us here?]

Besides these guys probably didn't get a detailed explanation so they just knew that I was in trouble. I thought about it for a while and sent the chat.

It's a thought.

[Apple: That's not true I need to convince someone]

[BaeSJ: Who!]

At that moment a pop-up suddenly appears at the top.

[8 people]

[※! Gold remaining: 5000G※]

hmm?

[Leader: Guys. It seems like energy is being consumed every time I chat. Let's just talk about the door and just give advice.]

There was no reply acknowledging whether everyone had understood the situation.

"…"

I thought about it for a moment and then clicked chat.

I don't know what this means.

[Apple: When is the moment when everyone feels like going back to reality?]

Because you might get a hint. It's better than not doing anything.

After a while the chat window is updated with full text.

[Tiger: When we want to perform on stage!]

[RAB: There were various examples but the most frequent one was the moment when I really wanted to listen to the album we released.]

[Error: When I went to the airport alone today I remembered the time we spent together. I think it's that kind of time.]

Performances albums activities accommodations are filled with various answers.

Ryu Cheong-woo who says that the Testa slogan comes to mind when shouting slogans and Bae Se-jin who says that's the case when idol performances appear in the algorithm on WeTube.

And the final answer.

[Sejini: When I miss the me back then]

What they have in common is…

It is a moment that evokes strong longing and nostalgia.

emotional memory.

"…"

I entered the chat.

[Apple: It was helpful. thanks.]

The moment a notification window pops up saying that gold has fallen.

I hear talking.

“What are you looking at?”

It wasn’t surprising. I even did it openly on purpose.

I opened my mouth to the guy.

“I see a chat window filled with colleagues right now.”

“hmm?”

“If you don’t know don’t try to check. “Because it seems expedient.”

GM shouldn’t see it. Couldn’t the system stop it?

Then the guy laughs.

“It’s thorough.”

“okay.”

I was silent for a moment and then asked the guy.

“Can I use my status window function here?”

“With administrator permission.”

“I want to try it.”

“…”

Cheongryeo did not refuse.

I brought up my colleague list again.

[Shin Jae-hyeon: Thinking about what my colleague said (//∼^)]

I slowly opened my mouth.

“You’ve been on the companion list from the beginning.”

“That’s right. “Because it’s GM.”

“And I had a memory from the beginning.”

I raised my head. Cheongryeo was standing.

“I have never awakened.”

“…”

Let’s consider its function.

In the first place adding a function to return memories to awakening was an expedient function that Geoldal and I extracted from the explanation of 〈127 Section〉.

This means that it was not officially included in the system.

‘then.’

I can understand why that’s such a harsh approach. Because it’s a function that wasn’t supposed to be there in the first place.

‘Did you say that it felt like waves of emotions and memories were rushing in?’

I opened my mouth.

“Would you like to give it a try?”

“Why?”

“Because it might give you new information.”

The guy seemed lost in thought for a moment.

But soon he nodded with strange eyes.

‘okay.’

I pressed the awakening button for my colleague Jaehyun Shin.

Chapter 408

Shin Jae-hyeon's memories have very deep layers.

Shin Jae-hyun is needed on the ocean floor which is like a stratum built up after a long period of repetition and countless lives. I've never bothered to touch a part that isn't there.

That is why there is no end in sight.

doesn't move

His first attempt was in too deep waters to be shaken by a one-time shock resulting from an expedient interpretation of 'awakening.'

But there was one place where we touched.

Top.

Most recent memory.

reality.

Tuk.

The wave rises.

And as it happened the most recent life took on a very unique style different from the average.

A life that I believed could not be started again.

-You decide to live in reality even if something like this happens…

It may be a bit profane but the expression he heard just before is probably correct.

Cheongnyeo lived the time after failure.

Tuk.

Memories of that time waver like ripples.

It all started with an opportunity created by the same person.

-You can’t restart now.

This is what Park Moon-dae who overpowered him said as he left the villa in complete disrepair.

And perhaps more importantly what came next.

-What you have is no longer gone.

Those words floated like a buoy in his head during the self-reflection period at VTIC which had been an unfamiliarly long time.

I wasn’t thrilled with what it meant specifically.

However it became an ambiguous indicator.

If restarting is not possible what are your options?

What can you have?

He first brought the dog. This is because there is no longer any confusion about your dog.

I wrote a new song. This is because it is no longer possible to preempt successful songs in the future.

I worked solo. This is because group performance was no longer the standard for all success indicators.

Still VTIC did not sink.

Failure did not go away. However a life where even the things built on top of failure do not disappear.

But even in that process there are questions.

‘Why are you doing this?’

It is a pure question rather than an emptiness.

This is because it felt as if all actions had no driving force such as a goal.

A life without a mission.

An unfamiliar landscape that must be created with an ignorant mind and without any answers.

Shin Jae-hyeon slowly confirms that it is slowly becoming a part of daily life.

Tuk.

Waves overlap.

Then the wave inadvertently brings to mind a memory with a very similar appearance. The end of the invisible deep sea below.

This is the very first restart.

-What is this…

I believed it was just one chance given again.

Therefore there were lives that I believed could no longer be restarted. Young and ignorant self.

What exactly does that memory look like?

don't know It's not visible. It only remains as information that is not original.

'okay.'

Not worth reading. Shin Jaehyun felt emotional.

It should have ended there originally.

But the unconscious moves again from there.

…?

Instantaneous waves rise up like roots creating fine cracks in the stratum of memory.

And it rings faintly throughout the deep sea. Tremors that are not even irritating.

However a similar pattern can be seen between the numerous layers of attempts and repetitions.

Very rarely sometimes.

Accidental harmony.

Eyewitness stories spread in the rain.

Performing while injured.

The specifics of the situation emotions and pain are not revealed.

Because the depth of experience is already far deep and multi-layered.

It's all just a vague taste.

But sometimes just a trace was enough.

This is because it serves as evidence that it existed there.

The feeling that no matter how much you start over that unique and brilliant moment will never come again.

-please.

Tuk.

That is not a life that I believed could not be restarted. I just didn't want to do it.

He also had moments when he thought it was a loss rather than an opportunity.

'I knew it.'

Afterimages that suddenly came to mind as I watched Park Moon-dae struggling not to restart.

-… I think I did that too.

However things that have already been crushed under the stratum in passing have no value.

Because it is a useless sentiment.

No matter how that moment made you feel if you fail you have to start over.

Because I thought it was just an ineffective impulse that slowed down progress to the next step.

-…

The wave soon disappeared. The surface became calm again.

His strata are still solid and the deep sea is not visible.

Shin Jaehyun thought.

Nothing has changed.

There is still no absolute advantage to be gained by returning to the previous reality.

VTIC will not be able to maintain its heyday any longer.

An inseparable tag was attached to the group's once spotless reputation.

Any blank spaces in the position will have to be left blank forever.

nevertheless.

And yet.

He didn't necessarily want to throw it away.

Like a long time ago when I wanted to stay even though I knew it would all disappear when I restarted anyway.

Just because I want to do it.

Is that irrational impulse the original driving force of life?

Cheongnyeo opened her eyes.

Look at them as if observing or worrying.

"ah."

He reflexively ran his finger under his chin.

Of course there was no bite.

The brief wave of a few seconds passed only as a passing wave not as a huge wave or shock.

But it did leave a mark.

"…"

Cheongryeo admitted.

Your urge to go back to reality.

Whether it could be done again or not as Park Moon-dae said it only happened once it didn't matter if it had any meaning.

So he opened his mouth.

"There was no new information."

"…"

"There is something I want to ask you."

And actually I asked a question that I had been thinking about all along but couldn't specify.

"Why do I want to go back to reality?"

Park Moon-dae did not scold me by saying 'Where the fuck did you hear what I said so far?'

I just held back a sigh and opened my mouth.

"Your reality is yours to begin with so of course you don't want to throw it away. "Who wants to just throw away what's theirs?"

"…!"

Since life is originally yours it is natural to want to maintain and own it completely.

Shin Jaehyun was slowly recovering from that impulse and desire.

So Park Mun-dae roughly opened his mouth again.

“Let’s go back you bitch.”

“…”

I still can’t give a reasonable reason why that should be the case. But not knowing may be the essence of impulse.

And now it was okay for him to act impulsively.

Cheongnyeo opened her mouth.

“is it so.”

“…”

“And… I guess I’ll have to change my plans.”

He brought up the hologram again.

There are countless windows but no one bats an eye.

“If you’re never going to stay here I think there’s one more way to use it.”

“…”

“how is it.”

The person in front of me did not refuse. Instead he nodded his head.

* * *

“say it.”

Tick.

The clock starts ticking again.

“after.”

The <Pause> state ended about an hour or two after the dramatic agreement with Cheongryeo.

‘I’m so tired.’

I returned to my room pressing my temples.

Fortunately after the agreement was reached we were able to talk quite productively during the pause.

‘And… it’s not like I don’t know why that bastard became like that.’

But that doesn’t mean that fucking bastard will stop screwing around. This is unconditionally placed as a debt and made to be repaid somehow.

-how is it?

Of course it was good to find out what this bastard can do.

I reviewed the strategy based on some facts I found out while analyzing the guy’s UI window.

As that guy said GM’s status window had some pretty useful features. In my view this is an extreme direction so supplementary measures should be taken.

‘I guess I’ll have to add a little more process.’

I racked my brain.

Meanwhile the pop-up is ringing.

[Brother I'm really really glad…]

[No you said it wasn't that dangerous but still!]

[I will keep an eye on that person! please!]

I knew it.

The guy who looked like he was going to shed tears just by writing a text for an hour continued talking like that for a while and then disappeared after a while saying 'I feel like I'm really tired for some reason.'

'I am indeed.'

It was only natural that he went on such a rampage. I clicked my tongue as I recalled the amount of gold remaining and the existence of the naturally deactivated 'Gold Store'.

'You're trying.'

Anyway Gold 2. Seeing that Kwon Hee-seung is sending a signal like this he seems to have taken the right direction.

"after."

I lay down on the bed. Only then did the tension ease.

And instead of the quiet pop-up I looked at the smartphone which had become noisy.

The cause is the group message locals.

-Brother Bae Se-jin: Oh my god

As soon as time started to pass again I started with these words and properly explained this systemic situation to those who were pouring in all kinds of comments and questions.

And to the extent that Cheongryeo was involved and persuaded him.

All kinds of comments poured out from 'You had a hard time' to 'You are truly outstanding in resolving such a supernatural situation.'…

We finally reached this situation.

-Cha Yu-jin: We can use telepathy! LIIIIIIITTTT (Emoji wearing sunglasses)

-Keun Se-jin: Wow is this what Mundae was talking about? Haha it really is like a cartoon movie!

This is an analysis of chat window capabilities.

Surprisingly it seems that the chat window function is still intact and can be called up.

However since the room owner is Sun Ah-hyeon it seems like only she can open the chat room.

-Seon Ah-hyun: I was a little surprised but I'm really glad that it helped. Next time if I feel like there's a problem I'll turn it on right away!

-Seon Ah-hyun: (smiling emoticon)

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: Even if it doesn't have to be that it could be used to call for rescue in an emergency right? I think it would be useful if it could be used in real life

-Kim Rae-bin: That's right. Although it is a structure that consumes an energy source called gold being able to communicate in a crisis situation is a huge advantage and should be used without hesitation!

You must have cried when you heard that Gold 2.

I fell asleep after midnight while answering questions about how to use the chat room and where the gold came from.

Instead of beating the guy who did it until he was a piece of cake I gained information and skills so I thought it wasn't that much of a loss.

And the next day.

"Actually I was there too."

"…??"

"A chat room."

Zhou Dan muttered with an expressionless expression. I almost spit out the water.

'…For some reason the capacity was listed as 8 people.'

There was that guy not the big moon. It looks like he called all his colleagues.

At the table Liu Chengyu asked with a slightly embarrassed expression.

"Is it possible that you couldn't tell us because you were uncomfortable?"

"Rather it is terrorism for an outsider to break the flow and enter a touching climax scene."

"…?"

Let's drink some water.

However one person gets caught.

"…! Could it be that you thought that because we were in different groups?”

“Rather it is that there is no shared narrative. They are not simply divided by group affiliation. “Context is important.”

“oh…”

That… won’t work.

I opened my mouth while watching Raebin Kim lost in complicated thoughts.

“So I plan to make it so that you are not an outsider.”

“Is there a past that I still don’t remember? “Second awakening?”

No that’s not it. I pointed my finger at the young cub coming out of the room.

“I’m going to make that guy do it.”

“…??”

We have to extract the compensation for making people work like dogs for hours.

A few days later.

I checked the package in the mail tab of the status window that I received while doing the main quest.

“The only thing you can get here is a comrade drawing ticket.”

“is it so.”

The guy now obediently handed over the information. I nodded and checked the mail’s internal information.

[4 star guaranteed ticket]

[5 star guaranteed ticket]

This is the definitive right of someone who manipulated the odds.

I can already guess who the monster who gave me 5 stars even though I have nothing to do with it is but now all I have to do is set it up.

“How about creating a more welcoming atmosphere to make it less shocking?”

“Yeah Party~”

That’s a good suggestion.

I hit Cheongnyeo.

“hey.”

“hmm?”

“You do it.”

If you have a conscience do it.

Of course this bastard has no conscience so he’ll do it even if he doesn’t have one.

And after a while.

“What’s going on?”

“uh…?”

Jin Chae-yul and Oh Yoon-shin who returned from filming a variety show for two days and one night encounter an unexpected sight.

“Tongue brother?”

“…”

Cheongryeo wearing a cone-shaped hat and holding a huge piece of paper with both hands written on it with “Welcome VTIC” written on it is smiling.

I put a party elephant trumpet in its mouth. Cheongryeo’s smile becomes brighter.

It looked like they were going to kill me if I asked any questions but luckily I saw the two guys from the living room.

Candle and balloon pollen.

It is a 3-piece party set.

Jin Chae-yul’s face lights up.

“Surprise party…? “It’s not my birthday!”

“I know.”

“no.”

I clapped with an expressionless expression.

Clap clap.

The other guys follow suit.

“It’s a homecoming party.”

“…??”

“It may be a bit shocking but it’s not harmful to your body so don’t worry.”

And I opened the two confirmation tickets I received in the mail.

[★★★★ Oh Yun-shin / Lead Rapper]

[★★★★★ Jin Chae-yul / Center]

After some adjustment time.

“Welcome. Welcome senior.”

“…??”

“Welcome to Wishes.”

Judan waves his hand. Chae-yul who stumbles to her feet has a face full of question marks and Shin-oh looks like he’s going to pass out.

I said solemnly.

“I’m sorry but I need you to get to work right away.

“yes?”

“We are just around the corner.”

“yes…??”

That’s how the K-Pop Inferno Joint Camp was opened.

Chapter 409

Wishes So this group of experienced rookies who debuted with half Testa and half VTIC has almost reached the end point.

The target is the goal.

‘The sound source is smooth. Awareness is also great.’

In fact it is no longer strange to accept it if you only look at the grades.

As the end of the year approaches the risk of predictions being wrong gradually decreases. Unless something unexpected happens… Is that possible since we are blocking it like this?

There’s only one thing left.

It is a so-called ‘level’ problem.

-If Wishes wasn’t Leti there’s no way she would be able to sing Daesang now haha.

-If a male idol suddenly releases good music but the charts are also questionable how likely is it to be manipulated? (No subject guess

-Rookie male idols talking about the subject To be honest it feels awkward because it feels like an entertainer project group.

The perception is ‘I don’t get much for that name.’

It was also a problem that occurred because individual awareness was higher than group awareness.

‘Well actually I’m doing that more because I feel like I’ll get that too.’

It’s a rule that there is no check on Bob.

Anyway since you can’t stop someone from receiving a song because it has good music scores there are people out there who are trying to make a fool of themselves by not getting recognition even if they do get it.

Nothing has changed since I received the Testa Rookie of the Year Award… or to be precise nothing has changed from then until Testa.

‘It’s probably harder to catch individual antis because they stick together.’

It’s good to raise personal awareness to the limit through entertainment but the problem arises because the character is exposed so strongly that people like it and dislike it.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssvkvvvs

-ㅋㅋㅋ Letty tasted it with Malunguweak and couldn’t come to her senses and even though she was a stranger she was sick and short-sighted so maybe it was good.

-Kim Lab Later on I had a networking problem that broke my back. I’ve never been wrong about the combination of physiognomy and fantasies.

The more you know the more people there are who hate it so much that they can’t stand it.

‘I can’t help it.’

Still it’s a bit disappointing.

‘If the debut song had been a hit I would have ate half of it.’

If the image from the beginning was set as a ‘crazy debut at the grand prize level’ there would be less controversy.

I can give an example of the fact that even though Kim Rae-bin had that personality thanks to his impression no one tried to catch him when he was in school.

In order to achieve the minimum balance and maximize album sales I had no choice but to give up this but it also had side effects. I quenched my appetite.

Anyway that means some correction work is needed.

I solemnly declared in front of the large table in the living room that had been roughly cleared of candles and pollen.

“You just need to do it once.”

“What…?”

“An intense group activity that will appeal to as many people as possible.”

“…!”

“It will alleviate some of the internet backlash when we win the grand prize.”

Until now all award-related status ailments were based on ‘public recognition.’

‘I didn’t awaken those two guys for no reason.’

“I wish it was just a stage.”

The primary purpose is to raise the stage quality to the level it was at that time when it was easily ranked among the top tier.

Of course whether the VTIC guys who took the ‘Why We Became Lee Ji-kyung’ quick lecture in one hour can catch up is a separate question.

“Uh… good.”

Jin Chae-yul barely answered. He still looks like he doesn’t know if this is reality or a dream.

Cheongryeo opened her mouth without any change in expression.

“It’s too grand an idea to turn around in just one performance. Wouldn’t it be better to make a quick comeback with a preliminary song?”

“Iconic one time is better. “If you do it multiple times the impact will only be dispersed.”

“That’s an optimistic idea.”

“What we need is not a long-term reputation but public opinion at the end of the year.”

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo smiled slightly.

“great. “If that’s the case.”

He says he’ll take a look but he’s not that upset. This is because the guy who was wearing fluorescent pink just a moment ago was the one who set the mood.

For your information the cone hat has already gone into the trash can as soon as work is finished. As expected from a guy with a lot of money he doesn’t know how to save money.

“Then Geonwoo… So does anyone have any other opinions other than Mundae’s?”

Anyway the vote was unanimous so now we have to do what we were supposed to do.

It’s brainstorming.

“Our BOOM! And make the audience scream! Wait… I got it! Motorcycle! Let’s ride motorcycles!”

“Moropsychol…?”

“Motorcycle. motorcycle.”

“…! It is a reckless idea to prepare a dangerous device in a short period of time. Above all it doesn’t match Wishz’s songs!”

“Kim Rae-bin can arrange it!”

“I have my opinion too!… I think the time travel concept would be great! Since a related movie was released during this time I think paying homage to it will result in a unique arrangement.”

“Ravin’s words are good but that OST is so famous that it might be dangerous. “How are you doing?”

“I guess I’ll listen to it to some extent next time as well.”

“yes!”

“…”

Arrangement concept costume appearance program.

Now that they’ve become accustomed to it the Testa guys make progress without hesitation.

And the two VTIC guys who had just awakened to the conversation and content passing by in an instant blinked.

The only person who talks here is… Judan.

“The outfit should also be sex-appealing without being too over-the-top…”

“They are underage.”

“I cancel.”

Anyway as opinions poured in a plan slowly became concrete. I threw words and tried to get direction.

‘It takes some time but it’s still better.’

If you think you have reached an agreement you will work harder and more actively. New opinions may emerge.

But even Cheongnyeo who clearly does not prefer this form is just smiling. This means that I will not intervene.

‘Is this a declaration of surrender?’

If you don’t want to disturb anything that’s fine.

“Shall we take a rest?”

“yes.”

Stop the discussion before it goes in an unproductive direction.

‘While I’m at it I’m also organizing it.’

“Coke?”

“It’s okay.”

I got up one by one and went to the kitchen or to the electronic devices in my room joining them and going back to my room.

I was thinking of summarizing what has been said so far.

And when I sat down at my desk and picked up a pen.

dripping.

Someone knocks on the door.

“Please come in.”

Then my roommate comes in through the carefully opened door.

Jin Chae-yul.

“Hello.”

The guy with an awkward smile looked around the room and came inside.

The guy who had been humming and hesitatingly opening the door until just yesterday morning seems to have found the room a little more empty after he remembered his memory.

“Senior this is your room. Please sit comfortably.”

“Umm yes.”

Still he soon quietly sat down on his bed and spoke with a smile.

“I stopped talking to Jaehyun hyung!”

Now that I think about it I was so angry that I spoke out to that bastard so confidently.

“…yes. “Well it just so happened.”

“good night!”

Chaeyul grinned. And then sighed a little.

“I’ve calmed down now. “We want to go back to the way things were so we will participate diligently.”

“ah.”

Was that not enough consideration?

“sorry. “You must have been shocked but we proceeded too hastily.”

“no! I think it’s a bit of a rare method to begin with. “We don’t usually proceed like this just dividing from the basics.”

The guy hastily threw up his hand. And he nods his head with a serious face.

“Should I just say that it feels like there is a clear division of roles and each person does their best to do their job?”

“hmm.”

“So even though it was a dream it was fun working here. “I express a lot of opinions.”

The guy muttered in a slightly juvenile tone.

“Why I also liked the gesture I chose for this sub song!”

“Yes the response was actually good.”

“Hmm it was a bit like that wasn’t it? Geonwoo. “No junior!”

My cheeks are going to burst.

Chae-yul who was laughing soon asks with her smile still remaining.

“Until I go back can I just call you Gunwoo-hyung? “Ah I know in my head that it’s Mr. Mundae but it’s Geonwoo’s face that I haven’t seen in half a year!”

“It doesn’t matter to me.”

We need to go back and block the possibility of causing controversy.

“Wouldn’t it be okay if you just talk comfortably? “No matter what you are a senior.”

“Oh I will!”

In fact he agreed so quickly that I thought he was trying to speak informally.

Chae-yul pats me on the back like a senior.

“Mundae-do then go back and talk to me and make yourself comfortable! Anyway I will go to the military in a little while and not be active…”

“…”

“…”

“Fighting.”

“yes…”

I ended up going there twice. Be patient too.

Anyway until the next meeting when these two guys come up with useful opinions.

I think I’ll give it some time.

And a few hours later.

“Then I’ll make a list starting from the ones that have been decided.”

“yes!”

I picked up a piece of paper with ‘Welcome VTIC’ written on the back and used it to write.

“Number 1. Appearance program.”

-It absolutely has to be a contest program.

-How about selecting a candidate based on viewer ratings and WeTube views?

I wrote down the corresponding program.

‘We also have a special episode for the 100th episode so it’s like killing two birds with one stone.’

And next.

“Association No. 2.”

-I hope we can bring to life a little bit the characters we picked through our individual activities.

-If you do it wrong it could have the opposite effect…

-I’m good at it. Everyone is good. Then no problem!

I can’t refute that.

So it was time to write down point 3 about the decided direction and concept.

“I have an opinion.”

“…!”

Jin Chae-yul raised her hand.

“Is it about the concept?”

“That too but um… I’m talking about the program you’re appearing in.”

“Ah senior have you found another good option and would you like to change?”

“That’s not it.”

He hesitated a little and then opened his mouth.

“I was wondering what if I postponed my appearance for just one more week!”

“…!”

Why bother with a special episode 100?

“I was a regular viewer of this program and great people appeared the week after the special.”

He stroked the back of his head.

“In fact I think the viewership ratings were better back then…”

“Who is that?”

“Senior Tea Holic.”

“…!!”

That’s definitely true though.

‘There’s someone who would have known this better than that guy.’

I turned my head and looked at Cheongnyeo. The guy speaks without even looking away.

“well.”

"…"

"I took it off a week early on purpose. This has a preemptive effect. "It is also difficult to control program casting."

It means shut up.

Chaeyul swallowed slightly.

Shin-oh looked at Chae-yul for a moment with the eyes of a pitiful person and was about to open his mouth as if he wanted to back it up.

"Well I think the effect will be greater if we compare directly! "We also develop a sense of competition."

"…!"

Chaeyul opened her mouth first. This guy looked a little embarrassed perhaps because the situation was awkward but he didn't back down.

Cheongryeo has no facial expression.

'hmm.'

Would you like me to help you?

I put down the pen and opened my mouth.

"If it succeeds I don't think it will be worth the risk. "Look at the number of people in our group now."

The guy looks away. I grinned.

"Isn't it worth trying to get revenge in a situation where you don't lose out to the senior president in terms of annual leave?"

"…"

“You’re raising the stakes.”

There was silence.

And after a while Cheongryu who was touching his chin nodded.

“Not bad.”

“…!”

At that moment the three VTIC guys looked like they had just witnessed a dog with wings come down from the sky.

“I’m in! I like it. “Competition moves people!”

Thanks to Cha Yu-jin who quickly came in with a bite the atmosphere was set.

“Do you have any objection?”

“Well I don’t think there is one.”

I wrote down the last list while listening to Liu Chengwu’s slightly laughing voice.

[4. Comparison target]

The more people who comment the better the viral success will be.

It’s a good idea. Modern and I nodded internally when we saw Chae-yul high-fiving Shinno and pretending not to be.

Still isn’t he a guy who knows how to be rude to a senior senior like T-Holic who is willing to take off his rank insignia and win by being compared to him?

‘It’s not for nothing that I’ve been in the first team for 10 years.’

It was fortunate that there was enough poison. I opened my mouth right away without any expression.

“Now all I have to do is rest only when I sleep and replace all my time with practice time.”

“…”

“…”

“Is that Testa always like this?”

“yes. “Isn’t it VTIC?”

“…”

I can’t bear to deny it. After all arts and physical education which makes a lot of money is premised on work that destroys work-life balance.

* * *

〈True Battle〉.

Among the many programs where singers compete for rankings and wins or losses on stage this is the longest-running original program.

In particular this Season 7 grew by recovering well in viewership ratings with the return of the original producer and the original PD. However if there is a problem it is the sadness of the longevity program.

Lack of cast pool.

As a result they who originally only sang singers famous for their singing skills or crazy performances had no choice but to slightly change their route…

It’s an idol appearance.

-The original intention of showing a talented singer. Where has it gone? It's truly shameful!

-Even when I turn on music broadcasts only idols I don't know who they are appear on so that's it? Please stop~~

So quietly.

The stage was to lure viewers by carefully recruiting very popular or talented groups and lowering the hurdle…

Suddenly in the preview for this episode it was a betrayal that wasn't a betrayal.

-What kind of idol teams are there?

-Tea Holic and Wishes? Who is Wishes?

But what's better is that they both have familiar faces and songs they know.

That's why viewers sit in front of TV computer and smartphone screens to watch this episode anyway even though they are complaining and swearing.

-I think it's guaranteed bathroom time PD.

And Wishes was scheduled to appear on the opening stage as a rookie.

Chapter 410

The competition program in which Wishz is appearing this time ‘True Battle’ does not show a long narrative of preparing for the stage although it provides a short amount of talk.

This is to maintain the concept of a battle of talented fighters ‘everything is said on stage.’

So on the contrary Ryu Geon-woo was happy.

‘If you show too much of the preparation process the impact will decrease.’

Since they are all experienced workers they will show a picture of them skilfully slowing down the progress unlike a rookie.

I don’t want that kind of character.

‘I have to give it a taste that betrays expectations.’

Thanks to this Wishes received the editing typical of a ‘big rookie with one song’ with very little preparation.

[〈What is the fifth team?〉]

[The idol you want~ Hello. This is Wishz.]

A neat look. And it’s about the length of introducing the currently popular song ‘Timer’ as if it were an advertisement.

Originally I would have received more. Because each and every one of them is a ridiculous monster rookie who is hot.

However the rest of the initial portion goes to teams with compatible positions and images.

Bareu Tea Holic.

[Ah~ Welcome!]

[〈National Idol Has Come!〉]

Because it is a group that is more widely known and has many hit songs viewers' reactions are focused on that group whether good or bad.

However some people who like to show off their sharp analysis left comments.

-There seems to be some overlap.

-This is a casting failure. The two have very similar images.

-It would be better to differentiate with Ryu Cheong-woo and cut the volume.

Each member who has been active in individual activities is popular and has hit songs for popular music.

Just to list those facts Wishes was clearly a latecomer to the Tea Holic line.

Moreover the theme of this 101st episode performance does not help Wishes.

[Topic: Beginners]

[Theme for the singers who took on the challenge of 'True Competition' which has surpassed 100 episodes and is now entering its first episode]

Beginners for a rookie?

In addition I couldn't help but feel bored when I thought about the festival-like 100th episode special featuring gorgeous stage sets and famous songs by famous composers.

The last word before the stage Even when leader Jaehyun Shin gave his requested 'word of determination' people were shocked.

[Thankfully we have made our name known through various individual activities but in reality we are essentially group performers.]

[I want to show you.]

-That looks like a death flag.

-If anyone sees it they will think that entertainment shows have been on for about 5 years haha.

-I guess you did a lot with the timer?

When viewers react in a somewhat appalling manner to the remarks of a promising newcomer who already has a hit song.

The fan who was leaving a message of support couldn't resist and started tapping on the keyboard.

– Haha you all don't know. I'm from the Wishz survival program.

-The group competition itself is the kids' first priority.

The text disappeared in an instant but at that moment the broadcast screen changed.

[Live Broadcast]

The moment a real-time broadcast appears in the upper corner and the texture of the screen changes the camera moves and illuminates the stage.

The opening stage is ready.

A huge cursive font appears brightly on the top electronic display board.

[Yesterday]

Yellow light like sunlight falls on the stage.

The stage set in front of the blue sky-like electronic display board is the school's wonderful entrance made of brick.

And performers appear between the panel structures.

Wishes members dressed in neat private school uniforms.

They gathered along the route and formed into a formation with blonde Chae-yul smiling at the center.

[Should I turn the timer and go to the past?]

It was the appearance of a song that everyone knows.

The stage which changes the movement and singing style somewhat musically and includes brass accompaniment is somewhat retro and pleasant.

An overwhelming and joyful feeling.

In addition each time he did his part he mixed in a slightly humorous mix of the characters he had built up in entertainment.

Ryu Cheong-woo wearing glasses and reading a book. A cast member who performs a magic trick of lighting newspaper on fire. Cha Yu-jin narrows her eyes as she ends her rap with 'I'm sorry'.

Mix in buzzwords or recreate situations.

And Ryu Geon-woo who was holding a campaign sign as if he was protesting hugged the sign tightly and smiled and sang the chorus.

[You are in my racing heart

A meteor falling from above us

I still remember today too]

Members waving their hands and doing choreography.

All of those moments… gave me a very natural and pleasant feeling of support. From the successful arrangement to the relaxed appearance of the members who don't even look nervous.

-It's okay.

-You're good at it. It's a positive thing for an idol~~ I feel like I'm being supported ^^

-I must have gotten some tickets. The song is pretty good too.

It may have been a bit boring but it was a good pleasant opening performance. The vocals are also flawless.

The moment I thought it was worth moving on without swearing.

-uh? Where is Raebin Kim?

While I was unaware of the complicated movement lines and distorted camera work.

There is a human figure climbing up the railing behind the stage set.

The camera that follows behind shows him putting his hand on the school clock… Kim Rae-bin with white hair.

That moment when my downcast eyes met the camera.

[D———-ing——]

Suddenly the camera work pulls back.

The blue sky on the electronic display board stirs and a new sound comes in accompanied by the sound of a bell.

Forging recorder.

And the tempo of the accompaniment changes.

-????

While Kim Rae-bin leisurely walks down the railing one step at a time the remaining seven gather together and show off their choreography.

The choreography looks similar to a dance break but is off-kilter and somewhat slow giving a slightly strange feeling.

And when Kim Rae-bin came down and joined in the bell sound and the existing accompaniment had already died down.

In white noise.

Raebin Kim walks to the center and nods his head.

And a low hoarse voice.

[Move the timer]

[Grant my wish]

The song unfolds again with an unfamiliar rap attached to the mismatched melody.

A powerful riff melody.

[A spell I will never forget

Memorize it and teach it to me

your world]

Before you know it the electronic display board turns red becomes dark and a crescent moon appears.

time of night.

[Yesterday]

The moment the letters at the top change the real choreography begins.

And every time a member comes out looking for their part in ‘Timer’.

[Turn the timer]

[I’m here I won’t change]

It’s blocked.

A new minor melody follows the melody of the timer.

The classical arrangement is pushed aside and modern midi sounds naturally take its place.

Viewers were perplexed because it was impossible to not know this much.

-What song is this?

-Isn’t Timer your debut song?

no.

Their debut songs that kicked off the popularity of domestic music that perfectly suited the tastes of the KPOP fandom are numerous.

[Even if I memorize it forever

I'm not sick of it hold on to me

Leave it here]

'Wish'

The story of a ghost forever trapped in a midnight school eats away at the timer.

Like eating it.

Every time the timer's riff melody comes on Wish's beat presses down like it's being squeezed.

And like a block the choreography changes.

[The picture sparkles]

[The sound of the prey breathing on a hunting night

I am the one who grants wishes]

As if to block Jin Chae-yul's movement in the refrain of the timer Cha Yu-jin catches the dance center with her eyes shining.

In the timer part members who intentionally had fewer parts come to the forefront.

The beat gradually becomes faster and more intense and the movements of the choreography become more violent as if the movement is being pushed roughly.

Hunting night.

A chilling high-pitched sound surges.

[Ohohohoh-]

A dark and powerful voice beneath it

[Make me enhanced

Make me better

[Come-in]

The moment when the outstretched hands and stopping movements are captured.

The song ends.

A figure coming forward from the center lowering its raised hand into the air.

[one

two three

Now grant my wish]

Neat attire.

The line of movement solidifies into a pyramid shape with Shin Jaehyun turning around with a smile after arranging the fabric with his fingers.

However his back row is still looking forward. And open your mouth.

[Woo… Woo…]

A cappella sounds like jeers.

The bell rings in the red midnight school.

[Ding-]

The upper body shakes to the rhythm.

[Dong-]

The lights went out.

[…g]

The opening stage ended with only the sound of a bell remaining on the dark stage.

Soon the MC's comment sounds through the VCR for the next stage but…

-???

-What song is this now?? Someone please answer

-It was thrilling.

-What did I just see?

Viewers' reactions could not keep up with the flow and were filled with astonishment.

-? I went to the bathroom why is the mood like this?

After the live broadcast on this day was over there was a 10-minute voting period for half the audience and half the viewers.

Wishes performed well by finishing in 2nd place from the bottom.

* * *

Before leaving work I stopped by the bathroom and on the way back I scrolled through my smartphone screen in the hallway.

Every time I turn the page the story of this group pops up.

The main keyword is embarrassment.

-Is this how Wishz usually performs?

The stage of 'Timer' which was aimed at the music source was intentionally designed to be easy to follow and easy to watch.

This means that the main focus was not to shock people with insanely high difficulty or to have a strong jaw-dropping force and a feeling that caught attention to the point of embarrassment.

It's just a stage where you can feel good and show off your talent.

Therefore the public perceived Wish's long term and route as the 'public-friendly T-holic line'.

But I realized it through this performance.

This group's aspirations.

-This guy's entertainment show was really a side job.

Surprisingly it's true. I nodded while looking at the best comment.

-No it's not a scam? Do this on a live broadcast〉?? Hahahahaha

-Wow how did you get the timing right for this? You're all good wow crazy live…

-I didn't expect the minor sensibility to reach this level but it's attractive. Was this what your original debut felt like?

While such reactions were pouring in from the entertainment community that was interested in idols general viewers also added.

It's so good that it feels a bit repulsive and the rapid response of surprise is the main one.

Besides this is not an ordinary program.

-It was a refreshing performance. Perhaps because they are young people they know how to take on challenges. I have seen geniuses.

-I never thought the opening would end like this~~It was great!

-With such talent you must have suffered from a heartless company that only puts out entertainment shows. I'm really good at singing and dancing.

A long-standing contest program.

Because viewers who had already reached a large number of viewers were hoping for a more intense and stimulating contest stage.

I think this was just the right stimulus to the eyes of these people who after watching over 100 episodes have come to see most things as clichés.

Stage-wise and narrative-wise.

'This is because the good guy is the good guy.'

Thanks to this it is good to see that the overwhelming majority have changed their stance.

'good.'

I nodded and turned off the internet. I thought that if I published all the articles tomorrow I would be able to boost the group's image without any problems.

Now it's time to go in stretch out and sleep for more than 6 hours for the first time in a while…

“Uh over there.”

“yes?”

When I turn my head I see a familiar face…

‘hmm.’

This bastard… who was it?

‘Ah you’re a Tea Holic.’

However the reason I don’t know is that he is a withdrawn member.

I’m sorry but in reality it’s been a while since you left the group. Well I should have had a chance to see his face.

I quickly bowed and said hello like a rookie. The guy nodded.

“I enjoyed the stage. “I prepared very hard but I deserved to come in second place!”

“thank you.”

I politely held the hand he held out. Then a look somewhere between disregard and caution passed through his eyes.

“I think it would be cool to release the next comeback song with that kind of stage feel. Wishes seems to be the best at that.”

Fuck popularity?

Well this guy probably doesn’t know that the rookie doesn’t have the authority to decide that.

I guess he just felt bad about losing so he deliberately wandered around our waiting room to be treated like a senior.

‘oh.’

Is this a guy who knows how to abuse power?

How about it anyway? He’s going to retire in a few years anyway.

I smiled inwardly and nodded.

“Oh thank you.”

“is it so. okay. “I hope we can see you again on our next entertainment show.”

“Oh yeah.”

Still should I be a little discouraged?

My waiting room door is right in front of me but I don’t feel very good about not being able to leave work. Would you mind shutting up and getting out of the way?

But suddenly the door opens.

Sweet.

And then a guy dressed in civilian clothes comes out.

Cheongnyeo.

“hello. “Senior.”

“Ah Jaehyun. Welcome back. okay.”

He’s the leader and I guess he knows better than the others by saying hello to them.

‘Shall I skip it and go in?’

I rarely looked at the guy who was walking with joy.

The person who left T-Holic chews his mouth.

“You always have a good attitude. “If you want it to last long you have to keep doing it.”

“I always respect you.”

“Okay okay.”

Meaning and confidence that you will never leave this position. And hubris.

‘I wonder if it’s a bit meh.’

That was the moment I was about to open my mouth.

First Cheongryeo slowly opened his mouth.

“But it can’t be at its peak forever. “Both groups and people.”

“…!”

Shin Jae-hyun immediately smiled and looked at the T-holic guy.

It means you won’t last longer than me.

‘…that guy.’

It was Mac.

But that guy… I never thought I’d see him say something like that out loud.

-It’s the prime time because the prime time is over.

I remembered what I said to that guy earlier.

And the defector's face became increasingly red and he began to look with a straight face.

"You now…"

"Oh my brother you're here!"

At that moment a bright voice intervened again.

The guy who came running from around the corner was another member of T-Holic.

"The manager was looking for me. Ah Wishes people."

The youngest of T-Holic the owner of 'Party in me' which I did during my first evaluation of 〈Azusa〉 narrowed his eyes.

"I really enjoyed the stage. "Let's compete in good faith so that we can be seen on broadcasting stations for a long time!"

"no. "We dare not compete…"

"You're even humble."

No if we go back to reality it means we can't compete because of the generation gap. At that point it is an attack on the elderly.

Anyway the guy seemed to be smiling a little like he was being kind but he quickly corrected his expression.

"Thank you~ Now bro let's go!"

T-Holic's youngest member disappeared dragging the one who was about to leave the group.

"…"

I looked at Cheongnyeo. The guy shrugged his shoulders and smiled slightly.

“Well how do you feel about what you said being quoted?”

“I just need to know.”

“haha!”

I left the laughing guy behind and opened the door to the waiting room.

So all conditions were met.

Now comes target season.

* * *

“Hello viewers~”

Lee Se-jin of the group Gylob who held the microphone on the side of the MC seat at the awards ceremony smiled and greeted.

He who received rave reviews for his dyed black hair is standing here thanks to his steady group activities and outstanding individual performance this year.

Of course one of the reasons was that he was one of the few qualified people who could watch the live broadcast well but there were circumstances that the company did not know.

‘…I think it will work out well though.’

Lee Se-jin is here to prepare for any unexpected situation.

For planning and operations.

‘Oh I’ve tried all these things.’

Although he secretly swallowed his saliva out of nervousness he smiled casually and raised his head.

“The <Lemon Music Awards> is coming to an end!”

The year-end awards ceremony has begun.

Chapter 411

“I am happy to share meaningful news here today.”

Lee Se-jin’s presentation of the awards ceremony was flawless. Even people who were talking about age and seniority became quiet once the awards ceremony got underway.

In addition the group he belonged to also won an award and produced a good picture.

“Performance Award… Gylob!”

-Ohhhhh

-Lee Se-jin is he crazy walking out of the MC’s seat? He’s so cool. Put on a stuffed suit.

-LOL It’s cute how the kids join in and say hello.

Lee Se-jin grinned as he joined the surrounding members on the podium.

When the ‘brothers’ make eye contact they quickly smile. It was a sincere response that clearly showed that he was paying close attention.

‘Yes I’m doing well.’

It was worth it.

This is because as soon as Lee Se-jin regained her reality tester self she showed the members a true taste of reality.

First of all the day I dyed my hair and returned home.

-Hey~ What are you?

-Lee Se-jin I do whatever I want ol~

Finally Lee Se-jin grinned and said to the guys who had their noses in their smartphones without even giggling or at least reacting that this guy was like this too.

-Oh… are you laughing?

-…?!

-But the answer is correct. Wow I'm going to do as I want just like you said!

Then I went to the company and informed them that I had dyed my hair.

This is exactly what I proposed as a trade to a company that was frightened by unexpected situations and was torn between child care and corporal punishment.

-Huh? Everyone was comfortable so I thought it would be okay for me too. I had to report it~

Members' deviant behavior.

From octopus foot dating tricks to secret account club networking lines.

Originally Gyrop's Lee Se-jin detonated with a bomb what he had grasped as much as possible while clenching his teeth in order to resolve the matter.

-no…!

-Do you see the conversation history here?

No matter how good your grades are it's only been 3 years. Of course the company was shocked and took action to resolve the issue.

Emergency bells ringing to strengthen surveillance on every move of mobile phones and the tight management system just before debut has kicked the members' butts again!

And of course the members were furious at Lee Se-jin.

It is basic to tacitly tolerate and keep quiet within the team but to dare to come out like this was an unacceptable act of betrayal.

How dare you be the youngest in a group?

-Did you turn around?

-hey.

However Sejin Lee grinned without blinking.

-Is this a threat? Oh I have to post on social media that I'm leaving because I can't stand the threats and bullying from my brothers!

-…?!

And then I really turn on my social media account and start writing without hesitation.

Even the details of selecting and attaching emotional photos quoting depressing poems such as 'The Lonely Stranger'.

It's scary at this point.

-Are you crazy you bastard?

-I don't know~ I guess so!

It's even scarier because the person who was originally the youngest and most active in society suddenly changes his mind and becomes a psychotic bastard who can't communicate.

It was a crazy meta.

-Wait a minute.

-Oh please… No.

It took less than a day for the members overwhelmed by the unpredictable situation to declare surrender.

-Wow~ Club! Well you dance in the practice room or in the club that's it right? I'll post a proof photo on social media that I'm practicing really hard at my brother's club!

-Oh okay. wait for a sec.

'oh'

Kkangpan was the answer. It was a low-dimensional cider that Lee Se-jin who had adapted well to society all her life and spent her life without blushing as much as possible felt for the first time in her life.

'This is it.'

Lee Se-jin was almost tempted for a moment by the thrill of doing something with no future but he soon smiled and shrugged.

'It's cool but it's not my type.'

So I ended up doing it the way I was good at.

After that over the next 15 days I worked on it whenever I was alone with the members.

-brother.

-Uh… I just need to go to the bathroom for a moment.

-Yes yes. Actually you're not that strange of a person. I am like this because I am so disappointed in the other members.

And specifically he gives examples of derailment that never apply to the member in question as if lamenting them.

-Honestly dating like an octopus… No the day you make a mistake is too big of a blow. Does that make sense?

-… Yeah that bastard crossed a line.

-yes. I don't want to disappoint you but let's do our best. We need to maintain popularity.

-… Oh uh-uh.

Even though he was a trainee in his early 20s it wasn't long before he debuted and it wasn't a task to make good guys change their attitude.

'He's a scary crazy guy but we get along well and I'm a close friend.'

Everyone was made to have this illusion.

After that it was all smooth sailing.

Isn't this board the result of the combination of crazy whippings that seem to not discriminate among friends and carrots that only seem to be given to me?

A balanced situation in which each side monitors the other and tries to win Lee Se-jin's favor.

"thank you. "We will continue to work hard!"

In the end this year without being hit by a rush of fans leaving I moved with a lot of spirit and won the award.

'Ah~ I worked properly.'

Lee Se-jin looked back on her past activities and felt refreshed. And the faces of the members were confirmed.

‘Really… Where did these guys debut?’

There was a time when I thought I couldn’t debut because I lacked the positioning or charm as an idol compared to these guys.

Now that I look at it I wonder if I misunderstood it because I was young…

‘If you debuted after beating me do it right.’

I thought it was a well-deserved award and wanted to work hard.

‘I’m going back anyway!’

He concluded reassuringly. Of course on the way there… I didn’t know I’d be backing things up like this.

‘under.’

Keun Se-jin became a little dizzy thinking about what would happen later but his face was still smiling and he returned to the MC seat after giving his speech.

“thank you!”

“Congratulations Sejin~”

The other two hosts applaud. Lee Se-jin bowed his head sadly and showed a happy expression.

“Now that I think about it the next presenter is someone Sejin knows well.”

“ah.”

It’s coming out slowly.

Big Sejin pretended not to know and smiled curiously.

“Wow who is this? “Can I meet you now?”

“sure.”

“This is the Rookie of the Year Award.”

The electronic signboard behind me opens and someone I know walks out.

“This is Lee Se-jin the actor of ＜Seahorse＞ and ＜Dialing＞.”

It was Bae Se-jin who would present the awards alone.

Anyone who saw a well-dressed member looked like an actor.

But Big Se-jin knew that if that person wore idol styling he would look like an idol again.

“hello. As a listener who enjoys listening to KPOP I am very excited and honored to be standing here.”

The obvious awards ceremony script continues. However the vocalization is good and sounds natural due to the nature of the job.

“At some point I think KPOP became a hobby and daily life that I felt very close to.”

He even glances back at the host table and says something like this.

“I think it’s even more so because among the idols there are people with the same name as me.”

Big Sejin smiled and nodded. Laughter and applause erupted from the audience.

As expected he is really good at acting with a script. Even if that’s not the case… he’s also a hard-working person.

‘hmm.’

Big Sejin admitted it. Bae Se-jin is not a person who has no passion for work or is insincere.

The problem is that it doesn't suit you but whatever.

'That's it… If you keep doing it it might get better.'

Rarely Big Sejin gave a generous evaluation to an interpersonal relationship that had already been ruined.

You can't say there was no gyroscope effect.

"I will make an announcement."

And the winner of the Rookie Award whom Bae Se-jin called out with a faint smile was Wishz.

-Escape from Deokgye Pond!

-Congratulations Lee Se-jin hahaha

And although his acting skills were not at all noticeable he also knew how things would proceed.

'…'

Bae Se-jin watched with a strange feeling as the suspicious Wishes said thank you.

And Eun Se-jin guessed what the person with the same name was thinking. I said the same thing.

'…Reminds me of the old days.'

Of course I'm not talking about when Gyrop was riding but when Testa was riding.

He looked away and smiled.

‘I want to go back quickly.’

Because there are only proven people in that group the stage is so good.

I didn’t want to feel like my place was becoming unclear again.

[Should I turn back the timer and go to the past?]

As he watched Wishes’ performance right after winning the Rookie of the Year award he endured a strange feeling not knowing whether it was anticipation or anxiety.

And after some time had passed.

After advertisements and several performances the announcer standing next to him reads the long-awaited cue card.

* * *

[This award is the Song of the Year Award.]

“Whoa.”

This is almost the end of part 2. I sat down in the singer’s seat and checked my surroundings.

From Testa to the VTIC guys.

Fortunately there is no one with a mark on his face.

[Brother I’m so nervous.]

You… I can’t see your face so you can be as nervous as you want.

Anyway the target is finally called.

Perhaps because they wanted to give it to the singer with the lowest name the Song of the Year Award is given out first.

'It's obvious.'

It's Wishes.

[If you would like to help with the award ceremony…]

And then the presenter opens the door and enters…

Isn't that Sun Ah-hyun?

[This is Kim Nan-joo director of the Korea Music Record Foundation and ballerina Seon A-hyeon.]

what.

As I watched the guy in the suit walk in I suddenly realized that I had already heard the guy talk in passing.

-I heard that I've been invited to an awards ceremony… I might be able to see it…!

No I thought it was ToneA. Usually it's what T1 guys do to try to boost the name value of the award ceremony by inviting names from other arts fields.

So naturally I passed it on and said 'I'll see you later when I see it.'

'…It's actually better that the relevant person came to the meeting.'

Because you never know what unexpected situation might happen.

I stopped Cha Yu-jin who was trying to wave to Sun Ah-hyun and focused my gaze on the podium.

[hello.]

Seon Ah-hyun who entered with an older woman named Lee smiles and listens to Lee's words and only towards the end does she open her mouth.

I guess they handed over all the promotional and other comments.

Announcement of winners.

[Lemon Music Awards Song of the Year Award. The winner is…]

The guy smiled brightly when our eyes met.

[Congratulations. Wishes…!]

Wow!!

The venue is filled with cheers screams and celebration.

Each member exchanges a hug and a pat on the shoulder.

At first glance it may seem like an expression of emotion but it is actually more an expression of determination.

"Let's go Mundae hyung."

"okay."

Cha Yu-jin pats me on the back. I headed straight to the podium.

'You can't be late.'

When we go up to the stage Sun Ah-hyun smiles and hands us a bouquet of flowers.

Take it and leave the trophy to someone else

I stood right in front of the microphone. And then I looked back at Cheongryeo.

“…”

Right after.

The guy nods his head slightly.

It was a signal.

I immediately opened my mouth in front of a standing microphone.

“hello everyone.”

I can feel other guys standing in formation right behind me.

A moment filled with tension.

“Let’s get straight to the point.”

I opened my mouth as clearly as I could without taking a deep breath.

“I’m retiring.”

“…?!”

“Without reversal. completely.”

I continued speaking.

“I will exclude all cases in which entertainment industry activities will gain recognition or fame.”

There is no rebuttal coming from behind my back.

Tacit consent of all.

For this purpose VTIC was awakened. If you become a party without knowing anything you will be embarrassed.

Uh huh? Huh?

However underneath the stage chaos and fear erupt.

“This is a declaration of retirement.”

The audience was filled with screams and confusion. The production crew are busy running around in front of it or hastily giving autographs to the stage and staff.

I looked down at it with an expressionless expression.

One person hurriedly finds a sketchbook or something and scribbles on his knees.

-What is this?

But before the sentence was even completed.

The audience seat.

The stage the podium the lights the air is hot.

Everything stops.

-…

And what fills my vision is… a hologram.

It’s a status window.

[Ending]

[New Chapter Creation]

[Settling]

[cancellation]

[Ending]

[New Chapter Creation]

[Settling]

[cancellation]

…

The status window explodes again. Just like on an airplane!

‘okay.’

Done!

I gritted my teeth and saw an infinitely repeating pattern that was endlessly reproduced.

I remember when I planned this.

-If you want to get out quickly I think it would be better to try a different method.

Cheongnyeo showed off one of her skills.

-There is an error reporting function.

And the presupposed meaning there is…

-Errors may occur.

Isn’t there a need to create a function that reports something that doesn’t exist?

From there we made a plan.

We plan to create errors that will make progress completely impossible.

-Can you know exactly when the quest will be completed?

-That's right.

-Then give me a signal.

At the point of clearing the game essential elements for progression are removed.

'Activity invalidated.'

If you do it before clearing the clearing will simply fail. And if you do it after clearing it it doesn't mean much. Because I already cleared it.

But if you do it at the same time…

'It's a contradiction.'

It's a collision.

-So if there is an error in the algorithm…

-It's bouncing.

Just an error.

A huge bug occurs.

[Error: Undefined.]

[※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※]

[※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※※]

[Time remaining until program auto-stop: @#$!.]

I twisted my mouth as I watched the letters change on all the holograms.

Auto stop.

‘The program crashes.’

As GM Cheongryeo also has no authority to recover in this situation.

‘In that case there is a high probability that the game world will collapse and return to reality due to overload.’

I prepared.

And then I really start to lose my mind.

A vague sense of floating envelops my brain as if I’m about to wake up…

That moment.

[——.]

Something hits my brain.

Very huge.

Uuuuuung-!

“…!!”

I bit my tongue in excruciating shock. Instead of a floating feeling there is a vibration.

The problem is that it’s… something that makes sense.

Power without words to express one’s opinion.

The meaning is

-Is it a mistake?

And immediately after the stage is erased.

Like a graphic the podium is erased and the stage structure disappears.

Next is the production crew and audience seats.

Even the light of the light stick.

Everything disappears leaving behind a world with only vague and abstract structures.

And the voice is heard again.

[I use this expression often.]

A voice like I’ve heard before somewhere.

It expresses itself in a sound that seems to be humming in a dream.

[System.]

[Do you use that kind of title?]

I clenched my fists.

It was a system.

Chapter 412

My head feels cold.

This thing I know I call myself a system.

How much do you know? No before that…

‘…You can talk?’

Was this communication possible?

[You are questioning my existence.]

The world where only the outline remains is distorted every time a sound is heard.

An enormous presence fills the space creating an enormous pressure that cannot be withstood by a small creature…

‘shut up.’

What the fuck are you saying?

The number of parasites that use human hosts must be quite enormous. Don’t get involved needlessly and come to your senses.

I chewed the inside of my mouth. I felt like the pain was coming back to my senses.

A soft voice hums in the air.

[Don’t you like it here?]

[I thought it was well made.]

It is a very human vocabulary. That gives me even more goosebumps.

“Did you make it?”

[okay.]

[This kind of behavior… can be described as receiving feedback.]

thud.

The space is swirling.

The frame emerges and soon even the vague shapes and traces disappear and become discolored.

All that remains is a colorless space.

[What is lacking?]

But I am here.

I chewed my tongue and opened my mouth.

“There’s a lot to be said for someone who is lacking naive and defrauding someone else’s parents.”

My will fluctuates. I don’t know if it’s agitation or laughter but I feel bad all the same.

I straightened my body and stood facing straight ahead.

My legs are shaking.

However it does not move even if you apply force.

“It can’t be good… and come out.”

I said calmly.

“I have no intention of talking into space anymore.”

A moment of silence.

A slow languid will resonates.

[That’s the procedure.]

And I now know where the comment ‘I think I’ve heard this before somewhere’ comes from.

“…!”

It appeared suddenly.

It did not fall from the sky or rise from the ground.

It just appeared out of the blue like it was supposed to.

Before my eyes.

[hi.]

It looks familiar.

A man in his early to mid 20s who has managed his height to the limit.

Cheongnyeo.

The guy is wearing a black uniform. The outfit that VTIC wore on the first stage of their famous Horn comeback 6 years ago.

The system smiles and nods looking like something out of the days when I was selling data.

Shin Jaehyun in his prime at VTIC was standing there.

Just as creepy.

‘Fuck you.’

[I chose an appearance that is close to you.]

The only difference is the pigment.

It is white without pigment as if it belongs to a colorless space.

“…”

I raised my head again feeling cold sweat running down my spine.

[Now let’s talk.]

The sound rings. The ever-larger presence fills even the invisible void without leaving a single gap.

[This is an offer only for you.]

But it is soft. As if it were a really good offer.

The system declared.

[I will accept your feedback in this world.]

“…!”

what.

[Would you like to adjust the age and era situation to your preference? Should I change my affiliation? Or… should I return it to Park Moon-dae’s body?]

“…!”

[Almost anything is theoretically possible in the environment settings as long as you voice your opinion. As long as the government allows it.]

I kept my mouth shut.

The voice waves more cleverly.

[There are people close to you here. You woke me up. There is nothing lacking.]

[Still if you're missing something I'll let you purchase it.]

If you buy it.

[With reputation value (Exp).]

reputation level.

A currency that serves as experience points in this game system.

[The usage has been limited so far but from now on we will be releasing more. Because it's a new chapter.]

The system talks about updates.

[Let's implement it more perfectly for parents too. Since it was a prototype it was inadequate this time.]

You crazy bastard.

[You are refusing. Even so… it's the same conditions as before. yes?]

…I didn't have parents in the first place so you're saying that?

I definitely recognized it.

This bastard is not human. It's not just a matter of appearance; they don't understand emotions at all.

At best he doesn't recognize the problem at all which even Cheongnyeo understood.

'Don't get caught up.'

I took a short deep breath.

'Calm down.'

What I have to do.

It is about finding out information.

"Why are you suggesting this?"

Ask questions that are neither positive nor negative.

"Are you just trying to please me because I might go out and try to get rid of you again? "What do you want?"

[—]

The world shakes again. I knew what it meant.

It's a mockery.

Suddenly a high-pressure vibration comes down like a needle from a high place and turns into a voice.

[I have only one request.]

The system raises its finger.

[Idol.]

The person who is the embodiment of that profession moves his mouth.

[Don’t retire and just continue being an idol. Until you get sick of it.]

[It’s a choice that is neither difficult nor difficult.]

I deliberately chuckled.

“You’re laughing.”

[…]

“Suggestion? If it were me I would kill him right away. “There are so many people who want to become idols.”

From the moment this bastard started talking I intentionally scratched him with increasing intensity but he never said he was going to kill me.

How about this?

“Aren’t you doing this because you can’t kill me?”

I declared.

The system stands still.

“I…”

[You can’t kill me?]

A plain voice rings out.

And suddenly.

The world pours out.

right

right

yes-

The pressure of the deep sea presses down on a person as if the pressure is suddenly and extremely heavy pressing down on the head and brain and squeezing the entire body.

The system is this world.

The world he constructed asks.

[You can't kill me?]

Damn you bastard.

I feel like my body is burning with cold sweat and heat. But I answered by asking my teeth. Rather I knew for sure.

"okay!"

You're overreacting because you can't kill him.

'I was shaken.'

Sting here.

"and you… what it looks like now."

I remembered the big moon that was assimilated into the status window.

It seemed like he had been influenced and absorbed into the system almost unilaterally. But at the same time they had influence on the system.

then

"I didn't choose it."

This cub has been cleansed for a very long time and lived countless times.

Raw without a status window.

then

“Isn’t that all you can do?”

I shouted.

“I wonder if it’s because you too are influenced by people.”

The world stopped.

and.

[that’s right.]

The vibration of the voice disappeared.

I took a deep breath.

The system mutters in an almost human-sounding sound.

[If you are involved in one mind for a long time you become buried. It’s a big side effect…]

[But what I got was bigger and it was a successful direction.]

For a moment I felt like I could hear joy in the system’s voice.

‘Fuck you.’

I straightened up and asked again.

“What are you?”

[I have been here for a long time.]

[In the minds of intelligent beings.]

It's a parasite fuck.

[It fulfills the aspirations of an intelligent being and the intense emotions and chaos produced in the process are resources. Mental energy.]

[That energy sustains and grows my intellect.]

Speak in a flashy manner. I swallowed.

"Then why are you an idol?"

Why are you emphasizing that?

Moreover it doesn't seem like a coincidence that three people from Cheongryeo to Kwon Hee-seung are working as idols in a row.

"On what basis did you choose us?"

The system smiles like a picture.

[Because there has never been anything so efficient.]

Efficiency?

The guy who raised his hand speaks like a well-mannered salesman.

[I searched for energy like that for a very long time… Then I met a new entity.]

Cheongnyeo.

The desire and obsession for becoming a successful idol group.

[For such a direct and vast torrent of living emotions to gather in one intelligent being.]

[Overwhelming envy the burden of being crushed to death happiness pain the king and the clown. Innumerable emotions worthy of the leader of the religious sect.]

[I harvested so much energy.]

"…"

There was heat in his voice as if he was drunk.

But not in a humane way. The system speaks clearly.

[How much worship affection hatred and disgust your identity which means idol receives at the same time.]

[It's really… a great object.]

[It was very good. But it's over.]

This is because Cheongryeo eventually succeeded in ending the status abnormality.

[So I looked for a similar intelligence.]

me.

[you.]

[You were great too.]

"…"

The guy held out his hand.

[You were happy. I know.]

[We'll be doing this here forever. Live as the most famous idol in this country and this world until you get sick of it. And if you make a mistake if you feel like you'll fall again if you see the end do it again.]

[Eternal star!]

Click.

A shining light flashes in a world where there was nothing.

[Until that day when you are sick and tired you can live a successful life.]

And whisper again.

[But in the end if you feel like quitting everything it's okay to quit.]

If we can find the next host

[You can only enjoy this right until then. As much as you want.]

The world shines.

A strange overwhelming feeling comes over me as if everything will be fine if I accept this.

As if a perfect world would be created that accommodates only the strengths of reality.

I looked at the system which had already regained its color and asked.

"What about Kwon Hee-seung?"

[…]

"What happens to that guy?"

The light of the world disappears.

And then I hear a soft voice.

[The server acts as a server.]

[That's someone else's business that has nothing to do with you. There is countless death and suffering in the world. It is not a matter for you personally to worry about.]

okay?

[Still if you want you can make it here…]

"Just like my parents."

I spoke in a low voice.

"Really you are using it as a server."

[—.]

affirmation.

I interpreted the vibration as not even a voice.

And I ask again.

"Is this a dream Kwon Hee-seung is having?"

[It's not like that.]

The voice returns.

[But it becomes solid only when it is based on the mental structure of the medium. What you need to make it a reality not a dream is a server.]

[That's all.]

[Nothing will change no matter what choice you make it's just someone else's situation that won't affect your decision.]

The system reaches out again.

White hands with clear joints feel powerful and overwhelming. As if everything would come true. I opened my mouth.

"I refuse."

[…]

"I don't do business with things I don't trust."

The vibration stopped.

White noise that feels like arithmetic.

worry.

result.

[then.]

[I guess we should change roles.]

The system speaks quietly.

"…!!"

I felt myself melting.

'Fuck you.'

The body that had a shape slowly disappears and the sense of touch slowly disappears.

In a strange situation where only sight and hearing are left the sound is buzzing.

[I have to make you my server.]

[and…]

In a world where everything is blurred one outline becomes clear.

And just like that Inyoung appears again.

“…”

Really cool.

The guy whose outlines are much clearer than the system is unfazed by the sudden situation and stares straight ahead.

Two people with the same appearance face each other in the same posture as if looking in a mirror.

[You were watching right? I’ll suggest it right away.]

[It would be more efficient for you to play directly instead of being a GM. Ryu Geon-woo is uncooperative to play the character role.]

The same tone and voice system speaks.

[If you use the server well there will be no further side effects. Let’s live the perfect idol life you want forever.]

[It is your most core desire.]

Cheongnyeo lowered her head to the side.

And answered.

“no.”

At that moment he activates the GM's authority.

A relative window appears for me.

'…Plan B'

-There has to be an alternative.

That's right.

Other error-causing methods I had planned in case things went wrong.

-What if I could retrieve all the memories distorted by the system?

-From the very beginning… from the memories that were cut off when entering Park Moon-dae's body.

Awakening returns forgotten memories of previous lives.

[The awakened companion remembers the previous timeline and grows.]

And there are two forms.

Awakening the first companion.

This is the method I have used so far to return memories to other people.

'And the second.'

Awakening myself.

[Would you like to awaken?]

-Use Exp 1000

I pressed the button.

Pour all your reputation points into it.

-Use Exp 2000

-Use Exp 4000

-Use Exp 8000

-Use Exp 16000

-Use Exp 32000

-Use Exp 64000

…

roll.

Chapter 413

There was a phenomenon that occurred every time a colleague was awakened.

It's pain.

It's about holding your head and stumbling feeling dizzy pain in your temples and retrieving memories pouring out of you.

A similar thing happened to me.

The only problem is that it overlapped more than 20 times.

'Damn it.'

I felt a burning pain in my head as I remembered the last item I had seen where my reputation was nearly depleted.

When I see pain even though my body has melted I think that this strange world where only the skeleton remains is all a show.

And the memories poured out all at once like a dam had broken.

-…!

Parents' accident fire college entrance camera dog studio apartment credits heating relatives field trip debut data workbook…

The past overlaps layer upon layer pounding into my head like an echo.

'Fuck you.'

I felt sick like I was going to throw up.

But that doesn't mean there was no harvest.

'ah.'

also.

I smiled bitterly as I checked on my father who was an office worker and my mother who was an academy instructor.

…I liked it because it was clear.

And the next thing that comes to mind as if breaking my head is the memory of Gold 2.

Heeseung Kwon.

-Ah… it's really my life!

He was a positive guy who lived hard.

Of course it didn't stop there. The shock of awakening overlaps and overlaps… and goes even further back.

'Wook.'

It felt like my internal organs were being twisted but my mind was as clear as if I was literally awake.

And around the time when Park Moon-dae was dizzyingly thinking over and over again the picture of him waking up in an old motel where he collapsed after taking sleeping pills.

Click.

Finally the overflowing flow of memories rewinds back to before the film stopped.

A life I forgot right before I entered Park Moon-dae's body.

When I came back from the reading room and met Park Moon-dae sitting in front of a motel.

-Thank you… brother.

Still there wasn't much change there. The scene I saw in the last 'Truth Confirmation' was just a reflection of my memory.

The problem has completely evaporated from me over the years.

It is the period after the civil service examination.

-i look forward to.

I gave up preparing for the exam and got a job but ended up working for a decent mid-sized company without much vision.

I think I did a good job but that's it. There was so much to do and every day I had to deal with inefficient work until night.

A life that does not allow for any solution no leisure or financial situation.

Then I developed a quick and simple habit to relieve my headaches.

It's a field I know well because I can look at it in a short amount of time it doesn't cost any extra money and it's deeply related to what I used to do to make money.

'Idol.'

Before going to bed I just watched whatever I could find on video sites. It was useful because I didn't have to use a single ounce of energy.

I wasn't impressed by the content itself. Since I am no longer selling data there is no need to analyze it.

It wasn't a bad feeling to just do something different.

Then I also saw this group.

〈Re-listing! A group that originally debuted in Idol Co. Ltd.

Steer not testa.

[STier – 'Launch' Official MV]

Due to the disorganized drug trial of a withdrawn member and the split personal fandom due to rumors of discord it was only around the time I got a job that I finally broke the hiatus and made a comeback once in a while.

Still there was no twist.

This group has already stopped growing and is stagnant.

[STier Cha Yu-jin Kim Rae-bin and Ryu Cheong-woo begin unit activities]

In the end more than half of the members ceased their activities.

So the remaining three were working as a unit but the atmosphere was not very good. The album sold pretty well and the songs were good but that's it.

The never-ending controversies have already damaged the company's image and undermined its public favorability.

There is no more topicality or growth than that.

It is just a huge cruise ship that is slowly sinking while holding the weight class raised by Azusa.

-The song is okay.

-You're still doing well. Fighting.

The response ended with a few moderate comments.

Compared to the time of debut the bubble has already burst.

but.

I unconsciously narrowed the wide viewing range that I had been passing through aimlessly to focusing on these guys.

Instead… a little deeper.

It's not that I was interested in each individual or had any special fan feelings. I just casually looked into the group.

Maybe it was because it seemed similar to my situation.

A problem of the overall situation.

Now no matter what we do we are in a situation where there is no clear solution or way to achieve a rebound.

A life that simply runs to maintain the status quo.

'The environment itself is not good.'

Investment has been reduced and the planning and care of a hastily built new agency are poor.

Nevertheless the fact that he consistently came out and performed on stage with his teeth clenched was strangely eye-catching.

And suddenly I felt like it was a waste.

'I?'

I soon forgot that my nose had grown three years old. Nevertheless it was the first time I had checked one idol group so intensively for quite a long time.

Of course it didn't last.

After some time.

[Steer activity ends…"I want to convey my gratitude and love"]

Naturally Steer was disbanded at the end of the five-year contract.

There was no other news from the few people who worked particularly hard perhaps because they did not see a very good result from the beginning to the end.

That was the conclusion.

That there is nothing left.

"…"

After that my short hobby of watching idols ended.

'There's nothing to see.'

Anyway at that time seeing other idols didn't give me a similar feeling.

It was funny. At the very least that feeling of relief disappeared thanks to the group that I wasn't a fan of and didn't go to film in person.

And that life ended as planned as I felt suspiciously tired and bothered by everything.

The short reprieve disappeared from memory just like that.

Because I entered Park Moon-dae's body in a past state where I was confused about who was debuting.

'But maybe a trace remained.'

I suddenly remembered this.

This is what I thought as soon as I woke up in Park Moon-dae's body.

-At one point I even became unnecessarily overly immersed in this field.

'…I guess so.'

Was it a remnant of that time that I inadvertently felt that way even though I had no specific memories?

I raised my head.

The reason this memory was not shown in the truth check is probably because the system arbitrarily omitted it.

Maybe it wasn't a great intention. I probably thought it had nothing to do with my trauma.

It was cut because it was thought to be 'not necessary for the continued survival of the host.'

Even Keoldal probably couldn't have predicted something like this.

'therefore.'

It seems that the system still doesn't know that there are memories that affect the human mind even if they are not traumas.

'Those things are usually called memories.'

I burst out laughing at the unfamiliar sentence.

The pain in my head soon subsided. It was proof that the memory had fully settled in.

My head is clear.

Originally I had hopes that the system would be free from its grip if I completely eliminated all the crap it had put on my mind but it wasn't to that extent.

‘I didn’t come to my senses right away and avoided becoming a server.’

That’s enough. Preparations for plan B are complete.

‘Big moon.’

gave a signal

The chat started as if we had been waiting.

[Apple has been invited to ‘Error”s gold chat room.]

[Error: Are you okay Mundae?]

An error that is not affected by the system Sun Ah-hyun reacts immediately.

I entered the chat.

[Apple: Yes. I’m going to do it now.]

I remember the meeting we had in that chat room to prepare for any possible leaks.

-Apple: As everyone knows unnecessary reactions are prohibited.

And this idea started from an opinion expressed by Sun Ah-hyun.

-Error: Are you saying that because I made an error it will spread like a virus to people who enter this chat room?

-Error: Then wouldn’t we be able to use this to return everyone else to their original state?

-RAB: That’s a truly altruistic and wonderful idea but I’m worried that it will be difficult to contact everyone due to time and space constraints.

-Sejini: First of all I think it will be difficult since invitations cost gold.

It was a moment when it seemed like Sun Ah-hyun's opinion would be nullified.

-Tiger: Can't it be contagious to the whole world not just one person? Like a virus!

This seemingly random expression hits the nail on the head.

'Originally I was planning on getting out of the system for a while and handing this over to the GM directly to put it into the game.'

I don't think there's any need to go there. Isn't there a guy over there who happens to be the whole world of this place?

system.

[Character: Ryu Geon-woo (Park Moon-dae) leaves!]

Like Sun Ah-hyun in the timeline stopped by the GM I was able to move my body through the effect of being connected to the chat room.

"…!"

And then he fixed his gaze on the exterior of the two faces the two faces.

'Towards the colorless side.'

The last thing is action.

Invite him to a chat window full of errors.

'Can I specify it?'

Soon the big moon in the chat room crackles and responds.

[Keundall: Yes!]

good.

Soon text will appear in the chat window.

[■■■ has been invited to ‘Error”s gold chat room.]

‘okay!’

I clenched my fists. If things continue like this…

‘ah.’

At that moment the system turned its eyes towards me.

A new post appeared in the chat room.

[■■■: You prepared something like this]

“…!”

Crackling.

There is a crack in the chat room.

The window trembled as if it was withstanding great pressure…

puck!

It was completely destroyed.

Translucent holographic powder scatters and disappears with a glitch.

The system’s voice rings.

[You used your reputation again for this.]

[Thank you just before becoming a server.]

In this situation that statement… no way.

I opened my mouth trembling.

“Fame experience… is it the energy you collect?”

The system smiles kindly and nods.

[that’s right.]

[By spending your reputation points you pay me energy and become stronger in the game.]

The voice of the system grows louder.

[And this world becomes stronger. So that attacks from outside do not work.]

The chat room disappeared.

In a world where errors have been resolved the system smiles and stares at me instead of Cheongryeo.

[You were a character not a player. There is no autonomy to leave the game.]

“…”

The identity of the player displayed as ‘■■■’ in Cheongryeo’s GM status window.

[The player is me.]

[I am the creator and player and you are the composition of my game.]

[There is no game where a character can directly harm the player.]

The system finished explaining and nodded.

[And now that the system has been proven to be stable there is no need for auxiliary tools.]

[Let's stick to the plan.]

At that time for the first time a hint of humanity appeared in his eyes.

What the system that assimilated with Cheongnyeo and learned its most core desires at the time had…

Obsession with development and completion.

[ruler.]

He casually takes my status window.

And rips something off. Even though it is a soft touch it is so powerful that it looks menacing.

No to be exact… it was ripped off from itself.

The entire pop-up from Big Moon.

[for a moment…]

And swallowed it with his grasp.

"…!"

The big moon's pop-up crumples and disappears near the guy's fingers.

[Recovered.]

The system laughs softly.

And I…

I laughed along.

“hey.”

I let out the breath I had been holding.

The reason why he pushed and pushed and stimulated this guy’s sense of superiority and victory and brought the situation to this point.

“That guy is also an error.”

This is to prevent you from paying close attention.

Don’t let Geoldal know that he was infected with the error by accessing the chat window.

Let’s think about it.

‘This bastard was originally a parasite on one person.’

And Geoldal guaranteed that anyone who had already used it once would not be able to use it again.

But this time there was no suitable person around to stick around so there was no choice but to recycle it.

So we captured three people at the same time and turned them into brains in a vat creating something like a completely new virtual world.

Server administrator character.

So it appears to have been operated stably but thanks to that the days when he could solve everything on his own are over.

Because it is structured it can collapse if one cornerstone is missing. Like now.

“You have now made an error yourself.”

[…!]

The appearance of the system is shaken.

The abnormal phenomenon that started as a small glitch gradually grew in size engulfing the human form and spreading to the surrounding area.

The world is collapsing from within.

thud!

“hmm.”

The real Cheongnyeo who was standing still turns her head and pops up a status window.

“That’s interesting.”

[Player: Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)]

Meanwhile the appearance of the system changes.

[…brother.]

It’s a look you know.

It was the guy who came back to Park Moon-dae’s body at some point and talked to him in his mind.

Noise popped out of the mysterious hologram of Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae.

Chichik.

The big moon in its full form raised both hands and shouted.

[I… I really think I can move this??]

Done.

Chapter 414

The big moon swallowed up by the system suppressed the ego of the system and took the lead.

[Wow!]

I wiped the cold sweat from my chin and grinned.

“good job.”

[yes! This is it!?]

‘I thought it would be a success just to paralyze the system due to an error.’

In fact the moment you fail it’s over so this is no different from gambling. However he expressed his opinion that he would do it himself.

-[Hyung… Plan B.]

-[If the time comes that I have to write about that… how about I try to move the error myself?]

And I also admitted it to some extent.

Anyway if this guy returns to reality with the system still in place all that’s left is the absorption ending.

‘They say it becomes a status window as is.’

The reason I had the crazy idea of turning off the system on the plane in the first place was because I predicted that this guy would lose his body and become a status window. I won’t deny it.

Going back to reality something else was needed for that guy to live as Ryu Geon-woo.

For example completely disconnected from the system.

'Or else.'

-Make the system self-destruct.

Let's get rid of it this time.

I swallowed and asked quietly.

"How do you feel?"

[Uh oh…]

The guy who was looking at his own body in a daze and making the surrounding background distort and squirm raised his head as if checking.

And those holographic eyes suddenly glowed darkly.

[I think I can do anything.]

"…!"

As its body darkens the ambiguous world suddenly begins to become clear.

[In here… there is nothing unknown nothing impossible and if you can organize it properly all your wishes will flow naturally…]

I mutter. The background swirls around like it's being sucked in.

A star rises.

[…Hey brother I can do whatever you want.]

This won't work.

"If you stay here you know that Testa will be disbanded right? Even if I were to repeat everything from 'Magical Boy' to 'Savior' I wouldn't be as moved as I was when I first saw it."

[…! Of course I know! No what did I just do…]

The hologram sparks and the expression returns to Big Moon's face.

'I never thought I would spit out a sound that was so moving that I had never seen it before.'

It's funny that they tried to come to their senses with something like this but it worked because it worked.

Seeing Testa's comeback seemed to be the only joy I had in my career as a civil servant as I was in a state where I would fall apart if I didn't succeed.

'…I just remembered that I did something similar.'

I almost thought back to my time as an office worker watching Steer so the situation was more urgent than that.

[Oh this is weird! I feel like I just can't control myself. Wow such power…]

Anyway I had to finish it quickly because it might get stained. The system may recover from an error and come back.

"Okay let's do it quickly. "Do you remember what I said?"

[yes!]

The final plan is simple.

'Suicide sequence.'

Break the system like this.

Of course if you leave it that way the big moon may be affected so we will take some steps.

[I sent it to you bro!]

Tiring.

A status window pops up in front of me.

[Player: Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)]

[Do you want to delete the game?]

[check]

There is a self-destruct button that you can press OK without intentionally making any other options.

‘after.’

To be honest it’s cool.

And there is another status window that opens at the same time. I turned my attention to what was floating in front of me.

[GM: Shin Jae-hyun]

[Do you want to terminate the connection with the server?]

[check]

“It starts with you.”

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo glances at the holographic large moon and speaks.

“Do you need to prepare your mind?”

“no.”

You’ve already done enough so just click on it.

As soon as he hears my answer he puts his hand on the confirmation button without hesitation.

Tuk.

Then lights flicker and cracks appear in the world.

It rattled.

‘It looks like it’s going to collapse.’

A moment when a crack appears in the background without a crackling sound and the vision shakes dangerously as if it will collapse at any moment.

[Do you want to specify a new Server?]

“You don’t touch that.”

“I have too many doubts.”

Anyway the guy calmly put his hands down.

‘Now all that’s left is… ’

one.

I raised my hand to my status window which was floating on a mirror-like background just before it was shattered.

It was then.

[Stop.]

"…?"

A pop-up appeared.

'Big moon?'

But that guy over there…

[brother??]

Oh I see.

This is a system.

It seems that the two egos' situations have changed as Big Moon takes control of the system.

In the form of the system ego being parasitic on the status window.

'uh. Goodbye.'

I try to ignore it and press the button but it keeps popping up over the button.

[The system saved you from death. You know it. You originally gave up the rest of your life on your own.]

[Everything you have now came from the opportunities given by the system. Think of the opportunities and accomplishments you have achieved so far thanks to your not dying.]

Look at this bastard.

In the face of an elimination crisis he appealed for sympathy in a very plausible way as if he had opened his mouth and it was crazy.

“hey.”

I said with a grin.

“The person who gave me the opportunity was originally Park Mun-dae and you just took full advantage of it so where can you tell me?”

A guy who has sucked energy for years and is in a state where he will fail if he doesn’t do well is talking about it as if he is doing some charity work.

If you have a status abnormality it kills you with a single twist.

[Tongue brother?]

I’m not talking to you so just stay still.

I sent a gesture to Big Moon. The pop-up is updated.

[Irrational idea. It’s foolish.]

Are you introducing yourself?

‘Has this guy changed his strategy?’

I wonder if they are trying to waste time by making me get angry and talk back. If that’s the case.

I opened my mouth as if to reply to the pop-up.

And shouted.

“Big moon. now!”

[yes!]

At that moment the hologram of the big moon was overflowing with more glitches and soon the shape crumbled and disappeared.

[Wow!]

I give up control of the system created by the error exit and return to my status window.

[What■ ■■ now?]

When the ego of the system that was thrown out thanks to that returns to the system.

“Goodbye.”

I punched the popup and hit the button.

puck!

Delete game.

The pop-up is shaking.

[I am determined to live ■■ ■…]

But that’s it.

pop!

A humanoid in a system full of glitches explodes.

And the cracked world burst open.

A transcendental sight of tens of thousands of pieces breaking and flying into the air.

Even the enormous aftereffects that hit one step late.

“Whoa.”

The system that made up this world has been shattered. An enormous torrent of energy overflowed in all directions as if it would destroy everything.

The pieces shattered. All that remains is empty space.

I looked back at Cheongryeo. Its status window crackled and popped.

Same goes for mine.

“success.”

When I said that all feeling disappeared.

hook.

White.

[——-]

silence.

and.

“…basin?”

The sound is heard slowly and dully as if hearing paralyzed by an intense shock is returning.

“Mundae!”

“…!”

I opened my eyes.

And the first thing I saw was…

“I broke the gate!”

“brother!”

“You went through a lot of hard work Mundae…!”

These are the guys surrounding me.

The members who were talking and concretizing plan B were looking at my face as if they were watching something.

Me indeed.

“uh. “I came to my senses.”

“Yeah!!”

“You really thought there was going to be a big problem because the chat window exploded in the middle of it!”

“Still I’m so glad. really…”

If I continue like this my ears will pop or my shoulders will drop or one of the two will happen. I laughed and stood up shaking my head.

“Thank you for your concern.”

If it were reality it would have been an awards ceremony if the airplane was still a system world… but it was neither.

“This is…”

…Ryu Geon-woo’s officetel.

To be exact it is the officetel where Geondal who won the lottery with the body of Ryu Geon-woo lives.

And outside the living room window… where the fantastic ‘Magical Boy’ sunset is setting.

This is the place I visited last time.

[This is an imaginary world I created!]

This was the world of images that Ryu Geon-woo's body went through when he returned to Parkmundae.

The appearance of the large moon sticking out with a smile is also the same.

Although there are still some glitches.

'then.'

Me too… I guess he looks vaguely like both Park Moon-dae and Ryu Geon-woo.

Sure enough Big Sejin makes a fuss as usual.

"You two really look like brothers~"

I guess it's to keep me calm in a crazy situation but I like listening to it anyway.

[Hehe thank you!]

I don't know why.

Anyway the guy who was laughing lightly changed his expression as if he realized that this was not the time.

[The purpose of bringing you all here is to minimize the shock. I guess I brought in some system power… Anyway it worked!]

"impact?"

[yes. Well you can choose when you leave.]

The big moon stepped aside slightly.

Then the entrance to the officetel came into view.

-See you later!

The nameplate flashes. It seems that if you go out there you will return to reality.

[Will you remember what happened here or will you just forget it or vaguely remember it like a dream?]

"…!"

That's… great service though.

'Is there anyone you would forget?'

I thought about it for a moment but once again realized that this was an overwhelmingly strange situation perhaps because I had been living with a condition for several years.

If you say something wrong isn't it to the point where you could be misunderstood as if you were taking medicine?

'It would be easier to forget.'

I will correct it. If it were me I would suggest that we just forget about it all together…

"Of course I want to remember."

"…"

"you're right. "I think this unique fantasy experience will definitely be a new inspiration."

"Now it's okay if I don't watch the Limestone movie. "I did it myself."

Are you just spitting it out without even thinking about it?

I was a little embarrassed but no one hesitated.

"…There's something I really want to remember about what I did here!"

"Oh that's fascinating. me too."

Until the last Sun Ah-hyun.

"I feel like I was able to learn a lot of new things and grow… me too…!"

[All right! Then just think like that and open the door and go out!]

Then cheers pour in.

"Ah finally!"

"Park Moon-dae… When you get back turn around and come back to your dorm right away!"

It's not my plane and honestly I don't know what it was like outside… but I get it anyway.

Ryu Cheong-woo smiles and taps the members' shoulders.

"It was hard. "Our group."

"Hee hee!"

"Don't leave Mundaemundae and come here~"

We came together and hugged for a moment as if we had just won the grand prize or finished the last stage of the tour.

These kids are suffocating.

‘Not even a penguin.’

It might have been funny but I wonder what’s going on.

“Okay then let’s go!”

“Yes yes!”

It was a moment when everything seemed ready. But Raebin Kim raised his hand.

“Wait a moment shouldn’t you recommend it to your seniors first?”

“omg.”

I look back as if I almost forgot.

‘Now that I think about it where are the VTIC guys?’

It was strange because I couldn’t see it.

So when I turn my head I see them somewhere other than the living room.

Those VTIC guys… were sitting at the kitchen table looking at me with such happy faces that it made people shiver.

‘what.’

“I heard that Testa people always get along so well that it’s really nice to see them right?”

“That’s right. “It’s difficult for multiple people to do that.”

The guys who appeared in real life even their way of speaking had changed slightly as if their real selves had become much stronger than when they debuted as Wishz without any memory.

Still the guy I've been seeing for a year hasn't disappeared.

Chae-yul walks out of the kitchen and smiles shyly.

"Well if I go back now it might be hard to call him Geon-wu hyung… but is it okay if I let go of the horse? "Not Mr. Mundae but Mundae-ro!"

"yes."

"good! You can also speak comfortably. "Okay?"

That will be difficult because of the age gap.

Still the guy seemed to understand the silence as a positive thing smiled brightly and naturally headed to the front door after receiving Testa's goodbye.

And at the end he spoke very forcefully.

"Everyone come and have fun! We were a small group of people so we got bored sometimes. "I don't think I'll ever forget Wishes."

"It feels like we've done something a bit like a project group."

"Wow that's it. "Just right!"

Then the two guys asked Geoldal if it was okay to come in here waved their hands and naturally disappeared through the front door one by one.

"…"

When I go back we won't be in the same group so naturally we won't see each other often… Well since I know they are useful people it would be okay to keep in touch.

I leaned against the wall waiting for the rest of the VTIC guys to go in as well…

“…?”

But why doesn’t that guy go in?

I saw Judan standing in front of the front door.

The guy turned his head and saw Testa and Geundal running to stop Cha Yu-jin from trying to open the living room window.

“Eujin let me ask you something first…”

“You idiot!”

Perhaps because he had already said hello to VTIC his concentration was completely dispersed.

Judan saw this and muttered in a serious tone.

“This timing just comes. “I have something to tell you both.”

“hmm?”

The guy said without expression.

“It’s true that you both went back to the past. “I think the order is Jaehyun hyung then junior.”

“…!!”

What is that guy?

“Why do you think so?”

However Judan just shrugged his shoulders as if he was being embarrassed.

“Since you speak so openly from chat windows to everyday conversations anyone with background knowledge can guess.”

“…”

“…”

No only you knew it yourself.

“Looking at Mr. Moon Dae’s reflex reaction it is correct. Then in terms of structure… Hmm I can’t believe it avoided being on the same axis as the Antagonist by just a hair’s breadth… Oh my God.”

The guy who was talking to himself sighed lightly and tried to say something more.

“that…”

However he soon made eye contact with Cheongryeo who was staring at him without expression.

And immediately wake up.

“I’ll just shut up and enlist.”

“okay.”

“Okay then.”

Judan crosses the front door without hesitation as if running away. I asked Cheongnyeo who was looking at it while leaning against the wall with her arms crossed.

I nodded.

“Then you too… go see the dog.”

“That’s right.”

The guy seemed to answer casually but then he touched his chin and added a little word.

“…It’s been 10 months.”

And then a faintly smiling face seemed to pass by and he immediately left the front door.

“See you again soon.”

I leave these words.

“…”

“Has everyone gone?”

“yes.”

When I turn my head I see Ryu Cheong-woo and the men who took Cha Yu-jin away.

Liu Chengwu smiles and stands next to him.

“You decided to let go.”

“ah.”

It was like that.

“okay.”

I corrected myself immediately.

Liu Chengyu looked surprised for a moment but then smiled.

“Yes Mundae. Now let’s go too.”

The front door opens again.

“Don’t forget to contact us and return to your accommodation as soon as everyone returns no matter what the situation is!”

“I’ll keep that in mind!”

And move your feet.

I couldn’t see anything outside the door only the light pouring in and piercing my eyes.

But no one hesitated and kicked out the door.

And after a while.

Hwii-ing-

“…!”

I opened my eyes to the deafening sound of the engine.

Cheongryeo’s private plane.

‘ah.’

I looked away. leather seats. Ivory walls. Polished kit.

Everything remains the same as before you left.

And even Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung who was asleep while sitting in his seat.

I’m breathing.

I immediately opened my smartphone. And I checked the date.

“…”

[Saturday July 9]

It was the same.

Nothing has changed.

“after.”

I sighed and leaned back in my seat.

Then the guy who had already opened his eyes and was sitting in his seat handed him a glass.

Non-alcoholic champagne.

“Arrived safely.”

“…okay.”

I snatched the glass that Cheongryeo held out to me.

So I returned to reality.

Chapter 415

Kwon Hee-seung had a rather creepy dream.

It was a strange configuration in which some kind of alien created itself in virtual reality and made it work like an AI housekeeper.

In addition there is a bizarre development in which all kinds of idol seniors appear!

In the end I woke up screaming in a place where the world collapsed in a spectacular way.

“Wow!!”

However I had no idea it would be this loud.

Kwon Hee-seung opened his eyes in a cold sweat so that the airplane seat was soaked.

“Huh huh huh…”

“Are you okay?”

A hand holding an ionic drink appeared in front of me. Without even having time to think Kwon Hee-seung grabbed it and brought it to his mouth.

Gulp. Gulp.

As the cool smooth sweet drink went down my throat a thrill surged all the way to my head.

I felt like I was fully hydrated for the first time in hundreds of days.

‘and.’

He shook his head and finally came to his senses after emptying the entire liter of drink.

The person who handed me the ionic drink was Park Moon-dae of Testa who was sitting across from me. Kwon Hee-seung stuck his tongue out.

“Wow really… Oh maybe it’s because I had a strange dream but it feels like it’s been a while since I’ve had a drink?”

“…okay?”

“yes! “I guess I was pressed by the scissors. I guess we have something to do from now on…”

for a moment. Now that I think about it why am I on this plane?

And the moment he made eye contact with the VTIC leader the owner of the chartered plane he remembered everything that happened right before he fell asleep as if seeing a flash.

Status window crashes.

Brother Moon Dae was vomiting blood.

and…

“…over there.”

Kwon Hee-seung asked while sweating profusely.

“By any chance… wasn’t it a dream?”

“…”

Park Moon-dae made a strange expression to avoid his gaze which was rare but soon answered with a blank expression.

“I think it’s better to think of it as a dream.”

“That means it’s reality…!?”

Kwon Hee-seung held his face and screamed but Park Mun-dae just kept his mouth shut.

This was because I roughly understood the situation.

‘I chose not to remember the specifics.’

This is the choice Keundal gave me.

-Will you remember what happened here or will you just forget it or vaguely remember it like a dream?

Kwon Hee-seung must have chosen to treat it as a dream there. Park Mun-dae frowned inwardly guessing clearly.

‘…It must have been quite difficult.’

If so compensation would be needed. Gold 2… So it was he who called Kwon Hee-seung on the plane.

So just as he was about to open his mouth Kwon Hee-seung who had finished thinking was shocked and screamed first.

“…! Wait if that’s all real… Are we in a situation where Korea just collapsed and we escaped by plane?!”

“…There is nothing like that this is LA Airport which was our destination.”

“phew.”

I guess it was something similar to a dream!

Heeseung Kwon let out a long sigh of relief. And Park Moon-dae held back a sigh and continued speaking in a different way.

“Anyway since you went through a hard time getting caught up in this… get some compensation.”

“yes?”

“…!”

“One wish.”

Park Mun-dae continued speaking without any agitation.

“I will grant whatever you request to the best of my ability.”

Oooh.

Hee-seung Kwon reflexively thought back on Park Moon-dae’s performance up to now.

〈Azusa〉 From the chicken feet to the label maker behind the company.

And concluded.

“I will use it well.”

“okay.”

Wow.

The words ‘Genie listens three times can you change it to three times?’ came up in my throat but I held it back.

He was a person who knew how to get on and off.

Kwon Hee-seung who had achieved the one-size-fits-all wish finally relaxed by looking outside and checking out LA Airport.

‘and’

The day was clear. The sunset sky was a foreign country but it was familiar and so beautiful that it brought tears to my eyes.

"…"

"You had a hard time."

"Hey I was just dreaming."

Park Mun-dae did not reply but he smiled slightly bitterly and looked at the sky that was as sunset as him.

It was quiet.

Kwon Hee-seung was soaking in the quiet rest and inadvertently asked.

"Those brothers. So what about the system…?"

"I got rid of it."

"okay."

It was somehow cool. Even though it was a dream it looks like you had a hard time.

'Ah it tastes sweet.'

He sat down again popping a chocolate cheese and salt biscuit from the cart into his mouth.

"Huh? "When did you eat this?"

"When you sleep."

"Wow is this expensive?"

"I don't know."

Kwon Hee-seung opened some new champagne and drank it while enjoying his leisure time.

The charter plane owner who was reading a book did not bother to comment or even look at her.

‘Then you can eat anything.’

Just when I was feeling optimistic the sound began to return to the charter plane.

The sound of doors opening and people moving.

“I’m ready.”

Cheongryeo opened her mouth for the first time. When Kwon Hee-seung turned his head he actually saw the workers returning to their seats.

‘uh?’

Kwon Hee-seung cautiously opened his mouth.

“Brothers can we get off now?”

“no.”

“…?”

“We also refueled at the airport.”

Park Moon-dae laughed.

“I have to go back now.”

“…!!”

No you’re going to come all the way to LA and just go back like this? I guess I can go back after playing for a bit!

At that moment Kwon Hee-seung thought of a thousand things to say in response but he unconsciously kept his mouth shut.

For some reason… I realized that I couldn't bear it anymore and wanted to go back.

Home to everyday life.

"We're leaving."

The three idols fastened their seat belts. The plane began to return to its departure point.

* * *

It was already dawn when I arrived at Incheon International Airport.

It took quite some time to go back to Seoul but I wasn't too nervous. Before that my smartphone was constantly ringing.

-Kim Rae-bin: As soon as I arrived I suddenly told my grandmother that I was going back to the dorm so my grandmother was very worried and it took quite a while for us to talk. sorry!

-Seon Ah-hyeon: No be careful Ravin. I also told my parents and left and am now back at the dorm.

-Cha Yu-jin: I have accommodations from the beginning. I am first place (sunglasses emoticon)

It seems like all sorts of episodes occur when the people who dispersed on vacation come back.

'At this rate I think it would have been okay to just stay home for a few nights.'

Actually I saw that story brought up once…

-For those who have already gone home wouldn't it be okay to take a rest?

-Seon Ah-hyeon: Oh hey I'll definitely go!!

An immediate answer came at breakneck speed.

And after a moment of silence in the group chat room.

-Seon Ah-hyeon: I didn't mean that the members should stay at home longer. I meant that I would go back to the dorm right away because my house is close and I go often. There is absolutely no pressure!

The message is still long.

-Ryu Cheong-woo: I know Ah-hyeon come in peace (brightly smiling emoticon)

-Kim Rae-bin: I completely understand! But I'm fine with it too. Isn't there a chance to visit again within 15 days?

Anyway news of the members arriving at their dorms kept coming through KakaoTalk.

-Keun Se-jin: Dear members do you know that? Haha I even went grocery shopping by myself… On days like this I have to make a toast (Emoji of a bear holding a wine glass)

-Ryu Cheong-woo: Haha that's cool. Oh the other Sejin has arrived now too.

-Bae Se-jin: (Hamster emoticon waving his hand)

And in the end when everyone arrived this information came.

-Cha Yu-jin: I want to eat chicken. Why isn't Dae-hyung Moon there? (glaring eyes emoticon)

-Keun Se-jin: Only Park Moon-dae remains~~~

-Bae Se-jin: It's right they're coming right away it's late.

-My departure point was the Pacific Ocean so isn't it natural for me to be late?

I went from the Pacific Ocean to LA and these guys really don't care about the situation.

I got into the taxi and looked at the time. 30 minutes left.

When I flip through the smartphone screen I see regular Kakao Talk not the group messaging area.

This is the message history that Gold 2 checked immediately while he was sleeping.

– Keundal: Bro I arrived safely! Are you okay bro?

It is said that Keudal came back to his senses safely in Ryu Geon-woo's body.

I am healthy and have no pain anywhere and there is no discomfort.

'Is it a success?'

However something a little unusual remains.

[Messages are still sent through the status window…? omg?]

It doesn't really feel like it's being swallowed up by the system but this add-on seems to still work. The status window is still visible to me.

'Is it because of the permanent status window compensation?'

I assumed it was because of the reward I received after clearing the status abnormality. That system seems strangely tied to contracts and promises.

‘Is will also mental energy?’

Anyway it’s probably a good thing since he’s already gone.

I casually put down my smartphone.

And after a while.

“Arrived.” The front door of the apartment!”

“thank you.”

I quickly paid the taxi fare and got off.

Past the almost unfamiliar flower beds past the constructed playground past the first floor entrance past the elevator.

I saw a familiar front door.

Belt tididi.

Press the button and open the door.

Sweet.

“omg!”

“Wow Park Moon-dae is here now!”

“Isn’t there a chicken restaurant that opens at 4 in the morning?”

The cool air from the air conditioner blows in.

Beyond the familiar design of the entrance you can hear familiar people talking and running footsteps.

‘What are you doing if you’re not sleeping?’

I smiled and went inside the front door. Knowing that it was early in the morning quiet compliments and hands poured out.

A member who had not changed. It was a dorm that had not changed.

However surprisingly it wasn't just people who were in the dorm.

"Mundae look at this!"

"king!"

There is something that looks like a white fur ball in the dorm. There was a clump of hair that I knew.

Bae Se-jin did not return to the dorm alone.

"I brought Munge too. I thought it would be a good idea to go with us when we go on a trip. "It's been a while… I'm glad to see you too."

"…"

Beyond Cha Yu-jin who was desperately looking for a 24-hour chicken restaurant to order Bae Se-jin held out a small dog in her hand to me.

I caught the guy who was hitting his tail.

It was soft and warm.

"Then let's get a good night's sleep first… wake up tomorrow get ready right away and let's go play."

"A big yes."

"Let's eat chicken first."

"I'm really curious about how our Eugene doesn't gain weight."

While petting the dog I quietly opened my mouth.

“There is something I want to do before that.”

“…!”

“What is it?”

“It doesn’t take long. “I’ll come while you sleep.”

I called the place that was open from this time.

“Mr. Moon what’s going on in a hurry? Nice to meet you!”

“me too. i look forward to.”

I sat down on the chair. The hair stylist smiled and grabbed my hair.

That’s right.

I came to the shop first thing in the morning.

“Aren’t the members doing it?”

“yes.”

And I’m not the only one who came.

While I was getting my hair done these guys came along and sat in the waiting area making a fuss about choosing a travel destination.

“Here. “Here we go!”

“Don’t make a hasty decision just by looking at the production photos Cha Yu-jin!”

‘Because I’m growing up.’

He doesn’t listen.

Since it is a shop where dogs are allowed we all dragged them out without anyone guarding the place.

“Testa and I are always good friends~ Do you guys take selfies like this?”

“It’s not like that.”

I answered the director’s words and looked in the mirror.

Beyond the mirror I saw Keun Se-jin lightly holding Munge’s front paw and shaking it.

‘I am indeed.’

“Then I’ll use this color~?”

“yes.”

Hair is covered in chemicals.

And a few hours later.

“It’s the same as the picture before right? “It came out well.”

“yes. thank you.”

I sat on the chair in the shop and took the photo myself feeling a little awkward.

It’s not that I can’t take self-composition photos now that I’ve had some free time but it’s been a while since I’ve taken a photo with this face so it took a lot of trial and error.

“…”

And after a long time I accessed Testa’s official SNS… and pressed the upload button.

———————————

Hello lover

I am Mundae (dog emoticon)

I got my hair color back. Actually I kind of missed it.

(picture)

———————————

In the attached photo I have golden brown hair.

Like the first dye I did during Azusa.

And as if waiting for it a notification sounds.

-Heo Eok Azusa Geummundang

-I love you. First of all I love you.

-Is Park Moon University's attendance rate for engineering majors true? This is really the son of the times.

-Is this a spoiler for the next album?? Is it a door? Is it a door?

-♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡♡

-Mundaengdaeng win forever Tibetan fox give up now (fist emoticon)

Familiar reactions and profile pictures fill the screen. 'It doesn't feel like that time.' 'What are you planning?' Even the same verbal abuse as usual.

It was Testa Park Moon-dae.

"……"

“uh? Did you post a post about Mundaemun University? “In the dark world our members are left alone in the waiting area…”

“Show me your face.”

“oh?”

I took a group photo of the guys sitting in the shop’s waiting room furiously tapping away at their laptops and smartphones.

_____

I came to see the yellow gate (eye-rolling emoticon)

_____

Since that morning fans have received notifications from Testa’s official SNS account several times.

* * *

And a few hours ago at dawn.

There was silence in a spacious and clean apartment in Seoul.

The large puppy lying on a soft beige blanket in front of the large entrance was half asleep.

Because it’s been a long time since I waited.

But I didn’t forget the happy sound.

Tirik!

The sound of a door opening.

Footsteps.

A sign of seeing a loving family member.

“…!”

In an instant the puppy raised its head wapped its tail and looked at the huge gray door.

Soon the door opens… and as always a large family walks in with two feet.

“Kong.”

“Wow!”

The puppy jumped up and enthusiastically welcomed his family.

I have learned to wait politely whenever my family is away for a few days but I still cannot bear the moment the waiting ends.

Kongi welcomed his family warmly and enthusiastically by stamping his hind feet and sticking out his front paws and snout.

“ah…”

So Kongi’s family member Shin Jae-hyun hugged and lifted the yellow dog that was hugging him.

And without moving I quietly listen to the unfamiliar sound.

Every time I move on to the next beginning I always throw away and cut off what has disappeared before I know it.

Affection for what is left.

“Kong I’m back.”

These were the first words of return spoken since becoming Cheongryeo.

He held the dog at the front door and quietly enjoyed the unfamiliar lingering feeling.

Not for a while but for quite a long time.

And after some time.

“Keueuung.”

“Only one.”

After giving her dog an early morning snack before exercise that she had never given before Cheongryeo’s smartphone rang in her back pocket.

‘hmm?’

No one in their right mind would contact me this early in the morning for non-emergency purposes.

So let’s check our smartphones right away…

I see something unexpected.

-Park Moon-dae: (photo)

What he sent without saying a word was a picture of a white dog. As if imitating someone.

“haha!”

Cheongryeo tolerated the dog coming up on her lap and laughed for quite a while.

Savoring my first return.

Chapter 416

The glamping site next to a hot spring in Gapyeong was gradually becoming quiet as the weekend came to an end.

Before lunch time people who had stayed for 3 days and 2 nights since Friday had left and there were not many new people. This is because it is hot in early summer and it is an ambiguous time not a full-fledged vacation season. Besides it's already evening.

"I hope you have a good time~"

The part-timer who was working at the counter on the outskirts was leisurely dealing with the rare customers.

Until the next customer comes in.

'uh?'

Tiring.

Open the door and suddenly someone comes rushing in.

Seven tall men wearing hoods and colorful masks as if it wasn't too hot were dressed awkwardly at a summer camping site.

This is even more so when an avant-garde character wearing a baseball cap or sunglasses appears.

'…For SNS aggro?'

Hwatongjeomjeong is a small white dog held by the person in the back with a good physique.

'Physical education student MT?'

That being said the majority was rather thin. Besides isn't this a place where there are far more families than college students?

'Hmm?'

Just as I was about to get curious a well-built man wearing a gray hoodie and a mask came up to the counter and asked a question.

"Hello~ We made a reservation."

"Please tell me your name!"

The employee thought while quickly checking the program. He had a good voice was tall and at first glance his eyes seemed handsome.

'…Is it the entertainment department?'

But I didn't do the useless thing of asking such a question. The part-time worker completed the check-in process appropriately and quickly as befits the creed of working for as much as he gets paid.

"Are you getting a Royal Caravan or a Sunset Ondol?"

"Yes yes!

At that time a black hood wearing sunglasses speaks to his group from behind.

"Check if dogs are allowed."

"Oh right."

"Yes it is a pet-friendly option."

The part-timer who quickly and sensibly answered the question before it was asked felt a strange sense of discomfort at the same time.

Despite the funny outfit he has a surprisingly good voice…?

Does this sound like a voice you've heard before?

"here…"

"Oh thank you~ We can go over there right?"

"yes! "You can see it right away by looking at the parking lot to the left."

"I understand~ Thank you for your kind explanation."

I feel like I've heard this cheerful way of speaking before…

However the two have already turned around and are heading back to the group.

'Hmm.'

As the part-time worker regains his appetite he hears a small voice coming from the group.

"Mm… can you please accept the puppy?"

"yes…!"

A white man wearing a baseball cap picked up a white puppy and placed it carefully on his shoulder…

"…!"

The part-timer woke up like a thunderbolt.

That's the dog I saw on a variety show! The composition is the same.

And that entertainment!

'That's my grandson!'

And the cast from there…

‘oh my god.’

The employee covered his mouth.

It’s a testa!

Considering the physique and members of the 7 people they match so precisely that I wonder why I didn’t know about them.

‘No it’s not a fashion item… ’

No matter what you might be thinking of hiding your face while not being noticed but this is a funny outfit that stands out as if it was aimed at that mentality…

‘Wait a minute that’s Cha Yu-jin!’

When I asked if there was another strange person wearing sunglasses it was just Cha Yu-jin with the neck bending form.

I also saw a video of just that on WeTube Shorts.

‘Huh… ’

As expected from a group with high individual recognition the scan was completed in an instant.

Standing guarding the carrier is Bae Se-jin. Raebin Kim is perusing the pamphlet. And the man with the familiar voice wearing sunglasses holding Park Moon-dae’s puppy was Sun Ah-hyun the man who handed it to Ryu Cheong-woo…

Lee Se-jin was talking to himself!

The part-timer clenched his fists.

‘I thought he was somehow handsome!’

It was just a handsome atmosphere!!

And finally a productive thought occurred to me.

‘Sain’

However the mindset of a member of society that calling here is out of the question took hold of the part-time job. Plus there were more opportunities.

‘I’m not going to check out.’

I never miss that time…

‘Oh really!’

I wanted to tell someone! Even to my sister!

‘Wow you’ll be really surprised when you hear it… ’

So when the employee turned on his Kakao Talk with excited hands.

“excuse me.”

“…?!”

When I raise my head I see eyes smiling shyly above the mask.

‘Liu Chengwu! Liu Chengwu!’

The part-timer’s brain is screaming but Liu Chengyu speaks softly.

“We really came here to rest. “Is it possible to keep it a secret for just a few days while I’m here?”

“yes? Of course… Yes yes.”

It’s possible. carrot!

“thank you. Oh at least this.”

Ugh.

Accepting the expensive bath salt set offered as a gift as a bribe with trembling hands the part-time worker watched Testa (presumed) walking away with a dumbfounded expression.

“Let’s go Munge!”

“Kiyang ang!”

“I told you not to encourage the child…”

…You came here to rest?

‘I guess they’re really close.’

The part-time worker put down his smartphone. I thought of my older sister who cut off her life without a moment of hesitation.

And he nodded to the closeness of the idol group who went on a family healing glamping trip in between activities without cameras.

‘Aren’t you tired of watching it all the time??’

Of course I had no idea how crazy the twists and turns they had been through over the past 10 months had been their first reunion in a long time.

* * *

I admitted it.

‘Actually it’s like it’s been 10 months since I went on vacation.’

If you add up the time I wasn’t able to rest before then it’s over a year.

Thanks to this travel destinations were subject to long never-ending searches and discussions by people who were sure to go to a good place.

And finally a conclusion was reached.

“Of course the place Ahyeon went to is the best.”

“yes?”

“…”

If this is going to be the case I want to ask why you were sitting in the waiting area of the shop not sleeping tapping on your laptop.

I found the answer in Bae Se-jin’s words.

“It looked the best from the beginning. But since it’s a place he’s only been to once it might be a bit boring for him.”

“Oh no…! Absolutely not. “It’s definitely a good place so I want to go there with the members…!”

“brother…”

The atmosphere quickly warmed up. I soon forgot that I had spent hours meaninglessly trying to come to this conclusion.

Liu Qingyu smiled bitterly.

“good. “Then can you introduce me to a lot of activities that Ahyeon liked?”

“yes…!”

“Okay~ Then our destination is Gapyeong Healing Glamping!”

And on the very same day they caught a rotent who was headbutting the regular price.

‘I’m not sure if you can call this a tent.’

“Oooh good!”

I looked around at our reserved spot on the outskirts of the campsite surrounded by dense trees.

The emotionally-wrapped tent only gives it the nominal image of a tent but the inside is made of ondol (floor heating) and pine wood with hot water pouring out.

Plus there’s even an outdoor bath.

Comfort that just makes you feel like camping. It is truly healing.

“…! “They say this is hot spring water.”

“Do you want to go in? Ugh do we want to go to Mungge?… Oh wait a minute.”

“Don’t bully the dog.”

Even if you are traveling with a dog this is obviously a pool for large dogs so if you want to put something as big as your fist in it you have to wear a life jacket.

Fortunately as they looked around inside the excited guys came to a magical conclusion.

“Well shall we have dinner first? “The day is coming to an end.”

“Sure~”

Of course being hungry comes first.

“that’s right! “We have been starving for a long time.”

It wasn’t something a guy who ate raw potatoes would make at a rest area but anyway from then on it was time for barbecue and campfire.

A fire was made with firewood in front of the caravan.

“Ohh.”

It was rare for this to happen in a situation where there was no staff but the meat was cooked well without any particular problems.

‘It’s delicious.’

I fixed the fire. Meanwhile Raebin Kim quickly turns over the meat on the grill with a reverential look on his face.

“That door. Should I try grilling it too…?”

“Hahaha Ahyeon can you wash the mushrooms here?”

“Oh yes…!”

And time passes peacefully.

There is no one looking or looking to see if the bribe given at the counter worked. Sometimes a kid running around in front of another caravan in the distance snoops around.

“Oh my does your baby want to eat some meat too?”

“Hey the kid might be allergic.”

“oh. Sorry.”

After passing the time with trivial nonsense we took a bath roughly divided up our lodgings and slept soundly.

“Let’s sleep as much as we want instead of setting an alarm.”

“It’s such a good idea isn’t it? “He is also a leader.”

I slept on the floor on the first day. Mosquito repellent incense was blooming and the sound of insects was heard.

It's been a long time since I didn't have to think about the amount or the next goal.

The next day I woke up after lunch and tried horseback riding nearby.

"Yippee-ki-yay~!!"

Cha Yu-jin did all the horseback riding. It seems that even Ryu Cheong-woo who followed behind with a smile surprised the employees.

Shouldn't they have called those who were originally working out beginners?

'It would have been okay to quarantine those two guys in the advanced course.'

"What on earth is Moon Dae-moon University's Eugene talking about?"

"I don't know."

"…I need to search to see if it's a problem word… Ugh!"

"Oh my brother."

At that time Bae Se-jin who almost lost his balance on the horse regained his balance following the staff's instructions and saw a man whispering in his direction.

"Bro that sounds like a cowboy…"

I heard a sound like Cha Yu-jin shouting 'Ihiya' from afar.

"It's okay as long as it's not a problem."

Bae Se-jin rode a horse quite skillfully after that but let me just say that it somehow felt like acting.

And Sun Ah-hyun who whispered…

“Did you also go horseback riding?”

“Ugh! “Not a lot but sometimes.”

Let me just say that I was in charge of the third ‘guy who used to exercise’.

‘It looks like this guy is good at horseback riding too.’

It seems like they adjusted it while planning the course.

“Oh you did? “I didn’t know either~ Okay Sejin accepted.”

So the next day I went to a wool ranch that he had never been to.

“I think I can buy some wool…! “I’m thinking about making a sweater.”

“Oooh~!”

“Ahyun should wear that this Christmas and post a picture on her official account.”

In that way I use my time without worrying about efficiency.

There is no filming no proof shots and nothing to use as a broadcast episode or build-up.

Time to just relax and play.

“Smores are delicious. Bro let’s eat s’mores! Buy marshmallow!”

“okay.”

Cha Yu-jin looks with a straight face.

"…! Brother are you serious? "Does it hurt?"

"I can't be this healthy."

Even if you buy it it's a mess. Anyway that day I bought chocolate and biscuits and roasted marshmallows over an open fire to make s'mores. And I ate it while looking at the stars.

"Mundaemun University we have to jog twice tomorrow."

"know."

It was almost the first time these seven of us had spent time together just to have fun like that.

The beach pension was destroyed when Kim Rae-bin's grandmother collapsed.

'…It's okay.'

The hot springs were also very helpful.

Taking an open-air hot spring bath every evening was a good way to end my day before going to bed.

"We buy this. Leave it at home! "I will pay that money."

"There is nowhere to put it."

Hot water lowers tension.

Then what you experienced in that strange system world comes out of your mouth.

"You know what? Raebin Kim I grilled a lot of meat while making strawberries. "I heard it from Raebin Kim there."

“Huh?”

“For some reason it cooked well. “It’s all a learned skill.”

“As a minor I cannot pick strawberries delicately so I helped prepare the new strawberries. But I really appreciate the compliment. “We will continue to work hard!”

The guys sitting in the outdoor hot spring one by one started talking casually without paying attention to the context of the conversation.

“Have you contacted your VTIC senior?”

“uh. “You seem to be doing well.”

“Good~”

“I didn’t know we would become friends with that senior like this.”

I wiggled my eyebrows as I recalled the list of recommended works I had received from Ju Dan yesterday.

The other two guys also contacted me quite often.

‘I remember working as a group for over half a year so is it natural?’

Ryu Cheong-woo speaks softly perhaps recalling his ‘Wishes’ activities in a similar way to me.

“Come to think of it we haven’t been able to do a proper tour there. “It feels like it’s been a very long time since I did this.”

“that’s right. “I’m looking forward to it.”

Not only Cha Yu-jin but there are people nodding their heads here and there one after another. Liu Chengwu nods his head together and then adds playfully.

“Ah only Sejin tried it right?”

Big Sejin smiled.

“You can’t call it a proper tour.”

“…”

“No really… yes.”

I almost looked at that with a straight face.

“Anyway I missed our group so much~ Now that we’re going on tour we’re really excited to perform hard right?”

I got it bastard.

“Huh? “It looks like the door isn’t responding?”

“That’s because you’re asking the obvious.”

“…!”

It’s good to rest but you need to do something stimulating to get your mind going.

“Let’s do the tour properly.”

Smiles spread on the faces of others including Keun Se-jin.

That was the conclusion of the day.

It was the last night of the fourth day of the trip.

And the morning of check-out.

“Thanks to you I’m having a really good time. thank you!”

“no. “I am…!”

We gave autographs and proof shots to the counter staff and the owner who remained silent and then boarded the car back to Seoul. The guys wearing neck pillows are laughing.

“It was fun.”

“It was definitely a camping experience that made me realize that rest can also be a useful time.”

“We’re going to the beach next time!”

“Good good.”

Amidst the chattering crowd I picked up my smartphone and accessed the group’s official account… and suddenly a thought occurred to me.

Come to think of it I brought that with me just in case.

“It’s all okay now isn’t it?”

“hmm?”

Fortunately it is a clean and well-maintained building in preparation for the future of taking photos at the counter.

“It’s okay it’s okay.”

then.

After some discussion we took out the air gauge from our bags. It was a smartphone for the W app.

If you attach it in front of the passenger seat adjust the angle and then turn on the broadcast…

Tidik.

“Hello Lover!”

-???

-1pa

-What's going on?

Since the morning the comments have been pouring in with greetings and questions asking what's going on.

And then a common sense question arises.

-Is this filming?

"Are you filming? No we're coming up to play by ourselves!"

And the members chat excitedly among themselves.

"Oh what I did was… we went to the hot springs went horseback riding… and touched a baby sheep. "I also brought Munge."

"Ah Mundaemundae was really funny back then. That Eugene made lava out of marshmallows? "The expression on Moon Dae's face at that time~"

"Well since Sejin talked about lava it reminds me of it. Yesterday Ahyeon had a successful barbecue! We were all surprised. "It was delicious."

"A picture? Uh I didn't take any pictures…"

"Uhm. "There's a video like that one… Ah there's a video!"

Sun Ah-hyun laughs and shows a balloon floating on the grass on her smartphone.

[Muang!]

That was the beginning and end of all material.

“Uh… it’s not like a broadcast it’s really just us going out to have fun!”

There are no more.

-?

-No please show Testa’s face.

-Show us what you did.

-A cruel act that only shows the ending

A silent scream took over the chat window.

‘…Have you been playing around too much?’

I realized.

This was just for the purpose of conveying the latest news but when I listened carefully I realized that what was being talked about was a break to use for its own content.

So it really stimulated the interest of those who were interested.

However the live broadcast was overflowing with extortion without substance.

-Go back guys and go camping again quickly.

Thanks to you the comments are filled with madness.

…This was the beginning of all the great transformation that would happen thereafter.

Chapter 417

Testa fans are already familiar with various incidents from behind-the-scenes dog fights by malicious individual fans to the aggro of rumor-spreading agencies.

Of course negative things are not the only things we are familiar with.

I became happily accustomed to the jaw-dropping stage quality thoughtful fan service cute little stories and heartwarming group episodes.

However there was something ambiguous about whether I should like this at all. This is the nature of Testa's entertainment.

-Testa Entertainment = Inferno Party

-This is all because of the production team.

-He sent me to heal but gave up when I saw that he was in trouble haha.

It's fun.

Testa's entertainment show had a high popularity batting average thanks to the fact that it was definitely fun and the plot became a hot topic without any consideration.

In the meantime the feeling of an 'idol caught up in entertainment' was stronger than that of a professional entertainer so there was no change in the image.

Fans enjoyed the content and flow. But at the same time I would also talk about other thoughts.

-I just want to see kids do whatever they want without thinking at least once.

-Sometimes I think it must be too hard for the kids. They are the ones who are busy with their day jobs.

Since the group has been through many ups and downs since their debut there was a subtle demand for them to play comfortably without any obstacles.

Moreover if entertainers whose main job is not entertainment they do special entertainment shows isn't it common for them to escape from their daily lives and enjoy quiet healing?

'Observational healing trip!'

But now… all of a sudden the members are doing it.

At first all the fans liked it.

-The kids went camping made s'mores went horseback riding and played with sheep. It's crazy that they even took Munggei with them ㅠㅠㅠ

-Eh

-Hey why aren't you there?

Until I realized there wasn't a single photo.

Loveure was embarrassed.

Good thing happened. The kids smiled brightly saying they would work harder for the concert because they had a good rest and they looked good and full of passion as if they had eaten and slept well.

But that's it.

-No we are

-Why are you bullying Lover?

-How can you carry anything?

I thought there was at least a video for its own content.

Moreover there were signs that emerged from the W app.

[Hey water here. But get up and eat.]

[Hee hee!]

[Wow aren't we going to explode like this? Everyone is lying down.]

Originally they were very close as a team. But this time it felt like something more had been removed.

-Wow the kids talk quietly.

-(Confucian rabbits are excluded)

Throughout the W Live there was a comfortable atmosphere as if everyone was open to each other and it was a little sad to hear them listen to each other.

A sight full of unity as if they had disbanded and then reunited. It was meaningful.

-It seems like the whole group has reached max level.

-What did you do?

-Tell me! Let me know! ㅜㅠㅠㅠㅠ

W Live viewers cried even more when they guessed that something like a turning point in the narrative had happened at the camp they had visited.

And I realized the cause of this situation as I watched the members panicking as if they didn't feel any problem about not bringing a single photo.

…I had no idea there would be demand.

-My kids always do stupid things on entertainment shows so the formula for healing is stupid has gotten stuck in their heads. What should I do? ㅠㅠ

-Park Moon-dae Looks like you're looking at me. It's your fault for not taking a single picture even though you're so good at taking pictures but I'm relieved because you're cute.

-Guys I think the kids played better because they were comfortable without cameras… Of course I'm going crazy for telling everyone about it.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Everyone is so sorry that I can't even cry ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅋㅋㅋㅋ

Testa saw the fans crying and screaming in the comments and did his best to explain what he had done.

[Um… Ah at the sheep ranch Eugene tried herding sheep like that shepherd dog and it really worked. It was so funny!]

[that's right. The owner smiled.]

It was counterproductive.

-Ughhhhh

-Okay guys I respect your wonderful camp haha (I'm actually crying. I wish they would sell it for money)

-It sounds so fun and happy. This is jealousy.

And this wave of desire quickly began to take over fan communities and social media accounts along with Testa's drive broadcast.

* * *

A few days after returning from glamping.

-Hello testers~ How are you?

"…Yes of course. "I'm doing well."

I received a phone call while I was in the midst of preparing for the tour.

To be exact Liu Chengwu shook his head and handed it over.

"How are you PD?"

He was the representative producer of the entertainment division that created various gems of entertainment from entertainment that sells hotteok overseas to carrot coins.

And I already guessed what this person was going to say.

-Oh we're doing well! And it seemed like Testa was like that too. We heard it too.

"yes?"

-Glamping~ Ah Testa's healing camp!

Yeah I knew it was this. I was silent for a moment thinking about the Internet situation over the past few days.

'…I didn't know people would be so stimulated.'

It seems that the lack of any video evidence actually maximized fans' curiosity and expectations.

-Testa We enjoyed a crazy vacation with all kinds of entertainment including cooking camping hot springs horseback riding and animals…

Testa Glamping which only lasted 4 nights and 5 days based on what fans said was turning into a rare camping entertainment that mixed touching comical and healing.

Moreover in that atmosphere one by one not blackmail but a piece of cake came out.

[Can I post something like this? Testa review]

I was working part-time at a glamping site when he suddenly appeared in a funny and suspicious outfit and checked in handsomely. I thought it was Operation 007.

This is a proof shot (photo)

They did it willingly when I checked out. Everyone was really nice and polite and Munge was cute.

If you have any questions please leave them in the comments.

Starting with a review from a long-suffering part-time worker a promotional post from the campsite owner and eyewitness accounts from employees at a sheep ranch and horse riding range were also posted.

I think the photos and short videos served as indirect evidence and a great piece of cake.

-Cha Yu-jin: Riding a horse is crazy. 23413241324 cowboy movies passed.

-Wow it's backlit while petting the sheep but the pictorial is Sun Ah-hyun and Godgi Bambi Elk Prince…

-What's wrong with the physique difference between you and boss Cheongwoo? No I love you.

Short shaky low-quality videos taken with smartphones and a few proof shots made fans even more thirsty.

'There are definitely traces that it was there but there is no substance… '

Even people who tried to find traces by renting the caravan and tent that Testa used ended up getting scolded and getting off while broadcasting the story on social media.

-I don't know how to control my dog viewer. It's so overheated right now that it's just an invasion of privacy.

People on each island are talking and making a fuss. What an invasion of privacy.

A mind like yours is what kills people.

-It's funny how things are going around these fortresses. They were worried that you guys would be like this so they went away quietly among themselves. You idiots.

Just before things started to go crazy the tour was promoted on a large scale and things calmed down a bit but it was still close.

I barely managed to keep the extremely built-up excitement from overheating.

Still the atmosphere of protesting and calling for healing still remains.

I clicked my tongue inwardly.

'I guess I gained less insight after being in a group in a different time zone for 10 months?'

Now it is prohibited to turn on the live broadcast with the stupid idea of just trying it out without thinking about it.

Anyway isn't it obvious what the entertainment production team that originally worked with us would say in this situation?

-The term is a bit short but the timing is great right? The healing entertainment we originally promised! It's tour season so let's go. Testers.

This is supply creation.

Let's film the promised Testa healing entertainment now.

"Entertainment?"

"Ah~ Are you our PD? It's been a while. PD Jeong!"

The guys who were dozing off in the car are slowly starting to react.

And the producer who eagerly returned the greeting starts business without even licking his lips.

-Even though we were pressed for time we made proper preparations to host Testa.

They say they are planning a content series exclusively for WeTube on their channel which has over 3 million subscribers.

And he wants to introduce Testa as the first batter there.

-Wouldn't it be best to take a photo during a break during the tour?

I looked around.

'Should we set the mood with a show of hands?'

But Liu Chengwu smiles and opens his mouth first.

“Should we do whatever we want at Mundae?”

hmm?

“great…!”

“That’s right~ To be honest Moon University can decide this.”

“It is appropriate to say this because Brother Moon Dae felt the greatest sense of betrayal during the last ‘That House’s Grandson’ entertainment show.”

Are you coming?

Since I was the one who got screwed the most by these production crew members in the last entertainment show it seems like the hosting rights have been returned to me.

I looked at my smartphone for a moment and nodded.

“great.”

-Oooh!

It would be right to relieve the fandom atmosphere here.

Anyway if it runs parallel to the tour season it won’t be necessary to focus on the topic so much so let’s think of it as a resting episode.

“I will trust the production team of this healing entertainment show for the last time.”

-I swear right here and now. I risk my entire entertainment career!

“You don’t mean to say that the entertainment career you promised was betrayed here.”

There was silence for a moment.

-… Mr. Moon Dae we are sorry. No this is my first time distrusting an idol like this.

The PD continued talking in a trembling voice.

Of course I'm shaking because it's funny.

-You must have been really hurt. I'm in tears.

"no."

No you bastard.

"Whoosh!"

On the other end of the phone I could hear the writers dragging their feet and suppressing laughter.

Coincidentally something similar is happening around here. I hit the laughing Big Sejin on the back.

"evil!"

"Anyway that's how it happened. i look forward to."

With Liu Chengwu's handling everything was sorted out.

-Please take care of us~

In this way the WeTube version of Testa's healing entertainment show was confirmed.

* * *

And after an urgent meeting and practice.

Filming began from the moment we boarded the plane and left the country for the tour.

“We’re here to save you time.”

“It’s mom!”

The production team said they couldn’t give up even on a gag like this so they performed a surprise appearance at a stopover.

It was so loud that it seemed like the airport lounge had somehow allowed it.

‘I guess you really don’t intend to scam me.’

Seeing that he is trying to eat something like that it looks like he will truly heal him this time.

When I saw the PD with angel wings I understood the mood and nodded.

“Because we don’t want anyone going on a tour to have to worry about anything other than the stage we have chosen to fully respect your wishes!”

“Ohh.”

“That’s right… it’s self-planning!”

Soon the PD with a solemn expression tells the story that has already been discussed.

‘It’s simple.’

1. Two testers are paired up and each team creates a healing course of their choice.

“And everyone takes turns enjoying it! “No exceptions or manipulation.”

“Oooh~”

2. One person who wins the mini game can create the healing course of his or her choice.

“congratulations. “Ravin!”

“congratulations!”

That’s Kim Rae-bin here.

Kim Rae-bin nodded eagerly with an expression that the reward he got from playing a random board game was undeserved.

“We will create an efficient course that everyone can enjoy and won’t feel pressured by…!”

“No it’s okay Ravin do what you want!”

It’s heartwarming.

The atmosphere feels like it will create a truly healing peaceful stress-free scene.

‘hmm.’

Moreover the conditions were like that.

“Just checking each other’s course and keeping each other in check doesn’t work they really do what they want to do~”

“yes!”

Just do what you want.

The only things that exist are travel expenses and time restrictions but without them it would create a sense of incongruity so it’s right to have them.

Now finally let's look at the two-person team formed within Testa.

"Shall we do this?"

"…! "I'm fine."

1. Ryu Cheong-woo and Sun Ah-hyun's team name is "Happy Trip."

"Oh this place looks nice."

"…Isn't it a bit too much for the budget? No I'm okay with doing this and less of the other things."

"No I just think it looks good bro~ Let's look at other things too!"

The name of team 2 is 'Sejin Izu' but of course it is a team formed by Lee Se-jin and Bae Se-jin.

I nodded.

'It's already coming out.'

Either way you will come out with a good healing course without any problems.

The previous team is naturally gentle guys and the two guys with the same name have opposite tastes so if they compromise in front of the entertainment cameras they will end up with a popular course.

'If that's the case.'

This means that eventually there will be a team that provides even a little stimulation.

I looked back at my teammate.

"brother! "Can I be the leader?"

“uh. then.”

Cha Yu-jin was accessing the Internet with her eyes shining.

That’s right.

Team 3: Cha Yu-jin and Park Moon-dae.

-Team name: 〈I will do what I want to do〉

Even when we went to camp there was an American guy who chased sheep while imitating a sheepdog and a Korean guy who first greeted us by tearing off a chicken’s foot.

This is why image was important.

‘Healing is originally a subjective expression.’

I looked back at my reliable team members and began to make a killing… or rather healing plan with satisfaction.

Chapter 418

No matter how entertainment goes there are things to worry about first.

Just a performance.

“Thank you!”

I raised my head. The choreography of the debut song ‘Hi-five’ ended with a voice ringing from the microphone next to it.

It was the last encore song.

Waaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah!

The heat cheers and lights. My body vibrates from the vibrations.

‘…It’s been a while.’

Sweat poured down my temples.

I slowly closed and opened my eyes and saw a cluster of lights filling the huge square.

In fact touring is not something that is exposed to the media so it is not very helpful in raising awareness or reputation.

Since the popularity they have already earned is harvested as an audience the agencies are using it as a cash cow.

However once you are in the position of performing it is difficult to dismiss it that way.

“Whoop.”

‘It just… gives me goosebumps.’

In fact it made me wonder if priorities had changed.

Isn’t raising awareness about trying to attract an audience who will see and listen to this?

“thank you!”

The rush of adrenaline makes you think stupid things. I roughly wiped my forehead.

“See you again!!”

“See ya!”

This tour which has been held for the first time in such a long time has heated up the group atmosphere.

So much so that there was a guy who shouted this as soon as he came down to the backstage.

“I think today’s performance was very complete with no mistakes!”

“Ugh I think so too…!”

The Singapore performance on both days received rave reviews from the two perfectionists themselves.

I nodded checking the camera that came in just in time.

“Starting tomorrow I will be able to enjoy the healing course without shame.”

“I know!”

The entertainment crew’s camera moves excitedly among the guys who are giggling and catching their breath.

“Ah but no matter how much I think about it isn’t it just a dream schedule? It was perfect for healing while meeting fans and having fun performing! And perform again~”

This is an introductory comment that seems like it would appear in an entertainment trailer. I guess I knew it myself.

“Just tell me a little bit now where did you and Eugene choose Mundaemun University?”

“It’s a secret. “I want to see the members’ screaming faces!”

“Oh it looks luxurious?”

“Oh we spent a lot of budget.”

“I knew it would be like that!”

Big Se-jin comes out laughing and slaps Cha Yu-jin on the back.

However for the sake of a good reaction I will have to bury the truth that this is not where you think your budget will be spent.

“Everyone worked hard!”

And at midnight that day when the guys who had gathered for a late-night snack for the first time in a while were still keeping their eyes wide open the PD finally came in.

Ding dong.

“Oh my god everyone were you gathered here to wait for us?”

“Usually when we tour we share a room once a week to unite.”

“Party tonight~”

“No that’s also being revealed to Love Viewers for the first time right? This is why the fans are disappointed!”

That's true but making it sound obnoxious is also an ability.

"I will correct it."

"If you're going to talk I'll prepare a proof photo first."

Even the camera director held back his laughter as he deliberately came out more politely as if he was filming an apology video.

'It's like entertainment.'

The proceedings continued in that cheerful atmosphere.

"Now shall we give a round of applause to ourselves for successfully completing a performance in our first tour country?"

"Wow!"

Smiles were spread across their faces as they laughed and slapped their palms. That's serious.

"Mr. Moon Dae this is the first time since filming started that I have smiled so sincerely."

"I always laugh sincerely."

"Ah~ I couldn't really smile last time… I'm sorry. Mr. Moon Dae it's a joke. "I'm sorry."

Stop it.

With the writers' laughter in the background the PD finally got to the point.

"Well then our <Sejin Izu> was first in line right?"

"Yeah~"

The PD showed the plan file submitted in advance by Keun Se-jin who was smiling and Bae Se-jin who was nodding seriously in front of the camera.

“Here! “It contains the healing course you chose.”

Since we go to various countries on tour the order is fixed to ensure smooth travel destination selection.

‘They were Indonesian.’

When it comes to healing keywords like yachting snorkeling beach etc. come to mind. I put down my hands and waited patiently.

PD shouted energetically.

“Now please do a drum roll～ 〈Sejin Izu〉 Healing Course Those titles are～”

“Dugu dugu dugu!”

The PD opens the file with exaggerated movements.

However the moment the content is read the vitality disappears from the PD’s face as if by magic.

“PD?”

A question mark appears to appear over the face of the PD who has his head buried in a file and a confused voice is heard.

“…＜climbing an active volcano＞?”

“…”

“…”

for a moment.

“Oh climbing is good.”

That’s just your opinion Ryu Cheong-woo.

When I turn my head Bae Se-jin opens his mouth seriously with a red face.

“…Testa’s next tour destination is Indonesia and it has many famous volcanoes.”

“Everyone seemed to be doing a lot of luxurious things so we decided to save money and build up our stamina!”

“Because power is the most important thing in the tour.”

“…”

I realized.

These bastards took a sharp curve while trying not to fight.

Since the two of them don’t have the same hobbies it seems like they have moved forward at an odd pace toward the only direction where their values match.

Just work.

“okay. “This is a truly meaningful idea!”

Since Kim Rae-bin threw out that line first the person complaining here is a honeysucker without a professional mind.

‘Is all healing dead?’

In the end when I see people nodding their heads and saying that it is a choice befitting a professional idol I wonder if there is something wrong with this.

If this happens our team’s choice will be… Wait.

But I soon corrected myself after seeing the next team.

‘It’s a combination of Ryu Cheong-woo and Sun A-hyeon so what?’

A good course… For a moment I’m a little suspicious that Ryu Cheong-woo is out hiking again.

So I asked the PD openly.

“Do we have any overlap?”

“…No Mr. Moon Dae this is really my first time checking. “I didn’t watch it secretly!”

Is there anything I can do to stop broadcasting? Don’t lie.

“…Oh of course our writer Lee checked in advance to make sure there was no overlap!”

There the artist with his face covered gives an OK sign with his finger. You can’t see the expression because the face is covered… but it’s probably not a lie anyway. I decided to change the route.

‘…the curvy feeling isn’t bad either.’

I was already worried about viewership ratings but it actually turned out well.

We received a PPL for an accommodation reservation app on the spot got a good night’s sleep and left for Indonesia the next day.

And then I actually started hiking on Mount Batur.

“The weather is nice!”

“…and.”

I would like to correct myself in saying that it went well. Park Moon-dae’s stat-based body is inferior to Ryu Geon-woo’s even after being an idol for 4 years.

In that sense if you think of this as physical training the cost-effectiveness is not bad…

I looked to the side.

“The scenery is very pretty. yes…?”

“Cool”

“…”

Behind the former athletes walking happily.

Bae Se-jin was walking quietly with the expression of walking her own ascetic path.

If that guy was going to do that why did he choose to hike? And why did I take joint responsibility for that guy’s choice?

‘Is this… healing?’

Anyway the scenery I saw after gritting my teeth and climbing up was amazing.

So it was a moment when I thought that I could just get a healing cut with that.

“Tomorrow is a night hike everyone. “Excited right?”

“and.”

“You can see a blue luminous glow from the volcano and it looks just like hellfire.”

“…”

“Thank you for the valuable cut. Sejins~ Huh? There’s a hot spring right in front but you didn’t make a reservation? Oh my think about your budget!”

Even Keun Se-jin almost moved his facial muscles.

Opinions will continue to differ anyway. Since it is WeTube content they expected it to be compressed into 30 minutes and tried to capture all the attractions and major main goals.

His judgment was extraordinary but it must have been humanly difficult to endure the PD’s crazy jokes.

‘That bastard couldn’t even joke.’

I can see the writers watching the sinking of the entertainer with a happy face. I could already see how the editing would go.

“Mr. Sejin?”

“…Ah that’s good!”

It’s late.

“Good right? “It’s your choice!”

“I’m happy!”

“great!”

Is this the military?

We finished the night hike the next day and the rock climbing wall on the last day and stayed in the hotel all day. It’s a good thing that I don’t have muscle pain because it’s a physically demanding job. That may have been calculated too.

Still after rehearsing and performing again the faces of those gathered…

‘Please heal!’

It seemed like it was written that way.

okay. Unless you are a mountain climbing enthusiast hiking for three days is not healing.

“Come on everyone cheer up. “I have to go to a healing course!”

“Yes yes!”

I nodded and looked at the file the PD guy was holding.

‘Next destination… is England.’

Although the flight route was complicated due to the rental schedule it was actually good. I’m sure you won’t go to England and climb mountains.

‘I won’t say anything crazy like climbing Big Ben.’

“Now~ ‘Happy Trip’ is our group Cheongwoo and Ahyeon right?”

“yes…!”

“I’ll open it right away~ Right away!”

〈Horror Experience〉

“…”

“…”

Seriously… no really?

“I chose it because there are several famous horror experience parks in the UK.”

“I decided on this because it was summer so I thought this would be the perfect vacation spot… I thought everyone would take a break and let’s do something fun.”

Ryu Cheong-woo smiled shyly saying that he had no idea he would be hiking as his first course.

“You’ll feel fine guys don’t worry.”

It’s just about being comfortable with your body.

“Ugh and this…!”

I suddenly took the several tickets that Sun Ah-hyeon took out from the file and handed me out.

There are traces of it being drawn with crayons as if it was made by hand.

‘what.’

I turned over the ticket.

[Experience exemption]

There was even a floral pattern drawn on it.

“It’s okay if you’re not very scared. “There’s no need to force it…!”

“That’s right participation will be voluntary.”

But why only give it to me?

“I mean if you don’t like it while biting…”

“I will.”

“Huh?”

“I said I would.”

This… I wonder if there would be a bastard who would use this in this situation.

I returned the ticket with superhuman patience.

‘I’m going to study ahead.’

While making a plan to push away the clapping Cha Yu-jin and the laughing Keun Se-jin in front of the ghost part-time worker.

And… I will explain that I spent my stay in England with nothing good other than performing.

At this point the plan was abandoned.

“Hey Mundae hyung! [What do you think about us being the only ones to create a truly ‘healing’ course?]”

Even when Cha Yu-jin said this backstage after the performance I was not shaken.

“…It’s a shame.”

“that’s right!”

I decided not to tell you that it was healing only for you.

It will be revealed within 30 minutes anyway.

“First of all I really enjoyed your performance in England. “Our staff brought snow and hearts.”

“Hee hee!”

“thank you! thank you!”

This time the production crew who had seen the performance joined in again smiling.

I wonder if they are ambitiously planning to get more views since a trip abroad once a week is considered an expense.

Anyway the PD finally calls the long-awaited team.

“ruler. This order is… Oh Yu-jin and Moon Dae’s team.”

“Yeah~”

I did not refuse Cha Yu-jin’s request to raise one hand. I hope it’s at least funny.

“The team name is very avant-garde. “I will do what I want to do.”

The PD held the editing point and gestured as if to add a sound effect then continued speaking.

I imitated the PD’s gesture. Bae Se-jin looked at me with eyes of disbelief.

“Oh~ And this writer said he spent a lot more budget than the previous teams!”

“Oh!”

“Luxury!”

Cheers rang out.

“ruler. Then the fantastic healing course that will unfold in ‘Mexico’ is…”

PD turned over the file. Then a huge title is revealed.

- 〈Great White Shark Cage Experience〉

“…After entering the cage and going down to the sea floor… you meet a great white shark.”

“…”

There was a hellish silence for a moment.

“The one from that thriller movie?”

I stayed quiet for a moment and eventually admitted.

“yes.”

“hey!”

Bae Se-jin shouts.

“Park Moon-dae you are the same!”

“Why are you scolding me like that for climbing a mountain to see a great white shark right in front of you?”

Cha Yu-jin responds to the person with the same name who screams. This guy is serious.

“We don’t use our stamina. We chose to have fun! “Everyone chose something strange!”

“What kind of fun is it to be locked in a cage and meet a shark? It must be fun for the shark…!”

“Listen.”

I opened my mouth.

“Healing is originally a combination of recovery emotion and laughter.”

“…however?”

“Our team was in charge of the laughter there.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with an expressionless expression.

“You know it’s bullshit… right?”

huh.

Liu Chengwu smiled and opened his mouth.

“In the end no one… chose a healing course that involved a lot of rest.”

“…”

“…”

It was the end of a healing journey without healing.

“No it’s ruined! “You made such a great choice in terms of entertainment!”

I want to punch PD in the mouth.

“And there is also our last one~ Mr. Ravin!”

The name of the person with the most workaholic temperament in this group is called.

“yes!”

“This is what happened Mr. Ravin. Let’s take a look at the course in advance!”

I was excited.

I rubbed my temples feeling like I already guessed what the ending would be but…

- 〈Star-Counting Night Massage Experience〉 plan.

Go horseback riding to a beautiful plateau next to the lake where you can enjoy an aromatic campfire and a full meal prepared by the chef.

Afterwards you will receive a massage from a professional while looking at the Milky Way outdoors in a warm breeze.

And after taking a hot spring bath I went to bed.

"…"

"sorry. "Everyone chose a course that would highlight the characteristics of each country and the individuality of the team while contributing to their idol-like duties but I was the only one who went overboard in my attempt to recreate my past vacation…"

"I love you Ravin."

"Kim Rae-bin is the best."

"…??"

That's how Testa went to see the shark pledging to take the promised final healing course…

For reference episode 1 was released the very next day.

A healing journey without healing.

…For the first time I started to be afraid of the fan reaction wondering what kind of feedback this entertainment show that had not even aired would receive.

Chapter 419

The names of the Testa healing entertainment show were like this.

-〈Healing Artisan Testa〉

Healing Testa for short.

It was a name that clearly showed an ambition to give the cast a good rest.

Naturally as soon as the plan was announced and the sequel was mentioned in the production team's previous work Testa fans went crazy.

-at las

-Supply with demand! Supply on demand!

-Ah let us watch Testa Camping too╥╥╥Ah1!!!

However everyone also knew about the brilliant records of this entertainment production team.

It is truly a history of betrayal!!

So after the enthusiasm had passed cool-headed speculations about the production team's big picture were already pouring in.

-I feel like I'm going to put on a healing mask and hit the kids in the back again.

-Look healing programs usually use indirect gambling methods. Anyone can see that this is irony haha.

-Oh no let the kids play comfortably.

Fans cried out to the production team to please give up on betrayal and the production team responded with a pre-release.

[Testa and Producer Jeong take on the challenge of healing… Betrayal (X) Sincerity (O) Testa's plan to do whatever he wants | 〈Healing Artisan Testa〉 pre-release video]

The pre-release began with the production team having a conversation after hearing news about Testa's camping trip.

[Testa's substanceless healing camping that is heating up the Internet…]

[(Photo) (Certification)]

[It spreads to criticism of Testa's infernal entertainment without healing in the past!]

The broadcast footage of Testa making a vain expression or screaming at the production crew's vicious moves flashed like a flash of light.

And this is what comes out.

[Writer Lee: Honestly the PD did too much.]

[PD: These people do it all together and only make me the devil.]

[LOL]

The production team who had been passing the blame to each other looked back one by one on the entertainment they did with Testa and eventually acknowledged it.

[PD: It was a little(?) excessive.]

[Self-objectification begins]

And after reflecting I tried calling Testa.

That's right. Even Park Moon-dae of the world didn't realize it at the time but the production crew had designed this as a picture for filming.

[PD: Hello testers~ How are you? (puppetry)]

The PD gently cajoles Testa in a very encouraging voice.

And the picture where Testa who has already been fooled many times especially Park Moon-dae barely gets the OK amidst doubt and caution.

[Park Moon-dae: Good.]

[!]

[I was caught…! Ah not this time]

[It's a choice you won't regret… ☆]

-Hey the production team has been rejuvenated right? lol

-Park Moon-dae behind the subtitles synthesized with disillusionment a fan who must have gone crazy and vomited from laughing

-The leader is Ryu Cheong-woo but first of all he is a tester who implements a policy of preferential treatment for victims.

-Did you guys from the production crew use drugs to stop using hard and kissing effects on your smartphone?

[Producer's Karma]

[You have to pay it back properly this time.]

The smartphone whose call was disconnected dynamically disappeared and a thrilling BGM was played.

[The highest production investment ever!]

[I really do everything I want to do as a tester!]

The cheers of Testa enjoying healing were mixed in the background.

[and]

[oh my god!]

[〈Indonesia England Mexico and even Chile〉]

On the screen the capitals of each country and picturesque scenes passed by followed by the image of Testa running out of the airport excitedly.

[Everything is Testa's choice!]

[Will Testa an entertainment craftsman successfully create healing?]

[Healing Artisan Testa See you on Tuesday August 23rd~]

It ends with Testa and Munge waving and smiling.

It created an atmosphere where it felt like if you betrayed yourself here even if it was a variety show the production crew would look down on you and criticize you.

So the fans believed it.

-It's awesome.

-Wow it really is healing.

-Even during the hit tour there is entertainment and the kids are even healing which is the best.

I was completely relieved.

-I'm really looking forward to hearing that the kids are planning it themselves. I can also know their tastes.

-If there are 4 countries who will form a 2-person team individually or will we pick one as a group?

And as a second pre-release a hotel party night during Testa's tour was revealed making the atmosphere even more heated.

-Healing!

It was in this situation that episode 1 was released.

After the heartwarming team-sharing mini-game Testa's fun flight cut and the great performance cut… what appeared.

[Climbing an active volcano]

"…"

"…"

What is this?

Homma who was watching the premiere in a rented cafe room with her graduate student friend had her pupils trembling.

The graduate student spit out the ade he was drinking.

However Testa's appearance climbing like a rock climbing goat does not change.

[Seon Ah-hyun: The air is so nice…!]

[Park Moon-dae: (can't even answer)]

Why are our kids training instead of healing…?

As soon as we get a cut of the two Sejin walking in silence a flashback scene begins with a cut of their conversation.

[Lee Se-jin: Oh how about a natural swimming pool with a waterfall? And the water park looks good too? There is also a safari!]

[Bae Se-jin: It's good to have fun but… you don't have to be in Indonesia to go there. I thought… a temple or a history museum would be more unique.]

[Lee Se-jin: Oh yes.]

The two began to create a healing plan quite excitedly.

"But why are you climbing?!"

"for a moment"

Because soon we will run into difficulties.

[Bae Se-jin:… Yes I think places like rice terraces would be worth seeing. If you go to the next museum you can also get historical explanations!]

[Lee Se-jin:… Oh brother but our name is healing entertainment so wouldn't that be a bit too sophisticated?]

[Bae Se-jin: Entertainment can also have cultural meaning!]

[Lee Se-jin: That's right. Still it's nice to see that it's funny and fun but has additional meaning!]

[Bae Se-jin: It will be fun.]

[Lee Se-jin: Hey let's ask the staff over there will they all choose the water park?]

Their goals were very different.

[Lee Se-jin:…]

[Bae Se-jin:…]

A video of ferocious red pandas confronting each other is spread translucently behind the faces of two people with the same name.

[Breathless confrontation]

There's even an interview.

[Lee Se-jin: Do you know that?]

[Lee Se-jin: We… MBTI is also the opposite.]

Coo thump!

There is a lightning effect.

Lee Se-jin's desperate character appeal interview which she conducted with the determination that she would not be caught on camera for being too cheap served as excellent material.

[Two people with the same name only]

[These people… nothing is right!]

I thought the images of the two of them choosing completely opposite menus including the in-flight meal had been edited out…

Different cuts pass by including the way they carry their suitcases the way they play with the members and even the way they cover themselves with blankets.

[What's surprising here]

[※It is said to be a good fit when working]

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssd

That was the beginning of all tragedy.

The two looked at each other funny with exaggerated subtitles and effects as if they couldn't understand each other and came to a dramatic compromise.

[Lee Se-jin: Bro then should we just… do something that will help us with our activities? Self-development?]

[Bae Se-jin:…! That's… okay.]

[(poof) So I decided to work (porridge)]

The course is introduced in strong cursive with magnificent BGM.

[The basis of performance is physical strength!]

[3-day climbing course to train Testa's physical strength]

Hell fire burns.

-hey

-Ugh.

-I can't even imagine.

-Guys there was no need to be this serious about things but no.

-I'm going crazy lol.

People were shocked and burst into laughter that the first course was a total failure. And the production team did not miss this piece of cake.

It was well directed to make the two very different people bicker and still get along quite casually.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: How about a fine for someone who comes out late in the morning?]

[Bae Se-jin: (Agree)]

[Lee Se-jin: (Agree)]

When it comes to things like fines for being late we both nod our heads in agreement.

Even so in our daily lives we caught glimpses of each other looking at each other as if we couldn't understand each other and it came out as a reaction.

[Lee Se-jin: Would you like to drink ice water at Mundaemundae? Ah but it's not free~ You have to show 3 types of cute gestures to the camera.]

[Bae Se-jin: (Why don't you give it to me quickly? Why is your face like that?)]

[We don't really understand each other]

[ENTJ 〈-〉 ISFP]

It couldn't be that funny.

"Puhahaha!!"

'oh my god'

The graduate student burst into laughter and shed ade and Homma was both laughing and impressed.

'It worked out well!'

In fact the two Sejin are not very close… because they were steadily attracting aggro under the water.

The general consensus was that someone was ignoring someone or not talking when the camera was off but it seemed quite vague perhaps because of the incredible editing.

‘It’s not healing for Testa! Still this is surprisingly healing for the fans.’

Homma felt the coolness of inhaling a can of cider.

‘Now we won’t be able to hear bullshit like the University of Science and Technology encouraging Lee Se-jin to bully Bae Se-jin!’

And separately the climbing itself was quite enjoyable to watch as a viewer.

The beautiful and amazing scenery of the active volcano and the image of Testa climbing the mountain while communicating with the locals passed by at a fast pace.

In addition the PD’s obnoxious and funny appearance of crazy aggro and the final climax came out.

These are the author’s words.

[Last day of course]

[I briefly spoke to Sejiniz.]

[Writer Park: But couldn’t you just go to the rice paddies one day and the water park one day?]

[Lee Se-jin: !!!!]

[Bae Se-jin: !!!!]

It was a perfect healing solution.

After a shocked silence.

After the two Sejins the members' nagging and cute resentment during the climb rewinded…

[Lee Se-jin: Our wonderful and talented writer Park please keep this a secret.]

[Bae Se-jin: (nods vigorously)]

In response to that earnestness author Park clapped and burst into laughter before falling down.

And large subtitles appear along with a nice advertisement cut of the water park and rice terraces.

[I kept your secret~]

[Starting today all you have to do is prevent Testa members from accessing WeTube. 〈Sejin Izu〉 Fighting! ^^]

It was nonsense.

"Hahaha!"

"Oh you must be crazy!!"

The two friends also burst into laughter. The two soon forgot their embarrassment that it wasn't healing and were calmly watching 'Healing Master Testa'.

'This is fun!'

It was truly a trustworthy combination.

[End of first healing(?) course]

In addition episodes 1 and 2 were released simultaneously allowing the first course "Sejin Izu" to be watched all at once.

In the end it ended with a comfortable sleep at the hotel so it ended well without being too sadistic.

[Mungge: The brothers took turns hugging Munge as they looked at the wonderful mountains.]

[Mungge: It's so warm! It's cool and pretty!]

It was very cute even ending in the form of a picture diary of Munge sleeping soundly among the members.

The two people who rented the room cafe even applauded cheerfully as if they had just seen the ending credits. It was a bit unexpected but it was really fun and good!

"Ah it was fun!"

"Who's next? Ah Ryu Cheong-wu and Sun Ah-hyun."

Homma who was speaking guessed it and even graduate students knew.

'This must be truly healing!'

It may have been an attempt to attract a slightly larger audience by organizing episodes 1 and 2 like an entertainment show.

People with deep roots in the idol world including Homma assumed that and many people said the same on social media. And the common reaction of all Testa fans was that real healing would come from next time…

next week.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: But we all really enjoy our leisure time in the summer.]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: I was worried that there might be someone who didn't want to do it so I came up with a plan for that as well.]

[These people… are ready to truly enjoy healing.]

After a gentle discussion what the two members of the Happy Trip team presented was… a fearful experience.

"…??"

For reference the viewer's feelings were represented on screen by Park Moon-dae.

[Park Moon-dae: (denies reality)]

[Park Moon-dae: (read again)]

[Park Moon-dae: (Reality)]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Park Moon-dae:…!!!!]

– Hahahahahahahahahahahaha

– ㅅㅂMoondae's facial expression

-(Seon Ah-hyun even you)

-This is the first time I have seen Ahyeon look at me like that.

-For reference I also feel the betrayal towards leader Hyung-ah.

And the suffering did not end there.

[Seon Ah-hyun: It's okay if you're not a very scary person. There is no need to force it…! (mercy)]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Yes participation will be voluntary. (kindly)]

The ticket 'Experience Exemption Ticket' presented by the two people.

The production team provided this explanation.

[❀Coward Certification Rights❀]

[If you write ↑ you are certified as a cowardly crybaby]

The subtitles written in an old-fashioned font were attached and moved on the handmade ticket with amazing skill.

And even Park Moon-dae's face with his teeth clenched.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Park Moon-dae absolutely participates

-LOL you evil LOL.

-I can't stand it. If he had endured that he wouldn't have debuted. Hahaha.

Viewers burst into laughter and as expected Park Moon-dae shouted the call making them burst into even more laughter.

And the next one was even funnier.

[Lee Se-jin: Hahahahaha]

[Cha Yujin: Hahahahaha]

[Two people who haven't figured out the situation yet]

This is because it foreshadows their fate immediately afterward.

[?? : Geaaaa!!]

[?? : Ahhh!!]

[?? : That doesn't taste good!(?)]

Someone screaming desperately.

That was the ending of episode 3.

And the ending credits feature cuts from famous British horror spots.

Of course this change of direction to killing caught viewers' attention and the news quickly spread everywhere.

[Healing Tester I thought it was going to be a fun joke but it turned out to be a real entertainment story.jpg]

[The next step after climbing the Healing Testa is a horror experience hahaha]

[Killing Tester Uproar]

This self-inflicted disaster began to attract enormous aggro from the general public on the Internet and other places.

"…"

"…Shall we prepare an album?"

As a publicity opportunity that came unexpectedly Testa members monitor this mess during the tour.

But the aggro is not over yet.

Because the WeTube channel was operated professionally enough to organize exclusive content it provided subtitles in various languages when released.

So fans in the countries where Testa created the 'Healing Course' were also watching with great anticipation…

-I mean… what did I just see?

-What we expected: Testa who pledges to visit this country again

Reality: It’s the toughest tour in the country screams (capital letters)

-Can’t stop laughing and screaming

Riding on the astonished response of fans in that country Testa’s killer travel story suddenly went viral and began to appear on the country’s popular video tab.

…And in that situation Britain’s famous horror experience was properly broadcast.

Chapter 420

“Ohhh let’s get started! hurry!”

“Achacha wait a minute!”

Keun Se-jin who made popcorn in the hotel’s microwave sat down on the sofa with joy.

‘Damn it.’

After all today is his tour training camp.

I sat nearby feeling like an animal being led to the slaughterhouse.
Sun Ah-hyeon who had been restless for no reason opened her mouth.

“Hey… you don’t have to watch the live broadcast. I think it would be fun to watch a movie…!”

“Monitoring comes first.”

“Ugh…”

Sun Ah-hyun sank and Liu Cheng-wu smiled and picked up the remote control. He seems like a guy with a thick face.

“hmm. Then I’ll play it.”

“Yeah~”

And the smart TV plays real-time videos from WeTube.

[4 3 2 1 0]

[Tiriring~]

“Oooh!”

The first release of Episode 4 of “Healing Master Testa” was beginning.

…The long-awaited horror experience.

[Selection of ‘Happy Trip’]

[British horror attraction course]

The letters are red in color.

Perhaps because it was a cool summer special from the opening of episode 4 all kinds of special effects were added and all the fuss was made.

‘Let’s all experience fear together shall we?’

It wasn’t.

[Horror proxy service]

[※Testa is surprised and viewers are healed.]

“…”

Somehow it’s a bit unfair… no. It would be good if the viewer pool was wide.

“Hahaha!”

Let’s leave it alone and watch the guy who will be screaming at the screen in a little while whether he laughs or not.

On the screen famous horror attractions in England pass by followed by the first attraction selected by the Happy Trip team.

[Evil Hotel]

[An extremely realistic eerie horror that stimulates the five senses is coming from the historic European traditional horror attraction franchise…]

It really sets the mood.

"…that was pretty scary."

"That's right you came out without even knowing how everyone would react~ Now you'll see!"

I crossed my arms.

The testers who were scared on screen and chatting rapidly among themselves after many twists and turns form their own teams and enter the attraction in turn.

The old hallways of the dreary 20th-century building where the lights flicker are littered with blood stains that have turned dark red.

The moment you enter it.

[Kkii Iik]

"evil!"

"I'm already scared!"

The attraction begins when the main gate closes. And as I walk down the muddy hallway one step at a time and pass by the hotel rooms on either side a strange phenomenon occurs.

thud.

[Lee Se-jin: Argh! oh my god!]

[Employees have not yet appeared]

Big Sejin chews popcorn while looking at himself on the screen making a fuss.

“Oh… I’m curious~”

What is that guy on the screen right now?

“No I wonder who had the best reaction~ Ah Sejin shouldn’t lose!”

“…”

That bastard over there is grinning at me I know what he wants to say.

Coincidentally a yellow head is caught by an infrared camera in the scene where screams are rampant.

grow.

[Park Moon-dae: (stiffens)]

[For your information speaking entirely about this person…]

And my fear-related reactions from Testa’s past reality programs which were carefully collected are shown on the screen.

[What is today’s door?]

After that meaningful subtitle I started moving again on the screen…

[Quaaaagh!]

[Oh please save me! ah!]

Suddenly the door to room 404 bursts open on the left and a woman tied to an old bed turns her head and crawls out…

[Park Moon-dae: (nodding)]

[????]

[Good manners]

After bowing we came in together and ran out into the hallway following the rushing members.

"…?!"

"Park Moon-dae you…?"

Why are you so surprised?

I smiled and crossed my arms.

I heard you previewed.

* * *

Around the time when Testa was watching the live broadcast together.

Fans were also giggling as they watched the introduction of episode 4 and were looking forward to the members' reactions.

In particular the member who is famous for having the biggest gap between his ghostly reactions and his usual ones!

-I'm really looking forward to Park Moon-dae.

– Hahahaha Mundaengdaeng pretends not to be scared… I'm already happy.

Moreover the introduction of the attraction was so authentic and eerie that all the members who were somewhat scared became desperate.

[Tearful negotiations to increase staff]

[Lee Se-jin:… I think it would be more fun if our PD and writers all went in together right??]

[Bae Se-jin: That's right.]

[Cha Yujin: That's right! Everyone try it!]

The seeds didn't even work.

[Kim Rae-bin: In that case! I believe you planned the course to be attended by at least several people!]

-This is the first time Kim Raebin speaks in such a forced manner.

-My child is not a medieval rabbit he is just a rabbit.

[PD: Huh? There's nothing specifically like that in the plan… but of course if Testa wants it! Let's join the team~]

[Raebin Kim: Thank you.]

[Lee Se-jin: I love you.]

[PD: But don't you think the 'Happy Trip' team is too unpleasant? uh? You chose a course that suits your taste!]

At the PD's words the members' heads turned to face the two culprits. Ryu Cheong-woo was smiling a little apologetically and Sun Ah-hyun's face was gaping.

But it cannot be broken. And then came words like the devil's whisper.

[PD: Should each team go in alone?]

[Testa: Now wait a minute!]

[This is… ✿❀Beautiful friendship?❀✿]

But it didn't work.

Of course it's not about friendship.

[Cha Yu-jin: Those guys aren't surprised anyway!]

[Bae Se-jin: That's right… if we just disperse the number of people for no reason it will be our loss.]

[Lee Se-jin: That's right. I will definitely take one of these with me!]

Two strong hearts with no reaction.

It was an instinctive reaction that I couldn't throw away that stability totem.

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-That's right you shouldn't kick the kids you're least scared of from the team.

-Two Se-jin what's going on that we suddenly get along well lol?

So after discussion the first attraction team was divided into half.

[Ryu Cheong-woo's team: Lee Se-jin Cha Yu-jin and Park Moon-dae]

[Sun Ah-hyun Team: Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin]

-Jjolboz is back!!

-Oh really haha just looking at the first team list makes me feel embarrassed!

-It's already fun guys.

As the most timid people flocked to the group thinking it was a multi-person team people got excited and let their imaginations run wild.

however.

[Park Moon-dae: (nodding)]

-???

Jjolbo core member Park Moon-dae… is he okay?

-It's my mom.

Park Moon-dae calmly and calmly dismissed all the strange phenomena and appearances of employees with an expression that said 'A mountain is a mountain and water is water.' And I walk briskly down the hallway.

-I'm not a kid like this.

-What kind of Cheongsimhwan did you take?

-Could it be that being scared was also a character?? Did you decide to stop creating concepts today?

While viewers were shocked.

At that moment the video switches to an interview screen.

And the correct answer appears.

[Park Moon-dae: I studied in advance.]

The cool-headed guy spoke triumphantly.

Viewers were even more embarrassed.

-No what did you do?

-Was there even a special lecture on horror?

After leaving comments full of all kinds of bullshit the screen returned to show Park Moon-dae's hotel room from a day ago.

[…hmm.]

Park Moon-dae was lying on the bed and looking intently at the tablet PC.

These are various horror websites. He seemed to be checking intently while twitching his eyebrows occasionally…

There were more interview remarks than expected.

[Park Moon-dae: I searched and checked all the famous horror spots in the UK on their websites and WeTube.]

-no

-That much

-How much do you hate the great king? No it's Mundae.

-Why are you so serious?

But the conversation didn't end there.

[Park Moon-dae: But then the employee's vlog came up as a recommendation.]

-??

-for a moment

-Vlog?

That's right.

Just like the vlogs of amusement park employees there were also personal vlogs of horror attraction employees.

[Park Moon-dae: But in that vlog his SNS account was also uploaded…]

…This means that as I wandered around the web-like world of the Internet I ended up seeing an employee's 10-year-old daughter's birthday party and her wonderful vacation plans.

On the screen the warm SNS screen of an employee who had been granted permission passed brightly.

[Park Moon-dae: So I found out that the employee who played the bed ghost was planning to spend a wonderful vacation on the beach in Spain.]

[Park Moon-dae: (thumbs up)]

And the screen returns to the horror attraction again.

[Ugh!]

However this time an in-heart filter was applied to the bed ghost and a heartwarming BGM played.

It was a prediction of Park Moon-dae's vision.

-yes????

– Hahahahahahahahahahahaha

-Oh I'm going crazy. It's true haha.

-Did the production crew turn around?

Park Moon-dae… studied so much in advance that he reached a point where ghosts seemed like members of modern society living hard in reality.

[I support the bed ghost employee's vacation. by all members of the production team]

With that subtitle Park Moon-dae once again bravely performed the first attraction.

[Pre-study success!]

And I was able to finish the attraction by closing the door like a triumphal general at the back of the team.

None of the members on screen noticed this situation and just took care of Park Moon-dae…

It was a perfect crime.

-I'm crazy.

-Yes our Mundaeng is brave and courageous. He is not afraid of any ghosts. He is so cool.

Although it had the small negative effect of being liked Park Moon-dae must have been satisfied with this remembering his professional virtues.

…if it ended here.

However the screen that evenly illuminated the other members once again focused on Park Moon-dae.

[Park Moon-dae's ambitious plan was successful even on the second day.]

[but]

The subtitles change lively.

[Actually you didn't have to!]

On the second day an attraction where you survive in a silent fog-filled cemetery where eerie ghouls arose.

This statement came out.

[Lee Se-jin: Oh I'm using an exemption ticket~!]

[Cha Yujin: I use it too!]

With a grin on their face the two who have the most impressive reaction to a horror experience after Park Moon-dae boldly wrote the 'Experience Exemption Ticket'.

[Park Moon-dae:…!!]

[↑The person who boasted that he would not use it]

Moon-Dae Park quickly took on the team leader.

[Park Moon-dae: Cha Yu-jin didn't you say you don't avoid things like this?]

[Cha Yu-jin: Don't avoid me! But I want to do that!]

That's right.

The content of this horror experience exemption was zombie hunting.

[Cha Yu-jin: My brother uses the exemption too! Come with me!]

[Park Moon-dae: (groans of difficult rejection)]

[Cha Yu-jin: Oh…]

Cha Yu-jin was very disappointed but excitedly disappeared with Lee Se-jin to catch zombies anyway.

– Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

-A very Cha Yujin-like choice.

-No but that looks so fun haha!!

-If I'm good at this Park Moon-dae will be able to do it alone right?

Of course the content wasn't ruined like that.

[Kim Rae-bin: I won't use it! As the number of people decreases you have to deal with your fears alone and there are physical limits to providing unique enjoyment to viewers.]

[↑Adult gentleman type]

-Park Moon-dae gave Kim Rae-bin a late-night meal and gave him 1000 won.

-This is why you like Ravin so much.

-understood

The remaining Testa was sucked into a cemetery-type attraction to voluntarily experience horror content and disappeared…

But anyway Park Moon-dae made a save here as well.

When the two members who screamed the loudest disappeared it felt like a serious chase so it was fun to have another thrilling experience.

-Ah I still tried my best.

-The kids are pretty calm here haha.

-Wow Ryu Cheong-woo why do I have to feel cool here;;

The last day after two fruitful days.

Anyway this time Park Moon-dae appeared in front of the filming crew in triumph but received unexpected news.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Oh I heard that it is more difficult in the UK due to schedule.]

[Park Moon-dae: ????]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: The last attraction was chosen for the next country.]

[Park Moon-dae:…!!!!!]

What that means.

This means that all his preparations will be useless…!

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Failure to predict test scope

-Producer I have a different promise.

-Zebuljae's second defeat

So he ended up having a great time on the scary island of dolls in Mexico until the ionic drink in his hand exploded…

[Seon Ah-hyeon: I'm sorry Moon Dae-ya. Let's use the exemption together with me…!]

[Park Moon-dae: (Imagine for a moment what would happen if I wrote it here)]

[Park Moon-dae: It's okay.]

[~It wasn't okay~]

-Ah ahyun hahaha ㅠㅠㅠ

-Mundae please look at Ahyeon she's so sorry haha.

Episode 4 ended with a real horror experience and it was a happy ending that drew a huge number of views in conjunction with the summer special.

Except one person.

"Hahaha!!"

"Sigh. 100 million!"

Testa's training camp that day ended with Park Moon-dae confiscating all of the members' popcorn.

Still Park Moon-dae will succeed in his revenge battle starting next week.

Because the healing course created by his team "I Will Do What I Want" has finally been aired!

Chapter 421

Park Moon-dae received a lot of attention for a week after the airing of episode 4 which was a preview of the horror experience.

Since it was just as predicted he boldly accepted the fate of the group's laughing button.

'me. really'

There was even a fan who threw a ghost doll at him at the concert venue.

-You're crossing the line (video)

Although such behavior disappeared after causing quite a bit of controversy on social media it meant that the impression of entertainment was clear.

A cowardly guy who makes you want to make fun of him.

-Eldest brothers stroking Park Moon-dae's head on the way home from Doll Island (GIF)

-The dog stiffened like a puppy wearing shoes after stepping on a scary doll lol (photo)

Of course that was the end of the week.

'of course.'

Even though he is reluctant about ghosts he is not reluctant about all other thrilling situations.

Next episode.

[Great white shark cage experience]

Inside the iron cage that sank to the bottom of the sea.

While Testa members dressed in snorkeling gear screamed and moved like mimes.

Park Mun-dae is standing still.

Anyone who sees it will think it is flat land.

-omg

-That's right Mundae was this kind of kid.

Immobility. Then he expresses interest by resting his chin on his hand. This means that he is quietly enjoying the sight of a great white shark trapped in a cage at the bottom of the sea.

[↑ Even after seeing this I am extremely interested]

– and Tibet

In that way Park Mun-dae regained his dignity in one fell swoop!

What's interesting is that Park Moon-dae wasn't the only one who found it interesting.

After a few minutes of group fuss.

[(Gyaaagh!)]

[Kim Rae-bin: (It's a surprisingly delicate-looking creature!)]

[Bae Se-jin: (Not understanding what is being said)]

[Kim Rae-bin: (You don't agree! That's possible!)]

[Bae Se-jin: (Still not sure)]

Surprisingly despite its scary name the great white shark cage experience received favorable reviews from most members.

It was stable enough to be commercialized and because the fear threshold had already increased due to fear experiences it was accepted as fun.

Besides it was definitely an amazing and unique experience.

The course of the 'I will do what I want to do' team was nothing short of a healing success.

-After all it was a broadcast and doing whatever you wanted was the best haha.

Although this team member was selected with extreme consideration for broadcasting the comment was correct for the team leader.

[Cha Yu-jin: It was me and Moon Dae-hyung!]

In the interview cut Cha Yu-jin grinned.

…Although the image of Park Moon-dae catching everything Cha Yu-jin threw behind him under the name of 'two' passed by the two were a team anyway.

[Cha Yu-jin: Teamwork is the best!]

And Park Moon-dae relieves his feelings of betrayal to some extent by taking a two-shot photo of Sun Ah-hyun and the shark.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: (Like this?)]

[Park Moon-dae: (good)]

And on the jungle speedboat that followed he showed great chemistry with Ryu Cheong-woo resolving his (alone) resentment.

Lastly to the zip line on the cliff.

[Cha Yu-jin: Whoa-hoo!!!]

It was extremely exciting but everyone found it fun so surprisingly it didn't cross the line of pain. And Kim Rae-bin's full course which continued in succession soothed all the regrets of fans who expected healing.

-The youngest is the best

-Our rabbit wow how can he be so good at being filial?

Viewers enjoyed the sweet healing after a long killing. Raebin Kim surpassed Munge and became the mascot of healing.

[Mungge: (Look and enjoy! Brothers come quickly to Korea!)]

The healing entertainment ended in a truly healing way with an outdoor shot of a beautiful starry night waving while making a video call with Munge who returned to Korea from Indonesia.

A total of 8 episodes. It was short and intense original content.

-It was really good!

-It's perfect because he took care of everything we wanted to see happily at the end ㅠㅠ

And Chilean fans achieved an unexpected victory.

-Testa enjoyed the beautiful scenery and traditional food of Chile! "True satisfaction"

-Only Chile wins (smiling emoticon)

Although I was a little disappointed.

-Healing (Waving shyly on the difficult 4-day 3-night Torres del

Paine trekking course

And all of this usually happens when Testa does entertainment properly.

Comments from happy viewers and fans.

Park Mun-dae lay down on the bed and put down his smartphone.

I had already deleted the horror preview account that looked like it had been clumsily created to be shown on TV.

Instead the name of the monitoring account which was changed regularly flashed at the top.

-Ah this entertainment show was so good. It filled the gap between tours well… Honestly I'm so amazed and grateful that I didn't lose my original intention with each content.

-I really want to like you for the rest of my life Testa let's keep going like this♡ㅠㅠ

"…"

Like a sign that everything is going back to normal.

As Park Moon-dae watched the stories pouring in he felt it right again.

The confidence and realization that I am back.

"…after."

He put down his smartphone.

The end of the tour.

For the first time in a long time he was able to sleep deeply without having nightmares about waking up in the space of that vague skeletal system again.

Testara was a complete return to orbit.

And Park Moon-dae made a decision the next day.

I agreed with the company and members' story of 'let's prepare an album' but there was something I wanted to do first.

"Big moon."

[Oh my brother! Are you able to contact me now? What's going on?]

"…There's a place I want you to go to."

[yes?]

In Park Moon-dae Ryu Geon-woo closed his eyes and spoke.

"…I want to see my parents."

Entry into the country was quite noisy.

This was because it was my first time in the country since it was difficult to schedule a domestic schedule while filming entertainment shows during the tour.

However his actions after entering the country proceeded quietly.

Today after spending a few days doing some private schedules.

I got dressed and left the room.

"Are you going today?"

"huh."

"Welcome back."

Tuk. I didn't bother to protest against Keun Se-jin who lightly hit me on the back. Instead I bumped the back of my fist into a fist and continued walking.

You can't mobilize people from your company for this job and you can't even use public transportation.

However Park Moon-dae cannot drive without a license. One more person was recruited.

"Are we going to that officetel first?"

"okay."

This is Liu Chengwu who has a license and a car.

The SUV he bought just before the tour came in handy while camping.

"thanks."

"What do you do with something like this?"

Ryu Cheong-woo who willingly gave up a day without a schedule took the wheel.

"I'm leaving."

And after picking up Big Moon at the officetel I arrived at my destination after spending quite a bit of time on the road.

"…hello."

It had been a very long time since I had visited a grave.

I approached the glass cabinets that filled one wall and saw white ceramics behind just one of them.

It is an ossuary.

The simple composition with the name written on it is surrounded by a few photos.

“…”

It took money to bury me and since I was a minor there was nothing I could do properly.

So when I came to my senses it ended with cremation and placement in the charnel house.

I didn’t choose the seat and the view was too high… but it’s okay now.

I lightly wiped the glass cabinet.

“hello.”

Big Moon now Ryu Geon-woo opened his mouth and lowered his head toward the charnel house.

It was something I was grateful for.

I lifted my hand opened the glass and put the bouquet of flowers I bought inside.

The space is narrow. So much so that the bouquet gets crumpled.

“If it’s okay I’d like to move to a larger location.”

“…yes yes?”

Yes what I said to you is correct.

I laughed softly.

“The place of the urn. I can’t do it so please give me an autograph. “Of course I will pay the cost.”

"…! Of course you can… no you don't have to pay for it."

"No I have to give it to you."

If you don't give it to me isn't that a bribe?

And if I don't give money it won't feel like I really did it.

I put on my hat.

Since it is not a weekday or holiday there are hardly any people. Still if you get caught there will be an uproar.

'Three is a lot.'

It feels a bit… strange that there would be a rumor that I visited my friend's parents' crypt.

'It doesn't matter.'

I raised my head took out the bouquet and took it apart. Anyway no matter how much embalming was done it was barely damaged. Take out a few flowers place them in a glass cabinet and close it.

widely.

It didn't look bad.

It was the moment I turned my head to Ryu Chengwu to tell him I would stay a little longer.

"…!"

Are you… crying?

"brother."

"Ah… I'm a bit sorry."

“…”

yes.

This guy is also a relative. My parents.

I looked at the white urn without thinking and thought.

‘…That’s it.’

I don’t really think my parents will be here.

Still I can see it.

‘I’m living well so don’t worry… I’m sorry that the body you gave me has changed. Still they are doing well too.’

I hope that bringing in Ryu Geon-woo who is fine on both the inside and the outside is an extenuating factor. I smiled faintly.

Liu Chengwu also seemed to be standing calmly again after wiping the moisture from his face.

Sunlit interior.

I stood in front of the charnel house for quite some time on a quiet morning.

* * *

After changing the location of the urn to a better place the way back was quiet but the atmosphere was not uncomfortable. However I couldn’t help but ask about this.

“Your parents.”

Big Moon’s shoulders trembled slightly.

“Oh you are in the sea. “You said you wanted to do that a long time ago…”

“…okay.”

Considering the circumstances of this animal there was no cost to bury him in the charnel house so I had a suspicion that it might have been done by the officials but it stopped.

There’s no need to think about such useless thoughts…

“How about we go together when the time comes?”

“ah…”

“Is it far?”

“Oh well. “It’s Ganghwa Island but…”

I thought so.

“Then you have the weekend off.”

“omg! are you okay. “You must be busy again now…”

“Then do you want to go today?”

“…!”

The above statement was not made by me.

“You have time today. let’s go. “I’ll give you a ride.”

These are the words spoken by Liu Chengwu in the driver’s seat.

And after some persuasion the destination was finally decided.

“thanks.”

“No I’ll be seeing the sea for the first time in a while.”

The guy I saw just a month ago while filming a variety show speaks well. So I stopped by Ganghwado Island along that route.

Hwii profit-

Summer season is almost over.

The beach wasn’t completely empty of people but it was still quiet.

Thanks to this Geoldal could sit on the beach bench and look at the sea as long as he wanted.

“…”

I sat on the bench next to him in silence. I knew there was no need to talk to him.

And Liu Chengwu lowered his voice politely and said.

“I’ll go and get something for a moment.”

“What kind of guy even drove?”

But the guy didn’t listen to the answer and turned around turned his back on the beach and started heading towards the mall.

‘I am indeed.’

He was a consistent guy in many ways. That was back then.

It was then.

The sea breeze blows behind him…

somehow. It occurred to me that this cut in my field of vision seemed like a familiar scene.

And I realized it right away.

‘ah.’

That guy… came to Ganghwa Island in a variety show filmed during Steer.

The new variety show that had just started on the public airwaves did not do very well.

-Oh~ After all a national representative!

‘This comes to mind so clearly.’

The memories I recovered by destroying the system settled in my head just as they were originally.

So it’s not a strange shape that pops up all of a sudden but it comes up naturally like this once in a while.

‘Now that I think about it it’s a more unusual situation.’

I was on a team with an idol I recognized before but we were even relatives.

I’ve been using Testa for such a long time that I didn’t notice it right away but this… feels a bit strange.

What I mean is I became a meddlesome person with someone I only knew one-sidedly and we stayed together for quite a long time.

Liu Chengwu and the others too.

“…”

I put my head on the bench.

It was then.

“Park Moon-dae…?”

“…!”

“It’s a real Parkmun University.”

The time has finally come. caught.

Two high school students who came running to the beach to have fun take out their smartphones with excited faces.

“Take that picture!”

“Me too!”

“yes. wait a minute.”

Well this is it.

I lowered my mask and looked at the two people alternately into the smartphone lens.

Then Park Moon-dae’s face appears on the screen.

My parents… well they don’t look alike.

“…”

“thank you!”

“No it’s me.”

Done.

It’s been a few years so let’s not indulge in unnecessary sentimentality.

‘That damn system isn’t helpful.’

I was sure my head was filled with wind because that bastard was imitating someone else's parents as some kind of Antarctic researcher.

'If you knew that I earned this much you would be raising your thumb in the urn regardless of whether your face resembles it or not.'

I nodded inwardly and smiled steadily at the camera.

"Ugh please go in!!"

"yes."

After nodding to the high school students who were leaving I clicked my tongue and turned my head away.

…at that time.

Done.

[outbreak!]

Abnormal status: 'If not ■■ ■■' occurs!

"…!!"

Hologram.

What is this… wait.

"ah."

However when I turned my head again the holographic window that seemed like an afterimage disappeared.

I took a breath.

What is this?

‘…Status window.’

Even if I brought up the status window and looked at everything it was the same.

There is no such thing as an emergency pop-up.

“…”

“brother?”

“no.”

As soon as the high school students leave Geondal talks to them on the bench next to them.

I asked hastily.

“Did you see it?”

“…?? Those guys from earlier? “Did you take a picture?”

I looked at his face. Although he is confused he doesn’t seem to be hiding his slight nervousness.

truth.

I slowly opened my mouth again.

“…okay. “I took a picture.”

“Yes… right?”

I relaxed my shoulders.

I don’t know who is best at detecting status window abnormalities so how could something like that suddenly appear to me?

‘I’m a little sick of it too.’

Maybe it’s because I’m suffering so much that I’m even hallucinating.

I clicked my tongue and adjusted my posture.

“I brought you some ice cream. Do you want to eat one?”

“Oh thank you!”

Not long after Liu Chengwu came back and I decided to cool off by eating ice cream. I was wondering if I was suffering from the heat.

But the shocking news wasn’t over yet.

“And I just got a call from the company.”

“company?”

“huh. “He says he has something serious to discuss.”

And Liu Chengwu continued speaking as if he could not understand.

“…are you saying we should postpone the album?”

what?

Chapter 422

Row when the water comes in.

There is no place where this formula does not work in any field of making money but this is especially true in the entertainment industry.

Even if you bring the same thing doesn't it depend on whether it's popular or not depending on the trend?

But now that the tide is pouring in with entertainment why is the company insisting on delaying the album that was planned and released by its affiliated label?

"A bandwagon? It's important. However Testa is now past the point where it desperately needs to be a hot topic. "He is a top idol in name and reality."

"…"

"Well now that I think about it I heard that the former director got into a lot of trouble by forcing Testa to produce his debut album on his own in just a month."

"yes."

And it was a big hit bastard.

I looked at the company director who was speaking with a puzzled look on his face.

It's quite interesting that instead of the general manager who once screwed up the label when it became independent someone else suddenly calls someone over and starts talking.

“At that time it was important to debut quickly and have a broadcasting impact on time but now Testa is a brand in itself.”

uh.

“So I thought it would be a more Testa-level move to pay more attention to each and every detail of the album quality and raise the details.”

The director made an intelligent recommendation and Raebin Kim immediately raised his hand.

“But the current plan is not so time-sensitive compared to the past.”

The director shrugged his shoulders at the workaholic’s remark that he had even produced a movie OST draft in just a week.

I guess you already guessed it.

“But if there is enough time it is a complement. “We can discover new additions and develop again right?”

“Um… that’s right!”

Kim Rae-bin is immediately convinced by the reasonable remark. Cha Yu-jin almost looked at Kim Rae-bin with a rare look in her eyes.

Anyway having overcome one obstacle the director continues speaking in a much more calm and polite tone.

“Of course if our testers say they will release an album now the company will do our best to support it.”

Is that so?

“It’s just an opinion that this is more appropriate.”

“Is that your decision?”

“Well actually this is a story that came out after discussion at a company executive meeting. “The CEO himself even agreed to it.”

oh. Blame someone else.

Since the head of the company has experienced being treated poorly when Testa became an independent label he doesn’t turn his tongue at us like he would at his subordinates.

He just comes off like a formal and polite business partner. Like a hand to persuade investors.

“After all the testers are the most iconic and highest-selling artists of this company. “This is something we have thought a lot about.”

“thank you.”

“Thank you. “Of course it’s the agency’s job.”

He even jokes about it and seriously presents a new plan.

“Of course I am not saying that we should abandon the topicality of entertainment. “I’ve received a proposal to broadcast the live performance of Testa’s concert tour over the airwaves and I’m thinking of going ahead with this.”

The director who was originally from entertainment explained the plan quite convincingly.

The members listened to it seriously.

The atmosphere wasn’t bad.

“First of all thank you very much for your kind words. Would it be okay if we talked a little more among the members?”

“Of course.”

At Liu Chengwu’s words the director obediently let us go. As if to make a decision with ease.

So after returning to the dorm the atmosphere became like this.

“…I don’t think it was something I had to call you in such a hurry to talk about.”

“I am grateful that you are seriously considering the quality of the newly released album but I think we have been working with sufficient support recently!”

The one who muttered suspiciously and the one who accepted it with good intentions. And both of them are wondering why someone so high called them.

However the guy who understood the situation is smiling bitterly next to him.

“Ah now I want to give less.”

“what?”

“It’s an album. Even paying that is an investment.”

Yes this is the core of the agency’s story.

-I won’t release the album.

Bae Se-jin raises his eyebrows at Keun Se-jin’s calm words.

“…This company has a lot of money.”

“Well even if it’s not money… things like good manpower and promotional ideas are limited right? That’s it~”

The moment when the question mark on Bae Se-jin’s face turns into an exclamation mark.

I came to a conclusion.

“It is more profitable for the company to just go on tour and invest in raising the weight of groups that have a lot of contract time remaining.”

“…!!”

My eyes are going to pop out.

No looking at it again not only Bae Se-jin but also Kim Rae-bin and Sun Ah-hyun have similar facial expressions.

“Then if we continue like this…”

“yes.”

This is the reality of first-tier idols whose contract period is not far away.

“From now on we will begin to focus on maximizing the consumption power of our fans rather than a new album.”

“…!”

“As for the album… I’ll give you one early next year after seeing the nuances of renewing my contract.”

It is fortunate that there is no album contract in Japan. Otherwise I would have only rolled it from that side.

Bae Se-jin’s face cools.

“…I don’t understand we set up a label… If we renew our contract we will stay so why are we doing this? “What if we renew the contract right away?”

That won’t work. There is a defect in the terms of the contract.

Because the one who bows first and enters first is the one who suffers the loss.

Moreover if the conditions are good it is a problem. Big Sejin shakes his head and opens his mouth.

“When a contract is renewed the ratio is usually adjusted so that the artist is paid more. From the company’s perspective the return on investment is lower!”

“…!!”

yes. The better the singer’s settlement the more the company loses.

Moreover there are more practical problems.

“Even if we exclude that I think we’ll still be behind in album investment.”

“why??”

I admitted it.

A painful reality.

“We are going to the military too.”

“…”

Because V-Tik is not something of the future.

Because we debuted older than them. Still I can rub it in for a few more years.

I waited for the person who had to go first to digest the shock before continuing.

“And from the perspective of growing a company investing in a rising company looks more attractive than a group that is already afloat.”

“…okay?”

“yes. Shareholders only like new businesses with good prospects. “The superiors also like it because they feel competent.”

This will be especially true for the board of directors who the head of the division is having a lot of trouble with now that they are suffering from business disease.

They even signed a contract with Testa telling them to stop meddling with the company because they would make money so the moment their juniors become more popular Testa will become a cash cow.

Conclusion.

-From a business perspective I now want to grow a new group with the money I raised from Testa!

“Whoa…”

“Oh my brother take a deep breath.”

Bae Se-jin’s face turned bright red but finally calmed down.

I should also tell you some good news.

“But I think you can finally pursue acting in earnest.”

Instead of an album I will gradually diversify it into individual activities.

I raised both fists and cheered.

“go for it.”

“I’ve already done enough…!”

Bae Se-jin gloomily sinks into the sofa muttering “Psycho Pass” four times in a row. It looks like the acting experience he had in the fake world of the system has not gone anywhere.

Liu Chengwu laughs as if he is a little embarrassed and makes a suggestion.

“But we said we wouldn’t stop us from releasing an album so shall we prepare it?”

“I’m not going to stop it it’s as if I’m going to hand it over but the schedule will continue to be pushed back and postponed due to sudden circumstances at the company.”

“…”

Even if the affiliated label plans independently the company ultimately sets the release schedule.

‘There are a lot of excuses.’

Maybe it overlaps with another artist in the company or the timing is bad…

Then if you’re lucky you manage to pay one before renewing your contract but even then the promotions are a bit poor… Isn’t that the typical route?

“Well actually I expected this far.”

I’ve been anticipating this development since I heard these bastards said they should postpone the album because it’s a season.

But there is one more thing.

“This means you won’t say anything until the end.”

I chuckled. Kim Rae-bin who had an open mouth and a blank expression as if denying the world asks in disbelief.

“Is there… again?”

“uh.”

I brought my laptop from my room. A few people are chasing me why am I doing this when there is no need to do this?

Anyway I loaded the file on the screen and opened it.

“This is our company T1 Stars’ plan for the fourth quarter of this year.”

“Where do you get something like this from Mundaemundae?”

“It was announced at the shareholders’ meeting.”

All you need is the contact information of an employee who has permission to access the company document box.

anyway.

“If you look at the monthly plan there… Yes October.”

This is the exact section where we originally planned to release the album this time.

“…!!”

“this.”

I nodded.

“It’s a spacer.”

[Mid-October – Release of Spacer’s 1st full-length album / Target to increase overseas sales]

That’s right. This was to prevent Testa from taking over the existing spacer album release plan.

This is not the end.

“Then how are these pictures connected?…”

I said shaking my hand off the mouse.

“Do you remember earlier that instead of making a comeback with our album we scheduled a performance to be broadcast over the airwaves?”

“Ugh.”

“It will definitely sound different once it materializes.”

Well it would be difficult to broadcast the entire concert considering copyright and VOD sales rates so let’s only do some of the performances.

…And anyway let’s fill the free time with other groups instead.

For example this agency’s new male group.

spacer.

“We will expand the broadcast of our performance into the second part of the agency’s special include them and make a comeback with that buzz.”

“…!!”

In short it is the start of a generational change in which fans expect to switch to spacers during our gap year.

At that moment Bae Se-jin came to his senses and shouted.

“Now wait a minute Park Moon-dae you said last time that the company wouldn’t do anything like generational change yet…! “Because we’re renewing our contract!”

“Yes I thought so.”

“…”

…I thought they wouldn’t try something like this even if it was a waste of the goose that lays the golden eggs since they had established a good friendly relationship.

It seems like they are slowly losing ground and dissatisfaction is building up because they have made it independent as a label so that no one can get involved.

‘These bastards dare to use transfer tricks.’

And so blatantly.

“Woooo!”

“…Isn’t this against the principle of good faith? “I think we can argue but how can I put pressure on him or something…”

“hmm. “It seems difficult.”

It seems that Bae Se-jin’s options have expanded a lot after trying to get the CEO of an actor’s agency to commit a plaster crime.

But it’s hard to cause a dispute with the company over something like this.

“In the first place this isn’t about fighting with your agency.”

“…then?”

“They just release the album late. “I got pushed down by priorities.”

In fact it means that no matter where you go it is a natural flow for any agency that nurtures new talent. It’s not that this agency is particularly vicious.

“…”

Bae Se-jin sat down on the sofa again with a sinking face. Even those around me get a wry smile and one comment at a time.

“It’s difficult.”

“Sure.”

“…I didn’t know you would worry like this after going through such a supernatural experience.”

“Even heroes who save the world have their own issues. “We just have to win again!”

Cha Yu-jin shrugs.

It may be disillusioning to see that you worked so hard to achieve success only to be filled with people who want to take advantage of you but isn’t that what capitalism is all about?

As expected the atmosphere became a little better with his neat remarks as befits a guy from a country that is the headquarters of capitalism.

“Okay again… there will be a number.”

“That’s right we have a door stand.”

“…?”

Anyone who sees me will think I’m a goblin’s bat.

Of course I wanted to give up like this and refuse to release a new album until next year. Raising the quality of the album isn’t a bad thing… but isn’t that the goal of these bastards?

It’s like they’re slowly using up the fans they have and just sucking the sweet water out of them.

‘These bastards think they’re the only ones paying money to make it happen.'

It was time to click my tongue.

"excuse me."

"hmm?"

Sun Ah-hyun raised her hand. And he says it quite emphatically.

"Wouldn't it be okay if we did better than those spacers?"

"…!"

"Ohh."

"Well… if we do better and show a great performance during the live performance. that. The company might change their minds too. Because it doesn't work…!"

It was quite an extreme statement for something that Sun Ah-hyun made but it was standard. This is also the method we have been using so far.

In a head-on fight just take off the rank insignia stick with it and crush it.

But this time the case is a little different.

"Still Spacer will benefit."

The reason is simple.

'Because they're not in the same weight class to begin with.'

Are you hanging out with the dogs?

It is natural that we do better. This is just a situation where you have to do overwhelmingly well to break even.

Conversely since they are in the same agency they can receive the halo effect of being a 'direct junior of a group that is so good' and take care of other demands.

"Uhm…"

"I see. sorry…"

"Oh no but it was a cool and refreshing way."

"that's right! "It was great!"

"okay."

While Sun Ah-hyun is receiving encouragement Ryu Cheong-woo asks the members directly.

"Then you want to refuse to broadcast the live performance at all?"

"hmm."

Surprisingly there are quite a few people who are so upset that they even consider such drastic options.

But not everyone is like that.

"for a moment! Our thoughts are too focused on one side right now. Should we each think about it a little more and talk about it? "I just need to keep preparing for the album~"

"Oh that's right."

You did a good job cutting it off when you needed it.

When our eyes met Big Sejin shook his head slightly as if he had no answer but whatever he said got through to me.

Because the meeting ended there.

“Let’s get some rest.”

“yes.”

Each member left with a look of deep thought…

“hmm.”

I sat there clenched my chin and made a phone call.

The cleanest method here without any other conflicts. Actually there is.

‘It’s about eliminating substitutes.’

That means sending away the spacer.

A way to eliminate the option so that you have no choice but to invest only in Testa.

-…

“…”

-… That brother. Shall I use the wish ticket now? Should I use it!?

“no. “Save it.”

Spacer Kwon Hee-seung’s long sigh of relief can be heard over the speaker.

I was calling to ask if this guy knew about the live performance of the concert but he was quick to notice.

‘…I owe this guy something.’

Now that I think about it it might be right to look at it more long-term.

In the future this agency will pick up all groups that come out through survival programs on Tnet so there are many investment options even if you are not a spacer.

‘I need to approach it from a different direction.’

That’s what I concluded.

And in the meantime the agency began to show schedules that were more and more as expected.

“I heard they might be adding to the tour schedule?”

This was the first step.

Chapter 423

Raebin Kim opened his mouth with a nervous face.

“To sum up when our live performance is broadcast demand is expected to increase due to the promotional effect so the company plans to launch a kind of encore tour accordingly. “Is it true that you are planning additional concerts?”

“okay.”

“But this is all a planned route and is it somehow… a conspiracy to make it acceptable for us to go on tour further without backlash?”

“It’s similar.”

It’s not a conspiracy it’s just a trick to please people.

Raebin Kim then looked vain as if he had realized that his company was a global drug smuggling organization.

Anyway I understand.

“Wouldn’t fans be suspicious too? “If you don’t keep releasing our albums like this.”

“Even if fans are suspicious public opinion won’t be formed because they don’t know much.”

In fact I think there is a high probability that even fans who enjoy the content lightly will not even think about it that far.

Just looking at Testa it makes no sense in terms of market economy not to release an album. I’m just wondering if I’m late because I’m filling the album with my own songs.

“It’s not like we have a lot of experience or our last album’s performance was bad.”

“…I see. “If we count ourselves it’s only been four years.”

In fact objectively Testa is in the beginning of his prime having just won the grand prize and ascended to a first-tier idol in name and reality.

Big Sejin smiled bitterly.

“But it’s a 5-year contract not a 7-year contract so there’s nothing we can do about it.”

okay.

The problem is that abnormal 5-year contract and…

‘The point is that it is an agency affiliated with a broadcasting station that can endlessly produce new groups with considerable reputation through survival programs.’

We created a label to prevent them from taking away our planning staff but everyone is sighing when they don’t schedule activities.

“Still it’s a bit awkward to tour like this haphazardly.”

“I love that performance! But I can’t lose. “We are now boycotting the tour.”

“Isn’t the boycott a bit strange from the perspective of the person doing it? “But it’s our meeting.”

“Can’t I just say I don’t want to do it because I don’t want to…?”

They are protesting that they will not go on tour.

I touched my chin and predicted a future where that would become a reality.

[Famous male idol group…"We won't be holding a concert" riot in the conference room]

-Who is it?

-Some initial consonants

-I heard under the circumstances is this nonsense trustworthy?

-It's just a rumor but if it's true isn't it ㄹㅈㄷ;

"Because they are uncooperative I think they are less willing to renew the contract so I think they will try to beat them up in the media to lower the price."

"…"

Bae Se-jin's expression became odd as if a bad memory had passed through her.

"I know."

okay. At the beginning of my debut I looked at the case of my former agency like X and looked up some information. Those bastards are a bit special so it's rare that they don't do it at all.

Anyway that's why we decided to wait for the right time rather than refuse to watch a live concert on the airwaves.

"Preparations for the album are continuing."

"okay."

And as expected the broadcast changed at some point from our concert to distributing part of the set list to guests.

"These kids are really…"

"As expected the door handle is a pair of tweezers~"

In addition it was assigned in a clever style that did not call it an agency concert at all like the last time using the language of 'the agency's juniors appearing on the auxiliary stage.'

The title is that the Testa performance was correct.

'I guess I want to use the whole Testa topic.'

If you're not annoyed you're not human but it's difficult to deny it.

Since there are people with a stake in the concert such as broadcasting companies and investment companies if we drag it out over copyright issues we will only accumulate an angry image for no benefit.

'You have to aim for one shot.'

Before that I need to humble myself a bit and say that I don't really know the full picture of how things are going.

"Let's practice."

"of course. Now let's all adjust the angle of the feet again."

And while I was refining the concert stage for broadcast… I got a phone call from a company representative that I wasn't expecting.

From juniors.

But it wasn't a spacer.

-Hello senior!

Mirinae Park Min-ha is the idol who came in second place on Azusa.

The purpose was to 'inquire about the auxiliary stage' but when I actually answered the phone he said something else.

-I…

“yes.”

-Senior I have something important to say to you. First of all I apologize for taking up your time. Can I take your time?…?! No sleep.

“yes.”

But why are you so embarrassed again?

“I don’t think it’s a waste of time just get to the point.”

-…! Yes it’s no different…

Mirinae got straight to the point.

-Is there any way to move other groups in the company to your label?

“…!”

They called it ‘another group’ but in reality there is only one group that juniors will ask about.

Themselves.

“Are you talking about Mirinae?”

-… Yes. Including us. Since it’s basically the same company I was wondering if there was a way to change the affiliation even if the ratios and such remained the same…

As expected.

‘But you should ask the label representative why are you asking me?’

As expected I was a little nervous because I thought the announcement that I was appearing under a label at an awards ceremony was too strong but for now I just explained common sense.

“You could just put in conditions when renewing the contract. But isn’t Mirinae’s contract renewal still more than a year or two away?”

-ah. hmm.

The voice lowers slightly and hesitates.

‘hmm.’

Is this by any chance?

I deliberately asked this out loud.

“Is there another problem now?”

-That’s actually…

Take a deep breath.

-I think the album… will be pushed back a lot.

“…”

-Many of our staff members have recently moved out due to personnel reshuffle.

yes.

“You didn’t quit the company but went to another team.”

-… yes.

I get the idea. But our case here is slightly different.

-There is a new group that will debut under this agency this time. Those who debuted on the <B My Girls> program.

“ah.”

What this junior was talking about was Tnet's new survival program that just ended. The broadcasting station couldn't give up the idol survival taste.

Although it did not have the same impact and buzz as Azusa it managed to perform well overseas and thanks to that it secured a basic fan base.

And from what I see on the internet…

[A survival program where the final debut group is said to be the best hope ever]

As soon as the debut group list was published I saw an article saying that the number of people interested had increased significantly.

A new group with a clean and secured fan base that doesn't have the image of a maknae like 'Azusa'? They are probably excited and are adding manpower.

And where did the manpower come from?

They ripped off people who worked in the same field.

-The people we worked with left… The album production was in progress but has now stopped.

So this is not a question of the contract renewal period at all.

This means that as an attractive new business item emerges even the existing planning personnel are hired and assigned to it.

Since there is no separation of labels here it is difficult for singers to defend even if they take it all the way. They are company personnel from the beginning.

then.

'I think they probably talked about adding a tour as well.'

Among the guests we included in our concert Mirinae was definitely one.

Here too we will talk about the promotional effects set up a tour and save time and money until we hire new planning staff. Because it is a group with a good overseas fan base.

Even if you catch it in advance they won't tell you in advance.

There probably aren't that many idols who welcome the fact that they'll be on tour all year long.

Anyway Mirinae's second place continued speaking quite calmly.

-If it's an independent label there are separate employees so I thought things might be a little different from ours… so I was going to ask what it would be like.

It was an honest answer without a half-hearted laugh. It looks like they took the situation quite seriously.

'I think he guessed that we were in a similar situation.'

Still no matter how similar your situation may be you would be reluctant to say this to a senior from another group.

'I recognize your guts.'

Still there is no way for you to change affiliation now. Even if I know I won't say anything.

"Even if it is independent it is ultimately a subsidiary so there is nothing special about it. And as for moving it now… I'm not really sure because I'm not an employee with that kind of authority."

-… Oh yes! sorry. I told you this too suddenly!

But before that a pretty good idea occurred to me.

After listening to this case one thing became clear.

‘In the end the company turns its attention to new projects that seem promising.’

“…”

Hmm worth thinking about.

Let’s make some ground food first.

-I should have organized my thoughts more before contacting you but I made a mistake in my first greeting and showed a bad side of myself. I will be more careful from now on!

“it’s okay.”

Anyone who sees me will think I am his boss. I held back a sigh and started laying the groundbait.

“And about the album.”

-… yes.

“Now that I think about it I don’t think there are any ways to make a profit even if you don’t transfer to a label.”

-…!

“Are you willing to cooperate? “I can’t say it’s not dangerous at all.”

There was a short silence on the other end of the phone and then a question was asked.

-What kind of danger is it?

In fact I’m saying that I will do it if I can.

I laughed and opened my mouth.

“The risk of the agency disappearing.”

“…?!”

* * *

“So the Testa side has been sorted out?”

“yes. “We will proceed as is without any other special issues.”

T1 Stars’ largest conference room.

Working-level staff attended the general meeting on Monday morning and talked busily.

To be precise it is the time when directors nod their heads every time they say something give a plausible answer and expect time to pass quickly.

“As much as possible we need to secure a time slot rather than a running time. “Isn’t that right?”

“Yes yes…”

This week’s topic is a story about the planning of Concert Version 2 a production company disguised as the Testa Concert which will be broadcast over the airwaves.

And the story about hiring came and went for a moment but… Anyway.

A public relations employee who had bright eyes with many years of experience but seemed to be going crazy from boredom suddenly thought.

‘Now that I think about it why do I do this on public broadcasting instead of Tnet?’

These broadcasting rights were taken away from them as soon as word got out.

The employee became more puzzled because he couldn't think of a suitable answer but he soon deleted it.

What do you know? It was enough for him to just get his salary.

"Thank you for your hard work~"

"I ask everyone to pay more attention this week."

If you come out of the conference room quietly and unnoticed listening to what you hear every time then you can walk down the hallway with people of similar rank and get to know each other.

"So now the spacer is riding the line?"

"I guess so I guess?"

Gossip about promotions and conflicts between departments and teams.

"There has been a lot of talk about the label being promoted by T1 but to be honest I have no idea what will happen…"

"Ah but the people at Orbit look good."

"that's right! Honestly isn't it obvious that the workplace isn't there? Normally it is normal to say that you will die at all costs~"

Every time I met people from Testa's label 'Orbit' the employees' faces became busy as they remembered how they looked nice and relaxed.

'Planning is fun' 'autonomy is high' 'I heard the artist has a good personality' etc.

There are stories of typical good workplaces but there are also evil worries that one's career will sink if one becomes an isolated island.

I guess it's because the way the company is run right now is complicated.

'You don't know who will rise and what will fail.'

Wouldn't it be the same to push a new group instead of Testa which is starting to do well now?

Ah the entertainment business!

Even when we sit down we continue to talk about it through messenger.

-That Shiki has a nice face too——

-Oh my god.

This is what the head of the management office said as he passed by.

That guy who has established himself through the number of cases related to the Testa dedicated team still has a nice face.

The employee thought indifferently.

Maybe Testa is like that too?

'Yes I made a lot of money… I heard the tour settlement is no joke.'

I thought it might be better if we made a comeback a little later. They say that if you go on tour you can go out on weekdays when there are no performances.

'Whatever it is I'm sure he's a better seller than me.'

So let's just do the work we get paid for. Just as much as you get paid!

The staff once again checked and refined Spacer's materials for press distribution.

At that time I had no idea that a director suddenly received an urgent verbal report and immediately called for an emergency meeting in a state of excitement.

And no matter how all the uncertainties played out the ‘Testa Concert’ plan was successfully realized and the broadcast date began to steadily approach.

Chapter 424

“Is the landing okay when I turn here?”

“huh. But let’s be careful with our arms.”

The very next season of Testa from Azusa Mirinae a junior was busy preparing for the broadcast stage.

Even if it is a side stage for senior Testa’s live concert.

Of course it felt uncomfortable.

‘Isn’t it past time for us to get involved in something like this?’

I’m not trying to be arrogant but I’m just saying that it’s common sense.

Mirina is not a rookie idol who has not established herself at all and no matter how you think about it riding the bus to a performance by a senior of a different gender was counterproductive.

‘Still does Spacer want to benefit?’

The idols were not stupid and knew what picture their agency was drawing.

Feeling a little confused Mirinae’s member performed a solo dance.

“after!”

Even though she may not be as good as Yulgi who is the center in terms of popularity and visual image shouldn’t she do as much as she is given as the main dancer?

And a member with quite a lot of screen time like you was right next to you looking at the pad with a serious look on your face.

Park Min-ha debuted in second place in “Azusa”.

He was a member that I was thankful for and felt a little pity for as he was almost acting as a leader in a group that had no leader in particular.

However movement has been a bit odd recently.

‘…Minha are you in a relationship?’

It was a few days ago that I saw him often fidgeting with his smartphone or sneaking out with a determined look on his face.

And most importantly I unintentionally overheard Park Min-ha secretly talking on the manager’s smartphone in the bathroom of the dorm.

-Hey senior.

And what echoed through the narrow tiled wall was clearly a man’s voice with a calm voice that was pleasant to listen to.

-are you okay.

I knew who it was.

‘Park Moon-dae… ’

Testa main vocalist AKA Mundaengdaeng.

“okay!”

The member stopped and wiped his forehead.

To be honest I could understand if he developed romantic feelings as a member of the opposite sex.

‘He was handsome.’

In the first place the overall average value of the tester was ridiculously good.

‘It’s a fraud.’

Rather than my heart pounding the sense of crisis as someone from the same survival world was more of an alarm.

We’re screwed… It’s not like we’re screwed but I hope we do better. The members of Mirinae finished practicing while thinking darkly.

“Shall we give Minha some water? “Would you like some water?”

“Oh it’s okay. “Sister.”

And that was when I sat leaning against the mirrored wall with my earphones in listening to the conversation between Jeong Yul-gi and Park Min-ha.

“Hey Harin.”

“huh?”

Park Min-ha who was sitting next to me spoke up.

But the expression on his face is a bit strange.

It feels like something… has been decided?

“Even if it’s a little dangerous… no.”

“…??”

“No it’s nothing. “I guess I was mistaken!”

Even if it’s a little dangerous… what?

‘You didn’t mean to introduce me to someone good enough to take the risk right?’

A feeling of anxiety creeped up but I ignored it.

Park Min-ha whom he had seen so far was not the type of person who would introduce someone and say the same thing but the person who was worried that such a member might appear.

‘Still let’s give it a try.’

The member rolled his eyes and opened his mouth.

“Minha I’m just asking… Are you in a relationship with that… senior?”

“Huh? who?”

The member whispered. ‘Park Mun-dae.’

The first-tier male idol in name and reality!

And Park Min-ha…

“no.”

I looked with a straight face.

“Never say something like that anywhere. Absolutely not. “It can’t happen.”

I thought you were rapping.

“Oh okay…”

I really don’t think so. The member was completely convinced as he saw Park Min-ha acting as if he had heard that she was dating a ghost who crawled up from hell.

‘So what was that call about?’

I think the atmosphere was very tense and good. Member Seong Ha-rin shrugged her shoulders and continued practicing.

‘…I’m not practicing the new song.’

Thinking about the title choreography for the new album which has been postponed indefinitely and is not even mentioned these days.

And a few days later.

For the first time in a while I had a schedule that wasn’t a practice or event.

“What is this?”

“Ah something like a pictorial and advertisement.”

It seemed like it was a fashion magazine job.

‘Besides all that I think he’s in a strangely bad state.’

Members of Mirinae keenly checked their fabrics and lines but no matter what work is work.

I’ll take another picture.

I was thinking that when I entered the filming set.

“Oh this is Senior Testa.”

“…!”

I met Testa who was slowly finishing filming and getting ready to leave. Perhaps filming was scheduled here at the previous time.

“hello.”

“hello!”

‘oh.’

The clothes here are also ambiguous but the clothes hanger and face are nice so the figure is good.

‘Wow I really wonder how you manage it.’

The member looked at Kim Rae-bin passing by with a straight bow and thought inadvertently then realized that he was wearing a similar outfit to his own.

And I sighed.

‘Are we really going to do an ad together again?’

When I remembered a smart device commercial and all the ridicule I received at the beginning of my debut I almost felt mentally shaken but I held back thanks to my many years of experience.

All I have to do is do well!

“Wait a moment.”

“yes~”

Mirinae moved to the waiting area provided on the side without making a sound.

“I’ll adjust the fit of the outfit one more time~”

“yes yes!”

But the moment when Jeong Yul-gi got up for the first turn and excitedly left to get ready…

Park Min-ha carefully went out the back door.

As if he was secretly meeting someone.

“…?”

If it’s someone you can secretly meet at this filming location for a moment… no if it’s a group doesn’t just one thing come to mind?

‘Isn’t this… too much of a signal?’

No way no way!

Seong Ha-rin secretly chased after Park Min-ha without realizing it. To prevent an unexpected catastrophe.

And I actually witnessed it.

Park Min-ha and Park Moon-dae standing in the hallway!

“…!”

Hey these… come to think of it aren’t they identical copies? Oh no. Let’s calm down. The member looked away in surprise and calmly assessed the situation.

Although we stood a little closer there was no physical contact. Still there is that strange tension.

If you listen to the conversation…

“Sir can’t this be what you said last time…”

“yes. But I didn’t know it would be like this.”

“…All right!”

…It seems like they’re secret agents plotting some kind of plot let alone a relationship they just heard about.

Seong Ha-rin's pupils closed but then she sighed and fell down the hallway.

'Eh I don't know.'

Anyway I'm not a kid who would do anything foolish so I thought it would be a good idea for me to do something like this. Even now I felt like I had crossed a line a little.

'It's a bit weird to ask Minha such questions.'

I just have to work hard at being an idol. With that in mind she returned to the waiting room and continued filming without incident.

After monitoring from time to time fortunately the photos seemed to come out pretty well.

'This is what a day like this is!'

She naturally accessed SNS.

_____

Today's Harin accepts it (flaming emoticon)

_____

We already received permission for the clothes used in the pictorial saying there would be no problem if they were raised to a level that slightly exposes the upper body…

…clothes?

'Wait a minute!'

Feeling ominous she stopped uploading for a moment.

And when I searched for an account and checked it in order of most recent… As expected!

_____

It's hot but I'm holding on (eye-rolling emoticon) (flaming emoticon)

(picture)

_____

'Ugh!'

It was Testa's SNS.

The moment of Lee Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin laughing mischievously and Park Moon-dae looking at them with incomprehensible eyes was appropriately humorous and colorful.

'You filmed it first and uploaded it first!'

Of course the composition was similar.

Identical emojis with similar clothing accessory backgrounds? This was a controversial reservation.

No matter how much the schedules overlapped it would be explained later but it couldn't be rumored to be a romance or an affair even for a moment.

'Oh I'm so annoyed!'

Remembering the disgusting rumor-promoting videos on WeTube member Mirinae gritted her teeth and deleted the SNS she was trying to upload.

'It will float…!'

If I become an idol whose music is better than Testa's and there are dating rumors I'll be told that I'm a waste.

Even though he felt that the possibility of realization was remote isn't ambition meant to be burned in the first place?

Then it suddenly occurred to me that I also had a junior.

'…Are they going to film this too?'

This is the new group of women who ripped off the older and older women they worked with.

Seong Ha-rin hesitated for a moment and decided not to think about it any further.

'Let's practice.'

Because that's something you can't do on your own. It was better to do the best I could at what I could do.

And Seong Harin's somewhat gloomy speculation was revealed to be true through an article a few days later.

[〈T1-Stars〉

[Reborn as an idol brand clothing from the famous survival brand Tnet… Innovative attempt by 'Tussle A']

With media reports full of flashy rhetoric.

To summarize the story it was this.

-T1 Stars launches a collaboration line with a clothing brand! We are considering having our idols directly participate in the design of exclusive models.

'Oh as expected.'

This agency did it on their own and it sucked.

Seong Ha-rin nodded. And after thinking about it there I decided not to waste my emotions by clicking on the rookie group's pictorial cuts or browsing the comments.

So I didn't know.

[Did you see this? T1 idol clothes (12)]

[I thought they were crazy about money but they really do all kinds of things… (7)]

[Please design Raebin Kim (8)]

[But I like good goods haha (3)]

A series of nervous yet appropriate reactions…

[This article is a bit strange (534)]

It means that things have changed considerably since this point.

So a while later on the day of the Testa concert broadcast.

[Clothes that only idols can wear such a blatant classization of fashion]

When these articles started pouring in.

["Platinum status is not something you can wear"…The impact Tnet's Survival had on us]

[T1 Stars fans begin boycott… A mistake by <Tussle A>?]

While backstage waiting for the live broadcast the members of Mirinae were a little embarrassed by the noise.

'Wow it's crazy'

Even the manager answered the phone and ran.

She also knew that boycotting the agency was a common occurrence. But for some reason the atmosphere was unusual.

‘what?’

In fact these articles did not suddenly start appearing.

She who had been off the Internet for a few days did not know that there was an uproar on SNS and even on WeTube and that what had been boiling like lava had finally come out.

“Ah… um.”

“now. “Focus on the stage!”

And looking at the atmosphere it seems that the agency is being criticized not us so the members quickly change the atmosphere.

she saw

Park Min-ha is sweating and creaking.

“…?”

The pressure of a leader…?

“Minha are you surprised? what’s the matter.”

“…No I’m a bit surprised!”

Park Min-ha was startled but immediately put on a stern expression. The energetic chick-like appearance did not seem like a fatally dangerous situation.

‘I think it’s okay?’

“Just a little makeup touch-up here.”

“yes.”

A stylist came in to fix Park Min-ha’s cold sweat.

And then.

“Please give me some light here.”

“Yes yes.”

Testa Park Moon-dae. I could see him passing through the hallway chatting with staff through the open waiting room door.

And Seong Harin saw it. His gaze glances at Park Min-ha for a moment as if checking.

“…!”

It was a light glance as if it were just a passing glance but Seong Harin stiffened slightly in shock.

‘That guy… didn’t he just laugh?’

The misunderstanding deepened again.

* * *

“It’s a commotion.”

“Sure.”

While waiting for a special stage to be broadcast after the pre-recorded concert the bomb finally exploded.

Of course the staff are still in good order and there are no problems but it is clearly visible in the behavior of company officials.

We are waiting right behind the stage without a smartphone so there is no way to check.

“Hmm I guess there’s an article popping up.”

Kim Rae-bin raised her hand at Keun Se-jin’s words.

“Should I consider the possibility that this is the kind of problem that would require modifications to the stage?”

It was a question that was needed right away. and.

“no.”

Liu Chengwu made a refreshingly clear statement.

“Just do what you originally wanted to do and come back.”

A smile spreads among them.

“Good.”

“All right!”

And when the standby sign came on.

“You’re doing great bro!”

Cha Yu-jin slapped Sun Ah-hyeon on the back. The guy who got hit looked a little surprised but immediately answered firmly.

“okay.”

That damn system virtual reality made people tired but that doesn’t mean there weren’t any good things about returning to reality.

‘chamberlain.’

For example the years of experience he has gained as a professional ballerina.

“Viewers will be really surprised.”

And whether the agency is overturned or not it goes on air in 12 minutes.

Sun Ah-hyun started the intro solo dance.

Chapter 425

Kim Rae-bin's fan was checking Testa's trends as usual.

Although she treats it as bullshit to call a tour that barely features fancams a piece of cake she had quite high expectations this time.

'If it appears on TV it will be recognized as a piece of cake.'

The problem was that when I opened the lid I realized that 'Testa's Concert' wasn't the only content!

[Spacer – To the World]

'It's really hard to tie a sale.'

She was holding back her anger and watching the airwaves on TV for the first time in a long time.

[Make some noise!]

The opening and first few stages were real live concerts but it made people angry when other groups came out in the middle where the VCR and concert event stage were supposed to be. Especially if they have fans who talk like this!

-Toe Star… It sticks well.

-It looks like he will become a variety show idol like T-Holic. Haha. Let's chat with the young and handsome young space boys while they are idols.

– Call it popularity read it as image consumption. No subject.

'You crazy bastards!'

Because they were criticized so much their aggressive opinions came out like an awl like a cornered mouse biting a cat but anyway what you see is an awl.

Of course he gritted his teeth and refuted it as coolly as possible.

-A rare scene where they insist that Mandol is a rising star and call the Gadgi 1st team obsolete.

Since it is a survival group in the first place there is no such thing as 'we are in the same agency and even our juniors love each other' except for those who are truly passionate about survival.

Since Testa came out with a label it would be nice to treat each other as if they were strangers but the agency has been especially hard to encourage transfers in the past and past months.

And now there is some result.

-oh

-It's pretty good.

-The stage is fun but why the hell?

"Fuck…!"

The general public's interest and favorable response to Spacer's guest performance!

Even fans can't criticize it outright. Because it was a public broadcast stage at 11pm even non-fans were flocking to the stage.

'There will be part-time jobs provided by the agency.'

If I didn't think that way I would get so angry that I couldn't stand it.

…and that wasn't the only problem.

-Shouldn't T1 idols also be boycotted?

-Aren't you ashamed of yourself if you spend like this after making it public? Haha.

Those aggro figures that appear one by one on the page.

Kim Rae-bin's fan muttered while making harsh comments like 'You're blaming the victim.'

'Be good.'

They have always been good at important times but this time they had to do really well.

Especially in situations like now.

[—]

The screen changed and the owner of the title of this performance finally appeared again.

The lighting changes from a feverish concert hall to a quiet stage.

widely.

White and pale lighting.

A color like moonlight illuminates the stage shining gently like the surface of the water.

And what appears is a dancer.

Ballerino.

Cutting through the silence a slender dancer with her face covered by a white mask over a classic black Poet shirt began a solo dance.

To a melody that hasn't been heard in a while but is familiar to fans.

(It's quiet now

Songs and dreams

Forget everything)

The elegant cello melody of 'Midnight and Next' which was the title of Testa's first full-length album filled the speakers along with the piano and string instruments.

(It's midnight here.

your midnight)

There are no lyrics but I feel like I can hear the lyrics.

It strikes an exquisite balance between existing choreography and classical ballet with movement and expressiveness of an eerie quality that is close to that of an art performance.

Yes it's all good.

'…But what about Testa?'

No are they even selling ballerinas now? Are you even doing a ballet survival show on Tnet?

Kim Rae-bin's fan who was watching with his mouth open for a moment as if fascinated eventually burst out in anger.

The music ends with the ballerino standing gracefully on the edge of the stage slowly straightening her body.

And the white hand on the black sleeve takes off the mask…

[Midnight Intro – Sunahyeon (TeSTAR))

-????

-uh

-Seon Ah-hyeon?

-It's a steamed ballerina.

-It's Ahyeon.

"…??"

What is this?

Kim Rae-bin's fans thought their eyes were popping out.

But it was a real situation. If it's not a composite does that mean the ballerina who just appeared on screen is Sun Ah-hyun?

"…"

Check again and it is correct.

This is even a live… live broadcast?

She recalled the body of the ballerino wearing the mask earlier and saw Sun Ah-hyun with her bangs slicked back on the screen where a magnificent orchestra was playing.

'…Looking at it again it definitely looks like Sun Ah-hyun's body.'

He said he didn't know because he didn't like Sun Ah-hyun very much and Sun Ah-hyun's fans probably had their own reasons for not making a fuss about it.

Because it was at a level that was impossible according to common sense!

Even to an outsider this means that there was no separate professional ballet performance.

‘When did you practice this?’

No can this be said to be a short practice? Even though Sun Ah-hyun majored in modern dance she only briefly studied ballet when she was young!

“ah!”

At that moment there was a card that passed by like lightning.

As soon as the tour began this word was circulated not only to Sun Ah-hyun but also to the entire Testa community!

-The kids’ atmosphere seemed to have changed a bit in a good way… I should say that there seemed to be more density on stage. Anyway I definitely recommend seeing this tour in person.

-There are definitely subtle changes that cannot be conveyed through fancam.

-Did the kids really go camping and do waterfall training or something? Hahaha.

‘I thought they were encouraging a sense of relative deprivation by arguing with each other because they had the votes.’

It seems like they really went into some kind of awakening state.

‘I heard there are people like that among athletes.’

-Wow I’m tired of crazy Django’s form~

-Hey shut up!

Kim Rae-bin’s fan nodded inwardly recalling the commotion… but not the argument he had with his younger brother.

Very happy.

‘Everyone in this group has to do well first. If you don’t do it you’ll die really.’

Although no one intended it it was an effect of unity among individual fandoms within Testa created by an external enemy.

Of course this situation was not the case she thought but there were some similar aspects. It felt like a state of awakening.

‘Whoa.’

On stage.

Sun Ah-hyeon raised her head and took a step forward. A lighted camera follows.

And evaluated it calmly. The performance just now was good.

Of course there are limits because the body has changed. Difficult techniques and details cannot be grasped.

still.

‘This too… is fun.’

The newly acquired knowledge and experience encouraged the sense of elation on stage.

And members dressed similarly to themselves appear on stage with effects.

[Welcome]

Sun Ah-hyeon joined the group with a faint smile.

What follows is another old hit title from Testa.

Nightmare.

A sticky song in a minor key that was arranged for an orchestra and became deeper resonated.

[Call-it

Call that name now

It sticks like honey and won't fall off]

In this tour this decadent song which only appeared briefly in the medley was included as a special stage.

And as always the provocative sexy concept was powerful. The reaction was even hotter because there were many members who temporarily changed their hair for this stage.

Kim Rae-bin's fans are so enthusiastic about posting posts.

-Kim Raebin's secret two-tone??? I can't believe that male idols who can pull off something crazy like this exist.

In addition there was a closing comment specially prepared for the broadcast.

[Thank you for enjoying the long concert together. Finally only the last stage remains.]

-uh?

-Seon Ah-hyun why does she speak so well?

-What's so cool?

Sun Ah-hyun once again exploded in response as she grabbed the progress card with softer and clearer pronunciation than ever before.

[Then I will tell you the 'promise' now.]

In this way Testa's contest broadcast ended successfully.

It was thanks to the unexpectedness and uniqueness that went beyond simply performing well on stage that it attracted attention.

However for that reason the 'controversy' that arose at the agency became bigger.

* * *

After returning home after the live concert schedule was over.

[You cannot buy this costume from the Testa concert. (Jeongjin Ilbo Talk Talk Sympathy)]

"Hmm it seems like the articles are getting stronger."

"Oh my you did a good job of linking it to the story of our concert."

"…That's right."

I don't know why you look at me like that but I didn't do it.

'I just added some air.'

I just started by pretending to send an early holiday gift to the head of the management office and getting the thoughts of the higher-ups at the agency.

"It's an obvious result."

I shrugged and dried myself off. My body felt refreshed after washing.

Just as it is natural to feel refreshed after washing in fact if no one touches it it will inevitably fail.

Because I didn't raise the idol that my agency told me to raise I did something else.

-Collaboration in the clothing business of T1 Stars an agency with no roots.

Still when I think back to collaborations with games like 〈127 Section〉 this was good.

'Idols shoot a lot of clothing advertisements.'

The problem is… the company did something reckless while dreaming of 'diversification of sales.'

This collaboration has grown a lot.

– and 'From bronze to platinum. A variety of options from affordable low prices to special premiums?'

-There seems to be a big difference in design and fabric quality depending on the grade…

First the design was somehow broken down into several lines and it seems like they were taken directly from the ratings of Azusa. It is said that he did this by giving royalties to the program.

'It's just a business thing.'

Still if only this had been announced they would have been criticized as being insensitive old-fashioned and pure day robbers.

The problem begins next.

-Specific products such as 'T-shirts made by idols' can only be purchased by membership subscribers.

First of all he revealed his desire to collect money one more time between the lines making fans extremely uncomfortable. Still this could have been resolved somehow.

If it weren't for Daum Unplay.

-Testa Mirina's 'platinum' clothes?

-The 'Platinum' level is produced in only one size of the idol worn to present the most beautiful image…

Even if these crazy people didn't post in the media that they only sell platinum grade clothes in 'sizes that idols can actually wear'.

I understand what they were aiming for.

Perhaps they wanted to go beyond the feeling of 'actual wear' and encourage fans' desire to own it but it ended up being an X.

This is the result of not recognizing the difference between goods and clothing.

-Isn't that crazy?

-Currently the idols are being broadcast on a flat screen so everything has been managed to the limit. But 'only the most beautiful size' hahaha.

– Are you telling me to buy it with that money and fit my body to fit the clothes or to buy something and live with it?

In the meantime an interview with an official who said 'We are taking the opportunity to hold an actual wear certification photo event' was discovered and public opinion was completely plunged into the abyss.

-Yes I understand the sign that only people with idol bodies should wear it.

-If you go to the store you will be scanned up and down and you will not be able to buy anything the trauma is ON.

-If I launch it like this don't you think I'll be able to see your face? My face being cut at the entrance…

I just lived with a lot of antipathy.

‘Babonga.’

In fact if you think about it it looks like they are trying to raise money unethically by using ‘only people like idols can wear it’ as a differentiation strategy.

Because I was unable to accurately pierce the person’s psychology I suffered a fatal injury.

‘If you wanted to benefit from class division you should have done it more cleverly.’

Why does Tnet’s survival show keep making people watch it even though it’s being criticized?

This is because it is stimulating sophisticated and makes fun of itself to create content appeal.

‘But what about these bastards?’

There aren’t many people in this company who can do that. This is because we swept it all away while creating the label.

And all the people there are on the working team so who did this project? The higher-ups actively signed contracts to share profits with the portfolio.

therefore…

‘The promised results have arrived.’

It was shattered.

“okay?”

That’s right.

“Is that it?”

I am innocent.

I just posted an anonymous message out of context.

-The line that comes from the platinum level <Azusa> and is known to be the highest quality only comes in one size for idols…

-There are people of various sizes in the world with various charms.

“That’s incitement!”

“no. “I wrote it exactly as it was written in the article.”

“…Are you sure?”

“yes.”

Just in case I wrote it down while using a VPN. There is no need to get caught.

Well since there are only people at the top who are trying to rip off the agency not the ones who originally started the agency with a vision they actually just brought about the disaster that was planned.

“…and the costumes we wore during the live concert were originally intended to be sold here at ‘Platinum’ level.”

“Wow our agency is really great too.”

“I guess that’s why a lot of articles like this appeared…”

Thanks to this as the concert live broadcast went well it seems that it attracted more aggro.

So will we who are tied to the agency also be affected?

‘I might have worn it for a moment.’

I guess it’s because it’s the signboard of this agency.

-Isn’t Testa ultimately agreeing to this and coming out?

ㄴㅂㅅ Do you think the dogs even knew?

But it won’t last long enough to have an impact.

If the problem gets this big the head office takes action.

“hmm. “Can’t it affect the stock price?”

“Maybe so.”

Besides that.

‘From TI Entertainment’s perspective the agency under it only needs to act as an agency.’

From the head office’s perspective it is enough to conduct other business through other affiliates. The only thing that was disappointing about the side business was that it was only the higher-ups.

So what would T1 Entertainment experts who are familiar with this business do unlike the agency’s higher-ups?

We try to preserve the original value of branded products.

Our idol is selling well right away.

“There’s an article about Mr. Bee’s apprenticeship.”

While updating the news page I noticed movement at headquarters.

I think I watched it while preparing and checked the reaction as soon as the concert ended.

[TI Stars' dogmatic actions embarrass artists]

[Tussle A "The contract was groundless… It was at the discussion stage."]

Everything is said to have been set up by the agency's unresponsive management.

It's a beautiful sight where those who have done wrong pay the full price. In this way the board of directors of this agency are cut off from the headquarters.

'One or two people won't be able to save their place.'

And in order to quickly cover up this bad news why not hold an event with major stocks as well?

Ryu Seong-woo grinned.

"What does that mean?"

I laughed too.

"We are releasing an album."

"Oooooh!"

It was a promised development.

"We will give priority to teams with good grades. "I have to cover it with good news."

"Then…"

Bae Se-jin didn't say anything but everyone realized it and smiled. Of course it's a test stage.

"And that is! "It was easy thanks to Ahyun's good work on today's broadcast~"

“Yes good job!”

“thank you…!”

At this late night Gongchisa flies around the living room.

‘Those who are making a fuss will fail… and we will release an album.’

The atmosphere is nice.

It was then.

Jiying –

My phone is ringing.

“Have you already received a call?”

“Could it be T-One??”

At 2 am?

I wonder if T1 will act that quickly but I also have some expectations.

I quickly looked down at my smartphone and suddenly a thought occurred to me.

‘But if you’re talking about an album isn’t it right to call Ryu Cheong-woo not me?’

I know.

And it wasn’t an album call either. Instead a person I had never imagined called me.

“…”

“Mundae?”

Once received.

-hello.

It was the voice of VTIC.

…But this is a guy who has never called.

-How are you Mr. Moon Dae?

It is the cast and hem.

A guy going to the military is calling me early in the morning…

-I have a suggestion that I would like to make but I think this is a game where no one loses.

I already want to quit.

Chapter 426

Actually after returning to reality I didn't lose contact with the VTIC guys at all.

In the first place.

-VTIC Senior Chaeyul: Mr. Moon Dae~~

-VTIC Senior Chaeyul: Do you remember Sowon? Haha wish!

Then I got a call the very next day.

Anyone who sees it says 'I'm just wondering if you don't remember anything but something happened between us!'

'Even if I didn't remember this I would have questioned it in reverse.'

Anyway I managed to dissuade the VTIC guys who were trying to create a 'Wishes group chat room' and that happened before I even started filming the healing entertainment show.

-VTIC senior Chae-yul: Oh that's right. There are people who weren't part of Wishz so they might feel left out.

-VTIC Senior Shinno: Then can I invite everyone to the old group chat room?

-wait a minute.

Every day all members almost responded to the senior group's greetings.

'It was quiet after that so I thought nothing much happened.'

I saw in passing the title of the article that the enlistment date had been set so I thought I wouldn't be able to see anything like this for a while.

I would have still thought that way even if that one guy hadn't called me all the time.

Also at this time.

'…What game?'

Who taught you the crazy thing of calling your junior at 2 a.m. when you have an idea?

When I asked the question Ju Dan gave me this answer.

-It was right before the live broadcast so of course he hadn't gone to bed yet. I also have a case.

"…yes."

That's not a case it's called a guess.

Anyway the guy started talking.

-I have a plan. The proposal was to release a fan song without notice before enlistment and treat it as a meaningful memento even if it was inactive.

Is that so? Since I don't have to pay overlapping I guess I'll have to dig up some strings.

"Congratulations. When are you announcing it?"

– We are discussing.

"…?"

There won't be much time left for that but if we're still discussing it…

Hey this can't be right.

"Did Senior Cheongnyeo not give permission?"

-…

"I didn't say anything."

There was a long silence.

-We are all members of the same group so the expression 'permission' is a bit vague.

You didn't get permission. i get it.

-And… wait you're not sure this currency is being leaked are you?

I turned my head.

"Are you senior Joo Dan?"

"yes"

"Oh I see. Say hello."

Everyone is not very interested. This is because I realized that it was not the album news I had been waiting for.

When I inform him that the call is already being treated as a personal call Judan lowers his voice.

-The timeline he knew has already ended. Wouldn't there come a time when after so many years you become stubborn and your judgment becomes clouded?

Are you serious? That bastard?

"Then why don't you try talking to me in person…"

-Of course that doesn't necessarily mean now.

Take a breath and answer.

Anyway since they are planning to convince the leader somehow there is something they would like to ask of Testa.

From here we listened together on speaker phone.

-So what I want to ask you is…

"Yes yes yes."

-This is a charity concert.

"…??"

Suddenly the topic of conversation in the album rose to helping the less fortunate.

"What a meaningful thought!"

No don't do that already.

-Yes fan songs have universal themes of gratitude and love right? So I'm planning it because it seems like the frequency of the theme fits quite well.

To summarize his explanation he said that instead of promoting he plans to hold a charity concert hosted by VTIC.

-And I would like testers to appear here as guests.

And this has a strange sense of déjà vu.

As expected Liu Chengwu cautiously intervenes.

"Is this by any chance an extension of the charity concert we invited seniors from the College of Arts to last time?”

-I’m also saying this because I think it would be better if the narrative were structured that way.

That’s right. It was a gift in return for appearing as a guest at the charity concert we held.

Since we held our first charity concert in conjunction with VTIC’s company they would like us to appear as a guest.

“oh.”

“That’s a good thing! I like it.”

It is said that they are not only calling us but also calling several teams.

‘Then it just feels like a big event.’

In fact we were in a situation where they called us as guests before and we even said no.

Naturally it was a moment when the atmosphere was about to reach a tentative agreement with approval.

“I see~ I think it’s such a meaningful and wonderful day senior! “But I still need to hear about that company so can you give me some time?”

-of course. We will contact you again tomorrow morning around ten o’clock.

Although the answer did not take into account the fact that people sleep an agreement was not reached anyway.

“Hey we have to give it to you ourselves~ We can’t have you call us again!”

The other guys just ignored the guy who ended the call without even bothering to intervene.

Because the guy who intervened is not the type of guy who would do that without a reason.

“hmm.”

And then the phone hung up.

The person in charge Keun Se-jin sat in the living room with a wry smile.

“Did you… have anything else on your mind?”

“…It’s a bit like that isn’t it? “It was like volunteering because I was worried that it might look like the company was hurt by this controversy and was sending us out to a charity concert.”

“…!”

“Is it not possible to do that…?”

No.

I opened my mouth.

“If we go in the direction of taking responsibility for the company’s mistakes it will look like we are at fault too.”

“Correct answer~”

“iced coffee…”

Images are tied together.

We’ve barely been able to separate ourselves from our agency’s evil actions under the slogan ‘Artists are victims too’ but we’re holding a charity concert?

On the contrary it was a problem because it could lead to the image that 'artists are also self-reflecting'.

– T1 is trying hard Testa is trying hard haha.

-See they all knew about it and participated in it. Since they were stabbed they got a spoon at a senior's charity concert and started hitting on social media WWW

Something like this.

'You've become more agile after having a hard time in Gyrop.'

I looked at Big Sejin happily and nodded.

"I think we need to approach it well. Well it would be nice to be able to use this as an excuse to adjust the album schedule."

It's a happy worry compared to when you put off an album indefinitely but the head office may be too hasty in trying to release it right away.

'Then promotion becomes poor.'

Using a charity concert as an excuse to free up time for PR staff for a few weeks is a pretty attractive lure.

"It seems like there is no need to adjust the schedule. "Album preparations can be completed within 15 days!"

"You can do it but wouldn't it be difficult for the company's promotion staff?"

"Oh my~ Ravin aren't you frustrated that not everyone in the world is a genius like Ravin?"

"…?! "That's an undeserved compliment no I never thought of that…"

"Ahaha!"

Hey kid I'm going to have a breakdown.

Anyway that's it.

"A person with good opinions."

To be honest I don't think this charity concert has to be held it's just a matter of morals so I told them to feel free to speak up and there was a guy who waved his hand very comfortably.

"Yep."

Cha Yu-jin who made eye contact grinned.

And the next day.

"We're doing this because we're close. "Be sure to let the fans know about that first!"

Cha Yu-jin confidently shouted out to Joo Dan. That's right.

-It's okay to do charity as a friend. It's not a lie because we are now friends with those seniors.

'Let's just go as if we are doing it because of group friendship.'

Since he is just one of many guests he won't cause any animosity from our fans. In addition to doing that I also take care of the image that I have enough name value to help out with charity events.

-Well it's not difficult as long as you prepare a few things in advance.

"It's not me it's Moon Dae hyung who does it."

-I thought so.

People who remember being in the same group communicate without much awkwardness.

“okay. by the way.”

I smiled faintly.

Should we try to get a little more benefit?

“Sir there is one more guest I would like to recommend.”

-hmm?

In fact I made a phone call a few minutes ago. But it wasn’t a bet on Judan.

-yes. Hello senior!!

Right in second place in Mirinae.

For some reason his voice seems to be getting more disciplined but I don’t know why.

Anyway I’m going to get to the point… They spoke first.

-First of all I want to say thank you so much!

-yes?

-… oh.

But before he could react properly his words became faster accompanied by a single sigh.

-Just… yeah. This is not a thank you for a specific situation I just want to thank you for always taking good care of your juniors!!

-Oh yes.

-That was it!

No it's okay to talk about the album at least.

Anyone who sees this will think I threatened them to keep their mouths shut from now on.

'You cooperated so well why are you doing this?'

I thought about this junior's actions over the past few weeks.

This is because the labels are different so the information I can find is biased.

Until now Mirinae Park Min-ha who has been providing everything she knows about what happens in the company and schedule changes from the perspective of the company's artists paid the price as an information source.

So I thought I would try this suggestion too.

-I received a good offer. I contacted you because I thought it would be good to tell my juniors.

-Uh what…?

-A charity concert.

First of all we plan to highlight more the aspects that come from personal relationships with VTIC.

But what if Mirina is included here in the next order?

'It was sung by Testa.'

When the game gets bigger like that it takes on a slightly new meaning.

It reminds me of the controversy surrounding the agency but it is distorted because the basis has already been established that personal relationships come first.

-This is a loss for the agency.

-Draw a line hahahahahahahaha

-How much of an asshole the management must have been so that the kids would have sent this signal.

So following T1's headquarters artists are also sending out signs that draw a line between themselves and the actions of their agency's management.

'If we really wanted to do it we would choose this kind of good influence.'

'And anyway the management that is out now won't be able to control our schedule.'

It wasn't bad.

And Mirinae's reaction after hearing the explanation was also positive.

-That… I think all of our members will like it.

So the final decision has been made.

Judan nodded at the guest recommendation.

-It's okay. In order to expand the viewer base we were already planning to cast singers across genders and age groups.

"yes."

It fits perfectly.

What's left now is one last inspection.

"But how did you persuade senior Cheongnyeo?"

How did you handle the issue of your leader's permission?

Surprisingly this guy just said he got the OK with great confidence.

-… Because I heard a variety of logic and evidence I won't be hasty in specifying which one works.

But I guess I don't know the reason either.

'Anyway he seems to have found a corner to gain somewhere.'

I'll have to be a little careful and monitor the progress.

I willingly handed over the phone call with Judan to others and replayed the situation in my head.

'hmm'

Killing two birds with one stone by gaining time to properly promote the album and cutting corners with management.

It didn't really seem like it would fall over in the middle.

So I called up the status window.

[brother?]

'Are you okay with the time today?'

Since it's held in Korea and a lot of people know the show it would be okay to send them some tickets.

'Come watch the pre-recording.'

[Huhuhuh??]

And a few days later.

It all started with a capture being posted on VTIC's official SNS account.

_____

The first recruitment was successful! (picture)

_____

What is recorded is the KakaoTalk history that Chae-yul and I deliberately created.

The conversation details which roughly consisted of late-night snacks and pictures of dogs were made public without any announcement arousing people's curiosity.

-What are you upset about?

-It's Jaehyun's dog that was sold. Is it Kong? Hahaha.

-Jin Chae-yul the crazy thief who sold her brother's puppy is too much of a baby to enlist. Please save her.

'It's a good start.'

…and I received a text message that day.

-What was promised

-See you soon.

Attached was a yellow dog wearing a beige blanket like a cape that appeared to be charity concert merchandise.

Chapter 427

VTIC's charity concert quickly took shape. The lineup is also gorgeous.

-Wow Maximite is also coming out.

-Wasn't V-Tik just hanging out with each other? How dare they all tease each other?

-The person I recruited briefly is recruiting me again. I wonder if it's a multi-level scheme so I recruited guests through lucky letters. LOL.

From famous idols to solo balladers and rappers and trot singers.

There was even news that Soft Sweet would reunite after a long time and appear on the show. Its popularity soared to the point where it was hosted on almost regular entertainment shows.

[So are you going to go see those testers and see them all?]

That's not it.

'Guests were planned solely for broadcast purposes.'

It is said that the program will be divided into Part 1 with only VTIC and Part 2 with guests.

And only Part 1 can be enjoyed with fans offline mixed with Part 2 which was pre-recorded by guests and broadcast together on the Internet and CVN.

'You used your brain well.'

Wouldn't fans be upset if half of the number of guests were included in the concert they had booked to see the entire VTIC group ahead of their hiatus?

At the same time as avoiding that the name value of each guest is good so the name value of the event goes up which also has the effect of strengthening VTIC's position as the host more widely.

'This design must be done with great skill.'

Thanks to this the broadcasting company was so excited that they were already putting out advertisements.

'It would have been a bit embarrassing if I had refused this.'

And seeing how things are going I don't regret my decision to appear.

Since the format is similar there will definitely be some WiTube Wrecker trying to compare it to the vague live broadcast broadcast that we did.

-Is this the difference in planning ability? The class of class Leti's V-Tech VS Hellgan T-One Stars' Testa

Something like this.

If you get involved with VTIC guys it's right to look out for traps first. I nodded at the landmine I had avoided.

Anyway time passed and it was the afternoon of the second Sunday of October.

Testa is changing his clothes in the waiting room of the broadcasting station.

"Now that I think about it it seems like it's been a while since we all did this together as a testa."

"That's right bro~ I guess it's been a while since we appeared on a music show."

Today we are going on stage for the pre-recording of this charity concert “VTIC’s Save the World.”

In other words the only people in the audience are Testa fans who were invited for the broadcast.

‘It’s really going to be the same as a music broadcast.’

I chuckled at the memory of the first pre-recording at the beginning of my debut that suddenly came to mind. Was I freaked out when an SNS notification went off in the early morning to verify that I had received a lunch box?

“Soft sweet senior was just before us… yeah. “The VTIC seniors also said they would be recording after us.”

“Ah~ Is it today?”

“In that case I’ll have to contact you to say hello after the performance!”

After getting ready and chatting we headed to the stage.

In front of you is a daisy with a camera lined up.

‘There are also drones’

Even though it is a broadcasting station that does not broadcast music it seems to have put a lot of effort into being unique.

It looks like the staff is a bit lacking but since it’s not a live broadcast I think this will be covered by post-editing.

First of all win.

“hello. everyone!”

“Aren’t you all hungry? Oh are you okay? okay!”

Lights and shouts shine before your eyes.

The audience hall which was quite large and could accommodate about 1000 people was full. There's probably a big moon out there somewhere but it's typical of a guy not to notice a pop-up message.

I smiled and waved my hand. The ends of the harness belt attached to the costume sway together.

'We were allotted 16 minutes.'

It was a good time to do just four songs and a special performance.

-Then shall we go with 'Savior' 'Promise' 'Black Hole' and 'Wheel'?

And in the final arrangement of Wheel it is a gorgeous composition that sublimates into a daybreak by adding drill.

I thought I struck the best balance between the latest song and popularity.

'The recording time should be about two hours.'

"Then let us begin."

As with any pre-recording after light chatting and fan service towards the fan seats we stood in a large formation.

I thought to myself as I bent over my seat on the right side of the outskirts.

'It is a position that is visible to the camera as it comes out from behind the dancers. So pay attention to the angle… ' at that time.

thud.

suddenly.

I was out of breath.

“Huh.”

I feel dizzy. The lighting and accompaniment become distorted your ears ring deafeningly and colors spread across your vision.

weird.

“…Mundae?”

The body’s condition appears to be abnormal like being pressed by scissors…

‘poisoning?’

There seems to be a strange chemical reaction taking place inside the body. My heart is racing and my hair stands on end.

What did I do?

“Park Moon-dae!”

I stumbled and grabbed my arm.

My elbows are cold. The dusty texture of the stage floor pressed against my cheek.

No my face fell to the floor.

“…!”

For a moment my ears opened.

“here!”

“We have to move it first.”

Huh.

I can feel tension building up in my head and all the way to my limbs. When I came to I felt like I was backstage covered in a blanket or something.

In front of me a hand grabs my shoulder.

“Park Moon-dae! Park Moon-dae look at me where are you now?”

Sejin Lee.

I took a deep breath.

*… broadcasting station.”

“What were you doing?”

“The stage is big!”

I can’t breathe again. Fuck.

Coughing as if something was going on. It wasn’t because of the pain.

Because of shock.

‘suddenly.’

I feel an enormous amount of pressure as if I am being chased by a killer in the middle of the night or as if I am standing with one foot on the rooftop railing.

The sight before my eyes was dizzying.

“Call 911! Call an ambulance. hurry!”

“Let’s take a closer look at the situation…”

“Park Moon-dae can’t breathe. What’s going on? now!”

I raised my hand.

And he hit my face.

match.

The sound was a bit shabby because my fist wasn’t clenched but anyway thanks to the pain my head came back.

“…for a moment.”

“…!”

“If this happens…!”

Instead of refusing to support Sun Ah-hyun I swallowed my saliva and said

“I think I need some rest.”

This is a mental issue. The body is fine.

The problem is that I am the cause…

“…I don’t know.”

There aren’t just one or two people on this floor with panic disorder and everyone probably thinks that way… but doesn’t that also make sense when it breaks out?

‘No.’

Fuck it I just looked at the audience seats without even thinking about it and made a formation. No if that’s the case for a moment…

‘…I just collapsed on stage.’

Damn it.

“How’s the atmosphere? above.”

“Is it time for you to worry about that?!”

“Hyung wait a minute.”

Sejin Lee said calmly.

“You probably didn’t know. “You were in a position where you couldn’t be seen very well.”

“…”

“Okay? “You’re just wondering where you stumbled.”

I get it. I thought…

“Hyung are you cold? “Do you feel like your body temperature has gone down?”

“Now wait a minute.”

I think my hands were shaking. I heard several people nearby running to get blankets.

And I heard Liu Chengwu speaking to the staff.

“please. “I will call an ambulance.”

“No please.”

My brain doesn’t work. Don’t call me

“please.”

Ryu Cheng-wu took the smartphone from the staff as if he was robbing him and then approached him in an instant.

And ask in a low voice so that those around you can't hear.

"…Did you see something uncomfortable up there? "I will tell you to clean it up so tell me and I will turn it around and convey it to you."

"No no."

That's not it.

No my head feels like it's going to explode. No it's the spinal cord and heart rather than the brain…

'What is this?'

My thoughts are shit. I can't believe there's no situation in my life that I can't think of without reasoning like this.

The sound of my heart beating resonates in my skull. The ends of my hair stand on end.

In the meantime I hear the sound of arguing next to me. It seems like the manager is fighting with other guys…

"What kind of phone call is he receiving right now?"

phone call?

"Yes I will cut off my line for now…"

"Who is it?"

"…!"

The sound stopped. It's a little quiet now. The manager looked embarrassed but when he saw me he reflexively opened his mouth and answered.

‘that is… ’

I read those lips.

Damn it.

“…Give it to me.”

“hey!”

I snatched the smartphone from the manager with trembling hands.

And then I brought it to my ear.

-Junior.

Cheongnyeo.

I guess the story of my taste had spread all the way to the waiting room where I had just gone to work. This needs to be thought about.

‘The reason this bastard even bothered to call… ’

Of course it’s not because of worry.

-What are your symptoms?

…It’s time to guess something.

-More sensitive alertness than necessary.

– Pressure without context. If it’s your first time you’ll feel hyperventilation fear crisis and a feeling that everything is out of place.

-Is it like this?

okay.

How do you know?

-…

There was a short silence on the other side of the smartphone but soon a voice came out.

A low voice as if the blood had gone away…

-That's a symptom of mission failure.

"…"

what?

-My junior called it 'condition abnormality'.

What are you talking about?

It's been a while since I got rid of it or it's been a while since it was taken over from me and moved to Gold 2. But what is that…

for a moment.

'…status abnormality.'

Abnormal condition suddenly occurred to me.

The strange afterimage I saw on the beach after the grave.

[outbreak]

Abnormal status: 'If not ■■ ■■' occurs!

It's like X but it's really ridiculous…

Unless it was a hallucination.

“…”

“Park Moon-dae what are you listening to?”

The voice on the other side of the smartphone rings again.

– Junior have you ever felt like you absolutely have to do something recently?

The moment you realize that.

It seems.

Breaking through the crackling noise a sign finally emerges…

[! Status abnormality: ‘Performance or death’]

If you do not sell 1 million albums within a set period of time you will die.

It’s not the end.

Additional text is attached below.

[※■■■ penalty]

: Reduce period (1/4)

And it comes naturally.

The moment I came to my senses on the plane I checked the date on my smartphone.

-Saturday July 9th

And I remember today’s date.

Second Sunday of October.

-Sunday October 9th

Exactly 3 months. 1st quarter.

'…a quarter of a year.'

It's all gone.

So if you lower your head further from this additional phrase what you see is…

[Remaining period: D-1]

Fuck you.

I ask again without any time for a chill to run up my spine.

'There's one day left.'

Is that why you were so nervous? Are you saying that your survival instinct is screaming at you to do something right away?

The head answers.

'no'

Let's calculate it calmly.

It is true that the date has passed.

then.

It's not that there is one day left… It's written as one day because the remaining time is less than one day.

And this.

-Junior.

It is not a urging but a warning sound that something has failed.

[Remaining period: D-1]

[Remaining period: D-0]

-Get up right now.

-Because something crazy is going to happen from now on.

Beep!

[!failure]

Status Abnormality: Success or death

deadline

My heart is pounding.

-immediately.

I woke up.

“Mundae?”

And ran down the hallway. My head is pounding.

“Mundae that’s…!”

I hear a sound.

Deuddeuddeuk.

thud.

And then stage equipment started falling on my head.

I rolled over and started running towards the end of the stage.

Chapter 428

The image blinks.

scream.

A dull roar. And the pouring afterimages and shaking lights.

A huge shock coming from behind.

And I…

“Huh.”

I opened my eyes.

-Junior

It smelled like dust and iron.

And a faint light spreads in the outskirts of the field of vision.

voice.

-Junior.

“…uh.”

Cough! Speech was interrupted due to coughing. I can’t breathe. But it seems.

Shiny.

The smartphone thrown away by the impact turns over and blinks on the cracked floor.

A low sound was heard as if it were blocked.

-You're alive.

Yes I lived bastard.

Didn't you tell me to live?

But my condition was still trash to say such things.

'It tastes like shit.'

My vision shakes and my heart becomes unstable as if it will jump out of my mouth. It almost feels like a pang.

'When did you lose your mind?'

I don't even know where my limbs are…

'…I survived anyway.'

I wiped my mouth. The back of my hand hits my teeth under my lip and I taste blood. He said he wasn't dead.

-Did the stage equipment collapse?

"okay."

I held back my cough and opened my mouth with difficulty.

"I came up on stage."

Failure with my condition means death.

So if the system tries to kill me right away wouldn't it be convenient if that's how 'nonsense' things happen?

‘It was an accidental death.’

Absurd accident.

So we guided the direction so that we could guess as much as possible what would happen.

Since there was no one on stage I reflexively thought that no matter what happened it would ultimately lead to the collapse of the facility.

Fortunately it seems like that was correct.

‘…If it was a hallway they would have searched everything.’

I guided it in a direction that would not attract the people around me as much as possible but also led me to think in a predictable way.

‘And somehow I avoided dying on the first hit.’

but.

“This won’t be the end.”

-…

“okay.”

I spoke calmly.

“If this was the end you wouldn’t have had to finish the mission.”

Since it can’t be avoided wouldn’t this guy have restarted so many times?

I waited with bated breath. Soon a low voice comes from the smartphone.

-yes.

I gritted my teeth.

“…When?”

-soon.

Fuck you.

I raised my head.

At first glance the surrounding area appears to be a mess with steel structures and lighting fragments piled up tightly.

Anyone can see that the moment the balance goes awry it will pour down on me and end.

‘If we rescue them before that… no that’s even worse.’

I don’t know what will happen during my rescue. As the number of variables increases it becomes increasingly difficult.

This is correct.

I took a breath and cleared my head. And then I said what I wanted to say.

“Don’t report it.”

-…

“I’m safe I can contact you and don’t say anything like that.”

I know you don’t have to say it but just in case…

-Don’t worry about that.

“…”

I guess the situation is like X. This guy talks like this too.

The voices continued quickly.

-And until the next thing happens.

‘Until… whatever.’

But the next words were not heard.

-…

silence.

“Shin Jaehyun?”

I turned my head towards my smartphone and realized something.

The faintly shining light disappeared.

“…!”

Fuck you.

I immediately reached out and traced the floor where I had seen the smartphone.

Soon an angular hard piece…

“Sigh.”

A sharp pain pierced my knuckles. It feels hot.

‘shit’

I somehow wrapped my hand in my costume and turned the smartphone over.

“…”

The smartphone was smashed. It seemed like it was probably the impact of the steel frame falling.

So the call was disconnected. No it’s amazing that we’re still connected through that shattered face.

…therefore

‘Admit it quickly.’

I don’t know what the fuck is going on but I failed to clear the status abnormality.

…And communication with the outside world was completely cut off.

I bit my tongue.

Another way Another way.

First of all hearing.

‘…What happened?’

I tried to listen as best as I could to hear the sounds outside. But there is only a humming sound.

If it was blocked to this extent it would seem that not only the stage equipment but also the ceiling was spilled.

Then… next.

‘It moves quickly.’

Quickly before shit happens again. I immediately raised my upper body.

My side hurt. It seems like the ribs that were broken last time have cracked or broken again.

‘Or maybe it’s just my mood.’

Let’s hope it’s the latter.

Anyway I can stand up on my own…

‘…It touches the head.’

I feel the cold metal gently passing over my head.

It probably looks like remnants of stage equipment.

“after.”

I closed my eyes and waited for a moment. I was so damn nervous but applying vision takes precedence.

And when I open my eyes the vision applied to the darkness reveals the overall outline.

“…!”

It was a mess on stage.

The steel frame has all collapsed so in fact there is nothing left to call a stage and with the steel frame and ceiling materials surrounding it on all sides nothing can be seen outside.

And where I am is right in front of the backstage on the other side.

I was pushed almost to the point of sliding and falling so I avoided it.

“Whoa.”

I’ve figured it out and if I observe further with this mind I won’t be able to get anything useful.

‘Let’s move on.’

If you stay here it looks like the steel frame will fall and you will be crushed to death.

The good news though is that the limbs don’t seem to be seriously injured.

Instead my back feels a little weird… but it doesn’t really interfere with movement so it’s okay.

I headed to the other side of the backstage trying my best not to stumble.

What to look for.

‘A place of certain danger.’

Just by looking at it it doesn’t seem like a safe place. Because they might do something ridiculous like a gas explosion or something.

A space where accidents that I can even roughly predict will occur.

and…

‘I need to be alone.’

I had to move as far away from the other guys as possible.

If you get caught up in it you lose whatever little control you have from then on.

“…”

So you should absolutely not wait here.

As soon as the shock subsides and the situation is understood it is easy to think of a way for people to approach the collapsed stage through the other side. Let's move quickly.

I decided to go around the backstage area and exit towards the emergency stairs. Fortunately even though the fire is out the blue light from the emergency exit is visible.

"Whoop."

I opened the emergency exit door with sweaty hands.

And after a moment of contemplation I ran upward.

'If you go down and your stomach collapses and you're buried to death no matter what you do you can't handle it.'

Go up the stairs as quickly as possible…

Squeak.

An ominous sound keeps coming from behind.

'no way'

However artificial sounds rise above the creaking.

[DING-DNG-]

Ringtone.

An announcement echoes from Dinga's speakers.

[I would like to inform the audience. Currently a safety accident has occurred due to ground instability. Follow the staff's instructions and take the emergency stairs…]

I immediately stopped walking up and turned around.

‘Upstairs hallway’

People may spill out of this emergency staircase so let’s go down the hallway instead.

And that was the moment I climbed just one floor left the emergency stairs opened the door and stepped into the hallway.

…My hair stood on end.

thud.

My footsteps echoed strangely.

Next…

The spine-chilling sense of crisis and fear without common sense comes again.

‘Fuck you…!’

I gritted my teeth and ran one step ahead.

Kwakkwakkwakkwakkwakkwakkwakwakwakkwakwakkwakwakkwakkwakk

With an ear-piercing roar the ground under my feet collapses without any sign.

I know why.

‘This is on stage.’

It is the most unstable place due to its location.

And because it is used by the broadcasting station as a storage line for materials there is no one stationed there.

There shouldn’t be any.

‘Because I chose it on purpose…!’

It’s okay.

You can do it. You can do it!

I pictured the structure in my head.

We do not go to restrooms and facilities that are intentionally designed to better withstand large pillars or added weight.

If there is a big collapse that causes it to collapse the people inside this place will get hurt.

‘It’s hell.’

There are a thousand people here in the audience alone.

“Hmph!”

Dust and large and small debris fly into the air.

The place I will run to is…

[Supplies Room 303]

think.

‘Somewhere other than right on the stage!’

Instead of being foolish and pulling the door open I slammed my whole body against it.

and.

Kwakwagwagwang-!

The room shakes.

‘Fuck you’

Damn the system motherfucker.

As I was hit by the shower of supplies I clung to something that looked the heaviest and most massive and held it to my head.

A loud noise continues and the body continues to shake. Small and large objects hit the hands and arms.

How much time has passed?

“Huh.”

The roaring and shaking stopped.

I closed and opened my eyes repeatedly to clear my vision. I was out of breath.

If you check the object you are holding in your whitish hand… it is made of iron. The combination of hard surface and pipe looks like a shelf. Half of it was torn off the wall. No the wall has been torn away and the dark void beyond is visible.

I turned my head.

The door I came through was closed when the space was shaking so it looks like it was caught in a tight fit.

“…”

It doesn’t open.

“her.”

I knew I was trapped in this little supply room. and.

Rolling rolling…

Pens that appear to be furniture are rolled up and gathered in one corner.

‘It’s tilted.’

The room itself is tilted and twisted. It looks like it’s leaning towards the stage and hanging precariously.

“…Whoop.”

I was trapped in a smaller and more unstable space than on the stage before.

I can’t move.

I tried to accept reality as it was hanging on a steel shelf.

An hour or just a few tens of minutes ago all I had to do was finish one lesson well.

Now it looks like this.

I somehow survived twice but a crazy supernatural power source was chasing me determined to kill me at all costs.

“…sigh.”

Pain begins to rise throughout the body. But what is stronger than the pain… is the feeling of helplessness.

‘I don’t know.’

How much longer can I endure?

At least there is no information.

“…”

In fact there are ways to try contacting other people.

I knew it.

‘Big moon.’

This guy can be called through the other party window even if you don’t have a smartphone.

This guy might even know some clues. Because I can access the status window…

But the question is can I open the status window now?

Maybe it could turn into a bomb switch bringing about the next ‘nonsense’ sooner or a more certain death sentence.

So don’t call it. Never.

“…”

That’s what I thought… but…

I relaxed my grip. And he bowed his head.

The cold iron chilled my forehead.

‘Isn’t it better to give up?’

Common sense tells us that if this continues and everyone here dies and I die too what is the point of all this?

If this scale gets bigger I don’t know what the casualties will be.

‘You idiot.’

It’s funny because I’m wondering if I have the spirit to take care of other people’s lives when I look like a loser right now but if a person at least has a conscience they can't not care about this.

Aren't they people who are not strangers but people who have been together for several years?

and.

'…they're all fans.'

All 1000 people in the audience are filled with fans. Fuck this. Isn't this an environment where it's easy for me to give up to the point where I wonder if it was done on purpose?

I took a long sigh.

The shelves were shiny with blood from a cut on my palm from a broken smartphone.

'…be heavy.'

I closed my eyes.

I closed my mouth and bowed down.

It was as quiet as the void.

How much time has passed like that?

"…hey?"

"…!!"

human voice.

I raised my head.

The first thing I saw was a luminous light.

The iron shelf has collapsed and yellow light is softly coming from beyond the half-torn wall.

And then a little later I realized what light that was.

…It was a light stick.

“Mumundae?!”

The person who spotted me through the wall… was a fan sitting in the audience earlier.

Chapter 429

When talking directly to fans.

In fact it's rare. Most people communicate indirectly through light sticks shaking on stage or through posts posted on the Internet.

Even at fan signing events you stand in line and have a short conversation in a space where many people are together.

So moments like this where we have one-on-one conversations are extremely rare.

"…"

Even though I am in a room leaning and hanging on a collapsed stage. And even though he could die at any moment.

"Why are you here? "Why are you here?!"

A shout was heard from beyond the wall. Sound of confusion.

There is little fear or panic. That's just the extent of the situation where the stage collapsed.

'…I don't know.'

I slowly regained my senses and made a decision.

The lightstick that the fan is holding is quite bright but since it does not shoot light forward it does not have much effect in illuminating the field of view. I'd rather just make that fan look good.

So that fan only recognizes my clothes and overall outline.

I can't see my situation or my opponent clearly.

I swallowed and opened my mouth.

"…I came to get something and got locked up. are you okay."

Will it be okay?

There was a wall blocking it anyway. In such an unstable situation why would something crazy and bizarre enough to involve that person happen?

'You idiot.'

It was right to just send it. Why bother creating a variable?

"What should I do? Wait a minute. "I will call people…"

"no. "You don't want to make too much noise."

Even if I send it now it will be a problem. I'll bring other people.

The problem is that it was reassuring.

"Oh that's right… I'm sorry I'm sorry! Then… should I go to the other side and open the door?"

"It could be dangerous so why don't we wait like this until rescue comes?"

"Ugh…"

I'm glad that we have to spend time talking. My eyes are hot.

I never thought the day would come when I would feel like this but it's so funny that I'm laughing out loud.

'Stupid bastard.'

I stepped back further leaned against the door as if I was leaning against a wall and grabbed the metal shelf again. As the distance became clearer things became more peaceful.

You won't get caught up.

And without thinking I opened my mouth.

"Are the others okay?"

"I don't know but maybe all the members have left. An announcement was made and everyone went out with the audience…"

It was fortunate. I asked chewing my tongue to avoid becoming lazy with unnecessary relief.

"…What about your sister?"

"Me me? I… Oh it's okay! "I don't feel any pain and the shaking of the building seems to have almost stopped."

This person is said to have been looking for a place where the production crew collected cell phones to prevent spoilers.

And as he carefully climbed the emergency stairs he found me beyond the collapsed wall.

"I was a little late getting out so I got stuck. "I was sitting in the front seat."

I laughed weakly. My mouth felt bitter because I got caught up in it.

"yes. "I saw it."

"…Did you see me?!"

"yes. You were sitting in the front left. So by my sister's standards she's on the right."

“Huh.”

Actually I think I’ve seen him occasionally since his debut but let’s not talk about that.

Let’s just… keep talking.

“How did you get here? “Are you free because it’s the weekend?”

“Oh yeah. “I’m not working. I’m a graduate student.”

Majored in biotechnology and raised dogs…

In fact that person may have been quite anxious so he told personal stories that he would not normally have told a stranger.

Also about why they like me which stages and broadcast scenes of mine they liked and supported.

There is a warmth that does not fit the situation in familiar and unfamiliar stories.

Is that why you do it more? To forget the situation.

“…I see.”

I quietly listened to it.

This wasn’t bad either.

And as the other person gradually relaxes he asks whether he has realized that he is trapped in the building again.

“Hey… did you stop performing earlier because it felt weird?”

“It’s similar.”

They probably didn’t see me fall.

Besides when I thought about it he didn't seem to be surprised that I was alive so I guess he didn't even see that it was me who ran out.

I don't want to talk about someone who seems to have died after being crushed by stage equipment for fear of agitating me.

"…Thank you. "Thank you for your concern."

"…!! What are you talking about? Of course… Ah. We're in the middle of Seoul and we'll be there soon to rescue you. "Don't worry… let's wait a little bit!"

It is a courageous voice that speaks in a deliberately raised tone.

I laughed.

"yes."

My decision has been made.

at the same time.

Clutter.

There was a sound from the door behind me.

And a premonition.

Cold sweat nervousness and the feeling of near failure as if everything was over came back.

'…It's over.'

Sharp judgment that comes back in an instant. How about jumping forward right now and somehow getting over the gaping wall where that fan is standing?

Like jumping into this supply room.

‘If you get the timing right… ’

“…”

“…Mundae? “Are you hurt or in pain somewhere?”

Then the chances of getting caught up with that fan are extremely high.

“no.”

okay.

I placed a steel shelf.

At the same time an ominous shredding sound rang out from behind.

The sound of a door being smashed.

“…!”

“ah.”

Jijijijijijik-

The concrete scratches against each other and breaks.

The small supply room fell and descended with an eerie sound.

At the same time I jumped beyond the broken door.

thud.

But the hallway was already destroyed. Moreover because the supply room is slanted it is barely high enough for your hands not your feet to reach the hallway floor.

All that remains is black empty space.

“Sigh!”

Tup.

I barely managed to hang onto the broken end of the hallway.

‘…no.’

But I don’t have enough strength in my damn hands.

The limbs that have already been used several times have significantly reduced their output and my body cannot be supported with just one hand.

‘It will fall soon.’

Behind the roar I felt like I could hear a scream calling out to me.

“…”

But it’s okay.

This is the right choice not the other side.

If I can’t avoid it no matter what I should at least choose how I’m going to get it.

I clung to the piece of concrete with the material sticking out thinking I might be the last one.

-brother!

“…”

Now that things were like this there was one last attempt left.

‘Status window.’

Open the status window and contact Geoldal…

[Settling]

At that moment the bloody hand slips like a lie.

“…!!”

I fell straight into the air.

A brief feeling of dizzyness.

That moment when your entire body must be enveloped by a tremendous sense of blow and pain in the cool darkness.

……

[??’s search request! (101)]

[??’s search request! (102)]

[??’s search request! (103)]

[check]

The world stopped.

Consciousness accelerates as if it has slowed down infinitely as if looking at a dazzling light.

And the notation on the status window that appears in front of you suddenly becomes clear and opaque. Hundreds of pop-ups overlap and shine.

Even a new pop-up appears above it.

[Search complete!]

[Result: Check ‘Title’]

What is this?

[Title: Successful One (Idol)]

-You succeeded.

: Permanent removal of status abnormalities

‘ah.’

Now that I think about it I remember.

This is a perk I received after clearing the last status abnormality… and completing the truth check at Bae Se-jin’s house.

Laws received from Geoldal’s system and expressed in language.

…A guarantee in the status window that you will never be affected by a status ailment again in the future.

then

‘This current situation… is contrary to the title.’

It was then.

Swish.

pain.

I stopped in midair due to the tremendous pressure that started as I grabbed my wrist and the force that felt like it would break.

Time flows again.

I heard a voice.

“Mundae…!”

I raised my head.

On concrete. I see a completely white face and a hand holding my arm.

It was Sun Ah-hyun.

“…!”

I don’t know why I’m here or what the situation is.

But he shouted that the pain was real.

“Now wait a minute.”

Sun Ah-hyun pulled me with surprising strength. And beyond the status window words appeared on that earnest face.

[Error!]

[Error check: Status abnormality occurred]

[Recovery Attempt]

I took a deep breath.

[Correcting]

[‘Status Failed’ -> ‘Mission Failed’]

[Penalty recovery…]

The status window changes.

More stable.

[outbreak!]

Mission Failed: Building Collapses

– Disaster of collapsing buildings

: Until the next disaster 00:59:59

hour.

“Hmm.”

“It’s okay it’s okay…”

My breathing slows down. The tension and irrational pressure that was building up to the top of my head ebbs and flows temporarily melting away leaving behind fatigue pain and reasonable anxiety.

“are you okay…”

I accepted it slowly almost leaning against Sun Ah-hyun.

“…”

That you are still alive.

* * *

“Water here.”

“…thanks.”

I accepted the plastic bottle of water that Sun Ah-hyun offered. It was a bit difficult to drink because my teeth were chattering but I drank as much as I could and wiped my mouth and saw the label.

‘This is.’

I wasn't prepared considering that I would be caught on camera.

'…If I got it from a vending machine there wouldn't be any coins.'

Basically we were all naked wearing only stage costumes. Isn't it funny to go on stage with something in your pocket? This question will be revealed in a moment.

"…!! Mundae hyung! Are you okay??"

As I moved a little with Sun Ah-hyun's help I soon came face to face with Kim Rae-bin who was carrying an emergency flashlight and holding a lot of water.

It turned out that as soon as these two guys decided that I looked cold they rushed to the waiting room to look for a blanket and were separated from the members in a collapse accident.

'I don't know that stage equipment is falling on me.'

There's no need to talk about it.

"…your wounds are severe. "There is a first aid kit in the waiting room so disinfect it first…"

"okay."

I tried to comfort Raebin Kim who was almost crying and asked as calmly as I could.

"So this is the second floor where the waiting room is."

"You are correct…"

The source of this water was the waiting room. The path down to the backstage on the first floor was blocked as the stage ceiling was pouring down.

If so.

“What about the other staff?”

“We got separated during the evacuation… I’m not sure where we went.”

“…”

I narrowed my eyes and looked at the two guys. Now that I look at them they look like they’ve rolled into a pit of dust.

I’m sure these kids heard some strange noise during the evacuation and didn’t stay here just to find me.

But it’s not too late to talk about that after you escape so let’s move on.

‘okay.’

escape.

I checked the status window pop-up that appeared earlier again.

In fact I didn’t even put it in.

…I’m afraid it will disappear.

[Mission Failed: Building Collapse]

– Disaster of collapsing death

: Until next accident 00:55:37

Status abnormality failure changed to mission failure and the scope became narrower and a bit kinder.

‘Is it because I have a ‘mission constitution’ that I connected with it?’

It looks like the words were put together somehow.

Still if I had seen that phrase in the status window before this shit started I would have wanted to turn away.

But now that this is happening I feel relieved. Where is one hour?

‘You can at least give it a try.’

It’s really traumatic when an idol you like breaks down while talking to you right in front of you. At least I want to leave some traces that I lived after that.

I went to the waiting room and received first aid as recommended by Kim Rae-bin.

“My back…”

“You just have to go out and get proper treatment.”

The hand treating my back trembled.

“What on earth were you doing upstairs while this was happening…?”

“…”

I hesitated for a moment and then changed my words.

As for what needs to be done in the future.

“Actually I was looking for the big moon.”

“Big moon…?”

“I saw you on that gold chat before.”

“ah!”

I’m sure he’s the one who just tried numerous searches in my status bar. Because he’s the only one who can access the status window.

‘And I think they somehow created a loophole in the interpretation by combining my title and mission constitution.’

It was similar to what I had done to him many times.

…He was trying to save me somehow.

then.

‘…I’ll have to check and see for myself whether Big Moon knows anything more and if he can handle this again in a similar way.’

But now communication is impossible.

[‘Mission failure’ penalty: Restricting the use of status window additional functions.]

Now every time I try to have a pop-up chat with Geoldal this appears.

‘We have no choice but to meet in person.’

So for the sake of cooperation let’s be honest here.

“I saw this situation pop up in the status window like a warning.”

After explaining the general situation I swallowed my dry mouth and spoke.

“So let’s find Big Moon somehow and see if he knows anything…”

“Oh no.”

“…?!”

“Mundae is so injured right now. “I’ll take care of buying and looking into it until it’s rescued.”

“I want to do that too.”

Actually I don't really want to do that but let's at least say it.

Anyway.

"They say if we stay still… this building will collapse again in 49 minutes and 31 seconds."

"…!!"

"I might find a way to stop it so I'll do whatever I can."

I got up. I felt like my strength had come back.

Let's move.

That guy would definitely have stayed in the building despite seeing this.

* * *

"…"

Cheongnyeo pressed the call button on her smartphone.

Your phone is off so it goes to voicemail…

Beep.

It still rang the same sound.

No response.

But the traces before your eyes do not lie.

He opened the emergency door and saw the collapsed third floor hallway.

He would have come running here. and…

‘It was alive.’

At least up to here.

He looked down and turned on the flashlight function on his smartphone. Concrete and steel pieces are strewn about.

There are no traces of blood.

“It would be better to find a place that makes announcements…”

“quietly.”

“…”

Zhou Dan kept his mouth shut.

‘Did I follow you for no reason?’

When I saw the leader leaving the waiting room I followed my premonition of an incident and came out only to find myself trapped in a collapsed building.

‘There was a game like this… ’

Ju Dan frowned and followed Cheongryeo down the emergency stairs.

Chapter 430

Knock.

The sound of water drops echoed through the dark hallway.

“I guess the electricity went out.”

“Still I’m glad the emergency lights came on.”

While I was getting treatment on my back and changing my shirt in the waiting room even the lights that were flickering had gone out and the hallway on the second floor became extremely gloomy.

‘The wall in one corner even collapsed… ’

It was dangerous. Fortunately I was able to walk slowly thanks to the flashlight that Raebin Kim brought.

“It’s radish. Support…”

“I said it’s okay.”

The speed should not have decreased further here. It was worth walking.

And after a while I saw reality in front of the stairs leading to the backstage.

“hmm.”

The ceiling material that collapsed on the stage hit the door and a chunk of concrete was visible through the crack.

“It was blocked the second I heard it collapse.”

This means that when the 3rd floor hallway I was in collapsed this area was also destroyed.

‘When the stage set first collapsed I guess they told me not to come because it was dangerous.’

Anyway it will probably take up an hour to clear away rocks to get here so don’t hesitate and just throw it away.

In the end there is only one way to get around.

“We have to go down here.”

I went to the place where Sun Ah-hyun had taken me earlier.

One side of the wall had completely collapsed and there was an opening in the hallway right next to the stage.

“…”

I shined my flashlight downwards.

Hwii-

As the space expands the stuffy cool air reaches you.

The remains of the collapsed stage were visible but everything that was about to collapse had already been collapsed so it looked quite stable.

“Let’s go downstairs from here.”

On top of the collapsed stage.

The stage was huge encompassing the first floor where the audience was and the second floor where the stage equipment was.

And the second floor was divided in half with the stage at the center and the right side where the waiting room was was blocked from going further upstairs.

Well in the end the singers and agency employees are all outsiders so it was the right design not to connect the upper floors used by the officials but we were stuck.

‘So in the end there is no other way to move than here.’

Let’s write.

I grabbed what I had prepared in the waiting room.

It is a temporary rope made by twisting and tying thick curtains hung in the waiting room for purposes such as changing clothes.

It caught my eye while I was changing clothes.

“Would it be okay with curtains?”

“It’s okay because I twisted it several times.”

Meanwhile time continued to decrease.

[00:33:12]

“33 minutes left. “Time is running out so we have to figure out how to move.”

“…”

If we want to seize the opportunity to prevent another crazy accident where the building collapses again.

Raebin Kim opened his mouth with a determined look on his face.

“I will go first.”

“No first of all let me…”

“Ugh! “I’ll catch you…!”

“thank you!”

“…”

Okay do whatever you want. If I have to I’ll have to bend down so I can catch it.

Kim Rae-bin tied her waist tightly and asked as she watched Sun Ah-hyun fixing the other side of the curtain.

“Mundae do you know exactly how the given unit of one hour is measured?”

“I want to know that too.”

“It’s not clear.”

Raebin Kim nodded and carefully stepped off the edge of the concrete.

“I asked because if the building collapsed exactly one hour later it sounded more like someone had predicted that the building would collapse rather than a prediction.”

Look at this guy.

“…Let’s go downstairs and talk. be careful.”

“yes!”

He was indeed a sharp person in theory.

Just now it was clear that he was trying to hold back the question he wanted to ask ‘How does the status window know that?’

‘If I tell you that the system is after me… it will be bothersome.’

The problem wasn't because they blamed me but because they were unnecessarily overprotective or worried things might not have progressed.

'Let's shut up.'

I carefully climbed down onto the remains of the stage after Raebin Kim.

And after confirming that Sun Ah-hyun landed safely he turned his head and looked at the audience…

"…"

"…Is there anyone?"

There was no answer from the audience covered in dust and darkness.

[—-]

There is only a small echo.

I felt uncomfortable…

'Why isn't there anyone?'

When I met a fan who was a graduate student earlier he said something with the nuance that there were definitely other people who couldn't escape besides him.

'In the first place if someone came down from the collapsed stage with the flashlight shining of course the people in the audience would have reacted.'

It was quite disturbing that there was no sound or reaction.

"It's radish. First… I'll find a way."

"…yes."

I took the rope made of curtains and carefully got off the stage. And the result of looking across the dark audience seats.

'…the door was pressed.'

As the graduate student said all evacuation routes were blocked. It is a shape that was twisted and pressed probably because the weight balance was lost.

'If you try to open it with force and it collapses there is no answer.'

There seemed to be no way to get out to the first floor lobby.

And there is no one else but us.

"The big moon that Brother Moon Dae is looking for must have come as an audience member so it seems highly likely that he has already escaped."

"Hmm but I'm sure the door is still there… So if it's not here doesn't that mean it's moved somewhere else?"

"Have you ever seen anyone else Brother Mundae?"

I saw it.

"…There was a fan on the other side of the emergency stairs."

"…!!"

"I talked through the collapsed wall but the room I was in collapsed so I don't know where he went after that."

Worries and questions flash across both of their faces but they give realistic answers first.

"Then you could have gone upstairs."

okay.

However the emergency exit leading to the opposite emergency staircase that my graduate student and I used was also half blocked by debris.

“Earlier… I think it was blocked by debris when the door gate fell.”

Isolation.

[00:26:51]

Meanwhile the time went down to less than 30 minutes.

‘…Let’s stay calm.’

Panic doesn’t help. Use your head.

‘I think it would be too risky to clear the area in front of that emergency staircase within 20 minutes.’

Wouldn’t it be better to somehow force the door open in the meantime and let these guys out?

I suppressed my sleep. And then I saw the darkness beyond the half-exposed emergency staircase.

I can’t just pass by. It’s too narrow.

‘It won’t work because all three of us are tall.’

Would it be better to scream… could it have a negative impact on the building?

‘I just need to be able to communicate somehow.’

I wish I could at least broadcast it… Wait.

“…Ravin.”

“yes?”

I lowered my gaze.

All escape routes were blocked but there was still one place left to move.

The place where the staff are stationed while preparing for filming.
The place where I ran out in a panic.

Backstage.

And it came to mind while I was filming it.

‘We also prepared new equipment to use for filming this time.’

“Can you use a drone?”

“…??”

This broadcasting station wanted to do a new technology PPL so they tried filming with a new product.

There were one or two flying around during our filming and I saw the wreckage in front of the stage earlier.

‘then.’

Wouldn’t there be one or two spares?

I went backstage into a kind of makeshift editing room where temporary stage transmissions were managed.

Here too it was dark with no lights but it was obvious where to place such heavy and expensive equipment.

“…yes.”

And I found it in no time. A drone in an already torn box under the desk.

I picked up the drone.

“Let’s send this through the emergency stairs.”

“What a brilliant idea! “I didn’t know that Moon Dae had a hobby for drones.”

“doesn’t exist.”

“…?”

I grabbed Kim Rae-bin’s shoulder.

“I believe you can do it.”

“…”

Isn’t he a guy who is familiar with music equipment and various electronic devices? I believe that we can do this with amazing creativity and intuition.

“I will do my best…”

okay.

“Hey Moo Moon Dae the computer isn’t turning on…”

“Let’s do it on the laptop.”

Unfortunately the internet was not available but the drone has its own cellular system built into it so operation is possible.

then.

[Ooooh]

“…! “It will work!”

Raebin Kim quickly glanced through the drone manual picked up the joystick and with his eyes shining connected in an instant and activated the drone.

“Amazing Ravin…!”

“Yes it’s great.”

“no! As if it was a test run luckily it was already connected to the laptop in question. Then we will move to the emergency stairs immediately!”

“Ugh!”

‘…Is it a waste to only be an idol?’

I briefly thought about this guy’s abilities but now wasn’t the time to think about such things.

[00:17:52]

Because time was cut in half again.

‘Whoa.’

I clenched and unclenched my fists and headed toward the emergency stairs.

Squeak.

Open the iron door and Seon Ah-hyeon secures it with one foot.

Raebin Kim sat down holding a joystick.

“Then… I’ll send it to you.”

“okay.”

[Weeeeing-]

A drone flew through the black darkness.

“Fortunately I have enough batteries so the attached lights are doing their job.”

“I know…!”

The camera linked to the laptop shows a drone operated by a beginner tilting and holding it awkwardly. Climb up the stairs quickly and see the light…

“There’s a hole in the wall here.”

‘…You were standing here.’

This is the open wall I was talking about with the graduate student earlier.

Now instead of the supply room leaning into the empty space of the stage from the third floor and touching the wall the light from the drone just traversed the empty space.

“…”

On the other side there was a path connected to the backstage area where I exited from the stage set-up but it was an iron gate so I couldn’t open it with a drone.

…Where did it go?

“Let’s keep going.”

“yes.”

Let’s look for traces of people.

So if you climb up the railing at the top of the dark stairs illuminated by blue emergency exit lights and red fire hydrant lights turn around the corner and look up…

"…"

"…It's blocked."

thud.

Above it is also blocked by debris from the third floor entrance.

This is the floor where the supply room I entered earlier was located.

It seemed like it was blocked by the impact of the floor collapsing.

"…"

The search is over. Without any trace or income.

"ah…"

"What should I do?"

[00:15:47]

Fuck you.

I swallowed my saliva and tried to use my brain as best as I could.

If your stomach is clogged…

"Let's go underground."

"ah!"

The emergency stairs will lead to the underground parking lot.

People may have been reluctant to go down to the basement of a collapsing building so they may have gone upstairs but rationally it is possible to escape that way as well.

If there was a parking lot it would have been designed to withstand the load well and the entrance would have been large so it might not have collapsed.

'Big Moon may have thought of that.'

"Then I will go there."

[00:14:25]

The drone flies again. Let's go down down…

"…!"

"The door is open!"

Surprisingly there is an iron door that has been artificially secured using a fire extinguisher.

'I was prepared for it to collapse and twist the door.'

"Looks like there's someone there…!"

"Yes let's go in!"

Raebin Kim moved the joystick carefully with hasty hands.

Emergency lights flash across the laptop screen.

Beyond the iron gate was a hallway but no matter how I looked it didn't seem to lead to the underground parking lot…

It seemed like a space used by facility management staff although I can't be sure because it was dark. I think there will be a lounge or CCTV room or something like that.

‘Did everyone evacuate this way?’

But for that I can’t see any traces of people… Wait.

“That one.”

“oh!”

“It looks like a person.”

I saw something next to the clunky gray door at the end of the hallway. As soon as Kim Rae-bin saw him he moved the drone faster and approached…

“…??”

“…!?”

The person was right. however…

“Senior?”

It was a casting.

The guy who was standing in front of the door as if he was standing guard made eye contact and made a strange expression as if he had checked the drone then nodded with his chin resting. Why isn’t this guy surprised… No more than that.

‘Why are you here?’

Since VTIC was in the waiting room they would have been able to get out right away… No now that I think about it for a moment these guys were also in the waiting room but they couldn’t get out.

I looked back at Sun Ah-hyeon and Kim Rae-bin but they were also in a state of bewilderment at their senior who had suddenly made indirect contact with them.

‘I’m going crazy.’

[00:12:46]

I looked back and forth between the remaining time in the pop-up window and the front end of my laptop.

‘Let’s think about it. When you think about it… ’

Just when my head felt like it was going to overload suddenly. A bell rang behind me.

[DING-DING-]

“…!”

No it’s not like a smartphone ringtone… this.

“Announcement…?”

The moment I heard Sun Ah-hyun’s voice I took my eyes off the laptop screen and looked up.

Poor sound quality spreads out into the audience from speakers hanging in all directions next to the collapsed stage.

[I would like to inform everyone who is still in the building. The vibration seems to have almost stopped. However actions such as hastily breaking down the door can be dangerous.]

[You can wait for the rescue team in a safe place such as the emergency stairs or around the central pillar of the bathroom.]

It’s a calm well-spoken male voice.

No matter who hears it it’s the perfect voice to make an announcement in an emergency situation.

The problem is that it’s a voice I recognize.

And it's a voice that even the people next to me know.

"…Brother Sejin?"

That's Bae Se-jin.

Why isn't that bastard going out and broadcasting over there?

Chapter 431

I took a deep breath.

…Let's sort it out.

In the announcement Bae Se-jin is holding the microphone and on the drone screen the VTIC main board is visible.

'Are you kidding me?'

There are 12 minutes left until the collapse. I don't know where the guy is in the basement but there's a guy in the announcement room.

Not all the managers and staff are fucking idiots and everyone escaped except for the celebrities they belong to.

[DING-DING-]

"The broadcast has ended…"

In the meantime Bae Se-jin's voice disappeared.

'then'

First quickly lure the side that is being confirmed. Because if you act like a parent here you could end up losing everything.

I gritted my teeth and looked at the laptop screen.

There's a main… Why isn't there?

"Where did this guy go again?"

"…! "Maybe he didn't go into the room…?"

Fortunately he appeared on the screen again.

Holding A4 paper with writing on it.

-Are you a survivor inside the building??

It was an attempt at communication.

“omg!”

“This drone doesn’t have the ability to send voice so what should I do…”

“Move the drone up and down.”

“ah.”

The drone’s vision fluctuates depending on Raebin Kim’s manipulation. Then Ju Dan writes a new text on A4 and shows it.

-Are you looking for an escape route?

Raebin Kim nodded.

“hmm. “We are looking for someone so if we were to be precise the first answer would be no…”

“for a moment.”

No.

“It’s even stranger that a trapped person doesn’t find an escape route. Let’s just say we find it.”

“indeed!”

I had to start there and move the conversation forward quickly.

‘They’ll either ask us if we’ve achieved any results or guess our identity.’

I pictured the conversation in my head predicting his next response.

Meanwhile after seeing that the drone was moving up and down again he scribbled on A4 again and held up the completed sentence.

…a sentence I didn’t expect.

-There is an escape route in the employee area in the basement.

“…?!”

“Uh uhh.”

The sentence was not finished.

-There is a door leading to the outside and it operates because emergency power comes on.

“Then…”

“Preventing the collapse is important but since time is running out securing an escape route is also important!”

“Ugh that’s right!”

That is correct. If the situation arises at least the remaining personnel must be sent out.

The problem is…

‘I should ask since when it has been working.’

Normally in a building this size even emergency power would not last for an hour but I don’t know how much time we have left.

‘And this guy has a door so why isn’t he going out?’

another.

…Normally the door just opens and doesn’t require power.

The guy who was watching the oscillating drone writes one more line on the paper in real time.

-However a staff pass is required.

‘also.’

There was something.

I think I found a staff door that requires a security key to open.

-Please find your staff pass and come to the basement.

The stairs were blocked. You bastard.

I don’t know how I ended up falling alone and going underground but in the end only the mission was renewed.

‘…Find the staff ID and go to the basement.’

That too.

[00:10:34]

Within this time.

“…”

“I don’t think the staff ID was in the editing room earlier… But I’ll look for it one more time and come back…!”

“Then I need to find a way to go underground… Mundae?”

I put my laptop down on the floor.

“10 minutes left. “Both are impossible.”

“…”

“I’ll have to use another method.”

“yes?”

There’s nothing I can do when it’s like this.

I stood up and grabbed the curtain rope I had packed earlier.

* * *

Zhou Dan raised his head. A bright ray of light illuminates you from the end of the dark hallway.

[Weeeeing~]

Drones are now a familiar element in modern disaster apocalypse content.

‘Hoo.’

He clenched his chin and nodded. It seems that the survivors stranded in the building are slowly finding a way out in various ways.

In that case I guess I should respond in the traditional way.

He quickly turned around and entered the room.

“Perhaps I could borrow your smartphone…”

“…”

There is no answer either.

What did you expect?

He quickly changed his route and picked up an A4 sheet of paper.

-Are you a survivor inside the building?

The drone moves up and down vigorously. Oh he was a person who knew how to respond quite well. Ju Dan was interested and shared the information he knew quite sincerely.

'What I'm looking for is… um. 'That's a bit much.'

You must live within your means. Zhou Dan shrugged his shoulders stumbled at the surprising information and suddenly saw the drone that had fallen to the ground.

'There is more than half a chance that they are surprised and looking for the staff.'

This was enough to protect his own human rights.

"Brother a drone just came and had a short conversation. "It's not a rescue team it's another survivor trapped in this building."

"okay."

And there was a member of his party who showed no interest in this peculiarity.

Facility management room in the basement.

Cheongryeo was standing there operating the device with an expressionless expression.

I thought I wouldn't be able to watch the CCTV because the power was out but I was able to use some sort of wirelessly charged portable security device to view some of the CCTV footage from the previous hour on a small screen.

Usually idols have never done it and have no way of knowing how to do it.

‘I guess that’s all the experience I gained while regressing.’

Joo-dan concluded that he may have lived as a murderer under pressure at least once in his many lives so he should continue to treat him with courtesy.

Whether he does it or not Cheongryeo quickly flips through the CCTV footage with mechanical movements.

The screen is dark because the lights don’t come on and then another screen.

“…”

And then.

“ah.”

there is.

Cheongnyeo confirmed the person she was looking for beyond the open wall of the second floor emergency staircase which was illuminated thanks to the light of the light stick.

Moon-Dae Park.

Immediately afterward he watched without moving until the entire supply room where Park Moon-dae was located collapsed.

“…”

I realized that my reasoning based on experience was surprisingly accurate.

There was no special joy.

It just confirmed what I already knew.

The supply room spilled out onto the collapsed stage. There is no CCTV as it was originally captured using broadcasting equipment. So it was impossible to confirm here.

Although there were no traces of blood when I checked with the naked eye earlier… it may have been buried underneath.

"…"

Cheongryeo lowered his hand.

I found out that I could check the surrounding audience seats with the remaining battery.

But I felt rejected.

because…

'Because it's quiet.'

If Park Moon-dae had lived unreasonable disasters would still continue to occur.

But quiet means… it's over.

"…"

'Why do I have to confirm that this guess is correct?'

Cheongryeo quietly looked down at the equipment without any expression.

And Judan was also watching it. A bit distant.

"…?"

Does that guy have flashbacks to the past?

It was then.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkwagwang!

“…!!”

A tremendous amount of vibration and noise came from somewhere above or even further away upstairs and even hit the basement.

It was the third collapse.

“Ugh!”

Objects fall and everything shakes.

Zhou Dan thought as he immediately went under the desk to protect his head.

‘Is this foreshadowing?’

This is a role that gives good information to the protagonists who flew the drone but is dead when they go underground.

‘That’s troublesome.’

Deciding to be fully prepared he lifted his head in good conscience and looked at the group.

And I was surprised.

“…!”

Cheongryeo… was smiling faintly.

The sight of them standing still and smiling amidst the shaking equipment and flashing lights seemed somewhat unrealistic.

‘…Do you really feel the sense of being alive in danger?’

It was speculation.

And amidst the roar and collapse Cheongnyeo’s murmurs were heard.

“Shall I go look for it?”

* * *

8 minutes before collapse.

“Mumundae?”

“for a moment.”

I returned to the collapsed stage and carefully climbed back onto it.

‘Where we came down earlier.’

And I looked around the structure of this place again including the stage.

The second floor area is divided into right and left halves in a ‘ㄷ’ shape due to the stage occupying the center space.

‘We used the curtain as a rope to fall in the waiting room area on the right.’

On the right a collapsed wall was visible.

And the second floor on the other side is the office area used by broadcasting station employees and officials.

A place where you can go upstairs. But it’s a place you can’t go to.

‘after’

I took a breath and turned my head to the two guys.

“I have a favor to ask.”

“What…?”

“I need to go up there again but can you help me?”

“…!”

He clearly looked embarrassed when he was told that he would return to the waiting room hallway.

“Are you trying to look for a staff ID?”

“It’s similar. “But I don’t have time to explain.”

I spoke quickly.

“If I go…”

“I don’t have time to explain how to find it so hurry!”

Sun Ah-hyun bit her lip. It looked like he was going to shout no at any moment but he soon nodded with a firm face.

“Oh okay… I do it because I believe in it.”

“…okay.”

Damn it.

To avoid unnecessary guilt I turned my head and tied the curtain rope around my waist.

If you hang it in the middle and climb up you won’t die if you trip and climb up. If you tie one side to the wall you can catch these guys and come up later.

“You have to lean back…!”

“You must tread comfortably!”

“okay.”

I stepped on the thighs and shoulders of the two guys and jumped stretching my hands into the air.

‘Gotcha…!’

Done.

After grabbing the rebar I used my arm strength and reaction to raise my other hand to the floor of the second floor.

The ship crashes roughly into broken concrete.

Sigh.

‘Fuck’

It hurts so bad. But the important thing is…

‘It means we’ve arrived…!’

“Huh.”

I rolled up onto the second floor. I untied the curtain rope from my waist. A shout was heard from below.

“Are you okay?!”

“uh! “It’s dangerous because it’s sharp so now get off the stage and go to the center pillar. I’ll call you when it’s over!”

“All right! How many minutes are left?”

[00:04:31]

“…8 minutes!”

If you do this you won’t panic even after 4 minutes.

I took a step after confirming that they had heard.

I then went around a few rooms with the flashlight on looking for an employee ID card but I couldn’t find it either.

It’s worth it. Because this is a space used by outsiders.

[00:01:57]

‘There were no employee IDs even backstage.’

As expected the space where the employees were located was the right place to save it. I had to go to the office space on the second floor on the other side.

But what if there is no way?

‘…I have to make it.’

I spun around and walked to the end of the hallway assessing the location of the stage.

“…Whew.”

here.

Beyond the wall of this small waiting room is the opposite area. maybe.

“…”

Of course I don’t have the ability to break down this wall. It might be more realistic to clear the area in front of the emergency stairs below but… we don't have time.

'If that's the case.'

Don't you think like this?

see.

It is certain that the building will collapse soon targeting me. However if the building collapses again the debris accumulated in the area where it already collapsed does not disappear.

'But a healthy wall can be destroyed…!'

[00:01:03]

I started moving heavy objects around the waiting room in front of the wall.

'Just now the wall fell clearly aiming at me.'

In that case it is highly likely that this disaster which Geoldal (presumed) discovered a contradiction and renamed as 'mission failure' became more localized and milder there.

They even kindly informed us that it was collapsing.

'Use it in reverse.'

I've survived it twice so I'll do better this time.

Take a deep breath clear your mind and prepare.

The countdown has begun.

[00:00:03]

[00:00:02]

[00:00:01]

Pop.

A choppy sound.

I was leaning against the wall.

[00:00:00]

I turned to the side.

“…!”

At the same time the room shakes with a tremendous explosion. And the heavy furniture and metal props that had been piled in front of me fell to where I was.

Kikiikikiikiigwagwang!

Even heavy ceiling lights.

‘Fuck you’

For a moment I felt regret that I had done something crazy… no shut up that’s all. This is correct!

in action!

I rolled to the side.

“Inhale”

Then she slid her body and went under the dressing table.

Sharp debris splashes onto my cheek causing a burning sensation.

Chewy profit-

And the crashing sound and shaking. When it calmed down a bit.

…Sounds that were not expected start to resonate loudly.

“Aaaahhh!”

“It’s mom!”

Screams and shouts.

“…”

I stumbled out from under the dresser.

All kinds of objects were smashed and rolling on the floor. And light and sounds were coming out from beyond the half-collapsed wall. I walked slowly.

Beyond the wall seen after stepping on the rubble…

“This person here… Mumundae??”

There were more than ten people sitting in front of the elevator.

It didn’t end there.

Sounds come from all over the hallway vaguely visible with flashing emergency lights.

“Who are you?”

“What’s happening now?”

“…”

Everyone who wasn’t in the audience was here.

‘what.’

I blinked. And because of that shock I saw it a beat later…

[Management Office]

A nameplate hangs on an open door showing an announcement device with a microphone.

And the guy who ran out of there as if he was falling.

“…Park Moon-dae?”

It was a big Sejin wearing a stage costume.

He looked at me in disbelief then ran over and grabbed my head with both hands.

It didn’t end there.

“Mundae??”

“what?”

Other guys come out one by one from beyond the door.

“Mundae hyung!!”

“You… you…!!”

Ryu Cheong-woo rolls up Cha Yu-jin’s arms whose harness was torn.

And even Bae Se-jin who was on air earlier.

‘…no.’

It was the worst. The fact that they are all here is nothing short of a nightmare.

And yet.

Damn it's nice to meet you.

I opened my mouth with difficulty.

"…sorry."

"You crazy crazy bastard…!"

"…"

This is the first time I've heard this guy swear like this. And that too in front of the fans.

But I wasn't angry. The pain in my ribs from hugging was bearable.

'It's heavy bastard.'

I paused for a moment to ask all my questions and check things out and accepted the reunion.

However the pop-up was being updated again.

[outbreak!]

Mission Failed: Building Collapses

-Disaster of a collapsing building (completed)

: Until the final disaster 00:29:59

Chapter 432

A few hours ago.

After Park Moon-dae ran out onto the stage and stage equipment poured down on him like a lie.

Wow!

Ugh huh huh!

In a backstage filled with screaming falling and confusion Lee Se-jin stood and thought.

'Is it a dream?'

It seems like I'm having a strange nightmare.

Otherwise how would it be possible for a member who was fine to suddenly collapse and run out onto the stage with stage equipment falling on top of him?

No matter how much you have experienced supernatural phenomena this is so absurd… I mean it doesn't make sense.

'There's no way something like this could happen… '

match.

pain.

"Come to your senses!"

When he turned his head he saw Bae Se-jin hitting his back with a pale face.

“It could be alive. I need to check if it’s alive…!”

“…!!”

Sejin Lee took a breath. Sound poured in.

He again looked at the stage where the massive and massive equipment had collapsed into a mess.

It wasn’t so dense that you could see anything like a person through the cracks. But there is a possibility that there is space inside…

“I need to check inside.”

Perhaps because he heard those blank words Liu Chengyu was heard speaking in a rare emotional voice.

“Opposite backstage!”

“…!”

“Let’s go there!”

Cha Yu-jin immediately jumped out. The remaining members also took advantage of the staff and employees’ inability to stop them due to the confusion and turned backstage and started going in the opposite direction.

However on the other side where we arrived… there were only completely collapsed steel structures piled up like scary sculptures.

“…sigh.”

Cheesy…

Electricity bouncing from broken lights.

And a steel frame with some blood stains on it.

I could eerily imagine what it would have been like the moment I was crushed.

It shouldn't have been like that.

'I'm alive here… '

It was that moment.

thud.

Kikigiggakkukukunggiikgwagwang!

It's as if he's asking me to meme my thoughts. In an instant even the concrete structure on the ceiling above the stage collapses again.

"…!!"

*Come here! hurry!"

The walls shook.

"Go in now!"

The members rushed up the emergency staircase that Cha Yu-jin had opened as if she had rushed over and ripped it open.

And while hearing the screams shouts and footsteps coming from all directions they must have followed the staff's instructions and escaped.

Even if you haven't seen this.

"…Blood stains here!"

What Bae Se-jin found without realizing it was Park Moon-dae's blood traces leading upwards.

"…That's how it happened."

"…"

Ryu Cheong-wu explained all of the briefly summarized explanations.

After that we gathered the people who were still in the building to make it easier to escape but after another collapse the doors to the first and third floors were all blocked so we were isolated on the second floor.

And then I realized.

I saw it with a drone earlier… the iron gate on the second floor opposite the wall of the collapsed emergency staircase.

That wasn't the door I got out of backstage when the stage collapsed. At that time I was running away and got confused for a moment.

'Because of the height the backstage door would have been next to where we flew the drone.'

The tightly closed iron door on the second floor… was actually connected to this office space.

Liu Chengwu finished speaking.

"So Sejin came up with the announcement. Fortunately the radio is rechargeable so I can use it."

"…"

That's why I couldn't escape because I couldn't let go of the possibility that I might still be here alive.

I'm going crazy.

I barely spoke.

“thank you. But in the future…”

“…in future?”

I tried to say ‘Don’t do such a reckless thing’ but when I realized that my nose was three inches wide I decided to keep my mouth shut.

Even if I hadn’t done something that seemed suicidal in the first place there’s no way these guys would have stayed.

“…I’ll explain when I have time but I’m really in a hurry this time.”

“…”

Liu Chengyu looked at me with an expression that said he had a lot to say but in the end he didn’t pour it all out.

Because I also explained it.

“…You said you still don’t have enough time so let’s get up first.”

“yes.”

I don’t know if it’s the system or something but I just explained that the status window displayed a collapse message.

[00:26:03]

“Then that means we have to find the person named Geodal first.”

“yes. But for others escape comes first.”

Then open the door to the management office and come out. Just then someone pops out from the next room.

“It’s here!”

Cha Yu-jin was holding three or four employee ID cards in her hands.

In just a few minutes the office in this hallway has already achieved its goal.

“I found it with the fans. “Let’s get out quickly now!”

There must also be sufficient manpower.

In the same sense we were able to take care of the two guys in the audience at the same time because there were enough people.

“omg!!”

I turned my head when I heard a fan screaming next to me.

“Bar Park Mun-dae…!”

“brother! “You’re safe!”

“…!”

I saw the two guys Bae Se-jin had brought over from beyond the wall. Maybe I felt that way too.

It seems like they climbed up using the hanging rope so it’s even more dusty than before.

“…”

And they both looked like they were almost in tears.

From their perspective… the building suddenly collapsed early and they lost contact with the guy who climbed up.

Damn it.

“that…”

I hastily rolled my head.

“I miscalculated the time.”

“Oh I don’t believe it.”

I was in big trouble.

“Park Moon-dae you…”

“It was a real mistake.”

I moved with Sun Ah-hyeon and Kim Rae-bin as if I was under siege with Bae Se-jin looking at me with suspicion. Meanwhile it is surprising that Kim Rae-bin even brought a laptop and a drone joystick.

“Raebin Kim! are you okay? What is that? “We have to make ourselves lighter!”

“You shouldn’t judge value based on your knowledge alone…”

Kim Rae-bin rarely checked his surroundings and grasped the atmosphere.

“…It’s an item that could possibly be used for escape!”

The problem was this. The point is that there are dozens of fans looking at us right now.

I can still hear the whispering.

“Are there any kids left?”

“Ah… what should I do?”

In this situation I don’t know what might happen if we just disappear and talk to each other instead of briefing on the status window.

In fact it is one thing to be trapped but because you are a public figure you attract attention. They are fans to begin with and they are still as worried about us as they are about their own situation.

This means that I didn't just go into the room and chat with Ryu Cheng-wu for no reason.

The level of difficulty increased a bit as I had to be careful not to make unnecessary noise while spreading the word.

Of course the remaining time is running out.

[00:24:01]

Of course there are people who are still agitated by the rapidly changing atmosphere and situation.

"Hey… is there a problem?"

"are you okay. "I accidentally fell alone in the beginning and everyone was surprised."

"ah…"

I smiled as gently as I could. I hope it felt roughly similar to a fan signing event.

The fan was glancing at my changed top. The rest will all stand out because they are all in stage costumes.

'You probably didn't notice the wound.'

"That's right~ Still I'm so glad we met like this right? I was really surprised and happy earlier! "Now I think we just have to worry about getting out safely!"

Big Sejin jokes and pats my shoulder.

Even so the guy who cursed earlier must have had a hard time trying to calm the atmosphere in the hallway.

“Thank you…”

“Go out and talk.”

“…”

No there was a situation… so it happened.

I started with the urgent things right away.

“I wonder if there are any male audience members here.”

There are people scattered all over the office so isn’t it quite likely that Geundall is among them?

‘You may not have noticed the fuss because you were accessing the status window.’

Judging from the fact that he attempted to search more than a hundred times he must have been concentrating all his attention on it.

“If it’s something that requires effort wouldn’t we all be able to do it together?”

“no. ah. “It’s not like that I’m just looking for someone.”

“iced coffee…”

I seemed to be in quite a hurry so without even asking what was going on everyone started looking for someone.

But there isn’t. Most of the fans are women and the one or two remaining staff members are all women.

“hmm.”

It would be foolish to delay further.

“What should I do…”

“are you okay. “Let’s start with evacuation.”

I spoke to the fans and winked at Liu Chengwu. Liu Chengwu calmly gathered people together and began to talk about moving underground.

“Do you see Ravin in there? It’s a control device and they say they used it to confirm that there was a door in the basement. “Let’s take our order and take turns…”

People quickly woke up to the hopeful story. Then even people who were scattered far and wide looked up with anxious faces.

Among them there was a person who was squatting in a corner of a room and sticking his head out.

“Mumundae?”

“…!!”

Even though I had heard similar sounds many times this one was a little different.

Because I just heard that light stick and that voice.

‘ah.’

…It was the fan I saw in the equipment room earlier. postgraduate student.

You escaped well.

“Uh oh…”

“hello. I saw it earlier. “Us.”

When our eyes met I could see him holding back tears.

I guess I didn't tell anyone that I fell and died.

'If I tell you it will only create fear.'

It's easy for anyone to think that way but it's not normal to keep enduring it.

I spoke in as gentle a voice as possible. I don't have time but I have to fucking do this.

"Ahyeon caught me and I got out. "Thank you for your concern."

"no…"

His face soon became calm as if he was trying to remain as calm as possible given the situation. As a graduate student it seems certain that one of the two is either low mental strength or a high threshold for mental pain.

Anyway now is not the time to enjoy the afterglow. I guess I should follow suit too.

I also asked this graduate student.

Since I couldn't see the man himself I planned to collect eyewitness accounts this time.

"Have you ever seen a man this tall wearing glasses? "He looks like he's in his late 20s."

"They said you're handsome."

"…"

Even when Geun Se-jin is upset he still helps out. I don't know if it helps.

The graduate student had a blank expression on his face as if he had no idea what the hell this was all about. I knew so…

“I think I know myself!”

“…!!”

“I fell while leaving the front seat and couldn’t use the escape route in time… There was someone who helped me up at that time!”

what?

A graduate student gestures with his hands and feet.

“Wearing a hat and glasses like this… he’s tall his skin is white and yes I think he’s handsome!”

It matches perfectly.

I asked hastily.

“Did he evacuate?”

“Oh no it was already blocked due to evacuation so the members called me and tried to come up with me…”

The graduate student had a look on his face that made him think he was somewhere out of the chaos.

But there is no such guy here.

“uh? “Where have you been…?”

Damn it!

“When will that be?”

“That was the second time there was a mess! “When the stage completely fell apart… that’s when!”

“You came up the emergency stairs.”

“Uh huh!”

I took a deep breath and plotted the route in my head.

This person was sitting in the front left audience seat.

‘He probably tried to run back and get out.’

However he fell in the middle and Keundal helped him up. In the meantime the escape route was blocked and everyone went to the emergency stairs.

‘But there is no big moon on the emergency stairs… ’

It wasn’t visible even when viewed from a drone and the third floor had collapsed.

then.

“…”

Oh damn.

I turned and ran down the hallway.

“hey!”

“Who’s left! “Everyone else please go down to the basement via the emergency stairs!”

I screamed and then climbed over the wall.

Then in an instant Seon Ah-hyeon and Keun Se-jin were on both sides.

“You now…”

“I think I found it!”

I passed the dressing room and headed up to the collapsed stage where the stair ropes were still hanging.

And saw.

The audience beyond the stage.

“Why are you here again?”

I held my breath and held the rope.

“I’ll be here.”

“…!!”

The big moon is still in the audience.

‘And the reason we couldn’t meet each other even though we were here for a while… ’

Because we can’t meet.

“But he’s probably passed out.”

“…!”

Why did he suddenly disappear from the route? It is impossible to move.

‘Isn’t it because I can’t use my body?’

There is a high possibility that instead of concentrating on accessing the status window to prevent this damn thing he opened the status window again.

So I couldn’t follow it to the emergency stairs and still…

“I’m sure he’ll be in the audience.”

My head becomes clearer.

I grabbed the rope and wrapped it around my waist. I was planning on going down like this and searching around but… wait.

‘There is a problem.’

As my head cleared I could also see the size of the dark audience seats.

“…under.”

This is an audience seating area that can accommodate 1000 people.

I wonder if I will have time to discuss anything with him in this area after finding him and waking him up in time.

[00:19:35]

Within this hour?

Then you can go up here again and go underground.

“…”

X is done.

In fact I knew I had to move quickly when I felt that emotion but I instinctively lost strength and let go of the rope for a moment.

A low voice was heard from next to me.

“Park Moon-dae you’re hurt now.”

“not really.”

“No I will come down and come back quickly so give it to me.”

Big Sejin held out his hand with a stern expression. And Sun Ah-hyun also approaches without hesitation.

“no…! “I’ve used ropes and know the downhill area well… so I’ll go and come back.”

I’m going crazy.

The rope must have been wrapped around his waist well. The moment you think about just throwing yourself down because you might get lucky.

Patter.

“…!”

Huge stage and audience seats. The end of that dark and vast space.

A small sound was heard from the corner where the blue light was coming from. It was an emergency exit.

“That’s…”

This is where I put the drone because it was half-blocked.

But like a lie that’s where the shoehorn comes out.

Men’s dress shoes that are dusty but still look good.

And then the long legs come out from under the emergency lights and finally the face of the upper body that comes out shaking its hands…

“…!!”

Cheongnyeo.

The guy turned his gaze away without even looking around the audience. On the collapsed stage. To us with flashlights.

“…”

What is this… situation? Cheongnyeo smiled faintly and opened her mouth under the emergency lights.

“Who are you looking for?”

In his hand was a portable surveillance device that appeared to be for use by facility employees.

…CCTV.

Chapter 433

“…”

I stopped my hand.

This is not the first time that an unexpected face appears in a collapsed building but it is so unrealistic.

Cheongnyeo.

I thought that guy would already be doing an interview outside.

‘I thought I escaped smoothly.’

Isn’t he a guy with experience?

However no matter how dark the audience was the blue sky under the emergency lights was not a hallucination.

No and even if there were some left how did they get out of the half-blocked emergency door?

However there is no time or opportunity to ask questions for a long time.

The guy starts walking in a frozen atmosphere as if he has seen a ghost. Shoes sound like footsteps and voices are heard again.

“Junior?”

At that moment I knew what to do.

“What you have in your hand.”

I swallowed.

“Is it CCTV?”

“…”

He stopped in front of the stage and raised his head.

“As expected there was something I was looking for.”

“person.”

I picked up the rope again.

“There’s someone passed out in this audience.”

“…”

“I have to find it.”

Cheongryeo stopped and turned her gaze to the audience.

I stared at him with cold sweat in my hands barely noticing that the rope had been taken back by Sun Ah-hyun.

And the answer came back.

“Well I think I already found it.”

“…!”

He picked up a CCTV device.

An infrared camera was operating near the main entrance escape route.

“excuse me!”

I hastily turned on the flashlight. A collapsed leg can be seen under the rear seat on the left exterior.

Keun Se-jin runs closer and shines his upper body with his flashlight.

“for a moment.”

When the guy turns his upper body under the chair a familiar face is revealed.

Ryu Geon-woo’s face with his hat removed.

It’s a big month.

‘after.’

I exhaled.

On Cheongryeo’s CCTV which was ‘accidentally’ watching the audience it was even possible to check the recording of the big moon suddenly falling down during the evacuation.

There’s a lot to say about that though.

“I’ll get you up first.”

“for a moment.”

This is urgent now.

While holding the big moon I first checked the status window.

[00:15:53]

…There is no change.

‘There is no such thing as contact.’

Of course I have to talk to you in person to find out anything.

“Big moon Park Moon-dae Ryu Geon-woo!”

I tapped and shook Big Moon’s shoulder using all the titles he used.

However the large moon does not even flinch and just shakes as an external force enters it.

‘…no way.’

I put my hand under his nose. Fortunately he is breathing. It’s quite stable even like sleeping.

So… what does it mean to be in a state where you can’t wake up even now?

‘There may still be something going on inside the status window.’

I decided not to waste any more time. Because the time limit was tight.

‘But there’s no problem with going out.’

First pick it up and move…

“it’s crazy?”

“I gave myself a rat…!”

“…”

…I tried to do it but I ended up having to move along with the others.

“You have to stand in a line and move.”

“…okay.”

Because the roads leading underground are all lumped together there won't be enough space to move around.

Still it was fortunate that the passage near the emergency staircase where Cheongnyeo came from was open and it was time to return.

I lifted the big moon together with Sun Ah-hyeon and Big Se-jin. As long as the balance is right lifting one person doesn't seem to be a big problem.

"Well would you like me to listen to you?"

"That's it."

I didn't even think about having someone else do it. However Cheongryeo surprisingly held up the neck of the large moon in front.

"…!"

'Is there something this guy is kinking about?'

Let's take a closer look at this amazingly cooperative thing later.

"Let's go first."

First of all escape.

We started moving quickly towards the emergency stairs. The dark audience seats quickly pass behind you.

A voice was heard from the black silhouette of Big Sejin in front.

"Senior I didn't expect to see you here but how did you end up staying?"

"well."

The flashlight showed Keun Se-jin gritting his teeth and holding back with superhuman facial expression control. It doesn't seem like anyone else's business.

'You shouldn't ask questions.'

[00:13:06]

There are 13 minutes left.

And although there was a lot of debris in front of the emergency stairs where we arrived it was still passable as long as you walked carefully.

I don't know when I cleaned it up

'Enough.'

"Let's go in carefully!"

"okay."

We entered the emergency exit being careful not to break the big moon's neck or limbs.

Then suddenly I heard a voice right next to my ear.

"You're here."

"…??"

I almost hit him.

Instead when I turn my head what I see is the guy I saw with the drone earlier. Sun Ah-hyun's embarrassed voice is heard as she holds up the flashlight.

"Senior Seo…?"

"Nice to meet you. Testers. "Given the circumstances I thought you would be able to rescue at least one person."

It was a VTIC cast.

Why is the guy who saw the exit from the basement here… no way.

I glanced at him.

Unlike Cheongnam who was dressed in a suit to watch the MC Judan was in civilian clothes as if he had just arrived at the waiting room.

In short it means that it is an outfit that is more suitable for working.

'…This guy cleaned it up together.'

"Let's go first."

For some reason it didn't make sense to say that he cleaned it up alone but there was an additional labor force.

Ju Dan shrugged his shoulders shaking off his dusty gloves.

"We were cooperating pretty hard to get the perfect timing."

I don't know what this nonsense is.

"And as expected it leads to a standard successful happy ending."

Think whatever you want.

"Yes thank you anyway."

Meanwhile his eyes which had adapted to the darkness finally saw the fans moving behind him with their heads covered.

It appears that after clearing up evacuation has begun.

"Zhu Judan??"

Like just now the person who discovered the VTIC unconsciously shouts out its name but basically everyone keeps their mouths shut and moves frantically.

Someone will get hurt if they move an unconscious person between them.

“I have to let it go and move on.”

“okay.”

We took a moment to catch our breath with the big moon leaning against our bodies.

‘after.’

I suddenly opened my mouth as I observed people walking down the stairs leaving gaps between them to avoid falling.

This is because the staff threw it away to prevent spoilers so the audience did not have it but Cheongryeo remembered something he had.

‘I spoke on the phone.’

Smartphone.

“Did you report it?”

“ah.”

The guy lowered his gaze to the pocket of his suit jacket. From the looks of it it doesn’t seem like it was done.

It’s quicker to escape now than to report it so it’s better to keep moving without complaining.

“Hmm that’s strange.”

“what.”

“no.”

“…”

Let’s not argue. Escape comes first.

However on the other hand he opens his mouth again.

On to another topic.

“It’s pretty stable.”

“what.”

“Your junior’s condition.”

This probably means that for a guy who will soon be left behind due to a status abnormality failure he doesn’t seem to be in immediate danger of his life and his mental state seems to be quite good.

“What do you know?”

I can’t answer but I feel eyes on both sides. Sun Ah-hyun and Keun Se-jin.

‘shit’

This… it would be better to explain it roughly.

“…I can see the time of the next collapse.”

“yes.”

“…The next one is final. “It was said to be the last.”

For a moment silence fell.

Those who were listening also noticed.

“last?”

“okay. “I think it’s over.”

“ah…!”

Actually it can be interpreted in many ways.

But before the people present could think about the meaning a voice was heard from above.

“There you are!”

“ah!!”

“…! “You removed that from the door!”

The guys who sent the audience away first finally started running down from the second floor.

“Are they all there?!”

“okay!”

As soon as the other members of Testa spotted us they were happy and ran over.

“you!! Please consult first before taking action!”

Let’s say you’re happy.

Cha Yu-jin who ran first shouted.

“Brothers are here! Everyone Oka… Who the hell was that?!”

“Do you remember the person I was looking for?”

“Oh-”

The guy let out a long exclamation then looked at Big Moon's drooping face and nodded.

"Give it to me! "I carry it."

"No it's okay."

Keundal's body passed through many people's hands like a restaurant bill and was eventually placed on Cha Yu-jin's back.

"song!"

Those who checked the VTIC seemed surprised by that as well but started walking with the tacit agreement that going down was the priority.

"Can we leave now?"

"yes."

Everything that can be done has been done. The atmosphere just before escape with the pressure and tension slightly eased.

I cut it open and heard Cheongryeo mumbling.

"hmm. It's probably one of two things. Either that will end the disaster or…"

Are you still counting?

"Your opportunity is over junior."

"…"

after.

"What does that mean?"

“Park Moon-dae?”

I kept my mouth shut. Cheongryeo finished the sentence.

“The building completely collapsed.”

at that time.

thud.

Kukukung-!

“…!”

“vibration?”

“Brother I can’t believe time has been distorted again this time…”

“no.”

I quickly checked the pop-up.

[00:09:59]

There is definitely time left.

“I’m sure there’s time left.”

Then Bae Se-jin muttered with a pale face.

“…Isn’t the bigger the collapse the earlier the signs appear?”

“…”

There was a short silence.

Cheongryeo muttered again.

“hmm. “I guess it was the latter.”

Is now the time to say something like that?

“If you know run!”

I started running quickly taking the others with me.

bang!

“Aaaah!”

A scream rang out from the basement.

I shouted.

“key! “Where are the keys?”

“I gave it to the person in front! “Two!”

There is no way Liu Chengwu would lie so it is the truth.

Then people should be leaving right away…

‘Why are they all together?’

The underground hallway we arrived at was filled with dozens of people.

Squeak!

“Ughhhhh!”

And every time a loud noise is heard from above people cover their heads with light sticks or their hands.

‘what.’

Why am I not getting better?

“wait a minute!”

I delved into the crowd of people. A person standing in front of an iron gate with the words ‘for facility security’ written on it shouted urgently as soon as our eyes met.

“The door here won’t open!”

“…”

what?

I made my way through the crowd. Then I took it from the hand of the audience member holding the card key and put it on myself.

Beep-!

[This is an unauthorized card.]

refusal.

‘Fuck you.’

I held up another card.

Beep-!

Next one too.

Beep-!

“…”

It doesn’t work.

“…!!”

“Why doesn’t this work??”

“Huh huh huh huh.”

I shook my head among the people who seemed to be hyperventilating from embarrassment and fear.

There is a reason.

‘The reason it doesn’t work is… ’

Let’s think let’s think.

‘You don’t have permission?’

I busily looked at the keypad for the security key and the iron door. And then I saw it again. The words written on the iron gate.

[For facility security]

“…”

Oh damn.

“Mundae?!”

“Wait a minute!”

I made my way through the crowd of people almost shouting.

“What are you doing?!”

“Card for facility managers!!”

I yelled.

“The ones we brought are office workers and must have security cards!”

"…!"

Since this is a space for the security team it was not strange at all that the permissions were set that way.

I gritted my teeth.

'Is there a possibility that at least one person was left behind?'

If you go to the next room like this and search… Okay fuck it. I know.

'I couldn't even find the cast iron that came first.'

Still you should try it right? I told the people and prepared to shake it up and search it.

It was then.

"Junior."

Tuk.

A square plastic badge with a golden logo on it waves before my eyes. Cheongryeo just took it out of the inside pocket of her suit and held it out.

"Here."

"…"

[Seton Security]

"It was in the dresser where the CCTV was."

I immediately snatched it up and ran forward.

And brought it.

Tiririk!

With a short and cheerful major sound.

Sweet.

“It’s open!”

The door was opened.

Shouts screams and desperate footsteps intersect with the sound of cracks as people exit through the open door. The outside air hits my face.

“under.”

I covered my face with one hand.

I almost got in big trouble.

‘For some reason that bastard hasn’t escaped.’

It was clear that they were clearing it because there was a way out there.

“If you are Cheongryeo you probably didn’t share it in case I betray you in an extreme situation.”

“no. “You were next to me when the CCTV security was disarmed.”

“…”

This guy Judan couldn’t recognize his employee ID because it was in the form of a badge…

‘No anyway I opened it and that’s it.’

I deliberately held the door open and stepped aside to take my time pretending to lead the people out smoothly.

[00:06:16]

Time is ok.

“You all get out quickly!”

“I will.”

It would be like that as the fans leaving behind would turn around and say something one by one.

“Everyone left right?”

“Let’s go now!”

And the needlessly responsible guys followed suit and waited until the end so I opened the door again as if to tell them to leave first.

Then the eyes of some of them narrow.

“You can’t believe it…”

“I said no.”

Hey anyway would I volunteer to stay in a collapsing building?

Thud thud thud!

A heavy cracking sound is heard from above again. I hastily opened my mouth.

“I was looking at the time because I wanted to go out last. Get out now! “The longer it goes on the later it becomes.”

“…”

However Sun Ah-hyun took a deep breath and stopped.

“…!”

“If we don’t go out at the same time I won’t go out.”

Oh damn.

‘I was trying to increase the distance between us in case something crazy happens again.’

I gave Cheongryeo a look but he just looked at me without reacting.

And not only Sun Ah-hyeon but also other guys hold the door and start looking at me. Are you fighting?

‘I’m going to go back.’

5 minutes left you crazy people.

“…”

I looked back and forth between the door and the guys then finally opened my mouth while holding back a sigh.

‘Whether you push or anything the angle will come out.’

“…Okay let’s go out together.”

“…!! huh!”

I pushed Sun Ah-hyeon’s back and came out.

That moment.

The outdoor air pours in.

The cool air of early fall.

It was dark in places like the backyard that were hidden by the container wall but as soon as I turned away from the wall sunlight came down.

“…!”

…It was sunset.

At that moment the anxiety nervousness sharp warning of survival instinct and cold fear disappear in an instant.

Everything was pulled out as if it were being sucked in and only peace remained.

“ah…”

I took a deep breath and exhaled. My head felt cool.

And the pop-up changes as if you hit it right.

[00:04:47]

[00:04:47]

[Goal lost]

[clear]

A sense of stability returned.

I turned around and looked at the building we came out of.

The roaring sound had disappeared before I knew it.

I opened my mouth unconsciously.

“…It’s over.”

“uh?”

“I think it’s over. breakdown.”

The other guys also looked back at the building and then let out a long sigh or then burst into small laughter.

It has never been so refreshing.

* * *

Although the body is heavy the atmosphere is quite friendly and hopeful.

“Phew.”

“Everyone worked hard.”

“I’m glad everyone came out safely…”

“But we’d better move quickly now. “If it collapses you could be swept away.”

“That’s right.”

Everyone hurried their steps at Big Sejin’s words. Still he doesn’t stop talking.

“Where is this?”

“I think it was a secret entrance behind the building that not everyone knows about.”

“Oh then it looks like the front will be full of media.”

That’s… not sure.

‘There’s no such thing as good rice cake.’

The reason the rescue team was late was probably because the media had already taken up all the seats and they were in a mess.

Well anyway it looks like the collapse has stopped since I got out… Even if there are employees who were stranded on the third floor they will be rescued soon.

Didn't all the people the media was targeting come out?

"Repair… um."

At the charity concert hosted by the first-tier idols the first-tier idols come out after being locked in the building?

Honestly I expect hell.

"Let's go to the hospital first instead of thinking about training for a year at a liberal arts college."

"…"

No someone would think that I am a person who does not use modern medicine.

"…yes. anyway. "I think this is the front so if I go back…"

"okay."

Anyway we trudged along looking quite shabby around the overgrown back road and out in front of the building.

'Suddenly people started screaming… '

however.

"Why are there no people?"

There was nothing in front of the building.

“…??”

Bystanders reporters and onlookers hear sirens.

There is no trace of everything that I thought would definitely exist.

The only thing that flows is silence.

There isn’t even a single car on the road.

what.

“for a moment… What about the fans who came out earlier?”

“…!!”

Bae Se-jin shouts urgently.

“Even if there is no mass media those people should be seen!”

However there was still no one in front of the building where the sunset was setting.

It was as if everyone had gone somewhere else.

“Oh was it this?”

I turned my head.

Cheongryeo was looking down at her jacket with a strange expression.

A place to hold your smartphone.

“It was strange that I didn’t get a single phone call.”

“…!”

That’s right.

If a building had collapsed it would have been natural for calls to flood the smartphones of people believed to be trapped.

But the fact that there wasn't even a single phone call from that guy…

'…was cut off from the outside world.'

Or it was disconnected at some point.

And then.

"…Hmph!"

"Hup!"

Big Moon who was riding on Cha Yu-jin's back opened his eyes. Shouting like this.

"I won!"

"…??"

With a new pop-up.

[Mission failure scenario completed]

Victory: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)

Reward: Fragment of ■■■ 1 (1/4)

Chapter 434

A few hours ago.

Quagwagwagwang!

“Aaaah!”

When the stage equipment collapsed and screams began to rage.

‘Hurry hurry hurry…!’

Keudal accessed the status window and tried to communicate with Testa Park Moon-dae or Ryu Geon-woo to see if there were any problems with his personal life.

But it was impossible.

‘…uh?’

And instead I saw a bright red warning window. ‘Status abnormality failure’ pop-up.

“…!!”

I swear Big Moon didn’t let down his guard after returning to reality. In the first place Park Moon-dae was also given a separate hostage.

-Do you feel like you resonate with the system like before? He said it seemed like it would be absorbed.

Of course he was worried that the system might still be there so he checked it carefully. But there was no such sign…

-No I don’t feel that way at all anymore!

-okay. thank god.

A status abnormality suddenly failed.

So then… wouldn't that mean he would die?

Geonwoo hyung.

'Oh what should I do?'

The powerful presence of the system was still not felt. But it has already happened.

Even as his hair turned white Geoldal worked hard to keep his head down.

And miraculously it came to mind. The clear congratulatory title he gave to Park Moon-dae.

"…!"

Status abnormality permanently suspended! This situation where a status abnormality failure is displayed while completely ignoring that is contradictory!

'How do I dig into this… '

Through past experience I learned that this kind of logical flaw can work for the system. Moreover because he was the status window itself in the first place.

'It might be possible!'

He gritted his teeth and began to nervously dig into the status window.

* * *

"…So we tried to lighten the disaster as much as possible with a mission failure instead of a status abnormality. And in the process I tried so many times that I lost my mind because I was so focused on the status window."

"yes yes…"

A bench in front of the broadcasting station building at sunset.

It seems like a fairly peaceful scene just sitting around and listening to the story without any other distractions.

Except that there wasn't a single ant baby around.

I saw Big Moon sitting on a bench gratefully taking the water offered by Raebin Kim and drinking it.

We are still in the front yard of the broadcasting station with no one around.

And it's a very positive situation to see this guy come to his senses and confirm that my guess was correct but other than that I still don't know what the situation is.

'What is this reward window again?'

I glanced again at the pop-up that appeared at the same time as Big Moon came to his senses just now.

[Mission failure scenario completed]

Victory: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)

Reward: Fragment of ■■■ 1 (1/4)

There are so many things I want to ask from scenarios to victory and fragments but there is a reason I can't.

"…Hmm."

There are eight people around me right now with their eyes wide open.

Moreover one guy even slightly raises his hand and intervenes.

It's a big hit.

"Well I'm sorry to hear such a personal story but I'm asking anyway because we've been through all of this together."

"yes yes!"

"So this means that Park Moon-dae knew that this was aimed at him and that he might die right now?"

"…"

In an instant the atmosphere cooled down. I avoided eye contact.

'You escaped because you didn't say anything.'

This is a bit unfair.

Fortunately a brave guy also came out.

"Mundae hyung worked hard. I understand you loser. "He wanted people to be safe."

It's surprising that Cha Yu-jin made the most adult decision.

"But understanding and understanding are not words with the same meaning. "Your actions are so cruel!"

"…"

It was a build-up.

"The situation turned so quickly that I couldn't even think about it. "I couldn't tell you because I wasn't sure and it wasn't like I could ask anyone."

I quietly explained the situation.

"I worked hard because I wanted to live and I didn't act with the thought of sacrificing myself for others."

"…"

The atmosphere calmed down a bit. Big Sejin wiped his face with his hand and eventually gave in.

"okay. "You had a lot of trouble."

"…!"

good.

I quickly looked at the big moon before there was any backlash from those around me. Because just then the next questioner appeared.

"I also have a question."

It is the cast and hem.

That guy is somehow the most interesting person here.

"So is this like the mental world you created like last time?"

Is this even what I'm curious about?

Big Moon answered willingly.

"No not really. The reality is true here too… Since my brother escaped successfully there was no penalty for the building collapsing. So this reality will soon disappear!"

“…!”

The explanation is as follows.

Originally I would have had to have been hit until the last building collapsed for the ‘mission failure penalty’ to be completed.

‘But I avoided it.’

Thanks to this the penalty was deleted and retroactively the ‘building collapse’ penalty for mission failure was eliminated from the beginning.

‘Even I who know the situation roughly think it’s bullshit but I’m sure the other guys really wonder what they’re talking about.’

“Well maybe it’s a similar force that causes the system to go back in time. It destroys reality and starts over from the past…”

“…!”

And there was one other person besides me here who could understand those words.

I looked back at Cheongryeo. The guy just listened without any expression.

Geoldal continued his explanation.

They say that maybe because these guys got out of the building at the same time as me they didn’t go back to the past and stayed here.

“…Anyway you’ll soon be leaving here and going back to a time when the building didn’t collapse! “Like everyone else.”

“Ohh.”

“That’s a good thing really.”

Anyway it seemed like everyone was satisfied with the conclusion as the speckled guys who escaped the disaster nodded with a much calmer look on their faces.

And the questioner himself was impressed.

“It’s kind of… a kind of parallel world where you choose one and the rest are discarded.”

“…! “Do you understand?”

“On a fundamental level yes. “If you need it I can recommend some related materials.”

I pretended not to see Cha Yu-jin briefly muttering ‘Nerd’ next to Kim Rae-bin.

Liu Chengwu gently asked Big Moon again.

“Then when can I go back?”

“Uh… now!”

“…!”

And the next moment.

[—]

The people sitting on the bench disappeared as if evaporating.

But I didn’t disappear.

Instead I saw the big moon taking a deep breath and looking at me.

“I have something to say to you separately. “I sent it to you a little early!”

That's a pretty brilliant idea.

But the problem is that not everyone is gone.

"Well I see a countdown."

"omg."

"I see you still have GM authority."

Cheongryeo was still sitting on another bench.

And I also checked the countdown he was talking about.

[100 seconds until scenario deletion]

This probably means 100 seconds until this place disappears. Then there is no time left.

"Just don't worry about it and speak quickly. "It looks like there isn't enough time to start the countdown."

"yes. yes."

I'll leave the other questions starting with the survival of the system to a later date and listen to what this guy has to say.

Geoldal opened his mouth in an expression that looked as if he was trying to remain calm.

"brother."

okay.

"If things go on like this the building collapse will probably happen before it happens… but what happened before that would have happened."

"…?"

What happened before that?

And I realized it a beat late.

"The first time I started interfering was after my brother's life was threatened due to a status abnormality failure."

The first status abnormality failure signal.

Big Moon swallowed his saliva and spoke lowly.

"When you leave it will be at the point where stage equipment is pouring down on you from the stage."

"…"

"That was you right? "You avoided it but it's still dangerous so I thought you should know this so you can avoid it again… I thought I had to tell you."

I realized it there.

'You didn't know I was hurt at that time.'

This guy thinks I safely avoided the first one so he's just a little nervous.

"I get it. "Just in case I'll pay more attention to avoid it."

"…yes."

I looked at Cheongnyeo as a sign to tell me to shut up but I soon realized that it was also time for this guy to worry about himself.

"…You will also be affected by the collapse of the stage equipment so why not start thinking about how to respond now?"

Isn't this a donation event hosted by VTIC? The moment accidents and events are linked by keywords it will become a mess.

But Cheongryeo laughed… no he didn't laugh.

The guy opened his mouth with an expressionless expression.

"Why not just worry about yourself?"

"…"

No even if you pay attention damn it… whatever happened. It's true that my nose is three feet wide.

"Protect your head first."

"uh. "I know everything."

I took a deep breath and reviewed my actions going forward. Fortunately time runs out before Big Moon notices anything strange.

"The countdown is almost over."

"yes…"

I read the numbers.

3.

2.

1.

And when I blinked.

"Park Moon-dae…!"

I was running on stage again.

Instead of the stale air from the dust pouring out of the cracks you can feel the smell of dry ice on the stage and the warmth of the fuzzy lighting heating up the cooled air.

‘come.’

And devices falling upwards.

Wood-dud-deud-deuk!!

But this time with a much clearer mind I know exactly what to do.

Do you know how far it falls?

‘Faster…!’

This time instead of running blindly I accelerated and slipped.

Until my thighs sting.

Kukukukukuk!

In a roar.

It turns into rubble with a chilling sound behind it. A scream rang out.

“Ugh!”

“evil!”

and

“Whoop.”

The moment my sliding stopped I realized where I was.

It was backstage completely off the stage.

“…”

I looked back.

Then I saw the smashed and collapsed stage equipment but this time… they were as far away as I was tall.

Complete avoidance.

‘It’s a success.’

My back and ribs don’t hurt like before.

I waited a little longer.

My thighs are hot from the friction but that’s it.

That was the end of it.

“you!”

The members who appeared backstage with shocked faces rushed over in rapid relief.

And the building no longer collapses or shakes there.

“after”

I stretched out backwards and lay down.

There are still many unanswered questions and problems to consider but I couldn’t help but laugh.

“Are you laughing?”

‘I lived.’

No one was killed or injured and they escaped.

* * *

What happened after that went strangely.

Of course as soon as the audience at the scene received their smartphones and evacuated they posted all kinds of articles on social media and articles began to appear one after another.

[SBC Broadcasting Station Stage Collapse (Breaking News)]

['Unprecedented stage collapse' no casualties… everyone safe]

Tidal was chosen in a scary way but the original article was like that. Fortunately no one was injured so the public repercussions did not seem to last long.

No matter how big the collapse was there are no photos of the scene as evidence because all the smartphones were taken away.

But it wasn't even a fatal accident? Then the shelf life is really shortened.

After careful consideration I thought the pre-recording schedule might be rescheduled somewhere else…

[Testar member Park Moon-dae who narrowly escaped a stage accident…"He plans to recuperate"]

Who are you?

-Every time I see an article he seems to be threatened by a steel frame.

-Shouldn't you at least try to solve Park Moon-dae's misfortune?

-I heard you ran out onto the stage. Why did you do that all of a sudden? It's so scary. It's like you knew an accident was going to happen and you were intentionally trying to get into it;;; Who did you want to send away the stagehand?

People almost died but there's a scoundrel making comments like this.

Why would you take such a gamble on the life of a handsome idol who makes a lot of money? Anyway you idiots need to understand your delusion.

I don't know who leaked it but thanks to that my activities were put on hold. I'm really thankful.

Moreover we have not yet seen who was blamed for the stage set-up collapse and how VTIC responded to the incident.

because…

Because this is what I am now.

"I want to contact the company…"

"Um just lie down. "Get some rest."

"…??"

"Would you like to eat an apple Mundae-ya…?"

That's right.

…I have been in the hospital for a week.

For your information there were no injuries other than a minor laceration on the thigh.

Even that got better in two days.

'Why on earth?'

"I am discharged…"

“Oh they say you can’t be a doctor~”

“That’s right.”

“…”

Where did these bastards come from kissing and telling such blatant lies…

‘I’m going crazy.’

And so the forced rest began.

Chapter 435

Why am I hospitalized even though I'm not injured?

Thanks to the traits 'Bacchus' and 'Nectar' I had superhuman resilience and the days of having to deceive people are over but I never thought I'd end up doing something like this.

'no.'

If this continues I think my brain will deteriorate. I said as I put down the ebook reader Bae Se-jin brought me saying it was a 'gift'.

At this time it had been four days since I was hospitalized.

"There is also a problem with a lack of hospital beds so isn't it a shame that they are being used like this?"

"Ah I heard this is a special room so it's rare to find a full room."

"Still it would be better to be discharged."

"Even if you tell me at Mundaemun University I'm not a medical professional. "You understand that this is a situation I can't help right?"

"…"

This abomination… Wait a minute. Is this guy just copying what I did when the building collapsed?

I was dumbfounded and looked at Keun Se-jin but I smiled and left the room.

"Rest~"

“…”

Let’s catch the next guy.

Surprisingly Raebin Kim came to visit the patient in the evening carrying a turntable that could play LPs.

“It is said that classical music helps stabilize the mind and body!”

I’m going to avoid the latest music.

I approached the guy logically who seemed to have consciously blocked the topic of ‘album’ and ‘activity’ from his brain.

“It’s strange that I keep being hospitalized even though I’m not sick.”

“As you went through a very dangerous situation we need to wait a few more days to see how it goes.”

Raebin Kim seemed to really believe that. It seems like a few people came up with a really good cause.

“You can do that at the hotel too but honestly it’s a waste of money.”

“You don’t have to worry about that. “The company says it will be covered as an expense!”

“If that is treated as an expense the net profit decreases accordingly ultimately reducing our settlement amount.”

“…??”

For a moment question marks and exclamation marks crossed Raebin Kim’s face but then he nodded as if he understood.

Did it work?

“it’s okay! “I believe that all members will not mind spending that much for my brother’s peaceful rest.”

“…”

The copyright owner’s halo was visible on the face of the guy who said he would pay if it bothered him.

I lay back on the bed enduring a long sigh.

Next batter.

“All my muscles will disappear. “I need to get back into my routine soon.”

“okay?”

Liu Chengwu who visited in the morning responded positively to Jebib. I was planning to start building up from here but…

He reserved a single-person exercise room next to the hospital’s rehabilitation room.

“…”

Now that I think about it if the company had paid for the hospital room this guy the leader would have convinced me.

In fact they were trying to build up the man who was the instigator of this situation. Is there any way it can work?

“The facilities were good. Oh if you want to write longer let me know.”

Done.

I gave up and walked over to the device.

Let’s do it anyway…

“I am self-employed.”

“I am self-employed.”

“Whatever.”

Cha Yu-jin sitting in the caregiver’s seat shrugged her shoulders and chewed a whole apple. I gritted my teeth and spoke lowly.

“Anyway give me the smartphone.”

“I don’t have any. “Watch it on my smart TV.”

“…”

I was furious at the special room that had 4 unnecessary OTT devices installed.

The Wi-Fi works so well that there is no delay. And the Wi-Fi that explodes cannot be used for internet purposes.

‘You’re crossing the line.’

I also asked the manager I saw two days ago for a smartphone but he came back with an obvious excuse.

-There is a doctor’s advice that it may have a negative impact on mental health so please refrain from doing so.

‘It’s manipulative.’

Even if it was too much it was too much.

“But you have to be patient.”

“…”

[You already know right? I’m now in a situation where I need to get the most important thing back. faith.]

okay.

I pressed my temples.

To be honest it's not that difficult to get out of this ridiculous situation and get discharged.

What's difficult is the persuasion process to make people around me understand that I'm going to be discharged from the hospital.

But this time it was difficult to ignore it. Anyway they are the ones who were trapped in a collapsing building because of me…

'I must have been nervous because I was afraid I might have been left behind.'

I was wondering if I thought of this as my own revenge in a situation where it was like nothing happened and there was no way I could get advice from anyone.

…but.

"To what extent should that be?"

No how long are you planning on keeping me stuck here? When will you release the album when will you prepare for the end of the year and when will you make plans for next year?

There is a limit to what you can tolerate based on the atmosphere.

Still I decided to exercise my last patience.

"hey."

"What."

"At least tell me what's going on outside."

You can endure it for a few days just by gathering information. Cha

Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“Nothing much. [No terrorism no topic um I think I only saw headlines about everyday traffic accidents? Oh and bank fraud too.”

“…Not like that.”

Has anyone asked about current affairs in modern society?

“What is the current Internet public opinion on our group and VTIC?”

“I don’t know about that. “That’s not my interest.”

I felt like I was about to raise my fist but I calmly imagined the scene where Cha Yu-jin was browsing internet communities and social media.

And I admitted that it didn’t really suit me.

Let’s find the next batter.

I listened to jazz on LPs all afternoon that day and relieved my stress with mystery novels.

And then I met Bae Se-jin who visited in the evening…

“no.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin avoided gaze.

“…I can recommend more books.”

No need.

I was trying to encourage Bae Se-jin to spill his words by mistake but I held back. And then he stuffed the mung bean and samgyetang he had packed into my mouth.

I felt like I was receiving private meals from a visiting lawyer in prison.

The last remaining candidate… I thought he had virtually no chance.

Sun Ah-hyun came to visit quite often.

But after the first day I never asked this guy to leave the hospital.

Not only was it shockingly difficult to communicate but the expression on his face made him feel like he was dying to have this kind of conversation.

“Mundae are you okay?”

“You know I can’t be this fine.”

Look at that he’s peeling a tangerine while avoiding his eyes again.

But now is the time to talk.

“I think it would be more difficult to remain hospitalized. “I also want to practice.”

“Ugh.”

Sun Ah-hyun avoided her eyes. As expected like Keun Se-jin he is someone who has no social skills and is shameless enough to say things like ‘I don’t know~’.

So I hit it straight.

“I’m serious but I can’t be this fine so let’s get out of the hospital now.”

“…but.”

Sun Ah-hyun's mouth trembled.

"You lied. "Something bigger…"

"…"

He peeled a tangerine and placed it in front of me. My hands were shaking slightly.

I held back a sigh.

'It must have been a big shock.'

When I faked the remaining time and bounced up to the second floor.

After that the sound of the building collapsing was heard and communication was cut off so this was unavoidable.

Just… let me put it all down and explain.

"I did it because I was scared too."

"…!"

"How can you not be scared if you die suddenly? Besides someone else could get caught up in my death."

"…"

"But it seemed like there was nothing I could do and it wasn't a situation where anyone could help."

This is my first time experiencing such a feeling that no matter what I do I will fail.

"That's why I couldn't explain it properly… But again I'm sorry if you felt deceived."

This was sincere.

Sun Ah-hyeon opened her mouth but soon put the words together with difficulty.

“Oh no. I’m sorry… I acted carelessly. Just because you don’t believe it…”

“It’s not for you to apologize.”

To be honest that was a fairly moderate reaction for being stabbed in the back.

I chose my words.

“It’s good for me to just rest but I don’t feel like I’m really resting right now because I have so many things to worry about.”

“…!”

“I want to stop staying at the hospital.”

The guy seemed to be holding back tears but then he looked quite stern and nodded.

“I. “I’ll talk to you…!”

“…thanks.”

There were signs of a solution.

And that evening.

“Have you packed everything?”

“yes.”

I was finally able to go through the discharge process.

It had been well over a week since I was hospitalized.

'That's it.'

It was light but there was a lot to do. First of all I need to take a close look at public opinion draw up an activity plan and go out to work.

I was planning to go back to my dorm and find some time to chat with other guys.

"let's go."

"yes."

Liu Chengwu willingly volunteered to drive and help with the discharge procedures.

However the car he was driving was not headed to the dorm. Instead they run happily in the opposite direction.

"…?"

wait for a sec.

"Where are you going now?"

"Oh I'm not going to the hospital."

"Then where is it?"

"haha."

Answer me.

The car on the highway eventually headed to the outskirts of Gyeonggi-do and eventually arrived at a remote country house with a beautiful white stone wall.

Liu Chengwu said refreshingly.

“We’ve arrived. “You can get off.”

These bastards… put me in a pension.

‘Seon Ah-hyeon!’

How is this different from hospitalization? That doesn’t mean you just have to be discharged!! However the escape route had already been blocked.

“The accommodation was going to be briefly remodeled so we were all planning to stay here.”

“…”

“I decided to refrain from going out. “I think it would be a bit of a problem if there were reports of sightings.”

When did these bastards become so cautious?

And once inside Kim Rae-bin and the other members who were holding a cake with ‘Congratulations on discharge’ written on it laughed and set off party fireworks.

phut!

“Congratulations on being discharged!”

“…”

Somehow only Liu Chengwu came out to meet me and it seemed like everything was planned up to this point.

I will admit it.

‘It’s my defeat.’

I silently removed the pollen from my hair.

The good news though is that it soon became clear that there was no harvest at all.

“here!”

After a pissed off celebration meal.

Cha Yu-jin called me into her room and handed me a smartphone with a drawing of a dog’s head on it. It was my smartphone.

“…!! thanks.”

This is where I got the reward for persistently asking for outside information from this guy throughout my hospitalization.

“Brother you have to give me some delicious food. “I am a traitor now.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged saying that she had tried to persuade him and that she had not even told Bae Se-jin the truth yet.

[Let’s change the expression to say you are faithful to me.]

I was happy to answer in English.

[It’s okay. Actually it’s all a bit excessive. I don’t think forcing someone to rest will truly “recover” them.]

He explained even emphasizing ‘recovery’ with one hand.

[But if he uses too much I’m wrong. I promise you that won’t happen.]

“okay.”

I gladly made an appointment with him and returned to my assigned room and plugged in the charger for my dead smartphone.

Then I turned it on and started talking.

‘Can you hear me?’

To the big moon.

Immediately a pop-up appeared like a bolt of lightning.

[Have you been discharged from the hospital now?]

‘…okay.’

I replied darkly. The pop-up flinched.

While he was in the hospital this guy kept his mouth shut and didn’t say a single word to me about the outside world.

“What kind of guy cracked down on joining?”

Of course we had some pretty useful conversations instead.

I recalled the conversation I had with this guy on the day I was hospitalized.

About this status abnormality failure and the reward pop-up that appeared at the end.

[Mission failure scenario completed]

Victory: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)

Reward: Fragment of ■■■ 1 (1/4)

-What on earth is this ‘fragment’ reward?

It was at this point that I roughly realized the phrase treating mission failure as a scenario.

Perhaps because the collapse of the building became a non-existent event it felt like it was being treated as a scenario rather than a reality. However the ‘Fragments of ■■■’ of compensation… honestly it was a fairly pessimistic prediction.

[I’m not sure about that either. As I was trying to make the mission a failure… the status window naturally created that shape!]

Is that so?

[yes!]

So I answered like this.

-Then how about the interpretation that in fact the system remained fragmented and I won the fragments and received the thing itself as a trophy?

[]

The pop-up stopped as if it had frozen.

And there was a new development chat with trembling handwriting.

[Actually I also… think that maybe that’s why I didn’t notice because there were only fragments of the system left…]

also.

[Sorry⊤⊤]

-What do you have to be sorry for? I mistakenly thought I got rid of it.

I had a bitter taste in my mouth.

‘I thought it was completely removed.’

It’s not like a marble or a pizza but I never thought it would remain in pieces. I’m even quite concerned that (1/4) is added as an explanation.

A quarter.

“I’m just asking since you’ve been discharged from the hospital.”

[yes!]

“I’m sure this won’t happen three more times.”

There was a short dizzying silence.

[Oh probably not. I missed it this time because I didn’t know if the system was fragmented so I identified this wave separately and looked through my brother’s status window!]

[My brother is clean now!]

okay.

That’s some positive feedback.

But I decided not to completely believe that. This is because more than once I have been stabbed in the back for thinking that way.

In that sense let’s think about it now to avoid failure in the second state.

‘Let me see.’

Did you say that the symptom of abnormal status is that you have a strong desire to achieve your goal?

Just like I was obsessed with the album just before that.

Yes after it was all over I think I was a bit unusual in wanting to release an album but I guess that was influenced by it.

‘Then what I want to do most now is… ’

What can it be? Right now I’m in a hurry to understand the situation so that’s the only thing that comes to mind.

So before searching on my smartphone I decided to listen to the summary information that I could hear right away.

First to prove that I was discharged from the hospital I sent a text message to Geoldal on my smartphone and asked him this.

‘What happened to the VTIC donation concert?’

Cancellation or contraction?

Since there was such a fuss it must have been one of two things.

I was planning to start from here and establish a stance to search SNS…

[Oh the promotion is going well…?]

“…”

What kind of magic did you use?

Chapter 436

The stage collapsed during the pre-recording of VTIC's donation concert.

And a popular junior idol almost got hit with it.

Just looking at these facts there seems to be no way for VTIC to avoid being bombarded by people who are excited to find a reason to criticize.

'But that means I avoided it.'

No it's not that they avoided it they sublimated it into something viral.

[Uh… yeah.]

I immediately started browsing on my smartphone.

If we set the period from the date of the accident to the present and go back from the latest public opinion…

"…"

[Oh oh…]

Even the guy who shares my view is impressed. I touched my chin.

'You moved the frame.'

A public enemy has been established.

The broadcasting company.

———————————

[Is this okay for broadcasting stations? -Kim Se-hwa's Talk Talk]

'The stage collapsed. But no one was hurt so there is no problem.'

If we were to summarize SBC's position regarding the collapse that occurred on SBC's stage set on October 9th in two sentences it would be as follows.

The public-wave music broadcasting practice of focusing on hierarchy rather than substance where employees had to say hello to the PD to leave work was still present at the moment of the accident.

…

———————————

This was possible because what fell was not a stage set installed by the VIIC concert staff but a lighting device basically managed by the broadcasting station.

This work was carried out exquisitely after the shock of the stage accident had passed and the theory of responsibility was slowly emerging and VTIC was about to be criticized.

-It's really creepy. Sanok was held tightly for three days and anyone could have been beaten to death.

-They say they don't know what the cause is and they're still checking. It's a shame. It's like it's waiting to be buried.

-I heard that the reason the stage was suddenly stopped right before the test was because ㅂㅁㄷ said the stage setup looked strange.

Wow I almost got hit when I went out to check.

-This is the 9 o'clock news really… I'm so mad I'm going crazy.

There is only a difference in time but in fact even if the stage had collapsed just a few hours later VTIC would have been the one hit by the steel frame!

It is public knowledge that anyone in the cast regardless of whether they were the organizer or not could have been involved and only narrowly avoided an accident.

And the point becomes clear.

-The problem is the broadcasting station's abuse of power!

In a case if there is a clear division between the victim and the perpetrator only the perpetrator is responsible.

And because the broadcasting station had a stellar record in the music field this structure worked well.

-Is this an industry where it is customary to slash appearance fees?

-Has it been a day or two since there was a problem with the stage equipment or it slipped and the kids or staff got hurt?

-An annual event happens again… If this continues someone really has to die to come to their senses.

He has garnered sympathy for his abuse of power and insensitivity on music broadcasts and he is even touching on social issues due to outsourcing and insensitivity to safety among the personnel who maintain the stage.

Then people who just wanted to get something to say started whispering stories that had no basis but seemed like speculation as if verifying each word.

-I went to the recording that day but there was really no one checking the stage.

-The day before there was a recording of Maximite on the same stage. Letso said something when he saw the lighting but…? (Leaked blurry capture)

Thanks to this I was able to pray for things that are rare on the Internet.

-Let's at least make a joint statement among the cast and fans.

-I can't do this once the timing has passed. If I speak properly now I need to apologize and receive compensation.

-We created a link to collect opinions on the statement (link)

A joint statement was even planned to increase influence in several fan communities of VTIC and Testa.

'Some VTIC fans intentionally got more angry.'

As soon as the arrow returns they may suffer damage so they become more friendly to fans of other actors and criticize the broadcasting station.

Combined with his anger at having canceled almost the last event before enlistment and the panic that VTIC may have been in an accident there was enough justification.

-This is a statement from the Cast Members Association regarding the SBC stage broadcast accident (photo)

In this way VTIC was completely removed from responsibility and became the victim.

'It's neat.'

It was indeed a masterful skill to steer public opinion so skillfully and quickly so that not even a single trace of his encouragement was left behind.

If this is the case there is a problem.

-So what happens to the donation cone?

‘It becomes difficult to continue holding this concert on the airwaves.’

The public opinion frame was framed as ‘the attitude of the broadcasting station’s higher-ups is the problem in the first place’ making it impossible to cut down the person in charge so the broadcasting station’s higher-ups must have been quite upset.

In the end not only will this cause animosity but it will also become unclear whether the donation concert will proceed.

If he’s not careful Kang-soo may find it difficult for all of his agency’s singers to appear on broadcasting stations.

If you are a group that plans to be active it is not an easy choice to make…

‘These guys should go to the military.’

There must have been a calculation that if he had 18 months to spare he could quietly reconcile with the broadcasting station.

And the immediate donation con… was handled like this.

-VTIK Donation Concert SBC broadcast canceled

Huh

These guys canceled the airing on public channels in a hurry.

The reason was explained as being due to schedule citing ‘disruption of progress due to an accident’ but in reality it was no different from striking the player first and defeating the boycott.

You made a big mistake.

‘The frame is being strengthened.’

Fans of the cast members who had been angry reacted amicably feeling relieved. No not just the fans but the entire public who was interested liked it.

